Tixi axd spack. A projest is started, anil, we liope, vill be consmmmated, of making a rail road from Philadelphia to Bultimore, by the way of Orford and Part Depeaif. The distance will only be one hundred and elgliteen miles- the transportation of commodities exceetlingly large, and the time of travel, for passengers and the mall, not more than setven howre, at the rate of going now entablished on the New Castle and Frenchtown rail mad -without ar:y transhipment of goods, or transfer of bag-gage-unless desired on the way. Such a roal would make a rast change in the existing condition of thingsand expceially in the winter searon; when pasengers and the mails lonve to be dragged through the mont-lubdeep, in many places.

A large part of this enntemplateal roal is really com-pleted-45. miles at the Philatelphia extrenit; and the stock bas been sulsseribed for a rail road from Ilaltimore to Port Deposit. The middle scetion, then, of between 50 and 40 miles, onls, remains undeterinined.

When this roall shall be marle, and that from Baltimore to Washington is completed, as it pretty soon will bePhilaclelphia will be nine houre distant from the capital of the United States!

[^17]We see, also, that a project is going on to make a continuous rail road from Philadelphia to the west shore of the Hudson; opposite New York, via Trenton, New Brunswick, Rahway, Elizubeth Town, and Newark. We much desire that this may soon be aecomplished-and it appears that it will be. "The stock ruost be among the most profituble in the United States. It is stateql that 600 persous, coen now, daily pass between New look and Newark, over the toll-bridges, besides those carried in steamboats, and the tiansport of merchandise is equal to 82,45 tons a year! The stock of the turupike rond between these places is 800 dollars for 200 paid-that of the bridges, 150 for 100 paid. It scems that the unwise moxupuly, whieh was thought to have been granted to the Camden and Amboy rail road company, by the legialature of New Jersey, will not liold-for the new company has purchased an old turnpike road, and cannot be prevented from laying rails on the sides of it! This is pleasant. We would encouruge home competition; aye, mul might be reconciled even to "free tracle" with foreignera: but not so far as to admit English tapes and bobbins, while England forbids payment for them in bread and meat!

With these roads malle (and they must be mate), New York will be fifteen hours chatant from Washington.
The prophecy of Oliver Ervans (made in the presence of the cditor of the REGistER, and in the house of his futher), many years ago-is near its fulfilment. Oliver Erans said, that the "cliild was then born who would trae vel from Philalleljhia to Bostos in one slay." Oliver a!e lowed, then, 80 or 90 years-but it will be done in half the time. Alrealy the journey between New York and 13oston is beimg made in 17 hours 41 snimtes, and the time on the rail road to be made between Pltiladelphia anl New York (less than six hours), will perfect the prophece-lowever it secmed to partake of ineanity when first proclainied.

Baltiming and Ohio mail noad. Since the compromise with the Chesapeake and Olic canal company, the prowjects concerning this road are much brightewedand by the time when it shall reach Ilarper's Ferry, the Wincluster mil road will be ready to join it-thus opening the rich valley of Virginia to the commerce of Balimone, aud placing the land-holders, as it were, close to a sca-port. Winchester will be only from nine to twelve hours distant from Baltimore; and less, when ateam power is used-as it will be. The valne of the lands in the vallcy will be incruased by millions. Even lts fine and fat cattle, instead of being wasted, or exhausted, by driving, will be carried to market on the rail road.

The Frederick Fixaminer states that m machine has been erreted at the rail road depot in that eity, whinh suprosedes the necessity of unlading wagons. On Thursthyy, of last werk, by its aid, the borly and contents of a wagon, weighing, in all, about 5,600 lbs. were lifted from the running gear, aud placed upou a rail rond ear, and sent to Baltimore.

Socta Cinolraa natl noab. We bave pleasing aceounts of the progress and proppects of this interesting improrement-and entertain no doubt that it will, when completed, "nullify" many Jeremiads in that state; and, perchance, tuch some the importance of looking at home, anll of relying on themselves, for jurosperity. During the last month, $$ 3,61703$ were received for the transportation of passengers and goods. It will soon reach the fertile upher conntry, anll then will work-miraeles, in public opinion, anal teach men to pat their own shoulders to the wheel. This is all that is wanting, even in "distressed" South Carolina. We should never hare heard of the "oppressions of the tariff" had the people been willing to work-and to expend upon their landt the profits of their crops.

Sixty-two miles of this road (to Branchville) were opened for publie travelling on the 17th Nov. 1832, in lens than two years from the commencement of the work, and on the 7 th February last the madl was opemed to Midway, 72 miles. The entire line nf the road seems to be only 136 miles, on which all the exeavations, embankmenta, ditehes, bridges, &ce. have been made; and the whole distance (to fianiburg) will soon be opened for publie use. The stock will be a very profitable one. It is expected to yield not less than 12 per cent.
"Tas anoans or the socth." The St. Augustine IIeralit informis as that one flanter in Florida muile, with 15 hanela, lavt season, 50) bughtieals of sugar, $7,000 \mathrm{gal}$ lons syrup and molaeses, and 2,000 liushels of eornrealizing noore than $\$ 000$ to the hand in one year.

Co-Let us see-here we have 50,000 Hhse of sugar, on Which the present duty is $9 \frac{1}{4}$ eents, a and $\mathbf{7 , 0 0 0}$ gations of molasses at 5 cents-anul the amount of protection on both is 1,600 slollars. And, as only 15 hands were employed, the "bounty" on rach person, being nade up of a "tax"on consumers, for the benefit of the only real "monopolists" in the United States- (if any there are), because of soil and elinate, is 106 dollara and 67 cents per head-a sum eonsiderably more than equal to the whole average wages paill to free agrienltural laborers in the north-out of which they elothe themselves, paying all that "grievons tax" which is laid on imported commodities! Aml it must be olserved, that these $1^{15}$ persons, on the sagar estute, also raised 2,000 bushels of eorn, or 1233 bushels for eachbeing three or four times the amount of their own consumption. This is more than equal to the enst of the food which is firmislied by the farmaers to those employed by them in the norith.
We may see what will be the effert on the sugar cultivation when the "bounty" or "tax" shall be reduced to 20 fer cenf. all valorem; or, on the quantities just given, about 350 dullars, instead of 1,600 dollars! Will that enable our sugar piamers to withstand the connpetition of free labor in the East ludies, or of slave labor in Brazil, Cuba, and other places? Cau they make sugar elieaper than the Jamaica planters? Thesi last are pootected by a dury of 2 cents mul 4 mills per ll. Sess than is papable on Enst Inlia sugar, though equally produced in a British possession! ${ }^{\circ}$ Anll yet we know that the British West Indius, apart from all comsingerations of the slave question, have long been rapidly descending to poverty. The average prodnct is, perhajis, less than two per cent. on eapital vested in land and slaves. Is there no instruction in these faets)
Again-there are about $2,000,000$ slaves in the United States. If we arerage them at 200 dillars a heend, their aggregate value is 400 millions. The demand for slaves, for the oultivation of sugar in Lontisiana and Florila, has a most important effeet on the price of slaves, and may be extimated at 25 per cent. or 100 millions of dollsers; and, certainly, that amount of propketr would be lost to the holders of slaves; if the persons now employed in the eultivation of augar were transferred th the eultivatinn of cotton. We are speaking of mere matters of dollars and cente--after the manner of the "chivalrie and generous south." Of the moral effect to result from rendering it less profitable to breed oluven, we have nothing to say-ut the present time; nor shall we calculate the conequenees.

Mone "onosns of the sovth!" The Richmond Whig gives the proceeds of an entire crop of tobaceo, just sold at the Shoekoe wurehouse, the average of which was $$ 1816$ per huadred pounds.
${ }^{-}$The British duties on sugar are as followa:

| Forelgn, brown | 23 | 30 | ewt. ot 15.12 cenis per Ib . |
| :--- | ---: | :--- | :--- | :--- | | Britioh Enstindies | 4 | 68 | in | 208 | do. |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| West Indied | 1 | 170 | 4 | 8 | cents, noarly |

The beavy duty laid upan British Weet India suear is for revimue-bul the extra 8.4 cente, assessed on British Eant Indla sugar, and the extra ten cents per is, on foretgn magar, are for the protention of the West India cultirators. The kut, wo think, would be better prolected by a duty of 7 s . Than of $\mathbf{2 7} \mathrm{s}$. per cwt. because of the ineraased consumption which mon reduced duty would cuase; and a considerable part of the reduced duty would go into the price received by the planter, foreign sugary being still excluded.

Glass ractoniks iv New Yonk. The following has been trunsmitted to us as a complete list of the wincow glass factories in New York:

At Verons and Vernon, Oneida connly-Ontario and Geneva, Outarin comity-Woolstork, [']ster eoòntyHamilton, Albany eounty-Sand-1,ake, Rensselaer county -Redford, -, county-and Clyde, Wayne county. Total, nine.

At the Clyde fuctory there is annually consunied- 40 tous pot ashes, 125 tons of sand, 40 tous honsceushes, 260 barrels of salt, and 2,500 cords of woonl, ke. The capital is 25,000 dollars- 30 men are enyloyid, and 150 persons subsisted at these works; and the prodfuct is nbout 8,000 boxes of 7 by 9 , anuually, at $$ 5$ per box-or 21,000 dollara.

We have no partictilar information of the bueiness and extent of the ofher establishments-but taking thin as an average, the nine will produce the following results:
-Innual consumption.
360 tons pot ashes
330 tons house ashes
1,125 tons of sand
1,800 barrels of salt
22,500 corvls of wood.
Employed and swbsiated.
970 workmen, nind 1,350 persons subsisted.

> Cupital, Eic.

Capital 925,000 dollars-annual jroduct 216,000 tollars.
© F-F'ulty two-thirds of the value annually ereated, passes directly to laud-holders and agriculturists, for fuel and transpartution, \&e. Whd the sulbsistewec of the workm. n and their families; ant the ce nine glass factoriez are more beneficial to the land-hohiters and furniers of New York, Ihan is the whole Irade will Russia; Prussia, and Denmark to the land-holelers and farniers of the $\mathbb{U}$. States; so far as the traile wilh these countries depeada on their consumption of American products, according to the treasnry tables of 1830 -whe latest that we huppen to have before us.

Tus coal thane. At the beginning of the latt week, 1,004 boats, Jaten with 41,701 tons of coal, had descemiled the Schnilkilt, in the present season. Betwren 7,000 and 8,000 tons a wetk are now shipped. The price at Pottsville is $$ 203250$-freights 125.

And up to the 1st of May, there liad arrived at Honesdale, from Carbonidale, 1,625 rail road wagons, with $40,621 \frac{1}{1}$ tons of coal-beside: vast quantities of lumber. the Ihelaware and Hudson canal is doing a great business.
"A pactoar gikin" A letter frots Newport, R. I. speaking of the calm and unruffled dejortment of - Ivery, on his trial for the murder of a young wonan, whom he is charged with having previously eeducedsays:
"The same feeling which the deportunent of the prisoncr is calculated to produee, was evineed in the erowiled uulience yesterday, in the examination of a joung lady, wilhout its being repressed by any doubt is to its lreing filly deserved. I do not allide to it, as at all eonnectell with the case, in point of testimony, but simply as one little given spot in that boasted professions, the law, which, after all, hnwever noble it may be as a science, is, in the practice of the day, a mere art of preventing wituesses from telling the truth, and an exercise of the most Ingenious deception opon the minds of plain, honest men, who are so unforturate as to be caught upon a jury. Whorver most excels in these qualifieations, is the best mere lawyer. In the case alluiled to, linwever, there was an exactly opposite result. A young female (the would uleserve any where the appellation of lady, both in appearance and teportment), was called upon, unavoidably, to testify to circumstancesextremely unplewant to a deficate fermale th detail in a public assemhly. They had no relation to herself or to the prisoner: * The unaffected and lady-like manner in which this young feraale noquitted herself under circumstances so peculiaply try ing as a public examituation of this description, was exceedingly interesting. Polished society might find it not a litte

[^18]diffieult to furnish a representative to diseharge so paiuful a dusty, with as much of the true dignity of modesty ns was here evineed by a "factory girl.' It was an ho. nor to that valuable portion of our population thens to be represented, and would of itself repel the slander that dare in necessarily in their employment any tendencies to blunt the sensibilitien of fentales, or prevent a full cultivation of lady-like and delicate refinement. Even the overbearing steruness of the examining connsellors at the bar was laid asinte from respeet to female delieney; and the rare plicnontenot in legal practice was calibitent, of the mere lawyer (whose greatest merit is smpposed to consist is browbeating and confusing withessers, to prevent their telling the truth) being laid anide for the true courtesy of the gentleman-the politeness of the heart."

05 -The peeple of the south, in general, have abont as correot ideas of the general ehauneter and condition of the young wonen enployed in the well-regulated factories of the norfl, as of the inhabitants of eapt. Sy numes' inuer workh. This is mot much to be wondered at, in those who would be "shoeked to death" with the mere apprehension of being called upon to labor-to receive nonery, io wages, for zoark pertormed! But a better and more correet elass of persous are no where to be found. They are couch superior, aud in almost ev.ry respect, to the classes of soeiety from whences they are drawn, and better educated; and Useir lives are as blatweless-indeed, less liable to iujurious suspicions, for very few accidents happen amoog ureil. And there is a good reason for thas-ench is made a guardiant, ns it were, of the howor of the establishenent in whieh she habors-and a good reputation is every thing to these poor girls. There are villages at which several hundred young women have been einployed, for years, with hardly a single impueachment of their clasaity. They are respectuble and re-spected-their dresses are not so costly as those of their sisters who are isdependent of manual labor for sup-port-but not tess neat, aud tidy, and comfortable. And we have seen many of then that would have exeited as much atteution in the drawing room at the president's house, because of their beauty-as any who have appeared there; aye, and, we think, would have conducted theraselves quite as well. But what a horrible thing would it be to introduce an honest and well-edueated and lovely "factory girl," where "patches, paint and candle light" are so iniportant, and "srball talk" is only used, beeause che only sort-of-talk that is uuderstood!
There is a wieked and foul disposition to debase the charmeter of such young women, and sitsply because they make an honest living for themselves! But many a mans has found to his sorrow, that a dashing belle may be a wife only fitted "to suckle fools," and unable even to "ehroniele small beer," being no more than a female animal , with a range of intellect vounded by the tashion of a frock or a petticoat, and as if without a soul; a mere play-dhing in prosperity, or a dead-weight in adversity; oftentinues iegarded with indifferconce in the one case, and always despised in the other; in neither a companion for an iutelligent and inquiring man.

We speak of the "factory girla" as we have seen them, and are entirely assured than they are. What they may be, under nupvesp wages and more severe labor than is now required of them, we shall be better able to may after 1848-if so long we live. Thousands on thonsands of such are now ariong the most valued wives and lese mothers in the land, offering their "jewels"'to defend their country in the peril of war, or extend its prosperity in the works of peace;-to tread the mountain's top, dive into the bowels of the earth, or mareh opon the orcanevery where holding up the "starry fagg" of the requblie, and proelaiming tiberty and independence. Cases of individual hardship have happened, and we would rather that female labor should find employment home, or in less dease masses that arc oflentimes met with-but such fermalea are not yet slaves, and those that are prudent and thrifty do not generally remain many ycars itt the faetories. Some aevumulate little fortunes for themselves-a few handred dollars to "begin the world with" and the faet that they are honest and industrious, and careful, has no effeet, is the north, to exclode them from society, or degrade them in the public estimation!
"My/iuty vloods." Very litte rain fell during the month which euded two or three weeks ago-bat since then there has been a general rain, and a vast quuntity of water has fallen, as the following brief totices will shew.

The Connectucut river had risell near twenty feet-and caused much danage; bit we have not many particulares.
The Hudsona aunl its chief tributary, the oMuhawk, rose to an extraondinary height, toing great injury at Troy, Allonny, and many other places, and several liven were lost by the brenking up of rufts, &ce, and of persoua engaged in attempts to preserve property. The rise of water is called "uryparalleled." The lower part of Albany was contpletely inundated-the streets were impassable, Exupt in boats or carriagen, for some distance above the Eagle Hotel. One of the briulges acrona the Mohawk was carried awny. The beautiful gardens on the islands in the Hudson, below Albany, were destroyed, and many fiehis ou the main lund over-lowed. The loss of property was exceedingly lieavy, on the 141 li , 15 th and 16 ili inst. It was apureliended that the canals had been seriously injured. We cannot give particulars. Such a floot, was not expected at this scasou of the year, and hence the injury was inereased.

The waters of the Defluwure reached an uneommon lwiglte on the 16 th and lith instant, and anuch damage was matained.
The Susquehumah was 16 feet above low water mark at Harrinburg, on the 16th, and still rising. It was the grentest flood remembered by the oldest inhabitantomuch higher than the extuoordinary one that happened 16 years ago. The river was execedingly violent and "wicked," as we have heard a person call it, and the rush of waters, at certaiu points, awful. We have not seen any stateruent of the dumages sustained, but thery have been large. It is expectedl that several of the canals have bech injorcd. Sone peraniss were drowned, in attempting to save lumber and other property.
Thie Potomuc has heen very full, aud wafted a great quantity of produce, lumber, comi, &o. towarls the market on the sea boartl; but we have not henard of mach injury being done on the slores of thin river.
The Ohio was 23 feet above low water nt Wheeling, on the 18 t h inst. The flond in this river dores not nppear to have been of an extraordinaty height, and no partietlar clamsge is stated.
What a vast amount of water must have deseended in four or five days, which, after saturating the parched earth, hurled such torrents towards the sea! The mind can harilly grasp an idea of the quantity, though the faet is presented, that rivers, from a half a mile to a mile, or more, wide, had a volume twenty feet deeper than sisual, hurried forward at the rate of ten, or suore, miles an hour, at particular plaees.
The loss of life has been considerable. Many bridges, clams, milla und other buildings have been swept away, and immense quantitien of luniber and saw-logs, &cc. are lost. In a gool many Instanees, stone buildings have Ireen cleared to their foundations. The rivers and streams of Vermont have been as violeat as others. The p-ncral amnunt of damages sustained is execedingly large-and the range of the rain-flood unprecedented.

The crolrra. The total number of deaths by this disease in Havanna, and its suburbs, from the $13 t$ of Mareh to the 13 th April inclusive, is now given at only 6,831 . On the 1st March 35; on the 13ih April og Greatest number of deaths on the 28d Marel- 78 white, 255 eo-lored-ss3. This was not only the lighexs aggregate, but also the highest number of either elazs of persona.
A letter from Matanzan, duted April 24 says, that the cholera had wearly ceasell ut that pluce-but was ravaging the estates, sonnt losing 40 or more slaves in 3 days. On others it is sain that ald hat died.
The Paris papers have official veturns of the mirtality caused by the Asiatic cholera in Franee. From its commencement until the first of January, 18.33 , the whole number of patients was $229,534-$ of those who perished 94,666 . It appeared in fifty of the departments; those of the south suffired muili less than the northern: the western less than the eastern. The government expended nearly thirteen huadred thousand franea in providling frod, medical aid and other nccessaries, for the relief of the poor.

A good many eases of eholera have lately happened at Vieksburg, Míss, anil some at Nashrille.

Natcanz. There has been a great excitement, and the largest meeting of the people ever load in this city, because of the finding of thu bodies of several negroes, thrown into some of the gullies and slightly covered with earth; and the consequent spreal of a report through the country that the cholera was killing the people so fast that the survivors had not time to bury them, &c. It appears that the bodies found were those of slaves, that had belonged to eertais "negro traders"-who, to avoid the expense of interment, had thus disposed of their re-mains-at which the people were properly indignant, &ce.
The "Natchez Courier" of the 25th April nay"-It is known and indisputable faet, that the cholera lias re-appeared in New Orleaiss, to what extent, having nothing before as from the anthoritirs of that city, we are unable to determinef but we do know, that scarcely a boat arrives from that port, without more or less sick on board, with that iliscase. Arunng other passengers there lad been, during the previous week, many negroes, some of whom have died of the eliolera, perhaps eight or tenbut not a single ease has originatell here, nor has any one of our eitizens been attacked, that we have been cnabled to learn.

Tas mew taniry iaw. The following are the modeat opinions of the Leerls (England] Mercury, concerning the new tariff law of the United States. Wheuever the proceeding of a foreign government interferes with the interests of Englinhmen, every genuine John Bull "'oprens only one eve," ns our Indians say, to see the merits of the matter. The passage of this bill is called "a most arhitrary proeeeding, and, indeed, a groas breach of faith"* -hecause that the products of the woollet manufsclurers of Leeds and Hurdiersfielif niay nnt be sent to the United gtatee, at a duly of five per cent. Modest and liberal John Bull! "A breach of failh!" Hetween whom? Was Mr. Bull a party to the tariff act of 1832? 1las he not, an hunilred times, regulated his own tariff by simple orders in eouncil, concocted in secret, and futf into operation at the chief ports, without a moment's warning to the parties interested? Does not Jolin assess an average duty of more than 100 per cent. on all the elitef productions of the land and labor of the United States, cotion only exeepted! But John grumbles becanse the duty on coarse woollens, reduced, by ourselves, in a spirit of compro-mise-have, in the same spirit, and to pulease onmselves, been temporarily raised to the daty which is payable out other woollen eloths! and notwithstanding a greater advantage has been given him in stuff goods, linens and silks! "A begach ar yatitu," John? -a breach of fisith between the United States of America, and the log-woon dyers of cloth, made out of old clothes, at liceds, which, like Peter Pindar's razors, are sent out "to sell," ill America. O rave and ıuodest, Jolin Bull. We ןiray thec $\rightarrow$ open both eyes, Jolin. Look at home, John. Refirm thyself. $D_{0}$ "free trade," and then we'll tulk with thee bout it, Father John!

From the Lieeds Mrotury.

Mr. Clay's tariff bill has been sinnggled throngh the American house of representatives, hy one of thoon original and ptartling manceuvres which distinguinh that repulilican legislature. The honse had been all the session disensing the tariff bill introduced by Mr. Verplanck, which went to make grwat reductions on imported goods; the manufacturing party siruggied lura agninnt it, and the montherns as hard in itx favor: the bill had reached its third reading, when-lo! some mmmber moved, "as an arneudment," to leave out all the words after "that," and substitute ment," to leave outh all the words after "that," and substitule The motion was carried by a vote of $1: 21$ io cais; and by this mosi extraordinary plece of jockeyship, Mr. C'lay's's bill passed in one dav.
Wa regrel io say, that this hill is not only much worse than that of Mr. Verplanek, hit is decidedly less literal than that of Inst July. The tariff of July, 1K72, was to have come into oneplation on the 3 l of Mareh, hut if Mr. Clsy's bill whould finally pass the senate, in which house it has been reinened, that tarifi will bever take effect at all, exerpt as manified by the new hill.
By the tatilf of lasi year the luweal qualities of woollen gooda were allowed to be inirodaced at a duty of five per cent. as radorem, and great guantities of goonds have gone out from the neighborthond of Lieedn and IIndiurafield on the faith of that orrangement; but Mr. Clay'm hill raises the duty on these goonls to Afly per cent. and every yarl of the low woollens sent from EingJand must either pay that duty or be sent back to this country:

This is a most arbitrary proceeding, and is indeed a gross breach of faith.
The other arrangements of Mr. Clay's bill are to let the daties fised by the tariff of last July remain in operation till the 31 st or December nest, after which they are to be reduced by driblets-one-tenth of the excress of thone duties over 90 per cent, ed ralorem in be thken off at the end of the year 1833, ano cent. ad ralorem in of 1 iss, another tenth in 1837, another renth in 1839 , in 1481 one half of the remainder, and ai the end of 1842 the duties are to be reduced to 20 per ceat at which they are to continue.
Our Bradford and Kelghicy friends are almost the only persons in England whon this tanf will benefit, as worsted stud goode which have hitherto paid $2 s$ per cent. duty, are to be admited duty free. Linena a ind allks are also to be admitted duty free, which will be an advautage to Barnsiey and Manchester.
British "puek thank." The Newcastle (Eng.) Chronicle, speaking of the timber traile, says-Within the last few days, several vesscls have been taken up lieve to go to Memel to take iat a eargo of timber, from thence proceed to Canada, where the cargo will be delivercal, and inmediately reshipped and brought to this jort as A merican [Canailian] tumber! Whut an absurd state of law it most he that can render such a system profitable, and yet what an outery was raised against the ninister: when they attempted to alter it!

Teas. It would appear (says the Boston Centinel) that, in the artiele of teas, as in some other articles, we were in danger of losing the benefit of our own reduction or abolition of dutics, by the ineidental inerease of miee by the producers. The Hong merclants of Canton, lhearing of our new tariff, nuturally ealeulated on an increased consunpution and demanil for the prineipal ingredient of our afternoon beverage, atul are said to have cundeavored to get nore profit themselves, by our expected augmented indulgence in the lierbs of the east.

Tits marketa. On Wednesday last, green peas were selling in the New York market at 50 cents per jeek, and strawberries at 150 eents per quart. On the same day, green pras, at Baltimore 1810325 cents per peck, and strawberries 61@s 123 eents per quart. It is prohable that peas will be sold at 25 cents the bushel, this day, in Bal-limore-May 26-and a plenty of fine strawlerries at $6 t$ cents per quart.

Thr photested dmatt. The Pennsylvaninn sayo-that the United Staites bank has presenied the protested draft, amounting to ncarly a million of slollars, to the United Stales goverunuent, with a claim for damages at the rate of fificen per ceut. By the late arrivals at New York, the original draft aind pmest have been returned to the hank, and the slirectory of that institution has sent in Its bill of danages to the treasury department.
[We have heard that the liauk proposed to collect the diaft-but that the government woilil sell it, and the bank liecame the purchaser. In this case, the affair is a nuere business transaction, and the bank onght to clatm of the United States what womld be elaineed of an individual, in a similar matter: and yet mirabile dictu.' hulf a thonsanal colinms of "ilarignation" are being ma. nufactured on this aceount, for the "by awthority" pressen. The making of such a draft, we rather appre liend, has few preecdents, if any-mid, surely, the rale of it was not called for, uhless because of some imperious dernamis on the treagnry, with which we are unaequainted. But if the government trades in drafts, the lex mercatoria is just as applicable as it would be to a private in-alividtal-and the fuss malle about it is childish, orbase.

Mr. Rannovphave the rank of the Unttep States. From the Richmond $\boldsymbol{U}$ hig.-John Kandolph, of Roanoke, for some days, (and we believe still), in this city, is anderstood to lave declared himself distinetly and deeideflly in favor of renewing the clanter of the jresent bank of the United States. We learn that lis enorse of argument is somewhat this: that fis opimion of tis unennstitutionality has not cloanged, but that he views that question as withilrawn, and the country broughe to the alternatives of choosing between the present institntion and one of more exlensive powers and capital, to be established for the opecial beneft of .Mr. Van Buren. Ms. Randolpla believes that the southern people only are influeneed by constitutional seruples in their opposition to the new charter; that if the present insticution is overtirown, another of more doubtful utility, and of enlarged capacities, will be immediately ereeted in its stead, and brought under the control of the executive for electioneering purposes; and be prefers an institution which he knows, and which has proved useful and independent, to another ustried, and wheh asay fall under governaent influence, and ealarge the already dangerous extent of exeentive power. ${ }^{\circ}$ aco-Mr. Randolpla arrived in Baltimore on Sunday last, and on the uext day proceeded to Philadel phia.
The "American," noticing the arrival of Mr. Randolph is this eity, gave the following acesount of it. Mr. 1. is asid to have been "much offended," because of the crowd-but the singularity of his equipage and procecdings, were legitimate causes for that euriosity which his presence exciked. Many wished to see what sort of an animal it was within the vehicle-which, as one who an w it said, looked as though it nnight have been digged out of the ruins of an old coach loouse which had "flourished before the revolution." If "Roanoke" will not do things like other people, be cannot expeet that the propile will treat him as they would another man. And after wll, Mr R. would, pertaps, have been sorely mortified if his arriral had not created any sensation, though only of the "growndiags," let loose on a Sundlay evening. Erostratus burnt the temple of Epplicsus, for fame-others seek and obtaiu it by ocher means.
From the Anarican. The hon. John Ranilolph reached this eity on Sunday afternoon from Washington, and proeceded to Philadelphia yesterday morning. He travedled in his old Gashioned English coach and foar; with a postilJion on one of the leadiug horses, and Juba on the lov. We learn that his passage through Prutt street to the city hotel was the oceasion of some little ineonvenience and irritation to him. His remarkable equijage eame leisurely along that street just about the tinue of the arrival of the steamboat Kentucky, and thas attracted the attention of the crowd of persons who were in waiting to witness her arrival, at well as the hundreds who had just lanied from her, at the intersection of Light and Pratt streets. It was soon generally uuderstood that Mr. K. was in the coach, and curiosity, on the part of some, and the force of the example on ofhers, immediately induecd numbers of the spectators to follow him. By the time he reached the hotel, we learn that the erowd was so dense in front of it tha: his ettrance at the principul door was impossible; at length the equipage proceeded to the private door on Fayette street, and he wan coaveyed from the eoach into the hotel in the arms of Juba. Mr. R's oppearance is said to indicate an extremely delicute state of health.

[^19]United States bank stock. We have the pleasure to say that the honeat gentlemen-brokers of New York, are still being punished. In spite of all sorts of fubricatious, the stock rines; and on the 22 d was at 114 , and fearfully expreted to go still higher.

Massaciresetts. The laifies' fair, at Boston, for the benefit of the blind, prodnced orear twelve thousand dollars; and a sinnilar fair, for the same kind purpose (previously held), yielded the large sum of three thousand dollars, in the comparatively small town of Salem, which had alrearly contributed six hundived doilars.
The Boston Transcript says-W'e are pleased to learn that sonvething is at last to be done, anll with energy, to cusure the immediate completion of the Buaker Hill monument. A gentleman of this city has addressed a letter to the government of the Massachusetts mechanio association, offering a donation of $$ 5,(000$, on condition that $$ 31,000$ shall be raised by subseription within three months, for the purpose aliove specified. A meeting of the association was held last evening, and from the spirit masifested by the members, there is not, we are informed, the stightest doubt that the work will go on and be finished forthwith.

The estate, onrner of Tremont and Beacon streets, well known as the Eliot estate, measuring 184 feet 8 inches on Bcacon and 65 on Tremont street, backing on Philipa' place, contuining 10,954 feet, was lately sold at $$ 310$ per loot The riglit to one-serenth part of 1'hilips' place, so called, being all the interest nod estate of the heirs of the late Win. H. Filiot therein, subjeet to the rights of light, air and Ilrainage belonging, to the mansion house estate above described, at $$ 450$.
We understand that a comprany of gentlemen have purchased the White estate, so called in Roxbury, for $$ 26,000$, for the purpose of erecting thereon a numbier of elegant cottages. This estate has long been known as oue of the most becutiful garjen spots is this vicicity.
[-Idnocute.
Phorlestoxal mev. Acenrding to Williams' Annual Register, for 1893, just published. the number of members of the profussions of divinity, law, and playsic, In the state of New York, is as follows:

Attorneys and counsellors at law, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 956
Physicians and surgenns, ............................ 2,580
Physicians and surgenns, ........
Cleepy, qiz:
Presliyterians atnl Congregationalists. 598
Baptists, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 4 .
Methorliats, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 401
Ejiscopnalians,. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 163
Ieformed Distch, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 106
Assnciate Kelormed, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 99
Lutherans, . . . . . . .......... . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 14
Other denominations, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 88
Total, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 1,741 Pextsymania. It is estimated that, since the opening of eanal navigation this sjribig, Easton has ment to market abont 100,000 harrels of flour, 70,000 bushels of corn, 8,000 barrels of whisker, and 5,000 barrels of linseed oil, besiden large quansities of other productions, among which was a considerable quantity of roofing slate, a large qutarry of that article having been worked for some time in ihat neighborhood.
It is also said of this flourishing town, that npwards of fifty buildings, chistly brick, will lee erceted there this acason, and a large edifiee, for the Lafavette college, 118 feet front, will be commencetl. In adifition to the marchamlise and produce of the neighloorhood, which we linve noticed ubove an coming from Fiacton, we mar add that, in the last weck, 64 Mauchthunk boats, Ioanded with $3,17^{\prime}$ tons of lahigh coal, entered the eanal, anil contributed towards the $\$ 1,648$ received during the week.
Manylasd. James H. Alevander, esq. eivil engineer, and professor Dneatel, of the university of Maryland, have been mpointed by the governor and eonneil, to eolleot and prepare the materials for a geographical and topograputical chart of the state, and a genlagieal survey therenf. Philip P. Tyson, emp. will asaist in the latter. These intercsting matuers are enmmitud to gentiomen happily fitted to exeeute them in the most satisfactory manner.

Baltixconf. We have mone than once mentioneal, an addition to this city whiet is now bring madr, by the improvement of a property called "Canton," which lies on our river, south of Felf's l'oint, and has a fine depth ot water along ita front. The conspany having expentiled a large sum of money in levelling, filling up, and opening the property, and built a long line of wharves, &e. &e. on Saturday last offered 900 of their Iots for sale, all which were disposed of. These lints are generally 90 by 60 feet, and varied fiom one hundred to five bundred dollars, aecording to location. The whole product of the tale exceeded 30,000 dollars.

Buildings will be immediately commenced on many of these lots, and we may soon expeet to see a new town rising up. It is Intended that the rail roads shall be extended to Canton, and the time is tot distant, we think. when a lively and large business will be carried on there. The whole tract is said to abound with good watcr.

Cegberlasp seffeners. The following is a return of the monies collected in the several wards of the eity of Balimore, for the relief of the sufferers by the late fire at Cumberland:

Total...................................... . . . . $$ 5856$ 28
In ardition, one gentleman of the 6th and another of the 7 th wards hanl, Individually, forwarded 150 dollars each: making the whole sumen $$ 6,15698$.
The 7th, 6th and 9th wards are alwaya the heaviest contributors on occasions of this sort. They are compact, and the chief seats of business; and many, resident in other wards, have their places of business in these, and $s o s w e l l$ the amounts obtained in them.

Vimoinia. The Winchester Republican sayo-We have reecived a printad catalogue of the officers and students of the university, for the present session. It gives ns great pleasure to see that the number of students who have matrieulated daring the term exceeris that of any other session, except the seeond: In 1895, the whole arnount of matriculates was 123; 1826, 177; 1827, 148; $1897-{ }^{-28}, 131 ; 1828-{ }^{-2} 29,150 ; 1829-^{\prime} 30,133 ; 1830-3 I_{1}, 133 ;$ 1891-'32, 140; 1859-'33, 157.

The total extirnate of exprenses for the session of thn months, exclusive of books and stationary, elothing and pooket money, is $$ 23$.

We understand thut a fine spirit of orvler and industry now pervades the institution-anll that the students are actively engaged in preparing for the examination in July.

We learn with regret that the university of Virginia is about to lose the services of Dr. Robley Dunglison, he having accepted the ehair of materia nerlica, therapeusies, liygiene, and medical jurisprudence, in the nniversity of Maryland.

Misasarppi. A new and flourishing town of fifty houses, called Amsterdam, has jumped up on the Big Black river, about 100 miles above its junction with the Mississippi, in the last 12 months. It is in the lieart of a rich cotton-growing country, and steamboats easily ascend to it.

Flonimp. The return of voles, though not official, thew that ool. Whise has been re-tlected the delegnte from this territory to the congrens of the United States, over gen. Call, after a most ardunus and very violent campaign.

Kivighation tu Michiean. The Detroit Courier mentions the arrival at that place, of seven steamboata, from Buffialo, from the 1 st to the 7th inst. with 2,610 passengers.

We are sold that the steamhoats at Buffalo oftentimes depart previous to the time approinted, to avoid the pressure of jucrsons wishing to take passage in them.

Texas. Hy the brig Frederickshurg, arrived at New Iork from Mutamoras, we learn, (suys the Conrier), that a vessel of war from Vera Cruz, arrived at that place a few days previous to her sailing, with troops, who, with others assembled at that place, amotuting altugether to about $$ 50$ men, were to march in a short time to 'Texas for the purpose of driviug the American enigranta from that place.
[Texas has been considered as a sort of neutial, or mindile grounsl, for the congrugation of all sorts of adventurers, making laws for thonselives, in fact, though pretemling to reajeet those of Mexico. 'The SSU tronps above mentimued were to be joined hy 1,200 othrers, and eight pieces of artilliry; and the prevailing anarchry will probably be put down, very promptly.]

Latg tafaty with Inemank. The Wiashington Globe consains a list shewing the result of every cixim preventeql to the board of eommissioners under the late trealy with Denmark. The full amuunt awarded in all the cases is $$ 9,154,425$. The sum actually payable ia $$ 6 i 0,56478$.

Imptdext villaikn. The progress of erime in the Unised Stutes is appalling. The exports from Enrope of inurderers, robbers, gamblers, thieves wnd piek-pockets, &e. will thousands of paupers, are "free" enongh, indeed! Strong measures must be ailopted to prevent their surious depredations and impositions on society. The punishment of those convieted should be sure, and the full penaliy of the law certain, willout the hope of executive pardons. Let the penitentiaries be enlarged, If ne-cessary-and second offences close their doors against the egrens of perions condemned for any erime resulting from manifist perversions of the heart-while the unforthoate should be more tunderly ilealt with, and eneouraged to reform themselves. But so it is, that the meahes of the law are too often broken turongh by "rogues of distinction," who are artuste in villainy.

One of the editors of the Boston Centinel was lately assuulted in the street, after nightfall, by some ruffisn, supposeal to be a gambler, the editor alluded to haviog aided in the exposnre of a den of villains of that character. Since the assault he has received the following ansonymous note through the post office:

Boaton, May 5, 1833.

Sir: The personal ehastisement inflieted on you on Monday night, must eouvince you that justice, though Now, is sure. You have received an anonymous hint that for a certuin paragıaph thut appeared in your paper some time buck, (the object of which was to call the publie attention to a certain house in this eity), you should not go unpunislred.

If vou are wise, institute no inquiries into this affair, but let it blow over, lest a greater evil befial you, the loss of lfe; for if that le extingushed, there is no pronectieas licat that ean that light relune. I have given your brother editur of the Galaxy, a much bronder preliminary hint thas I have ever gare you, and I am in lined to think thia affrir of yours will eonvlnee him, there is something more in them than meets the cye or flesh in these corporcal chastisments and written hints

It either of you are not silent now on a subjeet which does not concern rou, which is connected with the morala of the city, you shall loth hear In a more summary and decisive manner from ABLLive.

Law rask. State of Delaware vermus John Porter, jun. A very extrnorcinary trial under the above title is reeorded in a Wilmington paper of the 14 hh instane An indietment was found by the grand jury against John Porter, jr. for counnitting mayhem by emasculating young lad of sixteen. It is the second offience of the kinil in the United Stateg-the former instance having been that of Potter, in North Carolina. The young lad gave a pitiful acenunt of the manner in which he was waylaid and assanlted by the alefendant-and his testimony was so direet and eonclusive that the counsel for the prosecution made no remarks to the jury. The accome conclumes-

Chief juatice Clas ton briefly elaarged the jury to the efficet-that the faci, the crime had been eommiticd was notorious, and undisputed-that the question with the jury was, which testinnony should be believed-that the prisooer had attempted to prove sickness and an alibithat, on the countrary, the attorncy general had produeed witnesses invalidating this testimony-and it was for the jury to say, which should be credited-in nhort whether the prisoner was the individual who comanitted the deed.

The jury after a few thinutes returned with a verdiet of guifty.

Tlie prisoner was then arraigned before the court to receive bis sentenes. He arose apparently much agitated -is of a dark complexion, black ey ew-of a yonthful appearanee, no bearrl-with a general physiognomy ers tirely against him. His head apparently is broad between Uhe ears, which phrenologists say is a development of the organ of destrnctiveness.

The chief justice, in a feeling and impressive manner, pronounced his sentence to be a fine of $$ 2,000$ to the mtate, and one year's imprisonment. 'The legislature of this state has sinee [this ontrage] passed an act, making this erime capital, and punishable with death.

BRIEF NOTICRS.

The nalary of the Britiath ambavondor at Pasis is & 10,000, way 50,000 dollary a yeur-or his secretary $£ 1,000$, or 5,000 dollars, and the has an altache at $£ 400$, or $2, v 00$ dollars.
The New Bedford Mercury of the 2sth wit. ways-A lewneh, if taunch it can be ealled, of rather a novel character, took place at a wharf in this place on saturday afternoon-a venvel of about 300 whs, which, bad been thrown botiom upwards to be repmired, havang beeu planked and finishod in the lower part of the huli, whech is under water when afloat, was altenipted to be pas iano mer deatined elemeut, by rulling over; but the plan was aot fully executed. There was a great conlirctusu of people to witness the hovel scene. The buttom of the veusti has been made abiucs new with timber as well as plask. During the might, anuthet effort was made, which was succesisful.
We did not recollect that Virginiaever was a land uf selfcher; but Ure Cuarlertown Firee Predoinfornis us that at the laxt meeting ut the Virginia listontical and Pinlosopitucal woritly in Rith. moud, wung onlice eurnum ducunentx real, was 'an anthentic record, certitied hy the eleif on Prumeane Anne coumby, al the trial of a remale in 1705, for witchcraff." Tise records of the early w-tulrmetht of the Oid Domision, if they eotelal be anatched theus of parpular aupervition, as the extant lusharima of onr New Englaul brethren supply, for the amusement and edification of the deserndants of the pilgrimn. It may mat be amies to suggeet, wherlier it wisild nut atvaure the purpisets of the Visginia Ifintoris:al suctely, and eontisbute to the gratificntion of the public, If isey would publish, in sone mulable firm, the va rions intereating fact-, of wheth from thue to thine they becoune porswased?

The two hundred tana of ice lately exported from Boston for Catentla, was eurrounded winh tons. If it shall arrive mately-a grand vovage will be made. It in a "Iankee nothon"--and "chivalitie"' in trate.
The Lexiugton, (Ky.) Gaxetie nnticen the exihibition, lu that place, of Man suyder, a young lady, about bum-teen yeans of age, who is regardrdas oue of the greateat uatural rurinsituea ever seen. The lady has neither liands mor arnis, bur is there and foot complete, with the exception of the thee being nuly four lustead of tive. The other leg has but one jolat, (that of Uhe ankle), and it is nuly lout hali the lrogth ol the first; the front haviag on it, (like the onher), ouly four tors. Stise la three fret our luch hagh, weighiag 60 lbs. is in the poseeston of all ber mental faculties, conversen very flucntly on any subject, and is very fond of engaging in conversation with her visiters. ghe sows, katss, paints, cuts a varinty of flowers, watch papers, ke. cows, kats, paint, cuts a varinty of flowers, and writest
olerably well with her lef foot.
We aotlee the publication of a new weekly fournal at Thomattnwn, Gienrgia, under the alte of "The Hickory Nut, and Cpeon Vgil," whith the motto "Crack it who aiay, it will be discovered to be sound to the kernel."
Goods were recently received at Cincinnali in fifteen days from the city of New York, by way of the Eris canal, the lake, and the Otwo canal and river.
It in staied that Mr. Clay purposes to pass through New Eng tand is the asonth of July nest.

Benjamin S. Seaborn bas been tried and found guilty of settitg fire to the city of Raleigh.
The landa at Carrollion, belnuging to the New Orirane caual and banking comupany, which cost the conupany 892,000 , were sold on lst of May tot sLij0,000, leaving a profit to the bank of 6148,000.
As two persons ware latily ploughing a field on the mouth side of the wiand of Martha's Fineyard, they mirned up a considerable quantasy of silver coiu, whurli neemod to liave been lied up in a bag. Tive auount in ssid to have been from two to theree 山pousand dollars.
Capt. Jowerptı C. Hall, of the marine enrpa, died suddealy on the IThithat. on buard Une salp Frathklin, Iy tugat the mavy yand New York. He was much evteemed as an officer and man; and his reusins were luterred with the highest marks of respect.
We see in a Virginia paper a renewal of the old practice of noticing marriagen-a eerinin Mr. B. Has been joined to "the beantiful and much adaired Mise F. A. C." and thrn follow three stanzas, ubout "hraven" and "even," "one" and "done," and "'mong the few" who "lov'd so true."
Certain convicts in the state prison of Connecticut, latety murdered one of the keepers 'that they tuight make an eacape but they falled, and three have beea tied, found guity and weinteveed to death.
The Boaton Atlas aays:- "The works upon the dry dock at the navy yard in Challestown, have been brought to a close "Old Irmsides" ts to be iaken into it nezt week.
This dock in a ₹plebild monument of the preaent state of the arts.

FOREIGN NEWB.

GREAT ABITAIM AND BaELAND.
A London paper uf' $A_{p r i l} 6$, say of England tueld a meellug in the bank purfor this atteriuon, at which the governor and drpity governar reported the milnutea of the converence between them and lurd Althorp, held a few daye since. The precise teuor of the mintenous of govermment With regard to the renewal of the charter, have nut yet tratuspired, but we are masured that ministers have staten it ay their mitentlon to propoee to parliamest that tive sum of $£ 100,000$ per annum shall be deducted front the sum pald to the bank of England for the uninagruent of the public delit, and that with this reduction tu the aunount paid to the company, and sonte clangea of minur lappratuce, the charter is to be renewed for a liunited number of years.

In eommenting upon the advices that bad been received fom this country, of the pacific settlement of the nullifeatiun questimn, the Loadan papers tay-
"On the wlule, the conduct of general Jackwon, in the trying pituation lu wisich he whs placed will regard to south Carelina, was asuch applauded. The inaugural address of the prefident, delivered to the linuse of represcatatived ou the thh of March, and nuw belure us, is a dscument written with great talent, but, like that whell was pullished a short time since, in relicreace th sife course to be pursued by the axecutive towards the nullifiers. IA drawn up, not by the piesident himself, but by an individual who has been at his elbow ever wisee general Jackson finted the hizhest situatiou tu the republic. This is well known In the United states."

Dublis, April 2. The "Volunteers" will hold their weekly tureting tor day. It will probably the the last, as the gagging bill (oue of she natuea by which the Irist disturbance hill ta designated.here) to expected in Dublin before the close of the week. I think it likely, thowever, that the "Volonteers" will niljourn till salurday, and, il their naveting slould not be prohibated on that day, that they will adjourn till noxt 'Tueaday. It is the unh vernal improsion liese that the lord lieatesant, after receiving vernal improselun luese that die lord heatebant, after receiving the bilt, will for tiwnith exercise the pawer= confided to hina, by isuoind a proc-lausatian prolnbitiug any future mertings of the Conmervalivex, as well an the Volumieers. The motion which -tands lor discussioti at the Intter this day, is the following, wbich is in be lereustit forward by Mr. Barrett:
"Tlunt it tis itie opinion of the Volunteers that the Irlsh members should remwin at Uieir postr, In order to do as much good an possible to the Enalisli and Beoteh proples; and that they are almu of opinion that every member shouhl, on avery questiou not incompatitle with principle, oppose a manistry which has violated the union, and risked the connexion between the two countrion."
Thia rusolution will, no doubt, he adopted by the volunteene On Saturday night, of carly on Sunday marning, an armed party of Whitefeel sttacked the house of Thomas Croan, a reapectable farmer, living at Nallynafn, near Prosporons, demand ed his arms, and, on bring refused, Ared lato the trouse; Croms rtiurned the fire, ald shot a young man named Philip Geracity, who was carried off by bis party, and bencatht to his father's house at Millerstown, near Robertatown, and thrown on a dunfhill, though yet alive, where lie was found at day. Hybt, by hifn mother, who went ont to turn a horse ont of her yard. He was brought luto the linuse where the died in about an hour and a half. The diatance from Crose's bouse to Geraghty'y, the way he was tronght, is five milest he was traced hy his blood by the party of police from Prospermus. Cross had brit one man in his honse, named Alenck, who refused to ansist his ma ter.
[Dublin Evering Packet.

Iesterday eveaing a party of the Duleck police wern patroling on the road bordering the demerne when they fell in with Uiree men whom they ealled uponto etand; two of them submitted, bet the third fied purwued by were of the constables, who tound nnd stont bie pursuter thintizh the body, whelt callsed instant deatb. The murderer eseraped, but tha others are in cuatody; they are ideatitied as loaving cotumitied a robhery at Enngborvugh, about min hour belure.
[ Urogheda Journal.

> TURKEY AND EOYPT.

By an arrival at Baluumre, we have hewn from Smyrna to the 7ih Apul, which says-"The nutlurity of the Turkivh goverument, wheh, it wil be recullected, was for onoritime suspended in evrowequeaev of the premence of nn Eigypuan armed foree, whi now regularly maintautued at smy maa; hud peace between the porte and the paetha of Eg) pt was enanidently looked for, thrisugh the intervention of the allied powers. I'his opinion ts eorroburated by the following extracts of letters from the best Informed sources:

Smyrna, Aprif 6. "We are wniting with groat ansiety for further advices from Constantinople. Peace must be near at further advices from Conastantinople. Peace must he near Fatract of another letter, same date. "Our lial advices from Coustantinople, to 30 th ult. give hope that the grent exertions makiag by the nulasacadors there will very sonem resuit in $n$ peace. When this desirable event lakes place, we whall no peace. have $n$ very animated besiness liere."

portbe Inteat report at Sinyrnn was that "ibe Ruesians lind entered Consinuunople." [T'hese are the most recent nccounts from that quarter.)

LATEST NEWG.

From London paspers to the $11 f \mathrm{~A}$ Aprif. oreat gaitalk and inmband.

The "Whitefeet" continne their depredantoss. Mr. O'Connell tenounces them as "atrocinus"-the "vilest of the vile," "vil. Anfnous miscrennts"-deserving "the exectation of evpiy good or honest man," \&ce. It is very certia that the eumomities of these wretebes, have aol only caused the: pasange nf the "Algerine bill," ns $\mathrm{O}^{\prime}$ Connell enlls it, but pendered it neeessary that it should be put into force. Mr. $\mathbf{O}^{\circ} \mathrm{C}$. has reasolved toissur weekly Jetters to the people of Ireland, and the firmt has appeated. It is long, nod we eannot give it mt present. Ilis maill exbortations are to "agitate" the eountry, by diseusslug all questions relating are to "agitate" the eountry, by diseussing alt finestrons relating to its interests-but to respect hie lawy, and put do some of the London papers say, that lord Gres's misistry was on the wase. There is much speculation as to what will be dona about the bank and the Easi I ndia company.

The court martinl, under the Irish disturbance bill, has beea orgamited at Dnblin; aud a considerable milinary foree was about to proceed to Kilkewny.

Denate Collins, the old pensioacr, who threw a stone al the king, is ordered to be trausported for life.
A new ship of 120 quns, the Inrgeat in the Britsh navy and ealled the Rnyal William, has been Inuached at Pembroke.
The choleca has broken out on board a conviet ship at the Mothertank.
Thervank. cotton and Iron Irades were brisk ia England, and the The cotton and iron Dublin, Sunday, April 7. The following prorlamation extendIng the provisiuns of the bill to the eounty alid city of Kilkenny, appeared in the Dublia Gazette. It is stated that $n$ proclanaasion will appear early in the present week, prohtuliting the mertjugs of the Voluntecre, the Conservatives, and the Trades' thiou:

Ay the tord lientenant and corneil of Ireland.
A paoclamatins.
Anglescy-Wherens, by na net passed in the third year of his present majesty's reign, entitted "an net for the more effectual prespression of local disturbance asd dangeroun assoclations in Ireiand," it is ansoogst other thitus enacted that it shiniland aiay be Inwful for the lard tieutenait and otbrr eltief governor or goverwers of Irelasd, with the adviee of hip majesty's privy eouncil in Irsland, in any true mfer the passiong of the said act, and frod tinae to time dnring the contiauasce therenf, as occasinn mayy require, to issue his or their proctavantion, declaring any comety, county of a eity, or counly of a tnwa in Ireland, or any portion thereof, respectively, to be in steli n state of diatirimance mond insubordination as $t 0$ require the npplicauon of the provishons of the seis act.

Now, we, the lord lientenant, do, by this out proclamntion, is pursuanca and erecutios of the snud act, nud by and with the edviee of hite manjesty's privy oouncil in Ireland, deelare thu connty of Kifkenny, the enmnty of the eny of Kilkeuay, the eity of Kilkenuy, and the Jibertues of the snid cily, to be in such in atnce of disturbance and insubordiustion tas to require the applieation of the provisions of the said act.

And we do by thia nur proclanation, wnrn the inhabitante of the asid eannty of Kilkenny, the cily or the eounty of Kukeany, the eity of Kitkency, and tive tiberties of the paid city, to atotain From all aditimiss mad ather unlawinl nseewblazes, processionss, confederaclen, nacedings, and associations, nud to be and remain in their respective mabilations at ah hours between sunset nud ctant, of which nil justiers of the peare of the said cousty, and uny coneern, are to take aotice.

Given at the couneil ehamber in Dublia, this Gth dny of Apris, sial. Roser Wx. M'Manos, Wh. Gaonix, Joun Radcerfe, Jewn Dorexty,

F. Blachavnike. R. H. Vivian.
F. Blachaunde. R.
"God save the hing."

phasce, &c.

Nuthing of general intereat aplyarz to have happened ise Framee, Belginin or Il olland. Lortera from sicily, nace the "grabary of the world," eay that an awfol fanine grevarly-thaefly biccanse that lumvy rains bad prevphied the sownger of the crope. The plans have loug heen covered with water. The eitles and tow as nre erowded by persons from the country, seekiag food and employment.
portcoal
The affinirs of Don Pedro seem mueh brightened. It inpearis that he has obtained a cunsiderable supply of money -that lie lad 22,000 well diselplined troops, 7,009 of whom are French nad 5,000 British. The differenewn with adairal Barimius had been adjusted; and the opition now is, that Pedro whll suceed In lise enterprise.
Don Carlos, of $\mathrm{Sp}_{\text {pain, }}$ and the princess Beirn, had nrrived at Lirbon.
sfals.
The hatest intelligence from the eapital of this country tis to the Ist ultinos, and princtpolly leads to the diwtractions that prevall ta the eouncila of the kutg. The weak suess and oscillation of the kiug's mind are beconing dasly inore evident, and the firtheouing events is n eousutry swayed by suel a governanent, despotie In Its puwer, and influenced inoreover by in degrading subserviency to n bigntted priesthood, it is impossible to forewee. TUAKEY ANO Eerrt.
We have long reports nbout the negotiations which have been attenpted, and many long and learned specnlatinns on coming evritt ; but it is amnifest that nothing of $n$ decbrive eharacter han yet been done, in reriore pence beiweea the svitan and tho paclas; and that the former must sink before the power of the latter, utiless supported liy foreign argusents or arma. It seems also certain that $n$ Russian force was advancing, nud itmi the Eussian fleet will not, mi present, leave the Bospliorns. Thinge Were quiet mt Constantinuple, but the sultan had not reliance on the few troops that were collected there-naly 15,000 men. Some suppose that a zeneral war may grow out of the affaire of THarkey and Fgopt. All the great powern of Burope are armednud ready for flath. [The latest necounts from Turkey, are by Uie arrival at Balimore, noticed abnve.]

orrxany.

There was a great riot at Frankfort. A large body of young mis in the dreen of students, attarked the guard house, th the night, and the contest briween the people ad the andiers Insted titl morning. The woldiers prevailed-but ngood many were kllied or wounded, nad the students nusiained a severe Tose. It is added that similar rioto, or insurrections, had happiened at Cassel, Wertibura, ke. nnd thit Austrian tuoops were advaneing for "the prescrvation of order," aud to rives the ehains of slavery on the people-for these rints took place beenuse $n$ f the systemntic proceedings of the Germantic dirt to put dowa liberal npinioat, and silence free diacussions. The klug of Wirtembure has issued a manifesto dissolving the general assembly of hin states, nud ordering a sew election. The turbulent spirit of the former body is assigned as the reason of this proceeding. The priner of Hesse Cassel han nlso issued a minnifesto, conceived in still stronger lerme;-assertiag thmt a maJority of the ehasher had, from the very commencement of the session, assumed as ntitude hontlle to the government.
The armed foree of the Germaa derpots, we npprthend, is ton atrong to nllow a hope for the frvedom of the prople. The first is a perfectly organized machune, whieh destruys at comsaand, and does not riason. It is like one af the old engines of the "honly laquisition." It einbraces and murders-"by the grace of God!"

- $-\cos ^{6}$ ev-

BRITIEII TAX ON COTTON,
From the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian.
7he tax on cofton. The directors of the Manchester chamber of emmmerce have just forwarden to the lords of the treanury a memorinl praying etrogaly for the repenl of the hirnvy asd ienpolitie duty on the linportmtion of raw entina. Thls docunest states llat the ronwumption of this siaple is the firfories of the United stmiee nf America nnw extenda to $77,516,316 \mathrm{lbs}$, betwg as mueh an the arhole consumption of Great Britain amounted to, lexs than trecnfy yegrs aso; and that the comperition af the Ameri con mann farturers already materially intefferes with the interesta of Britich merchants, in ithe narketi of Nerico, the Brazilt, asa eren in those of the Mediterranean. The memorialists add that France pulan how pinduces yarn mnnunily in the weight of $63,000,000$ tha. and that the value of her export of enttom gonde fur one of the last yrars monountied to nn lese than $\boldsymbol{< 2 , 1 9 2 , 0 4 0}$ sterling: also that Switzerland proinces 19,000,000 lhs. of yarn and has alanost eemeed to purchase from lireat Britalan nny nambers below 50 s. They furthrer state thmt the eotton nianufacture is increasing in Prusein, the Rhenish provinces, Lombandv. Aumtria nnd Navony; thint if nll thene enuntrics the wages of lahor are decidedly lower that in Engtand; and that the repeal of nur import Auty is nbenlutily neeesaly to eheck their growing competition, and diminioh the temptation in invert enfital in the arpetios of factnries on the continent, which eapital, If the present aystesu be continurd, inny it is mucls feared, be aupplifed in part at lenst by Eaghishment. As to the tappolicy of subjecting to a heavy tax the raw material of by far the most important of our inanulactures, the memornints nbserve that they coosider uneediess way much, that muphiley haviog, at the time of use recedit augmeutiuou of the tax, bevo irankly and fuity admitued, both thy the noble chasceltior ot tiee exchorquer, a at the rigin housuade viee prendent of the board of trade. And they pony, that sure there uppuas eviry rearon on bapee, that at the eud of the fusnctal year there will be such a snrplus revenue as to adstat ol suue reduction of taxatums, thet may be exiended to the cotton manutacture by the terusval ar an minost wheth is wot onty troun itw very nalure repugnanil is every pribcipie of pouncal econotiry, but in ite practical operatinn tendz to expose in hazard and imjury that braself of liade, on the prospenily of whicto, tar nuture than that uf any other of our fuanulactures, whicends the enopluyment and comiortabie subsistence of uus ladepends the enopluy burng population.

The tax on cotton, by "Poyd"s Britielt tsriff" (1898) was sis procent. ad calorem-bui it the produci of a Britishi coluny, liec, The reasons assigned lur taking off even thias subatl rate of duty, are clearly stated in the article quoted above-the "competition" of Amersea, France, &c.

IRISH CHEBCH REFORM.  From the Philadelyhia papera.

Tie ainisterial pian of charch reform for Ireland is again betore the house of commons, lord Aldurp baving unved a senes of resolutions in a general connmitice of the whole bouse, for the purpose of carrying the whole plan into effect. The revolutions is Monday's debate were opposed by Mr. Lefroy, Mr. Halcomb, sir Kobert Jaghis and sir Robert Peel, and supported Iy Mr. Shael, Mr. Prymue, Mr. Macaulay and Iord John Lussell. The priscipal objection in the plan urged ou Monday was, that the tiss to be levied on thm incomes of the Irish clergy, in firu of the aboliabed lirst fruis, and to eupply the amouni of the cliurches, would be an unjust and oppressive exaction on a body of men who have already paid the firvt fruits of their hivings, aud who for ithree years past have received titte or no lincome. First, an to the payment inf the firal fruits; what is the whale First, an to the paynent of the firat fruits; what th the whase anomut paid by the trish clergy in first fiunts? Not inote then &'3 ${ }^{2} 11$ a year for the last ihirts yearn. This, therefore, inust be regarded as merely a nomitul payment: it is a putamee not woith mentioning.
As th the other objectinn, it lesves out of sight this most material fact, that the clersy have for ages been receiving ennrmous payments for most incticient services, and often for no services al all; and that as the body of the people who pay the tax are of a different religion from the clergy who receive it, this is a system of Injusice atud oupressinn which has now grown to wo great a practical gricvasce that it is in imminent danger of tunbling down about the gearn of those who support it. But even teaviug alt conslderations of equity out of the question, what is the plain matier of faet? Why that the whole of the el-urch revenues are in jenpardy; and they can onty be iescued by the macrifice of a part. For it to the enormous amount of those revenues that puts them In danger. They are buidensorne to the people, and they are an unjust as thry are burifenome. The church vessel has too beavy a eargo, snd if the crew refuse to throw over a portion of it when the shup ts laboring, the whole must sink together.
The spench of Ar. Shel furnished nuniemus precedents for interferesee with churels propesty, and for a Jual and rational pettieuteni of the expenses of extablishments where they exist. The strongest case was that of Canada, which being the work of a modern British legislature, shows common semse and jus. tice. The majoriny of the Caundian populatinn being Carlohes, (that province having for a king time been Yrench), parliament dectared the Cathotic to be the estnhlistived religion; but the lands of Protevtants were exentited fram the tithes le vied for the moppurt of the Catholic elrrgy. The zame princlpte night a forfiori to be applied to Ireland; for the proportinn of Protestants to Catholics is far less in Irctand than in C'anada. The plain Irvils is, that if there is any eatablished religion at all In Ireland, it ought to be the Caltotic. On every jurinepule on which churchmeo themselves detend extabliphmenis, this ought to the the case. A Protestant extahbiflamont in a Catholic couniry is an anomaly, an injaplice; and on far from being, in the eyts of any right judging Protentant, favorable to the spread of ProIrsiantism, it affixes u pout that religinu a stignin and an odism, and is a heavy clog upan all ite movements.

It burdens the Cathetic, but it also bunds him the more firmily to his own faith. It euriehes, and at the snine time penervatres the Protestant; in peacerful timea it makes him envied and hat-rd- in times of trouble it unakes hima a victin and a spoil.
The only considerution which can unduce dissemerw or liberal Episeopalaans to açuiesce in the ministerial plan, and to rereive if with gratitude, is, that it is all which there is the Jeasi probabitity of attaining at present.

TIIF CAPE DE VERD IRLANDS.
Attention is due in ilee extract annexpd from a Boaton paper. Our Asperican charliy is not always diseriminatim, and too frequently is prodigal of rellef. without Inquiring how far it is realIy needed ${ }_{2}$ nr gralefally received.

From the Hoston Daily .gdeertiser of 3 A Map.
A irtter from Witliam G. Merritl, esq. conaul at the Cape de Verd Iklande, to Withani B. Reyuolde, exq. chairman of the commatice appointed in this city, for the relief of the mufferers, under date of the 4th of March, gives an aecount of the distribes ton in the provitions received from various parts of the Usited Suntw. Mr. M. observes that before the airival of these provisions, huadieds of persous perished, who nught have been anved, ti the governor woulil have perontted the sale uf orchilla, lnat this betag a monopoly of the crown, he was instructed not 10 athow thus to be done on any teuthe. On the arrival of the Suran, twenly five maltia men and a muall buat only, were furnisfed to Mr. Merrill to assist himi in landagg the eargo; whale a) the same thes, "the govenusent found the nuran of chaptering a vessel to convey soldicrs to Africa, and another to Lisbon whil te-patches. The number of dealls by fanine during the last year is represeasd by Mr. Merrill at ahout 33,000 nesity iwofithe of the population. The provisians for the relief of the sufferers which were sent frou this country, had In souse reppecta a very beneficial effect, and an unlappy one in others. There prevaila au hinpression, saya Mr. M. "that the Americans weill sufyly their future, as well as their present wants." Even rome oi property are impreseed with the sanie Idea, and hare dectined purchasing except for their own consumption, botwithstanding their being offered at Inw prices. In some inplances, however, they would not, were shey admitied duty free, whith, has not been the case to the present day, and the reason why they have not heen lif, that it is, (as uny wish to impress upon the minds of strangern), their onty resource to pay ilieir soldiers. The only set of the governtnent, indicstive of gratitude far the measures of rellef, is an excuipion of "all vessels sent nut with provisionf, freight free, (or a large porthon of in), from port charges, and a permisaion to take sait enough to ballast them, duty free; whth the exception of one or two privileges grantrd to Messrs. P. & C. Flunt & Co. who were The tirst to offer their vessel to ennvey them, and to captain Ruder, who announced the fact of the distress of the islanders to the American publie. Mr. Merrill coucludes by declaring, that as the governurfut has the means of furnishing the manders with provibions in future, as long as the orchilita is produced, any additinnal funds designed for their relief would only be misapplied by being sent to these Islands.

A census of the prpulation of the Cape de Verd Ialands towards the end of 1831:
Island of zit. Thingo - - 26,290

Total
88,460
Died by starvation in 1832, necording to the bent informations
In At. Thiagn, beiween 3 and 4 thousand, say $\quad 3,500$
St. Antan, betwern 9 anil II thousand, 5 ss $\quad 10,000$
Furgo, between 11 and 13 thousand, say $\quad 12,000$
Brava, above 3,000
St. Nicholan, above 2,000

Tntal
30,500
O-We cannnt but admire the fideltyy of the gnvernor, in hniding on to the orchilla, during so greai a destruction of life for the want of food! If the facts stated are true-many win regret the 111 directed enurne of their eliariny, thangh feehng sh honest pleasure in refiecting upon the molives which indueed it.
Orchilin is a species of liehen, (says the Encylnpedia Americana), relebrated for yielding a bine purple color, which is employed in dyeing.

LOTTERIES IN NEW VORK.

From the Journal of Commerce.

The answer of Yutes &o Melntyre to the eall of the senate for a statement under oath, of the number and amount of schemes whieh have been drawn in this state sinee the 30th August, 1896, and the number and anuount of tickett sold by them dnring the same period, lisa beea promptly firmislued, and seenis to lave left a favoruble impressions upon the minds of that body, since they procected, on the same day to aceept the proposition of Messra. Yates & Mclutyre to close the lotiery butainess on the Slat. Decenber next. Hall they eredited the charges of gross deeeption and mismanagement brought against those gentlemen in a petition recenily presented, they would not have permittel another sebeme to be slruwn. The assembly, if we mistake not, have already aceepted the propositiou of the managers. We may therefore affely conclucle, that after the close of the present year, all loiterics meill be ext tinct in this state; and what is still better, the new constitution declares that "no lottery shall hereafter be authorisell in this state; and the legislature shall pass lawa to prevent the sule of all lottery tieketa within this state, veejut in lotteries already provided by law,"-i. e. lotteries which will have become extinet by virtue of die pre:

sent arrungensent, before the commencement of another year.(COS-The whole loltery system we think, will soon "go by the board," as it ought; tor it is a nusi wicked gulubling for money.]

GEORGIA POLITICS.

The Milledgevilie fecorder of the xth inst, states that the coluans of hiat paper had been kept open with the thint hope that they aight lay before their readers suthe cosuvantional procerdinge of mosment, but that nothag of publice miterest connected with the objecti of the conventien had bretl tiauracted.
The saiue paper states atso, that emetrary to an ofmion ex. pressed by the editori soune werhs previous, "that the Tioup party would have a majurty." they sow liud the Clark paty are predominant, out-numbering the Truap usen from twelve th tweaty. Wa auncx the following from the llecorder, at containiag the subatauce of the artucle to which wo have above al luded:
They (the Clark party) have the power, and they have thus far exercised $i t$, of controllug the conveution. II they are really disposed to remedy the lathitrable evils at present existiag, to give to each freemau of the wtate as nenily an pissible the same rights-If they are di-poked th lessen the burdens of our ctizens, and to remier unnecessary additional taxation to meet the ex pensex of the goverument, in all this they will find zeatous and cheerful coadjutors in the Troup uincirity. If ithe ohjects of the convention se lelt unaccoaplistied, or hut partially and ise雷ciently performed, opou that patty will assuredty rest the cett aure and the odium.
We seize this uoment to say to our friends that withia the three days past, sinee the menibera of the embrantion have met at thls place, many thangs have taken place publiely and privately, which, when pread before them, will create their utmost astonishment, aud, if wa are not greatly mithaken, excite their strongest indignathon. And as we feel it our duty, the our determinatusu to lay before the people the actings and doing:, whether privately or publicly peiforused, of thoee to whom thry have coafided the important intcrests fur which the conventiou was called into existence. T'bu is the people's convention, they are entitied to be informed of the conduct of their delegater: and whether such an exposition shatl tell for or agamat ndividuals, the penple shall, (so tar as it is within our power) be fulty and precisely inforined.

Oa Thursday the 9 th Iastant, the convention resolved Itself Into a commitiee of the whote, and the repmit of the committee of 47 was taken Into consideration. Thureday, Friday and Saturday were conssiued in apecelies, and in the discunsion of varsous propositions fur the otgauization of the seuate and bou*e of representatives of the general assemithy. Jusiging frons what had caken place, it scems to be the opinion that the senate will be considerably retuced, if not the hmuse. But the great point of contentiou is the basis of reprewstation. Nectional feclinas and intrieats had prevailed, so far, it the debate. A targe number of the delegatex, especially thise of the nortio western counties, advocate the white population alone as the basta of repiesentation, while the uiddie counties contend for the present basis of representation, which is the federal, as established is the constitution of Georgin, and in that of the United Scutes. The delogatee of the lower counties contend for territorial represeatation, and appear wilhing to unite with those who will offer them advantages in the general asmernbly which, on account of the pparaencess of the population of those counties, they caunot possess, uutess teriitory is represeated in one or the whier branch af the legislature. On Eaturday the main qurstion at issue wan tested, in committee of the whole, and derided in facor of while population as a basis for representalion, but it was theught, when the subject would corme beforv the commune, the federal representation wight be retained by a $x$ pirit of coms. promise between the various interfsts and views of the several eections of the country.

At a numermus meeting of the citizess of Tatiaferm county, Geo. on the 2ibd uth. the forliuwing rosolutions were miopted1. Resolved, That the law pasied at the last messinn of congress, called the enforemg law, ahas "THK bloody bith," It arbitrary and desputic, and avounts virtually to a repeal of the constitution; that it attenpta to estalalish a military despotiom, whereby the reserved riphts of the atatea and the liberties of the people are made depeudent upon the decision of an irretponwible judtenary, and the discretion of the axecutive. Well may we have been warned to "prepare for a Cesur and the purple." As freeunen, therefore, we denaunce the law as a most dangerous lanovation upon our sacred rights; and pledge ourselves to unite whth our fellow cilizene in reaisting it at all hazarde, wherever and by whomsoever, it may be attempted to be enforeed.
2. Resolvel, That Messts John Yorsyth ${ }^{\circ}$ and Sames M. Wayae, in supporting the enforcing bill, deserted the best interest of Georgia, betrayed the confidence reposed is them by going over to her enemies its the hour of trial, and have rendered themselves obnoxious to the chasge of being Influenced by a thirst [^20]for exceutive petronage, and anfit to represent a fice peopleatid owaht to remigh.

Abs that we most cordially approve of the exertions of our oflier sewnitor and representatives to manstann, fur us, our conothutwonal riglitw.
3. Kevoloed, ''hat, although we do not fully aceofd with all the petmesples of Mr Clay's tantf bill, we are meverthelems dispomed to accept thus compromast? with the distinct annumeiatuon that we witl wot sbute our vigilant cientiviss, wollil the duties plohalse should be wur ulausi coucemploh, we taset hoid ourselves ready to take the mosi deczuled steps the instaut it is viviated."
4. Resolved, That the executive of Georgia, in the ense of the missionaslew, tid, by lus couduct, sactitite the dignity of the state and pruve lumaelf incapable of oustanining her lounor-and tuat a crisis las airised in which it ta all majuitant to bave a politician of tited hrmaess and ability at the head of our state gevernurent-and furiber, Kesoleed, $\mathbf{F m a t}$, in the inginton of this therting, there is wo one so well qualified to repar the tannirbed lotior of the riate as our pulitotic fellow cilizen, Georg N. Troup.
Each of which was, on motvon, manismoualy adopted by the aneetiug escept the fourth, to which there wis eac diosentiag voice.

Mr. Bhackleford then Introducrd the followhag:
Fesolved, I'but, having zealously contributed ts the repeated elevasuon of Andrew Juckson to the presudentant offire, aud with pleasure recurred to the bethet pirtions of his public course, we learlesuly condemth his uaurpicimas rowolve on coerce by the might of malltary force the collection of whechatifulionoth foaxes. Which was, atter wome discusmon, adopied hy tise meetugg, ondy tiro dissentung.

ABSALOM J.ANES, chatrmen.
A. D. SHackletosi, sec'ry.

I.AW IN ALABAMA.

Huntvriste, (viluboms), April, 50.
The circuit court of thls connty, lits hos Hovafio U. J'ery, piesiding, rlosed ins seesion on last Thursday.

The cuse of Him. Hall agatnat John Cowrort and others, for an aspault and battery, bsoughi to thas court on a change of vehue at the lurtanese on the planatiff, from the county of Jackson, eatme on tu be beard betince a jusy, compossal, in general, of the mosi seepectable and intelligent acen. C'imurel for the planstit, Mewnrs. Levine and C'ratgluend; Inr the deleadanti, Mewrr. Clay, Mctlung and Parstos.
T'ie plantitf proved that abont iwenty pernons, of wliom the defendants, of thu-t o! them, were a part, catme to lis buser, arrested lnui in prewnce of bis lamily, in open day, inal attof cairying lim sume short dintance, gave loun fity lasliew; that he resisted the airtot by absing to shoot and ollietwime, during which thry broke his gus and knock, d him down with a stuck. He also proved that neveral of the defondants, in convermationa ntierwasds, Ind aduitted that thy y and othiris, as memberit of the association econumbily calted the "slick company," hed tuade the arsert and eiven the larliee; but that they alid so as a punshnurnt, under the shick law, for the crime which they oand the plamuff hud conmuitt $d_{1}$ of passine countericit money, of which the counsel for the defendants oflired to prove the flaiatifl had beetig guiliy. This prool, being abjocied to, w as excluded: The counsel fing the defeudante then offesed c prove that the puantull's general character was that mf a counterfeiter and dishumest man, whish, on objection, was likewise excluded; and an other promf bo ing offered, the argument was lieard.

The plaintift's counstl ingoted that thear thernt had made out and one monting the mont eqmplary danagery and many bt tuppes were Haged to induce them thansews yuch dausigers.
'The defendaints' mounret inwistrd that, as the plaintid tiad rasorted ts prisif of the robifomuins of the defrudants, which admitted the punioluwent-ansorlud the rinue for which it was sutifeted, and diselosed the character in which the defendanse acted, the while confesenon must be taken togeniser. This bring the case, the cifue for which they pumined the phaintiff, and the character in which they acted, fothandthe chils escuse on wheh they relsed. It was thrintud further, that slue slurky lsad done Biuch goud-that the conamany was composed of iar in of the bers character, hud of known disvrition, and that they had punished th imnocent man: That, aconrdum, to the conmong fame of the tumes, which war relied som as linving the ftlicict of histortal trith, there had tuhed about the borders of Jnckson a band of counterfeitens, wha had very much annuyed the mase of popuIation, distiugnishrd, it waw said, fur virtue and mocial norder, and Inundated the country with a rpurmous curremey-Hiat they eould not be piostented in eliect in the county, by reason of their having many accomplices, by whom they could prove any fact neressary to their acquital; and that lionewt juries were disinclined to convict for that offence, because the penalty was drath, and that an the slick law was mulder, aud the ennipany Joad greater facilitien of detecton, they could do, nud had donte, innre to arrent the progress of the evil than the law of the tand Ind done, nr could do. One nf the counsel rensinded the jury, that, if they asweered danages at ail in faver of the plaintiff, if would have to be pand in good monev; and that it would be the first that had astonished the plaintufis poekets for a good white. The fury, after a ahort retirement, retmoned a verdict for the planntiff, mad asessed the damages at a bundred dollars.
[Sonthern Adrocafe.

ARMY OF THE UNITED STATEX-OFFICIAL.
MEAD QUABTKRE OP THK AAMV.
Adjutant general's office, Washington, 4ti May, 1833.

1. The viltuwiug hat of pruasotions and appointinents if the anny of the United states, made by the premident, shace tire publicausa of liee nray register, in January, is published tor general mierinauon:
t. panotions,

First regiment of aptillery.
Ist Heut. Mathew A. Patrick, to be captaln, 4 th February, 1835, vice Dana, decrared. [Company B.]
2d lieut. Francis Taylor, to be Ist lieutenant, 31st January, 1635 , vice Cook, resigued.
$2 d$ lieut. Alexatider D. Mackay, to be 1st Heutenant, 4th February, IEJ3, vice Patrick, promnuted.
Brevet id lleut. Jacob Aromen, to be 2d lieutenant, ist July, 1831, vice Taylor, promoted.
Brevet $2 d$ heut. Jacub W. Bailey, to be 2d lieutenant, let July, 1832, viee Mackay, promnted.
Brevet 2d heut. Henry G. Sill, to be 2d lleutenant, Int July, 1852, viee Ryan, resigued.

Fourth regiment of artillery.
Ist lient. John H. Waslungton, to be captain, 30th May, 1837, vice Ripley appointed captain in the orduance department. [Compaay 8.]
2d heut. Raphael C. Sinead, to be lst lieutenant, 30th September, 1802 , vice Monroe, resigned.
Brevet 2d tieut. Benjathin S. Eweil, to be $2 d$ tieutanant, Int July, 1832, vice Smead, promoted.

First regiment of infuntry.
1st lieut. Thomas P. Gw) line, to be eaptain, 4th March, 1833 , vice Mason, appointed majyr of dragoons.
24 lieut. Thomas H. W. Ntockton, to be list lieutenant, 4th Mareh, 1833, vice Gwynne, promoted.

Brevet sd lieut. George Wilson, to be 9d ilcutenant, lst July, 18j0, vice Stockton, promoted.

Brevet $2 d$ liewt. Bdmund A. Ogden, to be $2 d$ lieutenant, lat July, I831, vice Davis, appounted $2 d$ lieutenaut of dragoons. Second regiment of infantry.
Ist lleut. Jobo Chitz, to be captain, 4 th A pril, 1832, vice Thompson, promoted. [Company A.]
Int lifut. Epliraim K. Iarnum, to be captain, 98th December, 1832, vice Brent, resigned. [G.]
vid lieut. Hannibal Day, to be lst Hentenant, 4 th April, 1838 vice Clitz, promoted.
2 ed Heut. Wilhatn Bloodgond, to be lst lieutenant, 28th December, 1832, vice Barnum, promoted.
9d limut. 太amuel P. Heintzelman, in he first lieutenant, 4th March, 1833, vice Sumner, appointed raptain of dragoons.

Brevet ad lieut. Bdwin R. Long, to be 2d lieutenant, Ist July, $18: 9$, viee Day, promoted.

Brevet 2d heut. James M. Hill, to be 2d lieutenant, Ist July, 1830 , vice Bloodgood, promotrd.

Brevet ed lieut. Jewse H. Lenvenworth, to be ed lieutenant Ist July, 1830 , viee Ileintzelman, pronoted.

Brevet $2 d$ lieut. George W. Patten, 10 be 2 d lieutenant, 1 st July, 1830, vice Van Buren, appointed lat theut. of dragoons. Third reaiment of is.fantry.
Brevet major John Fowle, eaptain of the sth infantry, to be major, 4th Mareh, 1853, vice Kearn*y, appotated lieutenabt colonel of dragnons.
Brevet id lleat. Sarmual K. Cobb, to be 2d lieutenant, Ist Jnly 1808, vice Stillwell, renigred.

Fourth regiment of infantry.
Brevet 2d lieut. Invid A. Mannigg, to be 2d lientenant, Ist July, 1830 , vice 8 words, appointed $9 d$ lieutenant of dragoons.
Brevet 2d lieut. Charles H. Larned, to be itd heutenant, Ist July, 1831, vice Buruet, resigned.

FIfth reatraent of infantry.
lot lieut. John M. Baxiey, to be enptain, 4th Mareh, 1833, ice Fowle, promunted.
2d lueut. Aloses C. Merrilh, to be Lst Heutenant, 4th Mareh, 1893, vica Basley, protnoted.
zt heut. Epliraius K. Sinith, to be lat lieutenant, 4th Murch, 1833, vice Ilunter, appointed captain of dragoons.
Brevet od heut. Jampas Allen, to be 2d lieutenant, lst July, 1829, vice Merrill, prounoted.
Brevet 2 d lient. John T. Collingsworth, to be 2 d lieutenaat, Ist July, $\mathbf{1 8 0 0}$, vice Perkinn, appotinted $1 k t$ lient. of dragonaw.
Brevet 2d lient. C. C. Daveias, to be &1 lieutenant, lat Jaly, 1880 , vies 8 mith, promoted.

Sizth regiment of infantry.
Brevet major Alex. R. Thompson, captalit of the $2 d$ infantry, be majon 4th April, 1832, vice Darenport promoted.
let lieut. George $W$. Waters, to be captain, 4th March, 1833, viee Whartun, appolnted captain nf dragoons.
$2 d$ llent. Henry Bt. James Lluden, to be Ist lieutenant, 4th March, I833, vlee Waters, promoted.
2d leut. Guntavus Dorr, to be Int lieutenant, 4th March, 1633, viee Hinimes, eppointed eaptain of dragoons.

Brevet 2d lieut. William Hoffinan, to be 2d lientenant, lst Juty, Ied9, viee Linden, pmonoted.
Hrevet id liemt. Albern Cady, to be 2d lieutenant, Ist July, 1e3s, vice Dorr, promoted.

Brevet id lirut. Jona. Freeman, to be 2d lientenant, Ist Jnly, 1829 , vice Conke, appointed lot lleutenant inf dragoons.
Brevet ed lleut. Thnmas L. Alexander, to be 2d lieutenant, lat July, 1830, vice Roussesu, resigned.

Serendt regiment of infuntry.
Ist lleut. Charles 'I'homas, to be captain, 3 'ith A pril, 1833 , vice Burch, resigned.
Itt hest. Jannea L. Dawnon, to be captain, 30th Aptii, 1833 , vice Berry man, resizned.
9d heut. Willium G. Williatns, to be lat lieutenant, 30th April, 1833 , vice Thernus, probseted.
2d lewt. Dixin S. Miler, to be lat lieutenant, 30th April, 1833 , vice Dawwon, promoted.
Brevet 2d hent. Samuel Kinney, to be 2d lieutenant, Ist July, 1830, vice Seawell, appointed Ist lieutenant of dragoons.
Brevet 2d heut. Riehard H. Hoss, to be 2d lieutenant, Ist July, 1830, vice Williams, promoted.
Hievet 2d lieut. Albert M. Lea, to be 2d lieutemant, let July, 1831, vice Miles, promoted.

A...APPOINTMESTA.

Staff.
Adam D. Stuart, of Va. to be paymaster, 14th January, 1833, Joseph D. Harris, N. Y. to be assistant surgeon, wd March, 1833.

Nathan S. Jarvis, N. Y. to be asaistant surgeon, 2d March, 1833.

Hichard Clark, of N. Y. to be assistant surgeon, 2 d March, 1833.

Adam N. McLaren, 8. C. to be aekistant surgeon, $2 d$ March, 1833.

Henjamin F. Fellowes, N. 11. to be assistant surgeon, 2 d March, 1836.

Ordnance department.

Jnmes W. Ripley, late captain of the 4th regiment of artillery, to be captain, to take rank hom the $30 t h$ May, 1832.

Regiment of dragoons.

Major Henry Dodge, of that battalion of mounted rangere, to be cotonel, 4th March, 1833.

Major Biephea W. Kearuy, of the 3d regiment of infantry, to be lueutenant colonel, 4th March, 1832.
Captain Richard B. Mason, of the list regiment of infantiy, to be major, 4th Mareh, 1633.

Captain Clifton Wharton, of the 6th regiment of Infantry, to be eapuain 4th March, 1833.
1 st lieut. Edwin V. Summer, of the $2 d$ regiment of infuatry, to be captain, 4th March, 1833.
Ist licut. Reuben Hulmes, of the 6th regiment of infantry, to be captain 4th Mareh, I833.
Int lieut. David Hunter, of the Sth regiment of infantry, to be eaptain, 4 ih March, 1893.
${ }^{2 d}$ lieut. Wasbington seawell, of the 7th regiment of inflantry, to be Ist lieutenant, 4th Marcb, 1833.
Id licut. David Perkine, of the 5th regiment of Infantry, to be 1 Int lieutenant, 4th March, 1833 .
$9 d$ lieut. Philip St. George Cnoke, of the 6th regiment of infantry, to be lst lieutenant, Ath Mareh, 1833.
2 d lieut. Abrabam Van Buren, of the 2 d regiment of tnfantry, to be list lieutenant, 4th Mareh, 1833.
24 lieut. Jefferson Davis, of the lst regiment of infuntry, to be 2d lieutehant, 4th March, Ie33.
$2 d$ lirut. Laticaster P. Lnptinn, of the 3 d regiment of Infantry to be 2d Jieutenant, 4th March, $1 \times 33$.
2d lieut. Thomas Sworda, of the 4 th regiment of infantry, to be dd licutenant, 4th March, 1833.
9d lieut. J. H.K. Hurgwin, of the 9 regiment of Infantry, to be 2d heutenaut, 4 th Mareh, 1633.

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { H-cascaltiss. } \\
& \text { Revignatione. } \end{aligned}
$$

Captains. Joshna B. Brant, 2d Infantry, 28th December, 1839. Daniel D. Bureb, 7th infautry, 30 hh April, 1833. Henry Berrymati, Ith infantry, 301h April, 1633.

Ist lieut. James H. Cooke, Iet artillery, 31at January, 1833. 2t liewtenants. Stephen V. R. Ryan, lsi nrullery, 31st Mareh, 1813. W. B. Btilwell, 3l infantry, 3lot Mareh, 1853. Robert W. Burnet, 4th infantry, 31-st March, 1833. Gustavus S . Rousseau 6th infantry, 30 th April, 1833.

Everet ou lieutenunts. Henderson K. Yoakum, 3d artiliery, 31~t Mareh, 1833. Johin G. Harvey, 2 d infantry, 15th February 1833. George B. Crittetiden, 4th infantry, 30 h Aprit, 1833.Humpley Marshall, monntud rangern, April 30th, 1633.

Asistant surgeon. Join Thruston, lat May, 1833.
Paymuster. Alphonso Wictmore, lat May, lez3. DECLINED.
2d lieut. James F. Izard, regiment of dragoons. 2d Ilcutenant Joscph Ritner, regiment of dragouns.

DEATHE.

Captain. Nathaniel G. Dana, Jat artillery, 4th Feb. 1833.
2. Major Thompson, of the 6 th regiment of infantry, is nasigned to the command of fort Leavenworth, to which post he wit repair, without unnecresary delay. Major Fowle, af the idd infantry will report in peison for orders, it the ndjutant general's office. All other utheers proinoted will repori by letter to their respective colonels, and join their proper stationa, unleas otherwise instructed from thin office.
3. The date of lieut. H. A. Wilson's promotion to lst lient. In the 4th regiment of artillery, in May 301h, 1862 Instead of "Sieptember $30 t h$, 1839 ." This change of date resalts from the recent promotion of lst lieutemant Wasloington, vice eaptain tipley, appointed captain of ordnance.

By ordel of major general Macomb,
R. JONES, adj't general.

REPIRTT ON MANUFACTLRES.

Report of the minority of the rommittee on manmfoctures, prepared and submifled by Mr. Adams.
HoURE of aspagesmtativen, penivaer $28,1833$.
Mr. oldums, liy dirveluon Irom the majority of the committee on manufactares, numed liat the comanntere be docharged Irom the further cont-uleration wo the mattorn referred to theth by the houre; and, on the part of the minority of the same committev, be prerented the loflownigg aport on so nuchaf the pressdent's aninual mesxage to cimgrest an relates to dotuestic manntactures and the proterctun wecikemy to the alforded the pame; reterred to the cumantice by resolutas of the louse, of 1 Wht December, $1 \times 12$
'The subw'ribers, minhers of the committer on manufactures, of the C'mited states to congress, at lise eanmmencement of the present session, as relules the protcetion necessary to domeste nanulactures, dospenting from the report of the manority of the commainee, prosent berewith respectifully to the hotee ther own news upon the subject referred by the luouse to the cnapunttee to reporit thercon.
The parts of the meswage which relate to the protection uecesonay to donerstic ntanufactures, nay be considered separatety or in comnezon with otlier great natumai interests, harming the subjeet of the annual comatumbication from tire chat of the esecuive departinent of the government to the legoslatite. In the mensage aself they are recomaurpoded to the consuderation of congress, in connexion with propusala for aneh lurther reductuan in the revenue as may not be required fur the nbjects of general welfare and public defence, which the constitunum auunuriaes, aul for which reduetion the oceasion ts ftatell liy the president to result froin the imperming inal discharge of the nafonal debit an event on the oceurrence of whinch the subscribers anost cordially sympatilise with the sentimenis expressed by the prendent. 'they cousider the final and tonal discharge of the poblie dubt as a mubject of grateful acknowiedganent to the wisdon, energy, and fidelity to their trust, of those who preceded us in the manageinent of our mational concerns; of inutual gratulation to ourselven, who eujoy the bencfits of this alJeviation of the buidess cbeerfully borne by our fathers, and Intherto by us, for the nacred preservation of the publie faith; and of anticipated felieity to our euceessore in the exemptiou from burdens whielt we and our fathers have borne without inurmuriag of complaint, to seeure to them, our posterity, the blessingt of freedon, tudependence and union. Enjoying, in all the purity of patrmisum, the comfurt of thas great allevistion of publie burdene, the sulscribers deprecate, with equal earnestness and sincerity, the contungency of any event which should, at the very moment of frution, dash from the lips of our prosperity the cup of joy, and subsitute, in its place, the bitter potion ol disunion, eivil dusension, and fraternal war.

Under these inprensions, it was not without feelings of deep concern, and of painful nenxibility, that the suhseribers beheld, ta the message of the president of the United States, the braad and nny ualified aserthon of principles, and the development of an entire political system for the future government of the union, as new and anhrard of, as to them it appears ineorreet, and incompatible with the foundatious of our political existrnee.

The first of these principles, and that from which all the others appear to the subseribers to be derivid-the basis of the message and of tie whole system of admiluistration, for the fiturity of this union, is coutained in the folinwing positimn, whelh the subseribers sthinit to the censideration of the house in the very words of the meskage itself-"Tlue wralth and pirength of a country are ite population, and the sest part of chat popuiation are the cultivatars of the suil. Independent farmers are, every where, the basis of society, and true friends of liberly."
That the president of the Uniled Siales shnuld, in a publle docuneat, addressed to the representatives of the whole people of this unoon, peremptorily declare one part of the population, by them reprisented, better than the rest, appears to the subneriber litue compatible with that equality of rights upon which our whole sociai aystem la, by them, belirved to be fimuded. If one part of the poputation, partics to the social compart, is the beat, tt necessarily follows thal annther part of the eame popmIation is the woret; that there are differeut degrees of merit in different portions of the same popntation, ewtinatied not by thrir moral, but by their social condition; hot hy their individual qualifications of virtue and understanding, but by their respective oecupations and possessions.
In csauning this fumbaruebtal prineiple of politica and mo rals, thus putf forith as the foundation for the $\mathrm{Fy}=\mathrm{t} \mathbf{\prime \prime} \mathrm{m}$ of policy to be hercafer ericted for the governasent of this great and growing eonfederated nation, the suhserthers have endeavored to ascertain to whon it is that this prout ire eminence of merit a assigned by the chief exventive mazi=trate of the union. Ile asmerta that the wrabli and strengitsol a country are its population, and that the best part of thiat popuiation are the cuitivators of the soil. Now, the population of a eountry cunnints uf the whole пылss of humian being; abiding within it; and, of tise popalation of this country, a vast proportion of the cultivatore of the ooll are in a state of servitude-possessing no rightr, civil or political-and existing oniy as the property of another part of the same popalation. That these catitivators of the soil constitute a large portion of the wealth of this country, is undoubledly true; that they constitute a considerable portion of its atrength it was to them that the intention of the president was $\mathbf{t o}$ ascribe the transcendent honor of constituting the beyt part of our population; and, if not th them, neither was it to the clame it irreetien, in another patt of the union, also cultivators of the mil, laboring, like the lil, by the sweat of their brow, for theif daily subsivience, by daily labof, but in the lull enjoyment of civil and palitical rights, and cmusututing, in truth, not a betuer but as gond, a part of the population an any other in the comsumity. It was nol, however, to theur that the president tatended to atitibute the supernority of escelleace as a eomponent part of the peptulation. lis iseaning is more fully dischised in the rubsequenl clause of the senticnce above cited, in the afHrmation that "independent faruers are every where the basia iff socirty, and true irivuls of itberty." Traking the whole senlemor togetier, the subseribers believe thast, in the understanding of the author of the mesarage, the culavators of the soat, in the first part of the sentence, were identieal with the independint larmers in the second; and that the sentiment, in the amind of the writer, and the aphonsm of moral and poitucal economy laid down by the whole sentunce, is that, in ail countries, generally, and especially in our own, the best part of the population The basis of soctety-and the frienda pre-eminently of freedom, are the wealthy land-holders.

This prineiple is certaunly not new in the history of the world, of of lomant governnient; it is the fuadamental asioun of all landed aristocracies; it ia the foundation of the feudal systens, and, whell carriel out into practice, must inevitably resolve it self into it. The term arstocracy, by its derivation, is the governarent of the best; and where the property of the soil th distribuird is portions so unequal, that its eultuvatorn are divided into masters and slaves, or buto landiords aud venanta, power will maturally concentrate lteif in the hands of the large boldera uf the lands, who will roon constinte therneives the basis of socicty-the indrpendent farmers the bent part of the popula-tion-true friends of liberty, cunfined esclusively to themseives, latht holding in oppressive servitude the real culnvators of the moil, and ruiling, wht a rod of irun, over all the otber occapetiuns and professions of men.
such has been the development of this fundamental priseiple of government, in the hislory of minet ages and cosntries. Bo has it erpecially divcloped ivelf in the anuals of Frauce, of spaia, of Giermany, of Poland, of Kussla and of Engiand. The ladependenif fasmere, or wealthy land boideri, of all thoee coustries, have constituted the ancient frudal barons, as they now consttite the modern nables, holding the latorious buabandasen of the same conuitries in servitude, or in abject poverty and the moxt degrading dependenct:
The sutscribers belleve that the Declaration of Indépendeace, amil the goverument of this union, are founded upoa a different and opposite principle-upon the principle that all men are born with equal rights; and that bowcver in one portion of the union, tive indepersent rarmers or planters, culusating the soll by their slaves, may be considered, by one of tiemselves, as the basis of soclety, and the brat part of the population, the assumption of wuch a prineiple, as a foundation of a nystem of natuonal policy for the future governinent of themp Uuited states, is an necumrence of the most dangerous and alarming tendency; as threatphing, at no ramnte perind, nit only the property, but the peace of the country, and as directly leading to the most fatal of catastroplies - the dissolution of the union by a complicated, civil and servile war.
Had it been possible for the subseribers in enowider the primelples thus anthoritatuvely laid down in the meseage as a mere abitract apeculative opinion, indieative only of a mind habituatly nepupied in meditation upon the first principlea of governmett, they might have deemed it their duty to pass it over in silence, regretting that an opinion so adverse to alt the lessona of history, and to every rational theory of human righta, should ever lave found ite way into the mind of the ereentive chief of the unimn: and still more into an official communication from him to the legislative assembty of the nation. Bat they find it pervading every part of the message relating to the administrintion of the internal affairs of the country-they trace it in the denunciation of uncompromising hosillity to the bank of the United States-they discern it in the greneral dissuasion of all futurs encobragement, of aid to be given to objects of internal intprovement-they perceive it in the partentous recominendations in abandon all purpoaf of deriving a revenue for the grat ral beneft from that invaluable fond of natimal wealth-the public landa; and in the astonishing proposal to give them all away to the statea wihhin which they are pliuated, or to adveninrere who may be allured by promitues of sharing in those spoile of the natimal domiath, plundered from the whole peopie of the union, to hecome members of this bept part of the -popalation the independent farmers, cultivators of the soil, taken from al their feliow citizens to be gratuitonsly hestowed upon then They see it, ahove all, in the destiny in whieh the meawage consigns the zreat manufarturing interest of the country, imelendine the handicraftsinen and merhanics of all our poputious esties and atl nur flourishing towns. Thase are not the basis of society they are not the cultivatora of the soil-they are not the beat part of the population-tiseir equal rights may be trampled upos -their higheat interests may be ancrifieat-their property may be wrested from their hends-themselves and their families may be driven by measures of national palicy, hy arts of the envernment of the anion, to heggary aud min, for the benefit of the in drpendent farmers, the wealthy land-bolders-the beat part of the population.

Such are the practical consequencea which must fow from the seproduction by the head of thita national untinn as a fundamental principle of government of the old and long cxploded coetrine, that the wealthy land-Ioiders of ait cotuities constitute the best part of their ponulatiotu. Uuder this theory it can no longer be surprixing to find in the messaye an entire system of proposttoun and of recumusendations, which, if adopted and asinctioned by the irgislature, will accomplith a revolution in the governmeat of the United states, and, to the moletun and deliberate optnion of the subscribers, a total subverston of their constutution.
In descending from the generai axiom, that in ali countries the independent farmers or wealtiay lund-inolders, cultis atora of the soil, cumstitute the best part of the popuiation, to the mea sures of legisiation recoatmended to congites for carrying out this priticuple, in the aduinistration of the govs:rament, four features are discernibie, as expectaily characteristic of the meseage. First, the abandonment for the future of ail appropriations of pubisc monies to purposel of internal improviment. Pecond, the practical totai dereibition of all protection to doasestie mulastry, whether agricuiturai, manutacturing of mechanicai. 'Third, the nuthincation of all future revenue from the putbice dumains, by tise bentow al of them in free donation to voGutary s+tikers 1 Hon them, from the prisileged class of eitizens, culuvatore of the soil, tosweil the numbers of the bert inart of the population, at the expense of aii the rest, or to tive favored tates in whicil this conituon property happells to be situated. Fourth, the denunciation of the bank of the Uuited states, deprectating the value of the atock held in it by the nation; disreseing the commercial community with surpiciont af the sont dity of its fands, and stumulating the prathigacy of frandulent sambing in its stock. In every one of these tour particulas the reconmendations of the mesage are in duanetricat opponition to the well establistited, deliberately adopted, and long tried poticy, by which the unioa has hitherto bewil governed, ander the preseut constitution of the U'nited States-in diatneirical opposition to the purposes for which it was formed-to the prithciples upon which it has been administered, and, with the mowt painful, but most undoubting conviction, the subscribere unast add, to the sofemn eompacts and indeceasible obligations by whichs the mation is bound.

Althongt the plan of government marked out and delineated in the message forms a wbile systron, anfietentiy cousiatent with itself, and ali drrivable from the findamental position that the wealiliy land-holderim constitute the best part of the populatuon, yet it is observable, that in evary instance the suliordinate principle advanced as the groundwork of each separate recommendation, ls. by lise terms of the mersage, so qualitied in the Ubeory, as ecarcely, if at all, to differ from the views and opinionm eatertained by the friends onf the interest which the recommendation itesif is adapted to destroy. Thas, for example, in the recomasendation to abandon alf future appropriations of peblic monies for purposes of internal improvenient, the only prineiple avowed ty, "that the constitution does bot warrant the application of the funds of the generai government in objects of internal impenvrment, which are not national in their character." From linis position, the inost ardent and mowt liberal friend of internal improvement will not dissett. No appropriation ever bas been asked-there is not the xhadow of a danger that any oppropriation of funds ever will be arked, but for objects alleged to be of a national character; and of thris tegltimate titie to that character, the representatives of the whole peropir, and of all the state leginataren in eongress aysembied, under ilie control of a qualified negative by the eiver magisirate of the vilion, all acting uuder a constant respmosithitty to their constituenty, are qualified and competent judges. That there will be, ns there bave been, diversitiee of opinion, whether any epecified objeet of internat improvement is or is not of a nationai character, may befreply admitied; and that in all eases where il may be reasonably doubted, the wise and pradent poliey of the constitutent athorities will indace them raiher iof withonald than grant the appropriation, is a conelasion deducible not iess from the expefience of the pant, than from the contedence due to the morai character of the delegated reprementatives of the nation. That in the great muajority of applicaloons fur appropriations in aid of tnternat improvements, which bave been made to congreme, the objrete for which they were policited have been of a national eharacter conld not br, and was not doubted. Of the apprnpriations made, the subseribers confidenily affirm, that none can be pointed out which are not unquestionatily of that character. If there has been error in the administration of the government, in the application of appropriations to these olpjects, it has been an error of parsimnny and not of profiston; a refusaiof the pmblie money where it ought to bave been granted, and not a bostow al of it where it ought in bave heen dunied. In the vuther and hn nest diseretimit of the iegislature, under the vigilant snpervising of the executive chief, a gward amply sufficirnt firs the protec. tion of the public resources agalinpt wastrful or ionptovident es penditures, has been provided by the constitution.
It is waid in the mesasge, that. "writhont onme zenerat and well draned prineiplea, ascertatning thope onjucts of intoroal impoporearat in whiein the means of the nation may heconati. tutionally applied, it io obvious that the expreice of the nower can never be satiufartory." Suppose this powition, in its fullest extent, to be adtaitted. The mrgsnge doen not deny that thir power of granting appropriations for internal tmprovemente of pational character is vested, completely and unequivocaliy vested, in congress, by the conntitution; and the president himseif, in the discharge of his official duties, bas, in numeroun instamees, given his sanctiou to such appropilations. Aud in that grant of power, as in ali others, is necessanty and unavoidably implied the power of ascertainitig and defintng the principlea upon which, in the opint of the constitution, it shali be exercis. ed. If, therefure, in the exerctae of the power of making such appropriations hitherth, there has beeth a neglect or onission to ascertaith and nefine the principles upon wheh they have buen unde, it is a duty yet to be perforiued lyy congress itseif, and which requires the interposition of no other power. It is obvieus that to resort elsewifere than to cougrean itsuif, to ascertain and drine the objects ujon which the power to unquestionatily detegated to them of appropriatiug public monies to internal improvenucnts, ip precieciy equivalent to a denial of the right of congress to exercise the power in all cases whintsoever.
With rugard to the danger to which the message supjoses congress may be exposcd of making ha-ty appropriations to wosks of tise character of which they may be frequentiy ignorant, the argwmetat necevwhily presupposes a habitusl, groses and eriminal nagiect of their daties; by a majority of both inuares of congress, a reffrctiou upun the bonnr and honesty of those bodies, of which the subseribers ileem it sufficient to may that it is equally unwarrantabie and mispisced. So fong as the nipmbers of inoth louses of congreas shali eutertain a just sense of their duties to their county, to their consiliments, and to their own charactens: molot there is, and will be, no danger-noue, whatever, of their being expmored to unaks hasty approprialions to works of the clanarter of which they are ignorath, or to any other purpose. The members of both houses of congresp, are accountable for the wisdum as weti as for the purity of ticit oftieiai conduct, not to the expentive inagisirate, himseif accountable to thess for bis own, but to thetr consutuents and to their conntry. Nor has that cuuntry cominitted to the executive ma. gitrate the chathdy of its nwu puitity, in the exercise of the eifetue franclise. If at be true that a prospeet of making navigable a creek or river-of bringing counmerce to the doory of the peos-ple-ar of increasing the value of their properiy, may operate occasionaliy ae inducemests to individual. to favor by their miffrages the succenm of a eaudidate whom they may suppose to be better qualified than bis oppmient, to ohtais for them those great and valuable improvernente-is it justice or equity-is it a fatr perception of tire nature of thinga, to atignatize this an a corrupting influence? No tufluence can be more just and pere. To be tuefit tise peopie, hy makug navipable the river or crrek in their neighborhond-by bringing ermmerce to their doors-and by increaning the vatue of thetr property, are among the mont tuportant and most vaiuable services that a represpntative equ render to his constitucints. To diaw good from evit, is one of the higin and toiy attrihutee of Omnipotence. Todraw evit from cood, in the peculiar attribute of the areh enemy of manktnd; but pingular, indeed, is the aspect nf that political asion, which imputes disinuaesty to the trpresentative in the zrai with which he promotex the interesta of his cunstiturnti; aad finds the evidenee of corruption in the exercise of the lighest bencticetice. Suppose thin calumniated influence tu be succevafol; suippose a candidate to be eiected to congress, by the confidenee of his comstituents in the superionity of lis talent and caparity th obtain appropriatione of public money to render their neighboring river nan-vigable-to bring commerce to their doons, and to increase the value of theis property-talent and capacity are qualities of which ineu seidont form erroneous eatimater, in the choice of their representativrs, when their judgoments are ebitightened by tiseir interest. Tairnt and eapaeity, brought into the representutive couscite of the nation, by the selection of a mumber for one district, under the intlucace of a belief that it will bee exerted for the benefit of tionse by whom he in ehowen, in talent and capacily avalinhie on the spene wifre it has been introdnerd, for ali the great interests of the matinn. It is there tiat the representative of every single district becomen a representative of the whoie people. As the representative of ne district, he has, to juromote itar interesls of his imthr diate conatituente, but one of more than two bundred votes. Rut that one vnte lie has atso upon all the quertinns within the exmipeteney of enppresi, and affeeting the interestis of the whole nation, and of all his parts. The result then of every election which hriage into thas linuse a member, recommended to the favor of his combtifuenta by the zeai and ablity with which lie aray pronole the luternal improvemient of his own neighborlinol, is cescutisily adrantazrouts to the wiole nation, and lian a sitres tendency to cotabilish a high standard of intelleetinal worih, as the gemaure of quabification for a spat in the brase. It is congental to Hont ppirit of moval clevation and digaty whieh monytithter the opiv eolld foundation of reprexentalve enveriment; aml it is andy by eonfounding the plements of good and evit, that it can be otigmatised an tainted with eorrmption.

As little ran the suberilicres sielid their arernt in the rramon.
 frain from tite exerciap of alt powers of whith mare tian nne.
 now to make the grant, and which any still emaller puition of the penple nata, at any periont siner the exi-teliee nf the rnastiIntion, have oppompal or risioted nublir the vapue tad indefinite dronmination of doblhffl powers. F'eafil abll hopriesw, ludeed, whuld be the condtion uf the penpte of these I'nited states, if every grant of jowre driagnted thy them, for their own henefit and improtement, to their umted ishtional supurme irgialature, shonid he annulled or struck with unpotenev by evers serupis of doulte which the refnements of metaphysienl subtlety, thn transient ebulltions of popuiar excitiment, or the faetiousinstigatoons of eifctuoncering nrtifee, have, from thaf to timn, dissembated over different sectione of the comntry. There in, perhape, not a single grant of power to congreas in tiat grat un dional compact of government, the conatitution of the Uniled states, which at souse pernod ol nur history has not beeo aswatled by numerous partins awd their controversial wrangiers, ans doublful powers; even it thas hour we are, apparentiy, on the virie of a ennflict in arms, on the vely borders of a civil war with one of the states of the whion, for the exercise of puwirs, the want of which first gave rive to the consthution it-elf, which bave been quietly exercised from the urganization of the guverumput for nearly firty years without a disentugg vince; and which now, under the new lights of nullifiention have been discovered io be pueh plain nad palpalsle visha. tions $n$ f the ennstitution, $n$ to warrant the plate in which this discavery has theen miade, in resorting to ber sovereizn powrer, to declare them witho her own hurders null and void. Thern are seven staten of this uninn, the whole free propulation of which by the retorns of the lant census, nmounted only to arvent hin dred and seventy one thousand two hundred and eighteen sonts; a majority of thrae, pufineient to command the vote and decision of them all, would be less than four hundred thonsand; and thuse, upon the recommendations of the meseage, a nation ennsisting of ten millions of freemen, must he cripptrd in the exercise of their ansociated power, unmanurd of all their energien applesbie to the improvemsnt of their nwn ennilition, by the dnubte, serupies, or fanciful diacontents of a portion numong themapived, less in number than dnuble the muoutut of popuiation in the single city of New York.

The subscribers aswume as $n$ principle, demonstrated beynnd all posaibility of doubt, that of the whole free popplation of the unuon, a vast majority-they entrotain, themselves, no question that it is n majority amounting to more than tiree.fourths of the whote-believe, without a scintillation of douht, that the power of appropriating public monies to objects of internal improve ment if a national character, as undersiond by eomerese itself, hat been del gatid to congress by the while people, in the constitution of the United Btates. The massange itarif dors not quertion this grant of poweri and it in taciliy affirmed by the chief magistrate himself, In his sign manual afixen to every art of congress unaking such appropriations which has received his aignature. What reason or motive, then, can there be for congresc to interfiet itaelf from the eqercise of benchicent power, assential to the welfare and prospmerity of the whole perpple, in gratify the dog-in-manger dimposition of lexs than one-twentieth part of the commanity? Trulv, very trniy, does the mesenge say that "there is uothing so worthy of the con stant solicitude of this government na the birmony nad union of the penple;" bnt, is it foazined that harmmony nud union can be firmonted by the perpestual wacrifice of the will, the intercst, and the welt-heing of nimeteen-twentieths of the whole people, to the contracted and enviose paseinns of to the swidt parsimingy of the remaining twentieth? The suberribers will neither express nor entertain a mespicion that the recommendation to apply to the etates of this union for grants of aulditional power to eongress, and in the inean time to abstain from the eserciwn of all prowers, whirh the neetwentieth part of the perple may be plensed or inatigated to ennolder an douht fm , was not made in grod faith nind sinerriby; bui without questinning the motive whirh could Irnd to Fuch a propasal, they ennmot but regard it in effoet an diaclosing the purpose of disaiditig and nbdieating all power of naking appropriatinns for all and every great object of internal improvement here. after nnd forever. As litile hewitation have they in deciaring it an their belief, thit this parposer, and the whole syatem of whifh It forms in part, is in nowise enieslated in pmonote the harmony and union of the propie. It in a natural emanation from the fimmtain of a principle divided uself, and the mource of all fatal division-a prineipir which pronnunces one ciawn of the ritizens of this union, to the disparagenient of all athers, the best part of the population.
The sulsacribera diselaim nil eommunion of sewtiment with this opinion, to which they can asoent ne trus io so senee what ever. They deny that there is any senae to which Innatuape can give niterance; and in which the cultivators of the soil, be they who thry mav, included under the denomiuntion, ean, with truth, be calied the best part of the prpuiation. Thay belleve, on the contrary, with the greateat ornior, atatesman mud patriot of ancient Rorne, and with the sublimest genius of ancient Grreer, with Cicero nnd with Piato, that "whosenever given prefurence to one part of the ciblzens, nud nezlerta nunther part, introducen into the rommunity the eiemrnts of the most peroleions disenord and sedition. It weemesarily prolvers rival fartiona, some favoring the popplace, and wrme fawning Thk as: W.an the patrintiann of Ciecro; this whs the phinanphov of Platn, two thousand years and upwardiu inf(ure the Derlaration of Independence. The dortine is founded npon eternal truht. It is the only dortione upon whieh envernmifuts of equal righta ean be founded; no that whech divides the pogutation into $n$ bost and n worst pars is the uever failine sumere of tyrannv and opprespion, of civil strifo, the shedding of bpother's blood, and the notal nxtinetion of treedoun.
The wubseribers hupe nnd trust, theicfore, that enngress will ant abslipate bv nonnoer, the power delegnted to them by the ennatitation of the Ninited siatew, of making nopropriations of public money to great natuoual objects of interual imprnvements. Thry consider the exercise of the power as essestial to the welfare and prosperity of the whole, people; they believe in to have burn delegated tur the purpone of promoting that weltare; and tint to refrain frum the exercise of the power would be a dereliction of duty in congress itself, and trenchery to the triat enurintifd to thein by the people. They fuither belteve that the peropie of this umion nevrer will submit to a permanent abandionment if the princple, bitierto so succensfulty ind so advantageousily to thetu rarried into practice, of making sueh mppropriations: that bowrver it may be su-pruded for n tume, under a therory of partial preference th an innaginary best pari of the population, it will never be estimgurshed but with the liteblond of the mainn itself. For what in the final result uf this doctrine of abdicating powers arthtrarity demgonated as doubtofut? What but the degrndation and inpotence of the nation itsei?the drgradation of elianing its own hands? of tettering its own feet' of uisabting itself fromen hottoring its own cinditum? '17ie impotence of inabilty to employ its own fachities for ite own tonprovement. It is the principle upon which the roving Tartar detics hmself in permanemt hathtation, becaure to hith the wandering ahepherd to the best part of the propulation; the prineipie upon whech the savage of tise American forest reluses to till the groand, berenuse to him the itunter of the woods is the bert purt of the population. Imperfret civilization in all stages of human society shackles itself with fanatical prejusicess of exclusive favor to its own occupations, as the owner nf a piantation with in hundred slaves belierest the sumumit of humau virtue in be antained onfy by independent farmere, cultuvators of the soll. Not by sorh opiuions or such maxims of guverument were the people of the C'mited Statea nnimated nud inspured, when, "in order to form a inure perfort uuton, establish jurtice, when, ensure dumestic tranquality, provide for the eommon defence, pronnete the general welfare, and secure the blemstugs of liberty to themsrives and their posterity, they did ordain and entallialh the ernstitution of the llwited States of Anuerica." Their purpose, in this great ind solemn mufnal cocenont, was theif nwn improvement-the improvement of the condition of the whole. The esnatitution itself is hat one grent organzed enzme of improvempnt, physieal, mornl, pmitical. It directed the aseunblare, from time to tune, uf ehown bodies of men, veated with fimited powers, to consult, to dehiberate, and to act upon all the great intervste of peace and war, eominoon in the prople. It was na compart of separate nnd distinct bodies pultitc. The opparate wtatep were not competemt to form nay suels compact, of to ennfer any such puwprs; the poople of each state were competent in firm, nud did form, consititations for themselvee: but their aphere of action to ordain and eatablish was liminted within their own boundaries. For where did the state, the ereature of the sovereign people of Massachusetts, where did if where could, that state arquire the right of beativwing uppo the people of Pennsyivania in right of repreorntation in this hounef As welf might the state of Mavsnchaselts have uodertaken in oridain mud estahlith w bin ahonld be represented in the pariliament of Great Britain, or in the chamber of deputies of Firnnce. The whote peopie of the United states were nione competent th driermine nnd io ordain how, and in what mnnner, they and thrir posterity should be rrpevsented in this asammbly; and as well might it be contended that the state of Ohio, which lind no extatenee, or the state of Ionisiann, which was a spanish colony, were partiva to the ermastitution of ibe Unted States at ita formation, as that the partiea to it were the thirteen states of which the oid lifeless confederation had been composed. The constitution was, as it is on its fnee declarsd to be, the net of the whole people, and it is the instruteent by which they organized the menns of effeetiag the improvemente of their awn coodition, hy the ageney of their government. In refraining from the exereise of the powers delegated to them for the giond of the whole, the government not only abdicate their own porwef, but effectiveiy disable that of the mation itself. The energy which slumbers in their hands, is no better than dend to the gnod of the peoplo; it arrants the hand of divine bemificence theif; degradea the nation to $n$ level of inferiority among the fanilies of mankind, aml proclaims as the fundamental law of their association their innbility to apply their own faculties to their nwa nlevation in the scale of being.
It is then, with erntiments of deep mortification ind of unqualified disaent, that the subscribern have observed the enrneat recommendatinna to congress in the message, to nimandon the whole system of appeopriations fir internal improvements, which has hitherto been purwind; which wan in the full tide of socceseful experiment, and which, for $n$ lnug series of ypars, has been contributing to increnae the enmforte, in multiply the enjovments, nud to conselidate the errength and happiness of the Ameriean people. To ahandon them all, for in no other lifht ean they conaider the pitranrlinury, though vague and indefinite enmainendations of simpliffly, as the suitable charncterIntic for the government of a nation of swarming mitions of hnman beingr-the intenaely urgent exhortations to eongress to refrain from the exercise of all benefirent powere, whirh onetwentieth part of the people may carp and cavil at as douhtfulthe incomprehensilife nrgument that harmony and unison are to be promnoled by stiftug the firm and manly voiee of nineteentwentipthe of our connstituente, in anapfy the brainxick doubta, or appease the menacing eiamora of less than one-twrntieth and finally thn direct recominendition in congress, in dispose of nll sfocks now beld by the general gnvernument in corporations, whether created by the general or state governments, and to place the procceds in the treasury.

In there reoommendations, and in the apirit with which thry are pressed upolt the entsideration of enngreas, the subseribers can discern nothing less thmi a poopowed revolution of guvein ment in this union-a recolution, the avowed purpose of which is, in reduce the general givernment in a simpie maeline. A simple machine? The unisurve in which we dally revalve, and which srem: to our vision dauly to revoive round us, is a simple machipe unilop the zuidance of an Ommpotent hand. The pre sident of the United States, one of the functonaries provided by the conatitution fur the ordinary managenment of the atliaire of the envernment, hut not ritrustrit even with the prower of action, upon any proporyd altetation or atirbdament to the constitution, itndertakes to reduce the e-iteral governmurnt to a pimple machine-the simplicity of which whatl ronsist of univeryal benefirence, in preservine peace, alfording a uniform cmiremey, maintaining the inviot-hhlity of cuntracts, diffusing intelligence, and di-ethargiog, wifett, its nther (nameles. nodefined) superintending functions. Truiy this simpli.ity unay be aptly ennmared with that of the grovermment of the unmerse; meeding oniy an Omnipotent hand to guile and regulate ita movements, and ditieriug from it, ne would spem, nuly in the self denial of all power to improve the enudition, or prumate the general wrifare of the community, by and for whom this simple inarhine way ordained. To the suharribers, it apperars that of all the attributes of government among ment, simplicity is the lact that deserves conimendation. The siniplept of all governmente is an abeninte despoti- $\mathrm{nt}_{\text {, }}$ and it may confdently be afformed, that, in proportion as a puverument apponaches in simplirity, will aiways he ita approarhes to arthitrary prower. It fy hy the complieation of governinent alone, that the frerdom of mankind can be srettred; simplicity is the easential characteristie in the condition of all siavery; and If the prople of thexe United States enjoy a greater whare of liberty than any other nation upon earth, it is because, of all the governments upon earth, theirs is the mont conipllated. The simplicity to wheh the remommendationa of the message would reduce the macbine of government, is a simplieity of impotemee; an abdication nf the power to do grod; a diventment of ail power in this confederated people to improve their own condition.
In the recommendations inf the nurasage, relating to the diapoal of the publie fands, the suhecribers percpive the same specuiative averajon to entrol, which seek * to reduce the govein ment to a simple mocloine, the same preference of one class of citizens-the independeut finmers, entivators of the soll-over all other members of the enminnitity. The reconmendations of the message arp, "that the pullic lands phall ccase, as snon as prarti, abie, to he a mource of revenue-that they be pold to settiers, in limited parcels, at a price barriy sufficient to reimburep to the United States the rrpenwes if the prexent system, and the cost arding under our ludian compact ; and that, in comrenient time, the machinrey of accurate surveys and undoyhent titics be withdrawn from the states, and the right of soll, and the fittire di-pocisinn of it, be surrendered to the states respertively in which it lius."
The proposition is to give away all the public iands-6irst, to enable individual adventurers to secure an indepenient free hoth, because enthivators of the snil are the best part of the population; and finally to snerender all the remainder to the states To which the landa are situated, beranse "it eannet he expreted that the new states with remnin fonger contented with the preeent policy, after the payment of the publie debt."
The public lands are the property of the whoie people of the United Stnter; they are the national domnin. To give them away to indivinfual ardventurets, in to take a way the prnperty of one portion of the citizens, and beftow it upon annther; and, as If this outrage spon the right of proprorty were not sufficient without the susperaddition of insuit, the plaudered portion of the community are thid that those on whim their landa are lavinlied, arpe tife beat pert of the population. It le said In the vilisd, are the best pert of the population. It le said in the messagn that "t the procreds ariving from the snle of the tands are distributed chiefly among thates which had not originally any claim in them." Were this awsertion true, what possible bearing can the places where the proruedu of the saie of property are distributed, have upon the right of the proprietor to the procecds of the sale. The procecds of the males of public Innits are not distributed in gratuitirs. What is meant by the askertinn that they are distributed among ataten? They are not dip. tributed amnagetates at all. What is meant hy "states which had nat originaliy any clairn to them?"' What state had origi ally any efaim in the ptibile fanda in Lovisiana or Fioriofn? What portion of the public fands is there to which the whole union, and of conne everv state in the mion, had not orignaily adrin? From the very formation of the conferleration, ail the etates, within which not an inch of pmblic lind exi-ted, had at claim to their Jual proportinn of the puhbic lande situated within the houndarier of the other states-and that ciaim was junt; in defremence on the justice of that claim, all the ressinns of puthir innde were made by the statee in which they were situated; and withont those censiona, the confrderation never wonld have been formed. The right of the whole peopir, therphure, to all the pulatic landa, la a perfert right, indipentent, totnily indrepenient, of alt consideration of the Ioralities where thr proceptis of the anles of them mave be distrihuted, and for the enjoyment of which, as a right founded in the first elements of human societv, the states wherein the lands are sithated have no more right to be discontented than the teunnt of a dwelling bouse beonging to anotiter has the right to be disenntented that the fee of the possession is in bis landlord and not in himself.

This right of property is, bowever, not wholiy unquatifed. The cersicans of territory made to the United States by the vtates of Nrw York, Virginia, Maspachusctit, Connectirat, Soutlı Carotura and Georgin, were all conduional; and the eommon cundilion of all the grants was, that the lands by them respectively coded aliould be lield and disposed of for tie use and hrnefit of ali the Vhited Slates, the reding ptate included, and for no other tuse whatonevir. Upon this enndtion, all the cessinns wrive acreptid by the Unitrd States in congress assembled, and the Uuited istales themphy contracted the solean and paritive engagement to hold and dispose of all the in inde thua crded cunformably to that condition, and to no ourer uxe whatever.
The ennstitution of the United States, in the third mection of the lourth nrticle, develares that "congress shall have power to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulatinns respeeting the trrivory or other property belunging to the Utited Statem; " with the express addition that "nothing in this conetitution whall be so construed as to prejudice aay claints of the United stater, or of any particular state." And in the sisth aritiele, it provides "that all debte eontrarted and engogements entered into, beforr the adoption of this constitution, sluall be as valid againnt the U'aited States ander this constitution as under this confederation."

It appears to the enthecribers, that enner-ss enuld neither give away the public lands to Individual Eestlers, to enable tiom to nequire independent frepholda, nor purrender them to the ptates in which they are pituated, without a threefolll violation of the constitution; firet, by abdicating the power entrusten to them of disposing of the territory of the United States, conformably to the conditious under which it is held, and of making all needfal rules and regulatlons reapecting it; secondy, by prejudicing the juxt and undaubted claitus, thath of the United Sintes, and of every particular state wittin which there are no pualific lands; and, thirdly, by tramjoling under font molemin engagemeuts pitered into before the adoption of the constitition. In the list of powers to be esmeised by congreas, when the goveriment shalt be redineed to the simple macinine, avowed to the the purpose of the prestident loy the recomutendatinns of the mesnage, this power of diaposing uf, and making needful rutes and regulationa for the territary and other property of the United States, is entirely overiooked; very consistently, indeed; for if the whole property whould be equandered away in make indeprnient freeholders, or suriendered in the statess wherrin the enmmon posresslon luappens to be tocated, there wili be no longer any territory bolonglng to the U'nited States to dirpose of, or needing miles and regulation* in be procribed by pongrexa. The governuent will be inade a much simpler machime; but it will be a $\begin{gathered}\text { Elumplecity purchased with all the weaith, ali the rights, and }\end{gathered}$ all the goind faith of tine nation-parelinard by pirjudicing the claims of the Cluitud States, and of every state other than those In which the iatids are situated-ptichaerd by setting at nought the first pituciple of justiee, the sacred rights of property, and the explicit engagements not only entered into before the adoption of the constitution, but pledges of faiti, without which the confederation itreif uever would have been kanctioned.
The same principles ape applicable to the public lande situated witlun the states, formed from the territorien iweluded in the purchase of Loniainua, and in the Floridas. These are fands not oniy beinnging to the United States, but purchased with inoulea froun their comnion treasiry. Upon the principlea recommended in the niessage, the wholr mase, of them may be given away to foreigners, to emigrants from every quarter of the glohe, aliens and perinpsenenties to thiseountry, who may thum be converted into independent freeholdere, and constitute, under this improved conde of morais, the best part of the popniation. The subscribera depm it an excelient part of the policy of the aninn to welenme the neeful industry of formign freemen reeking the enjoyment of therty and equal righte and honest Fubsiatence, and the cliances of aflluence opon our sloores; hut they conceive it neither politic nor just in bentow upon them, or upon any adepnturers, whetiser of foteign or of domestic hirth. the arquisitions of the nation, made with the monies Ievied upon all the people in all the states.
Congress are tald in the messmage that it cannot the expected that the new ptates wilf "remain longer contented with the present poliey, after the paynuent uf the public drbt." By the prearnt policy is hete ineant the policy of holding and diepposing of the public tands as pubile properiy. The propasai is, therefore, to change the present poiler, for that of giving away thie public property, partly to Individual adventurera, and the remainder to the "now states"-one of which is the state of Tcennessee. And what are the argumenta by which this chanee of policy, or, in other worde, this surrender of properiv, is urrserd? It is paid thint "the adventurmatand hardy pospulation of the wewt, bexides contributing Itreir eqnal share of toxation undor our irapast *vatem, have, in the progesen of our governinent, for the lands they neeuny, pmid into the trmarary a large proportion of forty militions of doilara; and, of the revenne received tierefrom, but a small part lian been rxpended annongnt thent." If this n reason for giving away th new adventurers, of to ntw stales, the pmperty belonging to the adventiroses and liardy popualation of the wrist, in eommon with the adventurous and hardy population of afl the rest of the union? To the epithets of adventurcus and hardy, applied to the oppuiation of the west, the sulucribers take an exception, as deseriptive of qualities truiy belonging to that clase of our fellow citizens:
that popalation went forth from the old and ioag setued states, from the thirteen confederutes of the revolution, and left behind them a population not less adventurous and hardy than themselves. If the population of the weas liave contributed their equal share of taxation under our impost system, so have the populatios of all the rest of the union. If, in the progrese of the goverament, they have paid into the treasury a large portion of forty militiona of dollars for the lands they occupy, they have rrecived, in the properly of those lands transferred fo them by the nation, the value to them of many hundred millHona of dollars as an equivalent. That a small part of the revenne received from the proceeds of the publie lands has been expraded amonget thets, if estimated in moportion to the retadive amoant of revenue collected apongst them, may be doubted; but the aubscribers belleve That justiee and policy would allke dietate a barger espendature of the revenue amonget the population of the weat, than has yet been authorised. It is in the western country that the greatest, the moss useful and the most exponsive works of internal imponvement bine been undertaken, or are most urgently meeded. To such works, unquestionably of a pational cbaracter, the subscribere believe that in fult and ample proportion of the public tevenue, whether collected from the salea of public lands or from other sources, ought to be applied, and the monies so appropriated would be alnost exclusively expended among the population of the west. It is in this iuanner that, without doing injustice in any other part of the nnion, the procecds of the sales of the public lauds may be applied to the special improvement of the wewtern eountry; that they may be, beatifially to all, expended annong the suttlers of the public lands themseives, and, while enntrituting to the improvement of the whole union, factitate and encourage the progress of the new settlements, by furnishing, at once, oceuprotion for iedustry, reward for labor, and the rapid appreciation pation for iedusiry, reward for lator, and the rapid appreciation of the lands nipon which the setilers may fix their atoode. Such, aubscribers believe, are the dietates of a policy, at onee prudent and magnanimous: but this policy cannot be promoted by arresting the progrean of works aircanly conmmenced; by refusing appropriations for works demonstrated to be of a national eharacter; or by giving away to mingle adventurera, or tn the new states, the whole lovaluable fund, inexhautible, if duly managed, for long eenturies so come, of lands purchased by the blood of oar revolutionary fathers, asd by their treasures or nur nwn.
In this examination of the proposal to gice aray all tie publie lands of the union, the subseribers inave dermed it their indiapensable duty, though a painfut one it bas been, to resnrt to the first principles of natural justice, to the sacred right of property, and to the poative Injunctions of the constitution, to prove that it is alike subversive of thein all. The priyject itself la ant new: the subscribern are unwilling either to trace its origia, of to scan the motives and purpased from which it proceeded. Dnt never before have they witnessed-never again, they will hope, may it be seen serinusily reconmmended in a mesage frum the president to the eongreas of the United States. The public lands are the property of the union; the possession, the use, and the disposal nf thram, for the benefit of the whole, are zuarantied by the eiementary principle at the foundation inf eivil society, liy the immutable faws of justice, and by the exprees termis if the conatitation, which we have ail swnrn to support. The power to give Unent away has not only never been delegated to congreas; it has been, by direct implicatinn, prohibited. The attempt th give them away, by an act of eongreas, whuld be an net of trauseendent usurpation, null and void in itself, and substituting artitrary power in the plaee of constitutional right. The attempt to carry it into effect wonld be a dissolution of the union-an inextingulshable brand $n f$ civil war. Tils the subseribers in with the profonadest eonviction helieve; this they cannot, without vinlating the truat reposed in them by their constituents, refrain from declaring. They soteraaly deprecate the contingeacy that such a proposal should ever again be made.
Congenial with it, and apparantig flowing from the rame ermneous and partial fundamental prineiple of government, that the weathy land-holders are the best part of the population, the subseribers are constrained to convider all the recommendatinns of the message in refation to the manufactaring interest af the enumtry. The spirit of the innseage tooks steadily, thougb whil opeaxinnal blenching, to that laterest, as a victim to be a awificed. The appmaches to the altar are not al ways direct, but the instrument of death is never mheathod, and the zrasp with which it is held is ever intent to strike the blow. As in the prinelpte of limitatimu to the entigressinnal po wer of appropriatmig inney for internal lmprovement, en, in the rewtriction of that whiclimay be exercised for the proncetion of dinnestic induatry, eare Is taken to conmmence with a general axion, which the friende of the mannfacturing interest themselves will readilv adimil. That the revente of the uatinnal gavernment should toe adapted to their expenditures, and that the expenditures Ahould be wtrielly limited within the ppliere of ohjects warrantefl br the eonstitution, and regulated by a severn nnd vigilant poonmise, the mast ardent frieucla nf the manufactures will ehmerfitty allow. Nor whulal they deny "that the protection afforded ty eristing laws th anv liranches if the national industry miontd not esceed whit may be nocessary to counteraet the reEulations of furpign nations, and to sceure a supply of those arttelos of inmumacture espential in the natinnal intlependerice and arfety in lime of war." If the ennuelation of the principie of legitimate protection in these tetmidicloses a mind in search of reasons for withdrawing the protectinn secured by existing laws, it is rather in the disposition thus evinced, than in the abstract proposition with which it is clothed, that the manafacturing intercat may discern the determined losulity with which It is assailed. The manufacturer asks for no protection beyond that which may be necessary to counteract the rrgulations of foreign nattons, and to secure a supply of the artuclea essentiat to the natoonal pafety in Ume of war. But this protection laas been exteuded to the manufacturing eatablisliments by he extoting laws. It has been extended to theni, ant has a favor to that separate interest, for no such favor has ever been indulged lis tice legistation of the umme, but for the purpose of counteracting the injury of foreign regulations, and for the purpose of securing the supply of articles essential to the national safety is war. The manufacturere or the old and long settied states bave been protected from the injarinus regulations of foreign watinns, as the planters of the south and the settiert of the west have been pritected fron the depredations and hostile incnroions of Indian savages. Nearty the whole charge of the military peace establialtment in borne by the natiou lor the protection of the south and of the west. Of the mittions upon inillions expended, ever pince the existence of the government, opon Indian wars and negotiatintis, the manafacturer of Penn. sylvania, of New Jersey and of Massachusetts, has paid, and continues to pay, hls full proportion. And what is Inhan war or indian negotiation in him? The whinle naval eatablishment of the union is maintaind to protect the inumediate interest of the commercial part of the comminnity. The manufacturer, the farmer, the pianter, have no direct interest in this; they all pay taxes to protect froan frreign hostility the property of the merchant and the persnn of the navigntor. The war last waged with Great Britain, and which cost the nation upwarda of a hundred millions of dollars, and perhaps fify thowsand lives, for what was it proclaimed but for wrongs th the merchant and the mariner, in which the manufacturer and the farmer, at distinct clasaes of soclety, had not one dinlar of intesest, yet for the maintenance of which they bore their equal portion of taxation, and devoted their equal portinn of lives? The manufacturef of the interint has the same right to the protection of the whole union against the regulations of forelgn countries, as the merchant upon the coast, or the mariner upon the ocean. The aranufacturer of the north has the same rigtt to the prolection of the nation ngainst the enmpetition of foreign rivald, armed with fireign laws, as the planter of the sonth, or the sptter in the weet, has to the same protection againat the fobberles and butcheries of Indian savages, instigated by the recret impnlves and profuse subsidies of the same foreign rivals. The manufarturer ask no mire. The pilnciple in the mesarge now suder examination is in terms equally applicable in all branches of the natinnal lndustry. The protection afforded by existing lawn to the sonthern planter and the western setuer, to the merchant and navigator, should not eaceed what may be necessary to connteract forpign boatility, and secure the antional independence and safety. If the separate and exclusive interest of the manuflactarer or of the northern former were ennsulted, the army migil! be disbauded; the wooden walts of the navy might be laid up in ordinary, and ite gallant neamea be discharged from the service. Six in seven annual millions more $n$ fexpenditure might be retrenched, and the gavernneent le reduced to a macline onf still more edifying simplicity $\rightarrow 0$ simple, indeed, as tn be ief without occupation worthy of the cost of its own maintenance, and bnund, in the pursuit of its own policy, to dissolve itself as a uselesp and cumbersome burdea to the nation.
But the puactical questiun $n f$ the message is not, what degree of protection ouglt to he extended to any brauch of the national induxtry, hut what degree of protection, hy the exinting lawe, it ouglit not to exceed. And the principle ls thiss laid down by way of Introduction, to a recommendation that the protection actually granted by the existing laws to a particular intereat, namely, that of the manufactures should be gradually diminished-if, upon Investigation, it shall be found, as it is Believed it ed-ir, upon Investigation, it shall be found, as it io believed it will be, that the legislative protectiou granted to that interest cill be, that the legislative protectiou grantrd to that interest is greater than is indispensably requisite for these objects, that in, for counteracting the regulations of foreign nations, and the securing a supply of tiose artictes of manufacture essential to the national independence and safety in time of war.
Tn this inquiry and investigation the anbscribers would interpose nn objection whatever, frovided that the same inventigation whall be Instituted tn nscertain whether the protection granted by existing laws to other great though partial intereats, namely, to the southern pianter and western metter, to the merchant and the mariupr, in not exeeed what may he indiapensably requisite for countracting the regulations of for-ign nations, and for vecuring the Independence and safety of the nation. The Investization, to be just and Impartial, must ex Iend equally to all the interests protected by the expenditare of the national revenues; and if the standard of inquiry shall the the smalleat possible amount of prntection indisprisable to the manufacturea, let the eame standard, the smaliest possibie amnunt Indiepeneahte th the planter and the artiler, the intechant and mariner, be applicd th the estimates of expetidture to he hereafier bestowed upon them.

But the subecrithers cannot fopbenr to call the attention of the house, and of the nation, to the formal abandonment, is the message, of the very principle of just and lawful proifection to the manufactiling interest inid down by itself. Scarcely has the circie of Inmitation bcen drawn sound the unquestionable duty of the goverameut to protect the mauufactures by its lawe.
when, by a most reroarkable instance of acif contradiction, the when, by a most revarkable instance of aelf contradiction, the memsage ntanadons itw own pritucipte, and whbstitutes asother and a butally ditferent one in ita stead. "Tlinse (it now aays), who take na enlarged view of the condition of our couniry, must be satusfied that the poitcy of protection aluet be utilimate Iy limited to thase articles of domentie nomufacture which are indispenamble th our enfety in tizne of war." The whbecribery will aot scrutinize, with logical acutescas, the furtier limitationn, even of this incasure, which may be detected lin the sub. sequent qualifieatione af thim dimitistird standarit; nor ioquire how the indefniteness of a "reasonable scaie and rif a llinetal support" can be applied in a list of artictes indiepensolte th the safety of the nation. Articles indinpeasable to the safi-ty of a nation would seem to adinit uf litile latituile In the iorination of their catalogue; nor can much commendatioa be due to the Wherality witieli provitice for is own indiopon*abte arcespitiosthet it in th the principle liseif that the subseriters decm it their had teen just betore latd down; as abandoming the finmire inleagued with foreiga competition; and, finsity, ns consigaing ali the great manufacturing extabislaments of the country to specdy and inevitatije dewtruction.

Ia this lant proposition, as In the reenmasendation to give away all the public lands, the honse and the country cannot fint to diacern a projeeted revolutions of government. When the very firat net of congram, alter the urganization of the new envermpent, that afy-ars upos the ptatme book of the United States, deefared the afcesaity that ditios whould be laid on goods, wares and merchandiser inportind, the purposes to be aceunplistied by ilat aret were declared to be the suipport of giverumets, the discharge of the debts of the United states, find the encourgament and protection of inanufnctures. Tluw, from the very foundation af this government-from the day when George Washington wae firat thaugurated as president of the United Btater, the profection, ay, nad the encouragement, of masufactures has formed one of the fuadamental objecte of the mational poliey. But bete, ia the complass of nas shut page o thir message, we nre told, first, that the protertion afforded by eaisting laves to any branches of the nationai isdustry, should not exceed what tnay be necessary to conaterart the regulationas of fareign antions, and to secure a supply of those articies of manufacture esseatial in the mational indppendeare and eality in une of war. Tins, we are tuld, is, in justice, due in filiect. ing the adjustment of the future revenite to the interest of the different etates, and even the preatrontion of the union iteelt And, in the next breath, we are old that the policy of pruteetion muet be uttimately limited in those articies of domestic manafaeture which are indispensable to our safety in time of war. Tbe priaciple of atfording encourcgevient th maaufortures, proclaimed in the first act of the firmt enngrest, is slisearded. Tbe protection to be gradually diminiahed the protection of existing laws. The revestir is to be reduced, ant merely for adaptation to the gecespitice of the public expeaditures, but with the express object and desiga of diveouragement to manutacturve, by diminishing the protectinn which they eajoy; nor is this discouragement to cease, till all the protection which now shielde them from the deadly lustility of forrign competitora, dietathg the ileath warranta of foreign legintatina, shalt be withdrawn, and the wigardiy boon of protection shall he denied th all but articleaof indispensahle necessity to safety in time of war.
It is, therefore, a revolution is the government which the message now proposes. It is the aduptiua for the future of a aystem of policy directiy opposite to lisat with which the adinl. nistratos of Waxhington laid the fosundations of the social existence of this great enmannity-nitr antional ant federal gaion. Thnse foundations were, that all the great filmerests of the nation were atike entitied to defence mud protection by the mational arm, and from the national purse. Aad to the hoterent of inaanfactures was the first dirdge of encoumerment and protection seff imposed by the gond faith of the mation. That pledge is now hy the recommentlations of this meswige, to be withdrawn. The government is to be rednced to a simple alachine, and its operations of superintending ben-feence are to be unfett. The great body of the mannfacturers, inclinding the numeraus classen of mechaaics, hadicraftsmon, and artificera, and with thein great multitndes of cuitivators of the soii, thenigh not that best part of the popuiation, the indopendent freehohl ert, all the hard-workiag mea, inshort, the lahoring part of the erclusively free popistation of the erbantry, are to be surnedi nm of the pateraal mansion, rast off as worthless chitirea of the eommon pareat, and surrandered to the merey of foreign laws, enacted for the express purpose of feediug foreiza mouths with enacted for the express purpose of feedure fore ofa mouths with thero.
Under that aystem of policy, thur now propored to bo ahan doned and proecribed, the nation has rises from a depth of weaknese, imbecility nnd diatrean, in an emincare of priseperity unexampieal it the nnnala of the wrolit. It hax flaurished in despite of all forcign eompetition, alid all forcign leggalation, whether in peace or at war. It has finurished by the nadeviat ing pursuit of that very poliey, which we are now urged to abondon and to proscribe. It was by counter legisfation on the regulations of foreign nintinas, that the first oprrations of the envernment of the United States were felt hy their people: felt, ia the aetuvitv given to thelr commerce-felt, in the encourage.
tacst and protection extended ta their manufactures-feit, in the fulfitmelt of the pmhlie engageatetits to the creditors uf the nutiolt-fift, in the grailual, thongh the subseribere gzieve to nay y.t impe ri.ct, discharge of the dr-bt of juwtice and ol gratitude due to the warrines of the revolutina-leit, ill the rapid heriense of cour populathon, in the colntantiy and profitathly wecupted indastry uf the propir, in the eronsideration and reoperet of foseign nations fut nur reliarncter-limitie comfort, and weli- berag, and liapplurg of the comimunity-filt, ia every nerse and pincw, in every vein and aftery of the benty pollte. That for this governmeut the propostlina should nuw lee carnestly pressed upon shath eros-l-t in th b-ing unfelt, whell we look to the source irumb whtw the asfortation procreds, cannut but move our apeid woudep. The puliscutrers can have no partiality for a povrriment, fanidert apent the consideration that the benefit of ite opes:atintis alints be whtelt.
Froult the areat inaurfieluring interest of thin country, thes indiseninhly linkrod whil it, tite photection of the national laws, Inow ext-thip, in so far as tluy are or may be nffeeted by foreign dualty withidrawa: and optection In hrreafer to be limited to our speritie rlase of attictes of manitheturen, uniter the denonination of articles indi-pwn-aide: the the safrty of the aation in tune of war. 'J'he shbsenluers ask, wint is the reason for that distursiont; and what are the urtucley thus to be distimguished with pre-enilunt and permancut favor? Why is protection, why in this rpecific mute of protection, by high anit prohititory due ties, mphet the articte whenitinported from abroad, to be extendrd to artictrs indispensable to the national safety ln time uf war, when it is nt the same tume io be depipd to allothens? 'The protection of high duture is foundenl upust the painciple of shigiding the donesatie mannfactuter lima the ruinoue conipetition af fo reignera, producers of the satne niticle. Tlus primeiple to founded, not upon the nature or usew of the articie, but upon the right of the citize.n in protertion, pi-dged to him by the social compact, the correiative obligation of hls connilry to litm, for his duty a ad ublization of aill giance in ther. Why is the planter of the eonath, and the new entitir rof the west, eatitied to the procection of the nationy, at the coat of many aanual millione, to maintain an araty to unke that pritfetion effective? Why, but beeanse that planter and that *enter are tround in allegiance in that couatry whome protection they are therely entitied to elaim? Why are the merchant, the mariner, the fishermaa, eatilled to protection, and Why It a navy matutained at the cost of annual mitictas to make that protection effectivi? Beeause the merchast, the marinen thr foherman, owr their allegiance to the country which prostcets them. This protection is due to them lis prace as wellat in war: rine why do you rasiatan an army and a navy In time of peace? The manafucturer in entitled to the same protection frmil tin couatry as the planter, as the arw settier, as the mer chant, ns the marinct, nis the fisherman, and lur the same ren-mon-because lie nwes in that country his allegiance. He beart lis portion of the burdea of expenthtures. sustained by the na tion to maintain as artny and a navy for the protection of interegte which are not lis. He has a right to claim the sanser pro tection to his own. It is the rizht of the ciffzen, and not the necesiftica if the community, wheh comstitutea the fundamental principie, upon which the obigation in protert the interest of the manimfacturer, of uf any other member of society, bs ineumhem njont the nation. The zahscritpers believe, therefore that the distinction betweea articles of aaaufacmre imisponsable to the affity of the nation in time of war, and other articlea, cannot ia any unanaer affect the tight of the manufacturer to protection, or the duty of the guvernment to extend it. It is the Intrrest of the ritizen, and not the wauts of the country, which cireumacribes the Iegitimate objects of protection. In the for mation of the social mompact, undoubtedly the wafety and independener uf the whinte are the ultimate object of every engagement undertaken by the conumutity in protect the isterests of every one of its parts; but that safety nnd Indepeadence are to be sucured as mucli by the protection of intereats, contribating to brr wrili-beluse in time of prace, ra by that of seeuring to heraetf a supply of the instruments of drath, necessary for a battle or a slege.
But were the diatiaction asenmed in the message, of diserimataating hetween articles of manufacture, indiopensable to the safoty of the natuon in time of war, mind other anticien, with relerence to the respective riglits of each of the chasses to temporary or permament protection. just, wiyy in this apecific mode of protection, high duturs apon the inported article, recommended? If the object to the attained in to secure as abundaat muplly of the articles, the posing of the envernmeat would areta to be rather to adint thrin froe of impott, and evern to eacourage the importation of them by lonnties than to burden them with oserous dutina. The articles of mnat indispensable necessity in time of war, are articles of littic or tho ase in time of peace. The puticy of crecting and supportiag manufactires of them in time of prace, that io, at a line whea, from tivip very anture and from the glender drimand far them, they muat be othtainable frotu nlersad upon the cheapest trias, and whra you have little uf uo demand or use for tite articies which you thus deliberately make costiv to you bryind all aecrasity of reason, sectus to be exceodingly quentioashle. Y'ou saddle with burdenome taratlon artirica which you might obtain almost gratnitously from nhrond; you tax yourneivea to pay epormoundy dear for artieles which you compel yourseives to buy, which yon do not want, and for which you bnva no use, because the timin niny come when you will wnut them; and then you elnoose to have them made by your owis cutizen, and by no foreigner-when the very tax that you impose, would supply you from abroad with stotes of the arucies sufficient for $n$ ten yenrs' war, at less cost thau you now lavish upon your manufactarer to furnish you the sunuc supply. Agsin, it mayy very reasounbly be questuoned, whether in the present or theny possible future condtion of this country, and of then rest of the world, any article of domentie manufacture whatever cnn be ewsenual to the independi nee or safety of the antion in the senise that it muat neeessarily be mnnufactured within the country, nnd not unported from abroad. Assume the broad prineiple that the indrpendence and snfety of a nation nre highly promoted and rendered effective by her ponessiog within berself all the resourees essential to the subsistence, the comfort, and the eujoymeuts of ber pupple in wir nud th peace, and the subscribers gove to it their heasty aszunt-and from this prinelple they derive the birm beloef that sound policy reqnires of the uation the constant perpetual protection of the manutacturng intereat getserally, as the duties of the socmil compnet impose the same protection apon her, as a cluty to the chizen mmufacturor. Narruw down your protective system to a mere llst of coutraband of war, nad you not only fond the nation with burdens, utterly useless to berovif when she bears them, inndequate to your purpose in the very contingeney for which you would provide, but you put to the bnn a vast multutude of the free laborers of the couniry, and involve yourseives in the inaxtricable nbsurdity of bulding the sation bound to foxter and encourage the aits of war, und to prostrate and sacrifice the arts of peace.
Tie subscribers are then convinced thint the principle broadly laid down to the message, "that the policy of protection must be ultionately limuted to those intieles of donestic manufacture whiels are indispensajis to our satety in time of war," is erroneous and unsound. They remark that this is the firmt tume Lual such a poltey has aver been suggrsted by any ehuef of the executive government to congress, from the estnblishment of the consuitution to this day, and that it is proposed avowedly to anbvert the system of puliey which haw hitiesto liverialily prevailed. Alarmed at the violation of rights and at the desotation of property which it portends in in apecial manner to the great imase of their constituents, they scak in the message itanif the arguneuts by which this novil plan of government is attempted to be nuitained. They are aware that it flows very naturally and dirceily frum the fuadauental maxim, that the wealthy Innd-holders, cultivnturs of the soil, nre the best part of the population. That it is entirely congenial to tha deterinitued purpose of abolishing the national bank. That it tatlies esactly with the proposal to give nway all the public lands, to multiply the best part of the popuintion. That it is in perfect colncidence with the proposal to nbandong gradually all nppropriations for internal improvemente, to zell nll the stocks held by the government in the funda of incorporated companies, nnd then to reduce the duties of inpost to a simple, economical revenue etanderd.
"All are but parts of one stupendons whole."
And, in carrying out this system to tts inevitable consequences, it whapsent thint, when all this stinll hnve been done, the same spirit of simplicity nud reform will cotmmand that the army shontd the disbanded, because its only ure is to protect oue porfunn of the comanunity at the exprave of nill the rest; that the navy should be gradunliy dimiaished, and altumately abolished; becnuse the degrec of protection which it extends to the commarce and navigntinn of the couutry, may exceed what shall be indispensably necessary to counteract the regulations of forelgn powers; and, finally, that the government of the union, simplifod into a maehine of totnl uselessness and inability to protect any great interest of the intion, should dissolve itaelf into its origisal elements, and vanish-the buseless fabic of a viston.

The subscribers belleve thint to secure to the natuon during war, a supply of all the articles nccessary to the subsistence, comfort, and wall being of the people, is one of the objecte Which require and commind the proteetion of manufactures genernily, as one of the great duties of the nation itself. But faclure indispensable to our safcty in tivie of wnt, is tantannount tocture indispensable to our safety in tiuse of wni, is tantainount protection to every article, excepting those the want of which nnd the unes of which are applicable only to the state of war. Food and raiment nre articles indiypensable to the safsty of n intion in war as well as in peace. If it were meant thnt all artucles of domestle nasuufncture, serving for food or raiment, should be entitied to the permaneat and ultionte protection of the nationnl governiment, the limitation itself presented by the message would be nugatory. With that understanding all the manufactures of woollen and of eotton would have an equal clatim to perinanent protection with those of irun, lead, or eopper. The necessities of the nation in time of war farnish an unnaswerable nrgument for the protection of its mn-pufactures-of all its manufnctures in time of peace. This in the eound principle. The attempt to draw n line of distinction between articles indispensable to our anfety in time of wnr, nnd all other articles, with a view to confer the esclusive privilege of perminient protection upon the former, and to withdrnw all protection from the latter, must be utterly deceptive, and, if carried ont into practice, could terminnte cnly in gross injustice.
Ia the report of the committee of whys and means, which aceompanied their bill to reduce and otherwise alter the duties ou companied itheir bill to reduce and othriwise: alter the duties ou ies with refarence to the prisiciple of rataing twelve tatition ${ }^{2}$ and a lualf of reveune upon from sixty-five to seventy millions of dutiabin commodities, nit rates of from tell to twenty per cent. varying from them chiefly in those Instancea where national independence in time of war sermed to demind sonse sacrities In pence, (as in the case of iron.) Thus iron ts the only anticle speelfied by the committee of ways and means na entitled to extrandinary and permanent protection, by heavy duties of impost, in defend the nrtick of donnestic production from the competilitun of importation from nbroad-and the es from fifieation in their bill in, to shield the article of iron, by dutles five of six tumes heavier than the fragment of tupost to which they abantion the articles of wool, woollens, and cotton fabrirs. But this favoritism extended to the aruele of iron, to founded apon $n$ musapplication of the prineiple upon whiseb it professes to rely. The only reasout wheh makes it an object of importauce to the nation, to posiens witho itself a supply of nrticles of exclusive use and necessity in times and for purposes of war, is because the supply of those mitieles from abroad, in tinue of whr, may be cut off or grently obstructed by the power of the enemin. Of all other articles, the sapply may be as abundant from nbriad in time of war, by the conveyance of nentral flags, on in time of pence. The articles usually denominated contrnband of $\mathbf{w n r}$, may be intercepted by the enany, and cannot be protected by the nensral fing. The list of these anticies of contraband is asually regulated by treaties. The number of them, as recognized by the cuatomnry law of nations, Indeppadent of treaty stipulauons, is very unsettled. Great Britain, betha nlunost nlways $n$ belifigront uation, and porsessed of preponderating power upon the neean, las, in latter tupes; constantly struggled to enlarge the list, by including in th not marely tha fabricited instrumente of warlika destruction, aucla ns ennnon, muskets, swords, piker, bombs, grenades, and the like, but provisinns, and the mnteitilis especially for ship building. All the other maritime nations, on their part, endeavor to contraet the list of contraband, nud coufine it to articles actuatiy wrouglit ind manufactured, nud used only and excluwvely for war. We bnve had trenties both with France and Great Bri tain, each containing $n$ list of articles to be understood between the parties as contraband of war. Tha treaties with France contain the moxt eontracted, and the treaty of 19th November, 1794, with Great Britain, the largent list of contraband that has ever been claimed by modern bellugerent nutions; nnd it so happens thint, in both tionse treatiex, unwrought iron is expressly exctuded from the list of contraband. No nation thas ever pretended that it was or ahonid be included in that list. The supply of it from nhoond cnnnot, therefore, he fatercepted by the enemy in time $n$ war, and there is no reason whatever for prntecting by high duties the domestic production of it against the foreign competior, nther than the renson common to nll other articles or productions of domestic industry. It slands opon the pame fioting with nil the rest, and has no clain whatever to superior protertion, from its being merely the principal material from which the instruments of death are composed. It is, therefore, extreme injustice to all other articies of domeatic growth or auanufncture, to withdraw from them their jnst share of protection, to heap it npon the solitary artucle of imn.
The subveribers, thesefore, helieve thint the priociple itself advanced in the mesange, and illasirated by the recosoruendntion etndually to withdrnw from the manufactures of the cooniry nll the pmiection which they enjoy by the exinting laws of the United Niates, with the singic exception of the articies indispensably neeexanry for the national independence and wafety m time of war, is incorrect, unjuat nnd anconstitutional. They believe that protection, permanent jrotection to the interest of domestic industry, including agrieutare, manufnctares, and the neehanie arts, is a right seeured to the citizena whose property and suhaistenee depend upon that protection, by the constifution itself, as rell as by the lavs; that the wishdrawni from them of thin protection, would be the denial to them of $n$ constitational right, and equivalent to a sentence of baoishineut upon them. In saylog thin, the subscritere do not delly the tight of the goverament to modify this prntection by an adjustment of the revenne to the necesany public expenditures. They object neither to the reduction of the revenue, nor to the reduction of nutiew of imposts; both these operations, tay be effected without Impairing the protection elljoyed by dowestic industry, nad they nre precisely the operatinns which it is at this time the duty of the goverument of the Uuited States to perform.
The recommendation of the message, gradually to withdraw from the momifactures the promection which they enjoy by existine laws, appears to the subscribers the more exceptionable, as it obvimuily countmunnces the pribciples asserted, as well as the mititude assumed of hostility to the manufacturing interest, and of definnce to the government of the union, under tha athield of state movereignty, hy popular commotion in one of the members of the mion. Before the mesage was delivered, a convention, asauming to represent the people of South Carolina, and to exercise, iu their name, aa absolute, unlimited, and, therefore, despotic power of sovereignty, lind lasued an ordinance, declnring nind ordaining that all the several acta and parta of acts of the congress of the United 8tates, for impowing daties ansl imposts on the importation of foreign comanodities, and now haing actual operation and effect orithin the United Stales, were nult, void, and no law, nor binding apon the state of Bouth Carolina, its officers or citizens.

And the same convention, by the same ordinamce, had ordained that all promises, contracts, and obligations, made or eatcred tuta, or to be made or eotered into, with purpose to wecure the ducties lenposed by the said acts, and all judicial proceeding which should be thereafter had in affirmance thereof, were, nud should be, held ntterly null and void.

The sarne convention had farther ordnined that it should not be Inwful for any of the constituted authorties, whether of the otate of Bouth Carolina, or of the United States, to enforce the payment of dutues imposed by the said acta of congrese within the limits of that state; that it should be the duty of the legisiature to adopt sueh mensures, and pass such acts, at mixth be ture to adopt sueh mensures, and pass such acts, an anintir be necessary to prevent the enforcement, and arrest the operation of necessary to prevent the enforcement, and arrest the oper ation of the said acts, and parts of acta, of the congrese of the United Btatea, within tha limits of that state, from and after the first day of Pebrunry then next.
The same convention had further ordained that all the officers of the state, civil or military, ezcept members of the legislature, whould take nn onth to obey, execute, nad eaforce the said ordinance, and such act or acts of the legisiature as might be passed In pursuance therenf; that the offices of every individual whn athould omit or negtect to take this oath, should be, thereby, ipoo facto, vacated; and that no juror should be empantelled in nay of the courts of the state, in any entre in which slould be in quesdion the ordinanca, of any act of the legisiature passed in pursoance thereof, uniess he phould, first, in addition to the usaal oath, have taken an oath to abey, execute, and enforce the ordinance, nod all sets of Uia legislature to carry the same into operation and effect.
And the same convention, speaking ns the peonple of South Carolian, further declared, that they would consider any act on the part of the federal government to enforce the law thus nulHited, othervise than through the civil tribunats of the country, as Inensistent with the longer continunace of South Carolinn in the union; that they woald thencefirth hold tisemselves aboflved from all further nbligation to malntain or preserve their politieal connesion with the people of the other states, and would fortowith proceed to organize a eeparate government, and da all other acts and thiogs which sovereign and independent states might of right do.

This ordinance was lasued, bearing date the 24 th day of Novamber. Ten days afier which, on the 4th of December, the meswage of the president, afler noticing that, in one quarter of the Ubited Ststes, opposition to the revenue laws had risen to a hetght which threatened to thwart their execution, if not to endanger the integrity of the union, observes, that whatever obstructions nay be thrown in the way of the judicial authorities of the general government, it was hoped they would be able, peaceably, to overcome them by the prudence of their own of Geers, and the patriotisun of the people. But that, shouid this reaconable hope be disappointed, it was beliuved the laws thenoselves were fully adequate to the smppression of such atteinpts as might be immediately made; and that, should the exigency arise, rendering the axecution of the existing laws linpracticabie, from aoy cnuse whatever, prompt nutice of it would be given to congress, with the euggestion of such viewa and measures as might be necessary to meet it.
'I'he subscribers could not but observe with concern nad surprise, tuat, in $n$ massage delivered at in tinue when the abovementuoned oddinasee of the South Carolina convention had been ten daym issued, and whets its coutents hanl b-en several days fully known in this city, the condition of thas-, and the oppoaiuon to the execution of the lnwe of the Iforted statos in the ctate of south Carolitn, was described in terass so inadequate, as appeared to then, to the reai magnitute of the erisis in the nfiaiss of the untion. A documeut purpanting to be the net of Use sovereign prople of Bonth Cncofina-an net of eovereignty on trauscendent, as to epeak in the lauguage of comminnd to the legtiblature of the otate, as to prescribe oathe to be taken by the existing officera, civil and military, of the state, on the prnalty of forfenting their offices-an act of an authority, apnrning, ns beneath It , the ties of morality, and nasurning to annul exiothig promises, contraets, ated obigations -all act, firat depriving the eivil tribatiale, both of the state and in the Uuited States, of the power of performine their jadicial functions, nad then declaring that the finst effurt of the federal governaient to enforce the Inws of the uninn, otherwise than through the Judicial tribunals, soould be the signal in the state of South Carulina for dissolving her connexion with this union, and forming a separate govero ment-this act, nccoinpanied with addresses to the people of the atate, and of the other twenty-ibree statas, declaring that it was the fixed and unalterable determination of the people of south Carolinn never more to submit to a protecting tariff, mast linve been in the possespion of the president nt the time when his mesasage wan communicated to the two houses of congress. Onty viz days after the delivery of this annual message, tha proclanation enasnating from the snme souree, was published to the world, founded, as appenre on its face, upos the ordinance alone, which had thus been in the president'd possession before the nessage was sent to congress. It would seem that the recommendations of the message were so nearly identical with The terme condescendinely proposed as n concession by the authors of the ordinasien for the future revense system of the union, Which South Carolina would gracinusiy consent to prescribe, that an erpertation was entertalned that, on the receipt of the mesnage in Soath Cerolina, the nullifying ordinance would immediately be abrogated. And, Indeed, upon an attentive com parison of the recommendations of the chief magistrate with the watcorntie concesaions of the south Carolinn nullifying convention, there will be found between them a shade of difference so searly imperceptible, that thit expectition was not destitute of foundatioo. T'o the subscribers this affords but a source of deeper mortificnios, upon perceiviug that formal reconmendation in the message of a grndun), nind, ultimately, total with drawal of all legisinuve protectuou from ali the minoufactures of the country, excepting oniy those articles indispensably necessary to the safety and findipendance of the nation in time of war; an exception so strangety expounded in the report and blit of the commitue of ways and menss, to mean wnorought fron.
The proclamntion did, indeed, take a direct aod formal tasee with the nullifying conveltion, upon both the arricles of fuadnmental Inw, by virtue of which that assemblage asserted their right to exerclse sovereign deapotic nuthority in the nname of the people of South Carotina. The prociamation denied the right of tire people of South Carolina to oullify the laws of the United States. It dealed the right of the state of South Cnrolimn to secede from that union, to which the people nad state of Bouth Carolina, by the pledge of their hives, thair fortunes, nad their sacred lionor, in the Declaration of Independence, and hy their owo solemn accestion to the constitution of the United Statcs, hnd bound themselves and their good faith, in the face of God nad man. To both these prineiples of the proclatnation the subscribers assent and adhere; and the clear and tidisputable cousequence from thein 18 , that the Bouth Carolina convention was ao unlawful and uncontitutional asseunbly, and their ordiuance an unlawful and unconstituuonal act-nuil and void in iteelf, and the enforcement of which, by physienl power, would be levying war against the United States.

The dutien incumbent upon the president of the United States in this enprgeney, and the deep responsibility by which he is bound to the performance of thein, are fully and unequivocally set forth in the proclatination. Thic sense of those duties was profoundly impreseed upon the mind of ite muthor. The subacribers deem it altugetter unnecespnry, and trrelevant to tha present state of this country, to inquire by whon or when, of for what purpose, the absurd doctrines of nulltication nud secession were firt gotten up and prouulgated. They well know that thowe doctrines never can be carried ont in practice, but by n dissolution of the union. The consumunation of encher of them must, in itself, be a dissolution of the union. If any orgabized power, under any circumstances whatever, In any one state, can nullify the laws of cangress, then has the union no legialative, nod consequently no judicial or executive power. The government is ipso facto dissolved, and the union mast crumble to atnme with it. Ir any one state can at itt pleasure secede from tin union, every other atate must possess the entie power; and the constitution of the United states, instead of being a com pact ordained anil eatablished by the people, to secure to thein and their posterity the blessinge nf litierty, is but a partnership of corporate bodies witiout porterity, without coul, withotit faith, and rendy to trample under foot, as is done by the ordinnnce of the South Carolina convention, its own proanises, contracte and ohligations, as well as thope of otbers, or the lawe of the lind Rexi-tance against certain laws of Uie United States, even under the anthority of single state governuments, has more than once beell attemptrd. The doctrines of nullifiention and secer. sion have more thnn once been asserted or countenanced by reoolutions of particular state legislatures; but this is the first ex ansple since the eatablishmmet of the constitution, when in fir mal organization of the power of the prople of a state has been accomplished, not only for the nvowed purpose of resisting the lawe of congress. bit of annibilating the whole system of revenue laws, of dictating to the whole unlon n new fiscal code, and of interdicting with a sentence of ontlawry the protection secured by the constitution and the laws to at leant ane-third part of the people.
The subseribers cannot but lament that the presiderit of the Cnited States, with this ordinance in hts hand, with a fuis knowledge of its whole import, and with $n$ thorongh conviction of the dnties which it devolved apon him, in defence of the constitutios and laws of the union, should, by the whola tenor of bun annual message, and especinils by the recommendation gradually to withdrnw from tho manufacturing eatnbliahments the protection which they enjoy by the existing inws, have given to mnch countenanca end encouragement to the anost unjurt clnims and zost groundiess pretensions of the South Carolitin con vention.
There is an aspect in which this controversy must be considered, aud in whell the subecribery believe it was pecullarly incumbent on the presidenf, as the cibief inngistrate of the whole people, to withhold nll countenance ar sladow of support from those preterisions.
The foundation of the complaints, alleged by the Sonth Carolina convention as the justifying eause of their extracorduary proceedings, is $n$ collision of sectional intereste between the slave-holding and the exclurively free portuona of the union. The nillegation if, that the protection extended to domestic indastry, by the Imposition of duties upon the prodections of the ike Industry imported from sbrond, necessarily operatee to produce inequallty in the burden of taxation apon the free and upon the slave-holding portions of the people, tothe diendvantage and oppression inf the fotier: that whatever of taxauon is levied by Impost upon manufactures and free Intinr, is more than repatd by thila profection; that it beeomea thereby their Interest to increase the protecting dutien instend of redncing them; and that, as the labor of slaves cannot be applied to manufnctares, and as the agricultural products of the wouth derive no benefit from thit protection, the ultimate result of the impost system is to make

It at once a tax upoin the slave bulder of the wothth, and a bounty to the frew laberer of the botith.

Tints statement of the case provents iwo prominient foints of cilable opponition of interrats betwect two of the great nuases of papalation conetisutang the Unis.

This opposinon of interenta is geographical, the divislun theely liev, and tumr: where the poysisatpon conststa of Hawlers and alaver; the dovisoms ate uf uonth and wombit.
2. It lo an opposition of tubtebld betweta sertile and fres labor.

The subscribers believe theac positions in be very fir from corrcet; but they deen it out necergary to dirinss them licte; they are the positions upon which the whaler mystrat of the por eeedings of Bouth Caroliua is founded, and as such they wumt e coustulered.
It eaunot be dezied that in a comnnunity ppreadiug wer a large esteat of territury, and politically founded upun the pinsclples proclaimed in the Deelaration of limlepurnlenee, but difer ing so widety in tien elemente of their ancial cundinum, that the: thliabitants of one-half the ternitury are wholly lice, had thome of the other balf divided lato masters and slaved, dicp, il nut irfeconcilable colisions of interest must abound. The queargovernmeat, is a subject of profound, plisionoplical pirivalition in theory. Whether it can eontinue long to vaint, is to quesiton to be solved only by the enperituput now nuahing by the prople of this union, under that Hatuonal compact, the coustituntion of the Uuited Siales.

At the formation of the constitution Itecif, these colifistoss of intereat presented themselvea at the thrraltold. No nonticr wis the represcatation of the peoplo in the pospular brancti of Ilie legislature to be adjusted, than it atope. It tw ons wit the first puiteiples of rapublican frecdoni, that the repreatutation of the people slould be proportioned in Uieir numbers. It is another, that the tazation of the prople should be propuriloned tu their wumbers and their property. But licre was a comanumily, one Ialif of whom lield it for a principle that all popular ripuenentation should be proportinned to the numbers of the penjole, white the other haif held a third part of thur wown unimives an the jropurty of the other two thirds. 'They clatiacd, thwrefors', that, the the popular braneh of the lezasiaviare, they sliould be pinslrged with a repreacotatios, not onily of their numbers, but of thear proper. $y$-of their laving machinery.

Here was a great, and, it would seem, an irreconcilable colli. sion of inicrests betwees the aggrogate partien on the compact buder deliberation. Ifow was it siljusied? By coraceminn front the nortiern and whotly free states. Thry consented, that while in this hall, in the propular buanch of the Irgislatiori, thry themselves should liave a r"preaentation pruportioned to only their numbera, the slave-holders of the south, slunuld, In addition: to their proportional numberp, have a representation here for three-infis of their living property-of then numelinary, What was the equivalent fir ilis concessuon? A jrosinisut that dereel taxation ahould be levied under thas consfintinn, in the same eompound proportion of numbers in the free, sud of numbers and property in the slave-hulding states
The basis of this compromise between groal conflictiug intir ests was, that the proportiou of rejresentation in the popular brasch of the legislature, and the proportional burden of direct taxation, should be greater in the soutbern than in the northern, or, in other words, greater la the sinve-holdisig than wi the free atatea. Such was the compromine in priserple; bow has il operated in practice?

The representation of the plave population in this house has, from the establishment of the constutution of the United Staten, smounted in ratiser more tloan out.tertht of the whole number. In the present congrers. it in equivalent to twenty -t wo voler; in the nest eongrese, it will amonnt io twenty-five. T'tus is a enmbined and concenirated power, alway+ npernting to the support and exclusive favor of the alave-holding luterwet, and againut that northern free untmrest whiph is protrcted by the duties of impost. This privilege of representalion for properiy lase been always enjoyed by the slave-liolding states, from the eseablishonent of the eonstitution to this day; and they wall continuein enjoy it as loez as the ennatitution shail reinain in force. But it was not enjoyed by them under the confideration, nor ean they ever enjay it uniler any confederntion of statcs. But whila their enjoyment of the privilege under the constitumon is onnetant and unrenitiling, the correlative and equivalent prisilege of lighter dirpet taralion has bemn pifinctive tu the free siatem only twiee, and for very short periods, an the forty five yeara that the eopstitution bas cristed. Tlie history of the uninn has afforded a contimual proof that thas representation of property, Which they enjov, as well in the electuon of president and vien preaident of the United SiAtren, as upois the floor of the house af reprementatives, has mrcured tu the slave-holding states the entire coatrol of the naimal policy, and alinom witinut e reepiont the pompession of thu lightrent executise effice of the uninn. Al ways united $u$ the purguse of regulating the affairm of the whobs union by the standand uf tie slave-twolding lnterest, their diapro. portionate numbers in the electoral collegen have enabied thrm, in ten nut of twelve quadrential ehectious, ta eonfer lise chief magietracy upon one of their own citizens. Theur suffrages at every election, whont exoeption, have been almost cxclasively conaned to a eandidate of their own caste. Availiug themselves of the divistons which, from the nature of man, always prevail in comntuunitics entirely fiee, they have sought and foras anxlarium int the uther quarto no the unioth, by assuesatiag the paesuiti of pative, and the ambition of indivaluals, with their ow a Hallun the plave Loldong poticy. The office of vice prestiemt, a statuon uf lish tigntiy, but of tithe other than contingent power, bul busn usually, by thear indulgeuce, conceded to a citisen of lue niler scction; hut eveu this guhitical countesy was supenedal at the elrotitm bi fuan the lasi, and both the offices of preatdent and sice putsulewt wi the l'mited sitates wete, by the prepinabivaticy of ilie + lave-Iolding votes, bestowed upon cituzna of two ndjoinutg and buth slave loulding wtates. At ths motsent, the preainlont of the C'inted Xiatus, tbe president of the senate, the "prnker ofthe loouse of representabuen and the chaef Justice of the Unstill sisates, are all eiustens of that favored portun of thr unitrd wrublic. 'Tlie last of these ufices. belog, ander the eon-lithion, lu-ld by the teaura of goud helavior, bas been bunosed and tignatied by the coceuphatuou of the presput inewabent upwards of thity yeurs. Au wverrnhug senset of the loght re"pousilinlitues under which it is held, has eflectually guarded hlose fiom peinuttug the sectunas alave-holding opirit to aseend the tubunal int jurtice; and it is nut duffeult to discern, in thas mtirstite inspatitality, the eource of tie obloguy whech that satue sparit loas tyot heen toartive in attemptimg to escite against the averion of the wotasies of tusithfication to vnceuster or abode by the shecion uf that tribunal, the Irue and legitisnate empire of conitithtinnal, controvetted law
The disproportionate nurabers of the slave-holding rfpresentiation ith the houne of icpresentativen have speured to it the absolnte contral of the gemeral policy nf the goverament, amd expectally over the fircal pysters, the revenues and expenditures of the untion. At the first cminduphurnt of the goverament, it was the slave-hulding interest which dictated the principle that the public ruvenucs molould be rassed, not by direet saxes, but by intrpost. Hasl ilirect taxation bewil reionted to, the very lever of the conatitution prereribed that a heavier burden of it should finil upon them than apon the states where no wlaven cisisted. The srlection of impost, as the exclasive thede of tasation for rai-ing revente, was made and dictated by thesm, and for theif oprcial heur fit. Hut they were then willing that, to raising the rorcnur, sonic protection shoukt bu extended to domestic indetyy. It bad ant occurred to them yrt, that, by their elispropor. tionate unnobre in the popular branch of the legsslatare, they could viclade all the frive labor of the country enurely from the protection of the law.

Under that protection, the indastry of freedorm has thriven and flourimhed. Often eherked and fetarded hy that prepotideratiag syptem uf policy which the alave-holding interest, hy its dieproportionatc representation it the general goverument, was always cnabled to priseribe, and to which the lubor of the fres was compelled to whbit, a right to some protection, under the coinpact of convtitutional nnion, had never boen denied in It. Eparingly, ecantily, and grudelugly na it was dixpen*ed, still the riglit to protection wae coucr did; aud, in the ralsing of the revenue, actual protectun was, to some degree, yielded. Free Isbor received its rowarl; but it prosperity never exceeded that of the slaveholder, nor was the pritection whleh is enjoyed ever equal or comparahle to that spcured to the slave-holding iuterest, both by the conetutumbs and the laws.

In this conilition of the common country, with the slave-holding intermt in possession of all the bughest oftices of digaty and power, Jogislailve, exerutive and judicial, a dilecovery is suddenIy unsle in South Carolina-ilie nnly state of the vilon in which the slave population largely ont numbers the free, and where, conseguintly, six-tenths of the people ale the property of the other fuur-tenths-sthere it ts that the diseovery bursts upon the thation, that dutips of impnst, levied for the protection of free labor, ate turconstintional; that domestic industry has no right to the profection of exurtiug Jawa; and that all the pevenue laws are palpable violations of the constitution of the limuted States. L'pon the luet of this diacovery comes immediately the fired and irrevocable determination, tlat frer lahor shall no Ionger and never more eujoy this protertion of the law. Aud how is thia determination carried into effect? A convantion of the peoplecthat it to kay, of rather mnre than one-half the four-tenths of the ownors of the rest-a convention, represctuling, at the utmost, one loudred and finy thousand mols, and, of course, less in number than three-fonrths of the singie rity of New York, tn asecinbled-Itacif unconstitutionally consututed, and asecmbled In deflance of the fundamental Is ws both of the uninn and of the state. If aspumen, in the broad fice of day, the exercire of absolute, deapotic, irrosistible, unenntrollable power; nullifies the whole code of revenne laws of the United gtates; disenlves cowtrarte, promises, obligations, eanctioned by solcan appeais to God; preseribes oathe, as abhorrent to the pare intcligence of the bring invoked to atiest them, as to the soula of thome upan whom they are imposed; declares the people of Sotnth Carolina absolved from all their ties of allegianee and fidelity to their country; auntilates the judicial tribunals of the union within the state; and then declares that, if an attempt is made to execate the laws of the union, othervise than through those annimulated tribunals, south Carollua will secede from that unton to which her fatherw pledect their lives, their fortunes, and thear sacred honor: from that union she will secede, and constitate lieparif a supreme, anvereign, feudal domiaion of deapotic, irresiakible, and uncontroliable power. Since the attempt of the Titans to scale the thrune of heaven, so bold an eaterprise was sever conceived. Since the project of the buildrers on the plain of dhisar to make dienselves a name, lest they should be scattered abroad upon tie wholn earth, so gallant an exploit was never undertaken. Aud it was this monnent, when rebellon was stalkug forth uudes the worme than Goisen sheld of state sovereignty, that the president if the Untted states chose, for reconnmending th the msulted, vilificd, athd contemned legislative asthority of the untom, tantly to yeid, in substance, to this overbearing pritsmation, and gradually to wilhdraw from the na pufacturing establithanemts, with some vague aud thdefintie exeeptions, tha whole protection of the cxisting bawi.

It has been seen that by the coustitution of the tinited States, the right of representation in the popular braneli of the legnelature, and in the colleges of electors to the offices of president and vice president of the United States, is ubequally divided between the northern and sou thern, or, in other words, the free and the slave-bulding statem; that while the bee states are represeated only according to their numbers, the slave holders are represented alpo for their propenty; and that the equivalent for this privilege is, that they sliall bear in like manner a lieavie burdess of all direct taxation. That by the ascendancy witteli their excess of represeutation gives them in tha enacunent of the lawe, they have invanably, in times of peace, excluded all direct tazation, and thereby ebjoyed their cscess of reprerata. tion, whout hay equivalent whatever. This is, in substance, an evasion of the bilateral proviston in the constitution. It eives it an operation eatirely ote-rided. It is a privilege of the southeru and slavo-holding sections of the umon, without any equivaleat to the nortiern and noth western freemen whatever.

If is not a hitile extraordinary that the bew pretenstion of south Carolina, the state which above all others enjays this unrequited privilege of excessaive reprenentation, released from all pay ment of the direct taxes, of which ber proportus would be nearly doubla that of any non slave-hodding state, should procced from shat vary complaint that she bears an unecptal proportion of ducies of unposts, which, by the constitution uf the United Etates, ars required to be uatorm throughout the union. Vermont, with a free population of 200,000 soule, has five representatives in the popular bouse of congress, and sevea electors for prrsident and vice president. South Carolina, with a fiee pospalation of less han 960,000 souls, senda nine menibers to the louse of representatives, and honors the governor of Virginia with eleven votes for the othee of president of the U'nited States. If the rula of representation wera the same for South Caroina and for Vermont, they would liave the same number of reptesentatives in the house, and the same number of electors for the choiee of president and vice president. She hav nearly double the number of both. Were a direct tax now to be Invieft, to which Bouth Carolina herself could not objert as unernwtitu. tional, her propontion of it must be just as nevarly double that of Vermont, as is the number of her membere in the loouse of re-presantatives. 1f, by the protection to her farmern, and mechanica, and manufacturers, ngainst the competition of foreign labor, mimed with foreign legislations, the men of the Greet Mountains find brisker markets for the productions of their tot if their mountains themselves are elad in a freaher and more perennial verdare; if the very face of nature upon her soil glad dens with the hue of hope, and the sunile of joy, at the bencfi cence of their government, acting in auxiliary subserviency to the beseficence of heaven, while the slave-holder inf South Caretins eannot derive so niuch benefit from the protertion of man, becaune his Industry is not his nwn, and all his profits must be earned by tie sweat of another's how, is this a reason to justify him for tearling to pieces the clatier of national frecedom by which he is bound to the freemen of Virmont? By the Jetter of that fundamental compact, his power in the enarturnt of the laws, to be binding upon both, if nearly twice that of the mountaineer. By the letter of that conipact too, were the revenues of the whole enmnnuity to be letied hy direct tasation, bis share of enntribution must be nearly doubled. With what pretence of reason, therefore, can he couplain of a slight inequality bearing upos him; not by the binflen of the unpont. which is every where the famp, but by the primeval curne of Onnipotence upoll slavery, denying to him the remote ant cons. tingent advantage which the free laborer of Vermont derivea frum the protection of the laws?

The subseribers believe, therefore, that the eround asbiumed by the Sonth Carblina convention for 1 -urping the soverrigu and limitues 'power of the perple of that rtate, to dictate the laws of the union, and prostrate the l-gislative, esecutive and Judicial authority of the U'nited Statex, is an slertitutc of fonndation as the forms and sub-tance of their procecediugs are arsogant, overbearing, tyrannieal and opprearive: they believe that one particle of compromice with that n-urped power, or of min ceszion th ita pretetisions, wonid be a heavy calanuty to the porople of the whole tuion, and to none more that to the people of South Carolina themselves. That nith roncesson by conreses would be a dereliction of the highest duties to their coun try, and directly lead to the final and inctric valfe dispolution of the unior.

That the president of the U'nited States has a deep and just senae of the solemn duties devolving upon him in this great emergeney, the subscribers have ween with great and mast sincern satisfaction, by his proclamation, and by his mensage to congress communicating that drcument, and others lasued from the executive department, sogether with those emanating from the disorganizing faction in Sonth Carolina. It only remains for him to auit the action to the word. Bound by his official oath to take care that the laws shall be laithfully exeeuted, those law have armed bion with annple power in discharke that duty so hang as the rxecuinot ot the haw a shall mett with no rephotance liy faree. Eiven that resistance alon, he hat not been Ieft withont means, law ful oreans, to overpower and subduw. If other meaus lie necesrary of expedient, it th the duty of the Irgislature to iuvent him with theni. But with the usnrpations ol the Nouth Carcolina convention tiere can be no possitic connpromiac. Thry most couluer of they murt fall.
The sulscribsts are the more deepiy lupreased with the conviction that bo conipronaise ean the a ullorised of perinitted with the insurrectionary apisit of the documents from south Carolina, because they consider them utteily incompatiole with the pulucipies of repuhlican goverument, and becanse thry believe, with eqnal cobfidence, that if met with open front and unyieldInz caergy, there ls nuthing in this array of rebellion in the shightest degree dangerous, they will not say to the existence, but evpn to the peace and tranquillity of the union. For a conAiet of plysical force, which may God in bis mercy fortid, but should it uthoppily ensue, the parties to it are one lundred and bity thousand, at the ummost, stromp, on one side, and ten millions on the other. But the ordmance of nullifeation itscif, and all the nther state papers of this new sowreignty lif embryo, profersedly disclatm all purpose or intetation of remorting to physical force, unless in melf-defence. If, in the epirit of eounty court lituration, they can by quitbien and quillets of the law, entangle the justree of the union in a net of subtileties, hy camasice, ryplevins and whithenamp; if by imponing unliallowed and detested oathe npon their own citizens, in violation of their allegiance and obligations to their country-if, by enjoining upon theas under beavy penalties, fraud, peojury, the breach of their own promises, cobtracte and obligatioas, and the forfeitere of all their civic duturs as American frermen, if by all these inge. minus and peacealle devices the collection of the revenues of the United staus within the state of Sonth T'arolina, ran be practically and permanently frustrated, the purpone of nallifieation is accomplished; she asks no thore-the draws no swordshe fasntn at the very sight of bood-whe thinks "the sovegesos'st thing on eath, and as a sorereign state, she will adminirter nothing but parmacity to heal the inward braises of the courtitution. From the principlew announeed by the president In his proclamation, and in his reent mesaraze, and from all the measures of the zovern ment yet adopied it preparation for thix exigency, there is no reasnn to apprehernd that foree will, in the first instance, be used on the part of the t'blted States. Tim detrinniation not to ywild, is a spirit passive in its hature untul aggtension provikea it to action. It endures until summoned to rexiatancer in selfdeferre. In the culloxion of exapperateal paspinns, it is the temper of aggression that always strikys the first buw. Nullifica tion, in assuming the attitude of self defrucn, druitex its own mature: It is essentially aggessive, and will agsnedly find that It can never accomplish its purpose lut by hostile action. $\mathbf{g o}_{0}$ long as it staye its hand, however, the laws of the uthith will lave their excention. The executise milnister of the law performs his duty untul met by the resistance of physleal firce, and unth then the thunder of the ordinance so but a lrutum fulmen. Let the government of the union in all it hranclies manifest the pure, unaggrexwive, but firm and inflesihle teuper of zelf defence, and nullification will vanish like a noslous exhatation before the marning sun.

"Is parinarily for an inward bruise."

Hy the constitution of the U. States, it in provided that the U. Staies shall guarmity in every vtate in this mition a republiean forat of government. The subseribern beli-ve, with once of the most cminent ant vistuons citizens of $\mathbf{8}$. Caroltna, that republi can gev rmment in that stnte, eca-ed, with the ordianice of hullitieation. It ceased, in he ways. "inn minit and in tunth." It ceased evro in form-guvernment ia the voluctorent and administratinn of laws, or it ix a dominion of aubitraty powrr-republisan government is a government of Inws. The governuent hy will, it not repuhiocan governmemt. The constitutions of several of the ntatrs, expres-ly declare the intent of Ib-ir inutitutimn to be, In establivis a government of lawn and not of men. In these linited states, the people, although the true and Irghimato ource of all politioal power, have never exercised the powers of government themselves. Thry delegate power by cmatitutions of government, all under etriet limitations to secure the riglite if the citizen from the opprexilon of arbitrary power. Ithder these constitutions the Irgisintive, the excentive, and the judieial powers are separated from each other, a separation without which, some of them expressly declare, and all tacitly reengaize that thare can be no enjoyment of liberty. They entrust the power of legialation to two co-nctimater nxapmbllep of men, each operating as a rheck upon the othef, and grnerally unser the firtiser cheek of a qualified negative in the chicfese. cutive magistrate. Ench is the eonstitution of the United States. Suelt is the constitution of the state of gonth Cainlina. Thisee eonetitutions are the fundnniental laws of the land, protective of the righta of every indivilual chizen. Vinder thir protection, a convention le avornilled, representing a part of the people of Souil Carolina, but nsaumiug tor reprewent them all-acknowledging no law; affecting the exercise of absolute, Irreaintible, uncontrollable powes, and issues an ordinance annulting the contitution and laws of the Vinited Statee within the atate of Sonti Carolina, commanding the Iegislature of the state to enact lawe un volation of the comstitutan of the wiate; absalving the cituzens of tive atate form the falfiment of turir ferumasem, contracts, and oblgations; and impoonong npon them mattos, wheh they cannut take witheut giving the lie to llieir cunser-uces on the tace of Gim. T'ive converbilon which isnurd thtw malinahce has an exsatence suthosised by the legislatiste; ter a whole year. Afer giving out thas menmoriable ordmance, it indjourns, to mert which it assumises as the rule of action for itseif, th is inversted with the whole socercign puwer af tive perajle of sointin Carolitin pubject to no Imnitatuon but that of turne, and that extending to a whole year. Duting all tisat prifod its authoriily is paranauut to that of the leghsiature, to Une commitutions of the state, to tho constitation of the L'uted states. It poasesses the w tiole pow er of the people-logislative, exicutive, judicial-it may constitute itself a tribunal for the trial of nffender agwilist any ordibance which it may ordan-it may pass sentence fif death tupon any each offender-4t may erect wisisis its liall a metllatine or gibbet, and execute ita own seuteaces by the hand of its ow a president. It has paseed a law, bot only impairing, but nullify ing in express terme the olligatum of cuntructs-it may, by the sume sovereigu power, pawa bulls ot attaindur. ex post lncta law -it anay proscribe the freciom of tin preas, the freedoun of peech, the freedons of conscience-it nay establimh a ruligion, and cwigious inquimion-it biay gratit buties of mobilitv-itha lastly, it may invent all theme powers in its presulent, to have and to hold, and to parreine, to him and the heirs of his body orever. To way that they will hot esercise theme powens is naly to say that they will not thus abuse the power which they ciaiun to possess. It is pure unadulteruted slospotism-despot isin in a angin assembly, superseding the prutection uf the con titution and tbe laws, gularanteed lyy the Dmitrd Slates to evriy tate in the ubion, and to all its clizent. Ihuring the existence of that convention, the government of south ('armitua is not re publican. It has no goverument. It is under the rile of an of ganized anarchy, with a mominal liginlature muboritinate to a awless asvernblage of tyrants, culling themutlves the people of South Carolina.
*Thonasa &. Grimke.

It must eapecially not be fargotten that among the implind, neceasarily implied powers, ciallueal by this eanrention, is that of enacting laws for the United silates-law's paramount evelt to the constitution of the Vmiteal states. To ripeal a law it to enact a law-to nullify a law tw an act of more tramscequant authority. The power competent to rupead is compriont to en. act a law. To nullify a law ta an act of wipurior and paramount authorty. The ordinance of South C'arolina, nulifying in words only within the limita of that state, the whole cnde of re. venue laws of the L'mitell states assithex, in fact, ilie nutlonrity of repealing that whole condr througlunit the IJmipd statpa, It legisates for the while union. Sibbimision to it for one instaut
 With the whale unlon, in rvery one of its staten. T'o call such n syatem anarchy, wonlil the th give it tom mall a name. It is usurpation of the most odiosk charmetcr-u*urpation of one etate over the lawt of twonty-flirse, and brands the state itu'if as well as the Individuala by whon the abourd pretensimi is raised, with the iedelible cloaracter of "cluve ambution varniahed o'er with zeal."

From these pretensions the state of Eonth Carnlins mnat de. sist. The subecrivers have no ilabit titat onlews enconraged ta persevere in them by some falterithg or waknew of concession on the part of the governnient of the IVniturl sitatu*, whe will deoist from them, anil thereby ralivem hersesif from the nhloquy of a desperate stasizale to mbbitice the whone finnuly of lorer staters under the dominion of her own magovernabip wisl. She mita resume her seat in the farmily curclr, fiom witich she has as un advisedly etarted, anil sulunit to the laws, which whe plarrif in establishing, until she can persunde lier awwirbated rimals to conear with her in repealing Ila'in. Of Itaw reastit the wuh seribers entertain not the shglaest donbt, if the cluar and india putable rights af the whole union elaall bo: maintained with lon coming perseverance and fortitude by the gorprhment of the $U$. Staten.

Bet the maberribers have seen with deep regrit that the mea sage upon which it has be en their indispensable duty to animad vert, does in its whole purport relating to the administratiun o the internal affairs of the nation, atid mort ropereally in the recommenilation to congrens grinlasily to widulraw from thi manufacturing establisiminte of the country, with a vagne and indefnite exception, the whole protection of the etisting laws, give an nlarming encouragenient, not only to the innwarrantable proceedlags of the Bouth (Varolina convention, but to the mos extravagant doctrines and outrageenf nilliliculian. Connected with the other effective recommundatione to abandon all futhef purposes of national interaal impenvement, and all future reve. naca from the puble lanste, with the hand of rinin raiked againus credit and earreney, in the denuluciations of the bank of the U, States, and, at the root of all, the prorlamation of the princyule that the wealliy iand-holders, or, In otlor wordn, the slave-hold inf plantera of the soutli, emsitilute the Led purt afthe national population, they can peiceive uollting othor Utan a complete ywtem of foture government for thas union disectly lendiwg to te disesilntion-a matron totally ndverae to thint whicls lias pre railed fom ther establiwhinent of the comatitution, fill tis day of the delivery of the inesaage-a system altogetiver fertional in th: character, wateful of the propenty of the natinn, destructuve to themmeree, withering to ka fatire improvement, hlanting tis and fomking in its ultimate restits to sacritice the Iabof of the

'T'lac atuit som in the momati", that the laws tor the rasing of reventte by inupustin liave berol in thrir opertation nocquat asal wilhout foundiationl. I'ises liave jrisved that by the constitution of the U'bited sitites the jwinculut to espressly recogntard, that as all fyuivalont fur the fortitikg of slase pippesembution in use Hetinlature and the ilectoral collenes, the plave-holders should
 It may low that nuder any fusmble system of tasation, the owner of ataves mas feut the burdon of is more heavily thatil the tirce man, because lue initst pay tim taxey of has slave as well as hie own. All taxation is an awewoulut upon property-all jus taxation bears some proportan th the property int the party tased. If the fich pats of Iarger tax than the pour, itis not shere fore a tax thequal anl opprismive Hpan the rich. The tatioquas taf he that whachexacta trom the jum the dame abount of con bers, two miliutin of maves in thin unhoth. At the averaze value of tlifee limulred dinliura a liead, they consintute a mass of six Inimitred tullintin of sonllare of property, all ownell in the slave loolding atates, who pasover, of may il they please pussess, all other kinds of properiy wlach can be liold in the statave where slavery in fxphimital. Tive zlave-holders, tjerfore, are, as re apecta the whide unmm, the fich, and the fieemen oit the other stater are the poor, uf the combumity: The wave-boldera own is liundred millions ol diollars' wurtis of wwallh suore thall the unhabitante of the wholly firm states. And thie propority is melf pradective. It is noliceval of harren motal, but a hreed uf liswe valum - a lerequl of thewth anal blanal, uf brone anal whew, of pro ductive and prufiable labor. Its ownert bold it wot only as in livilual property, hut an croilectuve praluical potver. ft guelds thens not only the increnar af incrisamig jarpelatron, equivalent in thas eountry to a compmund futel ent ol ibree per cent. year. It yields them int only the finto of all the indaxtry of two miltions inf laman locingy, hut it yrids theni, collectively, twenty five represtritativis in one loraneh of the common legis inture, and upwaids of thirty votpes of iwo himidred and eishty-furn what primeiple of natural justure sif uquty ent the bolifere of than juroperily pretami that they wall not contribite to tte re chisen of the hation, incire ttan the freeman who liotdy no guch property, and éfjays 110 swh representations.

It has bern wren that with a irme propulation of gedo. 000 soula, Firmont srmite to flif national house of reprearettalives obly Ave meinluere, while Sumth t'ambina, with a like jrepulation of popalatuon of 270,906, schits only five. In the year Ikl3, under the thoril census, Virmont and Vow IJamoulure liad each ofs incmbets in the hotise bi represphtatives, and sonth farmina the same nimber to nt prement, and an mlie will lave under the Hew constis, that is, nuife.

In the tirect tav of the year 1 P13, the sum apgortionml to the of Vermont was nonety-fight thomanal three hundred and fortythree dollary mal wevents-ond crat-that ingon the othte of Sunth Enrolina was one Junulred mad fiftrabe thousaind nine houndred and live dobllas and forty-meght eeris.

If the dibcen milliuse of annual reventur, whirh are suppased by the repart on the secrrtary of the treazury tor twe neceseary fur the wanlo of the gevernmient, athd wete prioposed by the report of the conituittee of way* and masas tic lue leverd ne a per maneal revenue, should now be ratsed by A direct tax, the stan to the state of Vertomet wothld a bitile excepl the saune amount. Tire кum apportioned tu the zthtr of אauth Catolina would be apwards of seven hundred and ilty five thousand diblars, very lithe whatt of those of the |wa =lates of New Ilamp,hire and Verthe propile of 4 . tharolina will pay, of filtesen millome levied thy impont, all amsunt approzacling to that wheh will be pand by the peopleaf V'romont ithd of New Itampshire Inintoll? In wirte mhion ouzlet to be tassed either by dirwet tixatoran, of by a sye

 The slave tepresentiation is a jwrmanent unitictintten privilege enjoyt diy the ownere of the slaves. Thr ritivialout for it ongh to if certait $\cdot$ xteut - but the ewhatutntion of them ineteral of di rect taxaion, is beyonil all question favoinlale 10 the slave-hold impoot ifatifa are lisied upon the articlew of cotton, wiol, and wotshens, kilks, flas and liemp, imn, spirits, and moslages whirt, coffer, twa, and sugar. Now, the conatimplion, by any part nf the slave pergitistiom, of any oue of theare artacles when imporled, is excerdingts spalt; instend of Iring in the propmition of three to five in enmparison with that of tlee free White popusation, it is eatininly not in the proportuon of one to ton. If we analyoe the artives upon wlich the great mase on the revelue by jinpmot is raised, we find it to the upon fond and firet kind thus clasilifif; woul, ention, filk, fix, and leather, are of the surond. Nisw, who does not know that the fond and anment of the plave arf almost chitiroly of domestie emwith and production? They are fed upon the iruts, and clad in the apparel produced by their own labor on the phantations to which they belong: It is probable that the ar awners consume mure of the arncles timported frons abroad than an equal number of entizean in the states where all are trec; but if no, th in eather beeause they are more wealthy by the parsession of slaves, or because they are not aceusbunced to habita of frugality so paraluontoun and setf-denging. The pussinns, the vices, and the virtures, of mace, are all modiffed by their coudition ill cavil society. Amoug mea who subeist ouly upon tire frulte ol then own labor, ithduatry and frugality are constantly stutulated by the ttatural and perpetuill impulse of bettering their uwn eondition. Whercver ouse portion ot the commuuty lives in purfictual servitmde to ano. ther, where master and rlave buth subsint upan the labor of the slave, undustry aud frugality not only lose much of therr natural influence upan humau couduct, int are njut even to fort the bame and conisidenathan of virturs. The alave fepls liettier the spur of induetry nur the cub of trugality; liar the fruts an lize industry are not hid own, and his seruinty subsistence beaves litu bothay to spare. 'The master's wauts, puppliced by anotler's toil, muluply with the meaus of gratsicanoh, and lus matural kendencies will be to spend ratlier than to lioard. Alt lahor to hoo will assume the hue and dierepute of mervitude, and frugality to his eves will loze her natural lieattiy blonot, and fate into the instd comalexion of penurmus avatice. Under these oufluences, South Carolina, with a froe winte populatiuu rathef leses than that of New Hampshire, may posstbly, by the consumption of imported articles, contribute rather more to the jublie reve. wes of the uniou: but tive stubscribers have no hesitation in declaring their belief that the difference of auount betweenthm, If awcertained to a dollar, would be found too trifling and insizafficant to warrant a whirper uf coutplaiut; and that it would bear no sort of conuparison to the differtince, disadvantagenas to South Carolna, which would appear by the levg of an equal amount by divect laxation.
Titere is then, meither injustice nar oppression upon south Caroliua, uor upon the soustiern portion of the union gencaally, resulting from the collection of the matuonal reventes, by dutues of ituposi-hor if it true that south Carolima has suffered iun poverishment under thas wstem of taxation, in conjuarison with New Hampelire, Verment, or New England zencrally. Ur chis the unatiswerable demonstiation is formad in the same fact of relatse representation in congress, under the succepsive enumerations of thu people. In 1813, under the third census, the represeutauon of south Carolma in this house, coniri-ted of anue membern-that of Veamont wan eix, that of New Hanpehias six. C'udet the tast census, $S$. Curblua retains for the nest ten years the zame vumber of nine urmberef New Hansp slure only four, anil Vernmat andy tive-Newellanijoliare and Verunont wave tiun lent vach onc member on the flow of the res presentative hall, while soontic Catohna bas retanced her num er untupaised. Tise telanve nicreare of tise population of South Cariman inas thereione, for the lant twenty y carn, been greater than that of Vermout or New Hamperare, and let it be remembered, that in zonth Carolma, thie strefease of population is at the same tume in the nust latoral sense, nu fucrease af wealtb. T'loere, population is properiy, and tie bucrease of that part of the populatuon which is the property of the remaioder, has been in larger propurtion. The plavim lave tuul ciplied nume rapidly than their unasters. T'hus altogether, for the last twenty yeane, the propulnawa and the wealth of the people of suuth Carohina has itucreased more than thuse of Verinont or of New Haupshire, and this is the result of the aysten of impont, which the politicat econoonista of the new echuol would teach us to belotve is indiding the aouth to dust for the benelit of the north, and fattennus the New klanipsine farner, and the wheplerd of the firceu Mountans, upoutho apoits of the South Carciza planter.

In examituing the part of the nuessage wpecially referred by the bouse to Wre conntintee of mantufactures: namely, that which related to the protection necessary to dotnestic manufactures, the wubscriliers have uecewsarily been led out only to an examinatuon of the priuciple lud down, as the bmis of the recommendasoos, relacing to this particular interowt, but to a general survey of all the foundatuons of the new systern of goverament for this uaiun, the outhine of which is presented for the first time in tbis docutnent. They have considered it as a whule of which all the parts are ardapted to each other. As a whole, which, if carried into execution, would change the nature of the goverinment of the United statee, and in their betsef, at no distant day, effect its dossolution. The aseturupton of the principle, that with the exception of artucles of indiapravalite necessity in time of war, all Ireislative protection muri ultimately be withdrawn frotn domeatic mannufactures, the eubscribers believe to be thseif contrary til the vital ppirit of the constitition, and equivalent to a bill of attander, mut against out individuat, but againat a whole, reapectable, and most inopurtant class of citizens-tha deninl to them of a right recured tis them by the social eompact of the constitutuon itself. And this numimed principle appenars to us the tuore exceptionable, inasmuch as it is the identical pnnciple awsumed by the nullifylug faction of South Carohna, and had but too inanifent a tendency to encourage them in the volent and unconstifutional nicusures by which they were, at the very monisent when the message was delivered, arming the worse than eastern despotism of state sovereignty, against that sane right of the chisen th the prutection of the lawi. Had it stood by Itself, the rheonmmeodation gradually to withdraw from the manafactures the protection of exiating laws, would have appeared incapaiderate, and at the moment when made, most usseasouable. But conpled as it was, with recommendations totally to abundon atl future purposes of titurnal national itnprovernent, tu five away without equavalent tie tumeneely valuable property in the public lands, and to macrifice with the nationat loank, ali the popenty of the nation, in corporate eodspantes for roads and canala: und the whole sywten evanatuig Irom a speculative theory of pointical morality, pronouneing tha wealthy Jand-bolders ut every conntry the best part of their popitiation, the subscribers could ncitber divguige to theumetves, hor would they, consiatintly with the wenve of their dutiea to their country, withhold the esposure of Ilien conviction that, tako+u altogetior, it presents a decounposition of all the eloments whiols foold this unon together-an array of great interesta aguinst each other, inntead of a combinatun, by mutual concosplith and Hutual support of great iuterests, in union with eacls whlter. 'The plantur of the south. the aew settler of the wert, the fusbandiuan of the nortis nud centre, the merchant of the Atlantue shore, the navigator of the ocena, nod the artisan of the woikaloop and the lonm, bave each, in his several sphere of action, a sejpurate and distinct interest, but a common right, a combun stake, a cosmbun pledge in that great social cumpact, the constitution of the línitrd siatas. All are equally entuleal tu its protcclion, and to that of its laws. To bind, to interwease, to rive them in adisesion inseparably totether, is the duty of the American patriot and statesmana to brimg one of thore gieat iuterests io hostile crilssion with nif or suy of the others, is to lousen the bonds of the uniou, and to kiadle the fires of wirife. $\boldsymbol{A}$ souud, unthatin and necroalted currency; an mestaustithle and invaluabile fund of conmonon property in the pthblic lands; an orgatited and effictave applicanon of the nathomal coergies and resoutreet to great andertakings of internal improvement; and a firm, ptictent protection of commerce and havightion against the nfin nit loreign violener, and of manufactures and agriculture againat the indarect atgeresions of foreagh legislation atd competitum:-theae the subscribers belteve are the centents, which can alone tetuder thos union prosperous and tastime. T'o disemmpone and unsertle the currency, to cant awny the treanure of the public lands, to aturndun all enteiprises of internal improvement, anil symentatically to deny alt prntection to the donaentic manuactures, is to menate the groat interesta of the enuntiy, nnil to set them in opposition to each otiser. It a to untie the tigaments of the univit.
The mbecribers, with the mout respertful consideration, hut with the fruedom which their sunse of daty requirus, cannot but induige the hope that the antion of the meanage will reeonbider the principles upon which its recommeudations are founded, and revirev them upin a sale of mine sularged political philnaophy than that of favoritism for one pait of the population (o) the ilimparagement of alf the rext; or that of reducing the go vernusht of a nation, swelling from tens to hundreats of mill trons of goverimala popusiation, to n simple machine. To solve civil mocluty into its elementr, is to send baek man to the atate of uaturt; it is to drigrade the citizen to a zavnek.
The subscribers belicve that this great confederntral union is anl unfon of the pcople, an union of ptatcs, an union of zreat mational interverts; an uniun of all classer, conditions, and oce cirfations of men; an unlon eo extensive with our territorial dominions; an union for succensive ages, without limitation of thac. They read io the preamble to the constitution, that is was oltained and eatabllathed by the people of the $U$. Statert among other groat and noble purposes, to secure the bleasinge of libesty to themselves and their posterity. As sovereign siates have no posterity, they are incumpetent to enter into any such compaet. Thie peojle of the United gtates in ordaining the conrtitution, expressly bound to its obectvance their posterity as well as tienselves. 'Their pooterity, that in, the whole people of the Lutted states, are the only power on earth competent to diswolve peaceably tiat eoupact. It cannot otherwise be dissolved, but by furce. IBut to make it perpetuat, the first and uanscendaut dinty of all, who at anty tume are called to partief pate in the councils of lts goverument, is to barisouise and not to divide, to co oprrate and uot tu conflict.
The most reunarkable characterintic of the contmversy, which now tlireatens the dissotution of the union, is, that it originated in the diaroutent af oue areat protecfed interest, with the profecion estended by the exinting laws to another. 'The controversy is sectiounal itu ita naturc. It in the snperabundantly, the excensively protected interest of the south, which revolis at the feeble and scanty protection of the laws enjoyed by the north, the ceutre, aod the west. To inflame these discontents, and to arm then with offesive weapunc, sophisms which reason blusties to be called to confute, are wronght up into axioms of politieal econamy; fiction usurpa the place of fact, to invert the most authenicated story of our national independence, Constriction minlifies the connection between words and their ineaning tu make the constitution way what it denies, and deny what it says, and inveotion is boggared for talen of decay and desolation and poverty und distress, in the south, in the face of an increasing retntive reprasentation in this house, and a doubling anount at onee of ponustasion and property. The mouthern pianter is told that duties of impast are pail, not by the consunter of the dutied articles, but by the producer of cotion, rice and Inbaceo. What is the purpoag of this absurdity? To stimulate his aelfish and sordid passion of avaricc, and his hatred of the northern nanufacturer. It is not true, but his anti-socin! pasilons belipve it. He is told that this uulon is a mere confederacy of states-of sovereign staifs, from which any one of them may break off at pleasure. This ts grossly, palpably false, and to bolster it up the inot notoriuns hidatorical facts are falsith. ed. He te tolld that rach of the states of the union separately delared ituelf soveretign and Indepemient, and as bave untruth, is nut of uteelf suthernt tis hear ont thas suposture, the chunty of Moeklenthrg is metathopplamed into the stiverrign and in-dep-ndent ntate of Nurth Confolina, to atainp thr legend of the aterling etaisdatd upon the base mirtat of nullifieation. The eterling standard upont the hawe mifal of nulification.
 the uniuh, speaking in the lliat person, declare thunatives parties t" is; declare themwelves to ordain and establofit it tior the most exalted parposen of thuman action, mon this wide the grave - even to mecure to themectives and to that poterity, the Mresinga of hisenty. The planter is inld that these are idle, unucamug, cahalisweal words-tivat there in no perpple if the United states. That the paper called the conatitutuen of the United statest, in a leagne of dempotic ecirpurations, which can have no poxterity to whoun the blesxinge if tiberty may tre se-enred-whels baving no monl, ean thave no dread lereafter of the pronaltes of volated vown, and can never be excommuni-cated-which having no conscience, can be bound by $n$, tire legntinns- Free from all resticictions, liuman or divince, indepen dent of all laws of the land or of heraven-anvereign an the throne of Dminipotenec, and cumpertent to unllity not only the lawe of the whole wnion, bit the minalienalitet rights of man and the derrees of elernal jotitice. He is #ubstantially tuhl all thi-, and tw bethoven it.

Ile is then iold tiont lie is pane, and miserable-that tite plantathen is going to ruin-tiant his shaver dothte their netmbers in not less than iwenty yearm-titat thev are not wuth liaif an mach as they were when cuttons suld lior thitity cinals a promal. That in south Cemrolios they cannot produce lialt so mucti as In Alahisoa, Mrwissipgui, or l, nui-tann. ISt that it is all owinge to the accursed tariff-all owing to the protestion of nortiorn. mannfactures by the lawe of the miton. Ifre is told that the tariff take money frum the pooket and puts it into that of the morthern manufncturer. He is tald that the nothern mantitfieturer in a thief and a robber-atud that it is upon him, the planter, that his roblerien aro commuted. Ile is told that a ernel, tyrannieal, opprewsive majority in both limases of congrese ans the ropresentatives of that hishwasman of the norththat they pervert tie very puncijurs of popatar rrparsputation to the purparea of appression and rohinery-that they dare nob opell sheir leparts to the sritiments of justice and humanity. He us thild alf this and he helieves it.

And beltold the whole Giundatinn of the enperatructure of mullification. Filsified lozic-falesfied history-lalsified con-atfied and slanderous iniputations, upon the nughritios of both honses of congress fur $n$ long norion if years. Alt-all is false and holfow. And for what is this encumoes enlifiee of fraud and falseliond erceted? Th ruh the free warking man of the and falkelinad rrefted?
porth of the wages of lisis labor-to take money foom his pocket and put it into that of the southern owner of machit. nery. It lian luern said that there is no plithoophie latseliond so abeurd, but it has been maintained by some sublime plitiosopher. Surely there iv no invention $n spasideas, th fietion an haveleas int so base, lint it has been maintaned by yome learnul intellizont, aniable anil virtnous, but exaaperated and brwil. dered atatr-binan. Nor wan there frer in the annalo of mankind 5 example of a combunnity fretted into inadness and goaded inth rmbillioh, by a cellucertinl and persevering clamor of grievancen en totally dextitute of fonndation, and pretences so greponterowsly fictituus, an that which has fonged its consummathin in the nublitying ordinasee of the south Caroina convention.

In the name of the penple of South Carolina, that ennvention have dectared, that they will upver mure autbit to a protertive tariff-and to pharee beyond all doutt what they mean hy a protectuve tanff, they have nitliticd, biat is, dectared null aind vord, all the reventre law of the t'nlied states. I'liny have, to the extent of their power, cxtingumehed all the reveluory of the United states derived from dution uf impment. To nullify the protection of the laws imparted th their fillinw citizcus, constituting more than half the population of the milon, they have abolished the revenues of the nation. They have in express terine decln ed on long as the priuclptien of protection whall he recoenised by the laws of congrpas, "ton mone taxia srather paio here," that is to say in South Carolina.
Gmith Cambina, then, liv virtue of her anvercign power, has deprivel the peoplu of all the rest of the union of the protection of existing lawat and athe his deelared that slie never more will pay her proportinn of the inxea, not rven of the taresimpoeed oor reverne alnne, untul the princleste of protection, that is of protection hy the imposition of dutioes, shall be renouneed-renouneed forever. In their theary, the Soubh Cambina eonven. tion maken an all-Important di-tinetion hetween dutios imponeed for revene, and datiea improard for protertion; but in thelr furaetien, they involve them all in one eonmon ruin.

Now, the subweribers eannot ellppress the mortification and alarm with whieh, nt the very motuent when the arm onf one of the statea of this unimn whe thus raised, proctaining with a vilee of thrnder her inflexible purpose to otrike a vital blow at the reght, the firmi ronatitutional right of more than half the people of the nulon, in protertion -essen th the protection of existing taw - that at thi perculiar moment, the ehiaf magis. trate of the IJnited States should have addressed to the legista tive councils a meseage, reeommending not only a gradual withdiawal of all that protection, butt a whole system of miministraHon for the fusure goverumint of the whinn, adapted to that primelple of willidriwn aud nallified pentection-a system revolutuonary in its character, totally departing from all the pathe of puace and propperity troiden by Waklungion and all his stacpessorim, down even to hin who now calls tis to deviate from them; ti explore new wastes of desulatinn, beyond whish there Is no prouined land, but all is one unbounded and intrrininable dreert-a syarmi inpending with universal ruin, diaining alt the sonrces of terulity frmin the fountans of internal national iotprovement, shaking to ith fousdation all commerrial conddence, by the deternuned annihilation of the bank, and wresting Iotever frum the peofile of the United States and from their postrrity, fur unnumberrd ngex, the mestimatile inheritance of the public landa, bequeathed to them by timir fathers, or acquired at the expente of their own toil and treapnre, ata a proferty corumon is them all, and already yielding them yearly Wlituns of licome, whech may be, and ought to br, applied to the pmployment and comprnsation of the laborives poor, and at the sanw ture to the germanent and growing unprovement of the contition of the peaple.

Nuch, it the nplision of the subseribers, ts the protection due to domestic manufactures- to the interest specially committed, by the standing "rder of the homse, to the charge of the commulfee iff wilich they are inembers. 'The pmotection necessary to domentic soannfartures io the proterition of the existing laws. It in the frutection extenden, though in other forms, in all the bither great interpets of wheh the commanity is emmposed-the protection enjoved hy the planter of the salith, by the wondsman of the wirst, lay the merchant of the popalous rities, by the mariner of the aras-prithetion from fortign hostulity-proteetuon from foreign competturn.

But the subarribers must not be misundervtnod. This proteetion is in to wise ineompatitie with a reduction of the revense, not even with a reductitn of the duties by Impost. The taxation of the cusntry nay be rediced to the waints of the governinent, at whatever scule the etnndard of these wanss may be fised by the wistam of congiess, without at all impairing the prineipie of pintection. The two priuciplos have no necessary conncexion whit eaclt otheri and all this bitter eontroveray has arisen froen the blenling of them improperly together. That the Laxation of the country ought now to be reiluced the subseribers do not belin:ve, breamse at the present moment the treavury, so far from overtowing, is dratned of more than its last doling. Breanse the tanit act will nut, in tivir opillont, bring any excess of revein into the treasury, at least for the two succeeding years; and ir esen the prospert of nuch an unesampled evit ahould approanh, the nexi congress will be Invested wath ample gowers to ward a uff, and will ecrtainly not be slow to exert thein. Nothing ean be more fallacious than the fancy that uecean eontrol the action of our successirs upon subjects over which their Jurisdietion will le the same as ours; with this exception, that theirs will be inf full vigor, and ours forever extinct. It is not for the dead to give laws to the living. Prospective Iegistation upon the most uncertain of contingencies, if not abeolute usurpation, is akis to it In the imfintence of itn claims. It is the broken column and mulliated itmeription of etenval Rose. If the time should cone when even the prospect of a redundant treavury shall be imminent, tasation ought to he, and undontedly will be, redoeed; and in wducing its amount, the oblggations of congress witt be to accomplish that onject without injuriousty affecting any of the great intereeta of the country. That thit cannot be done by one unifurm ad valorem duty of any given per eentage upon all inported articles, is certain; nor can it withsut great injnstice be cffected by discarding afl discrimination, cxespt that of artieles charged with luspost, and articles entirely free. Nothieg ean be moic unequal and oppressive in taxation, than the assessment of the same ratcs of duty upon all dutied artieles. Ita firzt inequality is ite bearing upon the rich and the poor; the same tas. wheh is unfeli by the wealthy land-bolder, inay erush to the earth the daylaborer whotills his gronnd. Its next inequality, is that produced by foreign legislation and foreign competition. An artiole of foreign manufacture romes into your market cheapened by a bounty upon Itsexport, at the place whence it eante; it comes in competition with a like article, the production nf your own soil of of yont nwn industry; tux it at the aame rate of pet centage upon its value, as you do in article upon the production of which none of your own entizens have staked their fortunes and sebisistence your own evizens have staked their fortunes and subsistence, and you conanme all your manufactures with fire. It may be taken as a rule of universal application, that with a uniform rate of ad valorem duties, without discilinination, there pan be no domestic manufarturing cetablishments. This is the protertion which they now enjoy by the constitution and existing laws of the United states. This protection the subscribers believe to be Indispensably necessenry to their existence, and its withdrawal by the general goverument, whether iminediate of by gradual alep ${ }^{\text {a }}$, leaves them only the metancholy aternative of indden death, or alow and lingering extinction. In rither event, it will he the sarrifice of all the free Indnetry of the union to that beat part of the popalation, the wealihy land and slave-holder of the south. Thin in the policy recommended by the message of the president of the United States, and againut which the subscribers, as memhers of the commitsee of manufartores, in submitting this their report to the honse, deem it their duty respeetfully, but most earnestly to remonutrate.
J. Q. ADAMA.

LEWIS CONDICT.

NILES' WEEKLY REGISTER.

Foumth akriss.] No. 14-Vol Vili. BALTIMORE, JUNF, 1, 1833. [Vol. XLIV. WhoLe No. 1,139.
THE PAST-THE PRESENT-TOR THE TCTUHE.

 ware, to be secretary of state in the place of Edward Livingston, appointed mumister to France.
Hilliam J. Dwane, of Prnnsylvania, to be scerctasy of the treasury, in place of Lous Mclane, appolnted secretaiy of tate.
pherard Livington, late of Loulsiana, to be envoy extraordi. nary and minister pienipotentiary of the United states to the court of his majes 19 , the king of the French.
Thomar Pennant Barton, of Penissylvania, to be secretary of the legation of the United states at Parim.
(It is stated, that Mr. Livingston, will proceed to France in the Delaware 74, eapt. Ballard, bound for the Mediterrancan, If whe can be prepared In time.
It is again reporied that Mr. Stevenson, of Virginia, Iate apeaker wilt be appointed minister to Englanil.
By the arucles inserted in another page, it appears that many changes bave been, of are, contemplated at Wasiuugton.]
"Jonk Rasvocra," of Roanoke, died in Phitadelphia, at noon, on F'ruday, the 24hb ult. Ile wan botn on the od June, 1773 , and, consequently, wixily yeare old, less af few days.
He was exceedingly eunaciateri-but this uind retained its usual character untal within two hours of his alisenlution. It then appeared to sink, and suffer, like the body, comptete exhanetion." He arranged his temporal affaire, and direcied that bis corpee ehould be Iransported to Roanoke, and buried under a partieular tree.
It is said, that the property left by him is worth a million of dollars; and reported that the nade provisiou for the emancipa. sion of all liss alaves, and for the suppont and management in those who are either too old of ton young to mke care of thein-melves-and added, that he left a handrome legacy to Mr. Kandolph, fate lieutenant in the navy;* but belleved that the chief part of his entase will deacend to his two lulf. brathers, and one half-sister. The mueds valued judgn T'ucker is one nf these.
On the day atter his decense, a large meeting of the citizen of Pluladelphin was held in the disirict court tocm- Judge 1/op. diseon was called to the chair, and col. J. G. Watmongh sp pointed secretary.
On motion of John Sergeant, eaq. who made a forcible and eloquent address on the characier and abilities of the deceased, committee was appointed to confer with the personnl friends of the late John Randolplt, enq, with the view of making ar ramgements for offering a public tribute of respect th his remains. This motion wae supported by Horace Binney, esq. in a apeeeh of some length.
The motion was unanimously afopted by the merting, and the following named gentiemen were appolnted the eomumitere, viz: Nicholas Buldlu, Samurl Breck, Joserph Ifenphull, II. W'uling, C. J. Ingersonl, James Itrown, 6: M. Dallas, g'n. T. Cadwallader, John G. Wataough, Judge Hopkineon and Hormee Binney.
A eorrespondence was opencd on behalf of the committee with John S. Barbour, Henry E. Wothins and HILtiam J. Burkseille, esquirre, $\dagger$ requeriug therr views as to may tribute of respect that might be offered to the remain of the deceaved. The latter feelingly acknowledged the compliment tenderod-but declined the acceptance of any other mark of respect, bucause of the delay that in wimbl canse in removing the bonly: and, in the ensung day, it was recerved in Uultimure, and neat oll to Virginia.
The papers are filled with noticees of the dralli ant whetrhes of the eharacter of Mr. Rivpol.pir, aud wr- lonve also repertio of the remarkn of Mysays. Serzeinf and Dinney at lise inevitive of the people atoove inentsmed. We intend to record soanc of the'm.

Bavk of tur. U'vited Stites. We nict a friend a few days since in the metert, whin slated, fin the ennse of a cassal anl lorief comversation), that the evilranges of the bank of the United States, marle withant charge, in cheeks drawn, or [farvigu\} banh nutes recivetl. amounted to more that one humived million of slollars fres annum. We thmught nurselva pivity well inforficil as to the magnitude of the nu-rations of this ratablishment, and fully knew that is firilitios, sfformal in cisehanges sul remittances, saved ins acteral buntral dole lars a year-but the greatnees of lime man narned causcal us to express a belief that the gentlomata hat mistuken, or misundermoon, the amount. (\%n which lie said, that he wouls obtain a eopy of the whole statguent which had been marle of the "exchange transactions" of the bank, during the laat year-and hand it to us.

* Of the Ifanis of these arayny and reports we know nothing.
+ Who happened to be in Platadelptata, and acted as the mots ymanefiate frimndy of the decrased.

Such is the "history" of the paper annexed, which, we believe, is copied from certain of the documents that were laid before congresa"-and, perhaps, has alivady been publislied; though we do not recollect to lave seen it before. But whether or not, the facta set forth are of deep interest to the people of the United States, because of the astounding truth presented-that values to the mmonnt of $$ 9+1,714,912$, were exchanged by the bank of the E'nited Stateg in 1832, at about the average rate of onecleventh of one per cent-or say, winety cents on every thousand dollars of the whole sum; and thut, of the above mighty amount, about $$ 120,000,0000$ were exchanged without any charge for premium: and, the avcrage premium on the remaining 120 millions leing less than one-fifth of one per cent. shews that a large part of thia amount must, also, huve been negotiated without charge; but the fifth of one per cent, is a rate that would not nearly have insurad the sansrry of the mails, and puid the Extan rostaise, if bank notes, insteid of drafs, had been transmitscd.

Our own litule business, [in, publishing the Renisten] rembers us able to spuak of this matter in a very positive manner, for we lave more or less subseribers in every state aall tertitory in the union; and the truth is-to say mothing about extra postuges on double, treble and quadruple letters-that two per cent harily pays the sharings exactel of us by the brokers, on the bank notes rcecivel by us-exeept those of the bank of the United Stutes and its offices, buch as are issued in Mary land, and in the cities of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Richmonil, only; for, whltough the iasues by eertain other local banks in Virginia, Dela ware and Pennsylvania are freely received by the Jhaltimore banks in deposite, or freely circulated in Haltimore, they are not sufficient to bring down the average amount of shavings juid to leas than alout tavo per cent, on account of all other bank notes. Tlicre is no manner of doubt concerning thia faetfor, though the lills of inost of the banks in the United States are just as gooil, "at home," as those of the Baltinure baiks are to us-they may be ouly as merchandise [o us] , and inust be reduced into money, for use: for we וever juy delets to our working people, or others, in "money," or curreney, which the baker, and butcher, and groccr, will not receive of them-at par; and henee are conucllesl to sell hank notes received, as atated above.
We sece that the average of all the exchanges, properly so called, of the bank of the United States, in 1832, was ouly onc-cleventh of one per cent. or 90 cents on every 1,0.0 dollars, exelaanged: that is, for drafts issued on, or fain), at "forcign" places, or on account of "forcign" Lank nutes received on deposite. Coulal a more moderate ratio be desirvel ${ }^{3}$ And for this eleventh of one per cent. the goothesss of the money remitted is rendered eertain -the sulicty of the nails insurcd-its use by the indiviIlal fom whom it is intended male almost positive-and a large amount in postages suved. For thin is the practice of the bank: its drufts are made payable af one day's sight-lant always puid on presentation, when surely offeral by inersus wo whom they belong; the postage on a draft of $50,(k 6)$ or 500,000 dollars is 110 maore than on the renittance of a one dollar bank bill; and the "one day "s sight," with nen doing business in a regular manuer', not only rembers a robbery of the mail, (if one should hajpi+in) usiless tu the roblere, so firr as the dian is con-corncd-hut if the person who actually receives it, by any aceident losea it, though even endorned, he may ar rest its payment and regain its amount, hy making the fiet known to the bank on which it is drawn-for that bank or office is furnished with daily lists of all the drafts thut'are made upon it, for the security of all partics. And by such saff, and beantifin, and cheap opriations, we sec that $241,717,912$ dollars were tranisferred from places to places, in the last year.

We wince anderatand, that it ia copied from a shatement that was made to the senate.
There is a siluplicity and aremgth in these facts, which must elaim the admiration of every me that will refiect a moment npon them; and a harmony and uscfulness which cannot escape the notice of any man, willing to receive knowledge.
State institutions, however corrretly manager, cannot carry on these exchanges, unless nt a much higher rate of preminm, which woulif atso be remetered roore unoertain as to its price, or in the extent to which it might procevd-for reasons that will appeat nanifest to every pernon who is at all aequainted with the nature of exeluangrs. To manage then pruilently, cheaply, and safely-licy sunst lie regulated by one common head, having a collected infurmation of the supplies or wauls of particular places; which is known, with all possible aceuracy, at the parcut hank in Philadelphin, beesuse of the correct werkly returns which are made from its numeroms offices; ant, withont such knowledge, these heary exchangen coadd not be regrlarly made- 10 one, wishing to remit money, could cither calcinlate the time or the cost of it, with that certainty which is so impurtant in all mereantile transactions. The local banks have large dealings with one another; but, with the thest aceommonlations which these could afforv, it might require several operations though a bank in New Orfeans to place funds at Portland, or Buffialo, each of which wonld be uttended with sonic risk, beside's the extra trouble ineorrest-requiring, peathaps, fiom three to five drafts, in many cases, to pass the money to its destination-causing also emisiderahly inereased expenses, and muelt delay. The interclanges of currency, on acconint of the circulation of valucs in the United States, are of mighty amount-some thonsants of millions a year. The exclanuges of the bank of the Liniten States, as statell in the talile lislow, gon's only to shew the operations of that paticular bank, it what, we belicve, are geuerally callea "forvign" excluanges-that is, exelanges of personal da afts, or bank bitls, payable at other places than those in which they are reecived: and when to these we add the exclangers of inulividuals within the statex, or throught the local banks, and otherwise, wee catmot doubt that the aggregate "circulation of valu:s" is thouands of millions, annually; all which are regulvtel, more or less, by the bank of the United States, as a great "halance wheel."

We think that the "cirenlation of valucs" has been doubled in the abominable and oppressive tariff years-or since 1824; and have, while writung this artiele, taken the liberty to make an inquiry on that sulbjeet. It shall be added-if reeeived in time. We, in Baltimore, had "no sort of iilea'' of the value of the trade of the Clissapreake bay, in seasons of business, until its surface was covered with British vessels, and its shorrs ravaged by motern Goths and Vandals-so the people of the United States will only obtain a rightful know ledge of the value of of an excited indastry, in the loss of such excitementin seeing deserted fields, dilapidated factories, abandoned houses, and owl-tenanted villages. The increased circulation above alluded to, equally interests the pronilest eapitalist and the humblest laborer. It benefits every human being within its range-whu posscsses or propuces vater. This prinep,le cannot be contested-but time is not allowed, nor is the opportunity fitted, to go into an explanation of it, for sueli as may require it.-Business-med have no neeil of it. The reriest dolt that sells or tinkers a pot, ought to know the differenes: between rapinl anil slow exchanges of values; and that money ${ }^{-}$is rapid or slow in its exelanges, in exact proportion to the prosperity or adversity of the United States.
There is nothing more olear, in our estination, than that the vastly inereasell interior trade and comnnerce of the United States imperiously demanda, (and mual and wIIL have), some certain and well knowil medium for earrying in on. $\dagger$ The shape that it may assume, or the
"The word "money" is bere used, na meaning coin, or a carrency which may be exchanged for coin-at pleasure: not such lespes of paper as are spokun of below.
t'The Gilobe, however, says-"Nehihvr the president ant vice president will ever favoi a national bank. Buth unite in the optaton that the state benke tnay be put ou such fooung by name by whiel, it shall be called, are of linte import-wiee to the people, in gene ral mice to the people, in gene ral. There meter will be a "poor man's bank," as isliot-politicians have proje eted; and it in madness to entertain the idea of converting those who want to borrow money, into lenders of money, or enrrency: Such was the hot-but of the paper money manufuctories which so grinvorsly nbomeled some gcars ago, in very many of which noore erimes against property were committed than by all the iunuates of the thickest peopled of oar penitentiaries; mid persons who deprestated by twenties of thousands of dollars, rolled in their coachers, and were "elothed in purple and fine liuen, and fared sumptuonsly every day, while poor wretches who had transgressed to the vulue of a loain or a hat, a bushil of eom or m pair of shoes, were loeked up within four liigh walls, and, elothed in prison garments, fed apon measured allowances of the coarsest fousl. The amonut of all the depredations of wll the highreaymen and robbers, pichpockets and thevers, black-bçs and professional hinuves Lhat lave existerl in the United States from the first settlement of the eountry to the present lay, is but as a "drop in the bucket," compared with the swindlings that wro eontrived, concoted, or administ red in the mushroon "rag shops" alluded to. We woulil uex "Inck clarity"-we think that we could assixt to drag "old Satan, himself," out of a ditelh, if bemired in the prarsuit of an innoencrus objeet, (adtnitting that the devil ena ever be in liarnaless inood), but never had, nor can have, any sort of sympathy with, or feeling for, guargs offolelilerate speculator--remorbeless as the handit banils of the Appemines, and such as conumencenl loms of what they called monyy, without even the means of lonestly paying for the plutes nith which they stamped the paper that they issuct! These gangs-whose spoliations cost the produetine classes of the conmanity thuntrods of millions of dollary," would newer lonve shewcol their brazin fiont, loud any just anel reasouable approsimation to an- 'exipong evenesry" existed lin the United states. What han been, may bee: we revert to a recollection of these times wilh ineffuble disgnst; and deprecate their reenrrenee as mish as we should unother " $n$ liskey insurrection" in P'entsy Ivania-or a "going to the death for his sugur," with "general Hamiltnt, contcmanding the state trotym of south Carcelinu, at Charteston!" The memusst and the worst of mankind that abound, are those who engender conspiraciea to injure honest men-sueh, for example, as those at New York, who are charged with having fi undendy nhtained a copy of the inessage of the presidemt of the United States in anlvaner, amil acting unou the kurnuledge (thus gained) of its contents, urafficen in the sock in the bank Such indiviluals ouly want the poor nerrit of contage, to becouse highway uen, or piekporkets. $\dagger$ the atale leginlatures, an to become safe deporitories of the public funts and rapable of acremaplowhing all the beneficial meutts, asciblud by the friends of the bauk of the Uuited states to that inth"utin."

And the Pennsyleanian adds-The idea flung out that the adminstratisin favored the location and extablishincent of a great mational hank at New Yopk, is all nuwoushine. State banks and statr rights will he brought into play again-comeolidation and nullification will bite the dust.

- Direcily and intirectly. The profite made thy the speculitors, though of Iarge ammant, were inconsiderable when compared whit the efficts which followed from the derangements of bushimex, and interferences with the value of property, caused by prutlogate nis ves of paper.

TThe class of mea th whom this charge appliew, will give the erefit of it to a i-tier-writer for the Richmond Finguirer, whon, relating the outrage combuntird on the pervon of the prestulent of the Unitvi Biaten, at Alesandria, sand-" ${ }^{29}$ A pereon spprnaeherf the president, and, tendering his hand, observedGraeral! if you vill promise to repriere me, 1 will merden тия Dastain! Mach allowance meit be made for the exeiteaiest of the moment. Had we been prearnt, we shonid not, perinaps, have leesituted in ath attetupt th take hold of Mr. Randolph, without a calculation of conscquewes; but this propnsed
 "mतapr. ${ }^{\text {m }}$ is the "cap.rheaf" of all the thing, of the wart that we have met whit and it must be hoped that the presslent wonld have inntanily resented the eromes indiguity offered him(an ievtigaty greater, iunar opimon, thau Rawdofph humself bad inflieted), except to be excused in the ewn excitement at the time; of a pronupt cunclusion that the permon addressing thim knew not what he said-which, probably, was the case, in the rush of his feelings. But that such a fact should be coldify

We ought frequently to look back, and see how things have been.
The mass of the people cannot have any other interest in banks, than that they shouln be prudently and honestly conductel. The proportion of those who hollh a greater amount of bank stock than of muney which they awe to banks, is hardly as one to twenty doonsan! of even highly respectatble farmers, lealcrs and mechanics of the United States. In the presont state of society it semis almost universally sulmitted, that bunks are inetixpernandily necessary; and it is self-luty in the many, (benefitted by the establishment of banks;, to take care that the power given to the few, is not abusect-and prevent, so liur as they can, by the inoral power or politieal inflnences which they possess, all sorts of sprectatioxsor (iAMBLINGis, in the stocks of banks, or minuses of their credit or funds: for the many, in the long run-nay, those who live by the labor of their own hands, must finally be the suffercrs because of such speeulatious and ganblings, or momopolies or misusces of funt--if real losses are sustuined; because that labor is the only means by which vulue is created. If ore dealer in stuck "makes" 10,000 dollars on his sales, and another loses that amount-the people may not be injured, except so far as suel, dealings have an influence over public morala; but if, by other operations, the currency is suldenly contracted, or expanded, or monopolisel-a public injury eusues, and all persons within the range of such operatious ranst feel it, in one way or another. It is a serious ipuestion for politieal ceonomisto-whether the expansinu of our currency, in the mere wastu and prodigulity which it caused, when specie parments were snspenied during the war of $181 \%$, ge. hatl not a more ruinous cffect upon sooicty, at large, than the contraction of the currency when specie pasments were resurned. The lnst, to be sure, was the most easily seen in the bankruptey of teus of thousands of worthy men, and the desolation which it caused-but the supersbumlance of what passed for money was the origin of the wide ruia that prevailed, when the value of paper came to be elosely tnrusured by the vafue of coil.
These brief remarks are sinply offered to shew the lively and deep interest which every working or dealing man has in the steauliness and solvency of ture currency. If a bank fails-a large part of the loss fulls upon those who had no personal interest in its stock-who hail never, direetly, made oue cent of profit out of the bank; for it is the "aim and end" of the herd of speculators, When they cannot gather profits for themselves, is to cast forescen forses upou inmoeent anal ignoramt persous. And instead of individuals being "hanged on a tree," "fitiy eubits high," for such depieelations, they rather obtain an enviable reputation as good financicts, shrewd managers, and thrify new!
To return to our subjeet. It seems very generally adlmitterl that we nust have some estal) lishment, capmblate of continuing the juresent exehange operations of the hank of the Unitell SLates, nod of presersing miformity in the curreney, so far as the same is practicablle-and the momentous questioi is Ineacnterl, zohether the present bankof the Unuled States, woith some mad fications of its charticr, ahall be continuedtor a now one built up. This matter was elearly presented to the minul of the late Mr. Rlandolph; and, without retiring fiton his constitutionsl olsjeetions to the bank, he hat iewolsed to support a rellewal of its elarter, in the real or supposed neceasity of such an institution, and a well-grounded appoliension that the establishment of a neze banik woulal he attendenl with other anal greater evils, luan can possilily ensine from contimiing the old eve.

That Mr. Randolph, was right in this resolution, we think, cunnot be douiked by any well informel man-[^21]muless wishing to gamble in stoeks, or marlly resolved to render all things witservient to his own narrow and selfinh petitical views-willing to inflict any permanent evil on the commtry, for the gratification of his own tenporary preferences.s.

It war a belief generally entortaineal by the slemocratis party, that the wht bank of the United States haul used its power for political jur poses, more than a nlonbe of its constitutionation, which esuscal a relinsal to renew its chourr. We can alnoost any shat we know this to have been the ease. Wletlece the belici ahove stated was jnst or otkerwise, has nothing to du with the fact. The bu-lief was elerisled us in a cervinty of its tiuth; sund, with the maimels of men so strongly exeiteal as they were at that tiuc, aul loal been for cear-brause of radical differ eness which were thoight to exist leetween the two great political parties, it was casy to wlisle into an opinion that the establishoment of the bank was minmeonstithtional prot cecding, and u*e that opinion as the lerating renson why the bank sluthlil not le re-chartermi. Wie appeal to eommon sense, in support of what is just stuten-and refer to all the old democrats, yet living, ns w ell concerning the belinf that was entertainct, os for the general uction of that belief on their umen minds. Awl beily thus "committed"" in a declaration agninst the constitutionality of the bank; ase a party, it was not easy to give uif the ground which the party hal assumen, however great the wecessity appeared for rebuilding of some such an institution. This neecssity was manifest. And, as in the former case, political feelings had strengthened the constitutional oljecetion to the loank an senme of the puthlic gond, the necessity of extinguishing the rag-chureney of the country, and of restoring a somml and safe one, now weakened the constitutional objection in some, anal neutralized it in ollıers. We speak of slings that we do know. And so it was, that many of the old and "stanneh tlemocrats of 1798 ," voterf for the ןresent bank; and jresident Afaulison, who was at the head of that praity, approveal the law. Well-the bank was extablished; but so imprudently, or voickedly inanaged, as some thought to make prinetly fortunes for a hundred or two indivitual stochholulers, or gamblers in its funds-that the constitutional objection was revived by many who had laid it aside, and superadiled to the loud and enruest eomplainte that were made beeause of a mabartministration of the affairs of the bank: and, certainly, the facts brought out shewell many stratige, and highly reprehensible, and truly alarming proceedings, in persons who hail a commanding influcure over its management. We cannot now go into particulars-but intend to rerive the listory of these times, as a warning and a guide; with a hope that such revival may have some small temlency to prevent a recurtince of eveuts which so mueh agisated and ernbarrassed the whole country. But the result was-thut the bank was reforment; atiul, by a jeaeeTinl and eoncect sulministration of its affairs, is now effeeting exelianges to the amount of 240 or 250 millions of Inilars a sear, at the average enst of noe-a leventh of one per cent, to the peopule of the United States!

This article is already ton Iong. and we have only to ald, that we shall resnme the sulijeet; anit eapeeinlly to shew what reas the former $r$, and is the present eondition of the existing loank of' the U'nited States; and inquire into, aml aserrtain, if we ean, what possible good may result to the public, from destroying the present institution that an new laak may be male. Our serions bellief i - What the project is a most slangerous one; and, if earrival inth rifiect, will rember an immense pullice injury for the bemfin only of snme two or thave lowndreal rieh persme, resolved to make themselves rielier by speculation in, anl monnpalice of, the stock. We say- "eet very welt alove;" monlify the charter, if shought neecssary; so restriet anll resumin the powers of the hank that it connot wantonly oppress any well atul honestly managed state bank, and let all wholesome checks and balances be es. tablisherd-hut let not the bank lie luraken down for the simple and sole purpose of benefiting a few solitary indivi-duals-whose interest, compared with that of the enmmunity, is of no consifletation whatever. Every man is deepIs intereated in the presepvation of a sound aind wholesone currener; but not one in Ffiy thnusand of un, have, or will hohl, a personal intervent in tue ilivilenals or juofits of the present bank, or any other that may be eatablished by the eongress of the Uuited States.

The late thinatt with Fraveg, photisted matt, ke. We do not reeolleet to have seen any reason as signed, "by authority," why the late draft of the treasury of the Unitcel Statea upon that of France, was not paidthough the draft is suid to have been protested because: the chambers had not approprinted money to pay it. Perhaps, there is a good reason why the appropriation was not made-a suggestion of which has caused us to look into the treaty and the law carrying It into effeetwith the proclamation of the president, \&e. and it appears to us, that the first instament, payable under the treaty, is not due watd the $130 / \mathrm{h}$ day of July ensuing. But, beeanse that the [recemt] secretary of the treasury made the draft payable on the id February last, we feel much distrust of the conclusion at which we have arrivedalthough we connot reach any other, as at present informed.

Those who feel an interest in what follows, will carefully attend to the dates.
the treaty with t'rance was signed at Paris on the 4 th Juty, 1831-by Mr. Hives and count Sehastiani.

The seenod article of the treaty ןrovides for the payuncut, at Paris, of $25,000,000$ francs to the United Stutes, in six suceessive years; and says- "the first instulment shall be paid at the expiration of one year next following the ExChaxak of the ratificalions of this convention, &ce.

The seventh article of the treaty says that "from and after the sxelixas of the ratificutious," the wines of France shall be alcmitted at eertain rates of tuaty, &ce.

These are the two lrading parts in the treaty-and the former rexts upon the latter.
The treaty-making power vested in the presilent and menate, does not extend to the repeal of an established Inw of the land; and heace the necessity of an act of both houses of congress to reduee the existing duly on French wines, as proposed in the treaty.*
In consequence, an act was passed, and approved by the president on the 134 h July, 1832 , providing for the appointment of a commission to exarmine the claims of our eitizens, &c. The 10 H seetion ol the act is in the follow ing words:
See. 10. And be it further enacted, That for the term of ten yeanm, froun and aner the second day of Febrmary, one thou*and eigh huadred and thirty-two, wines, thee produce of France, shall be admitted into the United statios on paying dutien not exceediag the followiug rates on the gallon, (snch tu is at present used in the United states), that to to say: six cents for red wina in caskes, ten centa fir white wine tu canks, and twentytwo ceuta for wiae of all sorts ia bottles.
[-Approved July 13, 1831.]
On the saune day that the president approred the bill just above mentioned, (July 13, 1832), he issued his proelamation, saying that "the ratifications, [of the treaty] were this day exchangerl, at the eity of Washington, by Messrs. I ivingson and Sururicr.
Why the lawe of the $13 \mathrm{H}_{1}$ July, 1832, was retrospective so to the duties payable on French wines, and reduced them to the rates stipulated for in the treaty from the 211 Feburary, 1832, we cannot conjecture. 'The president's proclamation say: the ratifications were exelanged on the i3ch July, tuz date also of the law; and they could not have been "exchanged" at a previous date, because of the wount of shat law; and hence we are entirely in the dark as to the reason why the draft for the first instalment was made payable on the 2d February, instead of the 13th July, ensuing.
There is another thing, however, which has a singular appearance. The treaty provides that the "ratifications apall be exchanged, at Wushington, in the space of eighth monthe, or sooner, if possible." The date of the Ireaty is July 4, 1831-and, to Februury 2, 1832, is less than seven months: but the lazo to reduce the duty on French wises, as stipulated in the treaty, was approved only on the 13 th July, and the president's proclamation of the same dinte, tays that the intifications were exelaanged on The preaideat, in hin mbange to enngress, of December 6 , 1831, eaid-" "In my measage at the opening of the last seswion of eongrena, I expressed a confident hope clat the Justice of oaf ciaims unon France, urged as they wre with peneverance and signal uhlity by our minister there, would finatly be acknowsignal aed. This hope has been realised. A treaty has been signrd, whed will tmomedistely be laid before the senate, for lis approbation; and which, containing aipulations that require legis. probive act, must have the concurrence of both housee before it can se carried into effect."
that very day-or more than twelve months after the signing of the treaty. Has the treaty then died a "uatural Ileath?" or, was there some other "convention" to keep it alive?
All these things may be easily explained, perhaps-but they liave an extraordinary aspect; and why the manner of the draft was adupted, or indeed why it was made at all, we are altogether at a loss to guess.

We suspected a prasaibility that our insertion of the law and proclumation above alluded to might be ineorreet -though almost certain that botls were copied from the official ןaper, "I'he (ilobe," because that we make it a stanaling rule to use official publications whenever attainable; and, for that reason, liave caused the law and the frochamation, as inserted in the Rseistwn, to be examined by the official publientions of them in the "Haltimore Iepubliean," by a compertent jrersor-who reports, that the time of approving the law, and of pululishing the proslamation, are correct-viz: July 13,1832 ; and that the worda "seconal day of February," as given in the law-and those, that the "ratifications [of the treaty] were thes day exchanged," in the proclanation-ere also correctly tuserted. And it will have been observed, that the president in his message to congress of December 6, 1831, said-chat the treaty required "legislative acts" whieh ${ }^{\text {strm}}$ must lave the eoncurrence of both loouses, before it ean be carried into effect." But by the date of the draft, the treaty, it seems, was thought to be in "effeet," four months, and more, before the pasagge of the law.

The Cholera. During the week endind 15th May, four deathe by chulcra happened at Cincinnati.
The Nulchez Courier, of the 34 Inwt, in noticing the heaith of that city, says-The nuanber of sleaths within the hmita of the city during the past week, in 9, two whites and seven blacksthree hy cholerat one white and two blacks. The white person was Saml. Jacobs, Mr. 'ranklin's overseer, the person who was supposed to have tad the principal hand in putung the bis dies of the negrocs, reported last week, into the bayou. Itia case was reported "eholera asphysia and intemperanee."
At the hust accounts, the cholera wus still raging at Vickuburg (Mississippi,) with great violence. Forty cases had nceurred in that town, in the week ending at sunrise on the 9 uh ult. of whech 17 had proved fatal. In the last 48 hours of the terus there had haen 81 cases and 8 deaiha. On the 9th May, loww evir, there was no new ease reported. Froun this it was hoped that the diseave had reached lis helght, and was abating.

Nashrille, May 13, "No new case of elblera mince oar last."
Whecling, Muyill. The board of beath proclaina the existence of the cholera in thas town-but says that it is contined to a particular quarter, near the market hause- 16 case were known aince the 16th of May, 7 of which had proved fatal. There were 13 new eases between the 21st and 24 th of May, of which 2 tad proved intal, 3 were doubtful, 7 convalescent, and 1 recovered.
New Orieane, May 8. "That this dreaded disease (the cholera) does exist in this eity, that the camed, alinost whitut excep tion, terminate fatally, and that it is gradually thougis slowly on the increase, are ficts not to be donbted.
St. Londa, May 11. We feel it onr duty to atate our bellef af the existewce of the cholera within the limits of our city. The disease made its first appearance on persons on hond of eteamboats, arriving at this place, where it was prubably contracted and uience has extended to the town. We have not learned the number of cases that have been, but from the information in our power do not beliveve it to be great -at leant not suticiently wo to excite any terror or panic in the minds of the rational and experienced.
It is added in a postscript-We bave the gratifieation of atating that there have been no uew cases, withis the city, since yesterday morning.
The "Timen" of the 18th announces the disappearance of the cholera, from $\mathrm{St}_{\mathrm{c}}$. Lonia,
On the Mistiovippt. The eholera is said to exibt on bosid of aimost every steamboat on the Missiskippi, causing many deaths. In Ireland, a good many cases of eholera appear in Cork, Kerry, &c. A belief is alated that some yet happen in every conntry in Europe in which this digeave had been introduced. Nine pereons in nne family, in the evunty of Cork, Ireland Nine pereons in one mmily, in the enunty of Cork, ireland, followed them! It was terrible in Limerick.

Tus "oppreaned snutu." We mentioned in our last the sale of a ernp of tobucco, at Richmond, at the average price of各 1216 per 100 lbs . The Petersinig Intiligencer of the 24 th uth. has an nccount of the following sales of "crops" at the different warchouses in thas town, on the 22 ad .
Crop of 12 hhale

2 hhis

An extensive factory of cotton seed oil has bern established at Natchez, and others are about to be built at Mobite, Florence, Ke. It is arateil that nme the-hel of seed yirleis three quarts of oil, and that frum 1, tero tit 4,004 gallous ean tee made it the Nat-refined, will burn as well in lampas as aperment, without tive dis. agreeable sumell wheh the laitor sancture emits. It is added, that the "cake is the very brest lined fir stock." Thus an articie whels has been thown nway, ix atunt to gicld large punts in the cotton planters; with whelh we are mach grutifind, escept in a fear that it may teud to injure the ajerm whate fiahery, which, as a oursery tor seamen, and for other reasons, is amung the most muportant branches of the industry of the perpie of Une United states. 'T'ue persons enuployed in this fashery are the ablest and the bert seamen in the world, whetlier engaged in wark= uf peace, or the busincss of war-sober and steanty, brave and fatithral.
The building at Natehez in eigtty-four feet by righty, one and a hulf story bugh, and contasus a steas engige of $22 y$ inch cylinder, and bive feet stroke, drivang eight hulling machinea, five setis of vionew, and a maciune to prequare and zrind the veed for heating; eight eyliudern for heating the nueal, and neven lever premeen are in preparation, to carry ruit the business with deapateh, nod in the anving of atannal lathor.
Etunlar mills are buildug at Petersburg, Virginia, &c.
"Annther "notiou"-vice threwhinq machines, are in operation at or near Savanuah. The Georpaat says-"the of the certifi-states, that he has streatied 320 bushela per thy, by the power of four aules; and another, whu has iwo driven by ktcami power, that they tura out ivo busisels per day, winnowed at the same tinse.
"We have no doubt, from what we muderstand, that tiey will be generatiy uned on all the plantations it pureferrituce to the Enil, frome its maving of labor and the ciear manner in which the rice da taken from the siraw. It is an aduntalate inventuon, and stbe inventur amerits every credat."
"Anti-nullification!" Fimp the coriespomlence of the Portand Esening Advertiser, dated Moutgomery, Ahabana, April 12. "1 have omitted wo mention the great momber of emigrants whous I have paswed. It would seem as if Nor:h and South Curolina were pouring forth their population in swarms. Pcriaps I have gone by in the Creek nation over three thonsund permons, all emigrating, inclucling negroes of enourse. The fires of Hieir engampments mathe the woots blaze in all direetions. The lanilx of the Carolinians are being exhansled, and ax there, the art of nourishing and invigorating lands in lingle proctised mon, the planters are going to an untifled and to anme lertile commry. Polities in Simuth Carmlinns have hat mueh to to in aceclerating this emigration. From Geomia there lus been less, hence large parts of Georgia are yet wild. The Cherokees are said to have some of the finest lands in that state, which Georgian enpidity is thirsting for with an insatiable passiou. The gold fever and the land lotteries also do mueh towarils retaining the popmation of Georgia, bat the people will some swrep ow-r the Chattahnoclee, and, after settling on the toent lanis in the Cruek nation, iresenuly to be in the market, thry will fill Alabama. Alahama,' I shoulil julge from what I have ween, is a five anil a grow ing state. The white people zeork. That is a good sign. Thicy work in the fields Negroes are searee. . Ind hence, prothafen, in prarts the fine plantutions I hure spoken of before. Keep off the negreen; thin them off-and this prople must be greut, poseedful, rich, for the shvy and earth vice in bee ofowiug spon the proople the beat of climates and the best of soil."

Rebretion or wages. We learn, with maph regret, that percuptory orders have bein rectived fiom the war depariinvont, to reduce the wagers of the arturabs eniploged in thic ar. mory at Itarper's F'erry 25 per cent. This is a serious event to the working citizens of that place-inulecd it may be termed a calanaty. We have not been in the halut of waying aneh in favor of the frosent aduinistration, but really we feel condirut Alint a reconsoderation ot thin measure would move the amino. rities at W'a-hington to a prompt and chererful reversal of the orrier. We caumet thelipere that the president will puffer so Inrge a body of u-cful and meritorsomn men to be reduced to a condinon of absolute aud fruitlews druigery, (Charleatown, (ra.) Free Press.
C-That there will the a general and heavy reduction of wages, we rertuinly exposc. At many extalnitahnents, they have alrwady been mario-tent freenty fire per cent. is mevire: One dollar and finy cent- a wreth deductiod fiom the six dinllara herntofure obtamed for itse sapport of a pourr than's family, will dennive tit of all the hitie counfinte which the lugstand and father velained fis them by lome labor. Gun or two doflara a week diem but recm much to permons even in moderate circumstancer, or fonseswed of soune litile chpital in Mexinesp-bet to a large min inderd, to thine whos obly capital to is the laber a finch they are able to perform.

Gild. Tliree lamp-ne wetghing 10 dwes, a arenwd 30 dwts. and the thrd "as lurge as a hen'n eex," were lately tound at Auraria, Geo. the latier by an Indian gill, who carefully concealed it.

New Onleans sugar. We are not a little surprised al the falling off of the exporis of sugar from New Orteans within the Last two or thrve years. The New Orleans I'rice Current of the 20th gives the following exports:

From Uct. 1, to April 20,21 , 403 bhds $1,952 \mathrm{bbls}$
Same tirne last year, $\quad 26,850$ hhids. 1,995 bhls
Sune, year betore, $\quad 56,811$ luds. 1,962 bbls.
Thns it appears that the quantity exported is about 5,000 hlads. leas ihan last year, and 15,000 leas than the year previous. The surfilus taken up the river, and ctrongh the lake to Mobile, is not taken into account, unless the increased consumption and the export up the river will account for the defieieney.

TIME AKD SPACE

Philadelphia and Norfolk, Manle are now made up at Philadylplata, on Monday ${ }^{\text {P }}$ Wrdnesdays and Fridays, for NorFolk and Petwrsburg, on which day* the Clitizens' union, or rail rond, time is met thy ithe Norfolk pleanihoat, from Hatumnore; at or near the muthth of the Patapeco, and the malts and passeltgots tranm frerri-and thum they reach Nortolk at 7 A. M. on T'uesdnys, Thornday" nind Naturdays-briug only abous 25 hound from Pinladrlplua, or 33 from Niw Yink! A boal is ares Norfolk, and, in like manner, meets the lonat from Balimore in Hanypton Roads, and procecds fur Putrelmrg and Richonond, arriving at 4 ur 5 o'cinck, on the days last above given $\Rightarrow$ ay about 35 hours from I'luiladelphia, or 43 Ironi New Yort, to Peterviburg ur Hichanand. Thun a person may take an early breakfast in 1'hutadelphia, and a late dinner, nn the folluwing day, in Richнинul. Tlus serm* "rapul" enough.
Baltimore and Now York. On Monday last, an evening rail rond line was atarted between Philadelphin and Baltimore, by whiet pasacngers from New York reach Baltumose at 10 or 11 o'elock in the evening-or 16 or 17 hoars. W'e now hove the New York mornugg, and the Philadelptia evrning papers, on the day ef thrir piblication. It prephis hardly prosithle that a gerson may now breaktast in New I iork, dine in Philadelphtia, and anp in Balumore, in rrgular ordrr. But any man may.
Philadelpiaia and Bubtimore. A grrat deal of activity and real If dixplayed concerning the continuour rail road between these cities, as mintioned in nur last. It seems rendered almost certain that it will be made. We whath that it were cowstifutional in the goverument inf the Vilied 8tatex to provide for the sale atal apecdy iranspertation if the manls:t: And wo it is-that if the muls go on to increase an they have done for a few yeare paspwe shall be compellenl to amend the constitution, or leave some of tisem behind unill the frost is completely oet of the earth, in every spring, or employ many wagons to navigate through the mud.

More rall roads. We noticed in nur last the bright proepect of a line of rall sonde from Washuyum tu New Sork. Bouks are about to be opened for nubseriptionve of streck to make a road from thiladelphia, tirough J.anca-ter in Middietown, Pa. With the idea of extendiag in to the thio, in dose seamon.
The Morris conal, which whites the waters of Pennsylvania with those of New Y'ork, is in full operation, and duing a large burmex.
$07-$ The elanticity and warmith of the charneter of the AmeriPan peopie, may harpily correct the torpldity and coldness of their general govermuent.
Lienual Sonamp eanal. We have the following in the Norfolk Herald of the zisad uit.

Arrivals through the canal in Aprit, 1833:
Erhooncre and ainoph, londed
146
Lighter re, londed
14 tiafe uf timber 15
Returned, partly loaded:
Echooners and shorips
1.ighters

12
Chesapeake and Ohio Canal. Georgeloirn, May 24. It is is ith real pleasure wr announce that the canal and iocke, as far an the eyp can rearb from Genrgetown towards C'rommelin, is literally coverrd with boats at clowe as they can ztow, filed with Itur aul other produce. Not less than 15,000 harrels pareed ilirough the locks into the basin yeaterday-inore than 150 boats, it in said, were atiave the town, coming down. [Gazette. The secrefary of the nary hau returnell to Washingion from his Jung excursina, of which the Glutu gives the follow ing ach his long excursina, of which the Glube gives the following account:
"We learn from a gentlentan who accompanied him on his whole journey to our sonitiern naval stathus, that the secretary was alsent $f / f y$-tioo days, of which nincteen were apent in mupe at diffrrent cities, and in the examination of the varioges pulilie wnoke connected with the navy and on maratime defences at the south, leaving only 33 days for trnvelling. It is a strong illustration of the convenisuces and rapidity of communucation through a large portim of the new and unsettled parts of our unien, that duriag thame 3 day: lue travelled a dixtance, in all, execeding 4,200 inder-betbg equal to une-sisth ot the circumaterence of He earth, and at an average tate ot alout 130 milea per day."

Balea or wool, at Boston. Great sales of wool took place at Boston, last week. I'sey were attended by a large number of namufacturers and dealers. The eatilogue, (say* the Centimet), contaned over $100,000 \mathrm{lbs}$, of fleece woot if very deairulte qualitiens $\mathbf{i 0} 0,06 \mathrm{leo}$. Nus. I and 2 , pulled; 15,000 Ibsi, imported 8asony; $40,000 \mathrm{lbs}$. Spanish sheep and lamb's; su0 balew Luenos Ayres and Montevidery; 900 bales waslied and unwasled siuyrma; besiden wiveral staller parcels of coarme foreign wool. Notwithstunding the sale was fully attendid and the wool advertised wan of the most desirable kinds, there was but little apsitit manifistud, and only a very suall portion of the wrol was disposed uf, prices considerably inelow the expmethations of owssent. We phuce the following as the priscipual saters which were made, viz: $12,000 \mathrm{Ibf}$. flewete frum in to flood bierimis, 43 a wo selected full bood merino and Saxnny fleecon 62/ cents; 3,400 the very zood No. 9, pulled lambes at 41 centa; 18,000 Ithe. Nn. I, pulled, at 44 a 48 ceuts; 2,500 thes. imported sasony 40 cents; 3,600 ibs. do. do, $106!$ cernts; 4,500 do. do. 150 centw; 15 balen gpantsh meep's R. at ej a 87 cents; 5 bales do. do. R. R. inferior, Til cent $4 ; \$$ bakes "panish lamin's at 77 centr; 20 dn. do. at 60 cent; I bale saxony lanb's 93 cents, 10 balar thwnerhed Benyrma 18 ceuts; 10 do . du. very dirty 12 cents; 10 bales wanheal Barkary woot 20 cents, 300 bales fair Buenos Ayrea 9 a $11 f$ cents; 8 do. do. very interior, at $3 f$ centu; 10 baken Constantinopleset 16 eents; $I 7$ bales muhair 44 a 48 cents. The low priees, in general, which wore ubtained, may be atiributed mainly to the fart. that whearing is hear at hand, at which it in expected there will be an unurunlly large clip.

The "Bloston Glazente" adiln-Simee our report on the 94th inat. of the anction sule of this article, (wool) mithe preceding day, there has been great activity in the market, and we learn that a large proportion of that whieh was withdrawn, (on aceount of the relaetance of manufacturens to penrehase at public sale, under an fanpersios that the pricew would have an intlusnce upon the article at shearine time), has bren taken, hr private contrart, at the fottuwing advaweed rates; ranging higher fier each deserip. tion than any sales for many monttis, embracimg
8,000 Ith. New York puilled lamb's, at $50 \mathrm{cts}, 6$ mo.

4,000 ${ }^{4}$ New York pulled No. I Inaubed
12,009 " grade full hemel and Saxany thewee, grade full blown and Saxany thevee, full blood, grade and Stasony, Nuw York pulled Nor, I laub's (ordinary)
7,000 is Pinladelybia do. da, 48, il
Baring, Rrublern & Co. write frone Iandrag unicr date of April 6 th, that "Wioflena are pdvaneling and woud high and quek, and uet two mosthe' stock in the kingdon for the mann Anturers."
Cof-These are "fair" If not high pricen; and, if confinued, thay de "very well."
 luaber have been lust in the Ihlaware, atome, thy the late llood.
The ( ilho was forty threc feet above luw watur mark at Cim cinnati abous the $0th ult and unch danage had beve dotee to Genres, and the crips wa the brtiona landr.
There has been a great lise in the waters of the Kenducky iver-which was also jast then vixited lay large annilecrs of tuge cal fish. The Prankfon Commerntator say = that oue was caught whin helighed ninely pounds, atutiser furly, te.
Gazat national, wonk. Weare much gratifind to learn that eol. Me Kenney's history of the Intlian tuiben of Nunth Anmerica, &e. (ttue publication of which wan sh-pondet bremuse of the entarras-murris of Mr. Bradfurd, wlos had a clation the tive c'opy ath will aperdily comusuce, Hessrs. Key and Biddle, or Plutadelplina, luelug the publi-bere.
Thic sutle of thus work is a "HiHitory of the Indion Thites of North dinerica, with Biogruphical Sketches und stwectotes of the Principed Chiefo-mbellished with one hundred and turnty portruift, from the Indian gullery in the departoncat of war, at Weutington."
"The uritere reposented in the gallery are eighteen in number, vis: Cthippewas, (or Objiliwa), Siruus, Menomnnee, W'Innehage, Bakk, Fus, Otw, Pawnews, Malsa, Kanwan, Nencea, Nhawnew, Dolaware, Creek, (or Muscogee), Ueliee, Chrrokee, Choctaw (or Cluata) and Serininste.
${ }^{\text {" } 18}$ is prupused to puldiah the work In twenty numbers, each to contain 6 beads. The innpression will be on fine thlek paper, carreaponding to the value and nize of the work, and to its intended perpertuity.
"A" exaly milied to such a work, and calculated to throw a light upon the hisiory of this interesting prople, will accompany the firet nauber; and as materials will anthorise it, the remaining numbere will be interapersed with biographical sketches and ameedotew of the originals, and with vocabularies."
Thee original drawingr were made fiom life, ehlefly by Mr. $\mathbf{K}$ ing, of Wanhingion, and are perfect likenesses.
"A map of the country will be carefully propared, and the tocation of the several tribes represeated in the publication, noted unmon it."

It is believed "that there no where exints auch materiale for a womk ro unique, oo unterr sthug, and in all that regards the aborigines of America, so anthentic and instructive. Its great value as it regards the U'mited states, can be appreciated propeily, pethaps, unily by pusterity; becaune the lmhans, though thisined and ncattered, are yet ungugat us. Europe, it in believed, is prepared now to put the proper estimate upon the work. la order, urerefore, that coulutries udicr thats our own, anay enjuy the gratitication of lebhotaing the red anen of our foreats, in their aluost breathing likencsees, and in their native, and varied and miagular costumes, arrangementa will be made for publishing the work siniultaneously is Eiurope.
"The price to suhmeribers for each number will be six dollara, to be paid on delivery."

We luearuly winh aceres in thin great modertaking, and trwat that the execotion of the work will be at once hosorable to oar coratiry, and profitable to the publishers.

Thial of Maniatiates. The mayor and aldermen of Roating were lately prowented and tried, for having onitted to make a return of the votes given to Mr. Odtorne, the antl mananic candidnte for congreas. T'ive omiwwion speowa to have been purriy aceidental; it had not, hoe couifl it have lnad, athy effert on the rnuult, nor was nooral turputude inpputed-and political effeif, only, seems to bave beell frgarded in this prosecution. It is hardiy aecessary to add that the jury fivuid a verdict of mot guilty.
"Yanke motione." The "Bentom Atlas" wass-The amount In the handa $n$ f the commitiee for the bearfit of the institutan for the blind, is, we learn, git, 240.

Sulseribed by individuals
. . . . 315,000

Received from the tadied fair
From Salrm, &c.
Given annuatly by the state
(in band previously Nuhserrilwed in Ifartford

-     -         - 5,500

The eltizens of Ilartinerd have alen pledged themelves to for ninh the anm of &1,400 a year for three yrane, whelh mahos the agervgaten $$ 64,200$. The cundtion on whith the gin of cot. Perkina was based, has therefore beren fultilled liy the liberality of the public, thefore the expsiration of then there linute d by bis ciffer. The original proprifiors of the avylom never enold lhave anturipated se briliant a termination of the ir laberura.
[llere In trime "ebivalry"- withtin the metond of a lonllow fom F'uneud! Hall, the "cradie of liberty," or Nowkea's Hill.]

Mone "notiens." In a late number of the "Minitary and Naval Magasine," we hind an interembur motwe of the shll Ame rican frugak olluazce; fromn which it appears that, int the elnen of the revolutionary whr, she was sold by the mevernment, and Dale, in the capacity of chinf maty, made the firmt woynge from Pliflalelpleia to Clinna, that ever wan attempled. Ifiter ded they xappore at the ture tha'y maried, that a whinlt crall tron smivin arrival in the fulian uceall, they tell the with a masalf tanke-e Captain fireen infuised what charte they luad; the annwer was, "None, for there were mone to be hud, but have Guthrie's Gromlieved to have tre by all American.

Aveordung to the Philatelphia Chronicle-the Allianca, after all luer wouderfill exeapron fiout the rnemy, amal long and perilons voyages, deed a natural deatt in that purt, mod lier homew lay wn Sinith'n Island, opmatite the city, where she io ured an a invern, and is in excellent jwescrvation.
[aterer.
Fomatan pacpras. There were in the almshouse, Bomion, on the liflu ult. 160 white men and 134 white wonen. fa white milos and 908 females-together thet jurnenge.

Of the adult mates 68 are furriguers-4s Irimp; of the adnt females 6: are forciunery, 36 Iri-h-of the elaildron $10 \mathbf{S}^{\prime}$ are of foreign parents. So that of the whode number in the alonshouse, 464, no leas than $2 \%$, or consolerably mene than obe latf are an firreignem. And thif ton, In Ma-sachusetts, whete ine priporan hreignem. And tion of nurh promons is suall-and so almo is the general proportion of natire paupers.
Gegmax emioranta. Baltimore appeare to he a favorite point of debarkation to the emigrants from Germany. The Now York Gazette thas the follorwing statement of the mimber of emugrants wbich departed fant year frons the single port of Bremen for the United Niates. Of the whole aumber it will be seen that tiree fout the came to this city.
To Batimure, in 60 veranila,
7334
New York, in 25 vessels, Philadelphia,
Charleston, S. C.
New Orleaws,
Total,
9,802

Appropalations. The appropiationa made at the layt seesion of congress, were briefly as follows:
Civil hist for 1833
Military eervice dn.
Penaiows
Naval service to.
Indian department, treatien, sanultien, &e.
Improvemeats of harbors, rivers and ioads and survey:
Public boildings and grounls, penitentiary, &e. Miscellancons
Private claina
Amenat of definite appropriations made $2 /$ cession edi cougress
$57,897,4.8790$ 4,96\%,03:36 40 6212, 91700 3,860,9063 28 2,206,646 76

1,086,993 30 89.069 00 53, $8 \times 000$ 30,021 19

816,500,864 83
Amaricax Sumday school enion. Thix fuxtitution held its minth anniversary in Thiladelphia on Tuesday afternoon. The president, Alexander IIenry, esq. presidesl. The revereud Dr, stpring, of this cily, commenced the excresses with praycr. The annual report was read by the secretary-from this document we iearn the following facts:

There are about 14,560 wehoole, with 760,000 scholars, in connexion with the union.
Last yeur the inerease was 1,600 schouls, 12,000 teachers, 84,000 seholara.
Twenty thoueand teachers and thirty usousand scholare have Joined churches.
The publicationa have rapidiy increased, 500,000 copics of oue work have been cirenlated.
The ertablishment nf Sunday echools in the valley of the Minsissippl has been prosecuted, of which there are 4,245 , and last year gave an addition of 1,3225 ; to thrse 500,000 cojices of books have been sent. The expendithre has been athrut fili,30i6, of Which somes states gave frmi $$ 5,000$ to 10,000 , while vie state (IIlinois), contributed fil 00.
The operations of the union have been exlended in Caicuta and Canton, and also to the Sandwich inlands. The peemmary presure upon the citizen* lant year was felt liy the soctety, and $00,000 were borrowed upon individual repponsibility,
The repots set furth the entire harmony of varuhs Christian denominations engaged in the work, and the books were calculated to preserve that harinony.
The report closed what a recommendation that nil friends of Sunday sehoois should, on Thurrday the 41h of July west, take measures to commience or improve the work of Sunday mutruction in their neighborinood.
The expenditurea during the sear, chiefly in booke, amonnted to $$ 127,379$ 55. Addiessera were made by the rev. G. Perfy, of the Baptist chareh, Philadelphia; Gerrit Smith, esir. of Pelersboro', New York; 1 ev. Dr. Milnor, of the Epipcopal chnich, New York; how. P. D. Vroons, of the Reformied Dutch ebureh, New Jersey; rev. Mr. Cowles, of the Baptist church; rrv. Mr. PlumChic, of the Preabyterian chureh, Virginia, and the rev. Mr. Chickering, of Massachusetts.

Recripti or memevnlexi ixatitutiona, From the vajions reports made at the recent annivetsary mectings in New York. it appears that the receipta infenme of the principal socictice for the last year liave been as follows:
American Bible society

Presbyterian education do.
24,01456
seamen's frletid do.
N. Y. deaf and dumb institution

Total

$9,2.2600$
15,752 53
. 8204,99324
Cotrow spiwsive. The follnwing account of the cotton spinning basineas, ta taken from the Glagow Chronicic of a iate date; it cannot fail to prove important, both to our manufacturers and ention growers.

1. Prance:-In 1831, cotton simin $74,000,0001 \mathrm{lse}$. besides the Britiah yarn amngzled through Flanders. In Alsace, powror Hours of labor is to 14 howrs.
2. Surif zerland, In 1871 , cotton spun $18,816,000 \mathrm{ibs}$. No. 40 vimilar milts in Britaln 8s, 43.5d. Wages 4s. 5d. Wages in soid in South America in competition with Britixh. euccessfully 3. Prawian and Rhenish prorinces. - In ISixh.

7,000,000 than. Power fonms provinces. $-\ln 1830$, cotion spun
4. Sarowy.- Potion spinning juxt coprofitably introdoced, menting. In 1831, cotton span $1,200,000$ lbs, Average wages 3n. 6d. They spin as cheap as the British, as Average wages warp, and Nn. 80 wen.
5. Lomadryly.-In I83i, cotion npus $4,000,000$ ibe.
age whates 3 s .94 . Frat advaneing. In $1831,12,000,000 \mathrm{lba}$. Aver. 7. Ingia.-Tha every day, 91 hnurs in the week. Sples above Calcutta, works every day, 91 hmurs in the week. Splaner nuatuaging one nomle 8. Un 20 in No. 40.
8. Uwited States - In 1831, ention apan $77,250,000$ Ibs.

Theee thets corroborate, heyond the range of rational diapule, the oplations which we have never ranged to pheulcate, not merely that any further Interference with the houra of adul ${ }^{\text {i }}$ labor in Britain is ont nf the question, lut that, if the corn haws be not shortly repealed, our cotton trade will be ruined.

A LITTLE OF THK OLD LEAVEX. The following, addressed to the editors of the satem Ciazette, we hope, will receive the attention of government. Ohata principis!' The Britubl must not be permithed to decide upua the chanacter of seatocu who sat undier the "starry bantier." We hat enough of that.
Gentlemen-By pubhasing the following tacts ou will oblige the subscriber, and perhaps reveler a service to merchants whu send their veraeld to the Brazils. The ship hoondon Packet, of Hostun, put into lla iua u dostrese, lising shont of men, wauking repains and provanums. soon aller her arrival, twa noea deselted, one an Ametican the other an lrishonas. They both Figned the shippung artucles to proceed the snyage, and were nit to receive any pat of thear wages until the arrival of the Bhip at leer port of dischange, at the city of Bowton. The deserters called on Mr. Paskinsoln, the British consuh, at Bahia, for assislance. Ife sent his cletk with the sailors, to bring a suit against the vinp. I was sonmusut to appear belure the judge. I handed the juige the shipping ariveles. One of the uren being a landsman, hut engaged lor tob dollara per aunth, yet he was allowed to pue tir the highest wag, a given to the tose seansen. The juige decreed that I must deposite the rum of two lonadred and sixty thrre dollars to hoswet then deessom of the court, or the slup would thot be pernatied to sali. The trial doll uot commence thitil after I liad wailed. I bave, wihin a few day", receivel a tetter from Gilmos & Co. merchanth at Bahia, infirning the that the supfeme cout has given therr decision against the slip.
B. K. Cиексий.

Salcin, May 14, 1833.
Tre Kayalas. The Boaton Ghohe of the 17th May, waidMr. Kemble had a aplendul benetit last evening. The bouse was erowded in overtlowing. Ths finmester was played with even more ability than at the frat rrpresentation. The Kembbles have played 25 uights, and tonk half the gross receipts and half the premiuns. The whole sum paid them inust anooent to at leaw $$ 8,2000$, meholing their moivty if the premumas, wheh Was $$ 1,200$. The aross recripts of the theatre rould nen have bren lews than fifteen thonsaud dollars. "As the curiain was about dropping, Mr. Kemile, anticipating the call of the andeace, led bis danghter forward, and in a brief bot neat and feeling addrases, expreased, in his own and daughter's behalf, their grateful semse of the brilitiant support which they had received in Hoston, during their engagement, whieh had now ter-minated"-and the lioped they would have another opportunky of maklige their acknnwledgmente. He concladed by bidatime him aodience farewell, which was repponded to by rounds of applause and ckeers.
And the Boaton Transcript gave quite a melting acenunt of the departore of Fanny, "the peeriess." A great clowd collected to see her drpart, and pretty girls presented her with flowerw: but she escaped thirough a private donr, and was somplitue on the road, before, (alack and alas!) it was discovered that the had gone.

Nantecket. Plis interepting litile island is sald to be in a very prosperous state; atd the value of zmme of the town lots has inereased 50 per cent. In the laet five years. Its indo-try aud enterprime extracts "the oit or gladness and rcjoweiog," from the distant and deep ocean.

Wetlsanke, VA. ia $n$ thriviug tnwn, in the wegtern part of the state. Frotu the "Gazette," published there, we alstract the following:
Many new houses are building. Tiuce in a cotton factory, With a front in 72 fret, and 4 stories high-nnw running 1,200 pinuiles and employlng 5st peronns: a saw nitl wheli can cus 3,000 feet in 12 hours: A. white flint glass works, employing 30 persnn", to which is attached a cutioug iratabishoient: a large stoneWare inanufactory: a woollen factory: a carding machine, and earpet factony, ke, and a palt manufactury. The population is between 1,200 and 1,$300 ;$ nnil a brawch of the Weptern bank of Virginin is located at Wellsburg. The neighborhood is rieh and cheerful, and rapidly inproving-the people feeling the benelit of the home market.

Groroia. The Milledgeville Journal of May 16, rays-Major Joel Crarford, of llancock county', was, on Tuesday evpning last, unaminnu*ly nominated as a candidate for governor at the enaming election, by a large and respertalife meeting of the members of the Thoup party, frou all parts of the state.

Coas. Mr. Magneen, of Glasgow, who has heen making the tour of the British and foreign Weat Indies, vtates, in a letter to the enitur of the Glasgoir Cowrier, that "Colia is increasing In importance quite Incredilily. I hollit in tny hande," says be, "most valuable retorns of that Island, and also Purio Rico. The crop inf Coha in onp article, sugar exported in 1800 , was in round nnmibers $196,000,000$ ths, and the increse of the nimibers $196,000,000$ ths, and the increase of the slave poptalation by importation, was in (1829 and 1R29) twn yean, 179,000: Poito Rico is rapidly rising inth Imporiance. An immense African slave trade is carried on through the lisiand of $\mathrm{g}_{\mathrm{L}}$. Thomas, to supply that inland and Cuba whit Africans. Ten, and ewea tweive, African slave ships may be seen in the hasbor of $\mathrm{Al}_{\mathrm{t}}$. Thomans together, taking their Atrican eargres, and frequently waiting the arrival of slups from Liverpool and the Cis de with the artucter whinch are neceseary to conplete them."

OREIGN NEWS.

From Puris pupers to the Ifta April.
The priwons of Frankfort, 11 Giermuny, are illed with personas arrested for political oflewees, or ont aceount of the lats cotmontion in that clly. There was a ramor at Puis titat a gearral insurrectum had shdilculy broken out in tise tirand Guchy of Baden, in which three regiments of the the bud cimbarked; and that the lie liad been jonued by a large body of rio leste emigrant, whe had Aled fiom the several drpute in Frame. The foles are and to bave been well supplice whit monry. It is added that Hense Cassel way seriously daturbed. A very large number of Germanas lad arrived in France on their way to the United statew-generally from llavafin, and many of them persoon of wisat is called tie "thetter classes."

Every thing yet remained quiet in Prance. At the cluse of the session of the clasmber of deputions on the Ith inf Iprih, gem. Ia fayette, accompanied by many of the membere, wated upon M. de Broglle, to intertede for fil2 Potes who had lef the place assigned them, and who, by thrir departure, land brought themselves under the rigot of the ordinaness of the government. Thn general apoke with great energy io their jusuifieation, and ex. phaioed their unotives. M. de Esoglic is mald to lisve proinized to tue bis tofluesice to uingate the penaltien they had meurred
A connaittee has been raised ln than chamber to exnmine the propect of a law relative to the treaty with the United states.
The Londou Gilube announces that it is the intentinn if the Ifish governament to enligee the provisious of the suppression bill, as well agantst the conservative party as agniust the agitaturs.
The affairs of Turkey have assumed a very serioue charactef. Menemed All declines toreigu interference in his affars. Whe do not hear uf any further proceedings to protect the sultan.
Trouble ia said in have broken out in Consthatinople, had Ibraluita ts reported on be again int tite occupation of simyrna. From Janhua they writr, that the Eurupean ferta elathured til the Archipelago have received ordorn to anil for the Dardahelles.
There is mothing new or inuportant frous Spatin, Portugal or the Netherlands.
A letter dnted Para, (Braxil), April 9 , recrived ia New Yoak, asye that the regenry at kio Jantiro had reat but to Para a bew cuvernor, who, on attempting to take the retum of govilitinent, was opposed by the moh. An engagement ensued, whin conttioued from the I6ts to the Iftht ult, When upwardn of 100 were killed, and a groat many wounded. All the foreugn vesuels in port were chartered to lake away permins and property, motne proceediug in Maranham and others to Lisbun. The new govertor, fatling to etfeet his objeet, lent the place, and took paskage for Maranham.
Another, recrived in Boston, ways-"On the 16th April, alt bussness ceased; every mercantite house, as well as every dwelling house, was shut up, aod many of the Portuguese and their faunilies eabarked on board the shipping in port. Things remained is a dreadful state of anspense until the 18 ch , when an open rupture took place. The president caused arma to be distributed amongst the mob, mostly black and mulatues, and 'kill the Portuguese,' resounded through the streets of l'ara. A scene of horrid slaughter ensurd. Men were hunted like wild bearts, and shot dnwn with lesa regret. For two daym, the city presented a werne ton slincking to behold-ton barbarously brutal to be believed of a Christum people. Whrou they had saerificed aff the Portuguese that were to be found, carta were sent round the ciny, and the dead bodies conveyed avay and tumbiel proniscuntuxiy into a comuron grave."
It bis satd that an insurrection of the saves has broken nut at Demayare. A letter from the literior of Jamaica, dated 19 April, ways the weather had been drwadful, the crop wilt not be balf as average onc. Negro gruunds burnt up-uit a apear of Erase.
We have sone farther fitems by an arrival from Englanif.
An "asuple refirm" of the chureh of Eogland, it is eaid, will be bought furward by the mioisters.

The price of tron advaaces in Eingland. Many petitions were otill presented for the abolition of negro alavery. 3 per cent. consols $87 \frac{1}{4}$-bueinews at the stuek exchange, dull. There were rumors of a clisnge in the ministry

Mr. Coblwelt'm won got 89 vntes to represent parliament, from Coventry! Mr. Ealire hat 1,500 , and Mr. Thomas 1,906 .
The "Iriph Volunteers" have been diasolved-by proclamation. Ontragen were still committed, and strong measures arranged to eheck them.

A grand "resuriection" In Germangs, seems to have bren enntemplated, and war yent apprehended. The gltot explodent at Frankfori before ita time. Young then seem to have been principally engaged in It. The Poles, In Prance, appear in have been erweralty Informed of the latended proceethass. Pertraps, it in to said to eppress or expel them. An explosion is expected in Surit zerland.

An "enclitement" among the workmen is asial to exist at 1.yons, in Fhuwre. The drebess of Berri is in be set at liberty, french feet may be immediately wout to the Darianelles.

The affairs of Holland and Belgiam are atill in-aegotiation. Don l'edro had received consuderable supplies at Oporto, and was preparing lor uffensive operatoons.
Gircece seetus to be setthug down into mome degree of qaietnena. Mont of the cluels had ackunwledged the new king. A leticr from Namplia states, that among the decrees wheld have lately been promalgated by tue Gieek governument to ohe whelt enjoins alt Giseek ", who are of age, to take the bituwng oath:

 of Greece.
The apoetolicals atteunpted an lusurrection at Saragosma, in Spoin-but they taited. A gieat deal of pultitical Hithgue is beiress appaselt, in defanti wt mate ssout. The augnst haby is a jear or two old, we believe!

REMOVALS-OH "KEFORMS."

The eoneral, atid rude and abounabile donunciations which had tately beell paured ons by the "Glolne," led na to expect that ed - for "counng events ca-l uners shadows lefore." the "Telegraph" as-ertud trunt itu th 150 names were ou a prowetiled Itrt, and added, that it had "the wanetma of the preatemet"-stiy ing, thowever, hast all the dicads of drepattuents lad not approvmif, cd 15

We simill sinuply securd certain of the things which lave been published.

Eartrat from the Glole, of the 2lat May.
"To deny that there are aot anong your* friends a sufficient number of talmited, experionced and efficiot tura to perform the dutien required of public fubeconaries, would, indeed, the paybug but a poor eomuphment to thoae by arhom you were elected. If your friends are equally competent with your enemies, it is dificult to eonceive uhy they, are mot lionght into genseral requiolton. Your opponente lave charged jou with promeriptuan; ir the charge lot true, one wnuld muppoee from the nuaber of political and persoual entmies who ate pernutted to retam ofIfce, that it is rather a proscription of your friewds thas your

"I'he people are inclitied by grateful fieling and by every eonsiduratibn connceled with your weighty and engroseing duties to bear dimappoistakmt truin one whe desenvediy vecupivas so large a bpaee it their affections, but they will mathrally teenue Dissatismied with a continued dieregard of their anonn wishes. Rumors of reform have from thate to the jeached the uttermosi patis of the unton, but the just expectations of the natuols have not as yed been entirely fuifilted."
"Your friends have a huut to expect that you will come forward with that magnantumy which is the characteriatic of jour soul, aod tell the Auserican people that you will renoove every cause of complaint; the you are determined to redress Tuk Juer asisvaxcen of which they complain; that no man shall have your conflenen who has not the confidence of ynur constitucats; and that you will no longer retan any individual in oflhee contrary to the public will," &c. &c.

From the National Intelligencer, of May 25.
Waviagion, May 24.
Gextermen: I have undentnod that a report has been cirenlated ith this cisy, that I am one of the ngners of a metuorial which has been piaced before the president, requesting the dismissal of a number of the elerks now in the employ of the goveriment. Ifeel insulted and indignant at a eharge of this deseription; and those who know me will readily believe that I am ose of the last individuals to whom any person would dare to present such a document for siguature. Haviog learned that all those in the public offices who are possessed of any talent, education, or moral worth, are amouget the proseribed, I atin proud enuugh to helieve than iny naute is upon the list, and that this has created the musappreheusion. Respectfully, your obedient servaut,

JAMES R. M. GRYANT.
From the wame of May 27.
The reader will have learnt, from paragraphis and enmraunieations In this paper, (another of whiels, trum a worthy neighbor of aurs, is published tn-day), that a lint has been actualty miade out of persons to be denulinced to the execulive, for removal from otiee, had that suth a list has been circulated in this etty for signaturea. We do not know the name of a mingle individual concerued in this rensarkable enterprize, by which a reform is proposed to a gieatef extent than has been heretofore thought of, Justifying all the sinister deductions from the late publicatinns in the oflicial paper in this eity, inteuded to urge the executive to second the viewn of thome professing frieads of the administration who are concerned th this project. The list in said to have been placed in the hands of the executive. We have rnceived what purports to be a synopsis of the list, of the correciness of whieb we cannot be certain, though so general terma assured of it. To show how wite the meditated sweep of the beenm of refurm is, we annex thin synopois, such as we have scen a cupy of it ; repeatisg that we canaot vouch for its aceu-
*These matier are addresaed to thr president of the V'nited Stater, teaching him what he should do.

Res.
raey, and, also, that we aloall checrfully corrvet noy vrrot in the kbMUALE 10 ME MADE.
Department of stale-The churl stom and moven nther cleiks.

Firs conptrolle's oflice-'I'se eomptroller humself, lum chiel elerk, aud ois utiver clethe.
Sccond conptroller's oghee-The elvief elerk, and three other elerk..
F'iral auditor's ofice-The nuditur himnelf, lis chief clerk, and even other clerks.
Second autitor's of fice-The chief clerk, and two othrr clerks.
Third suatifor's office-The nnditor limasell and, hus chicil clerk, and six milier cloiks.
F'ourth auditor's offire- The chief elerk, nnd wix other clerks. F'ifh uwitor's oflice-The anditur bimatilf, and hie elitet clerk. Soliciter of the treasury-The molicitor hinaself, and one cterk.
Treanurer's office-I'tie clasf clerk, and three obiber cletks.
Register's oghce-The registef hametf, liis chief cleik, nnd seventeen otinor clerku.
Land effice-The chief cirrk, and eleven nther clerks.
War offire-The secretary of war, his chief clerk, and eleven other eterks.

Bownly lands-1)ne clerk.
Indiun aflice-1'iwn elerke.
Quarterinaster ennerni's office-One elerk.
-trmy prymaster generat's office-The paymaster general, his chief elerk, and twa other clerks.
Army subristence depayfinrnt-t the elonk.
Arwy megeon geverul-The surgeon geweral.
Nary department-ine cleik.
Nacy conanistionert-One of the eomminsionera.
Geweral post office-T'Two of the heade, the chief clerk, and twenty. five other clerky.
And, laetly, the conamissioner of the public buildings in Warhington.
To most of our readers it will the ncediess infurmation, bat to others It may be useful to state, that a very large proportion of the permone included in the shove lity are nunong the mont alide, states.

The followlug is the article alluded to in the preceding-his addressed in live echiors:
Gewthenkw: swite six of eight dnys agn, a paper was hnnded to me for moy signnmare, purpwiting (as in anderatond by $n$ hasty perusal), to be, on addrest frow the cingenw of Washingtow in the pressident of the I'nitesd Ntates, mpuesting the prevident tu reunove from uffice, afl clerks undref eovermment that liave and do fuettry the mutragemas attack recently made mown bine, ed and atuaspd the presidrnt, as well na thowe of loose, blle and ditenphted hativi. I pigmed the paper hastily, withont asking nny questions, (aw my feelings had been recently aremily excited on necount of the ntack made upon the propident by Handon(bh), much now to my regtet, as I understand that additions have been made to the papper, with a liw of nbout one hundred and fify clerks, suong whom are some of our most respectable nnd worthy cilizens, accompanied with chargex, & c . which I never kacw nor ever heard sny thing almout. I would enoner thrust any hand into a rend hot furnace than to lot niny name liave gone forth to support charges, far proseripmion, that I never knew nor ever heard any thing of, and I do mnoxt copdially hope that those persona engngerd in making the adititions, sud appendiug a timi of the names of clerks, with charges, ke. In the paper, after ing signature was hai, if clerks, anay meet whit that relmuke from the president, heade of departmenta and cutizens, generally, that sueli conduct juatly merita; niml 1 do disclatm ever hnving heid any conver watan, or barf miy intercomras nt any time directly or indircetly with any of the partles concerned, in any way or ehape.
Nay 97, 1333.
g. MURRAY.

From the Nitional Tntellizencer of May 99.
The article whinth fillows thie parneraph was puthintied in the daily National Intelligencer of yesterdny. Having reacrved it for nne dny in see whelser it would be eontrndieted in mny particular, we now re inwert it for the special benefit of our country readers. No error has been pointed nat in us in the lint except the omismion of the treasurer of the United staten, who is included in the zencral drannciation, nnd the insertion of the secrelary of exar, whose namr, we are informed, was not on the In t of the pmescribed, as atated yevteriday.
[Then folluws the list inserted above.]

From the GHobe of May 28.

The Intelligencer hrads an article "Proscription"-gives n lint of promeribed afficers, and eays:

Whe hare receired urhat purports to be a symopsis of the lisf, of Ale correctwess of which ere cannot be certain, alihough in generat terms aswured of it."
We heve not ween the list of which the Intelligeneer speakanor "the address of the cilizens of Warhington to the prevident," on the sulject, of whifh the "worthy neightor" of the editor, apeaks as heing *igned lyy himself, bot we have made it our busminess to see one of the citizens principally roneerned in getting up the paper mentioned, and wn are authorised, not "in general terms," but particularyly to state, that the liat or aymopote of the Iviclligencer ts fulse-fuse in the nanot maternal pesials.

From the Nutional Iutelligencer of May 29.

Afer quoting the preccding paragrapis fromu the "Globe"6. The 'uaternal phant,' in llats vitraordimary piece of buaineses, is, unquestionably, thint a prosci iption his hes bern at up, to be presentid to the exceutive. That fact, hitherio mily currently reported, ts now acknow ledged and avowrd by the cotheral organ uf sive executive. 'The ctarductor if it has made it has bueisesa 'to see one of the cltizens priuclpally concernued.' He knew, Lisfefire, who were concerned-'u giting up the papers metisHosed ${ }^{\prime}$ ' and he to nuthorsed-nutborised tus du what? To deelare tiont there is to proseription hist in exirtence? Ot, that auch hat benrs in resembilunce to the symopssu whels was shown to us, and which we have inpparted to our readern? Not at all. The fact of the exi-tuce is umideniable, however at firm incredible. But the ufficial editur is authoriand to otate that the ayimpaim is false in the unost material points.'
"Now we undertake to alay, Unat out aceount of it falte short of the truith, inatead of eacerding is.
"Two errore we linve alrady acknowledged, vix: the omission frmm our lost of the nature of the very respectable wreasuref of the Unted statea, and the insertion of that of the secretary of war. ['The proweription lias kiudly sparrd lain.] These pertinpa, are Whe malcrial elross mierred to. No others have been supgeated to us. It in now rumosed, however, Unat, instead of a buthedred and Eny, or thereabouts, the lixt artually beare $n$ bundred ned sevensy batics, the adnitional number being cherks. It is also reparted, but we doubt the timb of the prport, timt the comanisconer of the evereral land othee is on the luat.
"There if one way of wetiling nill doults ase to what the list is or ta not. Let it be published. Let the official editor otisia a copy of it frans the esceutive, or from the gratuenan whom he nadle it his besinces on see, who was principally cosscerved in getting it up. We shnll thenknow who were the deaused vietuma of this proscriptiou. We challenge the pmbtication of it. The perple of the Ulited Slates, nut to eprak of the denoubeed, have n right to demond that publicity be given to the whole transaction."

From the mane of May 30.
The Bahimore Gazrite, in an elitorial miticle under Tuesdny's dnte, auggeas as prolalile that the promeription lifi, the existence of which is now neknowlederd, was maderout on other thas politieal principlea. Ceriainly it was; for the prominem persoise drnounced are of the origital Jachsant wheot of politicinns. But, if the editur of the Gazette *upposecs that the A-runciation iv forundrd on any def-et in movaln or capacuy in the drannineed, ine Is emurily out in thie conjectiore. An to nisetruthe of the grtmona denobicel no pretence of the kind can bwe wet ap. Thw larger phequrtion uf the permons demouncrd are grotlemen of distmgnislied urral stinding as well as notellectuat and practucal abaluy.

On the general subject an article in the "Pennsyleanian" "sye.
"Lert the democracy of the nation be nwakened to it- majestic strength, and knstam our beloved elinef nuggistrate, in emphatically clpansing the "Aupran *hatile." I.pi with his veru-rable form, which haw wh oftrn brented the caunou's monht, and shed its eruirngenus hood for mas boterty and indropndener, be palIntid with impunity, hy the unhallowed tonch of the pitiful Wretch who berotnes the daring Icater of ilefanlters, drones and slauderers of the people's rights, and the democracy of the unica."
sISTERS OF CHARITY.
While gratifying murselves in recording the following at ticles, we think it also in duly to publieh them.

Mavor"s office, Haltimore, Novemberild, Ifge.
Rav. A. J. Sldeni Ikan sin-The duine armiubed me, at mayor of the city of Haltiunore, being concluded thro day, I canDot reture toi the quietude of private hife, without acknowirdgiag the ntheation whelt the hoand of henlith and atysulf are under to yni, sir, fier yout perseveriog attention to onr nflicted fellow citizens, and through you to those invaluable Sistere of Cierity, whose benevolent conduct has brea of such earential utiduy in allevising the thururs inerionat to the fatal epidemic, whith a short period since, raged in our city. But, Uheir attrntion to the piek whe not the only service rendered liy the Sisters of Charify; they voluntanily furmialocd eloathing, at tuesir own expenwe, th the destinute orplians of those who fell victinns to the cholera; thus exholnting the purest system of anostentatious clasity that could bnve been devimed.
At the hompitals, their Inloor and attention became so important, and their exertioss so thenssamt, that, even they, were oftrn physically exhausted, mind required the helping hatad of others. At thir time, the Sidert of Charity at ithe orphan anyluth, and the infirmary freely tendered their sirtenly nseistance to sbooth the path of anstety and care, of thuse eapecially deveted to the hospitals.
But, it surely is n solemn consideration, that the Sitert of Charify will retire with two lese of their number, tban when they commenced their labor of love, in Baltimore.

The rapacious and devolating scourge, with indiscriminate transferrid their adminiatering apirits to regions of peace and tranquillity. We hambly bow in aubanisriog to the Divine dispensation, condding in the evangelist who saith "blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

The boarll of linalth and nymelf, have deemed it inn imperiman duty, is behali of the cilimenn of Hatumbere, he expreses our warmeat gratitude, and deepest meare of shigation, for shoce services wluch ware given, without conupensation: thereby, leaving us doubly yurar debtors.

Be pleased. Unereforv, my ticar sir, in teoder the sincere and grateful thanks of the borad of heaibh and onysell, th sicters Barhura, Chure, Laredic, Julia and Piuprozene, at Loompital No. 2-in mirturs Mary Paul, Dometella, Mary Jinte and Mary James, st bospital No, 3-4o sistrra -Ambrosia, superuor of the infirisary; and alwo, to Hearietta, Dorothed, Hullarid, Oetavis, Delphine and Chrysonform, of that institutuon-tor sisters Folicity, superinp of the orphata'd ayylum; and also, to Cumbilia, Bernerdine, Murceltina Brosilia and silphonso, of that instututices, for their wilwearied attention to the skek of chotera; and although they will receive no pecuniary remuseration froas us, yet 1 bumbly hope, Hest reward is regustered in beaven.
1 remsain, dear, sir, yours, and the sisters of charity'w obliged friend, and humbie eervant, WILLIAM &TEUART, Nuyor of the city of Ballimere.

Philadelphia, May 20, 1835.
At a meeting of the board of guartiana the forlowiar prominble and resulutimns were adopted, nind the letter referred u, ondered to be publuthed.

GAMUEL HAZARD, serretary.
Whereas, a written commumication has been received by thl board froat the rev. John Hickey, superior of the sintera of charity, fatimatiag, for reasona theresa atated, that it is hiw intention to m. cal the ststers now in the almahouse, ns som an this board shall have tad time to supply their place; And arhereas it is proper that some testimony should be borne to the senl, fidelity and diaiaterestedneas which these amiable philaathropists have exhibited: T'berefore, Resolned, That this body entertsia a derp, larting and grateful sense of the graerous devotedness-the sarene and Chrintian kindness, asd the pure and nnworidty benevolence whell bave poompted and snatained the siaters of Charity attached to this inctitethon, during the trying period of pestivence and death, and afterwards in the midat of constant euffering and dispase.

Resoised, That the invalunble eervices of these aniable women have been productive of lasting benefft to this insititation, in the admurabie and energetic measures whieh thay have introduced for the rulief and comfint of the aick and arthesed, and entile them to the warment thasks asd gratutude of the whole contite them to the warmert thanks asa grautude of Resolced, That this body, in parting from the statere of Charity, regret that the rules and habits of the order to which the pisters bolong, to mot admit the acceptance of any reward, as if would give them pleasure to hertow such a cestimosial as might serve partially to express the grateful feelings which they entertain.

Resolved. That in permanent testimony of our feeliag in this regard, the above reaolations be recorded in theminutel of this board.

To the beard of managers of the Philadelphia almshouse.
GEITLIENEN: When your board made applicmion timngit bishop Kewrick for the Sistean or Cnamity, the ravages of tie cholera atnong the unfortinate iamates of the institution over which you preside, required that your request should be immediately complied with. It was a crisis of pestileace which demanded prompt decmion on the part of the auperiors of the sivters at Emmetshurg, and accordinily eight of their number imunediately wet out to meet the exirency.

It has never since been in our power to ascertain, by wetual oberrvation, how far their continnanceia your fashation would be in aceoriance with the chartable ead of nur soevely, nod with the religiuus retirement and the exerciaes of piety peculiar to ite members.

Being now on the apot, nad haviag mode all the inquiriea secpasary to deternine uny jndgisent, I frel it my duty, gentlemen, to advise you thas I do not comsider their lona contianance ta the abinatouse to the that departmeat of clvarity in which they can be unost tuefully eanpliyyed. With all the zood will and kindanes which yuu gentimen have manitested in their regard, I do not parceive that, constatently with the primeiple on which the insitution is fermoded, suppouted and coverned, it is in your power to aveure to them thooe opportuatice of practising the duties of their state of life, aceording to their rulesthat protection of thetr feelinge from the rude newaulis of surh persons as are necessarily in your institation, and who regard it as their own, whilet they look upun those who minister to their comiort, as servants paid for daing it-0r that seecurity frasa micrepresentations of mutives and netion, to which n few ratirng and timid females are necesearily exposed, laboring amudut such a population of paupers.

Bexides, in every chase of legal provieion for the poor the expeases of attending then are included, the places oceupied by the sisfers might nfford employment to ethers who etand ia ared of it , for the sake of an ernolument which euters not into the motives that influence the sistres of their supprions. Conwegweatly, the poor would be astended to in your institutionwhist the sisters conld be employed in other departunents of eharity, where the nahappy sufferers have to depend on a mere pecuniary atupport; where the orphans will lonk on thens an nothers, and the sick an sisters. Where thours will be the task to plant the seeds of virtue and education in the miade of poor childirell, wlumet poverty and writclied patelith sonnetisues conspire to deprive them of boilh, unless auch facilitus be afforvesh.
Tranting, rentlemen, that you will appreciate these motives, If heg trave the ma, that aftor allowing such tiase as you biny think roquinte to bave ther places supplied by others, it is ony intention tis recal the sintels who are auw the the almolouse.
In waking thas cunsmunicution. pentlemen, permit mie to say that no complaint luas beeco made by the statera against any nember of your board, but on the contrary, every wathouny hat been borne to the ktoviness and zeal for thenr conufort, wheh you have aanifested, lidividually and collecuvely, ill thes regard, duriug the whole tuare of their atay in your insturiou and for winch permit me, geatleman, ith their name, to return you my unfrigned thanks. 1 am, gentlemen, very respectivily, your obedient servaut, Superior of the Sisters of Charity.

Philadelphia, May 154, 1833 .

BAPTISTA IN TIE CNITED STATEE.

The table which foliows, is extracted from Mr. Allen's Annnial Kegister, and gives anstatement of the number of arsociations churches, vacant churches, ordained sunistera, lieensed prettreber, the baptived in the last year, and the whote mumber of cominunicants in each state.

States and Territories.Maine, N. Harnpmbire, Maswachusetty, Rhode lelund, Conarcticut, Vermont, New York New Jersey, New Jersey, Pennsy lvnnia, Delaware, Marylund, IVis. af C'olumbia, Víginisia, North C'arolinen, Anouth Carotion, Geargia,

A inteania, Minenssippi, 1,0tsifana, Tennessee, Mispouri, Kenturky, Ilifonis, fadiasa, Mive, Arthnsag, Michigas, U. Cannida, Nova steotla. New Brunswick Jamaiea, 73If day Itap. 6th Prilt. Bap.

|  | $\frac{0}{4}$ |  |  |  | $\begin{aligned} & \text { है } \\ & \frac{4}{5} \\ & \frac{5}{5} \end{aligned}$ | Communicants |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 9 | 218 | 117 | 145 | 23 | 1,902 | 15,000 |
| 6 | 90 | \% 6 | 64 | 14 | 596 | 6,503 |
| 10 | 189 | 50 | 100 | 60 | 2,902 | 20,200 |
| 1 | 90 | 5 | 17 | 3 | 249 | 3,271 |
| 5 | 92 | 21 | 77 | 20 | 987 | 19,039 |
| 7 | 125 | 53 | 78 | 9 | 1,631 | 10,525 |
| 32 | 645 | 175 | 448 | 97 | 7,920 | 60.006 |
| 2 | 61 | 17 | 53 | 7 | 569 | 3,881 |
| 13 | 157 | 64 | 95 | 96 | 1,747 | 11,103 |
| 1 | 9 | 3 | 3 | 9 | 13 | 4 4 |
| 9 | 34 | 7 | 91 | $ | 68 | 1,341 |
|  | 5 | 1 | 4 |  | 41 | 543 |
| 92 | 425 | 146 | 923 | 36 | 7,598 | 54,902 |
| 19 | 487 | 177 | 165 | 46 | 938 | 18,903 |
| 10 | 973 | 118 | 1 K | 43 | 7,206 | 28,498 |
| 18 | 509 | 278 | 206 | 49 | 2,319 | 38,202 |
| 13 | 250 | 149 | 109 | 36 | 1,445 | 11,445 |
| 3 | 84 | 31 | 34 | 5 | 978 | 3,199 |
| 1 | 16 | 4 | 13 | 1 | 77 | 728 |
| 20 | 413 | 178 | 219 | 4 | 805 | 90,472 |
| 13 | 146 | 69 | 98 | 7 | 203 | 4,972 |
| 34 | 444 | 229 | 986 | 29 | 831 | 34,124 |
| 16 | 161 | 50 | 167 | 16 | 197 | 4,609 |
| 91 | 999 | 140 | 139 | 49 | 491 | 11,534 |
| 91 | 900 | 115 | 142 | 94 | 626 | 10,493 |
| 1 | 17 | 7 |  |  |  | 181 |
| 1 | 17 | 5 | 11 | 2 | 103 | 667 |
| 4 | 37 | 5 | 32 | 16 | 214 | 1,976 |
| 1 | 44 | 3 | 31 | 7 | 353 | 3,633 |
| 1 | 31 | 12 | 8 | 9 |  | 1,557 |
| 1 | 24 |  | 14 |  |  | 10, R38 |
| 1 | 92 |  | 32 | 9 | 643 | 4,258 |
| 1 | 23 | 11 | 12 |  | 119 | 2,137 |
| 311 | 5,513 | 9,457 | 3,133 | 657 | $43,517$ | 409,658 |
| 300 | 5,075 |  | 2,984 | 436 | 31,402 | 361,434 |
| 11 | 438 |  | 219 | 921 | 11,055 | 48,994 |

Total in 1631 ,

acrease

['pwards of $\mathbf{4 1 , 0 0 0}$ permons, se appeara by printed returnd from the asenciations, hare beren adiled to the cliarclies by bapHFm , duriag the last ansnciational s car; 2,426 of these churches bave no pariote. It being the fact that no reinrns for lRez, were rreeived from several amsociation* In North Carolun, Genrgia, TPenn*wuee, Kentucky, and few other mtates, the editor of the Regivter inferm, that the nbove tabnlar mererigate of baptixma, falla corvisiderably below the actalal number. The probshitity, in bis opision, ik, that abuut fifly thoutand were layptized in the deaonisation darine the gear.

LIFF OF JOHN JAY.

"The Life of John Jay, with selections from his correspondence aud miscellancous papers," by his son, Wil liam Jay, has lately been published in New York. Mr. Jay dieil in 1820, agril 84 years. Few men had filled a larger space in pultic life than he did. He was one of the best and most zealous members of the old congress, the first eliief justiee of the United States, ke.
We have not scen the work; hut feel mueh pleasure in enyving the following from the "New York American." It places Mr. Jay in a most worthy and honorable lightand we hcartily rijoice in it. "National honor is national atrength;" and that honor is materially connected with the repestation of our prominent citizens. His snhmission to instructions, white rendering his ohjections to the broan seope of then, is an adnuirable instance of what is nowe clansued as the true "democratic" prineiple.

A truly Ameriean feeling on every question whth formizners reppecting the nghts and dignity ur him eountiy, was a marking tratt in the eharacter and conduct of Mr. Jay: L'uder the pres: sure of adverse circumplabcos congrews suffered themselves, in 1781, to receive the fottaloun of the Fronch muisitter as to the tertas on which alone American mintsters in Europe phould treat for peace with England; and Itwy actuatly agreed, on the proposilion of M. Gerard, to insert in the instractionn of their inintoters the followitg paragraph additional to that in wheh the Amerieall functionaries were directed to rrpuse fuil conhdence in, and freely to consult the French cabmet-"and ultianately to govern ywurseif by their advice and opuion." Jutin Adams, then ininister in France, having been found of too sturdy honealy, and too sagacious judgiaent, for the purposes of eount de Vergenner, congress was molaced, ehiefty by the importunity of the Prench minixter in Philadelphas, in associate other four comoniantoners with him, in order to treat fof peace, The persans welected were John Jay, Ttoman Jrffermon, fienjamin Franklin and Ueury Laurens. Mr. Jay, when he received his new courmission with the inalructions just allinded to, was In Madrid: How they affected hitm will he perceived by the folowing letter-adutirable not lewifor unaffected personal bumi lity, than for high and geusine pride of country:

Se. ILdefoneo, 90th Sept. 1781.
To the presilent of congrest.
Bia-Your exceilency's favor of the Sth July past, with the papera therewith euclosed, were delivered to mee on the orth th, by major F'ranks, whon the procrastimation of the mitister till shotiges me retain.
The sew connuussions with which congress bave honored me, argue a degree of confidence which demanda my warmeet ackuowledgments; and which, wo far as it may be founded on an opinioa of my zeal and integrity, they may be assured will hot prove misplaced.
At the commencement of the present tronbles, 1 determined to devote tnywelf, duriog the continuance of then, to the service of any country, ta any wtation ta wheh she might think it proper th place me. Thin resolution, for the firat time, now enubaramens me. I kanw it to be my dury, as a publie servant, to be guided lay my own judgment oniy ta matters relerred to iny discretion; and, in other casua, faithlulty to execute my instructions witheut queationing the pohey of them. But there is one annug thoge wheis sccompany une commisoinus, which occasions mentations I anver before experieuced, and tuducea me to wish that may name had been onnitied.
So far as personal pride and reluctance to humitiation may render this apponitinent dosagreeaide, I view it as a very unimfrothat circultstance; and should congress, on any ireasiont, Luak at for the pabise gond to place me in a wtation infertor and subordisate to the one I now hold, they will find nue ready to dewernd from the ofte, anil cheerfully undertake the duties of she otiver. My atibition will alwayp be more gratified in belag useful than conspicuous; for, in uy opmuen, the solnd dagaity of mans drpends leas on the beight in extent of the sphery alintied to bum, than on the unaner in wheli he tnay fuldi the duties of it.

But, air, as an American, I feel an intereat in the dignity of any cututry, wincth readers it ditheult for me to reconcile thyseif to the sdea of the sovereign independent states of America aubpuiting, it the percous of their nuthstera, to be absolutely coverned by the adeice and oginion of the servants of another uvareign, espectally u a case of such national importance.

That gratutude and confidence are dne to our allien is not to be questuosed; and that it will probably be in the power of France almost to dictate the terms of peace for us, is but 100 une. That ench extraurdinary estent of confidence may stimatlate our alice to the highest effort of a generious frieudship in our faver, is nut to be deated; and that this inafruction receives some appearance of policy fivis this consideration, may be admitted.
tunit, nevertheless, take the liberty of observing, that however our situatuou uay, it the opininn of coagresa, runder it becessary to relax their demands on every side, and even to dirnet their conauissiuners ultimately to concur (if nothing better can ba done) in any peace or truce not subveraive of our independence, which Prance may be determined to aceedn to, yet that this instruction, bevides breathing a degree of eomplacency not quite repabicau, puts it vut of the power of your ininisters to improve these cisancem and opportunities which, in the course of human affire, happen nose of less frequently unto atl men. Nor is it clear that Aluerica, thus canting lierself into the arma of the king of France, will advance entier ber interest ar repueation with that or other nations.

What the acntiunento of my colleagues on this necasion may be, I do not as yet know; nor can I foresee how far the nemotiatuos of the ensuing winter asay call for the execution of this commisston. Thus circunstanced, and at such a distance from Amarica, it would not be proper to decline this appointment. I will, therefore, do my best padcavors to fulfil the expectations of cougreas on this eubjeet; but as for my own part, 1 think $h$

Improbable' that serious negotintions for peace will soon take place, I must entrent congress in take an carly oppurtusily of clievine me from a stalion where, in character ol their iminitur, I must uce ssarily reevis and obey (under the name of opinions) fie dircertians of thme ou whomi really thuk ao Amerkean simbler otaght to be dopendent, and to whem, in love tor our consitry, and zent lor her servire, I am mare that my colleaguen and Dijsell are at least equsl. I liave the lowor to be, ke, JOIIN JAY.

TRIAL OF THF REV. EDWARD IRVING.

$t$ hom late Finglish parers.

The licaring of this rase, which was a charge of heresy, agatast the eqlebrated rev. Edward Irving, of Loudon, came on befint the prestytery of Auman on Wedncaday last. 'Tlise proceedings were opened with a prayer, after which the Inilicusieat was read, whileh charged the rev. delendant wrth maintaining Ihe sinfesineaa of Christ in his hutman nntife. He had writien that the devil temperl breause he knew our Loord to be temptabe; that bumen fature was corrapt to the heart's core, ath an this ane human nature which the ans was the hurna. nurues passages froun of Bod tovik apon bituself, &c. &c. Numerous passaged froun the writings of the accused were read. In conseqsence of the pro muigation of these duellines, the general assembly of skotland bad etijouned the preshytery of Amban to call upon the rev. Edward Irving to avaw or daravaw them; in order that, if he avowed thervin, be might be drposed from that station ja the chitrei of Aeolland to wheh the preabytery of Atraan, by the itnpositione of hands, ordained bim. The moderator mquiring if lie admitted the truth of the libel, Mr. Irving, with great satienaily, re-plied-"IfI have saill and tauglit that Christ was laphuosed asa man-that be took our sinful anture apon luin-but by the srace of God be was uphetd, and yuelded uot to the motiona of that suiful nature-then it is a glorious doetrine, and I will mainimiti $i t$, yea, even unto death." Muderator-"It is neeessary that yeu answer aye, of no." The rev. Sidward Irving-"W'tat I do hold ts, that the flesh of Christ, being of the seed of David-bura of a woman-was sinfui; but that it was presented loly unto Gedboly, holy an the law of Gud inwelf. And surely you do not eelt this a true libel." After sonve feneing, atea whe recorded that the accused adinitiod the correctisess in the extracts. The thembers of the preabytery then delivered their opmaigns, serialitia, that the doctrine in question was heretiral, masmach as Chrtst wan enaceived of the Holy (thost; and, although a man, was without pill. Inring thewe addressea, Mr. Jiving kept his fare tmried In hiw hands, and oftea sighed aloud. Mir. Irving delivered all eloquent and earnest addross, which lasted nearly two hours. His spint-wtirring eloquence, hos extraordinary appearance, hise zreat physical powers, his gesturem, his intonationse, all combined to conumand the utinost attention, and to make, it was obvioup, a deep impression. Tite presbytery nosminousiy pronounced lise doetrinms herrical, and the moderator anked him If he had any objerenon why sentence of depositton stoonld not be pronnsuaced. Mr. Jrving rose and subd, with great vehemence, "objeetion? all objection! ohjretion? all ohjectionl I ohject not for my own sake, but for the sake of Christ, my Lord, whom I serve and honor. I object for your ankey, who will thus call down on your heade the righteons wrath of God. I object fir the chureh's snke, who are led blindfind to rain. Objeetion! All otjection!!" 'Tlie modefator requeated the senior member of the presbytery to offrr upa prayer, when a geuthemnn who sat with Mr. Irving, and who whas said to be one of his deacons from London, arose and with great veltemence esclaimed, "depart? depart! arlse and foor! fiee ye out of her! ye cannot pray to Christ whon ye deny! depart! depart! I say depart! flee, flee!" Great coneternation and confusion now br gan to prevall, and the ehurch helog almost dark, (fop it was 7 o'eloek), added to then not a litule. The deacon, who seemed greatly excited, made bis way foreibly thmuph the crowd. (llere there was a burat of hises from the gafleries). Mr. Irving, who was proceeding to follow his friend, then exclainied, also with great vehemence, and apparently to the crowd that normewhat obstructed lum phasnage. "gtand forth! stand forth! What! will ye not nbey the the Holy Ghost! As many as will obey the voice of the Hoty Chost, let them depart!" He then made his way tnwards the door, and just before reacbing it, he exctaimed, "prayer, indeed! oh!" Several gentlemen of Mr. Irving's party followed. In the midat of areat confuston, Mr. Stosn offered up a brief prayer; afer which, the moderator formally pronounced the sentence of depostilion of the rev. Edward Irving from the manistry of the chareh of Beotiand.

UNITED ETATFG BANK INTERPAT
The New Orleans Mercantif Advertiser furnishes the detaild report of a judicial derision in the U. S. district mont, in favor of the rulen adopted by the bank of the United Statee in the calculation of interevt.
The suit was broagit hy the baak finr the recovery of of 1,010 , belng the amount of a promisoory note dated lith of Jane last, at four monthm. It wan direounted on the 3 d of Juty, bave ing 108 days to run, but the hank adoled the four dave of grace, making it 107 days, for which they took digeonnt. No nofjeetion was made to the addition of the four days erace, but the patment was refused, upon the gmand of u*urt, againat the 9th article of the charter, because the bank had ealenlated iss discounts by Rnwlett's tablee, wheh are based upon sol days for The year, and thirty days for the month; and that this caleviation of dix per cent. for 360 daye intetead of 365 , was a violation of that peat of the charter which provides that the bank shall not receive "'more than six per centum per anntin." In the present case the differenes was turenty-five cents.
The point lus never been deeided in the U. S. cosarts. The select coumattee of the house of representatives of March, 1832, reported in favor of this usage as one that "conformed to the established, nad it is believed universal usage in the Utitud States prevniling ansong individuals as well as in monied institutions, and to the most approved tablea (Roviett's) beretofore in use" -but to judicial decision han ever been had upon the polut.
Judge Ilarper examined the question nt length In the ease before him, and decided that nelther the provisions of twe cliarter, the cougressional expositione of it, the policy of the rule, nor the gencral custom of banks and merchants, sustained the plea of usury againse the lanak.
It is to be noted that in Louisiana, where this contract was made, thrre is no statute against usury, and there heing no Unutud states law on the subject, the legal pointe ware on the conatruction of the charter, and general principles of law. The well known Nuw Yurk case, of the bask of Ulica againat Wager, in which this satue rule of caleulating intereat was decideal in bet asurious, differs from this in lu being that of $n$ state hank, vinlating an express statute of the state. The jadge farther suansested that woury in the bank would not void the gucnrity. The charter lmposes no apecifie pewalty. The remedy is on the part of the government for a loreach of eharter, not in the isslividuat to make his obligatious vuid.
It necms from a part of the judge's cluarge that be was cxpected to lean againzt the institution because of his opposition to its rerliarter. Ife saya, "As to the argamentum ad hominem, tonebing independence of decision, and the patslutiman nf lending juducial aid in breaking down an mostitution which like an incubus weighs Ineavily on the Inoniy politie, I wiil oully fay, that huwever much I may condemn the general prineiples upos which it is founded, as a poli. tician, yot, ast it has received the sanction of ail the properiy conetubted authoritien, it is my duty, as n judgo, to uphold it in the enercise of all its legal rightis."

IMPORTANT SLAVE CASE.
From Poulson's american Daily Adrertiser.
Caleb Jolinson, in citizen of the state of Naw)

Jermay,

Isave Tomipkins, a jnstice of the pence, John Kenderdine, Isazehar Kenilvidine, Juntinian Kenderdine, John Iredell, Thomas Kenulet-

Ciscuit enurt of the diaw, Johin E: Kenderdune, Ilenry Nandinan, Ranurl Gray, Rubert Kenderdine, Johu Iredell, Thowns Iredell and Jacob 'Touplkias, citizens of I'enaeyivanat.

1. Jedrdiah Allen,
2. Jedrdial Allen,
3. Ramuel Haya,
4. Rueben Fitung,
5. James Mc Alpu,
6. Jacob Atrembeek,

Numse of Jurponen.
 ment, and brought in them ercuit court of the United states, franasyivania untrict, and tried beforn julges Halduin nnd Hopdinson. 'Tlie juty were empanmelled on Mouday, the 2941 April, and the caso was clused on the 7ih ult. The trial bise ben one of the most interesting ever heard in a court, and excited an intense linterest during its promresk.

The following id a lyief outinge of the circumstancer:
some tune previnis th the month of October, leak, negro Jack, a slave, the pmoperty of the phatisiff, nbeconded from his manter, rendian near Yriaceton, New Jersey, fled to the county of Moutgotuery, in I'sibnes Ivania, in the neiginborbond of Hartburought, cominaunty endted the Bilfet, and there was hired by the defendants, Johat ani Inancloar Kenderime. On Sonday Boorning, the 20th of Octoler, leike, the plaintiff, with his bmther, Ralpli Jotinson, atul his friends, Mresers. Withington and Skilsiore, lef Princetin, crossed the Deiaware; and about an Ionur be fore aniset, arrived at the billet, for the purpose of eeeuring and taking up Jark as a rnnaway slave. They put up nt the best knowu tavera in the village, then kept by Mr. Marples. L'pon awcertaining where Jack was, they lef their great coats not untor-llas at Marples', and proceeded to the residence of the defendant, Jolan Kenderdine, who lived nbout four miles from the Hilfet. They frevinusly ordered their supper to be ready on their return, and inentioned to Marples (the landlord) the ohject of their visit, nnd what they were nbout to do. About dank, they arrived at Kendurdine's-there was sickness in the family, nod the male members of the fanily wers from home. Three of the frour Jersey party len the waysu in the road, and went to the kitchen of the mansion bouse and knocked at the door. They were told to walk in, whea one of them gaid an accident had happened to their wagon, and they whed help. In an instant Jack was recognized-they then said no accident happened, but that they used this precaution to secure him. Jack agreed to go at once. He was placed in the wagon with fettera, and upon returning to the house and uraking an Ineffectual nitempt to obtain Jack's clothes, the party proceeded taeffectual niteript to obtain Jacks clothes, the party proceeded to return to the BilleL. There was contradictory testimony as to certain threato alleged to have been made in and on the romd by the assoeiates of the plaintiff, but it was proved that they deciared tyat If they would go with them to the Billet, they wrould satisfy Isaachar Kenderdine that they had the right to take Jack. Bafore they atarted, laaschnr Kenderdine had arrived it his brother Jobn's bouse, nnd demanded their nuthority to take Jack. The taking was conducted so quielly that it was not beam in the siek room up staire.

Before the party had got back to the Billet, they were overtakea by Juhn and lsaachar Kenderdine, and á large assernblage of persons who bad been collected, were altacked with stohes and clabs; the plaintiff received a blow whicb produced a contueson on the side of the bead, and the phystian pronounced it nserious wound. When they nrived at the Billet, they ware surrounded by a mob of 40 of 50 persons, and were compelled to go at once to judge McNiel, an associate judge of Montgomery county, to prove their property. The ptainuff beiug very weak, bezged to stay till musning. This was refused, nad the plaistiff and one of his associates rode In their wagon, nad the other two walked to the residence of the judge. Among the crowd wese the defeadants, Tompkins, a justice of the peace, and the conptable sitas Roney, who was at that time only a spectator. When they arrived at the residence of Judge McNlel, a partial bearing took place, and the Judge recommended a further bearing as to tive slavery of Jark, and that is the mean time Jnatice 'Jompkims should comnat Jack to jail, and blud over the plaintiff and lis associates to prosecute his elatin. John and Isaachar Kenderdine went to justice Tompkina and entered accurity in 8800 for the appparance of Jack to answer the elaim of lits master. The constable and the mob then conducted the Jersey party back to the tavern, and kept them in eustody till Jersey party

The defendant gave in evidence that judge McNiel bad directed Jotin Kenderdiue to brivg the plaintift and live party before himi, hy force, If they resioked, but judge McNiel stated that he meant legal force, and when they were before bim, seeing a juetice of the prace (Tompkline) and the constable (Roney) in company, he believed they were brouglit before bim by legal authority.
louring the night, Withington escaped and came to the city, nod it was suppmed gave information to the friends of the plaiktIf of hus ietention; the remaining three were treated with great neverity, beling refused even a bed. Before daylught on Monday morniug, n compromise was agteed to by alf the parties who were preswnt, and the plaintiff offored to manumit Jock and pay the expenscs. A message whs despatched to Johin Kenderdine to obtain lits consent, but be pereimptorily refused, declaring they should he prosecutrd. On Monday maraing, the three Jerseymen were taken before Justice Tompkins, and seearity Jerseymen were taken before Juktice Tompkins, and seenrity in eff,000 wan required of them tu naswer the charge of kiduapping. The plainuff and lus party unt bring able at that tine to give the kecurity, the justice wax proceeding to write a connuitnuent, when the constable luterposed and paid he wonld be recurity for their app-nrance un the uest day. They were accordingly conducted back to Marple's tavern and romained there under custody till the next day, 'Tuesday. During'the second night, John Keudyriline, and elght or ten of his friends, eame to the tavern, nad insisfed upon taking eharge of the jorisoners; sonve of the party belaved with great iudeness. The constable remonstrated, but they persisted, and he withdrew from the charge. On Tuesday the friends of the Jerney party nrrived from Newiown, in Rucks eonnty, and the eity of Philadelphia, and they entered into security in $-3,000$, reapectively. and one security In the like mum to apprnat at the mext court of quarter sexsimn, to auswer the charge of hidnapping. Jolin and Isaachar Kenderdine were bound over in tealify ngainst them. The grand jury exnminel the withesses for the prosecution, nad returned a true bill. At the trial at Nortistown, Nountgomery county, hefore the petit jury, great e seltenuent ngaines Jolinson and his co defendants, prevailed. Asuhecilption was made to employ additional conngel in aid the attorbey general lu conducting the prosecution; anter a long and arduons trisl, the defendants were arquitted, and nequro Jack was Arliveryd up to his master, Caleb Johmant, the presrit plaintiff, by orde'r of judge Jones, one of the judges of the court of common plens of Montgomery eounty.
There never was nay authorily in writing, either warrant or enmmitment, to detain thr Jersery party; there never was any heating on oath or affirnuation, nor wan there nny complaint made on oath or affirmatimith fore judge McNirl or Justice Tompkins on Monday; the cvidenre was contradietory whether any complaint on nath or affirmation was made before justice Tonnptins on Tuesday.
On the present trial there was no diepure that Jack wan n slave-since his reatoration to his marter he had manumitued thim. Jack was now living apar to his maeter in the virluity of Princeton, nand hat attended tor: last eourt as a withess for the plaintiff, when the trial was portponed. Caleb Juhuson the plaintiff was a farmer of conviderable wralth aul unexceptionnble chatmeter, it appeared nlon that the defemilants were nus of moderate property, nlso of fair charaeter and lighly rexpectable members of the socipty of friends.
Separate suita brought by Raiph Jnlinson and Skllmore were pendiug, and prosecntions agamst seren of the defendants for the penalties of 5500 , earl $\operatorname{In}$ posed for ohstructing the recovery of fingitive slaves under the act of congress of 12th February, 1793.

A wide rango was taken by the respective counsel in their addresess to the jury. The absuract merit of slavery, the impartance of necuring to the owners of slave*, their righta, and ther tmpultry and mjusuce of commiving at the escape of fugituve alavea were fully considered and disctuseted.
Un the part of the piatitaff it was eontended that this was a high handed violatom uf all Inw abd authurity on the part of the detiendants, and that they siovuld be puasobed with most exetinplary weverity.
'I'be counswil of the defendante juntified them in every part of their conduet, atid contended that in points of law as well an werit, they were entitled to an mevmitial.
The court, in a mawt able and decoded charge, iantristed the jury, that the platutufi and his associates were justithot in every step that they had lakea to recover the slave; that the jrourrvatoon of the unam dopponded oss the atforiling to the ownera of slavea ant lengal and propper finellues to recover theit property; that the procesalinge ont the delemilanta from the counnenersment os the conciustom had bewin withomit conir mi authority, and in dircet valation uf the consitintom on the l'tited states, abd the state of Preuniyivania, and the only questmas were, which nf tise defendants has paiticipatend in those Irregobarisum, and what atmount of damagoas olomidl he given. 't'lie fury reiscal itum thit tustant, and samse day came luts court with a verdict tor the alefondanta-Jacob Tomopkins, Juhn K. Kenileriline, 'I'homas Sandman, Samanel ©iray.
'The jury, we unvermeand, formally reqursted judge Malderin to farash a enpy ot lisu charges tior publication.

Counsel-7\%oness Kifters and Josiah Kasdall; cwpmires, for the phanntife: Win. Rasile, jr. und Joha Sergeant, coquires, tor Use detendanls.
[ $60^{-7}$ The opinino of the conrt shall be Incerted in cxtrnsothuugh its leugth is greal.)

GEOTGIA CUNVEENTION.

On Monday, the I3th of May, the eonventinn tonk tp the reprort of the cosnmittee, and the suhstitutes nffered by several netmbert.
Afer some debate, the convention aprecd te take up a mulvatitute offered by Mr. MayF, of Dekalb, by erctums. 'The firmt mection provides for the organizatoon of the senate, and divides the suate into senatorial districts, of two conntion each, whoul regard to pepnialion, &e. A motion to strake outt tre was decided in the negative-ycas 114 , nays 128, A rulastimte ufferm by Mr. Buwett, of Jarkson, was almo negalivid, yeas 93 , nays 150. The quastion was then taken on agreeing in the firmt ace tion of Mr. May s' guthstitute, and deevied in the aftirnative, yeas 162 , naya 81. The mecond section jurrvides fot the organi xation of the house of representatives, hy the electho of numluets according to mitite population. Mir. Dawson offrred an amendment to this section, shanging the batis of represcufation by white popusation, as providrd in that section, for the federal representation. The queption on this amendment iras decided in the megatire, yeas 123, nays 196 . Another substitute was offered, incorporating the federal regresentation as a basis, which was rejected, yeas 100 , nays 138 . After another substitute had been oftergd and rejected, the question was taken on agreeing to the acrion, and decided in the affrmative, yras 198 , nays 110 .

In Tuesday, a very animated debate arose on a motion in reconsider the virte of the precediteg day on tic question of agreeing to the adojution of Mr. Mays'smbstitnie, which wail docided In the negative, yeas 114, nays 130. The convention then adjourned to 4 n'elock in the afiermoon.

At four o'clock, the idd and 4 th sectionn of the subslitute of Mr. Mays, were taken up. An amendment proposed hy Mr. Marris was takrn into consideration. By it the house in to enngist of 144 members, except in the formation of new countice, These 144 numbers are io be disiributed ar follows: 15 conntics having the highest nuouber of urhite populution, th be entitled pach to 3 meinhers; 25 counties hnving the neat hightat nunular r of shite population, to be entited earh in 2 members; and the remaning 49 counties in one mumber each. Ancr every censits, a new apportioninest to be made by the Jrgislature, and should new counties have been created, the counlices entithed in a lar. per number of represmatatives Utan onr, to the reduced, &ce. This ancondment was received, yeas 140 , nays 92 . Sumue oiluer auendnuente were proposed, but rejected. i'n Wं-dnerday, Mr. Harris offerrd a aretion, dividing and dirtibsiting the otate into sebatorial district, in the nitmber fureviutu-ly agreed on. 'The thons were made and rejected. In the afternumb the convention adjourned sine dic.

GEORGIA AND TIF IHFRCIKFIEK
From the Fedcral linion, May 16.
Tue Curaoxaze. It will he recollerted, that a phort ilme mince, we made a few rounarka on the very repreforimibie attompt manfe by errtain jergone in monvince the f'herokers, that the presldent would sustaln them in their opposition in ont law In which we expressed the "hope that presitient Jacknon mould enhbrace rowe early opportontty to marimice the Cherokees of their true sifuntion, amd that hit wind had unitergone no change in retaflon to their rights and pretensions," W'e have had this hope fully and early grailfied. We were well apprized of the exer. tions on font by our vigalant governor to di=atume the puhtic opinoon, and to eonvinre the penple of Georgis, finth white men and red mea, that the machinations of their eaemites were in vain--for we consiifer them the enemies of beth-and we feft as mant confitent convirtion that the prowident otill held his entFinm sentiturntu upon thim ouhject. 'I'lie corteepondenee this day pulitished by governor Liminpin to our colamin, sets the qurstom at rust; and they mant now blush, who have, in any wny, drevived the Indiase witi that behef that the revenue end Ifrtion art, called the forre net, woutd give them any aid. las. enage cannot le mope papmess shan that bued by thw seefetary of war, Mr Cass, and the cominutsentoner of Indian affairw, Mr. Herrine. Mr. t'awn saym-s"Thene lettern will undoubtedly remuve any errore uhich may have prevalled, and will ghew that the opinions of the preridenf are turchanged." Mr. Herting says - "'The prestifrnt get thinks, ar he has always thwnigh, the exectilve has wo conotifutional right to apply nildtary force to remove persons from any perty af the stales of Georgia or Alahasua." Agann he mays: "fam instracted further to e'spress to yout the npinion of the prepident, that the fomachiate rewoegl of your ponple, In cevufurmity with the very Illueral term theld ont to ineul. wfisps the owly prospert of thefr permanent and propperous estantishment." Thrse letwre mre olicial, and ennvoy diterity the views and wishes of the previlent-and any man who wobld herwatur aitemipi to miwrepresent them, dewerves the reprobatron of every lieorgian.

Fircoutive departinent, Ga. Milledgerille, May 14, 1R33.
In oriter to corrept various misreptenentations, circulated Ihrumgh the prens asd other cloanuels, f have to mquest newspaper ffiome, frimudly to the grent interent of the connery, and eppecially that of tieorgia, to publish the following eorroppondence.

WIISON LUMPKIN.

Freculiee department, Ga. Millengerille, $\boldsymbol{A} \mathrm{I}^{\boldsymbol{F}} \boldsymbol{i l}$ 86, 186.

How. Lew is Cans, mectetary of war.
Nis-A fow days apn I addrewed a letter to the president of the I'uited Ntater, on the pulject of our Indian relationa, which I requested might be suhnitited to yous.

In connection with the same suhject, I herewith enclose yous a eopy of a tetter, recrived by the a fow daye aro from a roppertalle erntloman, who reaide-s in the neighborhond of John Ifrow. "I'lunt gentlewan, with variont othris, infiorm me, that Kops is exhthuing this indiscreet lelter, and imjutexalng the sgaorant Indtans and Indian eounirymen, with the bellef, that be is authorised to any, from the anthority of the war department that In a short sime, all the Georgia metiers, who have spilled under the andinnty of the laws of Georgia, will be droven frnet thrir loomes hy the Intited Ntates" army. TThere may be some exaterration in these mtatenuenter bat I am foreed th the con-piu-ian, from what I have beard, and from the reading of this iwnprudent tefter, that great pfincta are making in that coeatry to inislend and drinde the anfortunate Chernkees.

I do not hesitate in my reply in atch communications, to meware the people of that conntry, that no change has taken place In the virwa of the federal execuilve, and that the Indians, se long an they choose to remain in Georgia, mont yirld implicit nisedience in the puppermany of the Iaws of the etate. And that no prower of the federal envernment will ever be exerted to remove the inhabitants who have sertifed under the antboricy of the atate, kc. &ce. I am engnged in usinit all the means ia my power to counteract the miachtevote influence of the enpmies of enod order in this batt seitled country. Hut I consider it highly Inıprorian that you should, with all possible derpateh, tmake sueh a communiration to the Cherokrep, as whall put an rnd to all false storien of the eharacter prointed ont. 8uch a commoranication should be puhticly and authentically made to the whote people, who may axspmite at their eouncil on the 14th of mext monih. It is submitted to yowr convidration, Fistpe, hinimelf, might not be madn throwigh we to the Cherokecs tnont effectnally. At any rate, please to let me hear from yout inmediately on this suhject, fint 1 deem it Indiepensable, at their mppromehing council, hy momb meane, to remove the idie delesivn Into whirh these people are led, by the exerions of bad men. If the copy of the ipiter which I Parlise you, be nent a forsery, it deserves strong reprehemwion. Hach productions, from such a quarter, are most mischlevnus. With great rewpect yonr othedient servant,

WILEON LUMPKIN.
[Here follows the letter above referred to.]
Nepartiment of wery, offre of Indian affiris, Morch 14, 1833.
Fia: Yonr letter of the Rth instant, addreaped to the secretary of war on the sutheret of intrusion on Chernkee land by white citizena, has been referred to this office for reply.

It pannot be denied that your complaints are well founded, and that your peopple have sinstained injuries from the rapacity and Inwless condurt of our eitizens. It is, however, in sompe degree an unavoldahle evil, Incident th the preaent condition of your tribe, and no blame in failly attributable to the department on that aceonnt. It in due th the gecretary of war to aky, that as mon as the recrived notice of intruders laving presented themselvea on your land, he eave orderm for their expalition. Thrae ordere will now be repeated, and a miltary foree will forthwith be sent to the assniled parts of your country. For the purpose of expellinz and keeping onf intruders. And orders will atan be given to the dintriet attorney of the United states to proocrute for tropass, all such may mare to return after their expulsion. Yon cannot consider it a misplaced assurance, and it if anade with the nimnat sinecrily, that the department cherishes deep solicitude for the welfare of your natuon, and will, to the extent of ita powers, endeavor th promote it. With ligh reapeet, your humble servant, R:LBERT IIER Mesurs. John Ross and others, ('herokee delegation.
Department of var, May 2, IR33.

Srw: I had the honor to reerive, wint letuer of the gith wh. together with the eapy of one frint the commissioner of iniban affaire, dated Mareh lith, and addressed to sonse of the pinci pal asen among the Clusrikees.

Before the receipt of your letter, application had been made by some of the c'icrokiven, in know wherther any change hat taiken place in the upiulinns if thr- president, reapecting the conetutuateral rupht of the exeeutive to remove peronis from Innd clanned by the Indians, where the linw of the state liad been extended over such land. Tlisy plated that they mante the in quiry because mone of their prople had boken ap aueli an impresston, foundeal on ithe above Irtter of the comuntierioner. Inmmediate measures were taken to corrret this misapprebeusion, and explationery Ietters, copies of whleh I have the leronot to enchose, were written, and despatched to enl. Mentgonery, the Cherokee agent, majur C'urry, the ppecial agent for emizration, and to the Cherokee persoms whin souztht the information. These letiors will undoubtedly remave any ermors which may have prevailed, and will show that the opinione af the presilent are unchanged. Very respectfuliy, I have the honur to br, your I.EIV IS CAs, Obis excellency, Wilson Lumplin, Milleigevilie, Georgia.

Department of ener, office of Indi.m affriro, May 1, 1833. Sis: In consumpenee of an appliontian form arveral of the Cherokeen, I have been instructed by the secretary of war to call gour autition to my letter tig om of Marelf 15th, IK37, and to say tu you that the provi-ions of that ketter reinte solely to those purtions of the Cherrikre criulily within the states of Tenncerce and Nurth Carulina, and over whielh the laws of tinse vtates have mot been extended. The viewn of the president upon this sulject have been tuo onth ami ton puhticty exprossed, tu leave any douth of tie course which, in his opiniven, plonoid be pursaed. Aad this explanaton! wovld have loeen eonsidered views. The premident yll thinkx, as he has alway & thought, the exeçutive has ha conslitutional rigit in aplly military force to remove peronns from any part af tive states of Georgia or Alabama. I ank, sir, very rospectfully, your ohe dient servant.
Col. H. Monfgomery.
FLBERT HERRING.
Departinent of inar, ofinee of Indian affirirr, May 1, 1833.
Sie: Euclosed I trannmit yous copies of two leficren of this date, one cudurecd to the agent, enl. Montgomery, and the other to several of the Chernkecs. Yoll will nee ty these fertess, that some mifapprehen-ion has exiftod, or ha- been effected, te:opecting the purport of an onder celll by this uffre in ent. Mont gomery' on the 1isth Mareh last, for the removal of intruders from the Clisfokee country.
That onder is lutended to operate only upon the Cherokee landa withn the states of North Carolina and Tennessee, nwer which the state laws have not been extended. The viewn of Whe execntive on tits subject liave been wo well known, that it Was not suppomed that any mintake could arine. If, however, any thas arisen, it will be cleared up liy there ittiructions. I am directed to communicate theqe facts to ynu, that you may be aware of the prreise vicwn of the presitrmt, and that you may eorrect any ermacous impreseion: which may have been madr, and which may have a tendency to prevent a favirable decisinn by the ('hronkee covncil, whieli is about to convene. Yery reopectfully, ynur nbedient servant, FLABERT HERRING.
Benjumin F. Curry, esq.
Department of mer, office of Indian effiris, May 1, 1830.
Genthanev: I have bern dirceted hy the secretary of war to acknowledge the receipt of your letler to lum of April Sth, and to infortn you that mo ehasge whatever has taken place in the opinions of the president, so often expressed to yonr perople, and so elearly stated in the Iftten it whith yon allude, from the war department, of February 94 and 204h, IN33, ne well as in previoss connumications respecting the eninstitutwnal right of the executive in apply military force to the retnoval of peryons from any part of the Intans coantry over which the haws of the proper statey have bees extendiof. My h tterate Mr. Rones and others of the 14th March, and to enl. Montgnmiery uf the 15th of March, were intended io relate solltly to that part of the C'herokee coantry lying withm the ztatios of Nerth Carolina and Tren. asmee, and over which there atutpa have not uxtended their ju. riadiction. The whole viewn of tise exceutive were so well Inown th your perple, that it was not mupposed that any mixapprchension on this sulject coulal have exiwted. And I am direeted to state to you elearly, that the noinions of the prewideni, heretofore expreased, are unchanged, and that no inserfirence with the laws of the respective stater on this sulject, thnst he expected. Theme viewe liave been eomminicated to col. Mnntgomery, though thry cannot be necessary for his action in the matter. And I am invmeted farther th expreas to you the opiajon of the president, that the immediate remaval of your pen ple, in cogaformity with the very liberal trrma held ont to them, effers the only prospect of theif peramanent and prosperous es. tabtishmenL. Very reapectfully, I am, Fenilemen, your ohedlent servanh, $J$, RHige, eng, and ohber, Head of Coosd.

TREATY KITH RUSSIA.
Dy the prevident of thr Uniled States of America.
a PROCI.AMATION. a PRoclianation.
Whereas a treaty of navigation and commeree, briween the United States of Ameriea and his majosty the comperor of all the Russias-ugether whit a spparate arturle-theretu-was conelud of I beet inther, in the year of our lond onve thotsand right limatred and thirty- twa, which treaty asd separate article are, word for word, as fiblows:

In the mame of the most Moly and inullisathe trinity:
The I'nitrd suates of America, atid his najejerty the raipror of all the Etssian, equally antuateil with the deaire of thaintaining the r-lations of gocel uuderstandug, whin'h have bithertu an happily subuintcal lnctwern their resperctive staten, and of expendug and emisolidatug the romomercial intercourse betwern liwn, bave agrved to inter into nequtharins fir the eonclostonn of a treaty of mavigation fund esmomerre: For which purpose the president of the l'mited kuten has conGurred full powre on Jamex lhehanan, their envoy extraordinary and minister plentpotentiaty near his imperal majerty; and his nuajenty the s-mperor of alf the Ru*wine has conforted like puwers on the pirur charlem Robert enumt de Nesmelroder, hit viee rhamerlior, kiolgit of the ouders if Rus. pia, aul uf many othern, &e. ant the whid phenuphithtaries loving veloangral their thill priwers, found in good and due form, have cuncluded and aigned the following anticles:

A量TICIEI.

There shall be betwren the territories of the high enalraeting partims, a reciprocal lilerty of connum-ree and waviguturn. The inhabitante of their respertive states shall, menthally, have itberty to enter the ports, placen and rivern of the teriliotiea of rarls party, whelever forion comumerre is primitted. They whall be at liberty in soydurn and rewtice in all parte whateoever of sald terrisorises, in order to attrnd in then atiaiss, and they whail ebjoy, to that rfirct, the satne sexurity and protection as natives if the enuniry wheren they remitie, on comdition of their submititug to the lawn and oribuances thete provaling, ant particularly to the regulation in tirre concerang commerce.

Anticie ir.
Rumaian vessels arriving, rither lawif $n$ or in ballast, in the ports of the United Statme of Amerien; and reriproc nily, vessels of the linued stater arriving, pither laden or in ballact, in the wirte of the empire of Kusia, shall lee trated, on their entrance, durime their ptay, and at their departurt, iljoon the anme- footing
 In the duties of tmnazge. In regard to light lmwse deties, pilotage and port clargen, as wrll an to the ferem and perquipitra of public cofferrs, and all other dutins and eliargen, of whatever kind or demmaination, lovied upon vemarls of commerce, in the name or to the profit of thr government, the local anthoritien, of of ally private establiahurents whalsorvirf, the bigh contractIng parties shall reciprncally trrat rach other bpon itve footing of the moal favured mations with whom thry bave not Ireatiea now actually in force, rezulating the eaid dutice and chargee on the busis of an entire reeiprocity.

ATTICI名 $11 \%$.
All kiuds of merehandice and articles of commerce, which may be lawfully imporied into the ports of the eurpire of Ruvpin in Rusxian vessels, may, sian, he on imported in vesseln of the United States of America, withomt maling ofhor or higher daties or chargen, of whatever kind or demanimation, levird in the name, of to the profit of the govermment, the loval anthoritien, or of iny private establoshment whatonever, than if the anme mocrehandife of articles of enomerre had bef $n$ imported in Rumian vesuels. And reciporally, all kind of murchandiae and artielen of erommerre, whirh tmay be lawfilly imported inth the ports of the I'nited Sitatee of Ameticn, in pespels of said ptatex, may, alen, he so imported in Enspian vereplet, with. oul paying chlu'r or higher dutiea of rhargor, of whatever kind or dirnomination, levied in the name, of to the profit of the gnvernment, the local authonities, of of any private ertablinhmente whatenever, than if the pante merchandive or artieles if ermmerce had lreen tmported in veastls of the United Staten of America.
afticeriv.
It is nnderntond that the mfipulintions emptained in the twe preceding articlea, are, to their full extrnt, applicathe to Russian veximpla and their eargore, arriving in the pritt of the Ifoited States of Atnerica; and reripmocally, in veweplin of the paid ntaten and their eargoes, arriving in the peirts of the emplof of Russia, whether the wad venspls elear dircelly from the puote of the enuntry in which they reppectively beloug, or frnus the porte of any other foreige country.

All kind of merrhandine and aricien of enmmerep, which may be lawfully exported from the port: of the United statee of Ameriea in nutional vesarle, may, alen, he expurted therefrom in Russian vessels withergt puying nther of higher dnties or chargex, of whatever kind or denmaination, levied lut the namer, or to the profit of the povernment, the local nithorities, or of any privare extablishements whatsorver, than if the same mercbandlae or artirles of enmmerre, had been exported in vesseln of the United Nutes of America. And repipmeally, all *hind of uncrihandise and artieles of comumerre, whoch may be finwfully exported frmin the ports of the empire of Rusela in national veveels, may alvo be exported therefrom in vessele of the United States of America, without paying other or higher dnties of eharges of whatever hind or denomanation, levied in the name, of to the profit of the governinent, the local anthorities, or of any private estabisharents whatsoiever, than if the same merchandse or articies of commerce had been exported in Ruesian veescls.

ABticle Vi.

No higher or other duties sliali be imposed on the importation Iato the United States, of any article, the produce of manafacture of Rusaia; and no higher or other dutues whall be imposed on the importation into the empire of Russia, of any artiele, the produce or manufacture of the United States, than are, hr shall be, payable on the like article, being the produce or manuracture of any other foreign country. Nor shall any prohitition be inpesed un the importation or exportation of any artiele the produce or mannifacture of the United States or of Russia, to nt From the ports of the United states, of to or from the parts if the Russian empire, which stall not equally extend to all other nations.
anttrtevis.
It is expressly understood that the preeeding artieles [1, 111, IV, V and VI, shall not be applicable to the eorastwine navigathon of either of the two countica, wheth each of the high contracting partive rescrves esclusively to itmelf.
article vill.
The two contracting partics shall have the liberty of having in their respective ports, consuls, vice cravulw, agents and commismaries, of their own apposhtavent, who what enjoy the same privileges and powers, as tlanse of the most favored nations; but if sny such con*al shall exercise commerce, they shall be subantiod to the same laws and usages to whels the private individuals of their nation are nubmilted, in the same private

The eonsuls, viee conruls, and commerclal apents, shall have the right, as such, to sit as juclges and artituators in such dif. ferences an may arise between the captains and crews of tise vessels briangiog to the nation whose Interesta are committed to their charge, whism the interference of the local authorities, saleas the condact of the erews, or of the eaptain, plould disturh the order or the tranquillity of the comatry, or the said consuls, vice consuls, or eommercial agrents shamid require their asanstance to enuse their deciaiona to be earried into effect or supposted. It in, however, understond, that his specien of judsmeut or artitration shall not deprive the eontending parties of the right they have to resort, on their return, to the judicial authority of their country.

Anticterix.
The sald consuls, vice consula and commercint agents, are authorised to require the assistance of the focal authorities, for the search, arrest, Aletention and imptisobinent of the deserters from the ships of wof and memehant vescels of their country. For this pirpose they shall apply to the conspetent tritbuals, judges and officerw, and shall, in writing, demand said deserters, proving by the exhibition of the registets of the vernels, the rolis of the crews, or by other official documents, that sueh individuals formied part of the crews; and this rectamation being dividuals formed part of the crews; and this reclamat,
Such deserterx, when arrested, fhall be placed at the disposal of the said consuls, vice consula, or comburicial agents, and may be confined in the public prisons, at the request and co:t of those why shall claim thets, in order th be delained untll the time when they shali be restored to the vessels to which they belouged, ur sent back to their own conntry by a vekach of the same nation, or any other verael whatsorver. llut if not sent baek withits four months from the day of thwar arrest, they shall be set at libenty, and shall not be again arrested for the same cause.
However, if the deserter should be found to have committed any erinne or offence, his surtender may loe drlayed untul the tribunal before whech his case shatl be depending, shall have pronounced its sentence, and such sentence shall have been earried into effect.
antiche $x$.
The citizens and subjects of each of the high eontracting parties shall havn power to dispose of their personal goods within the juriodiction of the other, by testament, donation, or otherwise, and their representatives, being eitizens or snbjects of the other party, wlanll wheceed to their mid personal goods, whether by testament or ab infestato, and may take possession thereof, ehther by theinelven, or by otherw arting for them, and dispose of the same, at will, paying to the proft of tha respective govevaments, sueh duties ouly as the inhabisats of the country wherrin the said goods are, shall be subject to pay in like cases. And in eave of the absence of the represpatative, such care shall be taku=u of the said gonds, as wouid be taken of the goodn of a native of the same country in like case, until the lawfut owner nayy take mumasures for receiving them. And if a question should arive among speveral clatmanta as to which of them ald goods belong, the whese shall be decided finaliy by the laws and judgre of the Innd wherein the said grosis are. And where, on the denilh of any perwon liolding real extate, within the terrionfies of one wf the high contracting parties, wheh real estate would, hy the laws of the land, descend on a chuzen or subject of the other party, who, by reanon of aliennze mny be incapable of holding It, he shall be attowed the time fised liy the laws of the eouniry, and in case the inwa of the eruntry actinaliy in force may not have fixed any such time, he shall then be allowed a reatonable tume to sell such real estate and to withdraw and export the proceeds without molestation, and without paying to the prolit of the respective govermasents nay other dues then those to wisich the iuhabitants of the country wherean said reat estate is stuated, shall be aubject to pay in like cases. But this aticle sluall not desogate, in any manner, from the force of the Iaws already puhbiried, or which may hereafter be pubtished by his tmajexty the euiperor of all the Ruesias, to prevent the by higration of his subjects.
If elther party shall, hereafter, grant to any other nation, any particular favor in navigation or commerce. It shall, ianmediately, breome eomuson to the other party, freety, where it is freely etanted to sueli other nation, or ou yveldiag the same compensation, when tie grant is condoliotual.
ARTICLE IH.

The preaent trenty, of whels the effect shall extend, in fike manner, to the kingdons of Poland, so far as the eance tnay be applicable thereto, shall contunce in force tuitil the tirst day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-atine, and If, one year before that day, oun of the tugh contracuing parties shall bot have anhonnced to the other, by an offietal notigeation, itw intuntion to arrest the operation thereof, this treaty shall remain obligatory one year beyond that day; ath an on, until the expuration of the year which whall commence after the date of a manilar notideation.

AHTHCLK silf.
The preaent treaty shall be approved and ratified by the prestdent of the United States of America, by and with the advice and consent of the eenate of the said matas, and by has majesty the eruperof of all the Huszias, and the ratificauous shall be exchangen in the enty of Washagton within the space of one year, or sonner if posentle.

In faith whereof, the rempective pleajpotentiaries have signed the present treaty, in duplicate, and affized thereto the seal of their arms. Doneat $S_{1}$. Peterfburg the sisth (eighteenth) December, in the year of grace one tiousand eight hundred and thirty-two.

NESSELRODE。
GEFABATE ARTICLE.
Certain relations of proxiunty, and anterior eugagements, have rendered it necessary for the imperial governmem to requlate the commercinl relatinns of Ruspin with Prussia and the kugdotns of sweden and Norway by ppecial atipulatione, mow actually in firce, and which may be renewed hereafier; which ntif clations are, in no manner, conneeted with the exifting reguiations for foreign conmerce in general; the two ligh couiracting partins wishing to remove from their eommerctal retations every kind of ainfiguuy or subject of discussion, have agrred, that the fpecial stipulatious granted to the commpree of I'rusia, and of Sweden and Norway, in consideration of equivalent advantages granted in tiese countries, by the one to the comsuerce of the kmiglom of Poland, and by the other to that of the grand dutelyy of Finland, sliall not, in any case, be luvoked in favor of the rriations of commerce and navigation, sanetiobed between the two high contracting partics by the present treaty.
The present separate article shall have the shme force and value as if It were tascrted, word fur word, in the treaty sagned this day, and thail be ratified al the same time.
In faith whrroof, we, the undersigned, by virtue of our respretive fuli powers, have signed the present separate arucle, and affixed thereto the seals of our arms. Done at st. Peternburg the sixth (eigliteenti) of Decemher, in the year of graca one thousand eght hundred and thirty-two.

JAMPS BUCHANAN.
NESSED.EODE.
Aad whereas the sild treaty and separate article have bren dinly ratified on beth parts, and the reapective ratifications of the same were, this day, exchanged at tie city of Washington, by Edward Liviagiton, speretary of the United States, and the banin de K rudenar, envoy extraorlinary and minister plenipmtenury of lum majesty the emperor of all the Ruastia, in the eaid United States, on the part of their respeetive governmentes
Now, therefisre, be it known, that 1, ANDREW JACKSON president of the United 8 tatros of Ameriea, have eaused the said treaty to be maile pulhic, tit the end that the same, and every clause and articie thereof, inay he observed and fulalled with good faith by the United States, and the cilizens thereof,
In witness whereof, I bave hereumto set my hand, and eaused the seal of the United Btatea to be nfired.
Doae at the elty of Washington, the deventh day of May, in the year of ont Lovrd one thousand etelt hunirrd [L. S.] and thirty-three, and of the independence of the United States that finy-seventh.

By the president:
Edw. Livinoston, secretary of state.
Pricsa crinivt-Raltimore, May S1. Flour, best other 550 (1) 00; hest red wheat 1 17@1 92-white 120 sced 800 . Whiskey, ist pmoof, 29(C)32 Wool-full blonded merino, washel, 32 a,42; unwashed 22@95; common, washed, $25 @ 28$; unwashed $10 @ 18$. Beef on the hoof 5 75@6 50. Oak wood $250 @ 975$; pine 200 [Jmerican Farmer.

NILES' WEEKLY REGISTER.

Fockta seaiss.] No. 15-Vol. VIIt. BALTIMORE, JUNE 8, 1833. [VoL. XLIV. Wiole No. 1,13s.

EDITED, PRINTED AND PCHLISHED HY H. NILES, AT $5 PER ANKCM, PATABLK IN ANVANCE.

co-W'e have expended a great deal of extra editorial and mechanical labor to present our readers with a condensed view of the commeree and navigation of the United States, for the year 188\%; intending, in a lew pages, not only to give every generally useful fact and figure found In the 8vo. volume of 298 pagrs, but have also made large additions-that the business of the last may be, (without trouble to our readers), compared ari/h that of ihe preceding year. It is so arranged that the part yet to be publinhed will be inserted in the first pages of the next number, and the whole preaent one contiaued mass when the voume is bound. These are about the most valuable documents which issue from the departments, and thanks are due to Mr . MeLane for the more than usually prompt publication of the tables, for the last year-by which their interest is nueh increased.

So ansch time and close attention have been pald to these tables, that several other things, about which we would have said something, have been passed over, concerning the bank of the Uaited states, &c. with a hint or two to the weather-eock and venerable editor of the "Richmond Enquirer"-whose disposition to please seens to have deprived him of a power to discriminate between "a hawk and a hand-waw"-unless the wiad is from the south senh. A directly southern breeze no longer screws him up-though even an exact return of his own former "state worts" galos. That is forbidden-by prociamation! "Curses" are besaings-and blessings are turned into curses, "at the shortest notice"-the prevailing wind being from the right quarter. Ohsta principits is cbanged into finis coronator, "the end justifes the means;" which, being further interpreted into the vernacular tongue, signifieth "wearing a collar." We may have a littie room and time, next week, to bring uplee-way-but the primary object of the feaistea shall not be aeglected is the observance of things so transient as sayings and doiugs ilke those referred to. They are as small eela not worth the skinning, except in a season of perfect leisure-or in mere sport:
CFTIne preanaw. . . .....
McLane, secretary of state, Mr. Casn, secretary of war, and Mr. Donselson, his private secretary, arrived in this city, on Thursday, on his tour to the east. He was very handsomely, and mont respectfully introduced to Baitimore, by the rail roadWhe carriages being drawn by a fine locomotive engine; and so received by the committee appointed for that purpose. Aecommodations bad been provided for him at Newcomb's, [Indian Queen) hotel-where be, yenterday, received the aniutations of a very large number of our citizens, of all parties. He departed to-day is the ateamboat Kentucky, for Philadelghia-and will etop there until Tuesday.

On leaving the rall road, the president took his sent in an open barouche, with general Samuel Sinith avd James H. MeCulloch, eaq. and, as he passed on to his lodginge, was greeted by mases of the people. His aite followed in another carriage.

We have not sime to go into details-but may bricfly notice some of the priacipal iscidents wbich happened in this city, or shall bappen at other places, viaited by the president.

Catorera. We shall continue our noticen of this disease. It doea not appear to have any respeet to the season, hot or cold, wet or dry $\rightarrow$ or to high lands or low lands; but many believe that wet duet and hatrits of Individuals have considprable influence to extend or reatrain its ravages-and hence some suppose that, as the seasinn of fruits advances, the cholera will lecome more general and fatal. But the laws of this diecane-why it coures or wherefore it departs, are altogether mysteriou", and, most probably, will forever remain so.

Memphis, Tennesses, May 15. This frightful and myaterious dispase bas again made its appearance among us. Several deaits have nccurred doring the past wevk, but, we are happy to say, that, out of the inany, we can enumerate but three of our citisens. Steamboats pass frequently, and we learn from passengers that the eholera is raging below, to an alarnaing extent.

Vol. XLV -Sio.16.

Wheeling. The report of the board of health of May 31, as nounced 37 cases for the laet three days- 14 of which terminated fatally- 23 cases remaining. Among the late victims were pepsons of the most respectable character, and best habits.
Lettery from Whecling of the ist inst. give territic dexcriptions of the ravages of the eholera, at that place. Since the $\mathbf{1 6 t h}$ May dhere had beea more than seventy funcrals. One of the banik robbers had died in jail, and another was stek. The veqerable Noah Zane was said to be at the point of death.
Washington, Pa. One fatal case has happeaed in this borough supposed io have been contracted at Wheeling.
At Naybille, Ken. the cholera broke out ou the 29 th otc. and, in 48 hours, carried off ten peisons-and nibe mpre were to be interred on the morning of the 3lat! But the direase seemed to be already moderating. The "Eagle and Monitor" ways $077-0 u r$ fricads need not expect a paper mest week, as it will be totally out of oar power to lisue one.

Ohio. It is reported that the disease had shewn itself in several of the towns of this state.
On the Mistisippi. It was stated, at New Orleans, that the ateamboat Chewter had lowt 100 of her pasengers by the chotera. ou her way to $8_{1}$. Isouis! she had 150 United staite troops and many Swiss enuigrants on board. It was hoped that thin report was much exaggerated.

Tue noons. The Virginia papers speak of great damages sustained by risings of the James, Appomatiox and Parmumky rivers-the wheat fields, on the low lands, being completely drownefl. The injury on three farms, at Dorer, is estimated at $$ 15,000$. One field on the Pu mumky of five hundred neres, and expected to produce 7,000 bushels, has nearly all been drowned. The whole loss is supposed to amount to one million of dollars.
Emigrixts from Ecrope, are beginning to pour into the United States. Many tens of thousands may be expected in the juresent scason. From Ireland, Fangland, Scotland and Wales, many will come; but the greater number, most probably, from Germauy. And emigration from the latter will gather strength as it proceeds, as well in promoting a better knowledge of the real condition of things in the United States, in advices from those who have actuled heme-t. awful desporism, or a bloody civil war, seems presented.

Many of the emigrants who are coming from Germany are of the best, or productive classes-and a large number of them have some money to begin a new life with, in Ameriea. Others, who are mere day-laborers, may, find abundant employment on the rail ronds and canals that are making, in several of the states. In general, they are patient and industrious, and exceedingly economical.

Corron. Sales at Liverpool for the week ending

April 24.

Uplands 64 Orieans Mobile Alabaus & Teanesse
Ord. to milt'ng. fair to good fair. good to fine.

Cotron asp wool. In the late dehate in the British parliament on the curreney, the following statement was made by Mr. Poulett Tompron:-

In 1820, 152,000,000 lbs. of eotton-wonl were imported; in 1832 , the imports arnounted to $959,000,000 \mathrm{lbm}$ an increuse of 70 per cent. In 1890, the consumption of sheep's wonl was $9,778,000 \mathrm{lbs}$; in $\mathbf{1 8 3 2}$ it had inereased to $27,666,000 \mathrm{lbs}$ an augraentation of 183 per cent.
02in in 840 -we have no manner of doubt, that the manufacture of cotton in the United States would have equalled that of Great Britain in 1890, had the tariff, with respect to cotton goods, remained untouched; but no one, we think, ean make any safe calcalation on this subjeet now, unless in a great reduction of the priee of labor. And we pray most earnestly, that, if the working penple in our firtnries must be brought down to the white-slave comlition of those of Fughanl, that we may enter into a fill competition with Fangland-aweh eompetition will not be attempted! We cannot support manilfuctures nt such a cost of buman loapuiuess. At present, they are the hessing of the poon-wu suesk generally; but, it the case stated, would be the curse.

Britian dety on cotton. When introducing "the lmiget" intn the horise of commons, lort . Itrhorp proposell to take off the adilitional dinty on cotton, laill in 1831no doubt because of the increamed manutisetures of cotton goods in the Unitell States, and on the continent of Europe, with all which the Eaglish mamulacturers are much alarmed. Speaking of the reasons that induced the additional duty in $1 \times 31$, he said- $" 1$ do not propose to put raw cotton nn a befter footing than it was when the ahlition to the tar in 1831 was proposenl. I propose only to take off that amount of tax (as nearly as I can calculate it) which was imposed on that oceasion. I'revious to that period, there was an ad valorem duty upon the poand of raw cotton to an amount shich might be equivalent to three eighths of a penny, to which was then added two-eighths of a penny, making the whale about five-cighths of a penny per lb. the result of that being that the whole amount of the du'y on cotion for the last year, had heen $E^{\prime} 626,000$. It has been essimated that the portion of the sluty imposed in 1831 might be about $\mathrm{E} 326,000$-but I do not think its revluction will diminish the revenue more than $\mathbf{E} 340,000$, In most eases where a luty is reduced, we may calculate on the deficiency being partially made up by an increased consumption, but in this case I eannot anficipate such a resilt. The noble lord then said that he intended to substitute for the ad vulorem sluty a fixed duty of five-sixtueulis of a penny, per Ib, and, in answer to an observation of an honorable member, lie did not believe that the gentlemen connected with the importation of cotton woull lave any objretion to a fixed duty.

Exports. The "Tetegraph" refers to the treasury tables, and shews that the exports of cotion, totacen and riee, in 1802 , had a value of $$$ s. $0,8 \% 7,0+2$-leaving onty about $25,000,000$ for the value of all other domestuc products; and "recoumends the subjeet to the consideration of all tes readers."

And what of that' Forty millions seems a great sum-but dons nut anpply the pecople of the United Stntes with leather, mind its manufactures-nur boots and shoes, and hats! And the mnnual creanons of value in manufactures, if all sorts, which have their centre at eliber of the cities of Hoston or Phaladelphia, are, perhaps, nearty of guite equal to that of nll the cotion, than the forelgn one for the commoditios named worlor flejocs,

The tanivr. From the Cinited States Gazette. W know not, we never pretvinl to unlerstand, what the Cilobe intends by its paragraphs; but those who have an eye to the political barometurs of the day, nay infer something from the fact that "the Globe" fias come out in belalf of the woal growers, jreparatory, perhaps, to a further antrocacy of the old tariff. We copy from that Jwaer the following paragraph:
Messre. Clay and Calhoun seemer, in the north, that Messrs. Clay and Calhoun seem to have fnryotion in their arrangement-but, perhapas, they imagined that they wonld not, as a body, perceive and resent the injury clone them. We mean the farming elas done them. We mean the farming elass. To fonter the great manufactories of narse wnollens, coarse wool fron foreign countrics is admitted duty free; and by withdrawing, grudually, all arlequate protection from the better woolles eloths, worn in the northern and middle states, of American manufacture, the wool which is the growth of our own country, and which has hitherto fnrmed the material for this elass of woollens, is exclucled frorn all encouragenuent, asal in fact, deprived of a market. This, aceording to Mr. Niles, is not only eutting the throats of the sheep, but taking from agriculture the only direot sdvantage it has ever received from the protective policy." tective policy."
When the Globe is out for the sheep, wo to the fieeres. ["This [is not] according to Mr. Niles." The erlitor of the "Glohe" knows ahout as much of the hintory of the tariff law of 1828 , and concerning the high duty imposed on conree wool, as nf-the pursnit of a plain and an he diaregards truth, when "convenience serves." The high daty on onarse wool was supported on the same principle as the foolish duty of 10 eents per gallon oa molasses-to defeat the bill of 1828.]

Fix-lifutenavt Rannolph. We mentioned, in the Reaistan of the 18 sh ult. that the conduct of certia "miserables" secmed to make it appear that they asuorekn in the indignity inflicterl on the person of the president of the United States, by Mr. Kandolph, as "farnishing matter to feed their scurrilous appetites upont" and we said that the conduct of these appeared to render it our duty, as a "faithful chronicler," to record certain articles on this abominated subjeet, which have been laid aside for that purpose: bit we have, at least, deferred the publication of then, becanse unwilling to do any thing that might keep up, or inerease, the excitenaent which the "miserables" are still attenypting to make. We promptly, and decide-dly, expuressed our opinion concerning this outrage-as we had expressed it on frevions oceasion; but cannot bring our mind into a belief that the person of the president is more "sacred" than that of a represen" tative of the people; though the late offenee was mueh aggravated, beeause of its action upon an old and venerable individual. But if the right to avenge a private wrong, en the juerson of a public agent, be admitted-there eas be no limit to its extent, unless in the extent of private papsion and power ${ }^{\circ}$-every man becoming a judge in his own case; and thus society is loosened Irom all the suber and just restraints which the law of the country, supported ly the moral sense of the cormmnnity, imposes. This prineiple cannot be admitted-nor will its jractiee be suffered.

But we have seen much about the pursuit of Mr. Rundolph, withouf the District of Columbia, in which his of fence was committed; and it is even stated, in the "New York Journal of Commerce," that the $\boldsymbol{U}$. S. revenue corb er is employed in boarrling ships from that port (sfter they get to sea), aml in stopping and searching them, for him! We regand these as very extraowdinary, and dangerous, proceedings; and would like to have a homily from the invariable Mr. Wifchie, on "state rights," as affected by sueh conduet. An offender against the laws of the Unit ed States, may be arrested any where within the Unied States-but we are totally ignorant of any written law which renders the person of our preaident more sacred than that of the racanest of our citizens. The moral lan may make a preat, and a very prope $r$, distinetion in the sons in such attempts to arrest him. The ex-lieutenant, we unlerstand, proceeded to Virginia, to ranke arrangements for the interment of the remains of the late Joss Itandolph-but it will not at all surfvise us, if be puts himself in the way of being arrested, that the law may be asecrtained by the verdict of a jury of his countrymen.

Remotsla on "Reponm." It appears that the great scheme of ""punishnents and rewarts," at Washington, has heen laid aside-for the present. The "National litelligencer" of the 1 st inst. says-
"Weare glad to hear it reported, in such a manner that we beliere it, that the presiclent of the United States has liturally fulfilled the wish of our editorial friend at Philadelphis, by throwing the proscription lisf under the table; that is, he has determinell to pay no regard to it. Some would have it, that he las expressed his disapprobat ion of this new scheme of reform, even more strongly than by a mere negative upon it. These modera reformers have over-shof the mark."

25-The history of this proceeding is curious That a set of "little ones" had iletermined to bring about a res. volntion in the public offices at Washington-to "punish" without cause, and "reward" without diseretion-exeept in a pledge of the "rewarded" to creep and crawl as directed, With a view to future politieal jugglings, seems indoubted; but ceriain of the seeretaries are sain to have interposed, and the president himself would not "00 IT" Fand the "little out-s," pertaps, lay grasping at too mueh, like the "boy and the filberts" in the fable, may be
*On this principle it in, that many individuats are ready to relieve the onnragu un the presiden, by committing as outrage on Randolph! made to "cry out," because of the "committal" which they happened to make.

The erlitors of the "National Intelligeneer" have placed Mr. Ritchie, of the "IRichmons Fenuirer," in a very ridiculous position, concerning this business. We have had "queer notions" about the latter-yet hardly thought that, at the same time, he would "look two ways for Sunday."

But there is a great deal in being used to twisting. "All sorts of turning done here,"-is marked on the signboard; but such artists do uot turn both ways at the sanue moment.

Cugapeage ann Oato casalo. From the National Intelligencer of Juse 7. An adjourned mecting of the stockholders of The Chesapeake and Ohio canat company was held yesterday, and conthued to a late hour in the day. Every etfort to procure a delay of a few days, or until the general comomitee ghould have reported, was voted dow a by the united vote of the United States and the corporation of Washington; Maryland and Georgetown being dirided, and Virginia and Alexandria resinting in vain. In the end, the election of officers was held, and the following gentlemen were elected, to serve for the envung year, viz:

President-John H. Eaton, of Tehnessee. Directors-W.Witer Sultb, of Georgetown, Phineas Janney, of Alexandria, Wilian Gunton, of Washington, John 1. Abert, U. S. Army, Willam Priee of Maryland, and kichard H. Henderson, of Virginia.

Tuener. Ma. Arerr, charged with the seuluction and murder of a voung girl mamed Cornell, has had a long aid most arduous trial, at Newport, R. I. but the jury, after being out sixteen hours, returned a vertliet of not guilty, and he was rlischarged. The papers are filled with risgnting particulars of the evidence. It seems to juve becu a very extrobrdinary affiair-and one of fearful import.

Porosac suines An extract of a letter from Washjingtom, publimbed in the New York Journal of Commerce, states that the conteroplated granite briulge neross the Potomac, of 43 arehes, had been let by contract to a company from P'enusylvania, for $$ 1,400,000$. The writer adils-"There were 17 offers, which ranged from that sum to $$ 7,500,000$-and I am of opinion; that the lighest is too low. In some places the water is 45 fect deep."
[A "pretty considerable" range of estimates, if the figunas be correctly given-from 1,400,000 to 7,500,000 dollurs, for the same work:]

The Berrert Higl nonement. The affairs of this monument have been taken up by able hamls-ioorking-men-che "Masnachusetts Charitable Mechanic's Association," of which Mr. Buekingham, editor of the Boston Courier, is president; and the probability now is, we are happy to say, that it will soon be completwd. We iotrml to recur to this subject, at some season of leisure, and insert the aiddress, with Mr. Everett's specelh, &c.

Black Hawk, &ce. From the Globe of June 1. We understanil that a report laving been received from gen. Clark, the superintesdant of Juclian affairs at St. Iouis, In which he expresses the opinion, shat the Sac prisoners may be restored to their friends without afficting the intereats or safety of our citizens, anl that their relemse would be peculfarly gratifying to thre friendly chiefs; and Ke-0-kuk and his associates themselves having soliciten their discharge from confinement, asd pledged themselves for their good conditet, preparations fiave been made for their return to their homes,

We learn that they (Black Hawk & Co.) will be condueted through the principal cities, with a view to exhibit to them the extent of the population and of the country, its wealth, resources, and means of defence, and to impress them with a convietion of its strength ani power, which will be proluctive of lasting good consequences, They will probably leave Fortress Monroe carly in the nest week, proceed as far east as Boaton, hence to Albany, Buffalo and Detroit. Their anbm quent route will then be determined by the offieer having them in charge.
[Black Hawk, 8ce. artived in Baltimore on Thursday Jast.]

New Hampshink. doseph M. Harper, Franklin Pierce Benuing M. Bwan, Honry Hablaryl and liobert Hurns (all Jacknon) have been eleeted nuembers wf congress from this state, ly an average vole of abous 23,000 . The national repablican licket liad ubont 6,000 , and the anti-masonic 1,500 'There was no regular opposition to the first named ticket

The legal provision for the aupport of sehools in New Ilampshite is certainly a very liberal one. The sum of ninely thousamal slollats is rejuited hy law to be annually raised and approptiated to this purpose; and the amount antually necruing to the state from she tax pais on banks (about $10,0(0)$ ) is ilistributed among the several towns in sums proportioned to the state sax paid by them respecelively, to be applied in the same manner. A proportionate sum wonlil amount, for the state of New York, to nove than $$ 600,000$.

BRIEF NOTICEA.

Col. Withiam McRea, a clistinguished officer in the late war, recently dred at St . l.ouin, of the elublera.
F. Huckingham, Jun. Junior editor of the "Bosion Conrier," lately died as sea, when on a voyage for his health, aged 24-a young man of supernor calents, and excellent charaeter; and Who promised to become an ornament to the protession.[We beg leave to offer our sympathy to his father-our much catremed frlend, and do it feelingly-from tieo like eases.]
Twe volcanic islands bave tately appeared to the neightorhood of c'yprus.
Mr. Thonas P. Moore, Inte minister of the United States at Bogota, has arrived at New I'ork, and brought with him the remaina ur Mr. Anderson, who previusaly represented the Unhed Atater, at Bogota. All was quiet in New Grenada.
It is stated in a French paper, that the French navy department litend to substutute in the guvermment shipm, irom wire ropes for the usual cordage in the rigsing; and that thts ehange will efficet an annual saving to the ampount of 300 or 400,000 francs.
Col. Wm. Wynne was offered and refused es, 000 fitt the "beautiful and aceomplished" Mary Randolph, [a mare] who at present is enjoying "hife in New York!"
Romulus M. Saunders, of North Carolina, has been appoimed by the president, to be a commasioner under the law to carry into effect the convention with France, in the place of Tbonats H. Willuans, resigued.

George Breathit, Jun. brother of the governor of Kentweky, and who acterl, occasionally, as private eceretary of the president, died at Washingion a lew days ago.
The Loussille Focus states that the business of that eliy is very brisk. On the 23 d ult. thirfy-five steaniboats were lying there, whose aggregate burthen was at least eight thourand tone. The health of the place bs alongovdhy vas ony wint tive Busqurliannah river hat been in good enndition for the deacending irade for a week previous, and that the number of arks and rafs that had come down in the saute time was perbapa never before exceeded.
The rail road and steamboat tine between Philadelphia and Baltimore arrived at the latter, on Tuenday Iast, in 7 h .50 m . the quickeat pasaze yet made. Distance about 120 miles.
Christopher lieclater, a gold refiner in Rutherford county, N. Carolina, statem shat he lian coined at his eatablebment, since the 18th June, 1831 , an follows:
Coined in $85,8.50$ and gt pieces,
Fiuxed,
104,320 dwts.
A long 'concealed pot of Spanish dollars has been discovered in digeng the exllar for a house in Germantowe, Pa.
Shame pernou har made the followink exuct estimate of the property of the late Mr. Randolph? Four thousand acres of river land, averaging $5 $ 0$ per acre, looks and wine, 10,000 ; rendy cash, 810,000 -baking an at gregate of $$ 175,0 \mathrm{kN}$,
[The Prederick*burg "Arena", eays-The rumor we gave in our last, upon the authurity of a Nrw York paper, that Mr. Randulph, liad provided fur the manmmiwion of his slaves, is, we believe, well founded. Tiue Compiter nays the number is more than a humired. We have it from a good source that the namber is not far short of fire Aundred.]
By the present arrangrement of the steanboats and rail road cart, passengere may proceed fromi Pbitadelphia to Daltumore, and back again the same day. Tume of travelling from 6 A . M. to $10 \frac{1}{2}$ P. M. with 30 mimutes for business in either of the cities. Another venerable and valoed ciuzen has ileparted. Olver Wolcott, rsquire, died an New Yiork, on the lst inst. In the 苛th yrar of hita age. A sketch of his cliaracter is land off for insertion.
The Camien and Amboy rail road company are doing a beavy business. Abost seven hundred parsengen travel in their different lines daily, and the unimber is continualiy ou the incrosege. Mr. Weduter is mm a journey to the west, and is every where received with the tugtient marka of rexpect. At Jitica, N. Y. he whe called upon hy reveral hundred persons, of all polinical parties. A well deserved oomphacut to his character and taleats.

FOREIGN NEWS.

From London paperi to the 23 rd Aprit.
OREAT ERITAIX AMD IRELAXD.
In the house of connmuns on the $17 \mathrm{H}, \mathrm{Mr}$. Grant brought forward his motion for the emancipation of the Jews, which, after an interesting debate, the motion was put and prevailed, without a division.

On the same day, a motion was offered requiring a return of the number of American ships, with their registered tonnage, entered inwarda into the port of Liverpool from New York, from Ist January, 1832, to lat January, 1833. A like return of Britiah mbips for the saine period. Also, return of the number of bales of cotton entered inwards into the port of Liverpool from the United States in foreign shipe from lnt January, 1832, to lst Jasuary, 1833. A like returs in British shipe for the same period.

Mr. O'Connell called the attention of the house to the proclamation of the lord Ileatenant of Ireland, requiring the guvernsuent to give the reasoas fist applying the late act to Kilkenny, After some debate, the question was takeu, when only twentyeight voted to fivor of Mr. O'Connell's motion. There were 143 membere present.
On the inth, lord Althorp moved for leave to bring in a bill for the commutation of tuther. His lordulip stated that the manount of the whole church revenue in Eagland did not exceed $\mathcal{\varepsilon} 3,300,000,{ }^{*}$ and that the average incoone of the clergy, itacluding deans, archdeacons and prebendarles, was not more than £ 300 per anoum. The measure he propmaed was, in the first place, to give permisslon to the tithe payer and the tithe receivof to asake a perpetual commutation at a cora rent, varying according to the price of cora; and if at the end of the year the parties should bot have agreed, then to make a commutation of the tithe compulsory, at the wish of etther the payer or the receiver; the amoumt in such case to befised by the valuera ppointed by the bishops and the magistrates at quarter sessions. The tithe recetver to have the option of being paid in noney or grain, and in case of his preferring the latter mode of payment, the payer to have the selection of the kind of grain in which payment is to be made.

The leave asked, was granted after dehate. The pripelples of the bell seemed approved, but some of its details were objected to.]

Mr. Hume moved two resolntions relative to sinecure oflices; the first of which was, "that in all future vaeaneies of pinecure offices in the eivil and colonial service of the country no new appointments to such racant ofices shall be made with any salary, fees of ennoluments thereto atzached;" and the seennd reonlution was, "that no person shall recpive any salary, fee or other emolument, from aoy office to which he may be appointed the duties of which are, of shall be perfortied by drputy." Lord Aluborp did not object to either resolation, and after a few observations, by several members, both resolutions were agreed to.
On the isth, lord Althorp made his tinancial statements, or offered the "budgec." He proposed to reduce the duties on ad vertisenents, on marine insurance policies, on shop windnwa, eoapand raw cotton-the jatter one-third; and abolith the tased on cars. cierks, porters, riders, &c. His recapitalation pre-

1. Inies-whole daty

2. Marine insurance-estimated diminution
. Advertikementis-do. .
100,000
75,000
duty on shop-reduction of house and window
3. Cotton-redur

1831 -roduction of additional duty imponed in 1831

24,000
300,000
533,000

Patimated return ou soap

र1,349,000
293,000
Probable losa to revenue
Lord A. mestiooed many saviage which had been $1,036,000$ parliamentary places, diplomatic expenses, and in the abolition of offices, retired lish. The places abolished were $1,38 \%$ at an Thage annual value of $£ 17310 \mathrm{~s}$, each.
The following extract from his speech may be sufieient to give Kingeral view of the revenues and expenditures of the Uusted ugdom:
of the anall begin my financinl view, by atating the amonnt April ineotne and expenditure for the year between the 5th of come for the and the Sth of April, 1833. The amount of the inditure was $£ 45,306,000$; diture was $£ 45,366,000$, leaving an excess of Income over expenditure of $£ 1,487,000$. The committee will, I have no doft recolleet that in the estimates I made last sesnion, i stated the probable execss of the income over the expmentitore below this. oniy ealcalated the excesa at $£ 800,000 ;$ but I am happy to eay that by the reduction of expenditure, the excees of income over expenditure, $£ 1,487,000$, will more than enable us to cover the deticiencied of the preceding year. (Cheere.) That defieteney the committee will recollect was $£ 1,900,041$. Taking the two together, the committee will see that the improvemetat on the revenue of the present year is notiess than $\mathbf{£ 2}, 728,000$. (Cheera.) I will now state what the income of the country wan fir the two years. For $1 \times 32$ it was $£ 46,618,000$; for $1 \times 33$ it wam $£ 46,853,000$. Bhowing an excess to the latter year of only $\mathcal{£ 2 3 5 , 0 0 0 \text { , and }}$ proving that the surplus on the year arose from the expenditure beiag conaiderably reduced.
*He said that the Inenme of the church wan groasly pagagegated. It had been acseried that it ampounted to $\mathbf{5 9 , 0 0 0 , 0 0 0 \text { . }}$ Sow, the incomes of the blinhope (including the bislioprie of Sodor and Mao), were $£ 158,000$; that of tbe deans, $\& c . ~ £ 23 n, 000$; and that of the parochial clergy he extimated under $£ 3,000,000$; so that, instead of $\boldsymbol{\kappa} 9,000,000$, the amount was not three and balf millions.
[This is a very different nceount from that generaliy given. larger mum.]
"The expenditure fior the year ending April, 182, was $\boldsymbol{\Sigma} 47,859,000$; for $1833, £ 45,266,000$, the duminution being £1, 493,000 for the last year. It will be menn from this rtatement that the improvement which has taken place may be expected to be greater in the following year, because it does not depend on any acerdestal Increase of revesue, but on the econowical management of the publie funds, and on the saving thereby effrcted. I will now ptate more in detail the income and experaditure of the lant year. The income tast year from the custons was $£ 16,769,631$; from the excise $£ 16,549,131$; from the stampa $£ 6,657,540$; from taxes $£ 5,003,937$; from poot office $£ 1,4 \times 3,900$; from miecellaneous sources $£ 232,5156$, making a tutal of $£+6, \mathrm{M} i s, 630$. I will now atate the expenditare. The sum charged for the debt, Including interest on exchequer bilis-the whole sum charged to the consolinlated fund for the debt was $£ 28,225, N 91$. The other charges on this fund were $\mathcal{E} 1,859,248$; thaking the whele chargen on the consolidated fund $\mathbf{£ 3 0 , 0 4 4 , 2 0 1 9}$. The expenditure of supplics was-for the army $\mathbf{£ 7 , 0 0 6 , 4 9 6 ; ~ f o r ~ t h e ~ n a v y ~} £ 4,505,000$; for the ordnance $\boldsymbol{£} 1,634,817$; for the miscellaneous service $\mathbf{\& 2}, 138,953$; taking a total of \& $43,265,507$.
"The expenditure for the preceding year was-for the srmy $\mathbf{£ 7 , 5 5 1 , 0 0 0}$, which last year was reduced to $\mathbf{£ 7 . 0 0 6 , 4 9 3 ;}$ the expenditure for the navy in the preceding year was $£ 3,842$, eas, and io the last year $£ 4,505,000$; the ordnance fire the preceding year was $£ 1,478,944$, nad for last year $£ 1,8: 4,812$, bemg an increase of $\mathcal{\Sigma 1 5 5 , 8 7 5 ;}$ the miscellaneous was $\mathcal{C 2}, 900,430$ in the preceding year, and in the la"t year it was £2.133,0,3, showing a dininution of about $£ \mathrm{~N} 00,000$. I have already ptated the balance of the revenue over thm expenditure, for the Iast year, at $\boldsymbol{\mathcal { L }}, 487,000$; and I will now calculate what is likely to be the eatimated halance of the cosuing year, supposing mo alteration in the daties, and that the revenuc should reinain as at present. The whole amount of the revenne for the gear will be C46,494,188; and I do mot take it at so large a pum an lasi year. $t$ look for a redaction in the excive; becauve the arrpars of the matt daties, which were due at the chose of last year, were much greater than were due at the close of the present year. The chargea on the consolidated fund for the present year will not be the same as for the pant year. I have nbtained an eatinot be the same as for the past yeaf. Thave nbtained an estimate of the increased charge, and the expenditure charged on the consolidated fund for the year will not be less than \& $30,300,000 . "$ On the 19th, a depustation, consisting of more than three hasdred jersona, representing the sentiments of those whil are the-mona,

Mr. Stanley said that a natice of motion given by his noble friend (lord Althorp) on the subject respecting whieh the feel inge of the country were much excited, stood fior Tuesday-he most lmportant that the virws of bis majeaty?s Although it was with regaral in that subject, should be staicesty's government, With regard to that subject, whould be statcd to the country as carly as possible, $\boldsymbol{y} \boldsymbol{L}$, under the circumstancen under which the question came inio his bands, he truated be should not treapass too largely on the induigence of the house if he asked to he al Inwed to patpone the motion from Tuesday next till Tuenday the 14th of Alay. (lfear, Aear.)
The papers by thia arrival contala the pmelamation of the Iord lleutenant, for the suppression of the friah voluntrers. Af ter the preamble rccitiog the tehereas, the operative part of the proclamation is given in the following t-rms-
Now, we, the lurd heutebant general and geveral governor lanteers', dceming the said asoociation, called 'The Irish mInconsintent with the due adme puhlic peace and safety, and our order in writing, prohibat and surprion of the law, do, by thin and wr do further, by this onr ond suppreas the waid association: journed, renewed, or this onr order, wohnhit every and any adjourned, renewed, or onherwlac continue nereting of the said anor dovice whatone of any thereof, under any name, pretest, whin, or dovice whatenever.
Aprit, 1833 . By his excellency's comamand,

The following document eontajos the genernl lostructions to die tmilitary in reference to the performance of their duties under the tuppression bill.

General oricer.
Ndjufant-general's oplre, Dubtin, -tpril it.

1. In the diarharge of the important dutips they may be requir ed tu perform in the county of Kilkenny, the lievienant gequeral commandiug the army its Ireland calls on the officers, non-comaer put down on the 17th Aprit.
mbenioned oficers and soldiers, to exercise the utunosi possible caution; and whilat by their exertions in aid of the civil anthorities, they mark their determination to use their bert endeavors nea, they buark their determination to use their bert endeavore to prevent outrage and reatore order, he has ma doubt that they to prevent outragen and restore order, he has ba doubt that they will by their good enneduct and kuduens towards the tulabinwill by their good conoduct and kuduens towards the inhain tanta, othain then contidence, and concibate their gond will.
2. Offcers baving the commixpion of the peace must above ah things, be most carefui to confue themseivesstrielly within the powers conferted ou them by law.
3. All those acting as mayiztrates, and all others in command of detachments, will take every paips to aequire a knowledge of the dangerous charaeters resulent in the vicuity of their quarters, and in eonjuwction with the police, to apprehend such as are charged with crime, or who, being suspected of it, are found tranagresviag the law, by being abseut from their houses, between the hours when such absence is thiegal; in order to effect this, patrols of police, and miltary conbined, should be frequently made at difforent times of the night, and with the utmoth secrecy.
4. Force will sever be used when the object ean be otherwisc obtained: but against those who reaist the law, the truops will do their duty. o their duty.
By commaad of the livutenant general commanding.

GEORGE D'AGUILLAAR, dep. edj. gen.

The infwenze is raging generally in London. Many distingutitied tadividuals have beeu aturcked; but not manay persons las died of it. The generaluy of the disease may be esteenned frons theae facts-that the business of several of ihe courts was interrupled-that nenrly eight handredof the London police were Hek-that the Itakan opera, Covent Garden, Drury Lase, the Haymarket and strand theatres, were alt closed, beratse of the Hbeses of performers, though at one of thean a play had been "or derad by wer majesty." It is said-"there is not an iuhabited house withia the bills of mortality, in which there has not theen one or two sufferera." Those who live in damp stitations suf fer mose.

The same disease prevails in Dublis.
The firct practical exhibition of inartial law in the "proclaimed" distriet of Kilkenay tock place on the night of the 14ith of Aprit, when 8 unen were taken up, beng found out of their housea at II o'clock at aight; some of them at a public house. They were lrought before a board of maghtrates, consisting of the deputy mayor, Joseph Greene, resifent county magistrate; Uhe recorder, and Aldermen Eubiuson and Gore, by whom they were desired w give an account of themselves. It appeared iliey were fronn home through inadvertence or carelessness, "as they intended no harm," and were discharged with an admonition from the bench. It appears that no mithary authoritues sat is judguent. Two others were not so fortunata, and were comanitted.
The Whitefeet were yet active in outrages.
The reveread sir kowland Hill died on the 10th April, in the oth year of his age.
An arthet- prossis, &e.
 which is probably only a moditication of the etbotrra, does nut excite so much alarin an the iatter lisease did two yeara ago, This new doworder is eaid to have reached the Vintula, and in some piaces to have passed it, aul to br a diarrhcea, which very soone proves fatal. The intucaza rages here in an extraordiusry dearee, and the small pos and measles, which preceeded it, degree, very slowly. In the wethon for cadcta, 90 boye are ill of the latter disease, but aoue have died."
praxCe.
The detachment $n$ f Polish refugens which lef Resancon in The detachment of April, consisted of three eoloueis, vis lieuLenant colonels, 12 majors, 68 cnptnins, 96 lieusenhut cond do. 8 non-enmmitsioned offieurs and 25 privatess. Aprit, the
At the sitilug of the chamber of deputies on the 19nis Aprii, the and discussion of the bndget of ways and means, for 1833 , was resumed and agreed to was $9: 6,870,548 \mathrm{ff}$. Inciuding $1,705,000 \mathrm{ff}$. the ed and agreed receipts from Algiers.
According in a royal ordonnance dated the sth of Apil, rectify. ing several thblea of the pmpulation of France annexed to the ordonnance of May 11, 18'2, it appeara, saya a Paris paper of the goth, that the sotal popilation of the kingdom ainou
She 666,073 anuls, bring 9,138 more than in the first tahleas.
Four more physicians itave been sent to aupnd upon the duchese of Berri!
It is said that Lucien Bonaparte is abont to visit the United slates.

HOLLAND AND BFLAFCX.
Another diplomatic note, kigned by Talleyrand and Palmeratos, is publiabed-but thinge remain as they were.
The diet has availed itailf uf the presence afforded hy the riot Frankfort on the 34 of April, in tatrodice the troops of Aus. tria into that city, to keep the inhabitants under clover subjection. Prussia, tom, which is always on the alert to enforce the principles and decrees of deapotism, has quartered a body of principles sade in the environs. Mrasures are atao said to be in agitatroops in the environs. ings of the press.
Frankfort is calied a "free"' city, and the people are very in dignant at being the garisoned. The Gazcue of the 11 th

April mays-"Our town remains perfectly quiet, but the poats are still doubled, in order to prevent any further disturbances. Bcreens have been fixed to all the windown of the prison which inok towarda the atreet since the confinement of the political prisoners. Thin will not deprive them of light or air, but will oniy prevent their being seen from without."

TUEKEY AND BOYPT.

Some negntiations appear to be going on between the sultan and lise pacita. The Russian fleet remained in the Bosphorus and Ritssian troopa were on their march for Constantinople. As Egyptian fleet of 30 sat was said to be off Trenedos, thought wrth a view of blockading Coustantinnple, if the British and French shall not interfere. Ibrahim, with 80,000 men, was reported as advancing from Koniah, with the supposed purpuse of attacking the Turkish castie on the Ariauc eide of slee Helles pont.

The French troops were juat about leaving Greece.
haten mewa.
From Iondon papere to April 30 , inclusive. OREAT BRUTAIM AND IRELASD.
In England the munatry have been lef in a minority on the malt tax, half the duty on that article having been remitted by a majority of 10, whict, by mome of the English editors, ts thought to be a virtual anashilation of the budget of the cbancellor of the exchequer. The Times of the 30 th April, however, in retaarking upon that subject, says:
"The iden of the administration resigning on such a point wouid be the haight of folly and absurdity. There coald scaree. Iy be a greater calamity for this coantry than a change in the councilions of the crown at the present moment, when plan thave been inatsred for the settlement of so many great questoos, and when the country io so eager to reap some of tho fruits of the reform. The arrangement of the affairs of the East India company, the bank charter question, the new code for abolishing or mitigating colonial slavery, the state of the church, besides many other things of great importunce, press for an finmediate dreision. The least interruphon to the march of thgovernment at this interesting crisis would lose half of one of the moat important sessions in our annais. Beades, no party lont the faction of anarehy coald gain any thing by the change. The return of the tories to otfiee is impossibleg the constry rejects them, and they themselvea are confesvedly afraid in take itf and we smppose the country is not yet prepared to submit to The dominion of the Irish Iord of misrule, of of the Brumasagen Hampden. All that we could gain by any exhibition of unpatriotic pique of prile in tendering their places by the present calunet, would be pome confusinn, and a great interraption to the business of the country. We hope, however, that misistern will take warning from the danger into which their own want of foresigtt has plunged them."
[If it is proper that an administration should retire, on the failure of support br Buasosive-a that only one favorite project has received the support of ollr house of representatives-and has (for the removals of the Indians), by a very spare vote.]
It seems that the ministers had decifed not to resign, and that the king exprysed his unabated eonfidences in them.
Private letters say, that unless the hoase of commons re-conwider the vote os the malt duty, the property tax whil centainly be carried.

The cotion duty reduction was fixed to go into operalion on the first of June. The inerchants at Liverpool had petitioned that it might be possponed to a further pertod, but the ministry refused to comply with their request.
There fias been a goond deal of fluctuation in the price of British and foreign stocks, at Lmadon.
A London paper, catled the OLA Fingland, in speaking if the coercive measures nifopted towards Irelaud, ${ }^{\text {anys }}$ "protentant England is now becoming aware that the fight of her falth mast be fought in tretand."

In the house of commons on the 28nd April, Mr. Altwood'9 motion for an inquiry intn the distress of the conntry, and esp molly at to how far that distrens was connerted with the operelally as in metary aystem, was three nights dehated, and Mr, tion of the monetary system, wiosed by intistere, whis rejuet. Attwond's mntion, which was npposed by inimiatrre, was rejoceed, 331 to 139 . ford Althorp then pet his origituat motion, ed, 331 to 139 . lard Althorp then pest hie oright:
which was carried by $30-1$ to 49 . It was as futem of the country which would have the effect of lowering the standard of valuc, whould be bighly inerpedient."
The pote by ballof was the sinbjeet of a inag dehate. Lord A1The wole by bain open advocate of the baitert out of the hosace, yet npposed Mr. Grote's motion that "in all futare elections the vute be taken by hallot"-and it was consequently rejeeted, st io 105. For a reformed parilament, this is a strange decision. France.
The duke of Orleans was to stant for England on the 15 th of May, and would pass some weeks in London. The duke de Valencey, sen of the fuchese de Dino, was to accompany bis roya bughness.

The sets of certain of she Poles, in Franee, in Iraving the placen uany difflculties in rempect to these, and also otiern, who remained in depot. Under the present circunatances, the French governuent, it is sad, uneans fo apply the taw which authorisea if to refuse the admanation of toreighers whoee prearace tuay ditturb the publie taniquiliny.

The french guverninebt are preparing in iarge naval force at Toulon, to he ill readiuesen to go to ven limot the arnival of the Finglish pquadion, which was expectef swon to arrive there. Orders had been transmitted to the etonckecpery to provide a quantily of materialn for their service.
The Carlist jouruats assert that the duchess de Derri is ex. tremety ili. Iifer devout purtians deny her pregnancy, and maintion that she is afficted with souse sumgular cotnplaint, which can ooly be cured by miraculaue power; and a lady of rank, In I'ain, has accordingly transtnitted a part of the gown of the Nure Dame de I.icese, for the duchess to kum. A radical cure is expeeted shortly to be effircted.

The Freach chamber of deputies have voted 50,000 francs for the purchase of the Msis. and works of the lave M. C'lians pollion; and a peasion of 3,000 flanes to his widow.

TEREEY AND EOYFT.
German papers mention that the agents of Ibrahim Pacha are very active at Constantincyie; that the sultan is in hourly danger of his life; and tifat fears are entertaiued about bringtag the Ger of his life; and that fears are thentertained as the sight of them noiglt tnake the peopte desperate and accelerste an explomion. The same authorities state that ten thonsanil Ruwsian imfantiy have parsed the Danube on their road to Constantumpie. Aceounta from Berlin speak of a report to the effect that a proposal has beeth made by one of the European eabucts fir dıplinuate conferences at Vienna, for the purpose of discussing in coannon the affairs of the eani

It seems elearly underatood that the Turks have invited the protedion of the Russtana. And yet said, that the porte, more fearfut of his friends that his enctuies, had reswived in accept the terms offered hy his rels-jiliotss pacha. We tinnk that both may be true-in nuels a eabinct ar that of $C^{\circ}$ onstantuouple.

Another accunnt ways-the suttan has conscut-d to treat with the viceroy of Fyspt, upon the basis of tise proposithos trans nitued by luin to lits soni Ibratuin. T'ine F'reach ruvoy appoara to be acting the part of a mediator herween theth. Aif actuve to be acting the part of a shedintor Another-the sultan thas uccepted the turns of peace proposed to him by the pachas of Eys) pt, Linough Ali pas ba.

oxH3anv.
The late events at Frankfort, &c. have caused mach exeitement, and may produce inportant effecte, in tiermany. The meosple seem keph "in order" only by the pressure of vilitary force.
polann.
The Augsbargh Gazette of the loth of April ataten, that an inonrrectuon of the Polen laad taken place as Cracow, who had eut so pieces soase detachmente of Kuwsian tronps. Considerable bodiess of Poles are represitited to be organized in the forests, and the Rusulan governuent is said to have had reconrue to severe measures $\omega$ wuppress the spirit of revolt that has been maBtale of thing in Pobland, and the esar has the effrontery, at the commencement of it, to asmert that icevery body knowa the high degree of prosperity to which Poland liad been raised by fifiern years' assidsous care and poternul solicitude on the part of the Jusaisn government.
The autocrat has jsued a more rigornos penhitition againat Poles and Ruspians traveling of France. Ifis "paternal molicitude" for thair weifare is such that the chooses to retain them within the reach of the knotit.

Accounts from Madrid portvaal.
that the affaire of Purtugal will be arracre is reason to believe ciliate the priaces of the house of Ilraganza. ciliate the priaces of the house of Ilraganza.

maraary powker.

A letter fiom Genna, of the 18 th ituris. says-" "eome misunderatanding thas artsen betwrell the regoney of Tunis aud this governiment, who have fitted out four double-banked frigates, Which have sailed. Another doubte-bankell fricate and several oun boats are preparing, alid to be dratined for Tunin. A report has rearhed thus from 'Tunis, of the 9 hh mwt. that ereat preparationsfor war were making tivre, and that Ibv Gotetia wan being put in the best state of defunce. Aboul 10,000 nuen were ea-

GEEKOM AYREA.
On the 96th, the homse of reprearntatives, after a long dehate, passed the following deeree, which we hail with plvasure as indieating the adsance of liberal sentiments in our sister repmifle:
"The government is atithotized in the case of Mr. Samuel P. Lafone and Donna Maria Queverto, or In any cape of a similar natare which may oocur, to grant a dispensation of the Imprediments which were eatabliahed by the civil laww, in order to tite eelehraticu of marriage between Catholic and Protestant indiviceluals."
The partimabove mentioned, are thoee hirtwren whom marriage wan soteminized by our feliow eonntryman, rev. WiliarTorrey, and for which both he and thry were suibjectril tn a long reries of vexations, both from the civil and eccleniastical powerw of the country. The British Packet hnvever atates, that "notwithstanding the diecretionary power whitil has been given to the government, there stiil exist eeciesiantical impediments to the intermarriage of Catholers and Prutentante, which we belt've has been, it me instance, dispensed with by tive present prelate.

$\rightarrow \rightarrow 0$ en-

TIE: L,ATE JOHV RANDOLSII.
At a mepting of eitizens of Phitarlolphat, axsembled the Gith May, 18.2 k , in the district conrt motan of the V'med states, to unice in a tritute of respect to the remains of oar distongurlied countryman, the tate Joun Rasoulpu, of Virginia, who died on Friday last in this city, on nutuon it was reachlyed unaninoouely, tibat the hon. Joseph Hoptinson, tike the chair, and that the looh. John G. WatmougA, be nppointed aerreinry.
The objeet of the mreting haviug been stated from the chair, the fillowing resolution was moved by Mr. dergeant, and secounled by the hon. Hurace Ilinney.
Resolved, That

- be a committee to confer with the pernonal friends of the drecased, and if consistent with their views and ferlinga, to wake arrangements for uniting with thein in a pubtic tribute of respert to the remaina of our di-tingainhed countryman, the Inte Jons Ravioniph, of Virginia, whose death in the midst of us, has peculiarly reminded us of the splepdid contuthution liva talents and genius through a loug public life have uade to the reputation of our colintry.
The resolution being under consideration, it was moved by Joseph E. Ingersoll, eeq. and unanimously earried to 5 II the blank with ten.

THe fotlowing named apallemen were aceordingly annohnecd, Horace Hinnry, Nieholas Buddle, Samuli Breek, Joseph Heaphill, Richard Willing, C. J. Ingertoil, James Bıown, gen. Cadwailader, Jobn Serzeant, George M. Dallas.
On motion of David Paut Brown, eaq, it was una nimously remolved, that the chairman and secretary of this meeturg be addid to the emnmittee.

On motion of the hoh. Johu Sergeant, it was Revolred, unanimously, That the committre make known their pruceedings through the pubile papers, untess they should deem it expedient to eafl amitier mecting.

Ou motion, the meeting tirn adfourned.
JIBE:PH II IPKINSON, chairnaen.
Jон⿱ G. Watmoven, sectelary.
The meeting having adjourned, the above named committee met aceordingly:

After a few preliminary remarks from the chairman, Nicbolas Biddle, esq. a motion was made and enrried unaoimoanly, atothoristing him to commmnirate with the friends of the deceased, and arecrtain what future mode of proceeding would be most acceptable to them, and moat suitable to the occasion.
The filinwing correxpondence is the result, whieh we are happy to be able to lay so prountly before the pablic.

PhiladelpAia, fifry 2kth, 1833.
John &. Berbour, Henry E. Watkins and William J. Bathadale, erqrs.
tientlempe-I have the honor to enelose to yon as the friends tin behatf of the commitee appointed at that nopeung, I am instinctud to consult you as to the mont aceeptable mode in firming eitzots of Pluladiphia may share with you, in perfurming the melancholy offices of reapect due in an accasion Whelt the itrprived yon of a permonal friend, the state of Virginta of a diatiuguished son, and nur commun, country of one of her most eniment eitizens. I shall be happy to communicate your views to the compltes, sing in your views to the commituee, and in the menntime remain, with great respect, yours, N. BIDDLE, chairman.

Philadetphia, May 254, 1833.
S18-We have rceeived your letter of this day, covering the proceedings of the citizena of Philadelphia, asxenisted on the occapon of the death amoug theis of Juhn Eandolph of Roanoke. This melancholy event deprived the state of Virginia of a dietinguishell citizen, who los iflustrated his clains to her respect and regard, in a life of failliful atul active service. The sovereignty, proaperity and renown of that comanonweaith were ofjects of his affertuon, at all times close to his heart; and in their nopport he cmploysd the best effurtu of his powerful and aplea.
did genius. The tukens of respect the difegenius. The tokens of respect that you have shown for his fife nud memory, eannot but be graleful to thoee who hold in just cstimation the virtues, the abilitirs, and public evervieen of Mr. Randalph. In return, we beg you to receive from ourselves and other ellizens of Vizginia, now present, our cordial and gratrfui acknowledgmente.
The widh which he avowed for the removal of hle montal retheir carly departure necessary. And the delay land, will make the aeceptaner of any furthery. And the delay that must follow of the deceased, than that already tribute of reapeet to the memory of the deceased, than that alrearly manifested by the inhabitants of this city, would the alieniled by great Inconvenience. It Is hoped that thls catse will be aceeptably received by you, for our deelining, as wremot reapectfulty do, your generous propposition, to unite with wa in daing uther honor to the memory of our distimpished countryman. With all respert, your obedient servants.
J. 8. RARBOITR,

HENRY E WATKINS,
N. Biditle, eng. chairmita of the commiltice BARKSDAL.E.
ple of Philadelphia.

Substance of the remarks of Mesprs. Sergeant and Muney, at the Pbiladelphas meeting:
Mr. Sergeant said, he rose to offer a reanlution upon the subjeet which had cansed thas moveling. The very dintunguished citizen who had bere termitiated fits usurtal catcer, though be had died away from his honer, had nos duri anowg strangers. He was wril known ta the city of Philatcljhia. Ile wanknown througtront the United Atates. Ile was known, loe mighat add, iu every part of the world where the language was undenstood in which lae spoke, and there were men capable nf appreciating the extraocdinary jowers be had exhibited in a public lofe of between thrty and lorty years. In one drpartnest of lagh inteltectual excertinn, be had justly acquired a pre-enninent reputation, and by it had added to the rrputation of nur eonatry. Ife had comuributud to place her, at least, on a level with other nathone, and to emable her to pat in a welt foumded elaim to the paten of aluqueuce. It was ilue, he waid, to this eomminuaity, it was due to the personal friends of the decrased, it was due to the slate of Virgivit, whore emiment and bmamed son be was, that the occasion should not pases withont some pulitic exprissuas of the senatbility which the deathof our distinguished couutrymata so naturafly excited.

In tire course of a lowe public life, full of keen and ardent cnnteat, Mr. Rasdolph, it was not to be deuted, had oflell offended thopet who cause in coutact with bim. This kind of irritabiloty. perinaje, belimgs to the constitution of a lighly gifced sature. Genits is apt to be irritable:. Tha fame that is to be seen afar off, muvt burn intonsely. It overheas the fratl vessel that contang ats ciemental fre, and often scorehes thove who are in its immediate neighborhood. Death strips off the covering, and with it should fall into the grave the meanory of its if.firunities. What remains, is light, purified by separation. Shining, but not consuming, but oprewling its rays in all directions, it enters tnto the tuass of intellectual light, which adorns and cnriches our country.
He sad lie would make but one more remark. That Mr. Randoiph should have coase loere to die, was, so us, merely aceidenual. And yet thre was something in it, which one who loved the union, could unt but brartity wricome. Virgiuia's eaninent mon loved and honored his native wtate am molh as any atan could $o. It was bis pride to be In all things a Virginian; and Virginia ruquited his affection with continued conflalsoce. At her feet be lind Iald the trophies fre fuad won, and she regasced, and sent him forth again in earn new bonors. That he oreathed bis last breash luere, in Petsusylvania, would seem to signify that Virgimia's emunent son was almo a son of the uuion; hat the title of cttizen of the United Rtated was will the parsmount citle, and that the whole union was his country. He sald be would detain the merting no longer.
When seconding the resolutwin, Mr. Binney said, that while he could add anthing to the force and beauty of the remarks with wlich the inotion liad been iutroduced, is gave him unfeigned satisfactimn to second it. It must be confersed that Mr. Ramdolph was an ertranodinary mau; extraordinary in many pointe, and partieularly in his enbminand of the politic ear for an onf a period, by his signal accomplishon*nts as a drbater. He has jrobehly anplken 10 more lisirnere tinn any other man of hts day, having beca fond pungency of hil lauguaper, the facility sention by the foree and pangerey the point and cunphasis of ad beauty of his etunciationt and the point and cmparas of his anost striking mannir. No man wos who ever heard him dolph, ean ever forqut him: and min man who ever heard an onep, was ever unwiting to hear him stain, errept when, an der the sway of an excitement to which allasion las been made, that was sounetimes said which bis must partoal an has fow wver ed unsad. The rrebllection of these ocemmonbrance of thome parsed away, and there remains noly the remebibrance of thome powerw which have added another ham heen in public life from nent countrymen. Mr. Handolph hres been in pubic iife fon neariy the dawn of partles in thia government to the presem time; sometimes a leader, thoroughty prepared and efincient, and a ways even ancr sieknces had milling to bave on his aide than mand him. His reputacion now betonges to bis couniry. His egainet hiwn. Hio reputaion now betongs forty seara the condcareer is clospd, after enjoy ing for beariy forthorhood nnd eon. dence and affection of his immedice neigunespectedly cionsexions, and the respect of his wative so have brgun. As a dis. ed in this city, where it may be asid to have torgun. An a dis. tinguished sont of Virginin, distiuguizlued hy hor confidence, and by his own talents and atation in the pashic coancis of the naby his own tying at a diaiance from his fricnds and homs, it in the duty of hnapitality, as well te of synupathy and patrintiem, to honor ty of hospitality, as well as of aynpathy and patrons mecond the motion of Mr. his remait Sergeant.

NOTICES OF IIR DRATM

By the editors of the "Nationgl Intelligencer."
The Philadrlptia papers announce the decease of the hon. Innw Rampotipn, of Virginia, who expirrd at the city hotri, in that elty, on Friday laet, at noon. Mr. R. passed thmugh the city on Sunday week, in an eztremely feebie conaition; and then hopeless state of his heaith for nome of hit death will conse ItInown to his friends, that the newn of his death witic. tle surprise to thrin, however deeply it may be ragrelect. of the adr. conereps of which body he lud been, with occasional ingad congres, of which fod thirty-five ypars. From lis first en trmiwaione, atilic IIR, in I798, he has beta one of the most pro-miuent politicians of onr country. In some reaperia, he was one of the most remarkable innon of the age, and in in frw partieniars, perhaps, the most fcithirkibble. It, in the course on bus fone career, the peculanity of he temper, and his propensity for sarcasm, nade hin eqenites, bis wats, wit the inther hand, las warnurt peromat frocuds; and the thac bua been when fow Wruld have di-puted the justice of the high complitmont whiveh was puid him, when lie was promusuced to be "eloqueut at CHatifay as C'ato incorrapables,"

Ry Mr. Pleasants, editor of the ${ }^{\text {H1 Richmond Whig." }}$
At the present crisis of putble allair, this event cannout but be deplored by every fripnd of etnte rights, as a natinnsi ealamity We eageriy looked forward to the time when Mr. Handotph should resume his utation in the councils of the mation, an the era from which the doctrines ut Jiffermon wore destined to date their regencration. We crould mot bring ourselves to believe that he wuald not survive his voyage.
Mr. Randulph and ournclves were long at eamity; bent we arver for a moment withbeld from him that admuration whith bis miraculous powers denatinded froth all. T'he furmer sentiment has long since died; the lattur floarislice lu reupwed vigor, and will cease but with the extinction of hife. If ever this count try owned a sun, porseswing in a very bigh degree, those properties usually attributed to genius, apurt lross what anthors denominate more particulorly valeut, Jolm Rntadoljuh wats that usan. The rapidity and extent of his pereeption, is abmot watlinnt a parallel in the history of tine world. The cagle brillancy of his eyes, celubrated wherever be waw known, and wish almost poseresed the power of petrifying those who encounterved his gaze, was hut a type of the alinost superhmuan otreugth, and clearnese $n$ f his intrillect. He arrived not at eomeluswons like ordinary mortaly, by the show -process of reawining- With linu to state the premises, and to see the infirmenee at oner, wap intinct. Nor were lis conclusions lews carrift, than if derived from a long chain of rensoning, like the instinet of Zerah Colburn, distaricing abd antounding Ilie profoundust plalosophers without himself kunwing bow to explain the operatirth of he wonderful talents. The witgutaritten of Mr. IEandoljh, were oweh as universally attend great penius, when moutiod with nn infrm conetitution. T'lie truth of this is exemplitied in the eapes of Pope, Rouspeau. Alfieri, Inrd Byrnn, and others; whose er. centricitien though probishly not so extravagant, very mueh rpm semhteil his. Peace be to hils athem. He will he conpidered hy future ages, when the rage of party is forgotten, the pride of his eountry, and the miracte of his age.

By Mr. Ritchic, editor of the "Rirhwond Evquirer." John Randolph, esq. of Roanoke. Smme ablir penthon our own, will be fimsid to do jurtice to the nurvitu of Mr. Randidphe We may eay truly, that a great man has this day fatien in Israel. As an nrator, be was, with one exeppiton, snperior to ang other man whom Virguila, and we may udd, the United Etates, has ever produced - Patrick Ilenry akone berare away the palin from all eoingetitors. Por his powere of convernation, Mr. Hasululph stood unrivalled. His gening was of the most brillisnt ordesand the musit pollimited tasto had lent all her graces to its Ima fricnals of the ngite or twe ocice on numerona occraions th tinguished services he has rendercd onses The man that tre their elevated esnse. Peace be to his anhes? Tine man that inh Arrival nf the remains of Mr. Randoiph, at Richmond-from the Whig of May 29 ;

The reinains of Mr. Randolph arrivid lase night in pfoambont Patrick llenfy, and were carriral ion Mrs. Juval"r lowarting inoume, Patrick 1 Where the ramernig, at ten o'clock, liy the rev. Mr. lace. Accordthets thin morning, at ican choref, uttered a fow wereks sinuse, ing th tise rmpuest of the deepaxed, utifirdated a wish diat mo this wad ail the cercunny, be having nutimatid a wincoselon funcral sermon should lue preaclud over hith. The procespion started a few minutron afer eleven, and wan followed by an immenme coneourse of perple as far as the toll vate of Mayof ${ }^{6}$ bridire. Thirteen miuute onns were fired as the procession set bridge. Thirteen ininfertiliery, under the combuand of lieut. off, by a drinchm nt of artiliery, under the combatad of ive for Hollins, ns a token $n$ ( reapert cutertaincd hy that compived lave the memory of the decensed. Lifut. Kandolph who arrived ass night, joined is the procewwinn. Juba and Jubnny whowe masues have lecome chavical, and will go down in powterny in indisenluble union with that of their master, formed a eonspicuous part of the pruceraion. Our sympathies wwre decply aflected by the of the prucearion. cilent and unce tese trickled, as be apsistrd to place the remains of his masthe tean trickied, as he asaim the deceased was known in be in ter in the bearse. Strange avas lis temoer, and small ou his his hamons, capricinus and sympathy with mankind might apper Afrienn arsund him trived to ent wine the affretions of the poon Alwithust him. that he has prohably nevrr thought of cxising winul powerfuliy Mr. Randolph's iniud is san dewindling Intet tise sorkpt. Ilie and brilhsuily, as the lntap was dwingia, his dvar olll Virginia, mind dwelt incrseantiy the tame of his nffections, and the theatre the land of his lirth, the thome burled in his native land is elasof triw andory.
"Moritwr et morient dulert remimisrimer orpos.
12 It is

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

Afril 25 th, 1833 .
Regulations for the govemntent of the mail arrangement on the great Atlantic line from Washington, D. C. to Portland, Maine, commencing on the Ist May, 1833.

1. Donble mail lines are to be run from Washington to Hartford, Ct. one of whieh will be known as the fast line-the other as the ordinary line. Fiast of Hartiord the mail is to be conveyell as nuw in one line; but conformubly to the following schedule:
2. The fast line is to eonver no other matter than letters and newspapers, anil to deliver mails at the following offices only: Washington, Jalutnore, (Wilmington, on the winter arrangement), Philadelphia, New Iork and Ilartford.
S. The ordinary line is to conscy all mails and mail matter not admitted into the fast line, and to deliver mails at all offices on the route.
3. The mails for the fast line are to be mate upat each of the above named offices for every other of the ahove named offices, both ilelivery and ulistribntion, utuler a distinct address to it-and marked "fast mail"-and be placed in a red canvass bag adilressed by label to such office- $\rightarrow 0$ other portmanteaus than thowe unter the large loek, and no other canvass bags than the red eases arc to be conveyed by the fast line.
4. No distribution of the fast mails by an intervening distribution office is to be made-but all such intervening distribution offices will have their fast mails made up as aforesaid half an hour before the time set for the arrival of the mall, soas to subject it to nogreater iletention than will be required for opening the bags and taking out the mail for said office, and returning its own mails to the bags and elosing the same.
5. Care should be taken to put in red bags to go out of the portmanteaus only such published matter as is entiuled to $p^{0}$ in the fast line, and to put such matter invarially in red bags. This regulation applies to mails to be conveyed on the great western line from Baltimore. Red bags in portmanteaus are to be labelled on wrapping paperfoliled, and tied and sealed at the mouth of the bag-out of portmanteaus on wood.
6. When a eanvass beg, addressed to an intermediate point, as to New York for instance, is received at that office and emptied of its enntents, let it jass throngh to the end of the fast line, Hartford for instance, as an empty bag open, with the label ninned on. In merive the metum Providence will, in Portlant, Portsmnuth, Boston and Providence will, in making up their delivery or distribution mails admissible in the fast line for the large offices tion mails admissible in the fast line for the large offices on the route of that line, mark them "fast mail" for the better convenience of the postmaster of Hartford in arranging the mails, to the appropriate bags.
7. Mails for Wilmington from the east will he, during the summer arrangement, sent to Philadelphia, from thich offiee they will be despatched direet to Wilmington. At Washington and Baltimore, they will be made $u_{j}$ in a separate portmanteau, under a large lock, to be left at New Castle.
8. The scherlule for the winter arrangements is to be observed at Washington, Baltimore, and Philaulelphias, and Delaware ateats cease rumaing on the Chesapeake whenever steamboats cease running between vast of it, and New York.
9. Ordinary mails from Washington to Baltimore, and vice verea, are to be despatehed every morning anil to run through in not exceeding seven hours.
10. Ordinary mails from Bakimore to Philatlelphia, and vice versa, are to be despatehed by every steamboat of the "Pennsvlvania, Dela ware and Maryland nteamboat company," and by the Havre tle Grace and Port Deposite
11. Ordi
and oice versary mill from Philatelphia to New York, and by a wage line to depart early in the mornint fine, Philaclelphia, so as to lapl, in time, upon the strambom tline at Trenton, hy which stage lines the mails for Trent ton and intermediate officesare to be sent-and by a stage line to depart at the latest hour for crossing the Hudson river from Nuw York, to go to Newark that night aml lap the sext morning on the steamboat line at New Branswick by which stage line, the mails for New Ilmonswick and the internenlime offices are to be sent-on the winter arrangenent a sccond stage line for the orlinary mail will be sent regularly through from office to office.
12. Ordinary mails from New York to Martford will be ileapatehed ilaily liy the steamboat and by the stages, Sunday excepted. On the Sabbath the fast mails will be sent by the stages, as the New Haven steamboats do not run on that day-returning, the ordinary mail will be sent by stages to New Haven and thenee by steamboat to New York-and the fast mails will be conveyed the eutire dintance by stages. The stages eonveying the fast mails mav receive ut the offices between New Haven and New lork pocket mails to be delivered at New York.
13. Tlie distribution at Stamford is discontinued. It will hercafter be performed in the post offiees at New York and Hartford.
14. To ןurevent delays, the contractor will receive his load of passengers and baggage before receiving the smail; -aml the postinaster is requirell on diseoverisg too great a loal of the former to allow the requisite speed, to report the fact to the departnient.
15. Punctual arrival at or hefore the time fixed in the schedule, will be indispersable, as the outgoing mail ia in no ease to be detainell beyonl the time set for its departure, except in the single instanee noted in the schedule.
16. The suljoined sehedules will be faithfully complied with, anil performed by each contractor on the line, from and after the 1st May, 1833.
17. Postmasters will report each failure immediately, with the eause if knowirand will also report monthly registers of arrivals and departures.
18. Pontroasters will advise the department of any disanfustment or want of the proper eonnexion with the pending routes that may be ocensioned by the eliange of time made by the following seliedules, together with their best suggestions of improvement.

schedule xo. I.

From Washington to Portland.

ECMMER AARANGEMEXT.
Leave Washington at 12 night.
Arrive at Baltimore ly 5 a. m.
Leave Baltimore at 6 a. m.
Leave Philarlelphia at $6{ }^{\text {'rit. }}{ }^{2}$, to an.
in 12 hours.
Arrive at New York by 6 a. $m$.
Leave N. York $\left[\begin{array}{l}1] \\ 2\end{array}\right]$ at $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on wrek days, in steamboat. in post coaclses. $6 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. or earlier, on Sundays, Arrive at Hartforil [1] by 7 p. m.

Leave Hartford [1] at 8 p . m . by 101 p . m . Sunday.
Arrive at by $11 \frac{2}{4} \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Sunday.
Arrive at Hoston $\left\{\begin{array}{l}1\end{array}\right\}$ by 12 m .
$\mathrm{g}]$ by $31 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
Leave Boston [1] at 1 p. m. $32 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Monilay.
" [s] at $4 \frac{1}{2}$ p. m.
Arrive at Portsmonth $\{1\}$ by 11 p. m.
Leave Portamouth [1] at 18 nisft. $2 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~A} . \mathrm{m}$. Tuesday.
4 gi at 18 night.
Arrive at Portland 19 by 9 . Tuesulay.
i4 Portand $\left\{\begin{array}{l}1 \\ 2\end{array}\right\}$ by 9 an 124 noo [2] by $12 \frac{1}{2}$ noon, Tuestay.

ACHEDCLLE XO. II.

From Pertland to Wawhington.
SUMMER ARAANOEMENT.
Lenve Portland at $10 \mathrm{a}, \mathrm{m}$.
Arrive at l'ortsmonth by 7 p. m.
Leave Portsmouth at 8 p . m .
Arrive at Boston by 6 a. m.
Leave Hoston at 7 a. m .
Arrive at Hartford by 11 p. m.
Leave Hartford at 12 night.
Arrive at New York by 4 p. m.
Leave New York at $5 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
Artive at Philadelphia by 6 a. m,

Lave Philadelphia at 6. a. in.
Arrive at Bultimore by 4. p. m.
Leave Baltimore at $5 . \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. but to wait for the mail a reasonable time in the diservtion of the postmaster. Arrive at Waahingtm by 11 p. m.

scamdeze No. III.  From Washington to Porlland. WINTKA ARAANGEMENT.

Leave Washington at 9h p. m.
Arrive at Baltimore by $2 \neq \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.
Leave Baltimore at 3 a . m .
Arrive at Philadelphia by $5 \frac{1}{2}$ p. m.
Leave Philadelphia at 6 p. m.
Arrive at New York by 6 a. m.
Leave New York at $6 \frac{1}{2}$ a. m .
Arrive at Hartiond lyy $10 \frac{1}{2}$ p. m.
Leave Hurtford at $11 \frac{1}{2}$ p. m.
Artive at Hoston by $3 \frac{1}{2}$ p. m.
Leave Hoston at $4 \frac{1}{\mathrm{p}} \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
Arrive at P'ortsmouth by $2 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.
Leave Portsmouth at $3 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.
Arrive at Portland by $12 \frac{1}{3}$ neon.

gCEEDULE NO IV.

From Portland to Washington. WIMTER ARBANOEMENT.
Leave Portland at $9 h_{2}$ a. m.
Arrive at Portamouth by $6 \frac{1}{2}$ p. m.

Leave I'ortsmouth at $7 \frac{1}{2}$ p. m.
Arrive at Moston by $5 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.
Leuve Boston at $6 \frac{1}{2}$ a. m.
Arrive at Hartford hy 102 p. m.
Leave Ilartforl at $113 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
Arriveat New lork by $3 / 2 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
Leave New York at $1 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{f}$. m .
Arive at Philadelphia by $5 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.
l deave I'bilatelphia at 6 a . $\mathbf{1 6}$.
Airive at Baltinore lyy $10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. l cave Batimore at $11 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$; but wait for the mail a reasonable time, in the diserction of the postmaster. Arrive at Washington by 5, a. m.
W. M. '\%. 13.ARAY, postmaster general.
-
We meet with the following, presented to shew the operation of the summer arrangement of the mails:

COMMFRCE ANI NAVIGATION OF THE, UNITED STATES-1R32.
Ertracte from the report of the ancretary of the treusury roncerniug the commerce and nurvigation of the United States for the yeur enting Sippember $30,1832-$ with atatements of the tonnage, Efc.

SU'MMARY NTATEMEST OF IMPUATS.

| WHENCE IMPORTED. | VALUR OF MERCHAXBIEE IAPORTKD Fmon each counthk. |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | Free of deuty. | Paying duties ad nalarem. | $\left\|\begin{array}{cc} \text { Payding spe } \\ \text { rific } & \text { du } \\ \text { ties. } \end{array}\right\|$ | totala | $\left\lvert\, \begin{array}{ll} \text { In }-4 \text { meri } \\ \text { com ves } \\ \text { cols. } \end{array}\right.$ | In forcigs men sels. | $\left\{\begin{array}{l} \text { Prom the do- } \\ \text { minilons of } \\ \text { each porerer. } \end{array}\right.$ |
| Kussia | $146, 769 | $$ 224,721$ | $2, 280,362 | $3,251,85\% | $3, (1993,756 | $158,496 | 251,852 |
| Prussia | 65 | $7,5,89$ | [20,2,0, | 27,94\% | 27,9:7 |  |  |
| Swetten and Norway | 65 | 3,165 | $1,094,164$ | 1,097,394 | 804,856 | 294, 5383 |  |
| Swedish West Judies | 30,74:3 | 4,974 | 17,694 | 1,03,410 | 45,869 | 7,541\} | 1,150,804 |
| Denmark - | 63 | 826 | 62,451 | $63,34 \div$ | 54, 80-4 | 8,538 ? |  |
| 1)anid West Iudies | 230, 723 | 28,551 | 860,087 | 1,119,366 | 1,030, 375 | 88,991 $\}$ | ,182,788 |
| Netherlarsds | 45,782 | 702,418 | 612,468 | 1,360),668 | 1,225,648 | 135,020) |  |
| 1huteh Fiast Indies - | 58,518 | 12,544 | 597,918 | 668,974 | 668,974 |  | 2,358,474 |
| Dutch West Indies | 124,095 | 3,94\% | 2010,795 | 328,832 | S 26,401 | 2,431 |  |
| Eugland | 1,144,460 | 28,924,914 | $4,779,188$ | $34,818,562$ | 31,706,333 | $3,142,2897$ |  |
| Seotland | 7,084 | 1,27i, ${ }^{\text {a }}$ (1) | 296, +5 H | 1,580,812 | 2622,732 | 1,318,080 |  |
| Ireland | S16 | 457,873 | 33,702 | 491,891 | $3 i 4,870$ | 117,021 |  |
| finernsey, Jersey, &c. |  | 370 | 164 | 5.34 |  | 534 |  |
| Gibralur - - | 15,104 | 54,801 | 909,953 | 279,858 | 279,858 |  | 42,406,994 |
| British Fiast Indies | 243,867 | $1,457,375$ | $837,69 f_{i}$ | 2,534,938 | 9,538,938 |  | 42,406,924 |
| British West Indies | 586,370 | 130,440 | 715,427 | 1,422,237 | 1,102, 45 | 319,779 |  |
| Britinh American colonies | 839,031 | 109,962 | 280,533 | 1, 229,529 | 821,378 | 408,148 |  |
| Other British colonies | 1,(00) | 93 | 1,458 | 2,551 | 2,551 |  |  |
| Cape of Good Ilope | 204 | 620 | 11,191 | 12,015 | 12,015 |  |  |
| Hanse Towns and Germany | 139,005 | 9,465, 879 | 260, 212 | 2,865,496 | 1,590, 621 | 1,274,478 | 2,865,096 |
| Franee on the Atlantic - | 126,84s | 9,563,694) | $1,241,506$ | 10,931,983 | 10,450,490 | 481,493) |  |
| France on the Mediterranean | 38,258 | 534,792 | 670,723 | 1,243,775 | 1,119,874 | $123,901\}$ | 12,754,615 |
| French West Indies | 160, 564 | 9,659 | 408,631 | 578,857 | 541,598, | 37,264 |  |
| Hayti - | 419,485 | 53,505 | 1,587,306 | 2,05.3,386 | 1,971,291 | 82,195 | 2,055,386 |
| Spain on the Athntic - | 19,352 | 285,358 | 872,773 | 647,483 | 652, 292 | 25,861 |  |
| Sjain on the Meditertancan | 1,056 | 35,655 | 708,950 | 740,701 | 644,775 | 95,926 |  |
| Teneriffe and obler Causuries | 62,620 | 218 | 91,990 | 154,837 | 154,837 |  | 10,863,250 |
| Masilla and Mhilippine Islands | 63,041 | 174,375 | 94,814 | 352,030 | 339,230 |  |  |
| Cuba - - | 167,427 | 579,867 | 6,321,563 | 7,068,857 | 5,617,794 | 1,451,063 |  |
| Other Spanish West Indies | 73,987 | 70,515 | 1,739,680 | 1,889,189 | 1,775,031 | 114,151 |  |
| Portugal - - | 3,721 | 3,300 | 116,745 | 123,816 | 75,857 | 47,959 |  |
| Madeira - - | 5,221 | 883 | 222,214 | 228,318 | 228,518 |  |  |
| Fiugal and other Azores | 7,384 | 790 | 13,508 | $21,6 \mathrm{k} 2$ | 21,682 |  | 85,264 |
| Cape de Vert Islands - | 74,475 | 2,464 | 10,767 | 87,716 | 86,147 | 1,559 |  |
| Usher Portuguese African ports | 8,847 | 11,749 | 3,146 | 23,742 | 23,742 |  |  |
| Sieily - - . | 36,545 | 92, 185 | $27,887^{\circ}$ | 156,617 | 141,668 | 14,950 | 156,617 |
| Italy | 286,380 | 1,185,04) | 198,375 | 1,619,795 | 1,608,434 | 11,361 | 1,619,795 |
| Trieste - - - | 149,258 | 164,330 | 48,439 | 362,027 | 269,435 | 92,599 | $62,047 |
| Turkey, Levant and Egypt - | 62,394 | 342,306 | 518,999 | 923,629 | 891,998 | 31,706 | 929,629 |
| Mexico - - | 3,951,518 | 2.52,598 | 109,888 | 4,998,954 | 3,570,892 | 723,182 | 4,293,954 |
| Central Nepullie of Ameriea | 160, 604 | $90,2.5$ | 87,400 | 288,316 | 285,746 | 2,570 | 288,316 |
| Hondurnk, Campeachy, 太e. | 29, 763 | 4,14.5 | 254 | 34,162 | 30,465 | 3,697 | 34,162 |

| WHENCE twonctio |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  |  | Free of duty. | Paying du tier and ralorem. | $\left\lvert\, \begin{gathered} \text { Paying spe.- } \\ \text { rific } \\ \text { lívs. } \end{gathered}\right.$ | total. | $\left\|\begin{array}{cc} \text { In } & \text { Ameri } \\ \text { can } & \text { res. } \\ \text { sels. } \end{array}\right\|$ | In forcign wessele. | Frow the dominione of each power. |
| Colamina - - | - | 58.3, 4.4.3 | [30, 3 , 21 | A25, 415, | 1, 4.39, 182 | 1, 579,56,3 | 59,619 | 1,439,188 |
| Humail - - - |  | 1,2.65,6k9 | Man, 4 (4) | $2,34,3,1003$ | $3,8: 101, \mathrm{x}+3$ | 3, 853, M76 | S6,969 | S,890,845 |
| Argentine republie - | - | 1,415,0.41 | 125,9,3 | 19,14; | 1,360, 171 | 1,5.39,8:20 | 20,351 | 1,560,171 |
| Chili - - |  | $51 \mathrm{mt,36t}$ | 2, 1, 3 | 1,3201 | 501,623 | 504,623 |  | $5(4,683$ |
| 1'orin - - | - | $6 \times 50,67 \%$ | 2-2,9: 4 | 10,49\% | $7: 30,1005$ | 724,098 |  | 7400,098 |
| Asia, generally - - |  | $3,-1,3$ | 4,451 | 1 $11.3,016$ | 111, 1 ma | 111,150 |  | 111,180 |
| Atrics, gemerilly - | - | $18 t i, 36,3$ | 12-2,5:20 | 12,710 | S21,532 | S 21,532 |  | 521,538 |
| West lindus, generally |  |  |  | 1\%,700 | 12,740 | 12, $2+1$ |  | 12,740 |
| Clina - | - | 95,9 61 | $2,392,2333$ | 2, 8.56, 2.3 .3 |  | 5,344,907 |  | 5,344,9017 |
| Siouth Senan - |  | 15,(4M) |  | 175 | 15,175 | 15,175 |  | 15,175 |
| Sandwich Islands - | - |  | 929 |  | (124) | 9.3n |  | 9.20) |
| Arabia - - |  | 2,553 | 10,3\% x | $11,190 \cdot 4$ | 94, 1123 | 24,023 |  | $94,025$ |
| Uncertmin ports - | - | 814 |  | +,211 | 5,1r24 | 5,(1-28) |  | $5,029$ |
| T'otal |  | ,269,45s. | , 177,38112 | 1, 1 \%r2, 4is 1 | $1,1) 29,2669$ | 90,298, 929 | 10,731, 037 | 101,029,266 |

Treasury defartment, Register's office, Fidmury 12, is:33,
T. I. SMITII, register.

No. 2.
Summary atatement of the quantity and value of goods, mares ant merchundise, imported into the United Natev, in Ameriean and forepgn vertelt, commencing on the 1at day of October, 1831, and ending on the 304 Septenber, $18: 32$.
[00 - In eases of comparisos, between the years 1832 and 1831, the eareful examinur will please to observe-that, white the Hats for the year 1801, contana all the articles in the tables for тиat year-the value of a few items, under the name denomina-firf 16:11, there were pome items, under certain deumninations, which are not to be found in the tables for 1832. We make this explanation for the sake of those persons who may desire to make very close and accurate comparionns-but the whole amount of the thingn omitted is of omatl, if any, import-ance-affecting only a few sfticles of inconsiderable valuc, on either sidus. The azgregates are given. [for 1831], us though every item had been inserted, for the sake of a general, of summary, cousparison.]
$\begin{array}{cccc} & \text { In Anerl- } \\ \text { Species of merchandise. } & \text { Tofal. } & \text { Tofal. } \\ \text { cats- } & 18 k 2 . & 1831 .\end{array}$
VaLUE of mencinandise pare or Detr.

Articten Imported for the use of the Ilaited states, gor in- g814 g814 g292 Articles specially imporicd for in-enrporated philosopilicul societies

| Philosophical apparatue, instrusurnti, &c. | 6,994 | 7,160 | 10.917 |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Bonke, maps and charts | 10,578 | 10,969 | 15,733 |
| Statuary, busts, cants and specimens of scsipture | - 3,325 | 3,315 | 721 |
| Paintingz, drawings, etchinga and pengravinga |  |  | 2,478 |
| Cabinets of eoins and gerns | 50 | 50 |  |
| Medala and collections of antquity |  |  |  |
| Aperimens of botany | 8,391 | 8,862 | 6,458 |
| Models of invention and machimery | - 80 | 80 | 11 |
| Anatomical preparatione | 40 | 188 | 1,R99 |
| Antimony, regulus of | 14,760 | 15,642 | 90,487 |
| Lapis calaminaris, teutencgue, spelter, or zine | 15,029 | 18,767 | 99,783 |
| Barr stones, anwrought | 99,436 | 31,050 | 40,744 |
| Brimstone and mbiphur | 54,570 | 61,177 | 36,6.34 |
| Corts tree, hark of | 3,047 | 3,211 | 1,964 |
| Clay, unwrought | 8, 6 629 | 14.211 | 10.711 |
| Rags of any kind of cloth | 409,774 | $466{ }^{4} 387$ | 276,61\% |
| Furs of all kinds | 249,733 | 325,577 | 417,03R |
| Hides and skina raw 4, | 4,486,630 | 4,680,123 | 3,0.57,543 |
| Plaster of Paria | 12,410 | 104,74.5 | 119.444 |
| Barilla | 78.328 | 78.950 | 43,560 |
| Wood, dye | 392,409 | 418,326 | 304,257 |
| uninamuf, mahogany, &c. | . 978.732 | 317,836 | 32,111 |
| Animals for lireed | 23,935 | 24,4.51 | 18,563 |
| Pewter, old | 2,765 | 3.139 | 1,543 |
| Tin in pise and bara | 125,122 | 125,531 | 134,380 |
| Brass in pigs and bara | $\begin{array}{r} 6 \\ 4,0+2 \end{array}$ | 4,6 |  |
| Copper in pies and bark | 4,012 748,817 | 752,977 |  |
| in platea, suited to the shenthing of ships | 546,085 | 624,340 | 560,609 |
| for the use of the mint | 90,490 | 90,490 | 14,736 |

[^22] the intal, shews the quantity imported in foreign vesaeln-which wa have omitted, to add the column for 1891.

Copper] old, fit only for re-manu-

| facture | 147,611 | 177,427 | 119,391 |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Bullion, guld | 103, 021 | 102,021 | 166,119 |
| Silver | 733,124 | 736,711 | 626,983 |
| Specie, gold | 300,793 | 614,635 | 765,839 |
| eilver | 3,701,737 | 4,454,107 | 5,687,633 |
| All other articles | 30,973 | 31,650 | 35,171 |
|  | 12,805,310 | 4,249,433 | 13,426,025 |

VALEE of meactiandire sun-
JECT TO DUTIER AD VALOAKM.
Manufacture of Wool, or of which wool is a som-ponent material-Nof exceeding 50 cents per square yord Exceeding 50 and not exceeding 100 ets. per do.
IVo. 100 do. 2500 do. 1
Do. 2.50 do. 40 s do.
Dn. 400 cts. per $s q u$. yd.
Blanket:
Ilmsiery, eloves, mits and bindugs lats and cape
Worsted stuffronda
All other manufactures of Cotton-Printed or colored White
Ilowiery, gloves, mits anil bindingen Twist, yarn and thread Nankerns
All other manufactures of Silks fiom India, piece goods
Sewing silk, hosiery and Sewing silk, hnolery and Other placen, plece goods Sewlig wilk, hosery and othre manufacturea
Lace-Tlivead, silk or cotion conch Flax, linens bleached and unbleached other mannfictures of Ilemp, ticklenhnrgs, osnaburga and hurlapa sheeting bmwn other manufarthres of (Iothing, ready male
Hats, capm, &c. of Leghorn, chip, straw, grasa, ke.
Iron and iron and wtrel-side arms and fire arms, side arms and fire ar other than musketh and rifles drawing knives, axes, adzes and wocket chlsels bridle hite of every depeription stpelynride, scale beams and vierat cuttine knives, sicklea, scythes, reaping homps, spades and shovela screws weighing 23 lbs. or upwards

| $904,444 | $\begin{gathered} \text { Tofal. } \\ 1872 . \\ $ 941,631 \end{gathered}$ | Total. 1831. $1,317,645$ |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 9,249,269 | 2,962,193 | 2,405,770 |
| 1,788,153 | 1,804,701 | 2,303,511 |
| 76,012 | 78,006 | 85,993 |
| 11,63] | 12,310 | 8.518 |
| 534,887 | 602,796 | 1,180,478 |
| 240,052 | 260,563 | 325,856 |
| 47,378 | 50,845 |  |
| 3233046 | 227,623 | 461,698 |
| 2,311,405 | 2,615,124 | 3,202,497 |
| 1325,311 | 331,132 | 490,651 |
| 8,693,977 | 6,355,475 | 10,046,500 |
| 2,063,922 | 2,258,672 | 4,plo5,175 |
| 894,739 | 1,033,513 | 887,957 |
| 251,576 | 316,122 | 303,414 |
| 111,6.35 | 120,629 | 114,076 |
| 283,174 | 313,241 | 363,102 |
| 2,564,962 | 2,564,302 | 1,803,079 |
| 132,070 | 139,070 | 51,766 |
| 3,977,936 | 4,000,011 | 6,155,769 |
| 2,343,129 | 2,398,725 | 2,891,649 |
| 794,377 | 846,413 | 1,345,391 |
| 3,603 | 3,603 | 5,068 |
| 2,8R1,197 | 3,391,503 | 3,145,797 |
| 18,661 | 37.056 | 18,1:59 |
| 393,306 | 644,605 | 056,155 |
| 38,721 | 30.330 | 314,643 |
| 2R5,212 | 305,896 | 975,0:3 |
| $20,3 \times 1$ | 40,131 | 76.440 |
| 18,961 | M,114 | 19,009 |
| 112,478 | 120,443 | 108,943 |
| 187,982 | 193,591 | 255,893 |
| , |  |  |
| 999,236 | 305,905 | 214,194 |
| 53,981 | 62,774 | 30,183 |
| 99,828 | 99,977 | 80,687 |
| 63,715 | 67,613 | 67,609 |
| 114,178 | 139,677 | 118,743 |

NHES' REGISTER-JUNE 8, 1839—U. S. COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION. 243

244 NILFS' REGISTER-JUNE 8, 1833 -U. S. COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION.

. L. SMITH, register.
 WHENCE CEMTAIN PORTIONS OF THE CUIEY AKTICLKE WERE IMPORTED, iN 1832.

Rag: $-$ 383,239$ from Italy and Trieste, and some from the Hanse Towns, &ce.

Furs-chiefly from Engiand and British American colonies.

Hides and skins-\$1,408,651 Argentine Rep. 1, 210,729 Brazil, $\mathbf{2 5 3}, 623$ Colombin, $\mathbf{2 2 2 6 , 7 6 1}$ British East Indies, 220,244 Chili, 160,888 Peru, \&ce.

Wood dye-from Mexieo, Hayti, Honduras and Afriea.
Mahogany-205,308 Hayti, 34,414 Cuba, 19,310 British West Indies.

Copper, in pige 352,702 Peru, 231,998 Chili, 68,654 China, 62,317 Manilla, 20,067 England.

Copper, sheathing- 621,648 Fingland.
Bullion, gold-England, Mexico, Africa.

- silver- $\mathbf{5 3 8}, 592$ Mexioo, 107,776 Chili.

Speeie, gold- 195,622 Colombia, 177,284 British West ludies, 57,820 British American colonies, $35,210 \mathrm{King}-$ land.
silver- $3,086,029$ Mexico, 484,925 Br. American colonies, 231,928 Br. West Indies, 111,932 Freuch West Indies-all eise unler 100,000 .
Mammfadures of nool. From G. B. Ir itand. not exceeding 334 cts sq. yd . 50 100 100
950
400 exceeding 400
Alankrts
Ho-iery, gloves, &c, Buenhasins
Worsted stuffs
All other
Whole valere
So that of $$ 9,763,274$, the whole inportation, $$ 8,809,825$ were from Eingland, Scotland and Ireland-nearly all from the former.

Of the eloths not exeeeding 100 cents the square yard $$ 192,021$, and of those not exceeding $$ 50$ cents, 120,347 were received from F'raice.
Of the blankets $$ 77,942$ from France; of the bombarsins 206,117 F'rance; of the worsted stuff 75,490 tianse Towns, 8ce. and 69,489 Fiance.

Painted or colored White
Hosiery, gloves, &c.
Twist and yarn
Nankins
All other

| 8303,193 | 501,383 |
| :---: | :---: |
| 944,631 | 902,789 |
| 2,963, 198 | $2,033,369$ |
| 1,604,701 | 1,659,5ind |
| 78,006 | 73,921 |
| 17,310 | 12,075 |
| 603,796 | 509,258 |
| 950,563 | 221,497 |
| 321,623 | 121,135 |
| 2,615,194 | 2,46\%,447 |
| 351,1.2 | 307,112 |

Mamufactures of cotton.

| $6,355,475$ |
| ---: |
| $2,258,679$ |
| $1,035,513$ |
| 316,182 |
| 120,689 |
| 313,242 |

$10,399,653$

From G. Pr, &c.
$5,336,423$
1,784,038 559,854 300,924
10,949
111,596
$8,104,664$

Of printed or colored goods 654,844 from France, 276,737 Hanse Towns; of the white 409,257 Franee; of the hosiery $\mathbf{4 5 0 , 2 6 2}$ Hanse Towns; of other manufactures 142,685 from France.
U3ts, caps and bonnets of grass or straw-chisefly from Italy.
Silke from India-whole value $2,564,262_{2}$ from China 1,896,305; British Fiast ludies 591,001; Dutch E. Indies 63,992. Sewing silk from China.

| Piece goonls Others | . | From France |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | 4,000,010 | 3,232,758 |
| Sewing silk | 559,241 | 164,021 |
| Hosiery, gloves, &c. | 204,635 | 114,894 |
| Other articles | 1,641,384 | 1,536,144 |
|  | 6,398,970 | 5,047,817 |

Of the piece poods 43,231 from Italy, 256,934 England; sewing silk 304,362 Italy; other articles 58,985 Elogland.
Laces-whole value 846,412; from England 660,932; frou France 113,898 ; from Hanse Towns 53,823 .
Manufgetwres of flas. From Q. ©.4 frelend.

Linens, bleached or unb. $3,391,503$ 2,282,118 ${ }^{\circ}$ Cheeks ant stripes Oher

$$
\begin{array}{r}
37,056 \\
644,605 \\
\hline 4,073,168
\end{array}
$$

11,413
436,518
2,730,049
Of the linens 541,769 tlollars worth were from the Hanse Towns, &c. and 370,183 from France.

Tieklenburgs, & Ec -chicfly from Scotland, and 44,067 Hanse Towns.

Sheetings (hemp)-chieflv from Russia.
Walches and partm- $\mathbf{- 6 5 , 4 7 7 \text { Eingland, } 2 8 9 , 9 0 6 \text { France. }}$ Manufactures of tros and steel. Bughord, fec

| Side arms, 8 | 305,205 | 183,101 |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Drawing Knives, &c. | 62,784 | 62,443 |
| Bridle bits | 99,977 | 99,944 |
| Steel yards, &ce. | 67,613 | 67,993 |
| Cutting knives, 8ke. | 133,677 | 108,985 |
| Serews, 95 lbs. and upwarda |  |  |
| Other artieles | $\begin{aligned} & 133,968 \\ & 894,998 \end{aligned}$ | $\begin{array}{r} 133,555 \\ 3,704,494 \end{array}$ |
|  | 4,697,519 | 4,359,815 |

Of the side arms, &ce. 54,134 from France, 62,518 Netherlands; of "other articles" 115,712 Hanse Tos $n_{;} 33,158$ France.

Glass not subject to specific dutieg-bearly all from the Hanse Towns. China or porcriain 53,336 Eshland; 16,610 China. Fiartien asal stone 1,848,785 Finghand, Japauned 54,197 Lígland. Plated 287 , 058 Finglanf. .
Brass wares 534,997 , Faglami, &ce. 138,660 Fisnee; 55,407 Hanse Towus, 52, 111 Netherlands,
The various minor manufactures that follow in the fables, (and have been already sufficiently noticed in the next preceling statement), were chiefly imported from England-exeept those of leather and paper hanginge which were chiclly from France.

Whole value of art's subject to ad val. duties of which from Eng. Scotinnd & Ireland Fizaice
Harise Towns, &c.
Chisu
13ritish East Indies
lialy
Russia
Netherlands Cuba

52,777,381 $30,660,427$ $10,098,421$ $4,465,879$ $2,35 \mathrm{y}, 733$ 1,457,3,5 $1,135,040$ 724,7:21 702,418 $57^{\circ} 9,816$

All else under 500,000 dollars.
Cotton bagging-mearly all from Seotland.
Carpetonearly all from Fingland and beotani.
Painted floor cforlis-the satuse.
Sail duck-chiefly from Kussia; but some from the Netherlauds aul Hanse Towns Wines-chiefly from France.

Spirite distilled from grait-chiefly from the Netherlunds.

Spirits from other materials-chicfly from France.
Oils-chiefly liuseed, from Fingland and the Netherlanids.

Teas-all except a few pounds, slirvet from China.
Coffee- $25,733,5 \mathrm{~K} 2 \mathrm{Ibs}$. Irons Brazil; $24,128,544$ Cuba;
$15,934,853$ Hayti; $7,802,111$ Dutels Fsant Indies; $6,6411, f i, 30$ other Sjunish W. Indies; $5,978,049$ Colombia; $1,570,708$ Danish West Indies; all else less than 1,000,000).
Sugar, brow n- $44,744,876$ Ibs. from Cuba; 19,706,600 other Spanish W. Indies; $10,191,735$ Danish W. Indies; 1,384,191 British W. Infies; 1,935,565 Manilla; all else less than 500,000 llss. White or clayed, nearly all from Cuba.

Fruits-whole value 463,938-from $\mathbf{S p a i n}^{2} \mathbf{2 k 2 , 4 3 7}$;
France 93,515; Tukey, &ke. 55,973; Gibraliar 45,354 .
Spices-from British W. Inties, Asia, gencrully, Ace.
Intigo- $883,840 \mathrm{lbs}$ Hritish Fast ludices $131,737 \mathrm{Co}-$
Iombia; 29,918 Englami; all else nf staall amount.
Bristles and glue-chiefly from Russia.
Oelire and white and red lead-chicfly from Finglaml. lead, bar, slect, and pig-2,090,21i lbs. Englanel; 1,518,480) Spain; 581,463 Gibraltar; 515,831 Ilunse Towns; 438,261 France; all clse of small amount.
Cordage chiefly from Kussia.
Other manufactures of iron and sted.
Whole quantity, Efc. England, Ec.

$1,059,203 \mathrm{lbe}$. sheet and hoop iron from Russia, $46,848,263$ /6s. Lammered bar iron from Sweilen, 29, $252,(007$ from Kussia, 1,903,523 1)enmark-all else of small amounts.

38,763 ewt. steel from England, 8,194 from the Ne* therlands, 4,464 'oweden, 1,838 Hanse Towns, 1,621
Trieste-all else small.
Hemp-acarly all from Rusia. Flax the same.
Wool, in all $4,042,838 \mathrm{ll}$. From Turkry ke. $2,000,983$, Argentine Republic 348,894 , Eingland ${ }^{\circ} 33.32,515$, Spain 335,39.3, Portugal 158,615, Sweden 152,587, Russia 131,351, Denmark 97,296, Brazil 85,547. All else lcss than $50,000 \mathrm{lbs}$.

Salt-in all 5,041,326 bnshels: from Finglanil 2,472,069, British Weest lindies 1,374,970, Portugal 372,888, Spain 28 4,478 , British Imerican colmuins 174,763, Cape de Verds 87,336 , France: 74,808 . All else huder 50,1000 , Coal-in all 2,043,389 Ifushels; from Mritish Anserican colonirs $1,124,693$, Finglanul, &ce. 916,374.

Paper, writing, &c.-whole valuc $$ 136,555$-from Spaia 39,731 , France 26,299, England 17,812, Ituly 21,689, Cuba 14,748, Giluraluar 10, 405. All else under 10,000 dollars.

Book chicfly from Fingland and France.
Glass wares-ehicfly England and Hanse Towns. Window glass, chicfly from Englaml and scotland.

Cigurs-ucarly ull from Cuba.
Routing slates-all from Great Britain and Ireland.

Summary stutement of goods, waret and merchansioe, of the growth, feoduct or manufacture of poresen counTuise exported from the l'mited Slatee-commencing 1 st Gerober 1831 , awal enaling 30 hh Srptember, 1832.
[Classes nf urticles of which the value exported was le'ss than 10,0001 dolturs, omitted. The artieles marked with a (") were nearly all subject to drawbaek.]

Inplie's caliminaris_chicfly to China $$ 26,986$
Hudes and skins-Netherlands and Hanse 'I'owns, chiefly 712,506

Wonl unииииtiactured-lhanse Towis, E.
Indies, Ne.
41,943
Furs-chitfly to Fingland
Copper in pigs-chicfly 13ritish E. Indies 15,785 $\longrightarrow$ shealhup-(uba, British F. ludies, \&c. 35,267
Bullion, gold 7,615

|  | $\mathbf{2 5 5 , 5 1 7}$ |
| :--- | :--- |
| sperie, guld | 630,850 |

15th, twat Cuba, 45,021 France, 41,753 British Eaut Indies, 42, ,k0 other Spanish $W^{2}$. Indies, 111,509 C'olombina, till,777 Argentine Republic, 18,779 Fingland, 14,762 Chua, &e.
Spucie, silver-
$3,351,417$
fingland Ris, 311 , Dusch Fiast Indies 420,008 ,
 A-1a, generally $404,6 \mathrm{C} 1$, Hittill kiant ladiee 170, $6: 51,1 " / u 11 \mathrm{Nb}, 000$, Rus-iat. 23,053 Tentriffe, \& c. is, voo, Manlla 56,000 : All other les Hhan $=0,00$.
Fotal value of merchandise, free of duty esprorted
$$ 5,590,616$
Of which there was in gold and silver bullion und coin $4,845,899$
374,909
. 1 Hannfactures of wool,* all kinds,
2,322,087
. 1hanufacturre of colton*
Prinh:al 1,0:4,41?, white 707,356, hosiery, ke.
 oblier liza, ins,
Silks, tron linlia*
649,054
C'luetly til I'nba, Mexico and E. Americn, Silk gona-other than liulia"
620,387
T'u C'uba, Mrxice and s. America, &c.
I aces, (Cuba, Mexico and South America)* 50,015
M anulactures of flax*
688,083
The chef part to Mesico, Cuba and Bouth Amatica, Shectings auk other manufactures of hemp ${ }^{*}$
530,151
300,010 t. I'ntha-the reat chirfly to Mexico, South Anurics and Danish, W. Indies, Clothing rataly mude*
16,174
Hats, eajos, Né. 13,129
Sirle arims, de, 15,944 ,* cutting knives, &ce. 13,701
( Wher manufactures of iron aml steel Watcloes anil juarts*
115,569
Irticles conyposel chiefly of furceious stone $\quad \mathbf{9 9}, 468$
Cilass not subjeet to specifie duties* $\quad 9,515$
China, earthen or stone wares $\quad \mathbf{5 5}, 644$
Quicksilver* chicfly China and Chili 309,206
"In in plates*
14,476
Crude saltuetre* chiefly Netherlands & England 156,624
Opiuin "-Dutel E. I. and Asia generally $\quad \mathbf{9 6 , 1 1 0}$
Raw silk *-Fngland and France
48,800
A rticles subject to ad ralorem duties, bet not specially enunverated*
7,649,805
Of which- $-2.175,46 \ell$ to Mexico, $1,225,257$ Cuba, 729,079 Eag Iand, 557,516 Colombin, 473,283 Chiti, 360,303 China, 372,507 Hayt, 248,500 Argentine Republic, 222,318 Brazil. All else under 200,000 dollars.
Sail duck - Cuba, Brazil, &c.
127,773
Wine, Malcira*
16,916
-
48,597
—— other of France and Spain* 62,241
The wines were exported clutfy to Mexico and Bouth Ameriea. Spirits from grain* $\mathbf{g 7 , 1 7 3}$
Oils*
503,449
56,357

NILES' REGISTER-JUNE 8, 1833-U. S. COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION. 249

| Tcas* 702,014 | Indigo S03,108 lbs. 358,526 |
| :---: | :---: |
| To Hanse Towns, France, Netherlands, Hrazils, Gibraltar, &e. | Rusmia, Netherlands, Vrance, Turkey, Hanse Towns. |
| Coffee, ${ }^{}$ 55,251,158 ths $6,583,344$ | Cotton ${ }^{} \quad 452,977 \mathrm{lbs}$ ( 50,508 |
| 13,907,518 Ibs. in Netherlands, 13,397,751 France, 6,457,985 | To England, Scotland, France, &c. |
| Tueste, \&c. 7,486,309 Hanse Towns, 4,099,963 Faglaud, 2,065 669 Italy and Malta, 1,5id!,607 Denamark, 663,100 Mussta. All | Lead, bar, sheet \& pig* $3,089,780 \mathrm{lbs}$. $97,304$ |
| Cocon ${ }^{*}$ (1,418,352 lbs. 92,551 | Cordage, "-cables 1,330,434 lbs. 96,883 |
| To Cuba, Mexico, Spair, France, \&c. | unturred and yara* $545,192 \mathrm{lbs}$, 23,220 |
|  | Muskets 4,770 no. 17,911 |
| 4,693, 5751 the io Netheriands, 4,101 Res Hanae Towns, $1,603,306$ | Iron, rolled* 9 9,796 ewt. 31,331 |
| Sweden, 819,121 Denatark, 815,125 ILaly and Malta, 500,856 Triente, & e. 459,334 Framre. |  |
| Sugar, white ${ }^{\text {en }} \mathbf{3 , 2 5 8 , 8 7 5}$ then 233,082 | Stecl* ${ }^{\text {c }}$ 2,416 ewt. 15,662 |
| Chiefly to the Mediterranean, Russia, Hanse Towns, Denmark | Irm and steel to Mexico and somth America, Br. E. Indies and China, & c . |
| F'ruits ${ }^{\circ}$ ( 36,696 | Wool* 1,207,959 ths. 197,219 |
| Spices* 993,054 | Chiefly to Eugland, Netherlanda and Hanse Towns. |
| 'T'ullow eandles* 15,669 | Paper 178,267 |
| Cheese* 140,198 lbs 17,752 | Mexico, South America and Hayti. |
| Chiefly to Cuba. Saltpetre |  |
| Saltpetre*  Chiefly to France and England. | To Fingland, Mexico and South America, France, Netherlundr, ike. |

General statement of gooda warea and meachandise, of tian onowth prodect oa manuractura of tha Unitib States, expoatep-in the yeal endina 30th Bertemana, 1832. 07 - Also a like statement for the preceding year, 1831 . Produrls of the sea.
1831.
 plekled $\left\{\begin{array}{lr}\begin{array}{l}\text { Sls. } \\ \text { keg. }\end{array} & 102,770 \\ 4,030\end{array}\right\} 303,812\left\{\begin{array}{r}91,787 \\ 8,594\end{array}\right\} 304,441$ Oil-spermaceti gals. $\quad 48,212 \quad 38,161 \quad 78,159 \quad 53,539$ Whale \& other ${ }^{6} \quad 3,605,9131,009,7291,637,543554,440$ Whale bone us. $1,044,297 \quad 129,595 \quad 565,976 \quad 133,842$

Of the walue exported in 1832. Dried fish-$264.727 Cubn, 13,569 Ilayti, 115,092 Freuch Wewt Indies, 5R. 176 Danish do. 58,012 Dutelt do. 28,271 other Spanimh do. 25,741 Brazil, and 31,345 Weat Indies generaily. All elve of pmall amounts-To Eingland, &e, none, and to all her colonies lews than 5,000 . The pickled finh exported luad, gwherally, the same dirertion an the oil chichy to the Ilanse T'uwns, and Ilollatul-some to France and Mnain, none in Fingland. Whalebouc-nearly ali to France and Hanse Towns, Spermaceti candles-chiefly to Cubs and other West Indies, and south Amenca- 20 dullars worth to Eagland.

Products of the forent.
Staves and heading, shingles, beards, platiks, & liewn tumber
Other lumber
Masta and spars
Oak loark and other dyes
All manufactures of wood
Tar and pitch BLts. $\{47,523\}$
Rosin \& Itrpertine $\{168,770\}$
Asthes, pol & pearl tows. K, 159 ssins and furs Ginseng
the. 408,404
1832.
1831.
-1,552,053
$81,671,160$
188,666
73,368
7,806
52,944
312,678
$\left.\begin{array}{cc}470,291 & 32,208 \\ 930,398 & 136,319 \\ 891,20,219\end{array}\right\}$
99,116
275,219
$\begin{array}{ll}691,909 \\ 49,54.5 & 357,002\end{array}$
$\frac{19,545}{4,347,791}$ 357,009
Of the values exported in 1839, Staves and healing, in,477 boards and bewn timber- $-209,636$ Cuha, 268,356 Butish West Indies. 204,149 13ritiah Antencan colonies, 14:,5ys French
Weat indice, 97,794 Danifh do. 68,653 Gibraltar, 55, Ie6 Ilsyti, 42,652 Spain, 36,135 Mesico-all rlse under 30,000 dollars."Other lumber" in about the satue proportions. Masts and apars-chtefly Beitith American eolonics and Eugland. Oak bark, sce-Chiefly llanse Towns, England and Fiance. Manufactures of wood-chicfly C'nba and Weat Indies. Tar, pitch, roath and turpeutine-ctipely Eagland and IIritish Anterican colonies. A=hes-chietly Buitush Auserican coloules and France, Ilolland and Hanse Towns. Skinz and furs-chiefly Eingland, Turkey and flanse Towns. Ginseng-China.

| Products of agriculture-anim |  |  |  |  |  |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Bee? | bls. | 55,507 |  | 60,770 |  |
| Tallow | us. | 623, 522 |  | 679,623 |  |
| Hides | н๐. | 52,110 |  | 99,473 |  |
| Hornud cattle | " | 8,123 | 7\%1,087 | 5,8신 | 829.982 |
| Hutter | Ibs. | ,501,606 |  | 1,728,912 |  |
| Cheese |  | ,391,8i3 | 290,8:30 | 1,131, 817 | 204,796 |
| Pork | Sbls. | 80,635 |  | 51,203 |  |
| Hams and bacon | us. | 1,810,830 |  | 1,147,466 |  |
| Lard | 4 | ,756,782 |  | 6,969,516 |  |
| Hogs | no. | 5,206 | 1,928,196 | 14,690 | 1,501,644 |
| Horses | 4 | 1,798 |  | 2,164 |  |
| Mulea | 11 | 1,128 | 164,034 | 1,540 | 218,015 |
| Sheep | 4 | 12,260 | 2,385 | 8,262 | 14,499 |
|  |  |  | 3,179,522 |  | 2, $2 \times 28,936$ |

Of the malue exported 1832. Beef, thllow, hides and horned cattie - 985,567 Britush American colonles, 138,820 Cuba and ether Spantsh Weat Indies, 62.780 England, 53,168 British Weat Indies, 41,647 French do. 34,205 Danish do. All else under 30,000 dollars. Butter and checse-chlefly British American colonice, Cuba, Hayti. Pork, hams, lard and hogs-645,406 Cuba, and 48,504 other Spanish Wept Indies, 521,342 British American coloniex, 64,059 British Weat ludien, and 23,788 to Enzinad, 233,989 Hayu, 135,202 Danith Went Indies-all else under 30,000 dollarh. Ilorses, mules and sheep-chicfly British Anerican culonies.

$$
8,190,863
$$

11,961,205

The following brief statement of the export of flour, in 1832 and 1831, may shew the geseral course of the trade in the preceding articles.
Danlwh West Indies England
bsts.
Briurh West Indies
British American colonles
Hayu
Cuba
 in 1832.
Rice fieres 120,397 2,152,631 116,517 2,016,257
Erports of 1872. To England 23,139 tierces, France 15,840, Cubra i4,949, llolland 9,294 , llanee Towns $6,770, \mathrm{Br}$. W. Indies 5,994 , West ludies geuerally 1,608 , Europe generally 6,577, thenmark 5,195 . All else under 3,000 tierces.
Cotion-
Bea lsland tb. 8,743,373 8,311,762
Other $313,471,749$ 831,724,682 $966,268,002$ 23,999,48
Eirport of 1832 . Total value in Engiand, &c. 22,429,050 dolInrs, France 7,722,875, Ilanse Tuwus 403,099, Ilolland 392,430. All rlge under $$ 00,000$.
[By the precediug it appears that 48 millions of poundo, and $6 \frac{1}{2}$ millions of dollars worth of cotton, were exported in 168 than in 1831.
Tobaceo hid. $106,606 \quad 5,909,769 \quad 86,748 \quad 4, \pi 90,388$
Frpert of 1R'2. Tu England 36,176 hibd. Ilame Towne 27,939 Iloliand 94,006, France 5,779, sweden 1,919, Gibraltat 2, 25, spain 1,095. All slae undes 1,000 hid. and chiefly of samali amnants, exeept to British colonies, Italy and Malta, Brazil and Africa generally.

| Airica gen Fiaxsed |  | 57,537 | 193,036 | 120,702 | 216,376 |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Hops | u. | 184,729 | 25,448 | 265,043 | 59,504 |
| Wax | 4 | 258,550 | 62,444 | 430,929 | 114,017 |

$$
1
$$

$$
7
$$

 N
Sn
In Snap $\quad 5,743$
Sneif and tohacco manef.
I, inseed oil and ep. turpent
Brown sugar
Cables and cordage
Liead - Nails
Na8,334 ib.
Caviung
Manf. of iron
Spits from molasses 119,416 gail.
Shgar, refined 701,802 bss.
Chocolate
fiunpowder
Cith, 100 tis.
Copper and manuf.
Medicinal dougs

Weating apparel
Conths and buttons
IIrushea
Billiard tables, & c .
Umbrcilan, &c.
Feather toot sold by the Ih.
Fire apparatus
Printind ispes, &c.
Musical Instruments
Hooks and maps
Paper, ke.
Vinegar
Farthen and stone ware
Glases Tin
ter and lead
Marble and atone
124,305 190,917

Gold, and gold lear, ac. -
Gold and ellver coln
Artifial flowers
Molasees Trunks
Brick and lime
Salt 45,072 bush.
Other manufhetured
The manufactured articles were ehietsy exported to Coha Mexico and South America, and West Indipa, at laree.
(Thes reader will please to nbserve that the firrt and second columas of hgures, when quantity and value are both abew, long to the year lios-the others to 1831 . So the first colung when the value only is given, belonge to $1838-$ the last to 18si.]

NILES' WEEKLY REGISTER.

Foemte sxizs.] No. 16-Vok Vili. BALTIMORE, JUNE 15, 1833. [Vox. XLIV. Wuole No. 1,134.
THE PAST—THE PRKBENT— FOK THE FUTURE.
iditid, phistid and penlished hy h. milis, at $$ 5$ per anvum, payable in advance.

Summary statement of the value of the exports of the groueth, froduce and manufucture, of the United Siates, during the year commencing on the 1st day of October, 1851, and ending on the 30:h day of September, 1832. The sea.
Fisheries-
Dried fish or cod fisheries Piekled fish, or river fisheries, her-ribs, shad, salmon, mackerel
Whate end other fish oil
Spermaceti oil
Whale bone
8 permaceti candles

Vol. XLIV.-$1e. 17.
$\begin{array}{r}$ 749,909 \\ 306,812 \\ 1,009,728 \\ 38,161 \\ 186,595 \\ 267,338 \\ \hline $ 2,558,538\end{array}$

The forest.
Skins and furs

691,909 99,545
Product of wood-
Staves, shingles, boards and hewn

| taves, shingles, boarus and hewn | 81,59 |
| :---: | :---: |
| Other lurnber | 188,608 |
| Masts and spars | 73,568 |
| Sak bark and other dye | 52,94 |
| All manufactures of wood | 312,678 |
| Naval st. tar, pitch, rosin & turpenti | 476,291 |
| Ashes, pot and pearl | 930,398 |

L. SMITH
register.

480 NILES' REGISTER-JUNE 15,1833 -U. S. COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION:

 departing to, each foreign covuliry, during the year endieg on the sorh day of soptember, 1809.

NILEO REGISTER-JUNE 15, 1833-U. S. COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION. 251

satement of the commerce of each state and terrilory, commencing on the lat day of October, 1831, end ending on the soth day of

| gTATES AND TEARITORIES. | ALUE OF 1MPORTE. |  |  |  | estile prn | LUE OF EXP |  |  |  | Tbial value of, domentif and forel ${ }^{5}$. produre:. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | In Almerlcen weseels. |  | Total. | In Ameri | Inforeign | Total | n Almeri | In forelgn | Tbid. |  |
| Maine | gex, 043 | 135,2e3 | 1,123,296 | 7R3,974 | 123,312 | $907,296$ | ( 73,531 | restels. $628$ | $74,157$ | produre: 981,443 |
| Krw Hampshire | 115,051 | 190 | 115,171 | 115,582 |  | 115,582 |  |  |  | 115,582 |
| Vermont | 214.672 |  | 214,672 | $349, $ 20$ |  | 349,620 |  |  |  | 349,620 |
| Masenchiumetts | 17,670.184 | 448,716 | 18,118,900 | 4,281,130 | 375,505 | 4,'66,625 | 7,169,311 | 174,229 | ,337,133 | 1,993,768 |
| Rhode leland | 657,699 | , 340 | 657,969 | 377,6516 | 915,00 | $377,6.56$ | 156,803 | 174,220 | 136,603 | 324,459 |
| Connecticut | 4822,664 | 5,051 | 437,715 | 416,729 | 13,737 | 43n,4M6 | 15600 |  | 16,003 | 430.463 |
| New York | 48,724,649 | 4,485,753 | 53, 414,402 | 12,399,692 | 2,657,850 | 15, $0.57,2^{7} 0$ | 8,115,475 | 2,828,290 | 943,695 | 26,000,943 |
| New Jersey | -45,757 | 24,703 | 10, 70,460 | , 51,991 | 2,000 | 5il.901] | 7,803 |  | 7,803 | 61,793 |
| Pennayloania | 9,960,114 | 718,944 | 10,678,38, | 1,775.254 | 233,737 | 2,009,991 | 1,162,650 | 34,425 | 1,507,075 | 3,516.068 |
| Delaware | 17,119 | 6,534 | 93,653 | 16,242 |  | 16,2.49 |  |  |  | 15.24 |
| Maryland | 4,139,249 | 491,081 | 4,629,303 | 2,377,693 | 6*7,980 | 3,015.873 | 1,381,427 | 102,618 | 1,484,045 | 4,499,916 |
| Disi. of Columbi | 172.517 | 15,530 | 138.047 | 1,013,62? | 132.145 | $1,146,046$ | 8,158 | 250 | 8,408 | 1,154,474 |
| Virginia | 429,0.52 | 131,587 | 553,639 | 5,774,349 | 719.667 | 4,498,916 | 16,792 | 12 | 16,734 | 4,510.650 |
| North Carolina | 198,590 | 19,594 | 215,184 | 206,301 | 41,945 | 335, 246 | 3,795 |  | 3,795 | 342.041 |
| Snuth Garolina | 597,9.13 | 615,7\%2 | 1,213.7.3 | 4,321,141 | 3,364,622 | $7.5 \times 5,833$ | 13,480 | 53,568 | 66.898 | 7,752.731 |
| Qenreia | 138, 197 | 114,730 | 25,3,417 | 3,253.555 | 1,651,136 | 5.514 .691 | 795 | 407 | 1,2n9 | 5.51.5,88 |
| Alabrana | 245,408 | 61,437 | 306,845 | $1,372,365$ | $1,361,1 \mathrm{k} 9$ | $2,133,554$ | 2,833 |  | 2,633 | 2,756,30\% |
| Misajasippi | 3,446.225 | 3,425,428 | 8,871,6.53 | 9,288,428 | 4,816,690 | 14,105,118 | 1,106,237 | $1,319,575$ | 2,425,812 | 6.8 |
| Ohio | 11,224 | 1,168 | 12.39 l | 12,576 | 45,818 | 50,294 |  |  |  | $86,$ |
| Fiorida territory | 77,791 | 29,996 | 107,787 | 38,457 | 94,179 | 62,838 | 3,000 | 80 | 3,060 | 6, |
| Michigan territory | 22,848 |  | 22,648 | 9,234 |  | 9,234 |  |  |  |  |

Abatract of the tonnage of the several districts of the United Statet on the last dry of December, 1831.

|  |  | The enrolled vessels emploged in the |  |  |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  |  | The licenapd undes 20 tons employed in |  |  |
| the close of the year 1831  EMBELEEDAND LICENAED TONMAGE. | 620,451 92 |  |  |  |
| The enrolled vessels employed in the entesting trade at the close of the year 1831 $516.096$  18 |  | 107,070 53 |  |  |
| The licenaed vensels under 20 tona do. $\begin{array}{rl} & 516,036 \\ 23,637 & 18 \\ 56\end{array}$ |  | Total 1 | - | 267,846 29 |
|  | 539,723 74 | ery, during the year 1831 |  | 538,1 |
| shrwa vase |  | Earployed in the whale fishery | - | 69,315 79 |
| The enrolied vessels employed in the cod fishery - . . 57,23835 |  | As ab | ve. |  |

Recapitulation of the tonnage of the U. States for the year 1831. The apgregate amount of the tonnage of Tons $95 / \mathrm{hs}$. the United States on the 3lit of Dec. 1831, is stated at

1,267,846 29

| Whereof- | -permanent temporary | registered tonnage do. do | $\begin{array}{r} 505,97419 \\ 90,47780 \end{array}$ |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | Totsl re Permanent ed tonaag Tempurary | gistered tonnage enrulted and licens-   do. do. | $\begin{array}{r} 617,511929 \\ 9,50693 \end{array}$ |

Total enrolled snd licensed tunnage 620,01745 Liceased vessels under 40 tons eimployed in the coasting trade 93,63756
Do. do. do. cud fichery 3,739 16
Total licensed tonnage under 90 tons
27,376 82

| Total | 1,967,846 99 |
| :---: | :---: |
| Or earolled and licensed tonnage, there |  |
| were emplojed in the coashing trade | 516,006 18 |
| Do. do. do. whale firhery | 48182 |
| Do. do. do. eud lishery | 57,238 35 |
| Do. du. do. mackarel fishery | 46,210 80 |
| As above | 620,017 45 |

Of the earolled tonnage employvd in the conating trade, amounting, as sbove stated, to 620,01745 , there wese employed in steam navigatinn 68,56836 tons.

Treasury department, register's office, 146 Jqnuary, 1833.
T. L. SMITH, register.

A comparafive view of the registered, enrolled and ticensed connage of the Uniled Statet, from 1815 to 1831, inclusive.

| TEass. | Registered | Emrolled and licens- | Total lonnage. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 1815 | 854,294 74 | 513,833 04 | 1,368,127 78 |
| 1816 | 800,739 63 | 571,45885 | 1,372,218 53 |
| 1817 | 809,724 70 | 590,186 66 | 1,399,911 41 |
| 1816 | 606,088 64 | 609,095 51 | 1,225,184 3v |
| 1819 | 612,930 44 | 647,821 17 | 1,260,751 61 |
| 10\%0 | 619,047 53 | 661,11866 | 1,220,166 24 |
| 1831 | 619,096 40 | 679,062 30 | 1,298,958 70 |
| 1822 | 628,15041 | 696,548 71 | 1,324,649 17 |
| 1023 | 639,920 76 | 696,644 87 | 1,356,565 68 |
| 189 | 669.97760 | 719,190 37 | 1,309,163 02 |
| 185 | 700,78708 | 722,323 69 | 1,423,111 7 |
| les | 73:,978 15 | 796,212 68 | 1,534,190 83 |
| 1827 | 747,170 44 | 873,437 34 | 1,620,607 78 |
| 1728 | 812,619 37 | 928,772 50 | 1,741,391 87 |
| 129 | 650,14288 | 610,654 88 | 1,260,977 81 |
| 1630 | 576,475 37 | 615,30110 | 1,191,776 43 |
| 1831 | 620,45192 | 647,394 32 | 1,967,846 29 |
| Trean | department, rer | ter's affice, 14/i J | ry, 1833. |

FDITORIAL AND MISCELIANEOUS.

30-The editne of the Philadelphia "Commercial Herald" fimes fault with us for not laving readeved "credit" to that paper for the large table eonceming the exchanges of the bank ol the United States, inserted in the ReosstikR of the lst inst. We beartily reeiprocate the respectinl terms in which the "Herald" prefers this emmplaint-but if the editor had rad the renarks with which we introduced the article, he woulal have seen that the table was furaished to us in manuscrips-for we saisl, "perhapt, it has already been jublished; though we so not reeolleot to have seen it before." And besides, we assumed no "eredit" for giving this public docwment-not believing that any may be claimed, in similar eases.

A reeurrence to this subject presents an opportunity brielly to say-Ahat we lave not obtained a statement of the exchangea of the bank of the United States previous to "the abominable and oppressive tariff years"-as it was hoped that we should; for the good reason, perliape, that previous to $1823-1$ the exchanges of the bank were not reeorled as they now are, because of the smaliness of their amounc. We have, however, been furnished with the following solitary items:

Ia May 1850, the baak and its branches had domestie bills on hand to the amount of

In May 1891

| 1821 |  |  |
| :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 1824 |  |  |
| 1833 | ${ }^{*}$ |  |

Purvisued in Philsdelphie-May 1890
May 1821
May 1892
May 1833
$$ 1,896,000$ 1,748,000 8,900,000
$23,147,000$
46,000
60,000
67,000
,835,000

These simple facts shew-not only that the bank, under its present administration, has mightily extended its exchanges, and thereby suppilied the publie with a currency so nearly "uniform," that the average difference on all its exchanges is ouly out-eleventh of one per cent. as shewn in the table above alluded tor but mo demonstrutes the greatly inereased business of the people of the Uuited Stateg-since the agriculture and commerce of the country were to have been destroyed by the protection of don eatic manyfactures?
We shall revert to these fiets on some future oceasion.
In a subsequent page will be found a Naw Yons jrojeet for a new bank of the United States.

00-The explosion of the steambout Lioness, on the Red River, by gunpozeder, is one of the most awful of the many calamities which have happened on the western waters, and will cause more than general regret, as well because of the number of lives lost, as on acenunt of an individual killed-Josiait S. Jounstox, the late distinguished sentor of the United States fiom Louisiana; for he was not ouly well known to the public as an able statesman und one of the most useful members of the senate, but esteemed and beloved by thousands of persons who had hud opportunities of making a persoual aequaintance with him. He was a geutleman of rure aeconoplish-ment-generous, and faithful, and kind; of very courteous manners, and possessed of the most liberal feclings: a fast friend, and an honoruble opponent. His loss will not be easily supplied-in the councils of his countoz; never, In the hearts of his inmmediate comnexions.

We give an aceonut of this horrible affuir in page 260 . How the fire reached the gunpowder (of which it is said thrre were sixty easks on boarl), is unknowit; and the blow was so instant and astounding, that many twore must have perished but for the narrow wess of the river. Those who might, perhaps, lave explained the immediate cause of the disaster, were all killed.

This is not the first explosion of a steamboat by gun-powoder-but may, possibly, lend to the pussage of laws to prevent other calamities of the kind. These boats ought not to be pernitted to earry gunpowder, except on giving public notice that they are tranaporting it; and persons who conceal the fact that gunpowter is shipped is a steam boat-ouglit, on a simple proof of the faet, to be sent to the penitentiary for life.

Mr. Jobnston was a native of Connectieut, but taken in ewrly infancy by his fasher to Kentucky, where lie was educated. He emigrated to Louisiana in 1804 or 1805 , and served in the first territorial legislature, and wan afterwards appointed a julge, twiee elected a representative in congress-and be was twiee, if not three thees, clected a senator of the United States.

The New Orleans Argus, speaking of him says-We have not the time to enumerate important newsures conmected with the prospuerity of this state, of which he was either the promoter, or the ardent and effieient supporter. It is less meecssary; for his public services are kwown to nil. Those who ouly knew him as a publie nuan will regret his loss. Those who knew him intionately will mours it. It will be long again before they can sueet with the wame warm lieart and cool head-the wine absence of, and coutempt for, profession and pretencet sand the sane ready performance of all the dutie: which friendahip imjoned.

08-The great and very important queation concerning slavery in the British West Indies, seems about to be decided. We insert two or three brief papers on this sulijeet-one of them, an outline of the plan of the ministry. We ineline to believe that this plan is impracti-eable-but it is manlfest that a strong, and, mont probably, sucecssful effort will be made fur the abulition of slavery, at any cost and every hazard! The abols tionists in England would seem to know but litule of the real atate of things in the West Indles-for a geveral and prompt emancipation of the slaves, even if admitted right in itself, would probably overwlelm both the white and colored population in one cotumon ruis-anless means shall be provided for withdrwing all white peit sons from the islands, except those who may be stationed in them for the preservation of orter and enforcement of the lawa. A mixed body of free whites and five blecks cannot be maintained, beeause of existing prejudices, and the greater nuntbers of the latter. We have a rleep intercst in these procecslings, and on several accounts; and, looking at them in any light presented, we find theta enconurassed by doubts and dificulties.

Taraty witu Fraxce. We have an official translation of a report manle to the French chamber of slepnties, concerning the treaty concluded at Puris on the thof July $\mathbf{1 8 3 1}$, see page "di.3.

It will be seen that the 2nd day of Febrwary 18.32 is atated to be the time when this treaty was "ratified at Washington." We desire to understand how this hap-pened-that certains appareully strange things may be teconciled.

We shall recapitulate the facts:

1. The treaty, concluded at Puriz in July 1831, was to be ratifical "anal the ratifications shall be exchangenl at Wadiugton, in the space of eight months, or sooner, if possible."
2. The traty, contains two points only-an mgreenent to pay 25 millíous of fruncs, in six anuual instalmentsthe first "to be paid at the expiration of one year uext following the exchange ol the ratifications ${ }^{\text {" }}$ " and a stiputlation that the duties payable on Freneh wines shall be reduced.
3. The president of the United Slates, in his message of Dee. 1831 , sain that the treaty would require "legislative aets" loaving the conertrence of hoth heuses [ol congress $\}$ before it cun ln currical into effect.

Now the "legislative acts" relierted to were not laws until the 14 th July 1832 ; anh, on the same rlate, the puresialent issued his proclamation saying that "the ratiticasions were this day exclanged, at the eity of Washington."

It would, then, appear-that there has heen tue "exchanges of ratifications"-the ore on the qud of F'eburar", and the other on the 14th July: the first four months before the passage of the law without which the treaty could not be "cartiwd into effect."
"We give the following from the Richmond Enq"irer, though ze do not understand what are the "hen relations" spoken of:

We understand, that in consequenee of the new state of onr relations with Fronce, arising froin the protesterl draft, &e. it has been deemed advisable by the president to despateh Mr. Livingston immediately to Frauce. It is impossible yet to say how far the state of the question with Prance may notaifeet our relations also with Xiplles. It is said that the president was desirnass of nominuting Mr. Livingston to the last senate-but that he consiltered the coullition of our domestie coneerns at that timer iendered any ehange in the trenary and state alepartments inexpedient. In eonsequence of Mr. l's new appointment, it has been aeen that Mr. McLane has becen trausferred to the stnte tepartment, and Mr. Diane has been appointed to the treasary.

It is also sain, that no information has been receivel from Great Britain as to the opeuing of the nekotiationand that henee no appointinent is forth:ith made to London,"

Tue presmbext's viait. During his stay in Baltimore, president Jackion lad ant interview with Black Hawk, and the other ladians-who arrivel here on the sume day that be stid. The following acconnt of what was snid on that occasion is copied lton the "Repulsican." The president suid-Myshildien - When I saw ynu in Washington, I told ynu that gou trad befaved yery lanily, io rat-ourg the trmathawla against the whate perple, and killing men. winmen and ctuldren upont the Trantier. Your ennduct tast year compphted mir to prids wy war. tions agninat you, and your people were dufiented, witi zreat Lusfied, that you would not try to do any more uijury. I told you I wonth inquire whe ther your prople wished you nhould retorn, and whether, if ynu did retirn, the re would ber any dauger to the fromsier. Gen. Claik nid gen. Altin won, whom you knuw, thege tnforwed one that sthecknk, your primelpal chiff, and the eor yuar penple are anzious yon shontid return, aud Ke o-knk has asked une to spod you back. Yonr chiefis have plefiged themarlver for your greed combluet, and I have gives dircetions, that you should be taken to yaur uwa country.

Maj. Garland, who ls with you, will conduct you through some of our towas. You will see the strength of the whte people. You will see, that thar young men are an numerous, as the leavee In the woods. What can gou do agamist ue? You may kill a few women and children, but sueh a force would be woon sent against yon, as whild destroy your whole tribe. Let the red nuth hunt and take care of thes familien, but I hope they wall not dqaim rase their hands againet thrir white bretiren. We do not wish to imjure you. We desire your mospernty and itmprovenenk. Iht it jou again plunge your kiniven into the breasta of our people, I shall send a force, wheh will severely punish ywu tor all your crnaltwos.
When your gob back, listen to the comnclla of Ke-o-kuk and the cther frowdly chlefs. Bury the tomathaw, and live is peace with the fronticis. And 1 pray the Great spurit to give jou a bunath path and lair oky to return.

To this the pruphet and the other answered.
My Fother-My eart are uprin to your words. I am glad to hear them. I amg glad to gn back to my people. I want to see my fanily. I dud not luchave well last numamer. I ought not to have taken up the tomahawk. Butmy people have sutfered a great deal. When I get back, I will remember your words. I wou'I gn to war again. I will live in peace. I slatl huld you ly the liand.

The president, as before stated ten Balitmore in the stearshoat Kentncky $\rightarrow$ and the "Giazelte" mays-" $A$ lutle ineident acenred at the time of the teparture of the boats, which shows that Vell Juring the greswat aniunated oppostion between the two lows, all other feching wirr made to ghe Id te the dexire of showing reepect th the cher nuagtatrate of the nation. The poostion of the Loats, ans lying at the wharf, is puefo that the Charles CarInll, bejouging to the Uibiun Line, line the advantage in stai ting; hut raptain Claytor, her comnuander, with the ubamity and pomil arnse of propturty which characurbe him, on ths oceasion waved his privilcger, and pr ruitued the Kentucky to take the meredettee. The act, and the sabaser in which it was performed, excited warm foclingy of approbation anoug the crowd of sjertaturs winu were antenbled on the wharl to witaeps the departure uf the preoldent."

Jmmense crowris of persons altemed to get a sight of Black Hawk and his compunions. So great was the pressme, that it was thonght neeessary to remove them to lort Mellenry; previous to which, however, they had been conveyed in carriages, through the principal siresta of the city. They leti us for Philailelphia on Monday last.

The presinlent's receptions at Philndelphia and New York were got up with much zeal, and very considerable pomp-and great numbers of frersons attenrled to pay their respeets to him. We have laid aside the papers to give a brief uarrative of the proceedings thad-but cannot pretead to go into the details.

We certainly wish, and as heartily as any person, that a presirlent of the Uniteil States, or the president, may ever be treated with all courtesy and respect-for in doing that, the people thow a proper respect for thenselvex: bnt many things happened in the fanous tour of Mr. . Monree which every plain republiean regretted, after the exeitement had passerl away; and circuitustances are now oceurring, which, pethapa, even the chief actors in them will not be pleasell with, hereafter. Many little incidente, harraless in themselves and of the most trifing eharacter, are tendered supremely ridienlous because of the solemn namucr in which they are stated. The emurt-new spapers in Frauce, when the "glory" of the Bourbons was at its height, (F'renchmen being all alaves), were hardly noore offeusive tian certain which anight be named on the present orcasion-for if the king laughed or coughed, or inok a pinch of sunff, a loysil record was manle of it-and the bitth of a sont to Louis the 16 th, gave rise to a proceeding On the part of many ladies of P'aris, which, for ita deffcacy, s'em abont to be excelled by some of the male hipreds of the United Slates. What the lormer only referreil to by its eolor, the latter seem alnost ready totake, "whole."

Mn. Wenften. We have aceounts of the progress of this distinguished orator and statesman through the westers prart of New York. At Buffalo, Black Roek, &e. committeos, mppointed by the people, waiterl npon him, and tempered their respeotful and kind salutations-and lie was also waited upon hy a committee of the meehanics and manufacturers, &ce. A splendid boat bearing his name, was launched at Riack Roek, in his presence, on which ocension he delivered a hrief arldress, in reply to certain remarks made to him. He had been invited to public diusers at several places, but politily deelised them-wishing to devote all the time at his cominand to the examination of interesting objects, and an "unrestraised and unceremonious intercourse" with the people.

Fars laporkar. We see it mentioned in the papers, that Mr. W'illiam Wirs, of Baltimore, has privehusell an estate in Florida, which he intends to work with hired hands, and lience the "Cuited States Gazette" says, that he ought in be president of the anti-slavery soriety; on whel the New York Commercial Alvertiser olserves"We have no ofyection whatever to the proposed station for Mr. Wirt; bint can assure the editor of the L'nited Suates Gazette, Wat he will not be cintitled to it on the score of originating the seliente of employing free hatorers in Florida. Two gentlemen of our uequainance from this city, purehased plantations in Florida soon afier its aequisition by the United Slates, and connmenceda a trial of the experiment which Mr. Wint proposes to adhpt. In order to test the accuracy of its results, they purthanel half the number of negroes ordinarily required to stock their plantations, and lor the other half of the labsar to be perforined, they hired white men, prineipally Yankecs. They returned to this eity, on a visit, aloout iluree years ago, at which time, we learned from them, that the free labor experiment had leew altugether snecessful. They found that it required not more than balf the numbler of white laborers to perform a given amonut of work-that eonsequently there was but half the expronse of furnishiog them with food, &e.- that they perfurmed their- bibor with much greater skill, and in every respect better than the negroes, and that they dill not comm t the reekless waste and petty thefis of wich the slaves are ennstantly and notoriously guilty. 'These gentlemen were, therefore, fully determined, as a matter of economy, to employ free laborers oaly, if they emblal succeed in hating enough of them, and to dispose of their shaves on hand, in the best way they could. It has not oceurred to us to aseertain reeently how far they have suceceded ith carrying into effeet the final purpose ther exprensed, but entertain wo doubt of the sincerity of their intention, or of the correctness of their represelutation."
The Jumaica papers inform us that an experiment of free white labor, on a large weale, was ahout to be msate on that iskanl-for which purpose ati, ug int was about to proceen to Germany.
We once thought that slave habor was the cheapestbut are now sure that it is not. It the soil and chmate of the densely populated eastern states conlal be fitted for the cultivation of enton, sugar and tohaceo-the smulisern etates would not furnish the supply of these arititles The induaty $y$ and ecoxomy of the former would break down the labor-liating and wasteful latter -just as frem labor ill gonng Ohio has alrearly interfererl with the profise of the sobaeco planter in old Marylund-notwithstamiing all the bemefits of experience, anid of lacation, in the last naped state. Ulion ean-manl, as it were, withont an effort, antualty proiluce as mueli infaceo as the forcign markce will advantageonsly take of the various "Maryland sorts."
A great mistake generally prexails in the sonth, as to the laboring classes it the north. It is suppoed that these are worked harker than thi nogro staves. It is not so. But a sound economy grevails. Nulhing is wasteol-every thing is done in its seasom-all things are put in their places; the people thinh-nud, uficr using a tool torday, they suppose that it muy be wnuted aguin, ami so carefinly set it aside, in good oricr. For such aud other like reasmus it is, that there is no working people ir the world sho bave so much leigure as the Yankees. They drive their business-instead of suffering it to drive thein. Their philosophy tesches-that it is better to lee before time, than after time; that it is ensy to wait for 'Time, but hard to eatel him. Hia only holding flace is nerorro:

Schan plantiva. Fiom the Savannah Republican of May 29. Whe have been favored by a friend, with the folluwing statement of the puroduce of last year, of thriee distinet plantutions, in that part of Fast Florinla, hnown by the name of A lachua. The naines of the plantern arro omitted, beenuse this notice is made without entsulting them; they are left, however, at this offiee, where any one so disposed may see them.

Information counceted with the general agriculture of our region of the: Unitel States, we think muse be interesting to our planting subseribers-and we therefore, give this example of planting, with pleasure.

1 st plantation- 47 Aunds.

|  |
| :---: |

2 nd fluntation-90 hands.

Sil planeatian- 12 hands.

30 casks sugar, - - - - - 2,500
7,000 gullons molasses - - - . 1,500
2,000 bushels corn, . . . . . 1,200
F'odder and extia produce, - - . . 500
Total,
5,700
[ 6 d-The 1st plantation produced 372 dollars to the lanill-the secoud 370 -and the third 473 .
The aggregnte is 79 hanals and 30,600 dollars-or 387 doliars lor each hand.
this is a great iteal more than the average produet of free labor in the north, espeeially if agricultural.]

Exignasts. A mighty number of emigrants are arriving at Quelue-cherfy foom Irelami. Thoussuds seem to be conning atmont ovrry day. Many will seek the north western parts of the United states-but Canada promuses soon to be a very populous and brawriful colony. The destiny of this country may well interest political apeculators. At piesent it is mopestant to the "inuther ecouniry" ha an out let lor her supettuous papas-Iatiun-enpecially the "paupers."

Paufers avd catminals. During the last winter, 1,083 ende of woon! wrow itrotrihute il in Plaladilphat and of the persons relieved $2,2=7$ wrse hativen of the United Staten, and Bos foreign-ers-of itu latter 493 were Itish, 195 Germanis, 103 English, Ke.
Of the 112 maliac contincil in U1e Watsith street, (Pilitadi Iphla) miann, on the lat Jan. 185-96 were torvigures 48 Irish, 20 Engheb, 10 Scoteh, IU Geituans; of ohther comatrics ouly one eech.

Africas colonizatios. Numerous applications are making to the lurard of managers for the passage of free persons and -laves to the colsny al Liberia-and ewpectally from Georgia and Virgitia. Thic means of tic sociely do not keep pace with these applications.

Itwnek and suppen. Rappid exchange of civilities! The $\mathrm{N}_{1}$ w York Giazette states that a dinner parfy is marte up in Plulatelphia for the: $\left\langle t h_{1}\right.$ of Juty, to which a number of gentlemen from. New lork are invited; they leave there at six in the morning, dinc at two, and start at three for New York to a supper, accompanied by the gentlemen who gise the dinner in Philatelphia.
['o make the "thing" complete, the New York party ought to breakfast at home-which they may leisurely do after shn-rise, without at all interfering with subsequent oferations.]

Maspachurwetta. The Fissex Ginzette hasa retnm of all then attempts made in elvet a mirinhire of comgersa for "Essex North ihsurict," (rom Nuv.', 1880 in Mas 6, 1833 - in all fourfeen! in every case there has lievil three canditates-national republicsu, Jackstin and anti musomie, with a gond many seatturing votes. What a waste of timic, (wheh is money), and of money liself, has tiven eauspll by thim perserveratice, under an unwise law? A plarality of all the volpe given, is requited. It is so, we heli-ve, in ali hie New firyland states, but has been reformed in Verniont-ao that, at tlee hitim trial, a inajority clects.
Mr. Gorham, (nat rep.) has been elected to congress from the Bopion dislitel.
It is uncertain whethergen. Deartiorn has been re-elected. He lad made a zain ax compared with the tast election.
The re-ult in the Earex North divtrict is unknown: but it is prabable that Mr. Oxgoral, a "coaltion" eandidate bas been elected.

Reone. Istinn. It appears from the proceedings of the Irgislature of Rhode Island, that the attorney getueral of that stute has instituted a process in the supreme court of the United States, agninst the state of Massachuscits, in relation to the boundary line between the states.

Comsecticet school yenn. The capital of this fund consists of bonde, conlracts and mortgages, viz. ngainst residents of the stale of New York,
$$ 575,19294$
526,387 18
233,5+4 27
88,81543
7,943 79
Stock in the Conne
Cultivated lands and buildings, viz.

147,45000

197,018 14

134,202 06
Stock and farming utensile,
Principal on band, 1 April, 183s, Cash,

16,638 29
$$ 1,949,73850$
A writer in the Connectieut Courant remarks-"Well may the state of Conntectieut be proud of the ample provision made for the education of her ehildien. No cormmunity in the world of equal dimensions hasa such a fund for welh a noble object. Let it be the pricle and glory of all parties and ereeds to render it as safe and protuetive as possible"
The ineome of this fund, received last year, was $$ 80,913$ -which is divided amoug the towns in pmportion to the ehildren in the sehools, &ec. It is expected that the income will be conaiderably increased.

Bacloomino. Mr. Durant lately ascended from Castle

 Garden, New. York, in a balloon, to a height exeeeding three mileo-dhe greatest ever allained in saill to have been tour miles.) He left the Gardien at 4 m . past 5 o'eloek-in 25 seconds was out of sight, and in 2 minures he lost sight of the earth. He descernded safely in 1 h . 37 m . in West Chester county, alout 12 miles from the place of starting. The cold, was intense, at his greatest altitude.Fanklin Inatitute, at Priladelpata. We have received "a that of the premiums offered in competiors at the elghith ex. bibition" of this Institute, to be held in October 1833. More than one hundred articliss are eoumerated for premiams-gold or silver medials, and there are a few to which a premiluni in money is also added. Beveral of the offers have relation to the use of anthracite coal, and many to various manuflactures of Iton, in both which Pennsylvania is deeply Internated. Handonme premiums, in money, are offered for the best stoves, or grates, for anthracite coal, the cost of which shall not exceed ten doliars, and for the best sireet lamp: and a committre of the institute are devising ways and means to nffer a promium of one or two thousand dollara, "to the eompany $n_{r}$ Individunl who shall Arst wuceeed in making theet iron equal to that now finported into this ceuntry from Ruisia."

This Institute has reudered important services to the commnaity, and we are gitad to be inforined that it hus a stable foundation.
The following is the 105th premium-
To the person who nhall invent, onl or before the first day of Oetober next, the bent plan which will prove effeetual in pre. venting the escape of spark, (when the fuel employed ta wood). from the smoke pipe of a locomotive engine on Atpplimenson's construction, without ditainishing the draf so ms in interfere with the rapid production of steam, or otherwiee lapairing the power or epeed:

> Theo hundred dollars and a ailver medal.

The above premium is offered at the requent of the New Cas tle aad Freachitown turnpike and rail mad company, who have Itberally engaged to provide the funds for the payment of $1 t$. Various experiments have been made by them, which will be freely cismmunicated by the superintendeat, nt' New Castle, to all applicants who may be desirous of competing for the premivia.

Dslawapr. The cours of ermra and appeals have decided the great case of Randal ve. the Chesapeake and Delawarr ennal company, in fovor of the plainiti. The court was unanimons. The amount claimed is very large-we think more than 900.000 dollars; but the part to be allowed is yet to be ascertained by a writ of inguiry.

Baltimore. The Iforticultuzal meciety of Maryland had theiz frest extubitotis in Wi-dnesday last. 'The sliew of phans and flowern at the Atheueum expecded the most sanguine expretation of all pursans-and was, Indeed, very benutiful and well arranged. Anomig other thonge in be adnuired was an address frous our dintuguisturd friend, John P. Kennedy, relf, to a large autiony of Iadies and gentlemerb.

Vinoivia. By an at of the legislature, at the lant session, the Bank of Virginia, and the F'anmers' bant of Virginia were anthorimed to inerease their respective capitals half a miltion, provileel they loaped the same sum to the James river and Katawla improvement. General meetings of the stochhohlers of those banks were helf, to approve or rejeet the proposition. The bank of Virginia aceepted, 3,1150 yras, 104 nayss but the Farmer's. lank, by a vote of about two to one, bleclined the ofir-r.: The trensnier of the state, on lechalf of the stoek held by the conmonwealih, voted, in both banks, for aceepting the law.

Geonota. At a large meeting of mion democratic republicuns, (from all purts of Georgia, composed of members of the state concention and others), agrecably to previons notice, convened in the representative hall, at. Milledgeville, on Tueshay evening, May 14, the following resolutions (amongsi ollers), were unanimously ailoptel, viz:
Be it resolred, by thin nsemply, composed of cinizens from varions parte of the whte of Gerorgin, convened in Milledgeville, That we approve and will miaintalin the principles asserted in the Vugima report and resolutiousof 1798 and 1799 , ase expounded by Jamies Madtoot, the pure, enloghied, and venerame patriarch by whoas they were prepared-by which alone can be preservid at the watice time the delegated pawers of the federat goveshanell, and the rearrved powezs of the staies.
Be it further resolred, That we flappprove of the doctrines of aullincation, believing that they are opponed to the theory of the constitution of the United States, that they are incompathble with the existence of the federal union, that they lead inevitably to civil war, and the multiplication in atanding armies, and are mon! daugerous to litherty: and that we belonid, with deep regret, the continued nulitary preparations In a neightarIng sister state, whith has yielded inself to the guidance of those perni-ious principles.
Be it further resolved, Thal we cordially approve of the candusct of our senator John Forsydh, and of our representalive, James $M$. Wayne, In the unequivncal, and energetie support, whech they have given to the administration of Andrew Japksont, it their uniform and judicions efforts to retirve the couniry from the turdens of an anjust prolective tariff, and in their bold and determiued opponition to the poltitical hereay of nullification.

Lovisiasa. An mequalintance lately from the Atakapas, inCorius un lhat the planters in that part of the state, liever had a more promising proppect of ahundant erops of sugar, enrn and emition, than the present season. They liave planted an nnusually large quantity of the plont cane, all of which is in a mast tlourshing condition.

New Orleans, 24/4 milt.
Flortpa. It is not yet certainly known whether eol. White has been re elected, of grn. Call elected, the delegate from this territory. Proliginuw efforts were made on beloalfof the latier. The "Fioridian" published at Tatiahasper, Mar 25, pires sull the returns, then recelved, and shews a mianarity of 97 for White: but says that Call had been proclaimend plected by "the roar of artiliery, and slonits of ifiampli"-mditing that, this was all the evidence of bis election, then preselos.

Tus choriki. At Wheeling, from the 16 th May, in tih June, Inclusive, there app 'ared it? decited rasex of cholern, and 74 deaths. In the 5 dave ending th of June, ihere were rrportrd in the board of health, 90 casex, and fily one denthe! An awfinl amount indred-ita a propatation of 3,500 ; admitting timit none of the Inhalitanis had deserted ineir homass because of the tilserase. On the 5th of June there died 7, and, on the 6th, sis persons.
It was helleved that nearly ane third of the people of Wherl. Ing had beent more or le-wn affected by the chotera, and the premonitory symptoms. more or losa severely.
Mr, Noah Zane was annong those who died at Wheeling. A majarity of the fainl caucs in of women and clundren. The Gazefte of the 8th says that the disease had nearly disappenred.
Two fatal cases of cholera have happened at Sharpoiferg, ma the Alleghnny river, 5 miles ahove Piltsburg.
Noutrille. The clolera has re-alppeared hera. On the 2sth May, there were 20 rases, and 8 death-but on the 29 th , ouly or 7 caser and 2 denths.
Among those who died at Nasloville of the cholera, were Josiah Nichol, ean. president of the nffice of the bank of the I'nited Stater, and F. Porterfield, esq. a very reapectable mefchant. The deathe for the wcek ending June 3 , were 30 .

Yiokelurg, Misissippi. Died, In this place of cholera, on Tuesday 7th May, Mr. Rupl A. Watson, userchant.

On the same day, also of cholera, Jatue, Enuiy, and Juliet, daughters of Dr. J. W. Hegeman.

These three young ladies were the only children of Dr. Hegeman, and on the eveuing of the same day, one of then was to be asarried to the gentleman whose decease is likewise allnousiced.

Beauuful finwers, whom evil fate wonld not sever, but has plucked thess nll on a single stoto. A day since, yon were full of the joy and alee of youth, and in the innocence of your hearts prepared for nuptual frstivities. But the wedding and banquet now eive place to funeral obsequies and solemn aasemblages of afticted Iriends! On the marriage day, bride and bridegroon meet in the world of spints and the lovely sisters are in attendance there. Your pareuts juat now detighting in your health, virtues and accomplisharents, are made ehildlens and eheerlexs in a single day, and a melapicholy gloom for your boss pervades the soclety, of which you were but a monent aisce the juy and ornanent.

At Marine Settlement, Illinois, and St. Charies, Missouri, several fatal cases of cholern lave happened. And three perseveral in one family died in Madison county, Ihimois-a nuan, his wife and daugliter.

The eholera has re-appeared at Key West. In the lower parishes of Lodiriona it is reported as ragiug with great malignity.

This disease suddenly appeared at Lexington, Ky. about the Ist inst. and quickly carried off seven persons, after a few hours sicknews. On the 4 th, ten coses rematned which were expeeted to terminate fatally. * Deaths on the 5 th $-10,4$ white, 6 celored; to torminate founer Mrs. Scott relict of the late gov. Charles Emong Maysrille seems to have been severely afllicted. The town was nearly deserted. Cases have ocrurred in the nelghborbood of Cyathiana. Death ensues, or the danger is generally passed, in 8 to 19 hours.

The cholera has appeared among the passengers of two vessels from Ireland, which have arrived it Quebec. They were placed in quaraatinc.
Rarx. The Wineheater (Vin.) Republican, has a table shewing the fall of rain, at thent place, for each month, ia the lavt 4 rears-as follows: $1829-46$ in. 9.16 ths; $1830-39 \mathrm{in}$. 10 16ihs; S831-42 in. 10.16 the; $1832-27 \mathrm{in} .11-16 \mathrm{ths}$. Grestert in July (1829) $8 \mathrm{in} .616 \mathrm{ths}-l e a s t$ March 1 in . 10.16ihs. Greateat in Sept. (IB30) 8 in . 216 the-least August 1 in . 1.16 th . Grentest In August (1831) 6 in. 1.16th-least December 10-16ths. Grentext in Febraary ( 182 F ) 3 in .1016 ths-least in September $2-16 \mathrm{ths}$. For the three last ypars 3 in . feli in May-in the present year 4 faches; but there fell at Baltimore, In this month, 5 in. 12-100ths.

Woot. Extract of a letter from a merchant of the highest respectability, dated London, April 16, 1833: English wools of all kiads, for elothing purposes, are scaree and dear; and the quar tity on hand at nind under 134 per lb . Is emall indeed. The demand here more than keeps pace with the supply. It would be dificult to purchase 100 bales at this moment in all this market. Comblug wools are more abundant-of thove I could buy 8 or 900 bales at prices annexed. South down fiecces are almonsarce, perhape not more than 200 to 250 bales in London at this time, and very litte remains with the farmer. 1 much question If the quantity of English wools on hand has heen so small for very mary years. It would be impossible to collect 500,000 Ibs. under 13d, before the new elipeomes to market, whicb will not be sooner than the end of Jane or beginning of July, and as so litule of old wool will then remnin, I think pricen more likely to advance than to recede. Spanish wools are aloo scarce alld dear; wach as 1 bought 18 montis ago int is $10 d$ to 2 id per lb . are now selling at $906 t \tan 8 \mathrm{~m}_{\text {, the advance on them thing somewhat }}$ more than In German of equal quality. The quantity of German and Spanish wools in this country is unusunlly amall, partien lariy afl sorte under $2 s 9$ per lb. (Boston Cowr. CO-This promises well for the American farmer-to whom we wist many retarns of the "golden flecee."

Mexico. We begin to entertain better hopen of this "repub ile"-If a republic there can be where an eatablished religion ex. bete-for the sfate of Mesieo has relensed its citizens from all elvil obligations to pay tithes, and the state of Vers Cruz has abolished them eltogether. And a bill has been intrnduced Into the nntional congress to secure the freddom of the press.
A public primary sehnol for the education of children bad been opened at 'Tampleo, and a eollege founded.
Gen. Santa Anna, who had been eliosen president of the confederacy, has declined assuming the nfice, and general Gomez Farias, the viee president, is now invested with the supreme exeentive authority into which he wes installed with brilliant pomp; and his Innngural nddress is much commended. Banta Anas is represented as not having in form resigned the office of president, but io be holding himself in reserve from reasons of patriotic and polltical prudence, to preserve the public quiet. fe spems to have earned golden opinions by this conduct, in addition to which he has transferred to the fund of public ealucation the pension of 82,000 a year, which had been voted hin for his public services, by the state of Yneatan.
The value of the gold and silver ornaments in all the chureheq of the Mexican union has been ascertsined to be thirty millions of dollars!

The country seems quiet and prospernus-judging by the prof: ducts of the annes; a great deal of silver beimg obtansed aud cotned.

Duacque's xines. We learn from the last Galenian, that the U. B. tronps atationed at Duluque's mines, for the purpose of ataying mising operatious under private leases from clanuants of the land in question, have beell ordered away; and that the enuntry is lef open for emigration and business. From the same paper we learn, that the clalmalts of the soll nre determined to resist the proceedingi of the government; and with that view eaution nil perwons against selling or purchasing ore, of its product, obtained upon the land usually known as Dubuque's tract, and on which, nlone, mining operations nre carried on in that quatier. The agente of the government, it is declored, will the beid liable for all leases made under the orders of the aeeretary of war, when wuch leases violate their rights as proprietors of the disputed eotl.
This quewtion minst vitimately be decided by the supreme court. We understand that the right of Jullan Duhupue, under whom the present juroprietors elainn, was ascertained to be a complete 8 panish title by the boand of coummistioners appointed to inventigate the validity of the grants of land made by tha Spnuish government prior to the cession of Louisiana in the United Statex, हitting at Et. Louls in 1806 . The possession of the lands was nlen scknowiedged by the Indians in various trenthep lield by them with the United States, from the yenr 1804 in 1822. The elarmants of the land in question are wealthy men, and will scarcely suffer the ['nited States to dispossets them of a propetty held by such a tenure, and which is of lenmenee value.
[St. Louis Repudican, Nay 17.
Infamors. Jately in England, a young woman, a Roman Catholic, was married to a young man, a Protentant, by a Roman Catholie priest. The couple lived aa man end wife about a year, and had one child; after which the husband abaudoued his wife, on the ground, thast, as they had not been married by a Protestant elergyman, the marriage was not binding or him. Slie was bound by her religion, but he was not. She could not, aceording to her church, have anolier husband; but he conld take another wife, and did; and the poor woman's only remedy, if it emull be so called, was an action for a breach of promise of marriage, which she brought, and recovered ouly about $$ 450$.

Centinel.

BRIEF NOTICES.

Mr. Hiteheock, proprietor of the American Farmer, at Baltimore, will purchase eoconns for a silk flature nbout to be established in this eity-at from 25 to 50 cents per ib.

Emigration to the wert is powerful. The arrivals at Detrolt, alone, are about iwn hundred a day. There passed up the lake, from Buffalo, 2,000 persengers in one week.
The relles of a mammoth have been reeently diseovered in the neightorhnod of Rochester, N. Y. These huge anlmala mart have once bern pretty numernus.
It is stated that the cashier of the Greensburg branch nf the bank of Georgia, is found minus In the sum of 71,000 dollars. The Milledeeville Journnil states, that the mother bank is noligrad to redeem its branch notes, and that it has a surplus fund mora than equal to the loss above stated, independent of lta other resonccea. Another paper atatex, that the cashier's fifeets have been aelzed, and that they will aearly covar the defalcation.

Died, a few days slace, In Raleigh N. C. Mr. Benpon Card, aged 100 years, the oldert inbabitant. He had beell married to his wife, atill living, 70 y ears.
The famiue yet prevaits in some of the Cape de Verd islande, and inauy persons are said to perish daily.
On the 23ird ult. there was a procession of the "Clincinnalf Fire Absochation." We notice it to say-thnt there were iwentythree engine and bose companics, one hook and tadder eomphny, $n$ "protection society" and frur divisioss of fire zuardp-iz all nuinbering about 1,500 effective men. Each engine and trowe was drawn by a pair of horses.

A ehild, represented In the New York papers to be of Poughkeepsie, New York, only six yepra and ten monthe old, weighs 271 pounds. They nre making a ahow of it in "Gotham."
The Baptist chureh of Columhla, S. C. hnve recently passed the fillowing resolution: believing that the poor and those in moderate eircumstances in life have often, from the fear of being accused of a want of proper feuling and regnrd for deceased friends, been thyown Into expenses which they were unable to bear-
Resolved, That we believe the habit of wearing the usuat badges of mouruing, is a euxtom of the world, not in accordsnce with the apirit of the anspel; and should the abandoned by the members of Christ's house. Wa therefore recounmend from this time forward, that onr brethren and sisters dispense with them.
Sutton, the ventrilopuist is sald to hava woos a bet made in one of the river steanboats, that he would indnee the anginerf to nil some part of the machinery, hy bis ventriloqual powers.

Pirst a mereaking sound came from the shaf of the water-wheel, plished the somnd cause fring these, but ere that was accomalmo. As the on was aboun the fintim at every downward engine the trick wav explained, aing parfied to that part ot the the engueer and spectaiorn.
(Allany Advertiser.
renli, ot a liule gitl, whin berm of he reeovery, hy her padiaguised, and sold as a pricre been atolen, and blackened aud

gro slave

enurt of Whininge, a woman was convieted in the maynr's ceive tweaty ane lashes on the oure back. and penteneed to reIn Delaware.] lashes on the bure back. [such is yet the law

Mr. Heary
North Carolina, and lately mirried Miss Nancy Brothery, in family of brothers Is expected.
Thation from sucti a azette says--We recelved the following infor nans. Fifon the mouth of a that we cannot doubt its porrect aens. "In the mouth of March last, a cow of Mr. Burchell, reowner being a peram of some atill inn, was taken sick-the all that he conld to cure her; but, in spita of hises of caile, did died. Haviog mome curiosity to appta of his remedies, she death, he opened the curiosity to ascertain the cause of lier more than two feet lung, of and found, in the tuaw, a portion more than two feet lung, of a black suake-a part of it had de eayed and disappeared.
A splendid statne, sllpposed to be of Theneus, has been teaboul the ajze of A pollo Belvidewers of anclent Atbens. It in beat atyle of seulpure. Belvidere, and of the finest marble and eat style of seulpture.
The Taunton Sun, in sponking of the late John Randolph, anys-"He was Inexpticable when living - who shall describe ward, frelstited with two hundred and finyra, New York, eamtthousand slozen) egaze from Ohin, These yatuable (twenty-five owned by a speculator from "dinwn east,"

Twn canal boa

In the gardena of cimpor that atriken the eye in the nuagnacen Mexien, the first object preas of Moniezuman. It had apmineent cyprase celled the cymonareh wan on the thrine, ( 1520 ) so its full growth, when the least 400 yearm otd; yet it still retains all it nust nuw be at vegetanon. The trunk is forty-one fetall the vigor of youthful verecainon. The trunk is forty-one fert in circumference, yet appear alender. Ais gic as to make even this enorinouce, yast appear alender. Ai Santa Maria de Tula, in Oaxaca, is a cypresa 934 Engtish reet in circuiaference, which yet doeat nut shew the slightent symptous uf decay

有 of decay.
formed to run an the Detroit Journai, that a company has heen river and Chieago, whieh it is heen tive namutb of st. Joseph's river and Chieago, wheh it in hoped may firm a link in the waymunication between the Atlantic aud the Alisinsifppi, by voyage froin Belfast to Quebec, in conseave", was loat on her coatact with masses of quebec, in consequence of coming into and crew numbered two hundied and May. Her pawsengers teen were anved in the linal. hip. Another vesel with All the ret weit down with the oast in the iee-but with the lonse of unly 15 lives. has also been

A Teosel call

$\rightarrow \rightarrow$ OHES

From London papers to the 13in Miry O日EAT BaITAIXAMD IRELAND.
Bir John C. Hothoruse has resigned the office ry for lreland, and ins seat in parhament, feeling chief seerelatained It be ipust vote againat minusters for the that if he retoouse and window duties.

In the house of dics.
parsuance of outice, moved the repeal of alt, Mr. John Vey, in tazes. The motion was opposed by tof that honse and window that their repeal would compel ministers Ahorp, who deelared Cunsidurable dehate, was negatived by the fillowing vote-whier bows there ls no prement prospect of a fisange of vote-whieli For the muthon Agaiost it
Mujarity
The Quakers' and Mforaviane afirmation bill is nis brought In by lord Morpeth, Dr. I.uehiligtion and the solicitor
Mr. Charles Buller gave notira of a motion for the 17th, hing lnto combittee of nupply, "to move remolinions declaring We necessity ot immediate and extensive reductions in all ding The plan for the public vervice."
Was expected, the emancipation of the slaver (ape page 262), it Thexpected, would be taken ap on the Ifth of May.
ontmintrd, and afrests made.
The ind, and arrests made.
has caused "great excitemernt ang slavery In the Want Indies, prosperity is depondent on thene catoniegay" among all whome they will be forpt "to all useful parponies. The npunion is that ruln and Immeannrable defil parposen"-that "a wide-nprear t very likely-and, alsn, dhatress will abound," &e. We think tonded: but feel conndent that, very soon, If not just now, cre-

People of England will put an end to personal slavery in the The mis- "cone what may."
regard to ine ern were defeated in their financial system with regard to the malt tax, by a small majority in the house of coms-mons-162 out of 314 members present; but their friends raltied, and reverred that declision-9es aganat; but Thir bosiness of then ruphag rincers. The whern.
throngh the connary, as well ing in London, and was spreading the "white cholera." as well as in Ireland. The people eall it

There is mothing of intereisance.
(interest from France.
Remain as they were. The and aelaitex don, becallse of the "obigtinacy" nf the king thad fallen at Lonreceive money from Kissina-and is is king. He is supposed to beeu sent inwarda Riga, to asist him and that 25,000 inen have pпateual.
The belligerent brothers remas.
Imporiant has happebed. Neitlier neeing ab they were. Nothing the otiser.
The cholera was raging at Lisbon-but particnlars are not It seems, from enme remmeras.
house of lords, that the permanks that were made in the British French, will be strongly nbjected toceupation of Algiers, by the TrakEY Paris, May 4. The gurernmen Eorpt tantinople th the 16 th of April. has recelved news from ConOnt the 30 th of March April
The king's enibaasy in that capital sel ons for first mecretary of bho, wish the amedji effut capital, sel ous for the eamp of I braHe was the bearer of a liat uf the porie.
hior accorded to the pacha of Fhyptr, by which the grand meig. pachalies of Sy the pacha of Figypt the investruse of sheme four Ateppo, Tripoli, and their deppendrneiean de'Acre, Damascus, M. de Varenien had insepeldraneies.
he would desist from this other pretersions. from Ibrabim that l'ue negouations listed for pretensions.
his pretensionat to Diabekir, and to the drahim has renoun eed Leftketi; but lie has reserved and to the district of Alaza and of Adana and Orfa, which will he question relative to the diserict In the mean time he has ill he diveussed at Alexandria.
Varennes, tu evarunte Avia Minored, at the reyuest of M. de wan to have cominenerd on the 30 . Hin movetuent of retreat This act eonferx on Mehemet All of April.
lics with whilh he has bemen invested for a cont of the mar hathe whole of syria.
A secoud
troopa, arrived on the 5 the Rusklan Fquadron, enrrying 5,000 rha; hut it appears eviden April at the entrance of the Bosptho the mareh of the curps of thent the porte liad dernanded that the mareh of the curps of the aring of Moldavia should be aus-peonded.
It Is anif that Rusain will reqnire an indemaity of Turker, because of the novement of her tionps,

$\rightarrow+\cdots+$ om

AN AWFUL IHRASTER.

Nen Orleane, May 25. The inltowing distre the lons of the steambiat Lioners, Capt Wivessing acconnt of onl leer parsage from this port to Nat, Capt. Win. L.. Cockerelle, ife Iluron this uooming, after the paper weses, wan brought by The steambont Lioness, W'm. paper was ready for presa, passage from New Orleairs to Natchioches, master, on her abuyt forty milles almove Alexandriatchinches, took fire when aroly consumied. The lives of 15 on 16 Red river, and was enand as many others weres of 15 or 16 individuals were loat abont 5 a'cluck on the marning of lesp wounded. It occurred left their berths, which mecoung of May 19, when but few had The names of the unfirtumate in part for to many deaths.
Passenger: dead -Hon. Josian sufferve are as follows:
Q. Rigga, ewq. of Alexandria; Miehols Ben, of Louisiana; R. etiael Cliffird, New Orleans; Miehael' Boyee, esq. dn. Mr. Miwin, a drek pasmenger; Mrs; Mr. II. Hertz, Tesas; Mr, Mr. MiCreve dead-Johtn Coley, mate do.
ard, late from Enuland; 8 amuel Louleville; John Clark, stewdo. Jatner F'ultotiond; Samtel Latilis, failor; Wm. N. B. Cant chambermaid; Ale, dander sailor, unknown; Mary Andereon, known, helonging tura passenger. H'ounded-Hom. Edward Diger.
Boyce, cen. of Alexandria; Mr, White of Lomeiana, badly; Henry Luan, New Orlequaxindria; Mr. Dunlar, do. budly; J. H. Gra. lata, New Orleans; Josiah' Jobnaton, aon nfihe hon. J. R. John. atnn; Mllehatl Colgen, Natchtoches; J. V. Bossurr, do. M. Ru peto, do. peto, do.
Crete-Mr. Isaac Wright, pilot, Nlightly; Mr. John Roherte, oreman, tumes not known. All othere not known.
bagage and on board encaped without Injury. Mnch of the How the fire originated belonging to paverugerm, was lost.
in have been communicated either by issupposed, however, heing drawn down the hatel, elther by apirka frem the furnare way-freight, or through the hole for the fly wheet of out a lot of or else from a spark of the candlo $u$ ard ty wheel of itse engins, the hold getting up freight candle u*ed hy the mate and men in of nll, of other up freight, which being lodged in a crate of atraw tlons to extingaish it , and indled an rapidly as to defy their exer-

Iaves, not one of them getting out to give the alarm, of after wards to account for the iniefortuoe.

The boat and eargo went down near the middle of the river, and are entisely lost.
Much eredit is due to the Inhabitants near the spot, and at Plassance, for their prompt assistance io paving those who were struggting for life to the curient, for their kinoucses and hosputality to the wounded, and tor therp liberality and frieudship to all the strangers thrown destitute amonget them, and to the crew of the lost boat.
J. W. TW'LCHELL, clerk.

Alew Orleans, on board the steanboat Huron, May 24.
$00^{-P}$. 8. The urelaueboly disastr a above oceurred from gunponder, which blew up the boat from the fie in the hold.

dertika pasticulaan.

From the allexandriu (Lou.) Gazette of the $22 d$ ult.
It becomes our duty to record an event which thrilla us with borror as we relate it, and whelh has brought desolation aud burrinw among us, by the destruction of some of our best and mort valued tellow citizelu; as well as many others with whose names we are at present unaçuainted. Tise stramboat Lionens, on lier passage from this place to Nachitoches, blew up with a tenble explosion, and was litesally torn to fragments. Tins daaster occurred on Sunday noraing lant, just at day light, near the mouth uf the Regolet Bots-Dieu. The vxplosen, or ratier the thee successtve esplosions, following each ollur so rapully as seaicely to be distingutshable, were beard at a considerable distance.

Tite fore eabin aod the boiler deck, and the hold immediatrly auder them, were scattered into frapments over the water fur a considerable distance. Many of thic passengers nhoo escaped were coaliled to du so by akizing those fragimentr, after they had been topeasives thown into the water. In about two nioutes after the explosion, the bull uf the boat sunk, leaving a part of the burriesne deck, and portions of the ladses enthu fonathag on the suiface. On this the ladies (we are happy to say all ol Liem) were saved, togrther with many grutlemen.
The explimion seems to have bren raused by the firing of soone powder which had bren shipped in the hoat.

There were two of the hands is the loold with a lighted candle engaged in some arrangements there at the titne the boat blew up, and the mate had gone dnwu a moment befare, to assist tiem. It is supposed that by sowis unfortunate aeerdent the powder was Ared by them.
By a tetter frowh G. M. Graham, esq, whi has juit returned frown the wreek, we Iearn that the hon. Jowlh $\mathbb{S}$. Jubustom, Bazil Q. Rigg, eaq. and Charles Boyre, esq. are amohg the misxing.
That the hon. E. D. White has escaped, hut if meriousty injured from buios alud bruises; that Messfs. Hovce, Dunbar, Sewatt and William Johnston, have escaped without any seriuus injories: that Mesars. Roubirus eod Gratham were sonurwhat infared, the latter in fact, very seriouniy; that many sufferers unknown to Mr. G. were on the phantation of Jadge Sinth, is a terrible situntion from thelr wounds and buins. Some of theme, it be thought, would dic.
It is also mated that the luhabitants along the shnres of the fiver senerally were prompt and perseveting in their radeavors to yield every ansistanee possible; and that they ore still making ose of every effort to alleviate the sufferings of those who have escaped with life.
Even amid the glomin and horror of smell a eatastrophe, it is consoling io see the epirit of benevnlence and liuinanity displayingituelf in a generoun ansiataince, and assiduous altention of our fellow cilizens tuwards the sufferers.
Gf-We ryoter toleatil that Mr. White, as well an the son of Mr. Johnston; were favt recovesing from their wound;; and, as well as severnt oither suffrers, wre considered out nf datiger. The body of Mr. J uluston had not bern found.

POLAND.

The nobility of Podolia have rummoned courage to wupplicate mercy from their barbarous oppseswors, though they only veature to do it In the liniaimeza tone and on their bended knees. The followng in ao estract from their adiress to the etuperor Nichobas. Perminsion to use their own lauguage, in courts of justice, protection in their national religion, and an exempinu fiom the horrors of perpetual imprisonment and rxile, in all that they renture to ank, and far more than they will abtain. They say-
"Your nobility, O sire, sees with frarful apprehension the difficultien and losses th which the prohibition of our native laoguage in the judicial courts will expose us; and we Poles, like other Sclavonian natinns, have our own distioct lauguage, for so many cenmimies become natural, rieb in remenvorances, com. mon to millians of ynur subjects, preserved to us by your ancestors, indispensable in our social occurrences; In that iaognage we had all our decda, contracte, conveotiona. It explained our mants, it became indispensable, and ineorporated with ns. Gracions lord, leave that language to us, that in it we way pray to God for you and your blessell family:
"With our persons we earried our Roman Catholic religion unfer your sceptre. Religion, wateling on human frailien. Wants the gudance of mioisters of God; the oeglect, thi fall of religion are firerunoress if general corruption. The retigion of our sacestors has lefi to the soverciens its protection. In your himh wisdom, your inajesty has fiund it necemeary to abolish the ronventa and confiscate their estates; but, sire, thase convents fulsilled likewise patochial dutits. Great seareity of eurates and priests is felt already; the conscience and morality of your people in such geseral subversion, wanting the asslistance of roligion, will prove most drtrimental. As our common father, we beseech thee humbly, $O$ lord! have merey upon us, advice as to those impending evils.
"In alt countries the nobility ia aware that its duly is to support the throne. The difference in fortunes-poverty even, did not deprive them of their privileges. We humbly bereceh your majpsty to stop orders by wheh beings without athy guitt are earried away from their homrs into thot remute couothes. Ia every eorner of the world they will prove falihful subjerts to your majenty; but, sire, this poorest man loves the country where the was boro. That universal Instinet, witnessed by tearn of thousauda of families, emboldened us to entreat, sire, your humanity for thein.
"Our brothers liave offended you, seeking rellef from their sufferingo, not by prayers addressed to yous. But, sire, as an image of the Almighty oo earth, you shall not atways remaia provoked, you sliall hot alwaya punish us. Parents, with a ghastly bewildeied eye, look for thair cluldren carried away from them, seht for ever to impervious regions; others seck an asylum in foreign countries, remote from their relations, in want and poverty. Few of them you have pardoned; joinly with us, they beg you to extend your elemenry to others.
"W' lay, pire, these most humble prajers at the footstepe of your throнe."
(Ilcre follow the signatures of all the marshals of the different districts.)
"Kaminiec, the 29th day of September, 1832."
This, alas! is the language used by a people who were once the freest in Europe;

London, Aprit 14.-In spite of the remonstrances whieb we are willing to bu fieve have been made by the ooly two powers of Furope ilat atill remain uodistempered by the pestileot luffuence of Rusia, the work of conforvatioo is still carried nn in Poland with an un*parime hand. The gicedioena with which the baibatous oppressnrs of that ill-fated land pursue their course of rapine shows that thetr appetites for Polish plunder is as inordinate an their thirst for Pohshl blood. It is mow nearly threp monthe since the publieation of an official notifleation of Hire Rusainn governor specifying io dvlail the esiates and propertv of every deseriptine confiseated in the single goverument of Volbynia. Recent disclosures of the sufferinge of the Poliah refugces in thin country, and the consrquent appeals made on their behalf to the generisiny of the Britinh peopla, bave brooght this document ouce unre undes our observation, and we reproduce if here.

1. Peasauts, 37,218 , entimativd, agrreably to the castom of the country, ( $w$ here, in selliag estaters, they are valued according to the ouniber of serfo peasants iolabitiong them, and who ase auached to the globe), at 505 a bead
£ $\mathbf{8 3 0}, 000$
2. Movinbles, cattle, manufacturing and agriculinrai marhnies, aticles confirrated along with landed estates, eomputing theon at oon eighth of the valur of the estates

113,000
3. Roubles (in *ilver) 966,853
4. Ducate, $16,: 38$

Amnunt of eonfications in the single governavent of Volbynia
The civllized world has not bern oniraged by a seend officiol reeord of the progress inaile by the commissions appointed and authorised to superintend the spaliniom of a land which the sword, the araffold and the dewerts of Siberia, have alrvady nearly depmpuiated. That the members of thrse commbinsions; however, have not been iflle-that thry have been unceasingly occupied in the prosecution of the objests of their tiveraeefil misaion, is unhappily but tno wrill known ty the ragaeduess and poverty of their viciims, wion, but for the eharity of etrangers, would have wandered naked on fore igu phores until sheer etar vatien put an end to their osiscrable vxistenem. Nor is there any greal difirulty in forming sonnething like an estimate of the grose amount of plunder whirh thewe commisioners will purvey to the imprrial cofferm at St . Prtershurgh. Let the amount of the confseations in Volinymia, be a criterion, and thes,
Io tise six envernments (namety these of Podnlia, Volhynia, Kijen, Wilns, Grodno and Minsk) the amotunt will be [6, 294,000
The kingdom of Poland, In which the inwwrrecilion was nimost general, will furnish ationt an eqnal $£ 12,000,000$
Whetier thin sum of $\dot{E}$ ig,000, 000 the destined for the support of new nitempts to brise fruedom and eivilization beneath the yoke of barhartsm and tyranny, it is not our present purpnee to inquire; all we were dexirons of vhowing was the pritable annount of eain which will accrue from the sinhyugation of Prland, bewhles blood-guiliness, the widow's and the orndian's enree, the lonslility and hatred of every lionest heart, and alf elpe that follow in the train of wapion aggression on the land and liberty, and life, of a bravp and dewerving nation.

Warsmer, Aprit 2 . The enmmisalinners for quartering the unnys give notice, that if peveral of the houtse holdery of Warsaw, notwithatanding rriented nummonops persevere in theif pegligenec, and will not prepmre Iodgingex for the Ruwsian officers, eaprcially those of high rank, the commuswioners wil! hwa ourh lodgings at the expense of the perxons in queztion, and at the fame time they invite all those who have lodginge to let, to a pply to their office.

BLAVERY IN TRE BRITISH WEST INDIES.
The deputation in favor of the immediate emanctartion of negro slavery within the British doninions, that had lately a formal interview ou the aubject with the British minimters, eonsieted of three hundred and thirty-nive gentienea who had been seut to London from all parts of Great Britain. The proceedIngs aud deaigns in Eugland, in this case, are so interesting to our conntry, that we are indueed to extract the fullowing artiele from a London paper.
"Colonial alavery. At a meeting of geatiemen deputed from various parts of the Untted Kingdom to represent to his anajeaty'a aniasters the sentuments of the finhatitants in their reapective districts on the pubject if colonial slavery, he id in l,ondon, on Thuraday, the Isth of April, the fulluwing resolutiona and memorial were adopted:-

Resolutions.

"On behalf of oursetvee and those who have seleeted un to attend in London for the purpose of expressing their opinions and wishes on the subject of negro shavery, we, in humble reliance on the blessing of God upon our exertions, and acknowledging has Providence in assembling us upon this great occasion, deelare our assent on the folluwing propmitions, as truly representing the objecta we desire to see accomphished, and the prineiples on which we think any plan for emanclpation should be fruaded:- ${ }^{4} \mathrm{l}$. That all pernons detained in alavery in any part of bin majesty" dominuons ought forthwith to be cmancupated. Any restratat, exteuding to the whole communty, drevied necessary by way of police regulation, we do not detui inconnintent with this principle; but we deptreate all delay, or partial emancipatinn; first as a continuance of injuxtice, and secondiy, because It is nur convietion that emancipation may be at once safely of. feeted, and the greatest danger of bloodshed and confusion will arise from deferring it.
cat. That as the negro race have already suffered the grossest injustice from detention in a state nf alavery, we declare our deelded dinappersbation of any plan whereby they, by theit labor or otherwise, may be aompelied to pay, in whole in in part, for that pinancipation which we deem to the their right by the law of God, and by the elearest principlea of juatice.
${ }^{40} 3$. That as the governiment may deein it necessary, with a view to immediate emancipation, to lncur the expenses of an therease and effieient police eatablishment for the preservation of peace and trenquillity, the country will clicenfully couseat to bear such expenses.
"4. Tuat when that debt of Justice which is due to the negro ohall have been fully pard by immediate emancipation, the country will eheerfully consent to promote such fair menzurrs of relief to the Went Indian plantern as may be deemied needful by parfiamient, leaving to the diseretion of his majesty'p zovinment the ennsideration of such cases of ilistress as may be proved un reault from the measure.
"5. That the opinions expressed in these propositions are enternained by a very large proportion of the people of thiskingdonn, whose abhorrence of the guilt, iniquity, and crneliy of the system io such, that they will, In dependence on the Divine Dessing, reeolutely persevere in all legitmate exerion, until alavery ohall eense furever in every land over which the government of Great Britais exerrives dominion.
"gAMUEL GURNEY, ehairman."
"The solemn deelaration of the committiee and membert of the codonial union, for the parishes of St. Mary, St. Alwn, Trelawney, St. James and Hanover, at a general meeting, held at the court house, th the tonen of Falinowith, on Snturday, the 28th of July, 1632. James I. Hittom. ent. in the chair.
"We, the nnolvisimed, most mole miniy declare that wa are resolved, at the bazard of cour hives, not to suffer any bapist or other sectarian preacher or teacher, on anty perans profesedily belonging to those wecte, in preach or on trach in awy house in tnwna, or in any ditatrict of the country, whern the influenee of the eolontal amion extendo; and thia we do-manintaining the parest loyalty to bis majeaty ktny William the Pourth, an well as the higheat vencration for the establixhed religon, in deffonce of soctal order, and in strict emmiormity with the lawa for the preeervation of the patbie peare-tn sheth this portion of hil tua jesty'y island of Jamalea againat insurrection and future de. atuction; and these are our reasons- -
"t. Beenume we have the moat undeniable and unequivneal proofre that the baptiste and nther sectartans have Instilied Intn the noinds of our hitherto ematented and happy siave poppolasion, opinions that they are and have been ant oppressed and Injured people.
"-2. Becasse they have falsely propagated among our slaves an opinion that the king nf England had mate thrm free, wliteh oo hewildered their inmde as nutrily to destroy every tie of affection for their maaters and owners.
$4 \cdot 3$. Becanse the chiefo and prisipal ringleaders in the recent rebellion were montly class-leadres of the apel palled haptivt, who not anly premelhed seflition, hut enforced rebellion on the properties whieh were devastated by fire.
"4. Becamse sectarians renerally have, nuder the gaise of religion, talaght the slawes in tirow off all political restraint, and to assert their independence, which they attempted by rebeition murder, rape and arson.
"5. Because we wish to maintain, and prevent from filling inte the hande of a semi-barbaroue people, this fair portion of hid majesty's doninions, which, alluwing these sectarians to propagate theli daugernus and insidious doctrines, will, ere long, be affeeted with the mnat frarful enasequencrs.
"s. Although in this solconn declaration we disclation being actuated by any spirit of intolerance in reapect to the relogious sestiments of our frllow subjects, get we are determined to dis. conuteltance ali those who profews and disopminate doctrines so perticious and so decidedly subversive of all order and aubordination, and we confide in the eordial co-opcration of the lord bination, and we connde in the engy of the establinhed chorelies of England and Scotland.
*7. Becanse it ia necessary that a stop should be put to the further propagation of the perniclous diretrines of these sectarians, we connider it necessary ta withdraw all support and interconse whatever from any one wha may adopt the deetructive princuples of the baptists or other suctarian preachers In this laland, or enuntruance them or therr followers in any de. gree; and, pledged an the members of the eolonial ntion are to stand by each otifer, from a dise regasd to public welfare, the fultest reliance is entertained that they will hold the observasee of this and every other obligation of the union, under all circumastances, paramnunt to every other consideratiou, and will use every cxertion to ensure therr fultilment.
"8. That a bonk be kept in each pariah, in which the resolutions of the union phall be eftered: and that cvery member of the union be required to affix his signature to them, and by doung so acknowiedge, withou: any reservation, that he is bovod by the most solemin pledge which he can ofier to preserve them inviolate."

PLAN OF NEGRO EXANCIPATIOK.

London, May 11.

1. That every slave, upon the passing of this act, ebould be at liberty to elaim, hefore the protector of slavrs, custos of the pansh, of such other offieer as shall be named by his majesty for that parpose, to be regustered as an apprenticed laborer.
2. That the teras of eucis apprenticeship ahould be-

Tst. That the power of corjural punishment should be altogether taken from the master, and tramefer ind the magistrate. 9d. That in cousideration of food and elothiog, and such aslowances as are now made by law to the slave, the lahores should woik for his master thrce-fourthe of his time, leaviag it to be settled by contract whether for three-fonsths of the weet or of each day.
3d. That the laborer should have a right to elain emplagment of his master for the remaiang one-fourth of his time, according to a lixed sesle of wages.
4th. That during such onc fourth of bia time, the laborer should be at liberty to employ himerif elsewhere.
5th. That the master shouid fix a price upon the laborer at the time of his apprenticeship.
6 th . That the wages to be paid by the master should bear such a pruportion to the price fixed by him, that for the whole of hia spare time, if given to the master the negro ahould recelve 1-12th of bis price anaually; and in proportion for each lenser term.
7th. That every acgro, on becoming an appreatice, shall be entitled to a money payment wrekly, in lieu of food and eiothins should he preter it, the amount to be fixed by a magivarate with refercnce to the actual cost of the legal provistion.
8th. That every apprenticed laborer be bound to pay a poption, to be fixed, of lis wagea, balf yearly, to an ofticer to be appointed by his inajesty.
9hl. That in default of such payment the master to be liable and, In return, may exact an equivalent amount of tabot withoot payment in the suceeeding half year.
10 h . That every apprenticed megro, on payment of the price fised by his mastrr, or such portion of it as may from time to time remain due, be ahalilutely free.
11th. Tlut every wuch apprentice may borrow the anm se required, aud bind hinnelf, by contract before a magistrate for a limited period, as an apprentierd laborer to the lender.
III. That a Inan in the amount of $\mathcal{\&} 15,000,000$ sterting be ranted to the proprictare of Weest India estates and alaves, on surh seenrity an may be apponed by commissinnert appolated by the inerts etimmissinuers of his majerty's treasury.
IV. Thiat surh a loan to distributed among the different eoInnirs, in a ratio compounded of the number of alaves, and the amuunt of exporta.
V. That the half yearly payments herpinbefore anthorised to be made by the appronticrd negries be taken in liquidation of on mneh of the dem enntrarted hy the planter to the putalic.
VI. That all ehiligen who at the time of the passing of this aet shall be under the agn of six years be free, and be maintaiaed thy their reupertive parents.

Vil. That in a fallure of anch malntenance, they be deemed appratices in the manter of the parentr, without recriving wages, the mulen till the age of 24 , the females th the age of 90 , at whieh peaind respretively they and their chitien, If anys, hall he ahanintily frue.
VIII. That this act whall not prevent his majenty from aswenting to sneh acta as may be paseed by the colosinial legislatures for the prommion of industry of the prevention of vagrancy, ap plieable to all elasses of the enmmunity.
1X. That apon the recommendation of the lecal leglelaterne, his majesty will be prepared to recommend to partiament, out of the revenises of this coantry, to grant such ald ar may be deemed nocessary for the due support of the adminiatration of justice, and of an effieient police establishment, and of a seneral system of religious and moral education.

CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO CANAL.

Wilhamopert, June 1.
The canal-Change of location-General Mercer, presideni, and Mesars. Smith, Jannmy, Cunfon and Price, directors of the Cherapeake and Ohto eanatconpany, accompanied by colonel Gruger, enganeer, paid this town a viait on Weduceday last, ot bustness relating to the canal. We have learaed that they transacted bustuess at Harper"\% Ferry and Shepherdstown, on thetr way up, a part of which was the letting of tiat portion of the Battumere and Ohio'rail road, twing tuet milley and onetentit between the Point of Rocks and Harper's Ferry, which Use canal conpany have undertaken, by the recett compromise, to grade. The contracts ebtered into for thin purpose, provide Uhat the work required tit to be hinislied on or before the lst day of March next, being two monthe and teti daya withus the time allowed by the compromise; and yet culbitdered amply sutficient for the esecution of the task.
The gentlemen above named proceeded from this place to Hagerstown on Thuraday, where they also transacted business; and we greally regret to be infirmed, that they there adopted a resolution to instutute a survey of a route for the canal, on the Virgina shore, comuancing at Middleksuffy dari, (tiglt tuiles above thus place), where the prownt contracts terminate. The reason fur tha contemplated cliange of Incation is the excessive and enormous damages given in Maryland by juries, which the board do not think the resourree of the company jurtify them in incurriog in future. They will thetefore, if more advantageous teras be met with, on the opposite shore above, (of whith there eppears to be no duabt), conduct their work acroas the river at the pant mentioned
We do hope that the public-spirited landholders on the Potomac, in this and Alleghany counties, through whose property the eanal was contemplated to pass, and upon whose estates It would confer the most signal benefle, will not permit this noble enterprise to leave our bordert, earrying with it into a penghboriug state, villages and manufacturing capital and establiabarests which would otherwise he our own, besides its ofdinary convenicnce as a public bughway. The survey ordered is to be made forthivith.

In the esse of the Chesapeake and Ohin canal company ee. George Lefever, tried on Tuesday and Wednexday iast, belug a proceeding to enndemin land for the canal, the jury returned ant inguiaition of 86,500 daniages. The quantity of latud condemned was 42 nerea, 364 of which were arahle. The quality was good bottinm tand. The iocation of the canal threw a body of the land of the owner between the canal and the river, to Which two noules of access were provilied by previous atipulation, one a ferry at the unst conventeut place to the proprietorr, the other, a brigre over the canal where a pultic road erowses it. It was aloo previnusly strpulated that watering places were to be nude for the groprietm's catile, and that the water of a spling, used lieretofore by hte temants, and over which the eanal would pases, should be conducted under the canal by prpes, eonnecting with a puinp upan tise upper side of the canal, all of which the company wac to have done at their expense. Ad. ditional fencing was requirvd, of about 1,800 paunels, upwards of 800 of whtch being new, shit the balanice removed fencing. The body of land erparated by the canal from the farm comnprised about 46 acres of the best bottom land in It, and in in a shape perferily suscrptible of cuttivation, huving now wherat erops upon it equal to any in the country.

As to the brmpfits which the canal is capable of conferring upon the estatrs of owners through whicit It passes, we will mention one inatance in the noightibortiond. A farm tying enntiguwas to this town, on the opposite side of the Councochagaze, the Inteest part of which is buttoto laud, equal to any in the county, was recently sold, afer the eanal company liail con demned what was requirrd of it far their use, in an enterppising citizen of this coninty fir sss per acre. A small body of it, comprising about an ocre or more, eut off and thrown next to the river, was sold to anothet indivitnal for gion. This land had been several years in market, nind a year ago conid not counnand from 840 to $$ 45$. Other invtanees mikht be addueed, if it were dewmed necessary fither to illustrate the bent ficini operation of canals upon property, which expesience every wisere has conilirued.

DEPARTMENT OF ETATE.

orric

Report on the treaty betureen France and the United States, made by M. Humann, the minitter of finance, to the chamber of depulies, on the 6ith of April. Transuted for pubtication by order of the deparfinent of atote.
Gentienen - We are now shout to rubmit to the chamber, the treaty concluded on the 4 th of Jaly, 1831, between the United States and France, as was annownced by thee king at the opening of the scoseion. The object and renuit of this treaty was io pat an end to the discuesions whieh have so fong existed betwpen the two countrien, to the manifert injury of both.
The United states have bern for twronty yenra demsidipg in demaification for the selzures and confiscation of Americun vessels, not only under the Imperial decrees of Berfin, Milan and Ramboulliet, but even after their revocation. Other ddmands are also made by them, on account of vessels burnt at sea by French equadrons, in order to prevent the conveyance to the enemy of intriligence reppecting thrir mutions.
It is usnecessary to repest the terms of these decrees, which are well known; knfice it to way, that the proceedings which took place ander them, however rizorous they might have been, and ity)nrious to the cornmerce of noutral nations were only iatended as reprimatin against the orders in council of the Britist cabinet. The United States, on their part, in 1809, made simllar reprisals, by ordering the seizure and eonfiscation of Britiaf and French vensels in their ports, as also of the productions of those countries, withoat regard to the character of the vessel which brought them. It must be acknowledged, that these measures altered the position of the Uulted Stater, as far as regards their emmplaints respecting the decrees of Berlit, Miinn and Ramboaillel; and thetr government, in undertaking to do itanif justice, surrendered alif right to proteste or to found chaims, on account of confiscation made in virtup of thone decrees.
There were, however, exceptions, of which justice requires the admission; and although Prance could not be called on to satisfy all the claims of the Americans, there were a ceriain number which could not with equity be denied. Such, for instance, were the following cases:

Of Amprican rempla serzed and confiseated in virtue of the decrees of Berlin, Mitan and Rambouillet, before the permons Interested it thent couid bave recetved information of those decrees.
Of American vempels condemned after the lat of November, 1810, the date of the revocation af those decrees.

Of American vesseis burnt at sea by the French squadron.
The imperial government even did not deny that theae exceptions were formded on just grounds, and it appears from the negotiation which had been brgun some time before its overthrow, that an srrangrment pimilar to that now presented to the ebanber, was in contemplation at that period.
The governtinent of the restoration, after long opponing the clasins of the Americans ou the ground, that it was not anewerable for the acte which bad given rree to them, at leagth abandoned that po-ition, and like the imperial government, allowing the possibility that some of the demands might be frunded in Justice, deciared ith readiness to examine them, if the United States would, on their part, listen to the demands which might be made on them by France.

Indeed, not oniy had many ciaims of a pecuniary aatare been urgod in various accouets, againut the Utited Stater by Freneh citizrus. but the 8th articie of the treaty of cession of I,ooisiana, hy witheh French vensels were to be sluays allowed the privileges in the mint favnted nation in that part of the nnion, stitit rrmained unallended to. By the treaty of Ghent, British vetscis were to be received on the same terma as Americau, in the ports of the United Stales; s ind the Frencit government thereupon clained fir Firench vosspls the same privilege in virtue of the treaty of erexion aboverited. This was refused by the cahinrt at Washington, which draird that the 8 th articie of that treaty conld be so interpreted, and morvover attempted to shew that as by the con-titution of the United States the whole country was mader the sane rerthations an to enmmerce and navigauon, such adminsion would he granting a monoply, or exclupiva advantages to Louisiana in the srade with Frapre, which would be Incouspatible with their systsm of government.

At length the Juited 8tater, thongh alway enmesting the principle on which our demands were made, offered to allow an important reduction in the duties on the Importation of our wiors.
This was the state of thing* when the revolution of Juiy, 183n, luterrapted the negotiation, which wan, however, soon renew. ed, under the inflnpnee of the sympathy which that great event calied up lietwern the two nations.
The cligef difficulty was as to the amonnt of indemnitirations in be paid by France, which the Ubited 8tates estimated at se-venty-five milliunt of francs. But as in thie ease the length of tinie which had elapred, with various othel cirromstances, reat dered it imporaible to make a Just estimate, all that enofid be done wha to compound in a frieudiy manaer, and adjust the businces as foir as poeritie.
Both governmupnts saw that there were politienl reasons which rendered an acknowledgiment necessary; that the twe nationa were in a greal aveasure united in leefing, and that every obstscle to a more intimite and a reciproeal listercuurse, ought to be pemoved.
The Ameriean ciaims urged every year in enngreas, and constantly alluded to in the mossagrs of the pupoident, wern at lengith connidered by the peoplo of the United Atates, whener at a political question, than ooe of mere private pecuniary interest. The government of the United states wha under obflgation to press the demands, and that of France could nm refoer in nostice them; above all, since the Americann had deelared thelr willingnest to do juxtice to the enmplaints on onr side. Under these cotroiderations the treaty of July 4ih, 1831. was enneluded, and the ratifications exchanged at Washington os the $2 d$ of Feburary lant.
By this treaty, the ciaims of Ampricana were admitted to the amnunt of twenty-five millitonx of francs, beling Just one-third of the original demand; and of this sum one millition and a balf है in ha employed in astisfying the claims of French ctizens on the American envermment.

The United States, on their part, in lieu of the privileges secured to our shipping in the ports of Louistana, by the eth article of the ureaty of cossiont, have consented to a modification of their tariff, In lavor of French wimes, which for ten years auceveding the 9 of February last, are to be admitted at dutien lower than those imposed on other winea.
Finally, France adsilts the iong vaple cottona of the United gtates on the sante teruns with the short staple.
Such are the prinelpal provisions of a convention wbich was sbolutely indiapensable; and which, kerminating alt causea of irritation on elther hand, gives place to those sentiuente of amity, which are so natural in the relative situations of the two countries, and to which our glortous revolution has made an accession.
It is true that this treaty adds another charge to the budget, but the sunt is employed in acquiting a debt, the justice of which cannot be denied; gond faith was interented In the admission, and true political considerations required that the arrangeazent of the affair should not be deferred. Morvover, the proylsons are not exclusively to the advantage of the lituted States; the engagemeuts are rectprocal, sud the rights of French cituzens to whum the American goverament was th debt, are seeured by it.
Ever since the exphange of the ratifications, the United Slates have faithfilly ohserved all the stipulatoons relating to the lowering of dutica on Freach wises. We, on our part, have begun by admitiug their long sfaple cottmis on the same terms with the short efopple. We have nuw to fulfil the financial part by paying the sugns agreed upon as indeminification, not only to the Anericanr, but also to French elaimants of the United States. For this purpose we have the honor of subuitting to the chamber the following

Art. 1. For earrying Into eflect a treaty between France and the United Beates, concluded on the Sth of July, t831, and ratified at Washington on the ed F'ebruary, 1802, by which Fratiee engages th pay the sumt of twenty tive millions of frabes, In siz annuai instalments, with interest at four prir cent. on the whole aum payable at each annual period, the unsixter of finance in bereby authortsed to add to the budget of eath year from 1*3s, to 18:8, Inclusive, the sum stipulated for such payments, according to the $2 d$ articte of said treaty.
Art. 2. The minister of finatice 18 , therefore, authorised in recelve a eredit for $5,166,668$ francs 66 erntimes pach year, to wit: $4,166,666$ francs 66 centimes an the amount of the first siath of the whole suts, and one militon as interest.
Art, 3. The sum if $1,500,000$ franes which the government of the United State" engages to pray to France In lieu of the ciainis of Freneh eltizens aganast it, zhall be repelved in annual instalmests of 250,000 francs each, with the interest; buing remerved out of the annual sum which Prance engages to pay to the V . States, and put th the eredit of the minister nf figsuep, for the acquittal of claime of Frenelh citizens against the United Statex.
The above report and bill were ordered to be printed and laid before a comititite.

NEW NATIONAL BANK?

From the New York Mercantile Advertiver and Adroentc. "OUTLINE Of A PLAB FOR A XATIONAL. BANE." A panishlet under the ahove tite, with inelidental remarks nn the hank of the U. States, is now in circulation in this city. It emanater from a meeting convened on the 2uth of Febrisary, 1833, for the purpose of receiving a report from the ecminittee of a former mifeting, to whom was referred a plan for a new natlonal bank.Preserved Fish resuined the chair, and Henry W. Hicks was again appointed secretary.

A comninittee composed of haac Aronson, George Gristrold, Daniel Jackson and John Bolton, presented the report enntaining the outhine, which cowmences with aome atrictures upon the present bank of the Uaited Statea.
We aanex the principal features of the plan as they are lald down in the pamphiet befure us, believing that in this manner one of the ohjects of the committee, at least, will be best promoted, namely, that of inviling discusation.

IsL, That a bask of the United Staten be established by a new act of incorporation, for the term of twenty yeare with a capital of thirty- weven and a half milliona of dollars, wherenf teh mitIlons to be subscribed by the government of the Untted States, and twelve and a half millions by the meveral matas, in the ralin. of their electornal votes, (subleet to modificationa introditeed into section IIth), in a stnek bearing four per cent, Intereat, payable half yearly, and subject in the restrictions hereinafter papecitied. The remainige fineers millimes of capital to be subceribed by individuals or eorparite bodies, and paid for in maney.

The stock in which the subseriptions of the government and the statea are in be made, in be irredeenstle during the cxistevee of the charter, and inalienahle as regards the bank except with the consent of the government, nider circamstances of Imperinus necosplty, and then noly in hypothecation, for money borresved for the term of ohe, twe nr three years.

The hank sinith subseribed by the geneial and wite governmentis nat to be stold during the exiptence of the eharter.
The divntrluty of hank utock owned hy the genaral and state corermurnts, and the moferest on the 4 pes cent. atnck, in pay. ment of their bank stnek to be made ragable at one and the same period, at tie bank.

The excems of dividenda over the interest payable by the $\mathbf{U}$. States and the several stivies, nay be considered an ample substutute for bonus to the former, and for tases on the part of the latter.
2. The United States to appoint eight directors, and the statea to elect tell directore, but not more than two of those appointed by the United Slates, nor mote than one of those elected by the states, to be scaidents of the same atate.

The money stockholders to elect twetve directors, each stockholder being a citizen of the United States, to vote in person, and no votes by proxy to be allowed, excepling those of truetees, guardians, executore and administratorn, who may delegate their power to one of their associates-and excepting also corporate bodies, who may authorise one of their ofthers or a director to vote on their belualf. At the annual election, onefourth of the directors elected by the government, and by the money ftockholdera who shalt then be is office, to retire from the board; and of the directors elected by the states, two to to out of office the first election, three the second, two the thirf, and three the fourth election.
stockholders residing out of the state in which the bank is located, many lodge their voles at an office, on a certain day to be specified, or may furward the same by mail, addreased to the carbier of the bank under a mealed envelope, on which shall be written the nunsber of shares which they respeetively hold, bearing their own signatures written across the seal of said envelope. The votes thus seated, If Indged in the offices of the bank, to be forwatded by the easbiers thereof, accompanied by a statemient and a list of the ztockhoiders and nutaber of sharea then on the books of the respective ofices, and wbich are not to be opened untif tie close of the polts at the bank.
Each subscribing state, In which an office is established, may apuoint two directors of suph office. Other directors of officen to be appointed by the board of the hank.
"At the first ineeting of the board of directorn, (after an eleetion), a president, a vice president and an esecuuve commitiee of five members be appointed for the term of one year, of which eommattee the presidentand vice president ahould also be meanbers ex-oflicio."
The president and vice president of the bank to be re eligible as directnre; the office of president, bowever, not to be held by the same individual two years in succession, but to be fllled by the viee president or a inember of the executive committee.
3. The bank to be located in New York.
4. An office of discornt and deposite also to be established in the same city, for the managetnent of its local business, with a specific capmal assigned therefor.

An ollice of discount and deposite to be eatablished in eneb atate, but it shall an be obligatery on the eorporation to place an oftice in a non aubscriling atate, unless required by the government inf the United states zo to do,

The directore of the bank to have the same, hut no otber control, over the office in New York than is exercised over other offices.
Capitals to be aspigned to each office, and varied at pleasure. 5. The notea or bils issued by the bank to be made receivable at any and all the oftices in payment of debte due the bant or offices, and also in payinent of government revenue.
6. Nanote or hill th be lssited under twenty dollars. Cheequea or hrafts nit to bear the similitude of current bank notes.
7. No note or bill havime more that ninety days in rua to be discounted, either directly or indirectly, nor any foan to be mada for a longer period than ninety daya by the bank or any of ite offices; and every note, bill or other obligation to be boaa fide paid as they respectively become due; nor to any renewal to be granted unless the exsential interesfs of the bask should require it, and then only with addtimsal secuilty, and by the affirmative vote of three-fourths of the board.
8. The whole ainount of profits to be divided half yearly, excepting only a reasonable sum to provide for losses; but the fund thus reserved not to exceed two millions of dollars at anyone time.
9. The bank not to charge over the rate of 6 per cent. per snnum oa loans or discounts, not todeal in Poreipn exehange, but to have this privilege in domestie bilts of exchange and ta gold and sitver bullion.
10. The amount of discoants and loana not to exceed forty millions of dollars; but, If from the aggregate ptatements of the baik and its offices, It be at any time found that thin sam has been exceeded, the excess in that case to be reduced within ninety dsys.
11. The stock of the bank appropriated th any one state not to be less than 200,000 dollars, whether entitied by lta number of electors to this amount or not; but after assigning this mintmum th the states that may be thas restricted, the remainder of the twelve and a half millinns to be apportioned among the nther siatea according to the plovisions of the first article, and the capitai may be increased, on the admitasion of each new state into the union, to the extent of $$ 200,000$, if desired by such new states.
12. If the eapital assigned to an nfice be more than dnuble the amnnnt of hank atock appointed in the ptate in which soch office is located, the oxcess may be taxed at the same rate as state banks in the same state.
13. The bank to render the same services to government in the collection and distribution of its funds, and on the sams termm prescribed and provided for in the charter of the existing bank.

NILES' WEEKLY REGISTER.

Foumta skils. No. 17-Vol. VIII.] BALTIMORE, JUNE 22, 1833. [Vol. XLIV. Whole No. 1,185.

THE PAST-THE PRESENT—FOR THE TUTURE.
gdited, phinted and published at h. kiles, at $$ 5$ pel annem, payable in adyanck.

30 -The president, and his suite, at the date of our last necounts, hadreached Rhode Islund, and would soou arrive in Boston. He has been every where treated with the highest marks of respeet-and, generally, such as ought to be conferred by the people and received by their ow elected chief magistrate; bul, in many instances, acts have been committed ilisgraceful to freemen, and insulting, as we beliere, to the diguity of the presidential of-fice-and, probably, also, disgusting to genera! Jackson.
We shall, in due season, offer a bricf history of the president's cour. The arcounts are lumbered with so much sfyff that we have not leisure just now to throw away the rubbish.

The secretary of state has returned to Washington. The vice president joined zhe president's suite at New York, and proceeded eastward with him. It is said that the president, on his return, will stop at Saratoga Springs, and visit Albany, Harrisburg, &e.
nof-The very great importance of the proceedings had in Eingland concerning negro slavery in llae British West Indies, has indueed us to give the spieech of Mr. Stanley, (long as it is), in extenso- that the views of the ministry may be clearly understood, as well as the facts on which they rely for the support of these views. This subject, in our opinion, is deeply interesting to all the people of the United Slates; and, if the scheme of emaucipation shall he carriell out, it will have a material effeet on the relations and business of the northern and southern parts of our anion.
We have in type the elaborate opinion of the eirenit court of the United States, for the eastem district of Peunsylvania, lately pronounced by judge Baldzrin, in the case of an assauth, &ce. mate to prevent the arrest and carrying off of a slave. Is is of great length-but the points made are so clearly and powerfully stated, and the laze so decidedly established, that we shall ineur the expense of a supplement to present it entire to our professional friends, and all others who lave a general interest in the questions determined.

0 It appears by the "Globe" Hat an attempt was made to rob the mail, near Bladensburg, when on its way from Baltimore to Wasshington, on Tuestlay night last. The canvas hags, which contain only newspapers and pamphlets, were cut out of the rear boot of the stage, and some of them broken open, but abaniloned by the robbers. The letter mails are etther placed in the forward boot, or in the body of the conch-gencrally in the latter.
A reward is offered for the depredators.
Tme cholega. It was officially stated, on the lst inat. that no dangerous or contagınus disease prevalled at Key Weot,
The brit Ajax, from Nug Orleans for I.Iberin, with 150 emigrante (chiefty mannmitted slaves), was lately compelied to put into Key West, hecauve of the cholera. She lost three perinns when only t wo days out, and of the whole about 30 had died.

The Pittsborg Gazette of the IIth inst. notices the death of two ransmes, hy eholera. They arrived from lowlow.

The diseave seems to bave nearly epased at Wheeling.
Some deaths still happened at Nasiville.
Lerington has been peverely vintied by the cholera. Deaths, June $2 \mathrm{ndi}-2$; on the 3 rd- 13 ; on the 4 th- 14 ; on the 5 th -9 ; on the $6 \mathrm{~h}=5$; onf the $7 \mathrm{th}-6 ;$ on the $84 \mathrm{~h}-50$; and on the 9 th , 10 th aod Ilth about 30, daily? Thas la territic! Up to the IIth the whole number of deathin, at lecxington, were cestimatrd at got:
Spraking of the discase, the lorxinglion Reponter of the 8sh says-"Wंe have never wituessed surlh nuxitif, tuch alarm, such a panic as the eountromances of the citizrlu gencrally poine. ed, on Wiednesday and Thursday lavt. It would lee fur hasond our powers of descroption, to give to thnee who thel not winnese II, even a faint iden of the saprow and gloom visjble in ivery countenance. The shoutest hearts seemed to quall liofore the Countenance. The shoutest hearts secmed to qual ledore the relentless destroyer, shat was stalking among ut unsern, giving relentess destroyer, that was stalking among intimation to the persons whom it had selected for ita victums, before prostrating thens upon a dying bed. No one pretended to claim an immuntity frou its grasp, and no one knew af what moment he, or some of him family, would be one of its Yoz. XLIY'Sio.18.
victims. All seemed to be selzed with an awfal dread. We heard an old veteran say he had been In many a hard fought battle; he had heard the sound of eannon and musket balls passing through the air; he had seen the dead and dying strewed around him, and heard the groans and shrieks of the wounded; but never had he felt such an awful dread of impending danger, as be fett during the four days ending yesterday."
The fatal cases of cholent at Maybrille, Ky. up to the livth June, wero 41 -an awful uumber for that place, which wab also deserted by aine tenthe of its population.

Cases have also happened in Washington, Georgetown, Vergailles, Bardstown, Shelby ville, Simprouville, Lawrenceburg, Paris, Flemingburg, and many other places in Kentucky.
Private letters received at Charleston from New Orleass, give the most horrible account of the ravages of the epidemic among the negroes on the plantations in that vicinity. On ome plantation it is said, there had been upwards of one huodred deaths.
The Baton Rouge (Lou.) Gazette of May 25, etates that in fifeen days, during which the clolera had prevailed in that place, the deaths were about twenty, white and bleck.
Ohio. Bridgeport (opposite Wheeling) had a population of about 200 persons, more than oue-half of whom instantly abandoned their homes on the appearance of the cholera; and It is stated of the 70 or 80 who remaised, 50 were attacked, of whorn eighteen died is one day! The details are truly awfut. In one insiance, a man and his wife were found dead, in the same bed.

Some cases are reported at Steubenrille.
The cholera bss made its appearasce at Galena and Dubugue'o mincs. At the lafter place it was very fatal, as nost of the miners were living in tents, and were without the necessary nieans of curing the disease.
The bealth of Natchez appenrs nearly restored, but the accounts of cholera in itx aeightiontiood are unfavorable.
'T'wo deaths by cholera, of a father and son, have happened at Charlestonn, Indlana.
The Aama. Cases have appeared at Montgomery.
The New Orleans Argus of June 6 says-The cholern has broke out in Fort Giloson; the number of deathe are ten out of fiftecn cames. Ithas also reappeared in the parish of St. Mary's, both amnng the white and colored populution; but has proved fatal only to the latter class. It is also in Lafayette, and raging to a great extent in Rupides, expecially among the siaves. We also understand that it has agata vivited Covington, (parish of St. Tammany), and many slaves are daily falling vietims to it on the coast. We have heard of one planter who has lost fortyfour.

Many of the moat reapectable and worthy eitizens of the west lave been swept away by the cholera-which, especially at some places, spares neither age, sex, not condition.

LatEBT ACCOENTA.

Louisiona. Deathe at New Orieans, by cholera, on the 7th June, between 40 and 50 .

One planter at Franklin lost 45 slaves in 48 hours-another 150 :-nnd be, with the reat of bis slaves, fied, leaving the dead unburied.

Miesivipph. The cholera has appeared at Jackson, the capital of this state.
Alabama. Some fatal anses have happened at Mobile, but, up to the 7ith of June, no great alarm esisted.
Florida. Several deaths have oceurred at Appalachicoin.
Missouri. The cholern was bad at Palmyra and New London, abmu! the 4th Instant.
bill the 4th instant.
Pittsburg. One ease, which originated in the cliy, happened Pultsurg. One ease, which originated In the city, bappened on the IIth inst. A paper of the 14th says that no other bad yes ocrurred.

Key W'est. All the deaths on this island were of colored personn.
Nawhrilte. Only 2 or 3 denthe a day at the last accounts. Mr. Yeatman, of the banking bouse of Yeatman, Woods & Co. died on board the steamboal Mount Vernon, on the 12 th inst. on him way to Pliladeiptia, after 30 houre iltucse.
nhw way to Plailadeiptua, after 30 ho
Lovisrille was hralthy on the 13th.
Mavoille, ( Kiy. $^{\text {) An extra from the ofice of the Eagle, dated }}$ Jume 12 kavs:
"Maysville, at this monent, presents a secne that finds a perallel no winere in the annals of her previous himtory; tine-temth of her population have lell the city, and, of those who still finger within the viritity, anxiely and dejection are depieted in every countenance, and each one looks as tiough the next hour every countenane,, and each one lonk was that allotted for his destroction."

Lerington, Ky- As above stated, the disease at this place, thas been terrifie. For several days, the deaths were 30 a daythough the popniation had become very small. A number of the most iespectable of the citizens had died.

The foliowing is the iateat accounts from this townLerington, June 12.
moagh eince I "I do assure you we have seen and heard strongest nerve; even the physicians wore such awful countemances, that it was enough to coufound and terrify the weak and timid. Nearly all the physicisns are completely prostrate, and many of thean now in bed; sureiy there never bas been such tmortatity in any place of the same number of inhabitante. Nince nune or ten o'clock this morning, it ts aluitted by every one, almost, that the disease is subsiding; and since that time until the present, may 5 o'clock, P. M. I do suct thank that there has been a single mew case, (I thean a violent one); there are but few ief in the place to loave it, nearly aif that could go to the comatry lave been gone mome days; many of whom have died. There are not enomgh well persons left to take care of the convalcacent and inter the dead. Ihave been told there were twelve or fourteen uniaterred at one tine this mambing, at one of the grave yaude. It is uncleas fut any one to altenapt to gueas how many have failen. Three hundred would probably be a reasonabie eminputation. On yesterday and to-day, it ins been impossible to get coftins or rough boxes made sutficiently soon to put them sway,"

Another letter of the same date, says-there seems to be an abatetuent of the ctwolera to-dis.

Cankriva! "Blessed are those who find consolation!" An exceedingly large amonnt of distress prevails in the British agricultuan, as well as in the manufaeturing distriets. To relieve the fears of the landholders and culcivators, the house of loeds has promptly refused to consiler a motion to modify the cons haws; and, to enconrage the manufacturing anil working classes, the prosfect of an open trade with India and China is held outi on the presumptioa that scientific power will not be used in the former, and that the latter may be persuaded to exchange her "natural productions" for "British produetions of science and art." The latter is a very pretty scheme! And, if Chitia will suffer the labor of one person in 13ritain to purchase the fruits of the labor of troenty persons in China-there is no doubt that Britain will wonderfully prosper. Hut there is an "if" in the way of this projeet, anil we "guess" that it will not be easily removel! "Rell's Weekly Messenger," however, arfministers "consolation" with more reason is the following paragraph:
"One thing is in operation, which, within a very short interval, will totally, we think, alter the present aspeet of their affairs, and raise them to a drgree of prosperity of which they have little notion. We speak of the mitigation and gradual removal of the American tariff, and the admission, nearly duty free, of Britioh manufactures into the ports of the United Stutes. We fuel persuaded, that ant immense market is liere about to open to the merchant and manufacturer of Eugland; and, therefore, as regards this class, we entertain very strong and confident hojues that their state of difficulty and distress will be but temporary."
There is one thing, nevertheless, which the "Mesvenger" ought to have thought of. How are the Americans to pay for British goods under the present British tariff? What have we more to export which Britain will receive? Is not the consumption of A1.L our chief "natural prodeetions," execpt cotton, virtually prohibited, or so severely tased that they cainot be used freely! 'If, as Mr. Jeffrson onee said, it is the policy of America to have her "workshops in Europe,"-is it not the policy of England to have her corn fields and paetures in America?
On the subject of the new tariff the "doctors differ." The "Boaton Gazette," a few days since, spoke of the late law as infusing fresh life into the manufacturing in-teresto-but "Bell's Messenger" calenlates on obtaining nearly the whole of the American market, beeause of that la w!
The "Gazette" is mistaken, as we believe-because of the fact, perhaps, that presers security to the manufacturers held out in the law, has given fresh life to fresent manufacturing establishments; but we know that it has ehecked, and, it some instances forbillden, the erection of new onse-and we know also that certain great manufacturers are looking to a retirement from their present business, and are already making some arrangements for that purpose. The "Messenger," however, is also mistaken. The market for Einglish goods in the U. States, as now interfered with by our own productions, may not be ensentially affeeted for six years*-exeept in the increased demand for goods with the inerease of our population, and in the want of proportionally inereased domeatio minufacturing establishments-as just above sogrested. And the reduecd amount of protection afforded, moy be made up to proprietors in the equally reduced amount of wages jaid to our working people. Bigland eannot go lower in wageo-but we may. It is the latter, however. that we have most solemnly protested against. We never will place the labor of American citizens on a par with that of British pauper*-if it ean be avoided. If is the truth-that vast numbers of the English "operatives" are, In part, supported by their parisbes-and hence, in many instances, the greater cheapness of English manufacturea.
But there will be a re-action. The free laboring people of the United States wisi have a mutually "free trade," or a mutually restrieted trade. Oxf on the orgen! We shall endeavor to be content with either-but one or the other we must ever insist upon.

Ex-likutexant Raxpolph axt exveral Jackeom. The "miscrables," of whom wa have more than once spoken, seem determined to keep up a public excitement, because of an individual outrage commitled on the person of the president, by Mr. Randolph. The real, or affected, attempts to arrest the latter, without the Distriet of Columbia, have been generally considered as a grasping at a power less tolernble than the assanal itself, or as the essence of all that is ridiculous in the annals of ernwling syeophancy. There is no present authority to arrest Mr. Randolph, out of the District-and the fuss that has been made about it is contemptible. The moral sense of the community is against all such proceedings of private individuals, on the persons of public agents, for public acts -and if this, superadded! to the local lawos, is not sumicient, we have no other alternative than to surround the president, members of congress, and other poblie offcers, with a mercenary guari, armed with sabres or ballcharged muskets. It has been the glory of our coontry, that every good citizen felt himself to be a conarimetional peace officer, and also a soldier-if capable of bearing arms, anol not conscientiously opposed to the use of force. Is this glory to fade away, and the moral power of the republic be transferred to the keeping of indiseriminating "Ighting machines"-bceaase that one case has lapppened in which a president of the United Stutes was personally assaulted, with the iutent, only, of inflieting an indignity upon him-an intent as impotent as its entertainment was unjustifiable, and which altogether failed of its purpose, through the sound juilgment of all men? The person of general Jaek son was alighty injured, and his personal feelings rightfully excited; but the fiat of the whole public is-that anch ant aet cannot attach an indignity to a president of the United States.
The "Alexandria Gazette" of Tuesday last has the following:
"The motion of the district attorney for the inaring of an attnchment sgainst J. H. Pleasants, eaq. editor of the Richunosd Wint, was yesterday argued before the circuit court at great lengh, by the district attorney, F. 8. Kry, eaq. and Walter Jones, eng. on behalf of Mr. Pleamants present, judges Thruetom and Morsell. The opintion of the court was given by judpe Thruston, ordering the altachment to be iscued; stating, at the same time, that it whe a subject of much deticaay and doubtthat he entertained doubts, but that, being called upon at this time to make up an opinion, he had so deeided. On motion of Mr. Joner, it was then ordered, that the attachanent be aceompanied with a recital of the grounds on which it was ispued. The atuchment is nuade returnable to the court the first Monday in October, being the IIrst day of the next term of the court."

And the same paper of Wednesday, observes-
"It will be recollected that the day on which Mr. Randolph commilted the assault upon the president, the grand Jury were in sesution. That body, munediately and properiy, presented this breach of the laws and disturtuance of the public peace. Mr.

- It was this period of time, which, perhape, more than any thing eise, induced Mr. Clay so introduce the bill-pressed as he was by other considerations, to which it is not necessary now to allude. If, after six more yesrs of experience, the right and duty of the government in protect the manufhctures of the country, shall be questioned, snd the administration remain adverse -the glorions times for England, anilicipated by the "Mewsenger," nay be enjoyed. "There is many a nhip between the cup and the lip"-and, perhapa, even the south may feej the neectsity of that protection which is at present eechewed. Eluanget things have happened!

Rapdoiph, thowever, had tasde his escape from the presence of the marshal of the Dirtrict, the president's secretaries, a coterie of hie personal friends, and Mr. Bilas $\mathbf{E}$. Berrows: and this fact, together yith an laup ression that some difficulty would ocenr by si attempt to arreat him in Virginia, as well (as some have malicionaly sopposed) as a dealre to make the most of the business, ereated a necessity for a bold step on the part of those conserned. Accordingly, it was at once announced, and rumor saya officially announced throught the Giobe, that a "pLot" -a "cor-spikacy"-had been hatched here by a "aamd or nuppiam conPEpERatra;" that this assault was the frult of this "comspiraey;" thal Mr. Bandalph was excned to the deed by these "rraf. tan coaffederates," and anerwards preserved, protected, and aided ia his escape, by the same "anan casw," The district attoracy himaelf, deterinined to support these eharges, entered at once into the subject with greal zeal and ardor, and laid before the graad jury his atternpt to do so, with the avowed destgn of iadicting certain persens in aiding or assisting in the assanit, or ia asossting the ewcape of the assaltant. For a month the grand jury have been patiently and laborinusly engaged in an exataination of all the ficts which the district attorney has been able to lay before thera. The failare of Mr. Pleagants, the editor of the Richnoond Whig, to obey the subpona of the court, rather abruptly terminated the examination; and the grand jury Were on Mondny diseharged, and the eount adjourned over. Mr. P. was aummoned here to give up the name of the writer of as extract of a letter, wheh appeared in his paper, detailing an acconat of the aksanth, comaining such terrille exprestions an these "II and a friend ncconupanted Randolph to the boat," \&.e. \&.e. Mr. P. reapectfully denied the power of the court to bring him to the District at the same time making oath that he is entirely igmorant of any "plot" or "comspiracy" whatever, and that the extracl of the letter referred to was handed to him by a rentleman of Richmond, and inkerted as a matter of news, te. ke. at nnce phowing that his evidence, if obtained, will be entirely unimportant." "As far as we ean learn, the evidence adduced only proves What is known already to the public, and no more. It is certain that the whole attempt to make out a conspiracy has, so far, proved a mimerable abortion. That Mr. Randolph was aceompanied to the whar by his uacle-that to prevent his belng murdered by the momhrellar, sticks, sworde, ke. of the valorons gentemen who surrounded the president, a gentleman preweni did shove him from the boat to the wharf-that he walked away in sigtr of those who saw the assault, and wern bound to have taken hist-that he went up to the hotel deliberately, and as detiberately mounted a horse and slowly rode away-is all true and fully proved; and if this shows a conspiracy-a base plot-a combination of confederates-why, all honor to the district attorney for the marvellous discovery!"

00-So stanuls the case at present. The court, we think, would have better rejected the application for an attachment, than expressed its doubt of a power to issue one-unless with a view of hearing an argument on the ease, when the attachment shall be returned, and thus bring eertain important questions to their final judgment; for we take it as granted, that Mr. Pleasants will resist the attachment-anl, if taken by force, will appeal to the laws of Virginia; and, hy a writ of habeas corpros, be aliseharged. What then?"

Asa simple violation of the law, the attack on general Jackson, cannot be considered a higher offenee than would have been an attack on the person of his polite porter-the man who opens and shuts the great door of the "White Hoase." Har Mr. Randoljih been arrested within the District-the law, as enforced against Houston, beeasse of the assault and battery which lie committed on Stanberry, would have operatel on bis case, so far as the court lusd juriediction in that matter-and no further than as if between two of the hnmblest private inhabitants of the Distriet. Yet, while there is a law intended to render the persons of members of enngress "sacred," because of words uttered in ticbate, the courts have nothing to do with the administration of that law-the judgment belonging to the house of congress whose dignity is supposed to have been violated: but there is no special law which renders the person of a president more sacred than is that of any other man; and, before the court, geseral Jackson and Mr. Randolph would stand upon the same footing, as private individuals of the Distriet. In Eingland, such an assault upon the person of the KING

[^23]would be hion trazason-but there is no king in the $\mathbf{U}$. States! We have no "life guards," to proteet the persons of our president-nor government-priests to dircet their eonsciences! The first is supposed to be in the hearts of the whole jeople; and the second belongs, or ought to belong, to our presidents, only, according to the dictates of their own juctgment.

We eertainly thint thut Mr. Kandolph, if legally arrested, ought to be punished-severely punlshed, because of various eireumstances attending the affair; but still, it is only a case of assault and battery-and we would not have any thing more made of it, except in the foree of putblic opinion, which indignantly rejects all sueh violences. And if others were sssociated with him is muking the assault and battery, they, surcly, are also under the same liabilities; but the laws of the land may not be set aside, and new laws made, for this special oeeasion.

The day mocks, at Chariestown, Massachusetts, and Gouport, Virginia, are anıorig the noblest works of the kind in the world. They are now both finished, and we soon expect a particular account of them. On the 17 th inst the Delaroare, ship of the line, was floated into the dock at Gosport, and, by aid of the steam engine, pumping oust the water, she was soon left $b y$, and in a groper state for repairing her bottom. This dock has fulfilled the best hopes of its builders. That at Charlestown is of the same size and construction, and also finished-for the reception of "Old Ironsides," or the Constitution fri" gate; which, perhaps, has been a few day delayed, that the president might wituess her introduction.

A NEW Locomotife enoise, constructed by Mr. R. L. Stevens, was lately placed on the Camden and Amboy rail road, and works beatifilly. The rate of going has not yet been scttled, but the greatest curves have been passed at the rate of forty miles an hour, because of certain improvements made in the axle trees. The rate of 25 or 30 miles an hour, it seems, is attained without any seeming effort. The eapaeity to generate steam has, also, been much improved; and, fiom the experiuents made, it is hoped that anthracite conl may be used for that purpose. Thesc are great thiugs.

There are three engines now on this road, and six oe seven more will soon be ready for use, when horse-power will be entirely dispeused with.

The locomotive eseive, calfed the Pennsylvania, ínvented and $\xi^{\text {natented by colonel } S . H \text {. Iong, of the United }}$ States army, has been fairly tried and approved on the Germantown rail road.

Recent experiments have shown that the engine is fit to draw thirty-two tons, easily, on a level road, at the speed of fifteen miles an hour.

The whole weight of the engine is four tons and a half, the boilers evaporate two hunilred gallons in an hour, ing which time they require the consumption of semething less than two bushels of anthracite eonl, the only fuel used.

The wheels are made of wood, each with an iron tire of three parallel eoncentric cireular bands, cheap in priee, but very substantial, strong, lasting and efficient.
Col. Long has employed himself, for some time past, on experiments for the application of the heat produeed by authraeite coal to the production of steam for Ioonmotive engines; and has suceecded in a degree above the most sanguine expectations with which he started. With his arrangement of the furusce and the flue, anthracite may be used, for raising steam, more advantageously than the best pine wood. It sends forth no sparks to burn or alarm passengers careful of thelr dresses; and emits no disagreeable or pernicious rapor; and it enables the direetor to travel without the encurabrance of a tender, as the fuel and the water are both earried on the engine.
[1'hilada. Daily Chron.
A "covaiderable" nesavess. The produce of the Great Falls manufacturing company, at Somersworth, N. H. the six days ending tie slst ult. was 140,000 yarrls cotton shirting, 30 to 38 inches wide, of yarns Nos 26 , 33 and 40 ; and 3,300 yards broadeloth entirely finished. The eapacity of the woollen establiahment, exclusive of earpetings, is 600 yards broadeloths per day.

Tae Gieard estate. In the select council of Mhiladelphia, the following report was received on the 13 th inst:

Office of the board of commissioners of the Girurd estate,

 June 11, 1833.At a meeting of the board held this day, the treasurer of the Girard trust informed that on the 25th May, 1833, the executors of Stepben Girard filed an account at the register's office, anil communicated the following extract therefrom, whieh the board ordered to be transunitled to counvils.
Gross ainount paid over by executors
Commissions allowed for trouble on
$$ 2,777,86366,2 \frac{1}{2}$
Commissions allowed for trouble on $$ 1,886,75614,5$
Balance due to the estate
From the minutes.
$$ 4,050,38+20$
69,44668
95,33780
470,451 40
The estate aul find are accunnlating rupidly. The interests, and revenues, are large; and, if well managed, will, of themselves, accouplishigreat things,

Mr. N. Gevelot has been engaged to make a statue of Mr. Girard-us he wous-for 9,000 dollars

The gronal for the great college las been broken, and the building will ko on rapidly.

FThe councils of I'hiladelphia lave instucted the commissioners of the Giraril cotates to take nueasures to contest the charge made for conmispious by the executors of Stephen Girard, on their accounts filed in the register's office, which in the opinion of these councils is exeessive.]
Tiek cunati. On the 9th of June the temperature, at Quebee, was riving 70 dogrees. A severe squalt came from the north-west, and, the next morning the ground was frozen, and ce formed an eighth of an meh thick.
Tise SL. Alban's [Vt.) Repository, of the 13th inst. remarks that on the sunday previous, the show was several incines deep on the mountaing in that region. This wns on the wame day of the month in whish the great snow storm of 1816 tiere occurred.
At Utiea, N. Y. on the 11 h Inst. briak fires were necessary, within doors, and surtonts and cloaks without.

Texas. We have been favored with a copy of the constituston of the state of Texas, which comnences as fullows:
"In the name nf God, Omnipotent Author, and supreme L.esislator of the aniverse! We, the people of Texas, bring capmbe of figwring as a state in the manner contemplated in the second article of the decree of the general congress of the nation, of the 7th of May, 1824, Do oadain the poliowine constiteTiox, and do mutually agree with each other, to form our relves into a free and independent state of the Mexican confedevacy, by the name of the stats of TExas."
This conatitution was adopted in couvention at $S_{a n}$ Felipe de Auptin, on the 13th April last-54 members prowent: Willaau H. Wharton, prenident, and Thoman Hastugn, nerretary. It containe 106 articles-and the provisions wheh regard hife, liberty and property, have the same general principles as thore of berty and property, have Une same States-Indeed, many of the arthe several states of the United States-indeed, thany or the articles are mere eopies from our own, the people of Texas being seariy all Americans. Obicers are required to take an oath 'to anpport the consutution of the United Mexican Btates, and of this state," & c .

Tus aev. Ma. Avear, since his acquital by the jary, has been also unanimously acquitted by the Methodist conference, Fitting at Boston, not only of the charge of murder, but of having had any itmproper counesion with Sarah M. Cornell; but yet in seema, and in Boston, a large mob collected round him in the street, tsiug harsh langaage, and menacing personal vinlence; but the sheriff happened to be in the neughturtiond, and dispersed the crown: and the Providence Gazette of Friday sayp -"Yesterday a coffin came flosting up the river. It was pirked up by a boatman, who, having examined it to his satisfaction, shouldered it and carried ts away. It attracted no snall anvount of curious beboliters; and to add to the wrrtchedness of the affinir, the lid of the coffin was marked with the name of the rev. Epliraim K. Avery."

Such proceedingw are to be decply regretted. The Ircision of the law must be respected hy every good citizen. All else as from a spirit of "nutlification."
And again-The New port Republican savs, we underatand that the jury believe that Mr. Avery was proved guilov, but that the proof was not so strong as to preclude the possitility of a doubt, or the hundredth chance of his hinocence, ngreeably to the saying of the law-'It in hetter that ninesy-nine guiliy pergons mbuth po unpunished for their crimes, than one Innoceut man shouth suffer.,

Coionizatios. At a meeting of the friends of the Amernean colonization accicty, held in New York on Monday cveunge, the sum of cleven hundred and tweaty-eight dollars was coflected.
The Alexandria Gazette sayz- "We yesterday waw a leter from the venerable James Madison, expressing, in the warienen terms, his interest in the American colonization mociety, and enclowiug a donation of fify dollare, to be applied to the funda of the soclety."

Massachunetts. Eilection of members of congress. The votes in the lhoston district were-for Mr. Gorham, (N. R.) 2,304; Mr. Lymatu, (J.) 1,380; Mr. Walker. (anti-nnasou), 429 , and 52 scattering. The first was eleetcd.

In the Essex North district-for Mr. Ongood, (J.) 3,277; Mr. Cushing, (N R.) 2, 594 ; and 922 seattering. So the first was electefl by a small majority. Ile was supported by the anti-masons-generally.

In the Norfolk district, Jately represented by Mr. Dearborn, there is again, "no ehoice"-Mr. I). again had the greatest number of votes. The votes werc-for Mr. Dearion 2,290-Mr. Jackson, (anti-mason), 2,006; Thurber, (Jackson), 377; anal 11 scattering.

The Isplass. We found time to visit Black Hawk and his aceompanying Indian chicefs, and the Prophet, at Congresn Ilall hotel.
We went into the chamber, and found most of them sitting or laying ou their beds. Hlaek Hawk was sitting in a elaair, and apparently depressed in spirits. He is shout 65 years of age, of inidlling size, with a hewd that would excite the envy of a plorenologist-one of the finest that heaven ever let fall on the shoulders of an Indians.
The Propiliet has a coarser figure, with tess of intellect, Lut with the marks of decision anni firmnesa. His face was painted with red and white.
"Hhe son of Hack Hawk is a nohle speeimen of physical brauty-a model for those who would embody the ides of strength. Ile was painted, and his luair eut and dressed in a strange fautany.
The other abiefs had nothiog particular in their appearance to distinguish them from other natives of the forent.
The whole of the deputation visited the water works vesterday, and subsequently ware taken, to the Cherry Hill prison, and shown the manner in which white men punish. The exhibition of arms and ships at the navy yard, led thi: Ilawk to remark that he suspeeted the great father was getting ready for a war.
(U.S. Gaz.

Railiway inow for A wenica. We learn that a most rexpectable mercantile louse in this town las lately reeciverl an order to send to America iron tor the use of the exteusive railways now forming in that country, to the amount of $£ 90,000$.
[liverpool TYmes.
Tur chaiss of Polann. The administrative council of Warsaw, by a aleeree dated March Ist, has regulated the weight of the clains liy which Polish prisoners are ta be fetured. All male consicts are to ding seven pounds welght of iton-women six.

Mu. Websten arrivel at Clenaveland, Ohio, on the 5th inst. in the steanboat "Daniel Webster" from Buffis, and left that place on the following day, for the interior of that state. On the 10th instant, he was at Columbus, the scat of government of Ohio. He proceeded thenee, southwarl, next day. At all places lie las visited, says the Zanesville Repulslican, Mr. Webster has been treated with the respect ilue to his talents and services, withoat ceference to party politics.
thitas on wisks. The following letter fom the treasury department, addreased to a bouse in New York, is important to wine dealers:

Comptroller's office, 4th Jime, 1838

Gentlemen-The secretary of the trea-ury has referred to are our iefter to him of the 2 th ult. in which you submit the following questions for the decision of the departuremt.
"Are the dutics on wines to he redused on the th Marrh, 163, to one-hatf their present rates, and a relimn duty to be allowed oa thase then on hand, or inmtead therrof will the progressive reduction contcmplated by the tariff act of \$d March apply to wince? ta the latter cave will the wines In bond on the th Marcit, $18 H^{\prime}$, be entated to the firnt reduction of duty?"

In reply, I have to oharerve, that the duties on sweh winee as are now in bond, and shall remain su until the 3lot Deceabet, 1827, and on sueh wises as tway be imported before that day, and shall at the time of inagnolatuon be deposited under control of the proper officers of the custorna, ast stanll remmin so unta after that day, will have to be regulated by the provi-ions ar the Int eection of the act of ti Mareib, isish, to amdily Hue act of Itto July. 1832, and all other acis impositug dusies ot imports, and accurdiagts if such duties exceed an and valorem duiy of 20 per eene. a rediction thereon wil be aade, at the thme of withdrawiag Uie wines from the publice storea, equal to the tenth part of such exces. Respectiatiy,

To Mesurt.——New York.
Dotr an lamens. Treasury inwtuchons to callectora, by which the dathiculues heretofore exsthug are sand in the zellited: List of Linene to be adontted as an ad valoreus duty of lís per cent. under the act of Ithil July, lw3z.
Ticklenbargs, oswaburgs and burlapa: Britagnes: helefeldes: bodentwerders: breirn Hollands, wherever mannfactured: castari/. toes: creas: crash: cholet tinens: dowhas: heedent, or whilie atid torown rulis ordiaary Hessians: Koums: Ressid shectinga: Gerwas, Preech and Flanders linen ahrering4, and similar whersuge of other caupiriea: inilation Russial shectinges: Iriok, Srotich and Fogtish linen sheeting: phatilhasi Seotel or Dundee hisen pad dings: tuatled saeking: murenderps: gruerally all phain fiaren ehisi not colored, staved, dyed, siriped, of checked: Irish tines lanse: Rnsida diapers: French lisea cambrics: cambric linen Analkerchieft: lanns: German calopillas: table cloths and napdins: 4anakt and drillingo.

Cetrox axd wixg. In the British hatue of lords, - May 9. Lord Aucklend, on moving that the lionse go into eommittee on this bill, shortly explained its oljeet.

Lond Ellenborongh said when the duties were imposed, in 1831, upon cottons, it was proposed to inelule East India produce of that deseription, but be objeceteal to it; and, ou inutuiry into the prolable effects the imposition of the duly would have, that intention was abaniloned. What he now ventured to suggest was that even the sraall duty on cottons coming from the Farst lualie's should be given up, as lue was persuaded it woulal have a wery beneficisl effict; for when the duty was lowered, the: innportation from that enuatry had improved both in yuality and quantity.
The earl of Ripen said he shomlly be olec of the last persons to opprose any thing which might be supposerl beaelicial to the importation of proslisec from Indin, laut he really eould not concur in what the moble loril hasl stated. The duties on Fast ludia prodinct-such as iudigo, lac, and other artieles, with the excepion of sugar, which formed another consideration on uther gronniowere next to nothingz aud so fur as an lucrease of their eonsuraption dependel, he was induced to beli-ve no sueh effeet would follow. He must therefore oppose the suggestion male by the nolle loul.

Lord Fllenborough thought there was another iluty worthy consideration, which unslerwent an alteration at the same time-viz: in 1831 -he meant the wine duty. So far from that sluty being favorable to the revenue, it lial produeed, if lue inight so turm it, a loss of e'3,000. The consumption had not inereased, as was argued wonld be the ease, nor lasal the revenne benefiturl thereby. He thonght, therefore the suljeet was deserving the attention of inisisters with a view of alteration.
The maryuis of Lemurfozen saill that with respect to the article of wiue, the subjeet had not had a fair trial, for labt year, owing to the prevailing ilisurder which was spread throughout ilhe country, the light wines were uot drunk. He defended the soubshess of the policy of his majesty's ministers in the course they hail purmenl, boils with respeet to the alteration in the wine dutices, and the duties on cottons, and printed eotturs.

Lord Anckland said that thring the lant three mouths there had been an increase in the importation of wines, and that last year the falling off of the slutios arose from there not being so great a dewand for light wimos, lont the stronger description of wines hat inereaseal in the quantity imported.
The bill then went though a committer.
"Dran extrina. In the general post office at Washiagton, there is one department for the evamination of dead letters, which Insa superintersient and five chorks."

The above paragragh, which we firl in circulation in the newspapers, remimils us to say, that the unmbire of dead tetters returoed to the generai post ofiec, and there examined, &ce. amounts to the enormous number of six lenolred thousand anmeslly. This branch of the post office is nuter escellent regulations. Every ling of value is earcfully pescived, to be restored to its owners, if luey can be found.
(.Vat. Int.

Nimonov, by lis will made at St. Helena, left to his son his arms, which he thus described- "My arms, nansely, my sworl, the same which I wore at Austerlinz, the sabie of Sohicski, my poiniard, my cutlass, & c. "L-M. M. Hertrmin, Marchand, and other companions of Napoleou's exile were appointed depositaries, and were to transanit the oljurets depositell in their hands to the son of Napoleon on his attaicing the age of 16 . When young Napoleon became of age he was laboring under a movtal disease, and died before he enuld receive his lather's legacy. The objects are still in the hands of the depositariea, who have thought juroper to take counsel's opinion as to what they are to do in onder to be legally disengaged fiom responsibility. M. Putorny, an advocate for the royal court of Paris, has clrawn up an opinion, iu which lie proposes the following three questions:- "Do the arms of Napoleon belong to Maria Louisa, that is to way the Austrian? Do they belong to the father's family at Rome' Do they belong to the Frrench nation? The opinion of M. Odillon Barrot, Paillet, and Philip Dupin, in conformity with that of M. Patorny, is, that the arms of Napoleon are national property, and that the state has a right to claim them, to be deposited in a public entablishment.
[V. Y. Standard,

MF.IANCHOLY CONDITION! From the Georgia Telegraph.

The summer is a season of leisure with a great many- $\rightarrow$ and from a spirit of liberulity, they are in the habit of travelling about and sering the countiv. From the state of Gicorgia alone, not fewer than 1, nox come every year.* These caunot cpend on an average less than $\$ 500$ a piece, making a tolal of $\$ 500,000$ a year, drawn from that state, and paill to ber neighbors. No wonder that the south is every slay growing poor, and the north much richer, when the ochls is so mueh against it. Now if this exchsuge wrre mintual, I would recommend a frequent intereommanication. But it is not the fact. Who evergoes to the wouh to mpend seasons! If a visit is made therr, it in to collect money. You have travellers enough from the north-such as they are-hat they earty no money with them. They either go to peddle, to beg, or to dun! In wll of which capacities you see a plenty.

Iet us look to the various ways in which the sorth fineces the south, besides the tariff:

Spent for pleasure as above named,
100 Medical students each year, at $$ 000$
90 Law
$$ 500,000$

| 20 | Law do. do. | 600 | 61,000 |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| g) Ministerial do. | do. | $\mathbf{1 2 , 0 0 0}$ |  |
|  | 400 | 8,000 |  |

100 Females $300 \quad 30,000$
Northern shoes and boots. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 1,000,000
Saddles and bridles, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 100,000
Carriages and harricss. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 80,000
1, eathe1'. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 10,00n
Ilisaly-made elothing. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 100,000
Watches, clocks and jewelry. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 100,000
Household furniture. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 100,000
1’aper. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 100,000
Newspapers. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 10,000
Jooks. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 90,000
Medicine. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 10,000
Hотевриня . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 10,000
Calicocs, &e. .. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 100,000
Besitles what is paid for morthern beef, butter, cheese, potatoen, garden seeds, pork, horses, mules, &cc. amounting to a sum almost beyond ealenation.
Yon may say I am getting warm on the sulgeet-and so I am. I cumnot hilp getting warm every time I think about it. I whall curtail ing tour of one-half its length, anl return to Georgia as speedily as possible, where 1 shall stuily economy by confining my expenditures as far a practicable to my own state.

- Why do the g? why Nanald they?

Ev. IEe.
[The preceeding appears to be extracted from the letter of some full-blooded (ieorgian, who was "feecing" his own state by spending his own money elsewhere.]
gos-Truly-his is a frightenl pieture; but it falls far short of the reality! Only $2,300,000$ itollars enumeratel. The cheewe and garden seecls, and the et cetera, (which inelude "wooden nutmegs" and "hoorn gun-lints") however, by the aid of a lively imagination, may make the whole sum three millions. But that isn't near enoughto settle the "balanee of trade!"-for Georgia exports a gueat deal more than that value to "the north;" mutd we should like to know why the rule which the "Georgia Telegraph" applies to the north is "abominable," "roguish" and "rascally," when .applied, by "the north," to England?

In the last year, we imported $34,848,562$ dollars worth of goods from England, of which "the sorth" (and the west) consumed at least three-fourthe, or say, $26,000,000$. The whole export to Eagland, of domestic products, in the last year was valued at

| Deducl-Cotton | $\mathbf{2 1 , 2 6 2 , 9 0 0}$ |
| :---: | ---: |
| Tebace | $\mathbf{9 , 3 1 9} 596$ |
| Rice | $\mathbf{4 1 9 , 6 8 9}$ |

$26,632,068$ Tebacee Rice

2,319,596
419,689

Leaving only $8,620,890$ for the value of the exports of the north and the west to pay for the 86 millions worth of British goods consumed by them!
Isn't "what's good for this goose gooll for the gander"n If there is a balance of traile against (icorgia, in her relations with the nord-what sort of an argminent may be made why Georgia should "cut" these relations, which the north may wot also use with respect to Eingland? Won't the "rule work both ways?" Is a rule of right in the south, a rule of wrong in the north? 'Try again. This "pistol has missed fire," or "kicked its owtuer over;"-no matter which.

THE CHEROKEES.
From the Charlenton Courier.
The Cheroked council axspubiled at Red IIIII, on the 13th ult. to take bisto cotinideratiou the proprety of accepting the offer of the general government, recently made ticua for their elaiun to lands on this nide of the Missiestppl, was generaily autuded on the part of the intelligent potion of the people, and very aualerously attemied by the coummon Iadiana. They remained in council several dayy, upon thix all important sulject, aud have at length dispersed without ngreeing te the liberal proposition of the general goverumeat, which shuuld bave been by sil means so very desirable to thetu. This result is attrikuted, by the Auraris (Geo.) Berald, frow which the particulars are taken, to a ebief, nemed John Ross, who, it would appear, possesses much influence over the Indiant, and is very nntavorable to the gene. ral government, and to the penyle of Georgiain particular. Many of the unoat enlythtened chiefs are said to have advorated the sceeptance of the proponition, and it is to be regretted that the "sonas of the forent" should have suffered thenselves to be swayed by ane who hat more probably acied from perannal motives, rutuer than the advantage of those wloum ite whe advising.
The Milledgeville Federal Union, states that the Indians have only pootponed making a treaty, until the meeting of congress, and to provent any unnecessary delay after that time, an explor. ing party is to visit the Arkansas country during the present sumbuer; and remarks, "we believe that ont Imdimn controversues are rapidily approaching a harurontous and satiofactory elose" -but Com the confent manuer is which the Herald asset ts that the council has broken up, aud its beling nearer the place at which that body asesmbled we are inelined to beileve it has given the more correct matement.

From the Cherokee Phanif, May 186 h.
It witl be recollecled Ju 1821 , the rev. If. Clauder missinnary of the Moravians, stationed in this vicininy, with a flonsishing chool, and a proaperous chureh was arrepted by the Gieorgia guard, and ten days givenhim to reanove without Georgin, wheh he was compelled to do; and after leaving a valuable improvement be retarsed to the soctety in satcun,N. C. Mr. Ciauder Was again sent out by the socimty to Spring Place to superarde the rev. G. Byhal, and received the appointment of poot marter at that place. This appointment placed him under the proteetion of the gencrat govirnament, and scemed to secure hid resi dence as a missionary thicre, withont the mofestanmon of the Georgia anthonstes. Rut it appeara that the learned Guosgians are wretchedly behind the Romun notjons of fustice, they have mot the "perpetual will of dulug right;") shey shrweyed the Cherekee country, placed Mr. I: in a lot with a rempeetable Iudian, drew for in, then granted by the covernor, and the wortiy mis. sionary with bis jmst othee connmission, was driven off frome a valuable ituprovement by the drawer, useriv ilosiroying two andalonary stations in the ciferokees of the Chitted ificturch.

The national government have a character to suatain, and in is with that gavernment to see her own citizeno protected from the prossectition of uninrpers.
Again: At Eltijay, an industrions Indian had by his oteady habits, umproved has jufemises to be of eonnidernble value, when it was diawn by one of the lotitry gamatiers ia Georgia. The fortunate holder of thw tucket sppited to the governor for a grant which was given him, on his assurance tbat there was no Indsan oceupant on it. The fortunate drawer galhered up his alt, including sume two or three piatola, and moved to the Cherokee ccuintry, loaded his platols, emtered the possession of Ontawlunsta, pointing one at him, and drove the innocent cherokee fiom his well cultivated field, and he was without a boare the last aceount we had.
The Cherokees are dommed to suffer.
The Washington Telegraph, contains a letter of judge CZay con, of Georgia, respecting the negmiation which thu executive of the United States pursucd last winter with the Clberokee delegation is cougress. The judge makea tise following stateaeuts:
TThe administration believed, and had so given out, that there would be no diffieutty in procuring a treaty, and public opinion ceemed to be settled in that expectation, and gratitiod at the prospect of such an issue. The firm iutimaturn of a contrary result came from the secretary of war bunstif, and that on the rvening before cumgress adjuurned. On that avening, being Fiday, sud the day after the passage of the foree bill, guv. Cass came to the capitoi, and sent in firr one of the metabers from Georgia. Hia mepage was delivered to me; 1 imumednately waited upun hun. He commenced by otserving, that he had called to request an interview with the Georgia reprerentation, at bis office, ou the next morning at 10 o'clock, and then sand, the object oi it was to consuit us as to the churse necessary to be purshed in relanon to the trensy with the Chorokeew. He stated, he considered the government had been trifled with by their de. legation; that after ziving every reasonable Indicuison of their intentiontw to treat, they had etrangely and suddenly broken off the negotiation. He remarked thal neveral propositions had passed between them from time to time; and that, finally, the Indians anked to know what the government would give for thrir Iands, is, a round rum, and they would go ofr on their own "liook," an they expressed it. He said he replied, two millions and a half of dollars. They took time to coniter the offer, and on yesterday murning, Thuisday, he stated, they catted to inquire if the president would give no more. He answered, perhaps the president would give a little more, rather than the trealy shouid tall; they rejoincd, that unlesa he would give a freat deal more, thre was un we for further negotiations. To this remsark, which he said surprised him very much, he replied, 'meet ane at the president's to-morrow morning, Friday, and we will ascertain whal additional sum the prevident will give you." They promited to do *o, but to his astomishment they had failed, and had adhlressed him s note, requesting to know when it should wit the prevident to adnit them to take leave of him. Now, anid he, we have some idea of offinting three millions for their luud, and I wish tu know whether your delegation will adviee the ineasure. I amswered without besitation, that I mould nay, if necersaty, he ought to give tuore. For though it was too much, yet it was a property we ought to have had long ago; our citizens had, and were daily acquiring it under a tate disposition of it by the state, were going into the powsession of it, and as we could never ennsent, fet the eonsecyuences be what they might, to have that posseration dimituibed, I did think, for the sake of peace, and the atjustrnent of a much vexed and exciung queetion, that the lani conid scaicely be purclased too dearly.
"I promised to meet him next moming, and accorflngly son, finling wone otiver of onr delegation there but judge Wayne. I reperted winat I had said on the evening befire, in which judge Wayne concurred, and he said be would draw up a writ ten combnuaication to that effect, and obiain the signatures of the whole reprementation, which 1 approved, and had no doube It would uret with the similar approtation of the regt of the delegation. I heard no more of it, congress adjourfed next evesing, and the unembers separated. I afterwarin understood that three miliions of dollars had been offered by the governhurnt, and that the Indians had propased to sulumit the offer to a meetiag of the wation, snune time in this mouth; if they would agree wi of the wation, soune time in this m take ft , there would be a treaty."

CHESAPFAKE ANI OHO CANAL

The recent clection of a president of this company have ing excitcd considcrable attention, we are induced to record the votes given, &ce, as we find them stated in the "National Intelligencer."

Fior president.
John II. Eaton
5,054 C. F. Mereer
S,450
Fur directors.
William Priee
d. J. Abert
,on Halward Idueas
4,647
W. Gunton

7,810 A. Stewart
3,834
W. Smith

8,821 $F$, 'Tronas
3,017
10,281
P. Janney
R. H. Henderson 5,fi43

The first six elected.

The vote for Mr. Euton was made up of the following parts:

The United States $\quad$ 8,008 votes.
The eorporation of Washington
Individual stockholtiers
8,008 votes.
1,038 votes.
For president, the jroxies of the state of Maryland
(Mr. Forreat and Mr. McCulloh) were divided; and so Werw those of the eorporation of Gevrgetomen. The votes, therefore, of both these interests were lonf.

Had these two latter interests been voted upon, and the vote been (as expeeted) for Mr. Nercer, it would have added to his vote,

For Maryland.
...................... 290 votes
and would have elected him
The ald have elected him by a majority of 182 votes: the following particulars:

The state of Virginia
570 votes.
508 votes.
Corporation of Alexandria
2,362 votes.
therefore, Mr.
ludiviulual stoekholders Of the voles of individual stockholders, theref Mercer received 2,362 to Mr. Enom's 1,038."
"The direetors attempted to bue put in by political influence, were signally defeated." It scems as if Mr. Mer cer was the only sacrifice upon which a majority could be brouglat to act together.
"Hu the election of directors it will be seen that Mr. Smith and Mr. Junney received seventeen hundred votes more than the joint vote for president. This was caused by the votes of Maryland and Georgetown not heing diFided in their case, and the aggregate thercof, being 1,798 votes, being given in their favor."
"The litit of directors, however, is an unexeeptionable one, and some of them have mueh practical experience in the buainess of the canal company."
"At an adjourned general meeting of the stockholders of this company, held on a subsequent day, at which were represented the United States, the state of Maryland, the state of Virginia, the corporations of Washiugton, Alexandria and Georgetown, and a majority of the individual otockholders, the following resolution, proposed by Mr. Mic Culloh, on belaif of the state of Mluryland, was alopted:
"t Resolved, That the thanks of the stockholders of 'the Chesapeake and Ohio causl company are, in the opi'aios of thia meeting, due to Ciasees Fissros Mracka 'for the zeal, ability, eare and fulelity, which lie has dis "played in diseharging the duties of the office of president "of this company; and that, in contaideration of the attention bestowed and expenses incurred by hinn, whilat ren"deriag many aerviees to this eorporation that did not "juertain to that office, the president aud directors be, and They are berviby authorisel and directed to pay to him "the sum of five thousand dulturs, in addition to lis pay as "president."
"'thia resolution received an unanimous vote, exeept the eorporation of Georgetown, who preferred a different sum for the extra allowance, but concurred in the spirit of the resolution.
"A motion was then made, from the same quarter, to reise the sulary of the president of the connpany, to begin at this date, from two to three thonsand dollars; and also to entablish the offiee of superintendent general, or engineer in chief, to the canal. There prupositions were, after eonsiderable deluate, postponed to August next, to which time the gruernl meeting was then adjourned."

T0-An umanimons vote, with such acknowledgments of ecrviees rendered by general Nercer-immediately after such a dismissal of him! It partakes strongly of the absurd, or the ridiculous.

WATER WORKS.

PHILADRLPIGIA AND WILEINaton.
From the Delaware Journal.
The anbjoined view of the Ficirmount weter works, which regeet to much credit upon the spirit and enterprise, and contribate so eveentially to the comfort and happiness of our neighs.

[^24]bors of Philadelphia, is taken from the Philadelphia Herald. The writer has certainly not iaid too much streas upon tive inportance of these works: for anaong all public improvenuenta, there are sobse which phitiantiropints of ceonontists can view with more approviag regard, none which auory justify and call for libveral and usumificent expenditure, than those which have for their object the supply aud distribution of an abundatice of pure and wholesome water to the ithhabitants of a large and populous city. It is not in a spirit of mere vanity, that we introduce here a notice of the water works of our own town; but becaute our attention has been called to the sutyect by the afsnexed statement, and because, too, we feel a justibable pride ia doing honor to the enterprise, the diseetument and skill which bave, in this respect, placed Wilmington on an equality with any other town, we believe, in the world. The water works constructed in this place, in 1897, are remarkable for their nisaplicity, their excellence and effieiency-sind when we consider that they were constructed for a population of 7,000 , it will be admitted, that there is no vain boast in claiming for them all the credit which has been given to Philadelphia for thuee water works upon which she so justly prides heraelf, and which, ensbrachag the city and preeincts, aupply a population probably of 150,000 .
The present water works in this place, have cost about 65,000 dollars.

Iron piper. There have been taid since 1827-98,371 feet, of nearly 5 miles.
Frire plugs-02.
Amount of water and mill rents, at the present time, 84,350 .
About $$ 10,000$ had treen expended for the introlucition of water, before the prewent works were constructed; making the whote expense incurred by the town for this purpose, about 105,000 dollars.
The machinery by which this city in now supplied with water, consiats of a mili slinated on the Brandy wime, which $\cos t 88,000$ dollars, from which the water is impelled by a furcing pump, through a tine of pipre, 2, id feet in length, to the reservoir at the summit of the town, 109 feet nbove the level of tide water. This reservoir consists of two basias, each 83 feet by 78 , tad 10 feet in depth. They contain about 11,000 hogsheads, of eleven millinns of galinns of water. It requires forty lopura to fill the reservoirs, which contain an average supply of a week or ien days-Ite usual consomption being frou 140 to 160,000 galionn a day. The mill is rented at 8750 per annum, and the reservoir is filted at the expense of the leasees. From these works, Wifmington is furnished with a coplous and atmple supply of the purest water-ample either for comfort, luxury or security againat fire-insoinuch, that we repeat that, in all theee puructsiars, it yields to no other town upon earth.

GIRMOUNT WATER WOREB

Philadelphia has never been wanting in a proper spirit where otherts if real utility were in be gained. The most conipicuous of trer public improvements, is the Fairmonit workn.
We have only leisure to present our readers with the following outhae of the opesatione of this armly anagoifiecat work. At a funure period we propione flling up our Nkrich.
The increase of revenue from water rents in 1820 over 1831, was as followe:

| City | 92,928 00 |
| :---: | :---: |
| Northern Liberties | 1,25400 |
| Spriug Garden | 1,899 25 |
| Southwark | 762 S |
| Moyamensing | 39450 |
|  | 87,163 00 |
| The receipts for the water |  |
| In the eity proper, to | *-16,110 25 |
| Northern Lidbertics | 15,139 75 |
| Apring Gardeu | 8,010 00 |
| Southwark | 7,413 ${ }^{\text {d }}$ |
| Moyamensing | 194 30 |
| Total | $77,567 75 |

The expenditures for working machinery at Fairmount, and for materials

For salaries and incidental expenses

Iron pipes. There bave been laid from October, anuary lat, 1823 bave been laid from October, 1819, to January lat, 1833 -
In the city
Northern Libertics
Southwark
Epring Garden
$\mathbf{2 4 8}, 261$ feet-or 47 tailes.

Moyamensing
$\left.\begin{array}{r}38,779 \\ 38,349 \\ \text { do } \\ 3\end{array}\right\}$ or 254 miles.

Total 4,217 do

385,501 feet-or 92t miles.
Fire pluga. The number of tire pluge in the city lo-375
Northern Libetues
Southwark
Epring Garden
8

The dam across the Schuyikill at Fairmount ts 1,416 feet in length, and wix feet six inches above high tulc.

Fourteen thousand eight hundred and ninety-two familics and factories are supplied wilh water-and the daily consunption is at preseat about $33,000,000$ gathus. Thes quantity will shortly be ancreased upwarda of thriy five milhons of galloas per day. The cost of the prement works amount to one miltion two hundreil and seventy-uine thousand eight hundred and thirtyfour dullars. The whole anount actinally expended by the ciny of Phitadelphia for the insroduction of the Scliny fkill water, from 1799 to the firt of January, 1833 , exceeds two militons sixiy1799 to the first of Jan three thousand dollary.

From the United States Gazette.
The fotlowing was the increase of water renta in 1832:

Balance 851,58123
It should be borne in mind, that the ertimate of expenses for the year, inelude the cent of laying iron pipes, which is a means of increasing the revenue.
The whole annount chargeable to salaries in connesion with the water works, is eniy 83,24000 .

FOREIGN STATISTICS.

Earpt. The following statenent of the military and naval force of this resuscitated empire, is from a late foreign paper.

Military force-
Maghreven sohliers. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . .
Bedouins.
Bedouins. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . .............. . . 5,370
Freneh... . ................................... . . . . . 3,435
Hoousa, Irregular ealvary of Upper Egy fit . . . . . . . 8,435
Artidlery. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 6,357
Hallagi, sajuers or pioncers. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . $3,9+2$
Regular cavalry.. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 7,972
Hegular infantry. . . . . . . . . . . . . . ... . . . . . . . . . . . 70,011 Generals, officers ani soldiers of the irregular cavalry and infantry...
17,998
Attached to the army. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 8,483
Total
193,932
These forces are distributed as follows-
Mecea and Hedjuz. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 13, 223
Egypt.. ........................................... 53,511
Negroland. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 7,460

In the camp. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 82 , fit 4
In the arsenal at Alexandria. . . . . . . . . . . . 8,358
Marine, staff and military schools. . . . . . 20,273
193,932
List of the men of war composing the Egy $y^{\text {tian }}$ fleet in the port of Alexandria-

At this moment there are 4 ressels building, viz: 3 of 100 gune each, anll another three-llecker, the latter and another are to be ready to be launched at the end of March.

Curfer. A London circular of $13 t_{1}$ April anys-Coffee is gaining favor; coloury sorts have alvanced Irom the lowest point to 5@fis.; Sti. Domingo and Java solts are saleable; Brazil, boing abuulant, is ratierneglected. The importations of coffce from 1st January to 31 st Marchare about as follows-

To IIambro* Bremen"Amstervlam" Rotterdain* Antwerp" HarreTrieste Lontlon all sorts

| In 1832 |
| :--- |
| $7,600,000 \mathrm{lbs}$ |
| 828,000 |
| $2,951,000$ |
| $4,170,000$ |
| $1,321,000$ |
| $3,1+0,000$ |
| $3,275,000$ |
| $4,426,000$ |
| $97,011,000$ |

In 1833.
2,175,000 lbs.
616,000
2,229,000
1,465,000
1,596,000
3,36\%,040
2,900,000
4,642,000
19,056,000
Presenting a fulling off in the imports of eight millions, the stock of coffice in London is less by 12,000 laggs foreign, and 17,500 bags Fast India, than ont the 1st January, in consequence of heavy exports to the above contihental ports, which han swelled the inports at those places, probably three or four millions nowe than they otherwise would appear: the thlling off in the imports is therefore nesarly twelve nillions, lion w Lich deduct three millions detained since.

Benmrda papers to the 21 st inst. have been received at New lork. The valice of the imports into the Berinudas il! 1832, whs $£ 97,354$ sterliug, of which 249,219 was liom the United Siates. The amount of exports was only $£ 25,28,-0 \mid$ which $£ 2,852 \mathrm{w}$ as to the U . States.

Cancetra. The alebes of Mesars. Alcsander & Co. have been ascertained by the special assignees to anount to $$ 4,460,000$ rupeces, and the assels to $17,500,000$, exclusise of Lalances consillereal itoubtful or bad, amounting to $99,830,000$, a part of which may pobably be recovered. The inhabitants of several dintrictos, in the vicinity of Madrus, are suffering from famiue and disease.
Penlic debt of Giest Beitats. A paper ireentIr luid before the British house of commons, on a call for the information, conlains some curious particulars as to the munber of the hollers of the funled public debt of (irent Britain, and the amonit held by each. It appeara that there were ahout 279,000 persons luving property in the public sceurities, of whom only ït drew dividents of ta,000 and upwards. There were 103 holding in trust for socirtics and corporations, but only 71 as imliviluals. The number drawing less than $£ 200$ per amunt was 263,000 . To this $279,(0) 0 \mathrm{might}$ be added, about 250,000 who had property in the savings' banks. There were therefore 540,000 families whose property was iurested on the eredit and faith of the conniry.
loxnov nergant. The number of vagrant begrars now in Loulon is suppused to eseeed 40,000 . The number of panpers reliesed in lomlon in one zear was 116,416 . The moncy raised by the poor rates was $\$ 1,016,02096$; being 1 Ss. $5 \frac{1}{2}$, sterling frer hearl on the population.

Protestaxt Fipiscopal chutach, Panis. The founIlation stome of the first Protestant Fipiseopal church ever built in Jaris, was laid on the 23d of April, in the rue d'Agnesscau, Fanbourg St. Honore, by the right reverend bishop lascombe, who was attemked by the rev. Dr. Pritehard, the rev. Gi, leferre, S. Brureton, W. M. Bevan and W. Wood. Scveral of the Frcueh Protestant pascors, and a large number from the Ilepartments, who had assembled in Paris to attend the anniversary of the French I'rotestant Bible society, were present.

Tue Nontn Hollanp canal is 32 fuct deep, 180 feet wille, and extends from the point of the I nearest Amstervlam as far as the Heller, a distance of 16 leagues. No steamboats are allowel to ply upon it; but when a ship of war or other lacge vessel has oecasion to pass it, it is towerl by horses, to the namher perhaps of twenty on cilher siale, and lest it shoulal not be obedient to the helm, ropes are also attached to the ahip's quarters, which are bidd by men on the towing jaths, to keep the vessel sleadily in the centre, where the water is decpest. The Incks are fifty feet wide and 290 feet in length; they are four in number-two aseenting and two descending.

Law-Iv Exficavi. At the Salop assizes a special jury case was tried, in which the question turned etutirily upon the identity of a borse valued at $\mathbf{2} 90$. The julaintiff obtained a verdict for that sum. The law cluarges arc expected to amount to betweeu $£ 500$ and $\mathbf{E} 600$. Mr. Justice 'lanuton, in addressing the jury, congratulated the connty of Salon on the extraonditary wealth it posseaseri, which permuted it, while obler parts of the country were comptwining of alestitution anni enobarrassmen, to throw away vase sunse in bringing a lanst of wituesses (t) decide a matter of t'sis). The harse was brought into court, and underwent a careful examination by the jury!

Whaseri-s Scotland. The quantily of whiskry consurned last year in Scotland was $4,861,515$ gatloné; being about 700,000 gallons less than for the year before, and about $1,200,000$ less than for the year 1850 . We know not whetier this great falling off be occasioned by smugg ling, by temperatice societies, or by the olistress of the nasnufacturing impulation. The export from Seothand to Irclamel was 470,000 gallous only, and to Eingland y,360,000. We fear that tre giant sanuggler is again abroud.

Excrse orficsus (Scotland.) There are 16 collectors of excise, whose salariee amount to $E x, 950$. Eightiten colleetors' clerks, salary $£ 2,590$. 74 suןurvisors, salary £14, 000 , and 794 offivers, sec. salany 274,788 178.9 .

Edixernen. The Scotsman antounces that the corporation of Edinburgh is $£ 700,000$ in debt, and on the verge of bankrupicy. It seems that the projeet of stlling the town churelues has been serionsly entitained by sonme of the leading members of the council.

Pasis. According to the reports of the poliee of Paris for 1832, there was arrested during the year 77,548 individuals, of whon 26,653 were women; 25,702 drunkards were plweed in confinessent, 10,891 of them lxing women. I'he magistrates intlieted junishment upou 23 , 4is8, women, and committed 3,656 persons to take their trials before the tribunals. In 1854 shere weve 4,719 persons arrested more than iluriug the preceding ycar.

Instr poon. It apyears from a parliancentary paper just published, contailing an account of the Irish poor shipped under ןasses from Livirpool, froun 1824 to 1831 inelusire, that the total number shipped from that port were as follow: In 1824, 2,481; 1823, 3,028; 1826, 6, 228 ; 1827, fi, 055; 1828, 4, 340; $18293,5,086 ; 1830,5,679 ; 1831$, 5,863; naking a total, iluring those eight years, of 38,969 persous; of which uamber, not less ilian 23,7i0 were shipped ander passes frum Iiverpool and other places in the connty of Laneaver, anil $8,7 \% 3$ firm Midilesex. The total charge for ${ }^{\text {nossing }}$ these 38,969 ןuninet's was £14,253.

Conquests of Ressia derise the laft bixty thall. Present popndation.

1770 Bessarabia
1771 Thee Crimea
1785 Georgia
1793 Little Poland and the Ukraine
470,000
451,UNO Ineorporated 1783 400,000 liscorgorated 1 s01

1794 Western Russia, ineluding Lithuania,
Poilolia, &e. $8, $ 8,000$ Ineorported
1795 Courland
1805 The Letghian & other tribes
1806 Sehirwan 133,000
1808 Fiuland $1,350,000$
1815 Kingdom of Poland $\quad 4,000,000$ Ineorporated 1832
1827 E'rivnall and triles $\quad 100,000$
1829 Агmеніи, &e.
400,000
Wallachia & Moldavia 2,817,000

Total $\mathbf{9 5}, 924,000$

Goln and sthyen coix. It appears liy an official statement from the (British) mint office, that for twenty years previous to the year 1810, there was coinesl at the mint, golat to the amoint of $£ 21,49,3,640$ and silver to $£ 12,216$; and for preiod of twenty years subsequent to 1810 , the golil coined amounted to $\pm 45,387,423$, and the silver to $\pm 9,149,411$.
Rents. Tlue last Eilimburgh Review says-"it would not loe difficult to slew that the entire landial rental of Euglanil an! Wales, is, at this moneret, rabler unter than alove thity mullewis.

Cursa. The first specinen of an anglo Chincse KaIctular sun! Ifogister has becti published in China liar tho year 18.i2. Acemralsg to this authrity, the population irturns of the celestial empice, in 1813 , mmoniteil to $36 \%$ nillions; of which mumber the eapital, I'ekin, aloue is said to contain five millions.

Evoltsu exponts! A cargo of three hmudred ami fifty young widows anl spinsters was lately sent lrom Lonilon for the supjuly of Van Dieman's land. 'They were decently elat, and well provided lor.

The carl of Esgremont has chartered a fine ship, at his own expense, for the purfose ol seuding enigrauts to Conada, fiom lis own estates and their tuenghorhood.

One lumdived and fifty of the tenautry of the earl of Derby have been shipjed for Canada, in one vesacl.

Such things seem about to becone of frequent oceur rence.

The state of socicty may be gathered from the following:

On the $\mathbf{g T t h}_{\text {A }}$ April, two families, consisting of eighteen inulividuals, were providerd with the means of emigrating to Canads by the parish of Debolen. The circumsatices attending their departure caused deep sy mpathy for them in the neighbortwod where they lived. The fathers of lie two families were agrieultural laborers, greatly resuecteal for their sober anal intlustrious habits, ench had served the same master upwards of twonty yeurs, and so generally was their sleternination to leave the eountry regretted, that their stay was entrented by all who knew them. They, however, refused to listen to all entreaties, anul determined to quit their native land, assiguing as a reason that at that tince twenty or thirty young men were walking about in the parish, in a state of idlentss, not bes ing uble to fint employnent, and they Herefore saw no prospeet of a liveliliood for their ehilifren.
[Chelmeford C.hronicle.
Enfilesh axd Frexch sasaops. The Hinistry of Englanal liave proposed to fix the income of the archbishopa of Irelard at $\mathbf{i 1 0 , 0 n 0}$. The F'renclichamber of deputien luas just fixed the stipends of the archbishop of Paris, the Catliolic primate of Franee, at 85,000 fiancs, or exactly \&1,000.

BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS-MAY 14.

> Colionial, si.averv.

Mr. Stanley presented is pritiona pryying for the liminediate abolition of nlavery, suil then apan lis motion the house pessolved itrelf into a committee of the wirole house upon the subject of negro miavery.
Mr. Stanley then proceeded to address the committee, and enmmeneed by expresering his conffidence that the comanative would not fail to extend to him a large aliari of kindine\%s when they reflerted that, after having beern for ouly a short petiod in the office which he lind the bonar to fill, it devolved upuin him, in the diwelongene of hin official duty, to bring undeg the considera tion of parliame it a quastion uf unparalieled maguinude and tho pretance, involving greater interest perhapas than any question which had for many yeara been subsuined to the tegislature. This question also was phrromind with difficulties of a peculiar nature, owing io the time at which it was urought forward. In the rafe and eatisfariory solmion of the question were invilved not only a marithie conmmerce amounting to 250,000 tons of shipuhg annually, and a revelue of between $\$ 5,000,000$ and $\mathbf{~} 6,000,000-1601$ ohly the intercale of a vast borly of proprictors levident in the coloniles and this country, whose very existence depended mpon the iwne of the questunt, but alsn the teftepral intereste of between 700,000 and 800,000 of our fellow subjrets, and of theit descendants throughout ge. nerations yet untionn. This was not all-it was imposeible not to perceive the lifluence which the successful, or unsuccesaful, iswue of the mighty experiment now ahout to be tried tnast have apon millions of foreign subjects. Thove were difficultien enough to appal uny unan who ventured to bring the anbject forwaril. In the shtuation in which lee was pleced, all thai he cruld do was to consider what coune tie contd pureue which would achipve the mowt good, at the smallest risk of wit. 'Tite governurm was placed briween inn conflicting partira-one liaving a derp percuniary interest lu the question, Intimately acquainted with the sulyject, ennseeted with the colonies by soclal ties, and at present laboring under embarias*asents which rembereal them doubly jrakots of any meanore which tnigit affect their intervats. On the other hand, a umveral sind extendent exprearlon inf feeling peovaded the cauntry, and there tuever was a tume when the detormituation wif the pera-it was frunsleal on that drep relighous feeling, on that soleman conviction of prisiciple, which adonitted of no paithative or connpromive, and whicls jromonnced itselt lin a vorce tu which out minister could be deaf. The time hat gone by whes parlia ment could decide the quemtion whether shavery should or olvoubl hot be perpetisial; the question nuw to be nicelded was, what was the safent, the wincentient, and nusen effectual mode of proctaring the final and entire aholithon. T'luey wete mistaken whe twaght that the depp feeling of the necensity inf the uiter eztuctum of siaveiy was a feeling of yepterday, that it was a momentary eathnslasm, which if mpposed wonld die away; it was the same spirit which fily years ago puessed spon parliament, and comprillod it, is rpite of allingest ustional intereria, and in defance of all the argunients that could be urged in favor of coumsercial mind prudential considerations, to decree the abolition of the traie whichit supplied nogrows from the coast of Afriea. If any budy woald take the tronble to look bark to the language of the great men who laboreal so successfulty to effect the abolition of the slave trade, they wontil fiad that though the question was thea $\boldsymbol{\text { weparated from that of the aboli- }}$ tion of stavery, the former was consldered moly as the pretionisary atep tu the latter. Perhnpa he anght be forgiven if ioe eatled the attention of the bonse particulanly to the language of those distinguistied men who in former days, to use the worde of Mr. Canning; "attacked onsly the outworks of the great fonreas, yet andoubtedly looked forward with a certain conviction in their minds, that the dostruction of those nutwork $\$$ whuld lead to the fall of the citadel itself," In 1792 . Ir. Buike puiblished his celebrated letter to Mr. Duadac, in which he exbibited a plan which be called a mogro ende, and which lue apologized for not having exhithited to the pubtic 19 years brfore. That letter contained this pasenge- "1 conceive that we should mot look for the origith of the trade to the place in which it began, bat to the place of its fanal ilestination. I therefore was and still am opiaion that the whole work ought to be taken up together, and that the gradual abolltion of slavery in the Wiest Indies should go hand in hand with any thing which may be done with respect to the supply of negroel from the coast of Afriea." Mr. Burke's code eabraced the atolition of the trade and provisions for the final extinction of slavery in the colosies. In tine dehate of 1806 and 1807 Mr. Fon, Mr. Wynd bam and lond Greaville, though they dinconarctcd the questhona of the abolition of the trade and the estinction of slavery, evidently looked forward conflitontly to a future period, when the Intier object would lee cfivcted. Mr. Fux maid 'the abolition of the mlave trade will lead to the abolition of slavery in the Weet Iadlea." Mr. Wyudinath snid "Lat he wished for nothieg mare at present tian the abolition of the slave trade, bat ive did not heritate to sily that when the proper pesiod arrived, and the consent of otiver powen could be obtaiaed for It abolition, slavery ltaelf oustht aot to be suffered to exist amonget the institutions of any elvilized ntate." Lord Grenville, on bringing forwand his motion in 1807, said "that the Arst step from slavery to freedon was effected lay the alaves becoming pradial ot attached to the land, aad that from thence they ascended to liherty. I look forvard to the period when the negroes of the Weat Indies, becoming laborers, will feel an isterest in the welfare and prosperity of the countiy to which they are indphted for protection, and will be called on to share largely in defence of the islands is which they rexide." He had read thene axtractin in order to show to the house that the fueling which now pervaded the country was of so temporary decriptiun, and that the imperative ery fur the abolition of slavery was founded on a deep and settled conviction that it was conslatent with religion, justice and also witl sound poliey, that this disgrace should not lie suffered to remain part of our national aystem. Panliament had frequently eonfrmed the prisciple of the abolition of slavery. In Iez3 Mr. Canning proposed his ivemorable resolutions, as an aniendmest on the motion of Mr. Buxton, which motion was, to all intents and perposes, sinillar ia scope and principle to that which ministers were then about to mbonit to the cossideratiou of parlianacat. Those resolutions recelved the unaninsons support of that bouse and they declared that parlimment looked eonfletully forward, through the local legishatures adopting efficient meanures of legislation, th the final teranination of the wyatem of culonial stavery too long in psistonce. They had innre than eleven years' experience of the effect upon the colonial legislatures of that emplatic expressina of the wishes and voice of parlia ment and the mother country, conveyed in the tone of friendiy admoaltios, and strengthened by the voice of authority, and what was the reeutt? The colosial legistatures were deaf to the voice of fripndly ezpostulation, they seemed to set at deGance the voice of anthority. They had donlotless, in wome inotances adopted reanations since 1823, calculated to ameliorate the physical coadition of the slave, but it is was vain to lonk to any of thitir enactinents which on the face of it proposed to itseif the termination of the system of aegro slavery. Now it was important to bear is migd that withont the hearty co-operation of the legislature, actinz on what Mr. Burke emphatically called "the executory principie," it was idle to seek for the termination of the slavery $k y=t-i n$, ualean through the means of the boune Irguslature. 'The woris of Mr. Hurke were worth quotang. "I Isave heard," mathl the, rueahing in 1704 of what the columial Irginfatureelhad dowe, (in relerence to the muprovement of the cunditurn of the negro), "they bave slone litue, and that bitile is rood for mothing, becmuse it does not earry with it the exeentory princlpie." But to peturn, to see low far the culonial cutory princlpie." But to peturn, to see bow far the cubonnal legisfatures earried execnotory poncuple into effuet in relation to tha prsoluifuns of parliannent of IE2t. In the conrse of that year lord Batiurat, as cobionial secretary, cuanuuncated to the crown colonem the wishee, intentions and determisations of parliantent, with a view to their aduptiag wuch intermal regulathons, and effecting such moditication of then exbtong domentic usages, as would atsin the end contomplatud by the mother conntry-namely, the tetal ploblition mf plaveiy, and the conveiting the negro into the condition of a free laborer. In the otheial circular of lord Bathurst it was particularly ptated that it was expected that inamediate steps woald be taken by the lical anthofities towards the abolitwn of the sunday market, and the better abservance of the Sabbath, Far the thdusmons of the evidence of slaves-for tibsir manhinissinn-for sanctoang blave inarciages-for preventing slavea from being esparated trona their fanitied-for the abolition of eorporal punishment at the bands of the master or overseer-and for the eptablimbusint of laves' savings-banks. The ressilutions uf liez3 were followed up by an onder in eouncil in $1 * 24$, which, in adiliturn to theme intentions of the legisiatire, suded the cetablishment ot a protuctor of slavea, sperefied the sight of the negraes to possese property umler certaln conditions, and to deanand bis manamission nomn exrtain terms, pecuniary and of pelice, even aganst the will of his master. How, then, were theser tesolutions of parliameat in $\mid f 33$, back cd by the Itnperative eominamad of an order In ennncil, In 1824, received by the colonial Irgislaturex, Not a coloay, without a single exception, but weornfally rejected them, (hear, hear); not wne colonsy but didsinfuily refused to obey the muggestoons and dethrmination of parliament and the asother country. (Hear.) Well, toattern thes reinamed-that in, the colonial legislathree persisted in setting the voice of parliaisest at drfance, till $1+25$, when Mr. Canning, the subjert having been again bronglit under their consideratiun, ex presseed on the occasion hif deep tegret, and the deepest anxiety, and he, (Mr. Stanley), wunld aild tive deepest lisdignation, at the remissnnaw of the colonial legislaturse, in adopsing the resoleslions of le23, and acting upou the onlrr of conncit in IS24. Mr. Canning, however, dial not adopt a harwh tome, though far from being satisfied with the result of the measures of 1823 and $1 * 21$. Ile dial not eall npon parlamment to imanediately alopt such meaenres as would bring the "eontunnacious opposition" of the colonial Inglstaturns to the test, but thouitht that "a rropite"more thene, ougln to be exterited to them for reconsidoring their proceedinge; and ns a "tewt of their alscerity" to earry the dotermisations of parliamest into effect, be proposed that eertain draughte of bills ahould be sent out to them for their adoption. This ropite Mr. Canniag proposel avowedty as a satent of the sincerity" of the colonial legislatnre previous to eallipg upon parliament for its effrctive aid towards punishing its "costotenatcons opposition." Mr. Cansiag never for a motnent questioned the right of parilameat to thum effectively interfere with the colonles; but merely considered that right as an areanarse imperii-a cosetitntional sanctuary, that alsould only be brought under the publie aye in extreme cames. Parliament arted upon Mr. Canning's suggertions, and accordingly right bills were sent to the colosien to be there legislatively and executively carried Into effert, as so many means to the great end which the innther country hal wo much at heart-The final termination of the eatire ayatem of cologial olavery. W'hat was the result? Not a single colony condescended to adopl a single bill out of tive natore vight, (hear, hear); and the colmaini legislatures raised their voices in lofly indignation at our interference in what they declared to be their exclusive businexs and concern. This took place in 1835: he was then addrensing partiament in 1833 ; and np to that inour neither the voice of friendly expostaIakion nor of authority had prodisced the least alieration in the contumacious conduct of the coloaial legirlatiares-aot a single Etep had beea taken by any of them with a view to the extinetion of negro slavery. (Hear, bear.) Briefly, thea, the account between the eolonies asd the eovernment wtond thus:-

1823-Remolutions of Mr. Canning, which led to lard Bathurnt's circulur: snegenting-

1. Abolition of Sunday markets.
2. Adiniswion of thave evidence.
3. Sanctioning marriage.
4. Abolition of taxes on manumiseion.
5. Prevention of slave separation.
6. Regulation of punislineata.
7. Regulntion of puaidineats.

Stronz vemoantrances from the colonies.
1824-Order in eouncil.

1. Added establishment of protector.
2. Prohilited Sunday labor
3. Allowed flave properiy.
4. Compulsory manuusission.

Recommended to legislature and unanimoualy rejected(llear, hear.)
1826-March Iet. Mr. Canning.
Test of sincerity.
Eight bills sent out aed rejected by all but Nevis.
183-Sir Feorge Murray.

Two circulars-general.
Entirely disregarded-(ilear, hear.)
1830 -Order th counen, speesifing wome points, and declaring others to be neceseary, as daration of tabor, food, elothing, ace. Alwo dieregarded-(Hear, beap.)
Undoubtedly some of the colonies had gone through the form of carrying the oatine of the shavow of soune of the bils into effect; but all bad utudiuusly avoided the subbiance, particularly In that unportant particular, the appointing as a protector of siaves sonse gentlensaa wholly unconnected with ihe colonies, baving no property in slaves, and therefore no interest opposed to their moral and political impruvement; and, in fact, mercly inatituted some parual molificatuons of their own domestic regulations as a mere pretext, by means of which they might elude the real intentions of the legisiature. (Hear, hear.) The whole thing was on the face of it a mockery, an insolent mockery, of the wishes and feeling* of tie mother country. (Hear, hear.) It was true that in one or two of the colonies, as a sulatitute for the effietent office of provector of slaves, there was appointed what was called a "council of proteetion." But Who coastituted that counell? Were they perwons having no interest in the continuance of slavery, because deriving no proIt from it? No, far from it; this "council of proteetim"" of the rights and iaterests of the negro was composed of magistrates (two being a council), themselves the possessors of slaves, and therefore baving n direet unequivocal intereat in the continuance of the present system, and an having this direct and unequivocal Interest, Imbued with all the projudices and sinister Feelinge of slave propriatory. (Hear, hear.) In thus showing the mockery of the wishes and dvtermination of parliament perpetrated by the eolonial iegislatures, he did not mean to slur over the few bencicial regulations whieh one or two of them had made in refereace to sunday markets, and the observance of the Babbath. They did not, however, by any means, even in this letu fulty comply with the expressed wishee of the mather cosatry, but eertainly evineed a readiness to aet upon the opirit of the recommendation rexpecting the Babbath. But how was it with respect to the other recomincadations of the order in council of 162t? It would be evideuily imposstble for him to to through the detaile of all these recommendations-thnugh he was prepared to show that all the culonial legivlaturen had olighted and net at nought the recommendations of parllament, if any gentleman wes anxious to examine the question minutely, eo that he would contine bimself to the more prominent ones-those iavolving some prineiple which might merve as a "test of their sincerity" to promote the views of the mother conntry. He would begin with the recommendation reapecting corporal puntahment. The order in council explicitly lald it down that no slave should recelve more than a eertain amonnt of eorporal punishment ( 39 lashes) in one day; that female bodily puabshment should be abolished altogether, and that a registry of all panishneats, crimes, &e. should be kept by the manter and overseer, to be submitted to the protector of slaven, who was then to make his report to the colonial secretary. How were these recommendations actrd upon by the enlonial legislatures! Here, at least, was a definite and tangible test of their sincerity. Here were recommendations, one of which eapeetaily came recommended by every prineiple and feeling dear to human nature; so that if there existed, on their part, the slightest disposition to co-operate with parliament in tive amelioration of the condition of the negro, here was a graceful oppurtunity. If there was any one recommendation which appealed more than another to the manhood, the humanity, the honor of the colonial legislatures, it surcly was that of the abolition of the eorporal panishment of femate slaves. (Hear, hear.) It wan with a spirit, God knew, not of bitterncss, but of deep regret and sorrow, that he had to state that up to that very hour not a single colony had aboliwhed the practice of the eorporal pronighment of female staves. (Loud cries of "hrar.") In some of them, it was true, certain restrictions had been Imposed, but in those very restrictions the principle of the right and justice of the punishment was dastinctiy recognizrd; and in others, where some regulations respecting the decency of the sex were adopted, the practice was unequiroeally maintalued. Talk of maproving the morial habits of the negro as a incana and ensential condition of his political improvement-talk of developiar and cutturing his moral faculties, in the face of this monstrous abonuination (elieers) -talk of Inducing a halit of respect and reverenee for the laws, of teaching him to behold in bis white mastef a guardian, a tnoral guide, an intrllectual inatruetor, while his wife, danghter, of sister, was at the mere mercy, the wanton eaprice, of some overseer, who might any noment infliet on that wife, daughter, or sister, degrailiug bo dity panishment on ber bare permon (continued chuera)-lalk, be repeated, of their improving the negro as a moral being and as a subject of the laws, while they themselves perpetantpil a practice, the test of harbariwm, of fieree brutal savagery - ithat test which separated the civilized man from the barbarian-the inbuman treatment of wounen (great ehpering)! How could a negro with such degrading and demoraluziog fact staring him in the face, improve as a moral being, and a memtier of political society? (Hear, hear.) The suppoution was a mockery-a cruel insult. (Cheera.) Comnected with the subject of the corporal pantshment of the negrn, he woulh fefor them to the ragniations of the Jamaica legislature. He had rtated that 39 Inslies were the maximum of bodily punizhment that could be Inflieted upon one slave in one day; but what was this without some check or reatraint upon the person who uaglit inflict this re atricted amount of punisbment? They had the evinence of a gentleman (whase name be din not then recollect) who had bewn binneif an overserr, that he "wight inflict 39 thesbes if he liked, merely for looking at him in the lige." (Hear, hear.) Was thas the way to teach the negro th respect the Britishli laws, to prepare him for the namunitics of a Bratish subject Was it thus that the was to be enabled to take his atand amongat the ha.uan ract? Was th thus that lie was (to quote the words of Mr. Canning) to be taught-
"Columque tner
"Jussus, et erretos ad sidera tollere vultun?"
How-liow, he would ask, in the nams of enmman sense and common bumanity, conld it be expected that the moral eye should be trained to the contemplation of moral beantles while the physical cye was datly outraged by the sight of the sulferinga and degradation of their negro fellow-benge? He did not bumself believe that this arbitrary power of iniliethg bodily punishunent ou the negro was wantenly abused by the naaster, but be must deprecate fite very possibility, and still more must the loudty condemn the mockery of redress which was heht ont to slaves who might feel themsetves onjustifiably puaished Was the committee aware of the means which the negro had of redreseling himself if wrongfully punished? He might go betore two anagistrates-not, tark, a protector of slaves, having no property in slaves nor interest in the continuance of the abused of the present sywtem-but two magistrates, themseives slave proprietors, and therefore interwated in punishing slave deliaquency and slave contamacy. If these two disinterested gentlemen agreed that the slave had eatablished his eave, and could subotantiate it before a jary by valid evidence, they permitted lina fortiowith to go before a jury; but ir the slave eoruld not bing forward what these gentiemen conceived to be valid evidence, he was encouragrd to srek for jasilice at the risk of being again fogged if he fatien in lise eviblenee. (Hear, bear.) And this was, in crnet mockery, ealled "the slave's redrwa against the erseltien of his master." Thia was hls encouragewaent to seek for the protection of the law against a slave proprietor! (Loud eries of "hear.'") But even that was not nath. suppose on the other hand, that the slave had extntultahed, by evidenee, a eave of cruelty againyt his master; what was his redresa now in Jamaven? Wilay, lie was sold to some other tender proprietor, and the proceeds were handed over to the eruel master againdt whom he had, at such risk, obtained a verdict. Then, again, with reapeet to negro property, though the order in council of 1824 dintinctly speciffed the right of the slave to enjoy property, under certain defined eircumstances, the several local legnilatures so multiplied restrictions and qualificatione that the order in council, so well Intended and sound in prinelple, was in most of the colonies altogether nugatnry and incflicient. He had forgotten to state that some of the colonies hat facilitated, or rather removed obstacles in the way of nugro marriage; but the regulations on this head were chiefly of a physieal character, and the negro entered the marriage state without being made previously aware of the inomal and religious obligations of the state of wedlock. The next point be would eall their attention to was that of shave evidence, in referenca to which the proceedings of the colonial leginlatures were characterined by the same spurit of seorn and moekery that he had been pointing out in relation to the recominendations and order in conmell of 1823 and 1824 . The order in councll preseribed that the cvidence of slaves shoutd in all enses be adnaissible iu conts of justice, eare being taken, as in the case of infants and persons of imperfect litelleet and education, that the negro (a full grown infant to all praetical intents) should be thorougtily examined, and proved in undervtand the obligation of an eath and the effects of his cvidence, the onus of diaproving his eompetency heing thrown on the party against whom be songht redress. How was thil just and wholvsome rule fullowed by the colonial legislatures? In but two of them (an we underitnod the right honnoable gemieman) was slave evidence admisaitle at all, and In none against his manter, or against a white. (Hear, hear.) Eiven agaisst a fellow-slave a certifieate of a magistrate of a ciergyman, according to circumstances, wat neceasary to his being permitted to give evidence.
Ife had stated that a slave could not give evidence under any circumstances agalnet his maxtrr-(loud cries of "hear")-nor In any capital cave againnt a white man.-(Hear.) Now, in the name of common justice, and omr common nature, how could it be justified that pvidence might be given which wimid bring in argro to the senffohs, and yet refoned ngninat a white man even in a civil ease? Fither the evidence in the firfnef casp wat valid, or it was not. If it was, why should the white mastry be loryond its reach; if it was mot, why should the felluw slave be its vietina? He had etated that, as a general proposition, nu slave cvidebee could tell againet a white man. There was an exeeptim, which, however, but strengisened the rule-a negro's evidence winid be received against a white man in any case in which a white might be alteged to eo-operate as an accomplice with a biack in any fesistance of a master's oppression; but in no other ease save one, involving an attack upon another white, was a slave's cvilence admissitte. Ant this, again, was justice, and teaching the rlave to revercnce the law, and to revere the white man as a moral quide.-(Cheers.) The negro was tanght, and painfully made to feel, that though his evidunce migint hame a brother slave, it conld not affect a white man's pmperty to the extent of a shilling, and yet be was lixeontented with the tender merciew of his white protertor! Wan not the wholesystem, he repeated, a ernel mockery'-(Hear, hear.) The lant point ## on which be wauld comment, in relation to the order in coun

 ells of 1824 , was the uanumbserth of the blave-a princigic which aloue proteeted tim ngainit the effects of dexpar by gid ing the borizon of even of' has blachest birtuned with the brigh lowes of hope, and the expectatou of days of litecdom, ease and findependence. The order to conncil land it dow in that the slave should be entited to demand has manomassion on the payment of a cettain rum to lme ina-ter. In all the colonites, with the homorable exception of tite babaniar, this unter th counctl war very partally effectove; thmgh be adunted in sume af them the fees on utanumbiantur, hat to mune (save the Bahaman) whe tise sthpuiated price practically recoguized, the power and that crebints behg entirely veated with the mater. Ilaving thes briefly touched upon the varuns heants under which the ondera in council of 1824, and the resolutions of parhament in leets ant Iebis, were applind to the Wewt Indian culoniew, be would leave It to the house to judge for itself how far thowe culonies hat thanifested a dirjositiou to carty the winders and determinntion of the mothe country into effeet, confident that there wonbl be lout one oplnion-stancly, that if ever there was a cave which justifed the expscise of the parambunt authonty of parliannint, If was when, as in tie present case, every means of friendly remoustrance and authoritative warning fad been exibausted in vinin. (Hear.) He would there read a pansage bearing on this point from a speech of Mr. Canning, defivered in 1 iv9, in anawer to sir W'illina Young. "T'he lons. baronet contended that the colonial assemblies, and not the Britiah iowase of comannas, were the agents unost proper to be employed. But what was the bous. baronet'm argument? 'Trust not the massers of siaven ill what concerus legislatinn for slavery!-llowever specious theis lawo may appear, depend upon it they thumt be latifectual In their appliention-it is in the nature of thonge that they sloould be ag.' Granted," said Mr. Canning in reply. "Let, thent, the Hitish honse of connuone do their part themselves! Let them not delegate the trust of doing it to those who, accorfling to the tom. baronet's testimony, carinot expente that trust fairly. Let the evils of the slave trade be remedied by an ansembly of freemen, by the governiment uf a free peaple, and not by those whon the hun. baronet representa as utteriy unquatified for the under taking, nat by the maxters of ziaves! Their laws, the hon. barninet had avowed, could never reach, could never cure the evil. so that, according to the hon. baronct's mrgnturnt, if therc lasel even beea no doubt upun the face of the papers upoas the tatite, of the sincere intention of the calooial arsemblics to carry use wishus of this country intu effect-If there hat been wo doubt What the terninatiou of the trade was the object for which the regulations (such as they may be) were intenden-if thern: had been an dowht that there regnlations were, in fuct, caleulated fir the purpose-if the assembly of Jamaica liad profeased as distinctly its anxiety to terminate tine trade, as, in point of fact, It had expreased ita resolution to enntinue it-still, acconling in tife lion. barment's argument, in trust eonid lie reposed in these profesnions and apperarances. There was snmethug in the hatirre of absolute authority in the relation briween master and slave which made dexpotism, in all cases and under all circumstances, an incompetent and masure executur even of its own proviaisns in favor of the objects of it power." Could any language be more applieable, wr sentinnents more appropriate to their present purpose of abmolisiting slavery, than these wards of Mr. Canning in ruference to the aholition of the slave trade? If, in 1999 , Mr. Canning thought partlament jusufied in interfering in its paramount character, aurely the eaperiance of 3 H surceed. ing years did nut invalidate that phomunat anthonity? Ite ilid not pretemin to then enter twinutely of diseuse gravely the constitutionat questitu where the right of pariament to interfere in tite internal regulations of the coshates hagan, or where it terminated. He knew uf no law or boundary line which restricted the united parbament, savy quels as it imposed for the time befing itself; and lue lef it to thase (if such there wure) who held that parliament did wot praseses the paramonat right of interfer ence, to point thit in wbat chater of what colonial ansembly was there an exceptinn to this imperial legislative control-and to shaw by reatons and argument that a delegated antiority conld or sfonid pxered in it - power and privilege the delegating authority th which it owed its exintence. It was true that in 17\%R parliament did formerly restict ltaif in reforence tut the intermal reguiations of such eolnnles as had n coinuial legislature, tht that was not an abandoning of ita paranobilt power wo to interfere, but anspending of ratiser slefegating it under certain expressed conditlons, and for a definite purpose. It did not even then cease to interfere in the tegulations of trade in those eolonies, and on no necawion which cailed for its internat interTerence did thewitate to exerclae its authority. It acted on the prineiple of internal interference in 1700, (aw wo untrratond), when a enmmieston was sent wht to the colouies to try caves uf piracy and robbery on the bigh seas, which commisminh shpernetled all the laral tribonalx, inclusiog their lural legi-laturer, under the penalitea in the event of their altompting to luterfere with the workinit of the eommistion. Then in 1732 a petition was prempented to that linnan from merchants tratlius with Vireinta and Jannaica, complaining that the local lagisiatures of those colonipe liad exempted slaves, houses and other property from expcutions for debt. It would be impossible to cite a case more strungly involviag the prineide of parannount legisiative petition.

The boart of trade tried at first to induce the colonial legislatures thrmselven th abolish these exemptions; but they faithig, ab act was passed the Sth of Geo. 11. which dectared bouses, stavex, Be. to be liathe the wher calonial property, to execotirios fur debt. He felt unwilling to trouble the house by citing infancora of the interference of the mother cwandy in the in ternal allous of the colondes, but cruld nut avoid reterribg them of Masachuserts, in 176is. The ngith hoh. genthenan bere read a passage from the manitesto of Mb. Otis, to the eflect that "the muther conutry powsmaed the nght, and was bound to exercise It, ut Humpinug in the rigulation os all its colmaies and dependencies fir tht: goorl of the whole-that she alane was the judge of the prupriety and thie uf thix thterference-and that trons bes that determimation there was wo appeal." (Hear, hear.) He could uot be charged with having conthed himetil to the prece dents ut Eingland after thid derlaration of an American. But here be thought it right in olserve that many hon, menobers perinitInd themselves to be Ind away by thinassertion freqwenly urged by the more zealous advocates of what was called the planters' interest. It lad been arid by these gentiomant that if the eolonirs hail beet lett alone, mud to theit aw internal goverument, all whuld have gone on suouth and well between the master and the slave-that buth would linve been happy and prosperous, but for the perpetual agitation of the queation of negro miavery iu this country, whieb had no tanted West India property as to zeriousty lower the planter'y profis and thereby tend to the injury of the slave. Now, no man wan more sensible than he was of the depth of distresd in which Went India property was just now placed, as nu man was unore aware of the strone enlure in which that distress had been portiayed by the holderi of that propetty themselves. He did tiot merau to accuse theen representations as belug exaggerated, and highly colored for the occasion, and tiverefore whuid rective the fucture as ther themselves had drawu it, prepared, however, to maintain that it had oo connexion whatrver with the proceedings mi parliament vibee 1-23, to which he had Just called their attention. The right boa. gentieman bere read a statoment put forth by the West India intervat, froin which it appeared that the mass of Went In din propeity was noongazed, and that the mortgagees were afraid to forecluse, lext they plould become, unhappily, themarives juroprietorx of West India property. Now, he rrpeated, be did unt uran to deny the truth of this statement; all that he lirgged to direct the attention of the thuse to wan the period when it was issurd. What then, was that period? Was thas picture drawn of the ptate of the Went limbirs since 1823? Was this a pueture of the state of the colonier since the atolition of the siove trade in IEd7? Waw it a picture of the ruin entailed on the property of the Wrest india planters by the effurte of the abolitiminta in anpprisat the slave trade, and put an etod to tite systom of slavery? Dill it refer in a petionl kubequent to 1823 . No? This picture of untoitgated distress-nf annihilated eredit-of ruinud hopes-and of the inipossibility of continuing the cultivation of the soll, referred in the ltigh and palmy days of the siave trade, and was contained in a repurt of a commoittee of the musc of ausenuliy of Januica, dated November, 1804 . (Hear, liear, liear.) Such was the account given at that time of the condition of the Wiext Indrat colcunits, by the very class of men who now dectared that all their diteresa was owing to out oingle cause-slie fanatienl agitation in the British parfarsent, which threw a taint on their poperty in 1832. (Hear, bear, hear.) Equally strong evidence hail been given before tbe conmittee of the lunase of conmons, proving that the West Indias property had always been liabie to sudden and extreme fluctuathotr; speculations bad been embarked in with the utaiost recklesducns; which had been the cause of the greatemt eubarrasgment to the planters, who acting upon the notion of the necessity of continuing slavery, had only increased their distress by the means which they adopted for theif own relief. It was thought importabit to contume the exportation of sugar, and the convequence wus that the quantity exporied, which in 1803 was $1,430,000 \mathrm{cWI}$. was in 1831 raiked to $3,787,000 \mathrm{cWL}$. One cause of the distress of tive West Indian planters was, that porsesuing the monopuily of tite Fugithomank+t, they had gone beyoud its wantr; aud they could now no longer obtain such a price as would tepay them for the cultivation of their estates. The amnunt of sugar imported at present exceeded the abount of consumption by $1,000,000 \mathrm{cwt}$. annuaily. (Hear, hear.) The comequence of this enommnsex eres of *upply nver the demand wat, that the monopoly was, as respected the planters, a dead tettef; and the price of the produce in thin conthtry was necessalrily reaulated by the price of the anome article in the Furmpran markets. Nothing therefore couid effertually relieve their disfress short of enaldine the consumption of that country to come up to the promince of the colotiles, of of reduchaz the amount of production in the colonics to the numumit of consumption in this country. New soils and new thata had been brought into cultivation, and the conseqnence of this was, that additional expense was thrown on the cuitivators of the old wails. To nueet their engagements, and to enalule tiiem in pay their delits, they were connpellod for the same mimint of tunney to raise a still larger amount of produce. The increaed amount of produce disoinislied the price which the article bore, and, that ruwning contimually in a vicions circle, one embarrawamat led to expedients us give temporary relier, whicl, in the conrre of events had only the effert of dnubling the evil. (Cheercu.) It was not ths inteution to luvr gune intuthls part of the question, but be was fed to notice it in cousequence of the assertion, which waak
so frequently made, that the distress of the planters was the fruit of agtation alone, and not the necessnry result of the state of slavery, and the syntem of cultivation, he would not say adopted willingly by the present proprieton, but forced apon them by eircumstances. But supposing that agitation were the cause and only cavse of the present diatress among the Weat Indian proprictors, be turned round agaln and anked "where is your reinedy?" It was very well to say "we will exclude from the island all knowledge of what passes elscwhere," but he would tell them that they could not do that. (Hear, hear.) They could not pre. vent the voice of the conntry being heard within the walls of that houre; they could not prevelit the drbaten within those walls from being read througlout the country; they could not prevent the report of those drhates spreading far and wide; they could not prevent the knowledge of what was golng on in this couniry froun reaching the colomies thenselver, and from penetrating into the minds of the slaven, aggravated hy the incautions conuments and larguage which they fornd applied to those dehates. If, thereforn, they wished to stop this agitation, and put an end to this dingur, their noly course was to advance. (Ciscels.) They must remove the cause of agitation and of complaint, the votee of which was now heard, and would continue to be heard as long as the bouse of commons did imt, in urcurdance witli the whots af the conutry, take decided and effectual meanures for declating that the sywiem of slavery should cease. (Checra.) If he whould be twid that the eourse he was taking was visafe, and that, indeed, there was in course he could pursue which was not full of danger to the coloniep and this comniry, he would reply, that of all the dangerons plans that could be adopted, the most bikely to entail riin and deatruetion on the colonirs and the moniter country, was the system, now happily inpracticalite of standing still at the present juncture, instead of at once acting Eearlewely and decidediy. (Cheern.) This was not the only cane tot which the best mode of avoiding difirultiek was boldty to face and srapple whth them, and in which a timid attempt to mlirum from the dauger they were afraid to mert, ann uppaited to Jouk at, only agzravated the reality of that danger, nud render.d it suposeible for them wuccessfully to cope with it. (Cheers.) Va. rious objections had been raised ngainst any precipitate and hasty aneasure; indced, against the taking of any strpa for the converalon of the slave population into a population of freemen. In the Arrt plare, it waw naid that the effert of any suet mearure would be grantly to diminish the amonnt of production, anul to render the cultivation of shgnr imprarticable. The colonien woutd enneequently be thrown nu, hud the planters involved it abonlute rain. Now, an far as the ansunt of the produrtion of eugar was concernull, hr was not certain that it woulst not be for the bemefit of the planters and the colonivs in the end, if that pornduction, were in pome drgrce diminished. But the question for the members of that house to eousider was, whether, looking at the stateinents which he sionulil have the hounr tolay thefore them-and lie phould state farts anil hagrea which conld not be denied-they woubl encourage apN plipport a system by which this extent and amount of production wha kept up.
He would cautiously abstain, as far as the nature of the cane allowed-at leact sucts was his intention-froin using any irritating expressions, or of availing himecif of any popatiar topic of declamation, his object being to have this queation dehberatety and calmly diecassed, ratiser than ta excite the feotingwon of the bouse by statemernts of individual cases, which would prejudice the geveral question, and ondy tud in an aerimonlous docussion; and be tusted that every gentleman who folIowed him in the dehate would mu far do justice to the subject under consideration an to aintata from quotize individual casez. (IJear, hear.) But it was his duty to lay before the house papere with respect to the production of sugar, the tabor exacted to purnduce it, and its cffeet on the poppulation, which he believed would produce such a strong inpression as to induce the house tin believe that the time was sow come when, for the sake of hunanity alone, they ought to step in for the purporee of limiting aud rugulating the extent to which the slave waspat prossent calted on to laliof. (Itrar, hear.) He held in his luand a comparative stavuent, whit refermbee to six Weat India colonies, showing the dsereasen or incruase of the slave pophiation, and the atnonnt of the production of sugar within thope islauds daring thic saus permon, The necount was extractrol from an offeial matemeut in the triennal registry, nad was, therefore, opern to tuo objection on the score of inaccuracy. Aitowance was made in it for every importation and exportation, and for every manumission; ti gave the apparent, nud alvo the real inereare and dverrave, during threc periods of three y yars-name-and from June 1429 to Junc $18 \% 2$; and likewine the average amnunt of the slave population and of the production of angar during the same pertods. He ought, however, to state, that with respect to the iast period all the returua had not yet been made. He found by this document that, with two exceptions, and even they bare out the mtatement-ill all thove lefands there had bern a eradual increase in the proiluction of sugar, and a corresponiling gradual decrease in the anount of the laboring population.
(Hear, hear.) (llem, hear.)
In the island of Jamaien the average gnanity of sugar anubally exported was, for the firmt period $1,338,448 \mathrm{cwt}$. for the second, $1,300,576 \mathrm{cwl}$. and for the third, $1,410, \mathrm{em} 2 \mathrm{c} \mathrm{cwt}$. The nembiber of the ulave population was, during the firnt periont, bet in the third period had not yot been completed. The island of Demarara afforded a frightful proof of the desiructive effecta which the amount of labor coupelled from the plaves had on the poptiation. In that island the quantity of sugar exported dnring the threc periods was, respectively, 052,336 cwt. 662,655 cwt and ly decreased, during the Faine periods. In the first the number was 72,7es; in the second, 71,005; and in the third only 67,741. (Hear, hear.) Thus in the last period 67,741 blaves produced 806,120 ewt. of sugar, while in the first 72,723 slaves were required to produce $609,336 \mathrm{ewt}$. (Hear.) In Bertice the slave population amounted in the first period to 22,074 in the veeond to 21,246 , and in the third it had iffcrensed to 90,831 ; while the exportation of ruzar during the corresponding pesiodi amounted in $38,655 \mathrm{cwt} 64,.230 \mathrm{cwi}$ and $94,312 \mathrm{cwl}$. showing a frightfut inerease in the production coinpared with the ampor fulinerease in the production coingared $w$ ith the amount of the papulation. (tlear, licar.) The account with rerpect to gt. Lucia, slowed a sinilar reanlt. The number of the population the first period was 13,909; during the second, 13,260 ; and during the third. 13,687; while the amount of sugar exportsd was, during the firmt period, $77,976 \mathrm{cwh}$. during the second, $87,410 \mathrm{cwt}$ and during the third, 88,7i8 cwt. In these four islands, therefure, ilue amount of the negro population had falIen, while the amount uf productiou had grue un continually incleasing. (Hear.) He had mentioned that there were two ex ceptioliz, and there wese the Islands of Trinidal and Barbadoes. In the fistiner there had been a tritling Increase in the population as well as in the amnunt of produetion; but it must be taken into consideration that therm was a great hufux of free inborers in to this inlaud from the Spanish uain. With respect to Barbadoew, the amnunt of mugar expoited during the first period was, $300,795 \mathrm{cw}$. and during the secoud $299,456 \mathrm{cwt}$ while the population wan thring the sane pr-finds rezpeetively 79,848 and 81,347. He ticrefure conseived that he had proved ay plainly as could te thase ly figuies, that whenever thre was a forced increase in the profuritath if हugar, whether occasioned by the distresm of the planters, or by any other cause, it was neecosatiIy attended by a paerifier of haman life, and a diminution of the slave population. (llear, hrar.) the could not luelpt reathing another statenent with rospect to Demarara, which placed in a more atriking view thr (righthit ffect which this furced increase in the prodtection inad on human life. The statement to which he altuded poiuted out the age, quallyy and sirength af the slaves, on whom this groal inortality had fallen. He might perhapa be cold that the decrense which had take日 place in the slave poptsIation was the uot yet-recovvred-from effret of the stoppage of the slave trade. Hut lie foumul in this documient that there was a decrease lin the number of chilifren under ten years of age, whicb enuld only be accounted lor in one way-the Increarerd intor and dimiushed productiveness of the paremte. As conspared with 1817, there was a decrease in the number of slaves tinder the age of 40 , of $23,6-4$ : and between the nges of 30 and 40, the tine at which labor was most arvere, the presint popuIation, as compared with ins nullumt in the same yenr, lad experienced a diminution of 11,65$)^{\text {; }}$, white, on the other hand, an shereate had takrn place in the number of the Elaves, who had paked that mic, and were convidered unequal to any great labor. Ite dind not thiok that he nored add any thiteg to this statemeni, (hear, hrar), but if it were necesfary for himi to do oo he could refer to returns, whiell had been earefuliy cxamined, and which shawed the decrrase of pophlation on catile farms to be 2 per eent. atming tunatached slaves, if per cent. on coffee farmas, 3 1-10 perp cent. ant oll sugar planiailons $5!$ per cent. (Ifear, hear.) On cotion plumatusis there had beeti no deerease, but an increase of 16.10 per ernt.
Hte had now shown that increased production was accompanied by decreased populatum: that the deereane of poputation fill heavirst all those clases from whom the reverest himor was exacted; and lie lad now only to show the mote in which this Itabor was exacted by the incresispal severity; the recorded pusnimhmets in Demarara were 17,359 , tho number of alaves heing 60,599 . In 1830, the numher of Hlavea had deerrased to 59,547 while the number of punishments bad increased to 18,324 , and the number nf tankes inflicted in that year wan no less than 194,744. In IR31, the population had ethl further deerensed ta 58,404 , but the punishments hat increared to 21,658 , and the number of lashes amounted in 199,507 . (Ilear, hear.) Now let the house bear in mind, that this was the official record of punishment, not Includug the punistoment inflicted by judicial authority; or on reference to magistrates, becanse there existed no return of this iatter mont, hat inflietrd in one of the crown eoIonies, undrr the improved system, and ander the check of the record. (Ilear, hear.) II was a rettra given by the masters of the slaves them"elves, of the eximt of sle,putic and irresponsibie punirliment, inflirted by their own authnrity, anountiag in one to almont 200.000 inalics. (llear, hear.) Withent depiring to implute any conefly to the plantry, lie called on the hususe to convider what tunst the the numant of unrecordel phtishomrint what the estent of burmiressed Injustice, and of lifter npgres. wion; and lu- wos mare that the house wonhl not refake to interfore, and to interposp its supreme anthority betwern the oppies. sion of the plavea and what Mr. Canulime called "the absiract love of the cart whip." (Hear, lienr.) They were told that it Woult he tippos, thip, neder aity wher system, to render klaven Iuduntrious; thus, all therr legsiation proceeded on a mistaken notion; that they knew not the condition of the eolonies, and that they were absolutcly iguorant of what those gendlemen pleased to eall the "negrn character." Ile eonscientinusly belleved that any uan who close to take the paino of iufornatug himself upon the sulject, might form a better and elearer idea, beeause a more unprrjuatiped one, ot the "nugio character," than those men who hal paseed their lives in the West latics. (Il-ar, hear.) The latter insividuals made tha palpable inistake; they attributed th the ebaracter of the negro tinse faults whicb necessarity resulted from the moral degradation of slavery. Ite believed that it might be proved, that the aegro under proper inducements, would be found neither levis inclined to be induatrious or to accumulate property than thase whose Int it was to wear a fairer skin. (Hear, hear.) lint they were told with an air of triumphi, to loak at the manumitted migro; and they were asked to pownt out, if they could, twenty instances of manumitted slaves engaged in field Inhor. In reply to this objection he would ask anotier question; and he eallod upan these objectons to produce him twenty instances of field laborers who had been manumitted. (Hear, hear.) The fact was, that the manuinitted slaves mostly belonged to nne claws, and that not the class of field laborers. Within a period of ten yeare, commencing in 1817, there had been 14,163 slaves manumitted, and hardly an instance could be produced of a field negro amoug the number. (IInar, hear.) Two-thirds, if not three-fonrthw, were femaies, a fact which spoke for itself; for it was not dilficult to understand to what clam offemaies they beionged, and what intucement the planters bad to likerate them an well an thrir children. (Itear, hear.) If it could be proved the manumnswions occurred only among domestic slavea, mechanics and tradesmen, It was not extrandinary that no cave could bo discovered of Uveir applying themselves immediately on their manumission to the, monst drgraditig and fatiguing oceupation of field labur. (Hear.) The fact of the case, then, dessirnyed the inference wheh was souglit to be drawn from it. (Hear, hear.) If an Instance was showa of a mnninitited Held siave who wnuld nut work, he showa of a manininitted fild siave who wnuld nit work, he would then adant that a prima facia cave wan mane out by thime who asserted the incapmetty of the negro for fruedom; but if this argument was gond for any thing-if it was to be conmidered conclusive, it was as argument ngainst the abolition of slavery within any definite period-not merely within the acxt 10 year but within the nest 100 years. (Clievers.)

It was shid that the slaven were at present unfit for freedom, becanmen they had un donnestic tien, and no habnts of industuy; and that they wruid be stterly ruined of thrown of the world to act for themselves. Continise them, then, il was sand, in a ntate of slavery uith they were fit for liberiy. His auswer was, that they wrould be kept in a state of unfimess; that they would be debarred from aequiring industrions habits and the ties of fainily; and they would be told that they must on threse accounts remain in a state of slavery. (llear, hear.) It was also said hiat they were untitted for a participation in the blessinge of literty becanse tisey had no education, no religious feeling, but wern ignorant and brutal. If this charge was just, oo whom did the guilt falt? (Hear, hear.) Wbo was to hane that the pegro was still ignorant, if no he was, and that lie lacked industrinus babite? Was it not tbose who regarded hom from the chiddhond to the grave, and from generation to qumeration, as a mere laboring ammal, who took to paine to cultivate his mind and ratse his moral feelings; nay, more, (and be spoke it to the shane of a Christian age and a jurofessediy (Wristian country), who were permitted to deprive the negro of the means of relicious instruction, because they feared it was ineompatibie with the maintenance of a state of slavery. (Hear, hear.) But assuming that religious invtruction was inconsistent with the continuance of slavery, would that holise shut out the light of gospel trutt, and suffe education on purpose that at afl hazards and at all risks the system of slavery might be preserved? (Cheers.) Ile believed that from the state of mont of the colosies belonging to nther countries thry might draw a lesson of deep censure to themselves. In the Ciatholic colonies the greatest attention had been paid by the pricsthood to the religious instruction and education of the slaves. In some of these colonien it was a regulation that no man should be at liberty to keep a dave, ualess lie couid prove that he had taken pains to instruct him in the principtes of the Catholic religion. Had any meh syntem prevalled in the Engitith colonies. (Hear, hear.) He had no wish to touch on any point of an irritatung nature, nor to refer farther to the obstacles which had been pilt in the way of the apread of religions inctruction in the calonien; but thas he would sny, that that house would ill diseharge its duty if it dif not put firtio its antioritative declaration, that thmoginust all the poaspessions of his majesty the bencfit of reiginats intstruction, and the free cloice of religinus wornhip, shonid be lef undisputed to all elasses of the king's sulyerts. (C'iseers.) In contradiction of the asaertion that the habits of voluntary inIn enntradiction of the asoprtion that thegro, he hegzed to refor to dastry were ienied by nature to the negro, he togzed to roftr to the evidence given before the commitre hy Mr. Lovell, himgelf a man of enlor, and originally, he theliered, a slave. [The reght honorable gentleman here read a sloort extract from the evidence of Mr. Lavell, to the effivel, that a number of liberated Hegroes in Antizua had worked for themselvea with great indastry, had acenmulated some little property, and purchased dwelling houmes.] Ile would alsn appeal in support of his argument in the experience of a gallant adairat in that house, who knew, from perwoial observation, that frep lator in Babnma, bad been attended with a sinuilarly good resuit. Dismisaing $\mathrm{st}_{\text {. Domingo from his comsitheration, the cause he did not }}$ think, when the pentlar situatinn of that island war looked to, arising out of the revolutions whisch occuired in that place, it coulil be fairly taken into the argument, thoogh be could atate inat sugar was cultivated to a great extent even there; he would tate to the bouse then only practical example which the world afforded of the eavancipation of a slave popalation effected on a large scale, and with counparatively entire success. Since the plan of goverument had been before the cuaniry, he had had an opportunity of conversing with the viee president of the repubic of Venezuela, who had been a protector of slaves in the Cwraccas, on the subject; and he learned from that gentleman that in Ie21, Bolivar having determined on ablopting a general syetrm of eunancipation, a council was formed of perwons of high atation, to purchase, according to a tarifi of value, the freedom of siaven out of funds raised from a tax on the property of peronlis dying interiate. They firat of all tiberated those who thad borne armin in the canse of their country, nest the aged and decrepid, and afterwards they preforred such as were remarkable for industrinus and moral habits. In 1821 there was 100,000 slaves in Venezuela, and at the present motnent there were only 25,000 . The effrect of the manumission, he was told, had been momet happy. Tlie freed slaves were industrions and felt in degradation in aswociating with those who had not yet gained their liberty; while on the part of those there was mo Jealousy, because they filt that their hour of freedom was approaeling uurely, though pertaps slowly. The freed slaves had in reluctance to engage in agricultural employment; and the conarquence was, that the agiculture of the country was in. crrasing in prosperity every day. He wat also Informed that allgar eane which befure was not cultivated, was now produced ingreat alruntance; and that rum was exported to the neighboring Blands, and to the British possessions of Trinidad, and entd In the Trinidad maiket, under the name of the best Jamaiea rum. (llear, hear.) Having stated what he conceived to be the circumminnces under which the question was now placedthe eircumstances wbich rendered it imponsible for th to stand still, and which alco made it impossible for us to proceed onwarit: without Incurriuz some danger, the events which lad rocently taken plape in the colonies, the facts as they stood recorded in their official docuunents, the repugnance of the eolonial legislaturen th take any effectual measures, and the nocessity which exixted for parliament's proceeding cautiously and gradually, hat firmiy amil reanlutely, to the complete and final attaintnent of the one great object which the coantry now had at heart-he meant the ultmate extinction of coloaial sto-very-having stated all this he would bow proceed to lay before the cominiltee the means by which, is his opinion the great trausition from slavery to freednm tmight be effected with the most certainty and the least danger. He would prefnee the ptatement which he wat zoing to make by observing that the rote to which be whould call opon the bouse to come that eveting, wnilid ant, of necespity Iead any member to acpuiesce in aht the detail of the plan which it would be his daty fortiswith to submit to their consideration. Those details would sketeh the ontline of the proposal which it was now his businese to make in the house, but which in its fature progress weuld be susceptible of much modification and amendment. He held, that in a plan of thls kind, embracing objects so important and so varbous, there was an absolnte impossibility that any government could devise a measure which in ail its parte showid be onex-ceptionable-which should not be liable to many great and grave objections, and which should not he capable of receiving mawy amandmenta from the advocates of the different Interesta which would be affected by It. He thought that by subtnitting it to their calm and dispassinnate consideration, and by endeavoring to reconcile the conflicting interests and claims to which it was likely to give rise, they would be enabled to accomplish the tallowed object of extingatshing slavery in every country which owed ailegiance to the British crown. The honorable member for Weymouth, in the year 1823, had made a proposal to thie effeet-that, after a period to be limited by law, the children of afl slaves borm in the British plantations should be declared free. That was the extent to which the proposal of the honofable member for Weymouth then went. He stated that that was all he wanted, that he asked for nothing more-that it would be the consummation, the full consummation, of all his wishes. He had even gone so far as to declare that that proposal, If carried, would secure the speedy extinction of slavery. The memorable expression which the honorable member for Weymnuth had then employed, was this: "I call apon you not to mback, but to abstain from going forward-call upon yot not to retrace your alpps, but not to advance them-I call upon you to make no firther slavea, and I demand that every child, herpafter born of slave parents in any part of the British domainions, should lur entitied, from the hour of lis birth, to all the rights and privileges of a fremoan." Now, to the eatire and fall extrnt of what the honorable member for Weymouth, in the year 1823, declared to be the conaummation of his wishes, his majesty's gnvernment were now prepared to go (hear, hear) but ander certain limitations, which they had devised to avoid the danger which was no less distinetly than eloquently pninted out by Mr. Canaing, is the apeech which he delivered on this question in the year 1822. Mr. Canning argued-"What! will yiu consent to place the futnre generation in a pitation so much more enviable than that in which yon place the present guneration? Will ynu consent to elevate the child by the degradation of the parent? Will you, as it were, invert the feeling which ought to substst between tbe parent and the child, by saying that the child whali be entitied to its freedom from the hour of its birth, but that the parent shall be condernned te the hour of his death to a state of hopeless, Irremediable, Irretriev able slavery?" The house on that occanlon, felt the force of the argument which Mr. Canniug addressed in It , and left both parent and child in the sanie degraded and degrading state of pin very. He (Mr. Stanley) trusted that the luase would alsn feel the force of that argument now, but in a different point of view. He trusted that it wontel feet that it was not safe to stand still, ether for the pregent of future generntinn (hear, hear); and that it would say to the planters, "you inust not only deelare the ehuldren born hereatier of mave parcents to be free, you inast alme mannent the existing grecration." ('ibecrs.) But while be would in this mauner provide fruedun for the existing genera-tion-white he would thas provide that the young negro Ehould be born a freeman, and that the old negro should not feel him self condemined to the horrurs of irretrievathe slavery-lie would not at once, hy one hasty act of legistation, remove all the backies by which the slave was at prewent bound. He wouth not fing him from a state of unretieved and unmitigated alave. ry into a state of absolute and unrestricted freedom, for wheh his past hahats and his past feelings had resdered lim totally unnt. Hut in saying this, did he mean to say that the slaven were to remain un they now were liot $1,3,5$ or 10 years, and that then they shonld be free unconditionality and withnut reserve? Perlaps fie might see more danger in that courme than other epatiemen did; bat certainly as at present advised, he was not inclined to adopt it, for he thought that a period in whieh the slave was left in such an undefined, unlimited and uncertain condition, would be a period of ansious Irritation to all partiee-that it would be a period of great excitemept, and pro bably of much danger, above alt, that it would be a periond of untaitigated antinotity on the part of the master, and of deterintned and Irreaponsible disobedience on the part of the slave. (Crien of hear bear.) He proposed wlat he considered to be a niddle, and, therefore, a safer course, which, while it got rid at one swonp of all the restrictions whith had been woven by the enlonial trgislatures to fetter the rights whieh they professed in give, would leave the nrgro at liberty to benefit hy the exertion of his own taleuts and his own industry-would give him an incentive to regularity and assiduity, and would afford him an opportunity of forming thoze habita of frugat labor, of which at present he stand much in need. He proposed that evury negro should from that day-or periape he nupht to have said from the day In which this aet should he passed-be entitied fortiwith to claim to be put in oueh a shtuation as would entitie him hereaner to elaita all the righte and privilegen of a freeman-a eituation in which he would no Innger bear about flim any taint of a eervile eondition-in which he wuuld be released from all dread of irresponsibte corporal punishment-in which he would be in the fulf eajoyment of all hbs demestic ties and comforts-in which be would not he eompetled to see his nearest and deareat connexions inusited hy the whip, or hy the tireat of the whipin which his evidence wnuld be recelved in all cousta of justice, either for or against his employer, as freely as that of any of hia majesty ${ }^{\text {º m anbjects - in which his right to properiy, acquired or }}$ bequeathed, would be foll and ondizputed-in which he would enjoy every privilege of a freeman, subject only to this restriction, that he should be under a contract to labor for a certain time industriourly fir bia preaent nwner, whin would then nnly be his employer. (Hear, hear.) Perlape it would be as well for him (Mr. Stanley) to meet here the oljection-"HIow will $y^{0 r}$ deal with the mnititudinous restricilons with which the colnalal lepislature has fettered the slave?'3 He wnuld nweep away all those restrictions at onee by deciaring the negro a freeman. From the moment he was declared a freeman, the restrictions which applied in him as a slave would cease to apply to him in his eapacity of a freeman. The negro, bring no longer a slave, would be entitled to contract marriage-his evidence would bee Indiepotable-hils right in property wonld be admitted-he would be enthled to seek the religious instructor be liked best-and, in a worn, ne he (Mr. Stanley) had sald before, he wonld enjoy every privilegr of a freeman, upon the condition of consenting to labor for a given the upos a partientar soit.

He enuld not belleve that if the maiter merely stood thus, this proposition could be ennsidered such an infraction on the freedom of tabor an would hold out a tempiation, even to the sturdiest advocate of ungualified ramancipation, th hesitate in giving his assent to the boon of freedom, coupled as it was with these reatrictinas; for any man in common reflection must see, that under thin syotem slavery must in a frw yearn vanish from the king's dominions. He calird upon the liouse to contrant the condition of the agrieultnral tabores in thin enuntry with the enndition in which the negrolalorer would be placed under thie new syatem. In Figgand the agricultural laborer worked hard for a pittance which, God knew, was seanty enough; he wan diatracted with carra for the sulsistemce of hia wife and family; he labored diligently and thardly, In order to rarn a anm whieth was barely suflelent in provide him with fond and elothlng. Now what was the condition in whieh the resolutions which the beld in hia hand would place the negrn laborer? He whuld be made to enter inth a eontract, by which his master would be bound to give him fond and clothing, and atheh allowanees $h_{x}$ were now made th him ly taw, or to give him in tien thermit a pecuniary allowance. For this mamideration he would be ealied apon to work for his manter three-fourths of his time, leaving It tn be settled between them whether that should be for three-fourths of the week of of each day. The remaining fourtio of his time he woutd be at liberty to transfer hia labor, if he so thonght fit, elsewhere; but if be were inclined to give it to his master, his master would be obliged to find bian employment accordiug th a fixed raie of wages. One of the great difficutios which environed this quention was, how they were th fix the ecale of wazes for free tahor?? Huw could auy man in thes country fix a rate of wages which would be applicable-he would uet say to all the inlabeds, lat-to any two of then? Could the thouse say that it would flug this question loose to the world-that it would leave the negrin in wonk or no, as hr plraaed, and to watinfy thimself, as a man carity could in a tropical clumate, with a bare supply of the necessaries of life? In mane of the salands it miglat be difficult to notasn even that; but in thoae whete the quantity of lanll unoccupied was as great as the fertility whiel diathigulabed $\mathrm{it}_{\mathrm{t}}$ the wants of men liviug in a tropicat climate wonld bet wet few, that it would be tuipossible, under a aymein of lire and nurcstrieled wages, that the state of soclety, at it now exated, plould not couse to an entire cexsation. (Hear, hear.) But is had hevn asked, whether the wages so given would be a sufficient imalucement to the megro in the preselt statt to give himself up to continunus labor lor so many yearx? Now he had already told the house that he did not give the stightest eredit in what he in often heard anid about the negro eharaeter; bat he did give eredit to what he hat heard about the shave character. He knew, ton, the effect of a tropieal eli-mate-he wha aware how tar il went to damp exertion and to paralype activity-but he likewise knew thn effect of slavery, and Ihat it wan caleniated to promote thas idea, that as the greatest of homau earses was labor, so the height of human blise was relaxation from labop. To romave the stave suddenly from tabor, and in place him in a situation in which he would be catled to provilite for nothing mure that the necesaaries of Iffe, would be to extiliguith lator-would be to extluguish civi-tization-In a word, would be to filing brfore the negro poputation the desire in recur again to savage life. He contended that some reatrictionn in that measure were necensary, not only for the security of the master, but also for the welfare of the mlave. (Hear, bear.)

Ile appealed boldiy to the house, and arked honnrable members whether there was any thing unreasmable in such a stipuIallon as that whieh he had juwt described-a atipulation which led gradaally, hut certaialy, mowly it might lue, bits still surely, to the uniertrieted freedom inf the slave. (Hear, hear.) Then he had been asked bow was tilis scrate of wages to be fixed? This was undoubtedty a point of some diticulty, as there was mo eriterios by whieh to settie it . Refer the question to the planters, and they would say that the rate of wages should be according in the ontlay in procuring for them the necessary articles of frod and elothing But that he denied to be a true eriterion; and yet nm had ao free Inbor to compare slave labor whith, of to regulate lis prices by. (Imoaical cheers.) The noble lord eheered; but he should be obliged to the nolite Inrd th point ont to him whrre free lator existed In our Weat Indta colnuies, and, when he had pointed it out, to prove lts existence. He, (Mr. Stanley), was convinced that at present there was not that demand for free labor In any of our slave colonies which could form any certain regulator for the amount of wages which ouglt to be paid to a free negro. He could devise an better minde than that of compeling the planier to fix a price on the laboret at the time of his apprenticeship, and by enacting that the wagen to be paid hy the master, slouid bear such a proportion th the price fixed by him that for the whole of his spare time, if given to the masier, the negro should recelve 1-12uh of his priee annually. In this way the inaster and the siave woutd both art in reference to each nther. If the master fired a higt price for his negro, be would have in pay thim high wages in proportion to that price. Ir he 6xed a low price, thrn, upon the payment of that price by any other persen on this belalf, the negro would the positively and abonlutely free.
The proposal, then, whleh he had to make to the hase was chat the apprentieed laborcr should give up to his nwner, 3-4tha of the profits of lis latior, in ennsideration of the fond and clothing which he received from him; that he should be at llherty, If the en thonght fit, to give I-4th of his labor elsewhere; but that if he gave $1 t$ his inaster, whose interrst it would be to receive It, he should receive for it an amount of wages proporional th the price art upon it ly his master. The government had therefire divided the price for his frecedom into mo many inctahament that at the end of tweive years all the priee pat on the atave by the master would be paid to the ananter ont of the procueds of the slave"s industry. (Hear, hear.) In what eondition, then, was It that the planter stond at the moment? Ile obtained fur the next 12 years threp-fonrthe of the labor whieh he now poswrased in the slave frmm the appreniliced laborer; for the remaining fonrth be womid, if he employed it, have in pay certain wagrs. Ile might not choose to employ lt; but then, if auch was his determination, he lost the tabor of his apprentice, and if nobody rlae engaged it, the was bowad in law to make the lors good. Under these eircmmstances, he pet it to the house whether it was not strictiv in neder to allude bere to The toas which this alteration whuld nceasicn in many of the Weat india proprietary. Waa It fiting that upon them and upon them alone ahould be thrown the loas accruing from the deatruction of a species of property Into the legality of which he would not at that moment enter, but of whieh he would say that it liad been repentedty shnetioned by the Imperial legisfature? It was execedingly diffienlt, in the preaent eondition of Werst India property, to get any safe etiterion by which in jugge of ith value. He knew an instance of an estate which mortgage of a sum between $£ 4,000$ and $£ 6,000$. Nonne ycars ato there was a tuortgage of $£ 10,000$ upon it which bad been ago there was a tinortgage of $£ 10,000$ upon It, which bad been dianinished by payments out of the rents of the estase to the sum he had just mentioned. The house would scarcely eredit him when be told them that that very entates lad recently been soid for asm which would be covered by the proceeds of the firit year from it.
He adaitted that the insecurity of West India property had had a great and palpable ettect upon the exchangeable value of It in the mousy nasket, and that whea Wiest India property was brought there now, it was at a deprectation truly frightiul. Now, let the liouse look for a moanent at the profit derived at present from West India property; and on this point be was speaking from the returis al West ladian property w the board of trade. On examining those returns, the bouse would find the nett profita atising fron the sale of augars. The planters load told the house the cost uf raising a loggwiead of sngar, the number of logssiseads which shey inported asnually, and the pice of each hogwhead, as avectrtained by the Gazette. Now, fronn these dath, it would appear that the nett protts arising from the cultivat$t$ ion of augars was $\sum 1,200,000$ a ycar. The lumse liad unt equal data for calculating the meit protisu upan rim and coffee; but Laking theus to amsiant to $\boldsymbol{i}+250,000$ or $£ 300,000$ a year, the total nett profitsof $\mathbf{W}^{\prime}$. India property would ansount to $\mathcal{E} 1,500,000$ a year. Now, his majenty's mumbters proposed to alvance to the West India body a loas to the ansount of ten years' purehase of thas anuual pinfit, or la other words a loan of $i t 5,000,000$. If would reualin as a question with parliaueut in what manner and upon what condition that losin phould be repaid to the country. It would also remain with parliament tu conmider whether it would require the repartuent af that loan, or would convert it into a gith, according to a plan whech it might herenfter become his duty tu subuit briefly to the house. Jarliansent wight consider that sum equal to one-fourth of the proceeds of the slave's labor, and with that sun, and the other three-fourths of hus labor, he would at the end if twelve years have received a Just conponsation for the piice of his nluve, and for all the exjrease to which the slave might ltave put lius for food and clothang.
It was ouly right, however, wate, that aluring that time the plabter would taves to pay interest upum his Jonit, and to that anowunt lue uight perlongas be conshlutrid a loar r. Now, lie thought that it would unt be denad that thas reomumeration nust be borne either by the froduce of uegto labor ur by the revenue of Eingland. It could uot be borne by the planters, for that would beither be fair nor juat; it munt, thercfore, be borne tay one of Uhe two alternatives tu when he load already alluded. Ejoan one or othes of them, lneyond all question, the chosec of parliamicat manst rest. There might tw gentleuen who thought that you ought not to take auy thing from the pratits of the negro so jong an Je contiaucd a slave. In that opsinion the could uot concur. Ife thonght that takimz a portion of their wages from thein now, for the jurgovse of purchasing their freedum bereafter, would induce then to lay by sotue part of their earnings afterwards when they becane free, would teach them halvis of pru. deoce and forethouzht, and would materially tend to their sioral improvemeut. He thonglit sueh a pian much brtter than sayIng to them, ${ }^{4}$ You shall work three-fourths of the day for your master, and your asaster's advantage; but for the remaining fourth, which belongs to you, you may work or not as you please, for in eislow care food and clothing will be provided for you." He belisved that lie had atated, in as much detail as was then necesary, the principal features of his plan with, perhaps, one single exception. That caception was, that it might be accessary to add to the provisious of the bill that of which the want lad rendered all foruser enactacinis null and void-he meant tbat it might be necessary to give to the exrcutive some dircretinnary power. It inight be necessary to distribute through the ehartered colonies what already existed in the crown colosiednamely, supendiary magistrates appointed by the crown, uninfiluenced by the local asoevublies-frce from local passions and prejndices-who would alischarge equal justice to the rich and the porr, the black and the white-who would watch over and proteet the argro in his inclpient state of freedoin, and who would aid and alirect bis inexperience In forming a eontract whels might lave so material an effect upon his future life.

There was one other object to which be thought that the proteeting care of chis country ought inout specially to be catended. He would call upon the lnuse to ald the Incal legisiatures, or even to prnceed without the aid of local legislatures, in egtablishing in the coloniee schools for the reifgious and moral education uf their inhabitants. (Ilear, hear.) They were now going to ennanelpate: the odl negro upon certain conditions, after the tapse of a evrtain fixed pesind of time; liut they were also going to canabespate the young uegro immediately, and without any conditions. (Ilaar.) From the prest it moment, then, conlipued Mr. Etanley, your reaponsihilaty begins. Into their ininda you must inuplant wholesonue princopals as the basls of wholesome liabita. Son ace placing them in the rank of frecmen, it Is your ilusy to qualify thean for luolding that rank honarabig, Is your alusy to qualify them for lushing that rank honarably, virtuousty aud heureficially. You are houtnd not to throw theni upon the world lupressod with the bleva loat the lot of man is labor from him rfatle to bis graver, aud that lie must die wath no other houpe and with no oubre consolation than that lie has come to the cnd of a weary and lalmarinus pilgrimage. (Clieers.) Iou must embue thein withsuch principles as will pristre the performance of their duty here-as will teach them the necessity of moral restraint to accure thelr happiness hereafter-as will in-atil into them the purest motive of action-as will ft then for freedom in thas world, and as will enable them to beave th, aot as the brutes, who perish wathout hope of imanortality, (Hear, Itear, hear.) I heve now gone through the details of the proposituon which his majesty's govermuent had deemed it thetr duty to subnit to your conpideration. I know the dibiculties, the almost insurmountable difticultiee, which It will have to encounter in carrylng it Into practice. I know the dieadvantages under which I bring it forward at this partisular vantages under which I bring it forward at this particuia crintr; but I still bring it forward, in the confidebt hope, that in these resclutions the germ te sown which will soon ripen iate perfect fruit, whieh, when matured hy the fostering care and protection of pervous wiser and better quallifed than mypelf, will secure to the country, to the colonies, and to all ranka and clasers and colors of his majesty's subjecte, that from thin day forth there will be a virtual extuctian, in the dominions of Britain, of all the horrors of slavery; and that iu no distant period, by nos uncertain operation, but by tbe action of this machinery every trace which mars the face of freedom will be erased and blotted for ever from our laws aud institutions. (Great cheering.) There are Lusee who first suarted this anghty quertion, and broached ita god-like principles, who have not lived to see the triauph which is reacrved fur it in these days. They labored In their gencration strenuously and vigorously for that fultinient which we are aow about to accomplish-they were satisfied with the foundation which it was their fortune to lay, and they trusted that it would be strong enough to support the gioriuss superstructure which is now about to be reared upon it. lilke the proplicts of old, they bailed the day star from on bigh, and exulted in that prospect, which they saw dirough a giase darkly, and not as we do, face to face. It is not however, without feelings of the deepert and mopt licartfelt satufaction that I recall to your recollection the fact that one man, the most religiuusly inspired, the unat cunscientiously influebced of all who labored iu the dawn and the rising of this grest and glorious cause-W Wherforce (ercat cheering) still remains to withess the fnal consumasation of that important triumph to which hies earty energies were devoted, and to exclaim, like the last of the propluets to whonn I have before alluded, "Lord, now let thy servant depart in peace." (Great cheering.)

1 have now naly to offer to the bouse my humble spology for laving detanned them so long on this sulyject. I will conclade, after thanking thrm once more for the patient attention with which they have Iistened, by expressing my suncere and earmest hope that the coumsels of the house, under God's gracious Providence, will be so guided and directed, that England nayy now, a wecond time, Be;t to the world the briglit and giorious example of a comnuereval nation loolding commercial advantages light in the balance when compared with the dictates of hauanity, and funtiens and religisin-that we may see the extinction of siavery gradually and safely, but completely and entirely accompliaheds and that by unoderation of language, and reconciliation of conflecting opinions, we may be induced to forgrit the extreme Wialiew we may have formued on either side, and thus show to the world the proud exanuple of a deliberative assernbly vindicating ite character for moderation and decision in the line which it adopts-a line which, in any conscience, I belseve to be thomorable to the nation to which this asembly belongs, snd which 1 consider it the surest pledge of the succensful tsoue of the enperimunt on which we are now abont to enter-(great cheerimig.) 'The right lonorable gensleman then moved the eeries of resolutions which appeared io our paper of Saturdsy last.
Mr. Stanley tlien said, that he was too well aware of the ifsprortance of these resolutions to call upon the honase to come to a hasty decirion upon them. It had been with the greatest reluctance that he, as a meuther of the government, bed been oliliged to aunounce to the West India interest that he coubl not accede tu their proposition to defer the etatement which he had Just made beyond to night, but after the publieity which had been given to this plan in sll the public jourmals, he fels that it was almost impossible not to let the government bave an opportunity of miating the grounds apos which it bad gone, and the principles on which it had proceeded. Having made his statement, he had no wish to rall upon the house firf an tma mediate vote: on the contrary, if any gentieman should propoee that further tima be given for their decision be sbould have no objectiot to the proposal.

Lord Hourick, after some prollmisary remserks, in which he referred to bis painful situation in being enmpelled to atate an opinion adverse to the plan, expresped his views of the euhject and said that the resolution wbich purported to glve to the alave the eascntials of freedom, was an attempt to dispe the house with words. He then commented upon the distinction betwcen the slave in his present, and the apprentice in bis hature condition, and thought that as it was made compulsory urpona lim to work thrae-fourtiss of the time for his mater, he wruld still remain, to that extent at least, a slave. Ile alse adverted to the provision respectitng corporal punishment, aed was of opinion that merely restrieting the number of lashes that might be luflicted, wanld not better the situation of the alave, for, as in Demarara, whit wns dininished is number, would be increaped in intensity. There were many otlver topics discussed by his lordship, and he wat down amidst loud cheerng.

Sir Robert Prel, Iosd Alisorp, Mr. Buxton. Mr. Stewart and sir R. Vyvian, made rcmarks on the subject, but they prineipelIy related to the period to which the farther consideration of the subject should be postponed, which was Sxed for May the 30 hh .

Foumth smizs. No. 18-Vol. VIII.] BALTIMORE, JUNE 29, 1833. [Vol. XLAV. Wbole No. 1,1s6.

THE PAET-THE PREAENT-TOR THE TUTUZE.

$10-$ The present number contains twenty-four pageseight extra being alled to get-in judge Baldwin's opinion, without interfering with the usual run of matter. In the present want of exciting' subjects, we shall endeavor to give value to this work by the record of useful things.

30 -The article concerning the introduction of slavery into the British colonies, presented on behalf of the West India committec, sitting in London, is highly interesting. John Bull was once pleased to regard slaves as "merchandise." He muoh encouraged a trade in men-but now abuses those who hold the juroperty which he forced on their fathers, calling them bad names, and so forth.

00-Our latest aecounts left the president at Boaton, so mueb indisposed, that, on Monday last, it was thought neeessary to bleed him freely, and prohibit the entrance of all persons into his chamber, except his immediate attendants; but it was hoped, on Tuesday, that he might leave his apartment on the following day. The fatigue and axeitement to which be had beell expased were too mueh for him-indeed, it was hardly to have been expeeted that he could have kept up so long. Those immediately about him should insist upon his being placed more at his ease. It is not a triblug matter to pass through the various cervmonies, and dense erowds of persons, which attend the president in his tour.
The reeeption at Boston was consiatent with the general character of the people of that city. It was neither aproarious nor syeophantic-nor did it partake of that rule party exelusiveness which has disgraced some other places; anll it seems that the presilent was delighted with the manly and kind tokens of reqpeet that were paid him, so long as lie eould partake of thein. As was predicted, he will leave New England with new feelings-and be aseured that political opposition has no effeet upon the people of that country in their respect for the chief magistrate of the nation-nor the least influence over that courjesy which is due to distinguished visiters.

The presinlent was too ill to witness the docking of the Constitution frigate-abough he earneztly desired it.

Ting shayz exastiox. We have intended, several times, to notice the proeecdings of the "nullifiers," in their wieked attempt to cause a new exeitement in the south, on aceount of the slaves-as though some deliberate plans laad been laid in the north to unsettle their property in them; for which purpose they have carnestly seizell upos the anost trixial circumatanec:-atal, because of the mets of a few intemperate intiviluals, desire to make another "caleulation of the value of the union!" We have laid aside a variety of papers ous this suthject, and, perhaps, shall use some of them-to shew the miserable shifts to which theme desperate meu are rednced to maintain notoriety, and keep theraselves from sinking altogether from the piblic view: for they well know that, for several reasons, tue whole south is alíve to every question eoneerning negin slavery-annl, on that intecest, may be rallied into an united action, if fearful of the interference of tire north. Hut, inkeprenikent of a rrgart for eonr atitational prineiplea, it is unaifestly the pecuniary integeaf of the morth that slavery shonlbl wot lue listurfied in the south-and if the "Yankecs" are as merreenary as the mullifiers have describel them to be, there is in poasible ground to suspeet any movenvent ill the north, on this subject. It is true, that mimose every reflerting person on this sinle of "Mason mutl Dixon's live," regmerls slavery an a mighty evil, a great curse-as noany tens of thom sands on the oflier side of tant line rgayd it-but they av universally leclieve that there is ma righti in thein to merldie in this matter, and that the entire jurimatietion over the case rests with the several staten, individually.

We have not time to enlarge on this suliject, just now $\rightarrow$ and would only refer our readers to judge Balchwin's opinlon, and the deolsion of a Pennoylvania jury, in the case of a fugitive slave-and the correapondence between Mesara. Bollon and Webster, inserted in subscquent pages.

Tis cholers. We continue our melancholy notices of the progress of this extraordinary disease-but with as much brevity at is consistent with a general record of ite fearful and fatal doings.
Phlaburgh. The sanitary board announced 3 cases of cholers, at Pistoburgh, in their ruport of June 22. It was smpposed they would all prove fatal. No new casea had been reported. [The Gazette of the 25 th mentions 4 or 5 deaths-its which, perhaps, the three cases just above mentioned are inclevied, and saysThe hospital report, dated Mouday morming, 9 o'clock, states that no case of cholera asphysia had been presented there during the last 24 hours.
Wheeling. The cholera had nearly dinappeared from this place, at tha latest aceounts.
Kentucky. The cholert seems to have nearly abated in most of the towas of this atata in which it appeared, after committing terrible ravages in some of them.
It is computed that abuut 350 persons died of this disease at Lexingtos, only-the antire pupulatiou of which was ouly about 4,000 at the time of Its desolation, 2,000 having fied. Anong thowe who perished were many of the most reapectable people, male and female. Indeed, in this city it seetned to pay no regard to age, sez or condition. Our latest date is of tha 1phband the einolera ie spotien of as having neariy disappeared. Is had carried of $$ 3$ prrsone in thu Iunatic asylum, and, its one instance, ten others of one family.
The P. E. bishop of Kentucky, aad Mr. Peers, president of the Transylvania univernity, and the theological students, exerted Hhenselves maafully as lexington, in attending upon the sick.
A leiter from Sherburae's Mills, dated June 15, says, "T'here is great excitement here about cbolera. Many purwons fled to tha mountains, aud lef their erops and every thing standing, shonid the axcilement not cware in a weok, the crupt will not be cut. Ficuningsburg has suffored greatly, Indeed there has beea is town and vicinity mear fifly deuthe since sunday morn. ingi there has been as noany as twele deaths in one taunly of onty fourteen persous."
Georgetown has suffered severoly. Afer a few cases at Wincleeter, the towa was ararly abanduned. One care at Mount Sterfing. There were 10 deatles out of 11 eases at Millersbergbecause that the physicians thed from the place. Fredericksburg and Bpringfild have been visited. Ylesuingaburg had suffered aneh, as well an Lawrenceburg, with stauford, parte of the Green River conmtry, ke. In the village of Eliza, in Fleuning country, where there are near a hundred houses, there was not a single liviag woul to be fousd, and three dead bodies were In ? anburied.
Extraet of a letter from a genllenam th Mayerille, Ky. datel the 1 shi.
"Whe have just returned from the country, where we have been since the first inat. The stores are still shut, and not more than one-tenth of the Inhatitanta la town. We are among the first in. The cholera bor raging through the country-there had buen sevpral deaths around us. It hope the disease has len our citywe have aot had one case to day. Your famulies within a stone'd thriw or us, lost nineteen in two or three days."
At Bardstown the disease was awfully fatai-itn one family of 16, there were 9 deatha -seven colosed and two of the gentiaman's children. It wan sometume before persons could be found whe had conarage to inter thin dead. The sisters of charity, attached in the Nuzareth and Loresto atations, hastemed to atiend the alck, and one of thein died a martyr. The rev. Wm. Byrnes, principal of St. Mary 's erminary, dird after Thours illness.
There is a report that 3 cases happeucd at Frankfort, on the 2 mh .
Ohio. Daring the week endiaz the $\mathbf{3 5 h}$, there were 15 deaths In Cincianalit but we have mit heard of asy eince. A few cases had bappened at Nieubewville, but the Itcalth of the towa was fully reatured.

II is said shat II deatha took piare in Gallipolis in one day? Allubuma. A few cases lave appesred at Mobile and Monepomerty, de.
Tewnestee. The cholora had mearly censed at Nashvilie, but was epreanting through the country, and expectally fintal to the Alavrs. There had beell 34 deaths In Pulanki, and this buall tow"I was abandoned-all the stores closed, ace. The disenae whencilve as Mrimphis. Five conviets died in the prnitentiary. - Misissipph. Mally persons, ehiefly colored, were dying at Natehez, and in tis vicinily-siso at Port Gibson, and there were yet a few canes at Vickoborg, and at Jackeos.
-Two of the physicians had died, and the other two were aot expected to live-ut the last accounts.

Vol XLIV-bin. 19.

Loulislana．In the firat six days in luwe，there were 179 in－ serments in the Cathotic burying grouud，and 34 im the Protest－ ant－total 211，at New Orfeans．The esceas ia the former is pantiatiy acenunted for is the grater cheapness of graves．－itwo dollars，only，being charged，whereas in the latter ans are de－ manded．Une report of the deatis on the 7th is 59 ；another tL ． On the $10 \mathrm{th}-71$－from the Isi in the Itth，isclasive， 565 ．
Oe the sth there was a favorable change of the weathor，and ncw canes of cheleru lese nuaverows．Anovg the deatha was that of the rev．Mr．Hull，the Episcopal minister．The＂Bulle－ tiis＂of the lish ppeaks of the diseave as beiag on the decline， and reports 35 deaths．This in the tateat date that we have．

The grtueral population of New Orleans is from 40 to 45,000 － bus many ut the tuleabiante liad left their tomes．The chutera has been chiefly fatal，this spason，to emigrasta aed slaves．

A leiter from Mobile dased June 14 ，saye－＂The clolera is raging in $\mathrm{N}+\mathrm{w}$ Orieans，and in attended with more malignancy wad fatalisy than it ever was，in any known part of the giote， not evrn exerming the junglea of Indin．No premonitory aymptonse attend the diepase．Tlue firet warning a man has， who may be in prifect health，is，that be is dying．A man，a frw days sisce，actually died standing up：he felt faint aad un－ welt，rrached a fence，wlich be granped，and then died，hie hauds crumped to the rails，which beld liten up aner death．
Fatal caups have appeared at New Iberia，Nartinsvilie，in the parisher of St．Mary，Lafayette，and Rapidew．At some places， the crops had been abandoned，great numbers of the slaves having died．Bus the disease，here has generally ylelded to medi－ eise，if properiy attended to．Ia the parishof isa Pourche fate－ rieure，one planter lopt 23 out of bis $$ 00$ negroes－others have lost one haff，some a third，k．e．The cropi of these will sleo euffry．

Missouri．Mr．Buckner，of the apnite of the U．States，and Ms wife，have died of the cholera ia Cape Girardeate connty with wa⿱亠䒑e of bin slaves．Tivere were other deatho ta the aeigh－ borhnod．
A $\mathrm{st}_{4}$ ．Louis paper of Juse 8，says－Wish the deepest regret we announce the sudden drath by cholera of Mr．Jotm New－ man，alloriney at law，of this place．The decesued was yester－ day walking ta the street，and this moraing，between 7 and 8 ＇clock，he was a corpse．
The disease was anbeiding at Palnyyra．
Canada．One of the rigid quarantine regulations adopted nt Quebec，provides that the coscratment of stcitness on bosid of vessela，or giving falge answers on that head，shall befolony， pumshable whh death，witinut besefit of elency．

Cuba．The Bnoton Gazeste of Baturday given the following extract of a lester dated Matanaza，June Sth．
＂You can have no idea of the gloon that prevalts here in eon－ sequence of that dreadful scourge，the choiert．Is the cities it has nearly crased，but in the country its path is marked with desolatioa and rain．Oa as estate having 100 shaves，every soul perished．Aamher with 60 lost 55 ．A blave ahip lately landed 400 miserable wretches，of whon all hut three died．Bight ne－ groes were taken dows on an entate $10 /$ minies from this towna，a fow dnye ago．The proprietor，Mr．\＆．an Eaglishman，an old arquannance of mime，iminediately came to thwe to mor house． Ilts aervant was tiken down after be git in，and died in the yard under my wiadow．The ofd gwilieman resimraed to his eatne the day bufore yesterday，where the found 38 ，out of 69 ， dead．He was immediately aeixed bimself，when a black bry was despatehed to ts with a mote stating that his manter was dyiag．The boy had acarcely delivered the note，when be stag－ gered，fell on the firor，and in a few hours wast in enrpae．Tine ofd geasicman is dead and the ertate enturely deserted．Thin is a picture of many other entates．＂
A postacript to a letter frosin Havana of the oth inet．states that the government had then resolved to suapend the granung of cleat bitls of heath．
A teurr from Havana，under date of Ilth isastant，gtates that the cholers to still prevailing in that eity，and in again makiar dreadful ravages at Guanebacou，abuut two leaguen distatit．In the lower grouseds and along the rivers，both in that vicinity and Matanzas，the colored popalation were aatd to be literally seve－ of down．

Me．Wenntan partook of a pablie dinner at Cinein－ nation the $19 t \mathrm{~h}$ inst．and，on bring eomplimented in the 6th toast，delivered a squech－a copy of the report of which may be expected in the next Rkeistin，with a re－ gular acoount of the procecelings on that ocension．All parties united to honer the dintinguisheal visiter，mand all reem to have been highly gratified with him．In the course of his remark s，Mre．Webster feelingly stated，that the health of the country and the lateness of the season， with the earnest remonstraners of his friends，had im－ posed on him the necessity of proceeding no further at present；but declared his Intentim，at a future day，to penetrate the grent Mississippi，and make himself well aequainted with the west，$x$ e． $\mathrm{On}^{2}$ the $20 \mathrm{~h}, \mathrm{Mr}$ ．W． started on hia retura homewnid．

Mn．Wirri．We mueh regret to learn，that $E$ ．D． White，esq．one of the representatives of Inmisiana in the last congress of the United States，atd who was a pas－ aenger in the theambont Lioness，with Mr．Johnsten，and othere－hes died of his wounds．He，also，wis a most worthy and emeelleat gentleman．

Blace Hawx and his party lef New York，some days ago，on their return home，via the Hudson river，the canal and lake Errie to Detroit，and theove to the resi－ dence of thelr tribe beyond the Mississippi．They will， no doubt，make an imposing report to their hrethren of the hundreds of thousauds of jerrenss who shall have pre－ sented theruaclves to their view，and of the many strange things which they have seen in their journey．The run－ nings after the chief and his party，by vast numbers of persons－must not have a little surpised these savages： but the Ameriean people are greai lovers of＂sights＂－ and mighty fond of seeing，and being seen，in huge masses －no matter on what occasion．Even a hanging－mateh has brought $\mathbf{2 0}$ or 30,000 of them together！It is said， that some men ran the risk of being trampled under the borses＇feet，at New York，that they might＂toush the hem of the garment＂of the president－and added，that several of the lades of that city，admiring the noble forta and handsome face of young Blavk Hawt，warmily kissed him！Thut was，indeed，sufficieatly near＂going the whole！${ }^{\text {n }}$

On the artival of Blaek Hawk at Athany，in the steam－ boat，thousande rushed to the river to reseive him！The press was so great that be could not land for an hour！ At last，he doffed his blanket，and was smuggled on shore，and paseed tlirough the solid mass，without being reeognized！The chief＇and his party were immediately sent off on the rail rowd，to relieve them from the int－ mense crowd of noisy persons who desired in shake hands with him，or lay hold of his blanket！Sueh things are not very ereditable to our people．

A series of articles culled＂Randolphiana＂has lately had a great run through the papers，and we meet with the following in the New York Gazette－

Blackhankiana．One day last week after our＂＇red brethren＂had risen from a dinner table to which they bad been invited，they retired to an anti－room to seek repose． Among the grnilemen prescint was one who riquest－ ed an introduction，for the purpose of having a religious conversation with the sons of the forest．Young tiaw $k$ ， sometimes called Tommy liawk，had just thrown him－ self on a sofa，when the object of the visiter was mate known to hins through the interperter．He smiled，and anying，＂I lazee－／lazee，＂－covered his lueal with a blanket，and fell aslerp．

Thn xew tanity．From the Rallimore Gazette．The Bontom Conmercial Gazette，in speaking of Mr．Clay＇s adjustment of the tariff question，says that it＂has given new lffe to the manufacturing interest．Instead of being a dcalli－blow to the nasufacturers，it has induced them tn enlarge their plane of opration in every direction．＂If this be the fact，it is evident that Mr．Clay could not have forescen the operations of his own bill，since he intro－ duecll it with relmetance，and merily as an ulternative to the utter deatruction of the mannfacturing interest．Nor could it have been understood by Messra Niles and Ca－ rey，who would not so riolentiy have depreested any meannre tending to＂give new life to the manuiacturing interest．＂

Of－TMe＂Boston Gazette＂was，always，severely anti－ tarif．It is trie，that，at prisent，many of the old mann－ faeluring establishments are in full operation and doing a fair busineso－but not many new ones are making，and we do know that a large number of the manufacturers are looking to a stoppoge of their wheels，at a future day－eapectally the makets of iron；nulu－ns in a grestly reduced price for wages．Prcsent prospeets may be changed．A thorough＂reform＂in England would do rauch to helpu us．If the working people there lived an ours do live，and，we hope，alwayn wilt live，we sloculd not feel algrmed at the idea of inaking liheral exchanges with them．But God forbid that the freemen of the United Stajes shall be reduced to paupers，to uphold the threry of＂free trade＂－wlich，when the term is ased by Eng－ Inthrmen，st supported by their practiee，is as muperta－ tively impuikent as weandalously folve．It bs as If Ned Girymw，of the 2t Charlen，or Mfother Jerdan，of the present th W＇illiam，of England（fruitfal mothers of dukes and other lord-" "Corinthian capitals of society !") had teetured bourling seliool wisses, hot yet in their teens, on the beautics of clastity!

The taniey law. It serms that "the enemy" has been put "at fauld" by the treasury construction whish follows:
A sumple of goods nade of doubled and twintel worsted yarn, ruanulactured into a stout twilleol eloth, resemisling kersey, having been forwarted to the eomptroller of thic trensury for his decision as to what rate nit duty it should bear, the following ilecision has leen receiven.
'T'reasury ilepartiurwt, comptroller's office. Jthe 1i, 1833.
Sir: 1 liave receivel varur letter of the 4 th inst. ruclos. ing one from the pulbic apurainers, secompanienl thy a sample of a coarse article with hlack stripes in it, said in be compused entirely of worstell yarn, in relation to theduty pay ahle on which, a ynestion, it appears, has aris'n.

Ever since worstell shatif gools hase, hy law, been placed at a lnwef rate of luty thant other manufavtures nf wool, it has tuiformly leen decinted that the term was to be enusidered as embraciong only such articles as lonel in the known contnercial sense, anid in the usage of trade, aequired the ilisintet appedlation of worsted stuff gondsnamely, bombacetts, caltumancoes, wildbores, sloulloons, &c.

I do not eousinler the artiele in question, as coming under that denonination. Respectinly, Jos. Anukusos, complecoller.

Jumes .N: Barker, exq.

The treasnry constructions have cansed a gond deal of grumblitig anolig certain inuputers. Take the fullowlug as a specineen:

> Fyon the Journal of Commerce.

Iam satipfed, Messres. Editofs, that the inpourting merehants in the Cuited states will feel mueli nbiged to the treanary department, as sone as it is prestively knowa that they have fieished claanging the constustion of the tariff acts. Every week do we twar of sume new decisinn, some new ennatruction, and ermen arw. lutripretatum of the intentinnon of comgres, keeping the mercantile comununity, or thume umasdialry liter eated, in a sate of aghatiom and uncettanaty, as to the rate of duty on aby particular naticle. I prestune every one is owarf, that the trea,ury department can ouly laterpirt the law aud then intent of the framere; emsequently when congress tlvelarea that after a certain petiod certain artaclen shath pay sult rates of duty an they may doem propme, and dunue time alter the treasury departiment decides that articles hitherto classed onder a differ ent rate, were intended by congress to come under a per eent age of duty mare favorable than they were previnusly, 1 do contend, that the brnetit of a reductuou uf dmy should estend in these articles from the time of tur approval ur pasinge ut the acta of enngreas makiag these reductions, and nut fom the date of the treanery circular, onme 6 of 8 minthen after mnnouncing that the drpartment has dreided it was tive intent of enngrees that the articles were to be admitted to entry it a different rate of duty than herrtofore, which may be moure 15 or 90 per cent. less than the huporters liad bern paying irrmin the passnge of the acte until the date of a treasury circular with differcht insituethous.
A recent citcular fomm tim trensury decides that under the tarif aet of 141 h July, 1 N 38 , whifh was to gointe effret offer the 4 th March, 1833, linen camburies and hautkereliefa thall pay but 15 per cent dnty, Instead of 25 per cent. which has nntil some time lart month heen ebargrit on the article. Why wad thla ennstruction ant given in tibur, ith noder that thim deacription of gmoder might be ptaceal in the chatom house stores prien to the 4 th of Mareh, for the setwrn disis? Or why will not the department give actlers at this time in the entieciofe to have a recurn duly nllowed? I had on hand (and have now) before the 4th March, a large int of linen cambries which the trearury lias deelided were honeatly enitiod to $n$ redurtion of 10 perceins. dury; yet au atheh decision was not marde sill after the tine pre. serilied for depositing merrhandier for return duty wiblin the enatom honee stores, I ain in be deharred of the actual intenlinne of congresp. Prav, whose fanti was it? Burely not mine; nand yet 1 nurn triffer for it, 3 any neighibor can anw impart the article, and by reaenn of paying a laek duty, enn-ifimmbly mider sell me. Itud-r att thrap rireuustaners, I canunt but be. Heve that the eolitringe will he instrncied to refund tha differeaec of duly on thio and anch other aticles au wern entilifd in a reduction on the 4th March, but owing in a drlay in fixing the concurtion ur tha law, were not deposiud in the custom house ptores at that time.

Coppes. We have scen an elahnrate culculation pmhlished to prove that the atinual consumption of coffee in the Uuitull Stutes is nonely-ove millions of pontuds a year. The maker of this euleulationt, protimbly, has a consillerable quantity of the articlem found!

Official documents sloould be preferred-when to be obtanted! It is true, they the mos, in all cases, present perfect farts; bat they wre the herse evidences that ean be ofiereal; ansi, in the unamee before us, must be regardeel as pretly cloce apponsituatims to the "whole truth." The treasary tatheo for the three last gears have the following mggoxates:

Iapporstel-llua.
1830
$31,4 \times 8,2+x$
$18: 1$
S1, 757,366
1832
$41,722,3 \div 9$
224,967,903
Exported-lbs.
$13,124,561$.
6,056,6\%9
$55,251,158$
74, $132,3+8$

Deduct exports
74, 4.32.sis
$3,1541,535,615$

Avrrage 5:3,179,5:38\}

And so the actual anmas consumption is 50 millions of ponals, or $$ 1$ uiltions leas than the calculated eonsuraption.

But-it may be sald tiat great allowances should be mate becausce of smughing. Some small parcels wite smuggled when the tinty was 5 cents per lb - -hut the quantily was not then large. L., IS31 the sluly was only two centes, in 1832 , reduced to or e ecot, and now no dinty is payable. In 18.3 and 1832, the inducement to smugkle was not equal to the riok, and the amount illegally introduced had no sensible rffect on the qutantity consumed. We therefore think that from 50 to 55 inillions of pounds is fully equal to the consumption of the Unitesl Siatea.
It niay le well hiere to remark, that the thity on coffiee has tox hasl any seewing eftiet on its price-and, of enurse, no great infitence over it s consumption. In 18\%0, "21 anll \%22, the dnty wan 5 ectis, und the average price 97 cents; lut in 1829, '30, the suty being the sanes, the average price was 124 eents. In 18,31 , the sluty being two ernts, the priee was $12 \frac{1}{2}$ cents: in duly 18.92, duty one cent, price 13 cents at present, Joly 1838 , frre of chuty, and the average price of all the qutalities about 13 cents So that now, when threre is no dinty, the price is $\frac{1}{2}$ cent per Ib. tmore than it was in 1829, '30, when the duty was 5 cents.
"Fuve thane!"" We have omitted to mention, that, on the 14th ult. carl Finzwilliant offered a resolution in the British loonse of loris, with a view of mollifying the conk Laws, which was taken up, and negatived withoud a division. So mueh far "relorm"-and to "relieve comneree of its shackles!"

But sonse free trrede is going on. Jonathan smuggles a few hutulred dollars worth of 10 bueco into Ireland, in return for the millions worth of Fauglish grode which John Bull snuggles through the Ainerien custom-houses, and otherwies; and it is said, that British cotton laee to the value of more that a miltion of pounds serling, is anaygled into France-and a million's worth of French silks smuggled thto Euglanal. Here is the "quid pro que."

Valeable impaitatioss! It haston often happened, that, just after the armal at this port of a shiji laden with pansengers from Germany, unaty of our citizens weve worriedl into an ill-lumor by the sireamsof heggars which beset them. Twenly, or more, have often applied to us, int one day, for wenuiary ain-w hiech, though quite as nuch aechstomed to furnish an ally of our heiglobors, has been univy rally reliusell in such vases, as a protest againat the practice, and because of a s.rinus belief that the encouragenicht of it , in one inslance, was the fruifful parent of odiers, haluling out inducemvits fir fresh eargoes of beggers. Fiur we have known meveral enses in which pers sons were seeking charity, firm honse to luase, in rexular sucerssion, who had on hanif couvinlerable quantities of gold! --anf are elcarly of opinion, that the success of one party of mell skgradet and ungenerous beinge, has invitesl etherss intee the sume vicinus conthuct. But in the last wesk there arrivid in Raltiture 800 or $\mathbf{1 , 0 0 0}$ Ger-math-lurulthy nuil chom mat wril oforlord permons, eviivnuty of the " luhoting vlasses, hut wanifestly sober and deeceit annl industrions individuals. It is not easy to pluce a money-value on mell cougrath These are inen and wortent to "make the withlern ess hilunsom as the rose." being generaliy in the prime of tile-and they will make rapid additions, and, in a geometrival ratio, to the population and wealth of our cuuntry-to which we bid them a hearty welcome.

A powerful emigration is going on from Germany and, in the present year, we are told that it cousists of the valuable classes, of whieh those present are specimens. We have rcceived several eargots of ןassengers in the present week-and others are expected.

Paonection of sugan. Louisian has a soil sufficicut, south of 30 deg. 40 min. north latitude, to yiehil 300,000 hogsheads of sugar, of $1,000 \mathrm{lbs}$ earh, and (of course) 40 gallous nolasest to ench bogsheat. Were scasons reguPar, as mosh nasy be prodinced in South Carolina, the Floridas, Alabama and tieorgia, and ere long the somh west may furnish 500,000 or 600,000 hogsherails. Ifit whilst rice and cotton commanal mose renumeoting prices, this estinate catuot be realized. We speak ouly of capability.

Supposing us to extract from a suituble soil laif a million of hogslicats we five and a lialf cents per porumb, thry woulal yielit $$ 27,500,(001)$ two-fifths to be deolumetal fer cost of production. Then andil the amount of forty gallons molasses per hogsliemul, or $2,000,000$ gullons, at twent $y$-three eents per gullon- $$ 160,000$.

As it is, the exports of lonimiana prombee, of ull hinuls, exceed those of South Carulina, who bowsts of her eight millions. Let us labar, thrn, to alevelope ons resourees Sugar is now very scaree in this marhet, ant in great dematid.
[1: $\mathbf{0}$. Dullein.
Nappine 日ats by atgay. The inveution ol man appears to have no bouuls, since Fulting tiscoverval the utility, and applied to the purposes of navigution the power of stcain, the improvenicuts that have heen maske in the arts and sciences are alinost inervdible. We steppeal into a lat manufnetory a few days since, and were surprised and gratificd to see is sucecesfin! and admirabile operation wew patent insehine for uapping hats, earried on by steam. The beauty anll superiority of the work is admitted by all who exanine it. On inquiring wherefore hats napped in this mauner are prefirable to others, we were informed that it required extremely liot watev to bring the ariele to perfection, aml that this is accomplished much better through the agency of steam than in any other manner, it having been avcertainel that steain applied in this way is five times as loot as boiling wnter.
(Philad. Inq.
Thk mer not. The Hulson frigate, which was built in 1896 , and which has nade but one cruise, is dreayyed to such an extett that she is not worth repuiring.

The discovery and adoption of a cheap, safe and efficncious preventive of rot, would save millions to both England and the United States.
 ald of Saturday, furnishes the following interesting information:

Pursuant to a previous agreement, the presillents of the two grent companies, respectively accompninied liy a committee of the directors, assembleal in this eits un Wednesday last, for the purpose of carrying into iffert the arrangement entered into some time since for the passege of the rail road around the Point of Rocks, &c. atul it gives us great pleasure to state that the best jossible feelinga prevailed on the oceasion, both purties manifesting a desire beartily to co-operate to promote nutual interests. The arrangetuents which have been entered into have not been fully communicatell to us; but we have been assured that all obstacles which heretofore prevented the prosecution of the works have been removed beyond the possibility of collision. Sincervely do we cougratulate the public upon this lesirable ressitt, and liope that the liberal spirit which has been manifested, may add to the eaergies of both companies, and that all purivate feelings may be merged in a desire to promote the pullie good.

Ufica amp Senexzetaptimail moan. The folloning are the sams subseribed at the respective places at whichi the books wert opened for the capital stock of this cumspany. The aggregste execeds, it will be perveived, fourteen nillions of dollars!

45,276,000

New York

Scheneetarly

- 1,541,500
$$ 14,374,600$
[The capital of the company is ouly two miltions.]
Bostos. Three rail roals are now making from this eity, mid will, very soon, be completed-to wit:

T's Provinlence 40 miles; to Worcester 43 miles; to Inwrill 25 miles.

These rualls pass through or lead to certain of the most pupulous and importunt ןarts of the state; and may be regarikd as mighty labor-saving machines.

Panekvgenn. On Suutay evening and on Monday, no less than 1,922 , masengers artived trom forvigu Iorts, at the New lork yuarmitine ground.

Tha misaroxantis. The r-lease of Mesars. Woreester and Buttler, by the governor of Georgia, appears likeIf to ercate: mueh excitement it that state, and to beeome a leading question in the ensuing eontest for governor, on the purt of the "Wroup regublicans" mgainst the ocher requalicians.

Amentan nankenw. We have before us a beatiful specimen of Americnan nankeen, matle from nankeen ooloted cotton, raised loy Mr. F'orsy th, of Georgia. The nankecn enthin was first raiserl in the south, eight or ten years ago, but wan not then thought inuel of -as is the case with all uew articles, it whs with diffienlis that persons conlal be founal to 15 y it. Mr. Forsy th has persevered until lue lias twen able to indsee the mannfacturers to work up the raw material, nud thus luting the article fairly into market. The sprecimen before un, a piree of seven :arvis, is really beautiful; sonuew hat slarker colored thais the India atticle, and minch supurior to the miseamble initationn from the Finglish lomn and dye shopa. It being of the natural color of the conton, it dors not fade lyy wrar and washing; and we are informell that Mr. Fop sj th thinks the strongest mineral acids will not extract the color. This inay be correet, but all vegetable eolors slisappear unler the action of ehlorine-anit we shall take an cearly oppmertuity to test the fastuess of the color of this article by the use of the elblorine, and other clsemical agents. Mr. Nathaniel $\mathcal{F}$. Williams, merchant of this city, agent for the sule of the uankren, to whom we are indebterl for an mportunity of exansining it, irforms us that a friend of his harl aecidentilly got a large spot of ink on new pair of pantalions, which he considered had spoiled them. Mr. W. advimed him to apply a litule lemon juice and salt to the spot, and ex pose it to the sun, which was done, the ink cxtreted, and the color of the eloth remaimel unchanged.

We have thouglit it inpmortant to the interests of the southern cotion planters, liat a kunw lealge of the value of this nankeen cotton eloth shumbll be ilisseruisated, as the manufacture of sunkeen will add to the consumption of the raw matcrial. No one will rver wear the imitated article when they can get the genuine one. The entor of the common infortel naukeeth olisupperars on the first washing, and elothes mate of it are, therefore, very sorm Iaill asitle. We recorumend a trial of this mankecn, and alao the enture of the cotion, as an important oljject of attention to our southern frieuls.
.Im. Furswer.
第-It is an olyjection to this valuable prosluct of onr fichls and workshops, that lt has the same width, and is otherwlse put up in imitation of the Chinewe article-because that the width anal length of the pieres are unfriendly to an economical use of the goods: but we join the "Farmer" in expressing a decinkel opinion that the American nankeen in very mujeriur even to the beat Chinese, for firmuess of texilure and durability of color.

We have novidentully learived that, when certain costracts shall have expired, the Amorican nankeens will be nuade of the cassimete wilht; anil, we hope, sold by the yow al, like ntbre gomds, insteal of the piece-reanlering its usc more ceonumical to conswners, without interfering with the profits of producers, but gready increase their men

Las-Infancy. A person recently was brought to trial in New York for an amount of $$ 154$ 59, for goods bought by him to supply his own business at a groeer, and pleaded "infancy" as a bar to reeovery!

The judge charged the jury-"That it w.s a frand for a person who had the appearance of an adult to commence business and then set up infancy in payment of his delot; yet so was the law if he was an infant. The proof being conelusive as to the faet of infancy, notwithatanding bia large whiskert, the jury found a verdict for the deleudant."
"Rambolphasa." A series of sprightly articles have appeared in the "New York American," detailing conversations with the late Mr. Nandolph, intermixed with several brief letters from him to the writer-who was on guite easy terms, as it would appear, with thue extraordinary man.

Some of the matters of fuct stated in the Rando/phiana have been contested-on which the "American" pointedly may a:
${ }^{4}$ In reference to the contradictions, we feel called upon to my, that if there is any inaceuracy or misstatement, it lies not at the door of the writer of the numbers. What be delivert he reecived: we vouch for his veracity, as in the first number we promised. For that of Mr. Randolph we did not assume, and certsinly do not feel ealled upon to voueh, nor in any way to defend the probability or consisteney of his sayings and doings"

Prom the Nutional Gazette. The Lynehburg Virginian asks if it be possible that John Raidolph, of Roanoke, fraternized with "che great bug-bear ferderalist," the editor of the National Gazette" Mr. Runclolph was intimately conneeted with greater bog-bears of the kind, during die war with Great Britain. He was of the "Royal George" mess at Georgetown; gave Rnfus King a preference over all other politicians; lived and aeted with Hanson and Grosvenor, and fraternized, almost exelusively, with the principal andversaries of the administration. His specehes against the war were received and reprinted in Great Brita in as the strougest testimony in her favor. Mr. Stevens, the author of Wur in Disgiuse, edited one of them on that account, &ce.
[ $x=$ - The less that is said about the "democracy" of Mr. Randolph-the better for his memory. There was no more democracy in his practice than "Tippoo Sultan" displayed; he was as haughty as "the pround luke of Somersel, "" who felt his dignity insulted beeause that his wife playfully touched his cheek with her fan.

Reponm. The Dover (N. II.) Enquirur staies that Joseph Hammons, lately a representatire in congress, has received the appointment of postmaster at Dover, in room of B. $\boldsymbol{H}$. Palmer, "Aortonized." The most exceptionable feature of this appointment is, that Mr. Ha mmons is not a resident of Dover, but of Farmington, and has not yet, owing to indisposition, been able to return to his own state from the seat of the general government. He has entered on the duties of his office, however, though abseut, by depury.
(Nut. Ins.
Maisk. From the Boaton .Mercantile Jonernal. On the 19th ult. at Bangor, the public male of six townships of the conmonweafth's land in Maine, took plase acoording to advertisement. Our eorrespondent, under date of that day, ays:- "There has been an immense concourse of people from all quarters, and the anle wan conducted with great interea. The result was as follows:
Choice. No.
Acres. Pr. acre.
${ }_{103} \mathbf{3}_{1}$ th range, $W$. branch
22,080 $$ 356$
W, on Moosehead lake
$\begin{array}{ll}\mathbf{2 3 , 5 8 8} & 3161\end{array}$
22,080 507
$11,165 \quad 3131$
4ch A. 2t range

| $\mathbf{2 2 , 0 8 0}$ | $\mathbf{3} 40$ |
| ---: | ---: | ---: |
|  | 3 $81!$ |

oth (to be weleeted this day)
All purchased by Mr. Ralph Huntingdom, of this eity. Amount of salpo-1. $$ 78,60480 ; 2$. $$ 43,617$ 48; 3 . $$ 67,78560 ; 4 . $ 35,00227 ; 5 . $ 75,18240$. Total of five townships, $$ 299,40275$.

Imar and mumb. The report of the American asylum fur the deaf and chumb, at Ilartford, (Conn.) has lately been published. We learn from it, that the present number of pupils is 130 ; those who have lef the asylum $216 ;$ total number of pupils from the foundation, 446. Of these, It 1 have been supported hy their friends, the rest by the states of New Eugland, except Rhode Jsiand. The report states furthermore, that the directors being convinced that the hody and the heart, as well as the intellect of the young require a systematie training, as early as I 822 opened a work shop for the scholars, and adopted sueh other plans as they thought ondueive to the great objects of exlucation. The result has been, as they observed, that they "have found bodily aetivity and soundbess of health promotell by labor; that induces confidence in their own powers, independent of character, cheerfulness in study, and hope in overcoming diffieulties. It keeps youth from contracting idle habits while at sohool and dimisishes their exposure to temptation."

Bospos. Officers of the ancient and honorable artillery cormpany, ehosen on the 3 d June:

Col. FAlwarl G. Prescott, captain.
Capt. IRobert C. Winchrop, Ist lieutenant.
Lieut. col. Peter Dunhar, ed
Maj. Lewis Dennis, arjutaut.
Einsign Charles A. Macomber, ist sergennt.
Capt. George W. Cram, od
Capt Joseph B, Towle, Sd
Capt. Thomas C: Hollis, 4th
Major Charles Saunderson, 5th
Capt. William R. Stacy, fth
Col. Benjamin Loring, treasurer.
George H. Whitman, esq, clerk.
Mr. Josiah W. Homes, armorer.
Major J. L. White, assistant do.
[This eompany has been well called "the soul of the soldiery"-aud has sent to and received from the field of battle, some thousands of members. It is kept up, in all its old spirit-its ancient pride of patriotiam, and glorious ilevotion to "Miberty and law," - not in "ehivalry," but in actions.

Dickinson colleog. Under an arrangement made with the futl cousent uf the prosent buard of trusteres of Whekinson eol. lege, at Cnififle, Pa. the buildings, land, library, apparatuy and other pruperty of that inalitution, have been tramifertrd to a joint committee of the Balimore and Philadelphia eonferences of the Mrthodiat Episcopal ehureh, acting in behaif of tirnse bodies. This transter has been made, from a iaudable desire on the part of the preseut trustees, in place the colloge agnin in a fluuribling situation, and with a belief and eonfidence tinat, in the handa of the Methodist society, it may be made eminenuly secvicenble in promoting the cause of education and Itterature generaily. Hy a foint combinitee a new board of truathes, ennsisting of Methodist nisisters, Methodiat laymen, and gentlemen not members of the society, in mual number, met at Carlivle to organize on Tium-day, the 6th of June. Tbose appointed on behnir of the Pliladelphia cronference were-
Rev. Samuel Harvey, rev. Jos. Lybrand, rev. Charles Pioman, rev. Joseph Holdveh, Dr. M. Anderson, J: B. Longaere, esp. Richard Benson, eaq. John Davis, eaq. Dr. J. M. Keazy, Joha Antes, req. Timmas A. Hudd, esq. Benjamin Mathias, esq. Ramuel Parker, esq. Dr. J. Higginv,- Hicke, ksq. Dr. J. Roberts.
Baltimnre confermee, an far as heard from.
Rev. S. G. Bozel, rev. Jacob Guest, Dr. Bamuel Baker, Dr. Theodore Myers, Charles Wartield, erq. John Philipo, esq. Wm. M. Biddle, eng. rev. Aified Giifish, Dr. Thos. Bond, Dr. Thos, Sewelt, Dr. Ira Day, John P. Dulaney, James Dunlop, esq. Charlee MeClure, esq.
Both coaumitteses alao jnined unanimnnaly in the nouination of the hon. Jobn Meleean and bistop Emory as ex officio members of the board.

Arrangements will be immediately made by the new hoard for re-opening the collicge under the direction of able and experienced prifisesora, and on a basis which will enswre the permanent usefulness of the institution. [Cardisle Herald.

Whazliva. In copying an artiele from some other paper, we earelessly secepted a statement that the population of this thrifty and rapidly growing town was about $\mathbf{3 , 5 0 0}$. It is about twice that amount now-being 5,811 in 1830.

Tug ergat batt on Reb miven. We understand that an official communication has just been received st thi place from eapt. Shreve, the enterprising agent of the government for removing ohestructions to navigation from the Mississipyi alud sune of ins imprortant tributaries, stating loat, within the space of twenty-six clays, he had succereden in monoving twelty-six mulen of the kremt ruft on the Bod River. Cupuain S. entertuins the lippe of lving able to catund st ain, lonat tavigation up that river, 80 onles, befure the clunc of the jre'sent measom; anl expresses great colffiliouce in his mostity, with shi. ineans ut his control, uidell by morlcrate nann, to remone the entire raft within a sliurt tinse. [ $H$ ashineton Globe.
[A later account says that siaty miles of the raft hat] becin eleareal, at the espense of ouly uboul $$ 14,000$, and a perfietly good navigation makle so far. It was believed that the whole work might be soon oompleted.?

New Yonk Staviardi.Fiom the Penneyivanian. We find the following ilroll annomuevment in a copy of the New York Standard sent us by a frient.

The friends of the Nes York Stavilucid are informed that its paltication will be iliscontinuud alter Hee 3ith instant. The subseriber docs mut feel called upon for reasons.

June 14th, 1833.
Jons I. Mumponb.
Yet firrther!' The following strange article is from the "Standard" of Monday last-"1 do not yet see eanse to regret or alter my nevice, of the 14th inst, I have scrved my party faithfully and devoted myself in all honor to private triends; andil shall regret to be couppelleal, like Sauson, to bear awny the pillars and lovolve muself with others, who may force me to the act, in a enmuion ruin. It was atul is sill inproper for me to give the seasons for this cleterminution in regard to an estalilishment which now yieldy $$ 11$, 1000 per atinuin elcar profis; bit they who know me know full woell that I will noi see the Siandard perish without a striggle, nor ever seet it pass into the hauds of the ensemy. I foza myself.

Stene 24, 1838.
Jons 1. Muspoid.

Ansther notice. From the New lork Standard of the 201 h inat. "The canses which inluced the notice of the 14h Instant, announcing the intended disenntinnance uf the STavrand, have on far eepasel to ojmerate un th enable us to state to the friends of the paper that it will not be diseontinued, but will be carrital on with inercasell efficieney. We are gratified to be able to aunounce this finet."

Tuz nonerrepe piscovenr. We finul, by a commus niesation in the Cineinnati Repobblican, that the longitusle is at length diseovered. Capitain Benjarmis Jones Shain, of Cincinnati, a uative of Intlaware, has construeted a matheustical fyyure, from which he says that he ean aserrtain a ship's Inngitude at sea, by first having the latitude, the beurings of an ohject, and the assistance of some tautical tables.

Post offict war. A few rlays since we received the following epistle, accoriling to the rules of the post office dejurtnuent, "in auch cancs macle and provided"-

SirmPurmuant to at instrictionice, 1tch June, 1833. Siral of the United Statu-s, I have of the jonsmanter ge"New Bedford Gazette," addiesmed to the N. H. Palladium, is not taken up, but remains deud in this office. I am, respeetfully, your anost nbedicut servant,
B. F. Gurpr, assistant P. M.
-Reason-The Pullafiun! ceased jublicatlon in Auand it is a dead concerm altogether." (N. Bed. Gaz.

Untrge States pestons. It may be a friendly ser viee to those who were indebted to the Uniterl States previoualy to the 1 st of January, 1831, and who are unable to pay the sume, to remind them that the acts of enngress for their relief will expire in the nuonth of March next; and st the proofs aud exhibits in snch eases usually rex quire mueh time in their preparation and arrangernent, it may be expertient for them to give early attention to the subject, leat by easualty or the pressure of other con-cervis, the opportunity of relief may be lost by procrantithation.

Tas ebitomaz, plethal vist. As the following paso sage fioun the prefatory note to the Melange is very staort, we shall transeribe it, although Pascal's hit at editors will probably naturally give the greatest umbrage to those to $w$ hom the satire is tue unost applicalle:
"We have heurd it intirnated that there is something ol osterntation or egotions in the use of this satid plural suit, whels is confined to monarolss and editors; but we cotreeive the reverse to be the faet, and we shall addace in defence of the prartice, the authority of a eelebrated satirist. Pascal ridiculed those egotists who said 'my look, 'my commentary,' 'my history;' and observed, that to say 'our book,' 'our commentary,' 'our history,' would be much better, since there is in them much more of other jeople's than their own."

Catholicikn in the Unitso Stater. From the Jomoire of American wissionaries, pullished by Pieree ke Harker, under direetioh of the Andover soeieny of inquiry, we leara that the Ronasn Catholic population of this country is estimated at 800,000 , the number of eongregntions at 784. There are ten dioseses, or bishopries; an archbishop resides at Haltimore.

The Boston diocese comprises all New England, but only a Catholic population of 40,000 (half of which are in Boston and vieinity) 18 priests and 23 congregntiont. Of the latter 6 are in Maine and 9 in Massachusetts.
${ }^{\text {4* }}$ Here wre eight or ten colleges, besides many academies anul other literary institutions, entirely under the control of the Catholies; as many theologieal seminaries; and more than tuice that number of couvents or nunseries."
"In Baltimore they have several charity schools; $S$ t. Mary's free sehool and orphan's ass lums, shere the children of the poor and orphans are early brought aoder their influence. Several hundred children are in these schools, which are under the direction of the sisters of charity." charity."
St. Mary's college, also in this city, has a theelogical department, and eight of the nineteen instructors age ece cleaiantice. The course requiren seven years. The liprary contains 10,000 wolumes. Students, 150.
At Gentgetown, D. C. is a jesuit college with the same number of sturlents, 20 instructors and 8,000 volames in the Ilbrary. There is a college at Molile, at New Oplearts and Jackson, in Louisimus; one at Bardstown, (Ky.) with, 150 stulents; one at Cincinuatis two in the St. Louis distriet, including one with 160 students in that city. The distriet, including one with 160 students in that eity. The most splendid cuthedrals are in St. Louis, Mobile and Baltimore. The latter city is styled the Rome of the Uniserl States. It contains 20,000 Catholies, five splendid cdifiers, " publie Catholic juroperty of a miltion of thollars, antla convent, and a nunnery for blacks, besides the college. The eatherlral is the most magnificent aod largest tomple in the union, having cont over $$ 300,000$, exclusive of urnaments, &e. The ground plan is 190 by 117 feet, diameter of the dome 77, and height 116 feet; two towers, at each wing, 120 feet high. * The eongregs; tion numbers 6,000 , and is the same with whom Carroll worshipped. Thert are 67 priests in this dincess, besides those connected with seminaries, of which theere are 14 in all. In the Cincinnati distriet the Catholics are said to be "rapilly inervasing." In the St louis and New OrIeans districts are more than 100 priests.
[Bowfon Jifr. Journal.

$\rightarrow-4$ em

BRIEF NOTICES.

A secoad instnnce has happened at Altany of the diaminyal af one of Mrs. Bradstrnel's puits, because the fury eonjld not agrees This lady etaims a considerable portion of the evity of Utica.
Ascoteh paper notices an old wnann living, at Glazeow, who 130 years of age. She never took a is 130 years of age. She never thok a docinf's drup in aif her life, onr wase a laneet ever applied to her frame. Whe is perfectly free of affections of the chest, and, doning the last contury of her tIfe, she has been a perfect stranget to pain, and her pulse does not erceed 70 . Her grandfather dith lier father died in the 220 h II year of his age. the oge of 129 , and The sldeet member of cruprear of his age.
of Stratham, N . H. He was of the first congress, het ing ing, [^25]York, under gen. Wambingtop'e adrainistration-ls the eldent living on the Harvard college catalogue, having tradaated in 1758-75 years. He married a vister of col. Piekering, whom he buried a few years since. He still superintends bis farm, at the age of 95 y carn, to an old schuot gentieman, and weeurs hio revohution hat and rughen.

Bonse of the friends of Mr. Purkins, ex sherilit of London, but now a resileut of New York, gut up a conumtesion to inguire Inte his santly, and so prevent ine waste of lut properyy-fur he luad lately gotsen hisegelf vitu manay taw suiv and diffecties of an extmordinary charncter. Mr. P. plead his ow an case, and convinced the jury that the was aot hasue. He werus subject to "an ungovernable temper."

Yet another bad fire bas happened in the titue eity of Raleigh, and the lowe of property was targe.
The defalcation of Edwin R. Harford, late cashies of the Darien bank at Macon, Georgia, bae already been meationed. The Milledgavilie reconder states, that ba has been taied and eomvieted on the charge of enilhezilensent, and seavesed ta the pusitentiary for ais years.

Very many passengers from foreign countrien are now arrivling at Balumore, ive.
The editor of the Wynming Herald, thes notices the copper mine receatly discovered in Luzerne county.
"The mine is opened about twenty yards in length, and four foet thicky the ore is itubedded in grawacke, and in appearance is very untenaive. A specisien of the ure, and aloo of the eopper made from It, was a tew days ance shown to me, and we were assured that the yieid ts fint per cent. If so, it is of itwelf 'a mine of wealth,' and will ndd much to the gaiverral remourcee of the county, already rich in minerals, and all it wente to comvert is late the solsd metal is "capltal." "

At a pusblic sale of real eatate in the chty of Doston, a fow days aince, the ground belonging to the late Dumiel DA fogers, contining 18,506 square feet, boundiag 112 feet ou Beacos ovreet, ivil feet 6 lnches on Mount Vermon street, 98 feet on the adjoining estate morth, and 168 feet 4 inches on Bowdoin atreet, was soid in lote, for the ageregrie sum of gen, 2834.
Large quantities of apecie are arriving la the United Etaten fras Ifulieo.
The locomotive for the Slaratnga rall road will moon be in operation, when a large party will leave New Yort in the moruang atrantioal, aud take tea as saratoga apringe before suncet, a dutance of about 160 miliea.
A sewnpaper to be called the "Moderator" is to be publimed at Warhiugton, by W. R. Collier, to support Joha Mcheren of Otio, as the nest president of the United states.

The capital stock, and depoettos and other funds on hand, in the Maryland Bavings Institation, on the Jot Juse, amounted to the large sum of $81,291,19546$.

A branch af the Baltiusore and Oblo rail road ben been extenced through the city of Frederick, and was frse used on the Beh itestant.
The swo ophyniea lately diseovered aeas the atatse of Menmon, among the ruins of ancleat Thebea, have been purchased by the Kumbian govarament for 84,000 mublea. The expense of their traanjort to BC. Peteruburgh will ansount to $$ 8,000$ rouhtes. These aphynies are destiaed to adore the Itucetan capictal, where they will be placed on pedestala.

The life of lord Poley, reerutly deceased, was insomed for E\%00,000 sterling. It is satd that this in the severeat blow which the Landon fife tasurance companies bave expervenced since the death of the elder members of the present royal fanuily. The affairs of lond Foley belug greatly minbarrased, if is probable the tasurance wan effected for accusut of his cruditors.

Early this epring, a farmer who lives on Imnt liland, ia preparias a piece of new pround for cultivation, discovered under an old stump, a great number of our common Alack anakes, who appeared to be in a sorpid state. On being uxposed to the warmith of the sun, they were rranimated and endeavored to make their escape, bat were overtak en by the taborera emplinged in the field and killed. After the frulic was over, thay num. bered the alain, and found theen to esceed four tundred and finy.
[N. F. Posh.
Zobert $. Turabulh, epq- a disaizgulahed writer in favor of nulufication, died as Charlesun ons the 1414 iast. of the "eponatry fever." He was a man of much industry and talents, and one of the chiefe of the party.
The Belfast (Ireland) Whig of the Oth ath. contains the followteg:
"whord Grenville, now very old, to serinuenly indisposed. On his death, the seeret reopecting the author of "Junias's letters," witl be digcloned -his lordelitp havisg long bern ia peesenelon of if. The docaurenth are as BLow, the seat of the dele of BuetIngham, who to also ill."
The only important thing fo the "recret" in that it lage been no long and so well kept. If is ato anaiter yhy wat the qutbor of "Junius."
Great deposites of mati have been receatly diecovered in Y|rslois and Marylaned.
-It is stated that col. Wrimien Dreyton, of south Carolina, is sbout to sbandot his mative atate, becanse of the uncesaing hoatility of his political opponents. Judge Smith left it, on the anne acconal-and huadreds of the tropt valuable and enterprising of Ius ciuzens bave sought peace in Alabana, aad elsewhere.
New Bedford, which has a population of only ahout 10,000 persons, ta the fourth port in reopeet to toninage. Thus-Dec. 31,1831 .

| New York | Permanent registered. 104,430 | Total. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Bentow | 91,075 | 138,174 |
| Philadelphia | 46,320 | 139,5e8 |
| New Dedford | 36,018 | 84,049 |
| Beltianore | \%1,574 | 43,263 |

FOREIGN NEWS.
From' Pario papers to the i6eh May inclustive. Fance.
The duchesa of Berri bas named her filustrions baby Anna Maria Rosalie, and insists that she has a busband, count Hector de Luchesi Palli, mecond son of the viceroy of ticily-which soure believe, and sotne do net, is the fither of ber child. Slie was about to be sent to Palertio. She is said to have expreaked a wish to be sent to America, supposing that her family will not recuive her kiadly.

> HOLLATD AWD EELOIUX.

The atate of affuirs between these kingdoms is rather waf-Ifse-but neither dare Aght without leave.
spaty.
A letter of the Sth of May, from Tarragnna, mestions as Insurrection among the country peopte sbout Hr us, tiree leagues from that towa, neesaioned by the instigation of the monks. Sleveral villages hod anited and taken ap armon Their banaer bears the lazeniption-"Iong live Chatles V. and death to the queen!" Of all the villages, Alforge and Pevoloda, have ditphyed the greateot violence.
But the queea to reported to be again pregnant, to the great anmoynace of the Curliots, aed jet may have a male baby for a Hiag!
roatueab.
Letters from Lisbon state that the Miguelite army In eonstantIy diminishing in consequence of desertions, asad that the squadron dectined for Oporto te detained is the Lisbon reads, being nnable to leeve for want of sailors. Arreste are continually taking place, and there are now more than fifteen thousand prisoneve of state, *hut up in the , aeighboring prisons. Numbers of these ushaypy people daily periaih by hauger.
sensta.
A leiter froms Sl. Petersburgh, dased 85 th April, states, that sen. Orieff bat been ordered to proceed to Constantinople to take command of the Rusalay Iand and sen trompa therp, and has beemaceredtived also as extrandinary annhappador. Heave it has been natorally concluded that the wat will be conituacd. All the numerous disponable reginapnts wre eoncentrated on the Turklah boundsries. Prince Pupkewlich lina prepared a plas of mititary eperations againat lorahim.
A eonacription of troopa hes been ordered is Poland-four out of every 1,000 inloabitants of the district.

TUEEEV ATO Eaypt.
The intelligence from Coustantinople is six days later then before received, extending to the 23d of April. The Augeburt Gasette of the Ifth of May gives the foltowing, of that datw, as rereived by express from Coantantinople:
"The negotiations with ibralum pacha are brokes off, and preparations are making here ta resume bosthites. tbrahim pacha has received orders from his father not to renonnce Adaan, and he refusen to evacuate Natolia, untll thr pulhaa shall have made this concevsion. But the latuer refuses for comply with the demand of the Eyptians, and has declared, that having givea sufficent pronfis of his forbearance, he tetracts all hie former concestions. Thus the waltan remards as null and void the propovats made to effect an arraagement, after the arriva of the suxiliary army from Russia. He wholly relies on this powsr, eoatrary to the expectatione of admiral Roussin." It wat supposed by maay that the porte noly negotiated to gain time; shisposinion, bowever, appravs not to have been entertained at this opinion, bowever, a pprars not to have bees ent head quarters at Koaish, or by the French embasey.
"flt will maw be a canse of regret to the Egyptians that the real intentiose of the porte were not aecertalned sooner; for Ibrathim pacha will searcely venture to artack the Rumpian camp, abd in case of a further loss of uive, he will find it difticult to maturatis his ground. The masin aray of the Eusslans will reach Constantinople about May 15 sh , and will, it is anid, lumedrately cotamence offenalve operations. The most Intimate friendolid now prevalis between the Russian and Turkish authoritios, asd the oultan is moes attentive in supplying the Runplas trohpa whit every thing necessary. Tbere are now 14,700 Rusplans ts the carap nt Bcutari, and to norrow they will be joined by 400 Turktith artilierymes. Itusian nfieers have been sent to the Dardaaelles to put the ceaties Into a atase of defence. Thus the war appesan to bepta aghia whith new vigor. The capital enjoya perfect trangeility, on which the premence of the iuasjons no dopbt contributes greatly."
The above mecount to substantially eonArmed by a letter of the same date, received at Vlenne, which says-"(jbrahim imperiously demende the ceselon of Adana and Tarsus, and threatens, not only not to quit Kintais, but again to adqupe. The sultan somewhet reastared by the daily artival of the Rasian troops, and encouraged by the envoy of the ezar, avoids all new conceasions, and gives himself ap with the erear, ent confideace to the Russians. If then Ibrabim persietr, we may expect s renewal of hostilities."
An inaurreetion took place in the island of Cyprus, favorable aion of the grand sutgoos. hoa of the grand selgnor.

MExico.
The repnrted repignation of the presidency by ganta Anna is not true. He was ioducted into othee on the 16 H of Mfay, and in his rpeech to the congress deciares-it Ther the ondy to congress deciares-to the Mexicans the fuil enjormeet of hia life has been to seetre tute public felicity, foali enjoyment of those rights which constiay and vice That to destroy the tripie yoke of ignorance, tyramand that he would never eesent for securing repose has arrived, and that he would never cease from seeking this reault, which tionanity and philosophy have pronifed from thd last revolution. Ite deciares that the ezercise of the public power ohall not be in his hands, the ithatrument of vengeance and oppression. shall receive the frit care of hist of the prusperity of nations, nation may be wortity of its his governnuent, ifl order that the iateace of pertiny of its elevaled rank and prepare the ex. facters of a people that shall exuh in the unearury of its beneactors. My political intercourse, be adjl, with the nainme that iive in poace and harmony with $u s$, is upon the bawis of the in a mleasin tociprocity-Just, impartial and unalterabie. Peace Is a measing to the luman race, and athali be preserved so long as the mavional diguity permits,"

COTTON CROPE.
The following Interesting statustics are copled from the N, Y. Joural of Comanerce?

 and the consequent destruction of life and property, fave turned the attention of congress to the subject, with a view of arriving, by experiment, at some result ealeulated to abate the evil, so far as legislution can interfere in so viluable a purpose. Some years ago, a western mesber introduced a resolution, which passed congress, anlaterising the secretary of the treasury to expend a stipalated amount in eonstrueting machines to perform a shtals, used in the construction of aty of iron, or other mes tific gentlemen of this eity then of steam boilers. A seienand a machine was constructed to conduct the purpose; ments, which is now in struceed to eonduct the experiapartment of the institute.

We learn from those qualified to judge, that this machine is far more complete than any thing of the like nature, either in England or France. The experiments made upon the tenacity of iron in both those countries, have been meagre and unsatinfactory, compared to what has already been achicved in this city.
It is impossible to convey to the reader any antisfacetory description of the machine in question, which is a model for neatness, aceuracy and despatch. It is eonstructed too, in such a way as to make experiments on of the atmosphere any degree of temperature, from that renheit. In this up to 500 degrees above zero in Fiahiron in a cold or qual appicability of the apparnutus to vantage over any experiments yet made eillere in ad is ments yet made eillier in this
One of the most remarkable and interesting laws of nature, which have already grown out of these experied by the are that the tenacity of good iron is inereas450 degrees. The popular degree of heat under 400 or heated to that degree, is rendered less been, that iron other words, its tenacity is impaired in a ratio equal to the heat applied. Sueh is now ascertained not to be the finct, within the limits of zero and 450 degrecs.
On the oceasion referred to we witacssed the experiments made on several bars of American iron, manufaetieular, of Temnesarts of the country. One bar, in parto the hot and cold process in sucecstion submitted both a tenacity equal to that of any ircession, and it exhibited eountry. To express it in sevientific Isngnage, it ranged from 59,000 to 64,000 pounds to the square inch, inereasing under a degree of heat varying from the atmosphere to $\mathbf{4 5 0}$ degrees for the heat under $\mathbf{4 5 0}$ degrees gives it On inquiry, we found that thisity.
ture of the Cumberiand iron works, situated on manufacberland river, 100 miles below Nashville, in Tenserses blast furnaces, two forges, sce. sce.
The reeords of a number of experiments on Juniata, Pittsburgh and ollier iron, were shown us, and, with sone exeeptions, the best Pennsylrania and Tennessce iron exhibie the same qualities. The iton of Connecticut is also remarkable for it tenacity, but we understood that New York iron had not yet been submitted to experiments. One remarkable fuet we were made acquainted with. It is this: the moat ordinary imerican ivon is equal to the best Dritish-and the beat American is equal and frequently anperior to the best Sieedish or Russian that can be imported. These facts are eacouraging to American seience and art.
We understand that these interesting experiments are conducied in the afternoon of every Thursiny and Saturday, and are open for the inspection of the lovers of seience and the useful arts.
An extremely valuable report of these experiments is now preparing to be presented, through the secretary of the treasury, to the next eongress.

CURVED ROADS AND LOCOMOTIVES.

The theesumn spiken of in the leflowing cwamunication, (cays the Battimore Gazette), is not hew in prasiple-it is a Wrept onty or the combination claimed to be in vented by Mr. Janses Wright of Colunibia in Pennaylvania, for the purpose of eausing rail road cars to pasa with equal ticility on eurved or straight roads, fiss which Mr. Wright obtained a patent in Septermber, 1829. A veltation arie was alson necessarily a part of the invention of Mr. Rnses Winans, in the cosstruction of earriage whecta of reduced frietion, for whicb he obtalined a patebt in Octolere, 1828. The rigit nf Mr. stevens might therefine be questioned ir he were to obtain a patent for using a vibraung asle on a rail rosd ear.

Prom the United States Gazetle.
Mr. Ehtor-I was yesterduy in erossing New Jerney, compelled to stop by the way and was so mach gratified with the operatione of a locomotive engine on the Caunden and Amboy rail road, that I avail myseif uf your columes to make it known to the publie.
This enkine I undertand is the reennd one completed for this ensap pany by Mr. stevens, with Lupproveavents on the Englist engine imported by thear. Six of seven more it is said will be adided in a few weeks, when this speciers of power will be nsed on the foad. Thim engine though only put up on Minday and never before worked on a road, yesterday ruis from Amboy to Bordentown in the most admirable manner. The distance from Hightotown to Bordentown was performed at the rate of 18 miles an buyr, the spred was occasionatiy Increased to thirty miles and could evidently have bren very nuch accelerated.
My objeet however ia notiring it is to eall pulitic attention to an invertion by which all diffeculty from curvation is rail roads are overemine, and the advantage io so nbvions, that one lo asconished in tooking at it that the idea line never before necurred in those laterested in the wubject. The difficulyy from corves in the line of a rall road has as ioen from the axle of the wheel of the carriage being stationary - their tendency to a direct line and the conmequent iacrease of friction from the action and lateral pressure of the flanges of the wheel upon the edge of the rait. fa carriages drawn by horees the draughts has a tendeney to remove the diticulty by inelioing the carriage to the direetinn of the line which is pursued by the horse. It was necessary to overcome it altog"ther to enable a carringe to run as free on a curve ns on a straight line. By the improvetient alluded to this desideratumi is attained.
I am no mechanic but perhapm ean make mymeif suffelently expliett to be underatood, the ianprnvemients conspot rimply in a change in the mode of atlaching the arle to the corriage. The botes inatead of being atationary in the frame of the enrriage, work upon a sliding plane so as in admit of a change in the posiuon of the wheels. The enda of the axle run in a strong frame work which is projected in front of the carriage and in there atactied to the anle of twn samaller wheele, as the carriage is propelled forward these guide wheels fillow the direetion of the trecti, and always peeserve the parallelinmo of the cartiage whet le with the raile. I witnessed reveral expetiments on the most severe curvea on the line. The result was uniforin and the suecess comptite. The fange never tonclied or run near the rail. It was manifost on an examination of the wherls at Bordentown that thie had been the case througlonat, although the eurves had purposely been passed at the highent speed orthe enzine. I understand that this was hat a repetition of prior experimetis made with anothc enrine on a carriage of the same cnattruction with which a train of ten cars, beridea the tender and a won with which a train of ten cars, ber ides the tender and a propelled withont the plightest inipediment over all that pontion of the line froen which any difficulty could be antieipated.
1 presume a pateat han heen, or will be nttained hy Mr. Ste vene to eecure tive rigith to this valuable inventiona.

June 12, 1833.
a friend to improvement.

boston institution for the blind.

Boston, huse 1, 1833.

Hon, T. H. Perking-
Dear sin: Mr. Preacott having iaid before the trestees of the New England institution for the edweation of the blind, your proposal to convey to that eorporation your extate in Pearl street, provided the sum of 850,000 phould be raised from other sourcea in the esourse of the mouth of May; they inuthediately proceeded in take meanures to comply, If mossible, with thin cundition, and thus secure to the isstitution the benent uf your munificent offer.
The underaigned were appointed a cumanittee on the part of the board, to prepare a eircular and wolicit subscriptions. The perion within which the gun reqnired was to be ramed has now expired, and the commitiee having performed the duty assigned them, beg leave to present you the fallowing statement:

Annount inf subscriptions in the etty of Hoaton
833,310
Nalem
1,150
Now Bedford
1,400
Hartford, Conn.
1,309
Nett prucecdo of ladien' fair, Bostinn
1,400
85 1,117
An addltional amount has been subecribed in New Bedford, Apringfleld and Worcester, but an the sulmeription papers have not been returned, the comsnittee are nuhble to state it preelsely. In lay ing before you, wir, this gratifying resuli, the unlerogned have great pleanure in aeknowledging the ready and efficient aid affordod them by their fellow citizens in general. They are under particular obligations in the coamuittce of gentiemen who volunteered to take clurge of the subseription paper, to whom the combunity in greatly indebted for their exertions. The proceeds of the laciten' fair amonnt to nearly a fourth part of the winde sum. Considerable as is this contilitution, the manner in which it was ubtained constitutes its highest vulue. The enthasinum with which our whole population repaired in Faneuil laall on that occasion-the tonching nature of the appeal-the associations of the place, and the propriety and good taste of the arrangements, eombined to render the scene it a renarkable degree interesting and impressive.
These circumstances altogether, convey, sir, the mont acceptable tribute of thanks that can be offered to you, since they furnish conclusive evidence that not only the inhabitants of Boston, but our fellow eitizens of the meighboriag towns, and of other staten, eater futly intos the motives which prompted you to this splendid act of benetieence.
The committee feel that they can add nothing to this unequivocal expression of pubtic sentiunent. They ean only thant you Is behalf of their associaten, for the generous aid you have extended to this charity, and aesure you that they will endeavor to make such see of It at shall deserve the spponbation of yourself and the community. Very respectfully, your obedleat servants, EDWARD BROOKB,
JOHN D. FISHER,
JOHN D. FIAHER
WM. P. MARON,
WM. P. MABON, PRESCOTT, $\}$
Boston, June 9, 183s.
To Mensra, Elueard Brooks, John D. Fisher, Wm. P. Mason,
Wm. H. Prescott, a committee of the trustees of the New Fingland inatitution for the education of the blind.
Ganturman: 1 received your letter yesterday on the subjeet of the "New Fingland linstitution for the edueation of the blind," by which I aus inforused that upwards of finy thousand doliars have been raised by the trustece in aid of that institution. In the conflenee that thls coadition, annesed to the donation of my estate in Pearl street, would be met by the pubtie in the month of May, I excented a deed of the evtate and lodged it in the hands of the hon. Witliam Presentt and William II, Gardiner, esq. to be delivered when they were adviaed that the anm named had been subscribed; who will deliver the deed to you apon application.

Iloping and believing that all the good anticipated by those who have subscribed to this interesting eatablishoneat nasy be realized, I am, gentlemen, reopectully, your robedient servant,
T. H. PERKINS.
[The deed above referred to has been delivered in the trustees, and consegaently the elegant edifice which has long heen the reaidence of the liberal donor, is aow the property of the institution.)

DOCKING OF THE DELAWARE,  From the Norfolt Herald.

The docking of the Delawara 74, took place, agreeably to previous notice, on Monday morning, [17th Jane] in the new dry dock at Eneport. The arraagements previously made were carried into effeet with the utmont precinion-no aceldeat nor overnight caused a mompent's delay; the huge foating castle whe accurately adjustrd in the craire of the dock, preseating a grasd apectarle to the thonsanda of ppectators who surrounded her. Propurly the steam engine fof paniping the water from the dork was set in mailion, and the noble ship settled down till her hurl restid on the hooke. Then commenced the work of appigiug props to either side, to proseive her level; and successive rows of these wrote afined as the water was drawn off, antil al late she wan lent "high and dry," planding faot anu upriglet in the poition in which is was intemienl to jilace lurr, ated fismil with as muth nceuracy as if she had been hifled and placoll there by a giant liand. Tue uperation eonstined the remamodel of the day, and yesterday the dock was literally dry.
Thas hat this stupendins, work bern completed, and the ansious and iaterwsting op- ratum ot apply ing it to its intended pur. pose happlly accunbitoh-d, zuder the drrection and anperintendence of its scienitic myd milful eagimeer, col. Baidsin, to whons too nouch credit canimit be givelu lite his succesolul confsunamailon of on arditus $#$, rerpunsotile and ditheult an undertaliag. In viewing the work a- it now appears, in its perfect state, the malud is excited to adatration by its magritude and beanty; and the practical evidence wheh it prosents of its great utitity, will convince any one who han an odea of the expenfe of "heaving down" a seventy four, that howrever great the cost of this work may he, it te economy lit the end. The Delaware was coppered twelve yearm agn, but will require it sigtill, we कhoald judge, hefore atue cua go to sea. Sumb brearlien have been made in her ald cupper (whith appears to liave not been of the best quality) through which that dentructove encting, the worm, has perfurated her planks, and lu eeveral smail placex eaten its way entirely through thetin.
A vast concourse if spretators were preapht to withess this povel and intereating scene, of whum a large propertion were Iadies, from Norfink, Portsmonth, and the seughborlug country. We must do justice to the gallantry as will as science of enl Galdwin on thit occaunon; be had eet apart the seenid atury of the engine buuse, which combandsa foll and noar view of the toek in front, and ervetrd gallerirs, covered with sails and decorated with evergrrenu, of rach side of the dock, for the ex clusive accommodation of the ladirm.
The doorn of the hosputable man*un af counmulure Wirring Con, commandant of the navy yard, were tirown oprot on thy occasion, and the worthy conimendore gave a hearly weleroue to all who callod to partake of the amble sione of $n$ ircsloments which he bad providolf for their ritertanament.
As the ship pasurd into the dook, a salmie who fird liy the $\mathcal{U}$, A. Frigate Juen (receivins ship) umiter the command of lieut Fitzhugh, which was anclored off tive bavy sard, and Eplet1didiy decorated with the flapt of all nations. Commodure Rodgers and Morris, comanionioners of the navy board, were present at and for soine days previons to the doeking of the De preware.
It lis to be regretted that the time announced In the papers for the doekling, wan anticipated, by which the grent uasa of vielt ers were diaappointril in their ardemt itesice to ste that part of the exhbithon-thangh, in trunit, there wan whtiong remarikable in fitwothiag mope than hunling a veasel into lowek, which way be seen every day. Wie learn, however, that the circumatance was aecidental; the thde served thefore the hour appointiod fin the ahip to go in, and we are told (thougli we knew it befire) that "time and tide walt for no man." Ome rowters may he tssured that the doek with the rhip ia it, as wis anid hefore, "bigh and dry," is manch better worth wroing than the ship passing into the dock, or after ahe was dockrd, previnus to putuping out the water.

Captain Henry E. Batterd, appointed to tion command of the U. B. ship Delavare, arrived hore yesturday morning is the etcataboat Culunabus, frow Baltinuore.

The Delanoore is cailed a $* 4$-hut capable of ilomwing as zreat a weight if ehot as a British ship rated at 100 guns. She in, however, much less than the Pennsylvauia, and perloaps sonse others of our treavy ships.

From the Boaton Atlat of 2ith June.

Doceino of Ot. Iroxsides. That splendid atructure, the dry dock at the navy yard in Charlestown, conmenced in June, 1827, and lately fillisherl, was opened yesterday morning at a o'elock to receive the frugate Cunstitmion. The veteran laaac Hull had the chmasand of the ship, and, with bin ppenking trmmpet in hand, trod the deck, as will tre might, with a proud epirit. On board the furate, were the vice prosident; the wecrethiy of the navy, the seervary of war, hoa. Joel R. Poinartt, of south Carotina, his exceltency guvernary Linculn, this honos then livut. povernor, and many distugrushed strangers, who are now the gaeste of the city. At half pant 5 a salite wa* fired fron a battery in the yard, and the gates of the dock were npened. In about 95 miautes the gallait mip was safoly todged within, and the hundred horse power ehgures imusediately counnenced pumping out the water, the Columbua 74 paying a grand salute to the occapton with her bug thirly-two pounders.

After the entraace of the Connstithtion into the doek, com. Hull delivered threse canes to the secretary of the navy, made of the original timher uf the ship, which he stnted were intendeni for the preaident, gov. Limeohn and Mr. Poinsett, of South C'arolina.
Mr. Woodbury obarrved that he frit tutuch pride in bring seleeted as the individual to dellver the prosents to the diatinguisted personagen for wirous they wure derienved. It adiled ta his proud eatimfaction in dn the act on the deck of a ship that had aecomplisbed so miteh fire our wational charmeter, ant whieh wha jurtly a pablic finvorite. No far as it wha in the power of man to prewerve a vesset which was nul cmbletil of this migh ty republic, and from whowe bond of unou it derived its name, he boped that it woutd be done.

He regreturd deanly that the iatioposition of the president thrrehore place th the hainls of the viee ore blent the gift ieighted fir the chlof who was Achly eutillid tot the appotlation in "firmt in war, first in peace, and firnt in the hearts of lits coun"rymuen."
Tise presenta were then placed in the handa of the respective entiemw, who ieturned thear thanks is an appoparate manner. Combmodore flliott, it will be recollected, commanded the unval pution at Charieston furing the last winter, and fad ansole upportunity to winnerf the urbie stand taken by Mr. Poinet asinit the nulitiers and in drfence of the federal conatitution.
The gift to thin eminent patrint eonuld not thernfige have bewa Hhrrwiwe than gratiying. In making hisackaowledgmetils, he atd that he way proud to be a citizes of Uleese Uutted states, and he was atwi proud that be was a native of Sonth CarolinanThutug mume of the leading politicians if that state had pursurd conree that was at war with the ristituce of the unimb, be wa= lappy lin having an opportunity to say, that their vosce was wat the voiee of the prople.
Cominodore Hull gove his arders on board in true sailor-Nte charactur. To hin reunark that he was not at houne in making apereher, cousnodare Elhott repliel, "No matter, twy friendmake your "peechas shurt an yuur fight, and all will be satisfied."
[In two bours after the putrance of the ship, she rented upon the stone bilnek= prepared to reeeive liter, aud, in a short time, the dock was dry.]

MILITARY ACADEMY AT WEST POINT.

Report of tive beard of viritern to the general examination of catertio of the I/elted states military aciademy, in Jume, 1833. To the secrelury of erar:
The buand of visiters who have been invited to be present at the general examination of the cadeto of the United Staten unilitary acadeuy, in order that the war d-partment may be correctIy mformed if the comolition and unamatrouent of the acedemy, have altended the examutatiot of all the claseres and are perfectly sati-fied with the progrees made by the cadets in the several dupartinents of their atudies la which they were esamised. At the request of the wuperintendent, a comanittce appuinted by order of the board, assigned the wahjecte to each individual of the class, in order til avoul alt anspicion uf the examining profeseor having adapted the subject th the capactity and attainments of the cadet, ma as to extubit an appearance of greater protheiency than the claze really prossoseses.

The firmt clane was exununed is tuilitary and civil cuginpering. in mactabugy, rhetosle, ellice and constuturonal and nuthenal law, anil in infantry atud artillery tactics; and in rach of these departuenta exhinbited proote of their applicatuon and attainoments, and of thezeal, eapacity and indusiry of the peofossorp and axpietants. The cadels of this claws will leave the acmaneny woll fitted to fuith the, great ablyects of the instituitom, viz. to introduce lito stim ariutes of the United states all the mondera imphovethenta in the art of war, and the ligh state of deseiphise which dialingtiviors the lest armies of Europe, to disseminate throughout ouf coustry a knowivdge of military tactucs and enEineering, so as to furuish the meane of rendering our malrtas as well as our regilar arny an etficicut arm of defence in tane of war; and to provide officeta prugrily in*tructed and fulty capable of superintenting the constrtiction of fortificationa fors the permanrnt defence of our maritume frontier, and of works connected with the internal imprivernent of the country.

The eadets of the seermi class were examised in chemietry sud natural philosophy, anal showed a dearee of probicient y wery creditable to the profexpers and aseistabts, who have bwen ehareed whit their inatruction in these departinenta. The board woold hove rrmark, that in their opinina it would be expedient to establish a permanent profesont of cliemistry, The itmportant diseoveries mude and rill making itu this depattment of selenee, and its appliention to the usefut arts, as weh as its connexion with the meass of proserving the health of the saldier in camps and harrack: remler it importaut that it wheuld be taught in the cearicmy, ani it is obviuse that it requires great application, ex poricisce and long practuee to leach a morure which masit be illustrated by experimente made before the puphi. It is belteved in be dificuit to nequire the art of inatracting youth in any department of literaturn or weleacr; but it ts eaperially wo in those whili raquire skill in demnnztrating the theories and principlea by experiments. Instruction in such branches ought not to be entrusted to officeta lialle to be frequently removed.
The third elasa were examised in msthematica and French. There to $n 0$ inatitulion that we are acquainted with where this depurimant of acience in tis highet bratu hes in mare thomughiy tanght than in this academy. The bigh attainments and unwearind induntry of the profeasors and assistants together with the great application and eapacity of the calets of the third clasa were exhiblted throughont the conree of this axamination in a maaner bighly satisfactory to the board.
The examination in French was very creditable to the teachera and cadets of thla clase. They appeared to be well instrueted in the grammar of this difficult laneuage, majagating the roguIar and Irregular verbe very corrertly, and they tramastated it into English with great farility, which is all that is dremed reqnisile: the primeipal ohject of thin eourse being to enable the cadet to consult the beet French authors on mutiary science.

As thereare at leaat 160 stedents to be tangit in this language, It is believed by those bent aegrainted whith the muliject, that asother teacher in thin branch ougit to be added to those atesedy employed.
The fourth elass were examined in mathematien and Frencib. The cadres of the class evinced a digree of puotirney in the eleunntary branches of mathematie- loghty errinatile to the Whatever wha is charged with this drparimu the of thrir atuliex. Whatever may the the ialents and application of the otudrit, he Canuot make any profecirmey in thas resuntial drpartmurnt of stady, which may be considered as the finundation of atl military education, untess his atudies are directed by a procon mit only profoundly veraed in the sclesce. but possensed of groat exputrience in the art of imatructing youth and the board wowld take thle opportunity of remarking that tor reainve such an lustruevor from the academy for the purpore of substititing anotiorf, who, whatever his talents and acpuire ments may be, dows not possess the same experienres and prartice in teaching, rannot but be prefudielal to the interests of the acadetny, and would be anjost to the eadets.
The government exacts from them, eapeelally in the departmeut of maturematice, a dogree of proficiency, whieh they cannot obtain withont the awristance of eomprotent instructors; and they may be exposed to be turned bark na defirient, in to tie dismissed as incapabie of grong thruagh the course of studies in the acadeny, because the iustructor provided for them is iacompetent of inexperienced.
The board is induced to make thene remarks from having had before them a late order of the coumpander to chirf, costatuing reguiations sanctioured by you, which, if applicable to this acadeny, would seem celeulated to affect very materialiy the itfatruction of the cadets. It appraps to them that the rogulatiatis requiring all ofticers, who have nut sefved with their creiments for three yeank to jois their respretive eorpm, as it will resanve seariy all the assistans professors from the acadrmy, would be attended with very great inconvenimice at any ture; and at this period, when the superintendent, who thas an fong prewided nver this institution, with such aigaal sbitity and ruccers, is aboat to retire, such a change wonld seriously emharrass hia anceessor. This emharrasmment will be increaurd hy the effret of tlue regulation, which takes from the superintendent the power of nomi nating the pfileers to be detarhed for that service. He is suppoed from his situation to be better acquainted thall any one cloe with the aequireasests and moral charapter of the graduates, and as the respapsibility rests with hiw, it appears hat jurt that he should have the power of selecung his aswistants. It is deemed important, that the course of studies should he stearly, and keep pace with the improvemente which daily take plare in the progress of science. This would be impracticabie if the astistant profeseoty wrin froquentiy chauged and selected fronin oficers who had graduated price to the intronduction of the itmprovements now Laugh in this Instifution thanghaut every departuent uf scieace. Inderd it would aupear advisable that the professors and assistant professors, who have evinced *o the professorit and assiatant professoks, who have evisced en offered every inducement in remain by being permanently atteched to the institution, and rereiving some additional aliow. ance for services materially affreting the future eharacter and eflictency of the aruny, and whirlt, if they werv rendered in any huerary lustitution in the country, would command mieh higher pecubiary rewards. 'the bnard attended the battalion, light intantry, and artillery dritis, and had every rearon to be astiwhed with the instruction of the eadets in their fietd exercises. They were prevent likewise in the iabopatory when the eadets nshi bited their profiripncy la pyrmectiny, and they subsequentily saw then throw shelle, and bre at the tartill with light and benvy pieces of artilley!; ati wheh they executed with a procinion rarely equalied, and aut aurpassed in any schuol of practive in Europe.

This is the more remarikable from the state of the piecers usod for practioe. They are very defoctive, and the buard reenmumend that the several pieces of ordnance which are rropuired for the inptruction of the eadrte by thrir abte and ocientife instucturf, thould be furnished of the bert quatity and mont approved constructione.

Much credit in due to the affieer charged with the inatruction of the endets in this department. He has comptled a practient treative on military pyrotectiny, and transiated an exerilent elementary treatise on the firms of cannoa and various aystoma of artillery, and another on the theory and praptice of gunnery, fron the Ereach of profesenr Persy, of Meizi all of whiria, with numprose plates illustrating the subjects, have been published in the lithograplite prewn It the acadriny.
The cadet ase encamped two months In every ypar, and dar. Ine that period arn instrueted in all the distien of the enditier in artive service, ta the use of invtramenta, and it the appliention of the different branchee of acience neceasary to a knowledge of their profession; whether this practient courve of the application of mience to the purposes of militaly and eivil engineeriag tasy mot the asefully extendrd is worthy of enowideration.
The library of the aeademy containa a very valuable enfiection of works adapted th the peenliaf ohjects of thas institution. It is riels in workp on military sevence and on rivil engiarerine, and coniaina a vainable series of military hirtory and the beat engraphical and topmerapliteal umps of the rlates of Europe to Henctrate this important study. It is trae that in worka on po. lite fiterature it to as ypt rather defcient, although the acieetion hag beva very judiciuluy but however decirable it may be to angarent the rumber of volunure on miscelianenus &ubjects, the real ntjeet of the institution mast be kept eiradity in view, and it will continue to be the duty of the sumerintendent in purchasp, in profetener to aff others, books refhtug th the scienced taught in thes acadeny, and to supply the turcesmary works on ac-lutecture, chamistry, grulugy, mincralugy and moral science, in wheh the filuay in stith wry deticient.
The pliflowepincal appasatis anil astropomical instruments are of the beet hind and of the latert Iovemion, but many mort are requirod fulty tu illuxtrate the courve of natural philusnphy. The buitding which cantains the library and piniosophical apparatus is twith unsafe and unstable, and the rooms are sti smint and imeonvenirnt as not to admet of the morestary arrangement and display of thetu for usefui purposes. Many instruments of the plifionoplitcal apparatus, whish are delicate in their structure and uses, and require to be very nicely and accurately adjurtrd, are expoard is be injured by the constant and violent shaking of the edifice, and the finer autronninical insiruments eannot lie used from the pame reason and from want of space, A larye telescope is placed in a detaebed buiding entirely unsaited to its ueps.
For theer rwawons and from the intrinsie value of the books and lustinments, the braard reenombend the erection of a fire proof building with aa obeervatory anneard to it.
Upon a carrfui and minute examination of the public brildinga of the acadeiny, it haw bern found, that they ate inadequate to the purposery of the finstitutiom, and are not only barly conotrveted, but entirely too limited to afford conifortable of proper accomanodations for the cadrts whot are loderd in the in.
A unaber of eadets are frows ancersily pruwded into a sumit room, whict mut produce a pryjudicial effret upou their atidiew, their morals and their heatth. That they have bern exempt bitherts from the diecasers whicio are rngendered in ruibfiaed and ernwded apartments, is due altoge-ther the the admirable system of internal pullice aud striet attention to rleanismesf, which di-linguish every department of thim institution.
There is bevides a want of aceummodations for the aspistant prof-mpory; nuil the quartermuster, paywanter and adjutant are without ofliees. For all these purposes neariy fify new ruons are required. The buard would recomamend, that the superithtendem be instructed to furaish a plan of a bailding capable of uniting ali the accommodations required by the ofticers and ewdets now at the acadrmy, and of being estended whenever the government may think it expedient to enlarge thla inetilution, and render it peoportionate in our vast territories and rapidly iscreasing population; and that whenever it may be thought inereasing popptation; aud that whenever tit may be thought proper to erret the buildine now ralled for, ti thay be mo eonproper to ervet the building now ealled fry, it thay loe on eon-strueted an to form part of an edifiep hereater to be conpleted with more extensive arconumidations.

On examising into the fireal concerns of the neademy, the board had every reason to he natixficd, that grrnt rennomy but been exerelsed is the administratinn of this departmient of the institution, and efier rinily bear testimony to the oriler and repularity with whirh the books are kept, and the reeeipts and dismurcementa accounted for, as wrli as to the integrity and judicinus econouny with which the finances of the seademy are ad-mini-tered.
There are several sulijecte, the importance of which ia Aully understond and acknowledged by the paperintendent and arademic staff, but whichare not tanght in this lustintion for want of time. In military and eivii magineerong, it is thought that the following might be introdured with great advanager to the eadets: A conrse of applied meehauies on the invertigation and descrifution of anme of the moet usual nachines empliyged in the chunsruetinn of pmblic works. Somuen practicai exercisea in the fifld, such an laying ont and throwing ap mone of the works of a casapaign which are most notimarily used; batteries, trenches, cavaliers, the manaer of conducting saps, the conetruction of pahions and fascines, ke. ke. and a course of inpography as applied to military reconnosegancex; indeed, sueh is the vast importance of this branch, that a arw department embraring tive whole subjeet, could not f-1 to be very advantagenas to the military student.
In the departmest of natinral philoonphy, many Important practiral illustrations nilght be adrahtazronsofy intmoduced. At present, the experimental part of the course io princigatly confined to the lliuwtration of puch facts and gerneral principles as may he established hy ex periments exhititerf in tip prewellee of the entire clasa. Theme ith-tratione are attrnted with the mnet brnefic ial efferts, an they serve to make a very furcibie impossion of the mind ni the etudent, but thry are ainne insufficiont. It is fiequeativ limportant that the etudent nhoald nut only be aequalintnd with the natne and use of an instrument, but that be slonotd be ainfe to empiny it himelf. This can muly be done, when Fuffiemt time is athowed for each otgelent to make frequent ace of such Instramente ander the limmediate direction of the profenant.
This defieieney is particeniarly folt in the enursp of ameronomy, where an intimate arquainiance with the use of inetrmments, and the lative of swbonituing the data mrmiahed by nbservation in the process of caieniation, arr easentially necessary to enabie ohe atudent to apply hi" thenretical knowiedge to nsefui purponea. The Thistruction in practical asimaony the time which ean be devnted to this object belng searcely inore than sufficipnt in promit the profeasor to make the students acopuainted with the nojecta of the few instrumenta in the pomeserion of this departmrnt. This is certainiy a great defect $i_{i}$ important lines are frequently required to be ertabliched as boundarien between staten and territories of neighboriag na Lons, where the accurate use of instrumenta in of the lasi limportance, and the cadets of this academy ought to bet practically taught to tuee them with perfect coriectuess.
The prineipites of strategy of grand tactics taight be taught with advantage.
It is true that thare is no wonk treating of thowe subjects which is sutbelently coudensed and at the same thine periectly unexceptionable in its principles and iliasirations; but the same industiy and tatent which have lurmsised test books in other departuatats of mulitary science, unglit be eanployed for this purfose with great succeas, and lurisinh a series of lectures embractag a defintion of the tecisancal terms employed and of such general princlples as aduit of the clearest and most exact aIustration.

It appears always to have been desirahic that cavairy tactics should be taught at agreat national mititasy acailewsy. T'ita brasch has litherto beea totally meglected; bit it has become mure essentially secerwary sinee the arm has bewn added to the segular army of the country. The service of cavaliy mud horme artulery ought to form a pait of the practical instivetion of this acadetiny, and the board rowpertfully recomanend thas subject to your consideration. As the cadets are now occupied sedulously every hour of the day fin the proseculam of the studies now taught in this insututhon, it wifl be nccessary, if these subjects are teened of sutherent importance to be adied to the present consse, that the term of the aeademic study shouid be extended - or that the quabifications required on caiering the academy shouid be made nucil greater than ting now are. They are now lower than is required by any literary institution in this enuntry, and no doubt the frequent divaissal of those young men, who canbot keep up with their einst, arises prisicipaily frosu thas cause. Pareuts ought to be insimbised of the great advantage thear sons would derive the first year of their courne tof thin academy by being well grounded in the classics, in arithtnetic and algebra, and in the ruditnents of the Fraseh language.

The inanner in which the cadetw are Inrnurhed with clothing; was a subject of inquiry by the boaril, who were satisthed that this was done in the monst econownical manner. Their moems room was isspected white the casets were at their meals, and the board were satimed that the steward fuitilted hit contract fathfully, and suppliwd the tablew with abuadance.

Aa inquary having been made into the manner in which the cadets are supplied with the ciaws books and stationery, the board are sainified, after a carefal inventigation, that the cadets are supplied with all such articles at a tower price thau they can be purchased in New York and in the nost conveaient, jurt and economical manner; and that the arrangennent amale by the su. perintendent in this particular, is marked by the sume prudent economy, order and inteligence, which characterize the tmanagement of the institution.

The board haviag learat that the present superintendeat of the milutary academy, whose health liss sufferm from his cinse attention to the affairs of the institution, has, by hus own eolicitation, been called to tive performance of other dulien, canant forbese to express the very ling sense they entertain of tirm iserit and services during the long period of his conumand of the station.

To the knowledge acquired with this view by col. Thayer, the military academa of the United Itates owes its prewont artinirsble organization; and to liss zeal, capacity and unwrearied attos. tion to has duties, is to be attribtitrd the bigh state of discipline and improvement of the institution. To his exertione we owe is a great morusure the success of this estahlishment, the extensive usefulaess of which needs only to he understond by the aation to be fulty appreciated.

Ifadependently of werviag to diameninate over the vast territorice of the Unitod states, hnowiedge of a description which cannot enter into the usual courve of studius in othrr nendemies, and furnishing the aweana of readering most fffective our army and maitia, of sccuring our frontier and improving the commanications throngicout the states, it is calcuiated to ele. vate the moral state of the military profession in our eountry, the importance of which in the general interests of the astion, cannot be tho anuch insirtrd upon.

The aunats of listory prove, that success in arms if one of the most faitiful sources nf personal popuiarity, and in a consetry whore the snldier is still a ciuzen, and tany be catted upon to share in the civit soverniment, or rise to the histhest bosors of the state, the stasadaral of study and diacipline cansot be too bigh, which developes his talinte and form his character. Tive same annala show that at the close of asccessful wars, the tibertiom of country depend in a great measure upon the character of its ar-mien-at sucha perind the fortuante soldier posspases power, and creat and probably well earncd popularity, anul it his clonracter is not so elevated by nature of education as to lead him ta prefer the oolid fame of laving preperved the llhertirs of bis fellow citl. sens to the glitier of falsc ambitinn, and to sacrifice all peronal views of aggrandizement to the good of hid ensatty, he may plunge the atate lato anarehy or rivet upon his fullow eiti cens the clanass of dewpotism. If ever the libertice of the states of Earope ohall be recuvered, it will be effected through the innproved condilion, character and ednention of thelf officers and coldiers; and while we indulge the hope that the liberty of these states reste upion too firm a basis to be overthrown by the amhi. thon of those who eompone our armies, it canaot be eoncealed that if they were not instructed, their ignoranee and depravity might aeriously endanger the peace of the country.

The board have ohserved with some regret, that the old works in the neighborhood of the acadeiny have beea in some instances, dinturbed. 'I'hey ought, in their opinion, to be preserved as monaments of the gtorious etruggle, which pecured our iadepundence. The contemplation of such memarials cannot fail to have a beweficial effect. They are calcolated to inspire all Atsericans with sentiasents of exatied patrionsan, and to remind the of of the extraurdinary effurts and ereat ancribiced made by our forefathers to achieve the itberty and independence of the eountry-and cannot fast to load thein to forms virtuous resolutions and to reflect, that as ineirs of the lunimortal fame of their ancestorg, they are bound in emulate their ploriotse career, and preserve their bright inheritance with the same isflexible courage and undeviannes purpoome.

STEPHEN VAN RENBUEL.AER, Frevident.

| Craples Covrin, |  |
| :---: | :---: |
|  | J. R. Buaden, |
| J. 8. SEINMEA, |  |
| LEvix GaLk, |  |
| Jas. Rusasti, |  |
| 'r. Hastiey C |  |
| F. Banct, |  |
|  | John R. Fenwtce, br |
|  | James Banemeab, |

Eaal Poinsktt,
J. R. Bueden
. 8. DeimyEa
Junx Fonsytin,
JosEPH C, Yates, James Fenmea, Jomi A. Tombimeox, F. B. Povali, Virgenia. R. Pollaab, Virginia. (1. Reab, Delaware. J. Ruages, Delaware.

JOIIN NORVELL. secretary.

The following list, says the American, presents the ammes of the first five endets of each class attached to the army register, coaforimably to a regulation for the government of the military academy, requiring the names of the mort distingulshed cadets, not exceeding five in each clasw, to be reported for thas purpose after each annual examination.
The cadets of the first clas having completed their acadcmic ourse, have ief the iantitution.
Firsi Class. . . Frederick A. Smith, Maseachusetts.
Jonathan G. Barnard, do.
Geurge W. Cullum, Penasyivania.
Rufus King, New York.
Prancis H. Smith, Virgunia
Second Class. . . William Smith, New York
John Nandery, Florida.
Robert Alten, Ist, Marylańd.
Harrison Loughborough, Kentucky.
Wilitam T. Stocktou, Pennayivania.
Charles H. Bigelow, Massachusetts.
Charles J. Whiting, Maims.
John M. Lergate, New Yors.
Juhn H. Martundale, do.
Thomas 'T. Gantt, Maryland.
Fourth Class.
Dasville Leadbetter, Maise.
Alesaader Haailton, New York.
Harnabas Conkilng, do.
Joseph R. Anilersou, Virginia.

NEW YORK CANALS.
Canal collcrtor's oflice, Albany, Dec. 24, 1872.
The whole quantity of down freight, upon which tolt is charg ed by weught, that was conveyed os the Now York canale to the city of Albuny, during the segmon of canal navigation in the year Itita, announts to one hosidred and nine thoukand, thtre bundred tins, estimating a ton at two thousasd poonde, and conajnts principalty of the follnwing articles Aratved-422, 995 barrels of fions, 19,021 do. ashes, 21,974 do. beef and pork, 27,117 hushels math, 21,265 horrels whiskey, 1,274 hhds. do. 145,960 busbels of wheat, 57,929 do. coarse grais, 151,014 do. barley.

Also the folluwing property upon which toll is not eharged hy weight.

15,924 cords of wood, 55,569 feet of solid timber, $36,020,594$ do. wawed Iumber.
The quantity of merchandise, sc. that was conveyed on the canals from the city of Albany, was forty six thousand averen hundred avid mincty-one tonm, and the anount of toll paid thereOn at this ofice, is twn hundred and thirty pix thousand ais hundred and tweaty eight doliars. The number of boals that arrived at and depasted frotn Abbuny te thirteen thoumand five hundred and twenty one. JOIIN B. g'TAAT's, collector.
The fillowiug schedale presents a comparative view of the freigite on the canal arrived nt Albany during the Ingt four years.

The amnant of tolls received at Albany,
In 1 lesy was 161,418 64
212,02727
969,44373
1831
256,628 00
The decrease in 1892 as compared with 1831, is atuributable to the ebolera.

CHESAPEAKE ANI OHIO CANAL.

We eopy  Amerkun.

Chesapalan and report of the presideat and direetors of the the ample ant (no comil comany occupmes one entire page of the ample sheet of the National finelistencer of yesterday, It is an importatut and valuable ducumeut, but entirely too long for repulbseation int this paper. We can ouly futaish au abatract of Ure principal statemuents, as to the progress of the work, its condrum and proipects, and the finatees of the conpany.
The prevalence of the chodera in the valley of the Potomac duing lant suinner retarded the works, but notwithstanding Wint thatruction, the tuost conally part of the new line above Harperts Ferty, ( 14 uriles in leng(h), bas been completend, bringing 36 milex more into uxe, which were firmerly without water, po that by the firmt of July buata may enter the canal from the bed of the Potomace atoove llatper'g Frerry lialls, or from the Sheuandoalt, int the nudno of thesu. The works above tiof falls have proceeded with like dilyence.
The foree eaphiyycd on this part averagrd, for the five weekn preceding the leth of May, 9, TOU Latnorets, 635 borver, nules and "Igen, and the powder employed in Ibasting rock, 7,000 pounds a week. The entire force on the canal, for the wame petiont, was 4,460 laboters, 1,048 lvornes, mules and nsen, wid an average weekly consuaption on 10,000 ponunds of gunpow det.

The work doam since the Int nt May, 1822 , has cur 18915,91189 , of which ${ }^{7} 753,01925$ was expeuded above the Point af Rocks, and 8169,10263 below. Of the latter sum 853,10735 was expended in the city of Waalingion, and -521, 220 72 at the Little Falls dams. Tins excludes cost if superintendenee, land purchaves, condeminatinns and meidental expeares.
The amouat necessary to two done belore the firm nf October nest, in order to fultil the coniracta, and complete the tine of 102 miles of canal and 15 miles of sull water navigntion, the report atated in the following form, datise from the first of May last. At that the there muatacd to be dona,
For the line of canal, in Wialungton,
For that betwrent the Puint of loocks and the head of Harper's Ferry falls,
For that above these fislts, and bellow the ferry at Shepherdstown, inclusive of the lock just let,
Aad for that above sloepherdatown,
11,740 29
94,545 00
82,537 00

Making the total amount,
9502,815 514
Bome of these are stated as itucidental works, the coustruction of which may be deferred.
To this sum must be added 412,500 for another lock npposite to Shepherdatown in complance with the conditioas of the Virginia subecription. The board has Neternilaed to transfer the liocks above, to a pointbelow and iacreave the canal fowr miles, diminishing the sull water navigathon that much, and thus add 8100,000 to the cout of the canal. Thesen mums, ( 9100,000 and $(12,500)$, added in the aggregatr above, give 8815,31551 as the estimated expenditures to be tonde betwers the firpt of May last and first of Oetnoter next, to fuitht the contract. Nearly the whole line below Shepherdstow a will be finished by the firat of Auguat, and the repul anticipatea that $n$ concentration of all the force on the line above that point, would finish it ia due tisne.
The nimment inf expenditures fir the year ending May lat ult. was ${ }^{6} \mathrm{er}^{21}, 39274$ in the following proportione- For construction, \%754,573 87; engincer deppartunr-nt, $919,4: 330$; pay of ollicers, 66,985 :00; lande 817,655 99, berides incideatal expronees. A large ampunt, $n M$ included ia the above, ta retained by contracta as security furf diligence and filelity in the contractors.
The sman requiral from May firmt to October first, are slated as fillownt The extimatr- of cont of ennstruction as stated above Is gets, $3^{3}$ ), which, added to the retnined amount due eomiractors, is, excturive of April estianate and the retained unoney of the imonth of May, &e.
To which add for these items, engineer allowance?, experses, isc.

Total eun required

To meet this the resources arr:--eash, Uacalled for and ancollected atork Amount to be received from the rail mad company, above the cost of graduating road, ke.

170,000 00
41,993,104 54
The report thus ahows a surplus of gife, 000 , after coinpleting 117 miles of canal and slill water navightion. Upon the faith of this surptus, enasideriag it applicable to the extensina of the eastera divipion of the canal to Cacapon, they have directed the necessary location and aurvey. Tliss sum is to be used to prrepare the necessary dams and aqueductu in part, duriag the succeoting antimn. The estimatrs firt the remaining 75 miles of itie eastern section of the canal are the next general head, prelininary to which the report enters into several statements to show the economy with which the work has been prosecuted. They show that exclusive of ais miles below tide water, 100 miles of the canal, three of tuw path beneath a cliff of rocks, and 11 of slack water aavigation, have been made at an expense of less than ${ }^{\text {ge2 }}, 000$ per mile, and that ti miles above Hasper's Ferry have cost inclinding land jurchases, condennations, and every thing but contingent expenses, less thas 825,000 per mile.

At thas latter sum is estimated the coat of the remaining 75 miles, asakisg a total of & $1,850,000-$ of which the pecuniary repources of the company, alakiug due allowance for unavailable stock, do not at present supply more than si50,000; leaving, consequeaily, fl, 700,000 to be hereafter provided.
Tosupply thas dencieney, ultibately, much reliance is placed on the wnter rigits grabied by the chnrtens of Virgiaia alad Maryland, but my application th thint resource in adviset againat, until the final twsue of "ihe legal controversy, respecting ita just extront, now depending, ia the supreme cnurt of the United Btates, and the lsane of sueh cflists as the friends of the canal ia Mnryland, may mak', to liberate the reeent grant of that state fronthose restricuons which prevent it foou being respousive, in terus to the preceding act of Vinginia."
It is reemmmended that lior the presint, loans should be sought for on the future exerctse of these rights, and coufident expectatione nre expressed of future sulsecriphlimas by Maryland, Virginia and the tinited states. The comphiance of the canal comnpany with conditions annexed to the subseription of Vingusia, and their acceptance of the compromive law of Marylaed, in favor of the rail road cumpany, are urged as giviug them clans to furtiser faver.
The report lurtier enntemplates the aid nf the United Statea In the enployment of the army, to, tunat the Alirghany nowntains.

The toll for the Insi year were -922,6as 85 , and the whole
 The rest of the sepprit crnsirts of stabe opeculatmons upon the fiture porductiveness of the canal after it shall have reached the coal ryioa, aml a lintory of the conuprounive with the rail road company, iu whels the follow ing parazinuli ocenfs:-

When the canal shall have bren connileted, as the undersigned now enafillently trustr it will be, wutheth further embartassment, whille the gail toad car bo seen pursulug tis rapid conrse to the snetit, ant the canal boate stradily urging thetr course to the weat, the line uf but twelve malion for which these great works are brought is contact, by the late comprounise will dwimile into a ponit, lont of eallision betweell embiterted t vals, but of uninu loetween generous fiends, seehing, by different means, a common olgject-the public goud.

THE LATE COL. WM. MACREE.

Wiltions Mackee was a native of W'ilmungron, N. C. the son of eapt. G. S, MacRee, of the eontinental lithe if itint piate. In the year 1003, at the age of 14 lie was accidentally aret hy the lats and venerated chier of the engiseers, col. Williams, who, discoverling in him aa ardent and inguisitive anind, procared for him a cadetship of the military acadeniy. In two yeara, MacRee was commissioned is the enginpers.

At the comimencenent of the late war, he had obtained a majofity In that corps. The war reased bis genius and brought it to notice. His talents had bern umefully cimploged at vatious poists of the union, briween Georgla and Canada. The asnals of the frontier war at Niagnra show that to MacRee's military genius and valor, gen. Ihrown, with just magnanimity, ascribed mach of the bext succeas of the army.
Prace froud the virimius and numlest MarRee rewarded with a brevets. In the fullowing year the gov rrmusent amsonelated bina with the thetl major (now entlonel) Thayer, in a missint to France, to collect the reevrds of Ehoonean imiliary acirnce and experience, for the noe of the military academy; which pervice was most ably performed. In the yrar ISI9, cill. Mackee retired from the army in private litio, tren whence the governument aad individual statea sought io draw his talemis for jurominemb stations, which he modestly declined-fiaally acerpling tire sur-veyor-generalship of Masouri, &e. In Uie तischarge of the detues of that tronblesone and thanklere nffice, preparatory in again retiring to privary, lois cateer in this lifr was arrerted by cholera, in the 46 th year of his agen, at Ni. Imais, in May, IREs.
Colonel MacRee wan diatingtiolied hy a bighly coltivatrd unind, strong reasobing faculties, aad a pafe judgnent: to which were united the talents of a general and the virtnex of bearvolbince. His society was engerly coveted; hia ennver*ation was mont Interesting. Ilis retiring modesty and deformace th otherty, made it differlt to draw him firth; but wien the growiwg interval of a topic load exeited his attention, his eloxquence breame alike attraetive and instuctive. Flucated by and fur toe mation at an institutioa where sectional and perminal obyjec ta are lint in a patriotic devotion to the whast- mition, rultru asd free, MreRee Was never kanwa in be a mearber of any politicul pariy.
From early gouth his deportment was ever ernve and digulfied; his personal attachments few, warm and steady.
[Nat, Int.

COLDECTUR AT NEW OHLEEANS.
The commitiee appointed ly the merchants and nethers of New Orleans signers of a meumorial addresed to the president of the C'nited States, remonstrating against the official conduct of Mar-

In Gordow, enllertor of the port of New Orleans, are now engited in aresidance with the requent of the secretary of the ti+aoury, eontationd in the followiug lenter, in preparing a specificathon of the farta u , on which they reiy to sustain the clourges by theis made in watd memberial.

The ecomultiee raqumat that persons disponed to make any ennerunications on this sulyect, will aldoeks them to W'Hball Ruberous, charman of said emarninter, ir to
W. A. tiANQUET , vect efary.

[corr-]

TYeosary department, April i56A, 1833.
Gentidere-The prestdent having mad the armorial which was atdreaped to him by 5 ot , relanve to the conduet of the culbectur of New Corleanis, has instructed me to inform you tiat before he crn form any opipion mi the zulyect, ine deatis it proper that the partucular arte complatned of should he statesl, and that the collector obould bave an mpportunty to be beand in lus defence.
Inw are tharefore requested to wate particulariy the acts nf ty ranuy, perserenton and $\mathrm{in}=\mathrm{nli}$, and other improper conduct at Irged to have bern cominited liy litus, thwarda whan, and at given who lave persintal knowledge ot the acts, and whit yomt perceive are necmasary til be ftated, that the collector way have the proper weans ot defence.
A copy of your consounication, ani of this ietter, will be thit day transmitted th the: eodleconr, and it to recounmended titat ir any wina itic chatges it the firm proposed be sent th ithe dy partcuent, yont should at the san日 Luse, furmilh the coltbetor with a eupy. I aun, very reapectifully, your ebedirnt servait, 1.bUis Mici.ANE, verelury of the treanury.

Messts. W. L. Robeson & Co. and others, New Urleuns.

PATENT RIGITTH-LAW CASES.
Yrom the -4merican of May 31.
We have receivect for publictution the following detnited antiee of the trial of the case which has occuprod the $U$. States eireult court for this district durnug the lart three wepks:
Jumed Wright, va. the Hultimore and Ohio rail road company. This case serminated on Wednesday, afer a laborinus investigation of twenty-bive days. The plantiff, in Eeptrmber, 1829 , obtained a patent for the eombination of the conical torm of the edges of the wheele, and the vibratory motion of the niler, to make a rail mad ear travel with equal facility on straight athd curved roods: atid the action waw brought for an alloged inva-ion of the patent right by the defrominuts. The only quention wien, whetuer the tuvention of the combination had been known and uec, within the meaning of the act of enngress, ptior to the date in the plaiutuf's patent: for, if so, his patent was void. Tn pruve such a ose and knowledge, the defeudants offired in evs-dence-1hat the Wimans' Irictow, wheci, pateuted by the inventor, in Oetobvir isese, and the use of wheli they hid purchased, could sut be applied tol the coned wheels in use on rail rouds, at the date ut une patent, without producing, an an incvitable cunsequence, the combmation of eane and vibrationt, identient in prinesple with that cianned lay the patenten: and that it had been mo npplied, anterner to the date of the plaintif mpatent. It was alenp pruved, that the cour, un the edzera of rati roan wherim, was Well kuawo, and used, ith Fingtand, as factitating the thrning of evives, long betrre the date of the plaintif's patent, and the defondants contended, that in recovery, thercfore, by the plantiff, would depasve thens ul the use of a right, purchased in iezs, attinught the ralress date of the discovery of Wroght wily wht back as far an ure lat day of september IB29, and althouth the origonality and merit of Winans' invention was undapmied. In tip perdent of thss, thowever, the cledendants offered evidence in pown that in January itegs, Winand went us Enghand to pwriect bus irictum wheel, whal in Marrh, 1829, appliard th to the coned whepi cars, on the Liverpoui and Mancinentes rail robad, nsing the flanges on the outside, with the wheels looze on the axies; that atter one or twa trials be reveresd the wheelo, fastened Unem to the axion, to see how the cone ceonid act; and thus, has Irction wheels neceanarily, having the viloration, produced the eombination of the cone and vibratiog aste; that, weengg liminediately the success of the coasthinaino, he proceeded to make the calculabutu uecosaary to ascertain the cone that wowhil be required for virves of 400 feot radins, ihe linut on the Haltimore with wheein conted fur curves of 40 V fert radinx, with whech various experispents were imanie to his "allufartion, thape annong other thugs how ite incrin-pd play would des on a straight road like the Liverymonl and Alancherict coad, duing the inimitiof Jnty, 1829. That this car was mint atter the exprerinappta made with it, was slulpped to the Haltinuore and (Hino ruil road compasny, on the 25 ih m July, 1829 , and renctied the Vimend ktates on the 22 nd of septeniber, 1829 , and in the ppring of 18630 , as aonon as railo wroe land down line llanges on the huside, the ear, thes sungirtod, was pal on the rash, abpwered all the purposes contemphated My Mr. Winana, tirrad the eurven by menne of the conr aud vibsatron, and wan used notit the whesis, which wrere east wfoft nu-tul, nut elinlled, wore mut on the coned part. That the same ear, with wherle of the ronn and eylondep form, likr thow at prespent usent, (and whase operition wor proved to he the same in principle with the whre!s sent oul hy Atr. Hinans) whe triad. That when the car was sent to the United Slates fte peoperios th turo curves by the comblnation were communicated by Mr. Whans to the Mrsarn. fiowwis and nthern, in Liverpoots That in the mouth of August, 1829, Mr. Wioane ctopleryed an English suliritor to pr-pare a spectication of bic invemions, copy of whith ryoritication wan produced in court, and withgentra were exathined to prove that it emtained a dercription of a a+il matju-thug ear, acting upen the princople parewted by the plaluitif in the Seplember following. Upin tue evidence bere etar-d, the defendinut- conceived that they had prov-d, that the plaintiff was not the. firuf and true inerntor of the comblination, im the nuanthg of the patemt law, but that it liad been kmown and used before the date of hils eopponed inveution; and varinase prayert, having refore ace in thin quertion, wroe offiered to the court. With irgard in the enurt's dreision upon there, no opiAiout is Intended in the expresved, as it will be brought befire une sulurave eourt on apprat. The verdert of the Jury, in favor of the plailiniff, was hur 83,100, a sumi just pufticient in authorive bern taken; and the rail road company in any future suits, it is posathle, would have heen preventid from disputhog the plainfiff stifle, and liontted to the acectianment only of the anousut of dunnages.

From the Porttand Courier.
The fatent baker cuse. This was an aethin for damage brought by 1. Iohaon, of Cunecticut, against C'auphlsill & Mills, of Bangor, fir making and vruling double reflecting thakers, for whels and ibobsun hud a patvit rugh. It occupied about a day and a bali before the Unitad Siates circuit romit, in this place last werk, and escited a gond deal of interest. The case was manated on the part in the plaintift hy Aleapra. Gupenleaf, Fesectiodeu and itoblous, num inr the defindant by Mr. Surague.
The plaintuf proved his patent sight, aud aien proved by deponitions that defendants had unade and veaded twu or thiree thowsand of the hakers.

The argumenta of the counsel were able and ingeninus, and the charge of juige story as usunl learmed and introsthig. The jury after beoug abpent a tiovt time, returfid with a verdiet of 180 dotlars for the plaintiff. And the inw in such cases allowIng triple datiages, the plaintiff recovers 360 dnilars and cotts.
Masächusetts superior juticial conet, Bristol county, April term, 186S.

E. G. Pereing w. Jamen Sthphene.

Mr. P. the plaintiff its this canee, is an engraver of eetebrity in the city of New York, and Mr. Etepliens, the defpedant, is the topugrajhical engueer in the state of Mnssaehuselts.
The nature n the netion and the evirlence produced on the trial by the plaintoff, elicited ats intrnae interest.
The delendant offered an testimany.
The activn whs to recover the value of a copper plate engraved by Mr. P. calted the "Village Coguetfe," drponited into the hands of a third person, from whomit was ohtained by Mr. 8 , In a fraudulent manner, who canmedi a isrge number of impressions in be taken therefrom, having erased the name of Peikins, Altre an able charge from judge Wilde, the jury found a verdiet for the plamilf & 300 and costs.

Warren for plaintiff; Baylie fir defendant.
PENNSYLVANIA CANAL DEBT.
More than lualf the amonnt of this debe ts it the hands of foreiguera; but the li-t la a very mottey one. We erpy the followIng natics from the Harrivburg 'I'rlegraph. It showy that foreigneru fave great ennfifence in the givernment of that state and of the conntry; nud that while we enjoy sweh confidence caputal will be ahundant
The whole anmuint heid by fircigners in $99,301,712$ out of S16, 463,661 , nr upwards of one half of the whole. A mong this eurinus llat we potire the following:-His rnyal highness Charies, Seyurmir Conway, masquie of Hrriforil, 21,200; John Marsball, of Leedn, 33,700 ; do. 23 , 200 ; pir Charles Rieliard Blont, of Heathfield Park, Sunvex, 20,000; count de Excevill, of Paris, 7,500; R. I. Thompron, of Kirty IInll, Yorkshire, 96,60093 , adnulral Feilow: of Portman mquare, London, 19,000; Mr. Heary Pelinws, of Ramsay Abbey, Hontinglon-hire, 25,000; Wihclanins Plillipina Van Thyi V an Erronkkerken of Amsterdam, zum not suated; right linn. W'ilinm Alexander, of London, $1 t$, 500 ; Sambel Gurn-y, uf Lnndon, 2., Mio; John Hey Paget, of Torteridge, Fiogland, 18,678 47; Mr. shrepplinnk $=$, of Lipeds, 7,60470 ; gen. Thomion, of Herfordehire, 14,000; Alisel rucker, of 81 . Tbomas, 91,000 ; Candrlaris Yanil de Bell, of St. Jagn de Cuha, 27.800; Lnuis Albert de Brancans, dilke of Cereste, 500 ; Ma. dami Lousa Paulina de Chastellinx, enontese de Damas, of Pario, 32,900; major general Joham Maikter, of Marwiek, Engiand, 91,000 ; the hon. A nue Ru*hons. of Wanatead, Esser co. 20,000; Andrew sh.rvice, of Iondon, 32.353 56; Alrxandey Salinderann, of Casile Saunderaon, eonniy of Cavan, Ireland, 20.000; Emanuel Vietnr Paurray de L'Auheruedizerre de Quinsonal, nf Parla, 90,000; Guwan and Mrra, of L.rndnn, 97,400; Josefa Eapenoain Ap Gusata, of Mexien, 3 , 300 67; Thomas Corterell, of Birrmingtram, Eugland, 17,614 3e; Witliant Death, of Hesta en. $24.000_{6}$ Pierre Mnria Dit Durirns, of South Waiex, 6,58141 ; Williae Jolv Jacot, Hurry, of Grent Yarmnath, 6,480 \%\%; Riehand Bolas Hali, of Wye, 21,8On; Jnhn Hali, of do. 16,800; Jnhn Bacop Sawnv Morfiti, of Rokehy Park, Yorkuhire, 29.000: Mrs. Ana Bedfern, of Birminglianm, 25,65j 23; Helene Francove Yert Guiliaume Favre, of Geneva, Ann Selonia Farser and lient. col. Whllatu Faweett, of Bath, Eushaud, $26,000+$ Johannes de Ver and Ptulyp Disk Tlimpporin Miltus spht, of St Enstatia, 15,000 ; Charles Lomis cimit de Vogere nt France, 4 , NOO; Rulwert Peel, eaq. of Park Ciewcent, Portland Jlare, 1andun, 20,000 Philip Lauiva de Pvy ronnet Baron de saint Marcr, 6,700 .

 nre it the bighest digrve unique aud odd, worthy of a place is a hew dictuouaty of pmoper names.

Will not some of the "reforners" spoak to this? Whatthe canal onf "d morratio "" Prousylvania dipen d by forefgn money - 1 lie momey of dukva aull louls, and kntghts and sinices, in Eingland, France, and el-ewhere! It is a "hurning plante" that forcigners should hold stock in the bank of the Eniten States, though they have no control over the direction uf ita affilits-hut paog Pronasivania, how deroly tnsel slie be amber "foreign inflitence!" Wall not sonue receat "blue loght fode ralint," but now "wool-djed demurerat," prupener, in the nest cilling nf the Irgislature, to pay nt the eatal debt, for the anle purpmor of getting id of roval nud most moble and righ honoraBle, and howorable foreign ereditor-?

LAW OF PENNSYINANIA.

An act to abolish imprisonment for debt, and jor other parposes. siec. I. Be it enacted, That flive consi on apprale Iwnetuaflei entercd, from the juizmente of ilve jurtipes of the jeace and aldermen aball abide the event of onit, and he paid by the unawecesoful party as in nther cases. PYoriderl, Thal if she paintiff be the appeliant, he shall jay all mote that may acerue thit th: appoal if it the event of the silt he rinall not recover a grvaser unm, or a mose favirable judztiont than was remdered by the ju-tice. And prorided ulsa, That il the defiriant, either in the trial of the casse befire the justice or the reffrum, or before an sppeal is taken, shanll offor to give thie phaintifi a judguent for lise anousut whols the defendant shall aslunt so be dur, which offer it shall be the dury of slie jusisue and of the refiermes to eater on the treord, anol if fand plahotiff or his agent shail not aceept auch offrr, then in that case, if the defeudant shall ap peal, the polahitiff phall pay all the en-t, whoh slualt arerne on the appral, if he shalt in evrut of the poit recover a sroatry amount thas that for which the alefendont offered to give a judgenent, aud in both casre the dnfendani's bill shall be tased and poid by the plaintiti, in the pance manins: an If a judgampht lasd bcen render. ed in the court for the firfendant.
Sec. 2 -ind be it further enucted, Thuat mon minh nf any act of assetubly an is altercid or supplied by this act, whill be and is bery hy ry preafed.
stec. 3. sind be it further emacted, That all the jurisidiction, abil for the terrinary now in posensitun of the guscrnuent of the T'utted States, and occupled $a=$ nin asplun, fituate in the thwnship of Parsyunk, county of Pliladolphia, is hereby eeded and ciniveydd, tugethre with all the bullatige and applartomances ther punto belonging, to the goverumirnt of the U. gitatrs; Provided alonazs, nereithefess, Tbat the reasion lierrby made shall contunue in force as Iong as the same turitory slatili be nowd by the qusernment of the Unival Sisatis for the parpore of a naval anylum, and that nothing herrlin contaiherd sliall esonerate ratd propperty from taxation; froelded forther, That sil procrwas civil ant criminal, of the commonwoalth of Powneslvania, shati cxifnd inten and be effectual within the territory herelay ceded, as if thip law had not pasket; Prorited also, Tliat thls aet plati not provent the opening of atruete, lanea or alley*, whiett luave been laid nut, or are authorised to be land out, through said pro periy.

Acc. 4. And be if further enaefor, That from and after the paseage of thils art no perionn whall he imprianied for any drbt or sum of ommety, due on contract, contrated fiom and after the Gurth of Juty tursi, where the drht demmandrd, is less that five dollars and thirty four ernts explusive of comt Approred April $9,1 \times 3$.

NFGRO SLAVYRY,

Frown the Sidernnal Georgion.

The nullifiers, driven with di-grace from the stand thry orru. piral, disappointed in enlisting tive os mparther and gaming the Covir of the prople of the mantiefin stativs, have promatinsely; rambly, madiy, agatated the siblo et of slavery, as a last derperrat' effort in eatse them tw make n conumutn pause againat the nowth. They bave inpuited on the pernple of the nurth, a sectisd dewign to intrrfre with our domestic palicy, which esarte fon where but in their teeming iansgaations and rlols fancire. In vala have the tonst reypretalate presses at the north repetived the aeresation with indignation, in vain have tbey apgured their betbren of the Fonith, that the itmo of affection and inicreqi between thrn aic tonstinng to be lightly and noadriaedly wevered. With this alirclaimer, shall we say tive wh ked and detensta We cforts of such wretches as - shit show a ortiled jolley an the part of the nurth! glrall we by diacumsimi give to their argumenta m eroweideration whicli their intrinole value never could give? The efforla of fanatirs caonot he eft thely pieventrd by the frnalble part of the commanity, but let us not lingute to the many thir deaigne of the fere. Wie regrm that this rubjuct ever fhould have been staited, and we regret [^26]otall more the auanner in which the Calbuan preases in and ows of the state, have frated it. It is ton platil that they are endenvortag to fower porjudies and espate todirs which they may turn to turir ow'n politital aggranilizement.

Mr. Juhn Enttri, $x$ bo is well known to this community ae a lively buteresi lin the we lfate of firitipa, taving eneen the diacusrettatoing If there orally was a just loundation tor the areusme thous brought mgenntt the noitb. Ite accordingly aidereserd a Ietier the the lonurable bebivl Wrbstry, who in recugnized on all hande as the hrail uf sim fiverait party at the nurth, and whore opinuone therefine oray be faisly asputned to be thome of the party at large. The letter of Mr. Rothoul will explain mis patreste matuver in writing it. Win take great ploavire in laying belure our rendi is the natwer of this di-tughished statesimati. These betters have been whighigly furusised us by a Iflend.

Mr. Bullon to the honorable Damiel H'ebster.
New York, May 16, 1833.
Hon. Danicl W'ebster,
Deat mik-II canhot have excaped your observation, that watur doctursbor are bow going of in many of the eoutbern papirst, and math agitation is lett in irigned in a poition of the somuth, in the rubject of slavery, and uf moputed deengas at the onoth mathast the security aud value st that upelew of property.
I luve been wo long and rinecty counterted with Georgin, that I ant perliaps more whtchfol that minat olliete in this quarter of such dimenspiony as these, and having rwason turrerver to ap preliend that, at this partuculat junctury, the teudency, if not the delabernte am and pmrpose, is to risite univerval uncasiness and dirtrust in the slave loolding rtates, and by emsequence, to finnent jealousies and heart buinmgx mgatist tie nost-plave holdIng slates, whirh de-iguing politiztase thay turn to miselilevaua accuinn; i bave felt destrous sithe tomr emversation thas morsIng of obtainiug nu expression in writing if jour views, as to the power ot enngreas on the subject if olaves and slavery, and aloo as to the existence of any with of design on the part of morthern un-n, to intertere in any way with use seeuring or regulation of that spretes of properity.
My immediate olject th thus weking to obtain a writien ezprexpling of suur opision on tifee pubjects is, that I may commusicate it to a di-tingat-had fivend af mise in Georgin, who shares In my solientuie in telation theretn, and throagh hian to the public at large.
I ain, dear sir, with great respect, and esteem, your obediest sersanh.
(Sigucal)
JOHN BOLTON.

Mr. Webster's anszer fo Mr. Boltom.

New York, May 174h, 1833.
My dear silf-I have received ynur letter of last evening, requesting tue to state my opinimin of the powers of congrean on the subjert of slaves and slavery; and of the existence of may whh or depign, on the part of the northern mana, to Interfere With the eecurity or rogulation nit tat powcies of properiy.
My artismeuts on this rubject, my dear, sir, bave beca often puillirly espresprd; but I cau have no otbjeption to repeat the declafatim of thew, it it be thought by yuu that snch a declaratoun mught, it the smallest dragrey, aid the frirndx of union and the consinution io the suthth, in dispelling pr-judices which are so industrmunly fustred, and in quetiug agitauons so ubsecessarily kept alive.

In any wionin, the domestic slavery of the southern states is a subjref willun the esi lu-ive contion of the states themetives; and, thas, I ams surr, is the opinton it the whole north. Consgress has no anthority to interterr in the emanripation of slavep, of in the treaturent int thrm in any of the athten. Thix was so rosolvid by the loonee of riprestentativen, when rongrese sat in tina city in 1990, on the repurt of a cembmittee, consirting almopt entirely of nutioren membersi and I da not kumw an instance of' the esprespanit of in dillerent upinion, in pither house of congress, thure. I eathnt way that patbular Individualm night not power ovir the subjert, lint I do not know any atel persmas, and it there be any, I am sure they are tew. The servitude of *o great a purtion ot the popitation of the south ts, undoubtedly, regarded at the norith, a a great exil, moral and poltical; and the dirensouns opus $h$, which have reernily taken place in the legiflatures of neveral of the slave-bobling states, have born read whit vrry drep interert. Rui it l= regarded, nevertheless, ne an evil, the renedy for which lifs will thme logislatures themselver, to be provided and applind according to their own spast of poliey and duty. The umputationa whu h you say, and say truly, are constanity nuite againit the north, are, in my oploon, entirely desutnte of any Jusi fomndation. I have endeavorrd to repel thein, fn far as has been in iny power, on all proper occasions; nnd for a fuller expression of my nwh optitions, both nit the power sf enngriw, and on the gromndiese cluargex agansi northrousuen, itheg leqve to refor von to my remarks in the debate on Mr Font's resolutions In 1830.

I ann, my dear sir, with mueli true rrgard, yrurr obrdient dervant, DAN'L WEBETER.

To John Rolton, esq.

[^27]
BRITIBH COLONIAL SLAVERY.  \section*{From the John Bull.}

The following documents, copies of which have been tranamitted to each member of the legislature, are submitted to the consideration of the British publie:
W. India committee rooms, 60, St. James'of. Ist March, 1833. The actiag committee of West Indin plahters and mierchants respectfully invite your attention to the enclosed statement, exhibitug the case of a large class of your fullow sutjects who are wholly anrupresented in the British legislature.
The West ladin colonists do not propose to viadicate the sys. teth of slavery, but they consider that (to use the words of lord stowel) "if it be a sin, it is a sun in which the country has had its full share of guilt, and ought to bear ita proportion of the re demption."
The colonists themselves are ready to bear their share of nny nationnl aacrifice which may be required for the purpose of cnutiously aubatituting $n$ better aystent, If sueh shonid the the national deternituaturn; but they mean to shew by the aecompanying paper, that Grent Briain is herself responntble for the eatablishment and actual existence of colonial alavery--that with the view of extending the market for ther African trade, she passed laws nud made grantes of land expreaply enjolulug cultivation in the colonies by sfave labor; nnd that thum through the instrameutatity of her subjects all eagerly contending for participation In the tratilie, she gradually peotpled the Weat Indin colonies with slaves, and received the value of them in mosey, consequently that any ueasure of the Irgislative interfirence tendiug to impair or eudanger the value of pruperty so ncquired, twuat either be acewnpanied by adequate coupmonation, fr give n denth-blow to that confilence in tue naturnil thith and charac. ter which has hitherto been the sute support of private properiy in this country.

But without reference to the Just claim of the planter to compensamon, there are ofter eonsulerations whith ought to soggest cnufion to the statestinatiand the philanthropish, whell deaiing with the question of slavery.

It will be aluntted thit, uinder any changes of system the continuance of active culuvation in tiee colinates by Fiurojeans is inot oniy of vital importanee to the mintersta of the musther country, but undappusabiy neceswary wo the deaired object of raisting the n mgro ill the scale of soctely. While, therefore, it remains unascertained by actual cxpernuent that the negro will give continuovs labor, and lor reasonable wages, as a free man-and white the weight of evidence nud espertence discourages the expectation of lis willingly consenting to da so-there nuust be the greatert dnuger that any hasty clange of ay $k t \mathrm{em}$, unacenmpnnied by reguintons calculnted to insure the slavea becoming an industrious peasantry, and to teach thein the dutius and obIfgations of civil wociety, would lead th the iminealate deatruction of the colvmes, nhd throw the black population into a state of barbarnsm.

That you may be enabled to judge of the effeet which such n ealamity winld produce int the interests of Gireat Britain, as well an of the irresistibie impuise it would give to the wlave trade, in winch foreigners still persist, the cominittee beg leave to remind you thnt the present nanual groas revenite dernved from Weat India produce is sevea millions; the value of Britisli manufactures annually eonpuned in those colouies is four milHows nod a half; and the number of ships enplayed in the direet trade nine hundred nud afy, of two hundred and forty thousand toms-exelusive of an extensive crons trade constantly maintained between the colouies and British America. Also, that the Britiati colonies at present supply nearly one half of the stagar imported into Europe.
the okiolk amb paoonkss of west india shaveay.
One very important quextion now about to occupy the nttention of parliament, is that which relntes to the emancipation of the negroes. In whatever way this may be effected, inuch ingury must necessarily fall on the Weat ludian proprietors. To benring their thare of the uational lees, they make no complaint; on the eontrary, they are most willing to do so. But in opposituua to nay scheme of enaucipation which may propsoe to unke their property the subjeet of hazardous experument, without previrnsly providing certain aud adequate compensation, they carnently suek to draw your attention, as a member of the legrs. lature, to such fncts as will enable you to judge bow far the establishanent and maintenasce of slavery las been the guilt of the Weat Indin proprictors, of of the Britith nation.
In 1585-The slave trnde was institated in the reign of queen Elizab-th, who personaliy took a share in is. At that time the Weat India colowies did ant exist.
In 1602, Charles 11. granted au exclusive right in the wave trnde to quees Catherine, the queen dowager, the duke of York and others, who formed themselves luto a trading company, they undertaking to aupply itse Weat India glanters with 3,000 slaves annually. In the same year that monarch insued n proclansation inviting his subjects to trausport themsolves to Jamaica, agreetng to nllot lnnds to every individual who would en tn reside in the istand, and signify his resolution to plant there.
The slave trade enntinued in he fostered during the reigns of Charied 11. and Janiwa 11. hut still moder a inonopoly.

In 1679, petituma from the mannalaeturers in Grent Britain of woillen and other cloths, and the makers of various articies necessary th the slave trade with Africa, were presented to parilament, nlifging that the trade was eramped by loeling in the hands of an exclusive company, and praying that it might be opened.

In consequence of these and similar petitions to the bouse of cominons, a comatitter of the whole bouse, in 1565, reanlved, "Timt for the better suppply of the plantations, all the subjecta of Great Britain shosid have hiberty to trade to Alrica for begroen, whith auch limits as alould be preveribed by parliament," and by statute 9 and 10 Wiltain III. e. 26. Whe trade was accordingly laid partially open, the preamble of that aet stating, that "Use trade was highly beneficial and advanugeons to the kingdou and to the plantations and colonies thereunto belonging."
The manufacturers of Great Britain, however, were sull dissatisfied with the restrictions imposed upon the trade. They continued to ply the legislature with petitions to give grenter iatitude to a tratic, by which they exchanged their goode for aegroes nad sold these negroes to the West Indin proprietors.
The house of coontions adopted their nrgumeata; they deelared, by n report from n coannattee, in 1708, "That the trade was luportant, nnd ought to be free and open to all the queen's pubjerts trading from Great Britain." By nuother report in 1711, that 'the trade ought to be free in a regulated company, that the piantations ought to be supplied with the negroes nt reaeoasable ratex, thint $n$ considerable stocix wad necessary for carrying on the trade to the best advantage, and that an expori of E100,000 nt least in meretinndise should be sunually made from Greas Britain to Afrien."
From this period, 1711, until 1729, the demands of the matrafacturern for $n$ more unrestricted trade continued to be the subject of parlinmentary investigation and dispute.
It was fousd that the trade eould not be couveniendy and eztensively carried on without forts on the coast of Afrien; and such wan the nppetite of the British natson for the sinve trade, that, in 1729 a cominittee of the house of connmons passed the foliowing resolutions:
Ish. "That the trade should be open." 2d. "That It ought not to be tnsed for the support ufforts." 3d. "That forts were necessary for securing the trade." And 4th. "Tisat an allowance ought to be noade for maintaining such forts."
Thuse resolutions were agreed to, but the 34 with an amendment, that the forts should be malntained "ons marks of the poesessions of tircat Britan, " instead of "for the purpose of sesearlug the trade." At the same tune, the houpe was inforined that hif majesty reenuumended that provision should be unade for the suppirt of the African forts.
At length, in 1i49, the Ftatute 934 Geo. II. C. 31, wan passed, which removed nll obstruction th the encrations of private traders, declaring "the slave trade to be very advantageous to Great Itritain, and necessary for supplying the plmutations and colonies therennto belonging, with a sufilicient sumber of aegroes at renumable rates."
While the British public had lieen intent on breaking down the partial monopoly of tradag in negrows, which had existed aonong thenseives, they liad on the same principlex been equally intent on setting up a nonsony against foreigners, and oe excluding all but Brittmh rinbjects frons participating in a trade pronotinced to tee "so highly bearifial to the kingdomn."
16e9. In nuswer to a eave referred to the judges for their opinion by the crown on the alien contract, they report-"if pursuance of his majesty's order in council hereunto annexed, we do bumbly certify our opinions to be, thin negroea are merchandise; that it is against the statute of nnvigation made for the general good and preservation of the shipping nnd trade of this tingilom, to give liberty to any atien to trade in Jamaica, or other his majesty's plantations, or for any slupping belonging to aliens to trade there, or to export thence negroes, &cc." And the certificate is angned by ford C. J. Holt, Justice Pollexten, nnd eiftht of her juiges.
Tlise prociauation of Charles II. had invited Britlah subjecta to settle in the W'ent Judia colonies, and offered then lands on enndision of their being planted.
A reference to the pateuts by which Innd was granted, will show what was meant by the proclamation.
The following patent may be found int length in the appendis to the report of the house of lords, dnted August 1832, on the state of the Weat India colonies, p. 1,198.
1690. "Wiliam nnd Mary, by the grace of God, &c. To nll tis whon these presents khall come: know ye that we, rok ana in consibeaition thut Christopher Senior, esp. Aath tramsported hinnelf, together wifh his servavets and slaces, into our istand of Jamaica in purruance of a prociamation mnde in the reign of our roynt uscie, king Charles II, and for his better encouragement to becone one of our planters there, &e. do give and grant unto the said Chriatnpher Seniur, his heirs and aspigns forever, a certaia piece of land, ke."

RIGIIT OF PROPERTY IN SLAVES.

From Poulson's American Daily Adertiser
Cateb Johnson, In the ciresit court of the IV,
v. States for the east of Penusylvania.
John Kinderdine, and others. of Penusyivania. instructed their foreme to requeet judge BaLbwis, to perinit the nble, clear and lucid rharge delivered hy him in the above case, to be pubitished. Tiney ninke this raquest from a prine of duty, believing thnt the publicntion will be malntary to tive beat interests of the community, and thent the clarge is replete with the soundest constitutional principlef, applicd to one of the mont unportant and delicate subjects that can be presented for examination before the judicinl tribunals of our cobatry.

JAMES MCALPIN, foreman.

Caleb Johnoow va. Isaac Tomphins, and ofthers.
CHAREE OF BALDWIN, J. TO THK JVRY.
The facts of this cave are not pomplicated, and there is not much contest about those which are uaterial to its deriwion.
That Jack was a alave for tife, the properiy of Mr. Johuson, shoconded from the service of his master, to thin state, and had been for pome time in the employment of the Mesars. Kinderdines. That Mr. Johnson and others of his party, rame to the 8 iltet on the evening of the 201 h October, 1823, beiog 8un day, with the luteution of taking hiu, which they miade known; went to the lollse of Mrs. Kioderdine, whieh they entered peaceably, took Jack without disturbing the fanity, put him in the wagon, and put hand cuffa nu him. After sonie altercation at the gate, with Mr. lessehar Kinderdine, they froceerled on their way to the Biliet; that near the llorsheint mepting bouse, n erowd of from 20 to 30 persons had assembled. Mr. Kinderdine attempted to take hold of the horves of the plaintiff in order to atop then in the road, but demisted on the threat of Mr. Withitugton in blow out his brains if he stopped them. That on their arrival at the Billet, the crowd had increased, Mr. Johnson had received a severe blow on the head, from some of the crowd, near the meeting house; the tracse of tho wagon were cut; the Jeney party were orilered to go forth With in judge MeNeill's, under threats of force if they would mot go peareably. After some time they went, atiended by a crowd varisusly eatimated from 30 to 60 , and returned after a short time to the Billet, under the chaige of a cunstable. they were detained all night ander gunad, without being permitted to reture to a lodging room; taken next morning to justice Tompkins; brought back by the constable to the tavern, where they were detained all Monday by the constable, and watched during the night by him aud wome of the defendants. Mr. Withmgton had escaped on Monday night; catne to this piace, procured bail and counsel; and on Tuesday morning the plaintiff and his party were fiberated, on giving security for their appearance at the nest court, in Montgomery connty.

They were indieted for kidnapping, under the act of 1820 , tried and acquitted; Mr. Jolon, Iesachar and Sarali Kınderdine were witnessey for the prosechion: Jark was present at the trial, hat was not examined; connsel wroe employed to assist the prowecuting counsel, to whom Jack paid, through Mr. Fllis, 30 or 50 doltars. In Jannary 1823, Mr. Johnown took Jnek home, undre a warrant from judge Jnnea, and detained him as a plave till about twn geare, pinee when he uanumitted him; Jack is now free, and residing in Princeton.
These facts are not contested.
On one side the plaintiff asserts certain rights under the laws and constitution of this state ind of the United States, what they are we ahall state to you plainly and explicitly, and whether they juxtified the plaintiff and low party in the cnurne they pursued. The defendants deny these rights, by what authority you have heard and must decide; they assert in thentnelvee certain rights, but from what source we are nnt inform. ed-shey profess to have arted from niotives of homanity and benevolence-frnm the admitted facts their conduct towards the Jersey party enuld nut well have been governed by anch motives. How far they npernted to influence their conduct for the beneft of Japk, we can ateertain from another uneontested fact, that on Sunday night, Mr. Jotonson offered to manu mit bim and pay all the ensts of the proceeding-the manumission was drawn up by Dr. Hill, and exerited in his presence, but the proposition was rejected by Mr. John KInderdine, and the Jersey party was prosecuted as yon liave heard, while nocoueern was taken in Jack': freeedom. His part in the trial seems in have been ennfined to the payment of the wagee carned by him during his elopement, or put into his hands by others, to enumel than hired in pronecute his master, without any complaint of hard usage to Jark.
That the pinintif hae heen zriavonaly injured hy anme one; that the has been resarained of his liberty and neverely phoseeused as a frlon, wre alan atmitted facts. If It has been done by the defendants ir any of them, it becomen a most linteresting cave to tha partiex, an well for the question involved as the extent of the injury inflicted and damagea claimed.
It ie not pretenifed that the plalniff committed any hreach of the peace in entering the bonse, taking Jack, securillg him into the wagon, or in earrying hius to the Biltet-lise only alleged outrazea are the threat to Mr. Jasachar Kinderdine at the gate, (which Joseph Kivderiline did not hear, ittongh standing by the sile of the wagon near bis uncle and atint-and who, though in the bouse when Jark was taken nill, heard no nnise)-and the threat in the rnad when Issachar had seized, or was abont seizing the horees by the hrad. The defondant's witnespes all concur in stating the conduct of the plalatiff and his party, with these exceptions, to have been quiet nnd civil throughout all the oecurrenera till their liberation on hall.
The plaintif appenia to the laws and constitutions for the asaertion of his righte, and rodrese of hia injuries; the defendianis Instruct their counsel in nppeni to other lawa and rules, whieli they coniend justify all their aets; they do not attempt io mitigate or mallate sheir conduct as having been committed under any mistake; they offer an evidence of Jark ${ }^{2} x$ right to freedner, or of an infringement of nny of their righls by the plnintiff or his friends-they stand boldiy and manfulty on their rights, as a justification, disdaining damagea, nr making any expuse or apology for what thry had dnne, down to the moment of suhmitting their care through their enninsel to you. The plaintiff is denoanced bafore ynu as a folon, ruffian and kudnapper, though he voluntarily manamitted Jack affer all he suffered, and though here cannot now be evwn a jretence that be wan free In Ies2. I'he witnesses for plaistitf are said to be perjured, although you will piohably conpur with us in thinking, that the only material differesce between their atatement and that of the defrudant's witnexaes, is in relation to the thrpats made use of in the Joracy panty belore gotng to judge McNeill's. The plaintuf's whmeses say the threat was to tie and take them if they would not go voluntarily; the defendant's witnesses say the threat was to use force to talse thein, $n$ difference, in our opinlon, of to importance, for it viattered ant how the force was threatened to be applied. Mr. Withiugzon and skitimen are ralled old soldiers, practised kidnappers, used to the trade, borause they lad sometime before taken, from the same noighborlinod, a runaway slave of the father in-law of Mr. Witbinginn, who returned voluntarily, and exprewsed himactr glad they had evine for him. You thus spe thot to thla monernit their apirit does not relent, lliey liave no rey juet for the verdipt of a jury of their neughorm in their own county, given on the evidence of the drfendants themselves, nor fir the Inw, which afier a verdiet of acquittal, pronounces the partiez accused to bo iosocent of the offence chaged.

VoL. XLIV-Si6. 20.
This view of the case maket it intereating in us and to every one. It is time to know whether the arts which have been done by the plaintif have made him a felon, whetiter he is yet is be palied nue in a court of justipe, alter an acquitial by a jury, or If in any, or what resperet la due to the verdiet of a jury in Pennsyivama, in repelliog the linputation of an infainous crime. If Mr. Jyhuson ts yet open to thie epithets so freely bestowed on bim, there can be uo end to prosecutions, nad no protectinn hy the faws.

Another matter must be settied, whether the owner or claimant of a fugitive slave, who comes Into this state voder the authority of ite laws, its ennstitution, the law and monstitution of the United Statea to reclaitn his properiy, if under any othigatinn to suhmit the evidenee of his right to any person who thakes the demiand, to do it in the pubtic highway in the evening of at night, before an ansembied erowd in a road or at a tavern. And If any man has a riglit to drmand the papers and other evidence of the claimant's property it a fusitive, he has the asine right th judge of their sufficieney, whether the plaintiff could be eompelted to go before any particular judge or justice io prove his property, and if he failed in his opinion to ntake out his right, was to be bound by it, and to be considered and treated an $n$ felou for having seized the slave; deprived of his liberty, refused a hed, and compelied to en from place to place, withont any legal arrest or warrant. Finally be emmpelled to undergo a vindictive prosecution for arrestitug a fugitive, proved by lus own adinission to be the plaintifis slave till he was 30 , and his subsequent right to frepdoin reating on his naked assertion not only not attenpted to be supported, but contradieted by the mant Ineontestible and uncrintested evidenee. Look at the conduct of the julige, and the reasons lie gave; the plotintiff had no but of sale to himself from Ranlev, and yet the judge saw the receipt of the purchinep moneys paid for Jack; he was ealled Jack, wifhout any further deacription, and the jndge sand the plaintiff mizht take up any black man by the name of Japk; yet Jack alood before him arknowledging lis identity as the same klave who was sold by Mr. Merrinn in Ranley, and by him to Mr. Johnaon. Is this, gentlemen, the lasv of Pennsyivania, and are such the rules by whieh property is held inthis atater if they are, who can berafe when the evidence before judge MrNeill was held to be insufficient; thls is a quustion which eomes houe to every man. Who ean whow a bitter rizht to prrional property than a purchaep, the recript for the money, foutteep yenrs preacenble poespmsion, and the pablic aeknowledgment of Jack confirming it.
Herc is a sperimen of the spenrity for the rights nf propenty when the Inw of the land is disreqarded; and the speurity of the permonai lithrty of our fuizint when individuals take the law into their own bandw, in be administered by their opinions of jnatiee, natural right, social law, puhlic opinion, humanity and philianthropy. It docs not Indicate the laudable zal to release the free from hondage, but rather to make the slave free, aud the freeman a slave.

Such are the qurstions involved in this eave which comes before us not on a mere Inquiry into the Injury done the plaintiff, on the compeusation to which he is entitled from tha dofendants; but om an iswue of right by the law of thn land; on which we shall give oetr opinion most explietily an we are is dutv hound to do; the facta of the ense are for your decisinn.
It has been thonght beat in do It in writinge, that our opition may neither be misuider-tond or misrepresented, so that the npinion of the anpreme court may he bad nonnt, and I hope that the pariy divsatiofied with it, may take it before them fिr thrir revisinn, ia order that the whole law may be definitely spltefl and known. What then is the law, and with whom ts the right of the case, 501 will be able to aceertain from the evidenee you lrave heartl, and the opinion which ve have formed; jnder llopkinson coneurs in the grneral results which will he sasted to yon; there has not been time to submit to him the detailed view taken of the stibjert

On a question of alavery or freedom, the right in to be eatablished bv the stune rules, of evidence as in other contests about the right to property-7 Cr. 295.

It is an universal principle that possexsion of property, quiet cannot be disturled, unless by one having a better right.

298 NILES' REGISTER-JUNE 29, 1833-RIGHTS OF PROPERTY IN SLAVES.

The burthen of proof rests on thoee who atteanpt, of claim the right, to take property from tha possession of another, or to interfere with his controi and diaposition of it.
The avidance of the property in this case is uncontradicted.
That tha mother of Jack was the slave of the late Judge Berrian, of New Jarsey! that Jack was born shortly afier the death of Mr. Berrian, ia 1791 or 2; that he was a slave of the estate oold of altotted to Thomas Berrian, one of the chuldren and heirs, at a very early age; kept by hill as a slave till is07, when he was sold to Parez Ranley, for 300 dollars, who in the sama year sold him for the same price to the paintiff, with whom be remained for 14 years, before he absconded from his servica.
Jack admitted hus onginal slavery, but alleged that by the will of Mr. Berrian, he was entilled in freedon at 30. The will has bean produced, but has no such condition or direction, and nu e vidence has been offered to snpport Jack's assertion, which must therefore be taken as aot only unausuained, but direetly coutradicted and false, and bis identity was admited.
The original bill of sale in Raniey has been produced, and the sala by tim to the plaintif, proved by the production and proof of she receipt for the purchase money, which is as effectual for the transfar of persunal property, as a deed or regular bill of sale, all which in required in such cases, is evidence of the sale, whet may be by parol as well as writing, or inferred from long and quiet possesalon-1 Dall. 169.
The plaintif has therefore given abandant evidence of property in Jack to eatute hum to recoveri were it on a trial of freedom, the judge was enturely mistaken in saying that a bill of sale to the plaintif was necessary, or that the papers produced to him, connected with Jack's admission, wers not sufticient proof of his being a slave, and the same perion who was sold, and in the possession of the plaintiff. He was not bound in disprove Jack's asertios, but those who denied the right of Mr Johason, were bousd to prove it true-yet long as this controverey has subsisted, and ilteresting as it bas now beeome, no mettenpt is made to support this assertion, on the belief of which, of uader culor of which the defendants has acted from the time of their first interference betwean Jack and the plaintif. The ownership of Jack being thus clearly made out, he munt be deetned to be the property of Mr. Johnson, over which he has the same control as over his land or the goods. It is not permitted to you of us to indulge our feelingr of abstrect right on these subjecte; the law of the taad recognizes the right of one man to hold another in bondage, and that right muet be protected from violation, although its existence to abhorent to ali our deas of patural right and justice.
As a consequence of this right of property, the owner may keep possessinn of his slave-If he absconds he may retake bim by porsain Into another state, und may bind or secure hmm in any other way to prevent his second escape-he may arrest him by the use of as much furce as is aecessary to effect his reelamation; he may enter peaceably on the property or into the house of another, taking care to coinmit ao breach of the peace against third persons. But it is no breach of the peace to use as much forea or coercion toward the fugtive as suffices for bis security -as without such force no slave could be retaken withont his consent. The master may also use every art, devies or stratagem to decoy the slave iato his power-odious as these terms may be in their application to an unlawful act, they ought to be cousidered as far otherwise when uned for a lawful and Justifiable purpose. It is every day's practice to detect counterfeiters, and those who pmes counterfeit moaey, thy employiag persona to purchase it from them-it is necessary for the purpose of public justice that such asd similar means should be resorted to, or eriminals would escape detection-they are neither immoral or illegal.

Jack's escape was by fraud and art, practised to his master's Injury, and be is forbidden neither morally or Irgally from reclaiming his property by circumventing and defpating the fraud of the slave. To deny to the owner of property the use of such means to recover it, woutd make his right an ermpty and barren one, by taking from him the means of enjoyiag It-It was the monde least calculsted to slarm or disturb the family. This right of a master to arrest his fugitive slave, is not a solitary case in the law; it may be exercised towards a fugitive apprentice or redemptioner, to the same extent, and is done daily with. out producing any exclement-an apprentice is a servant, a slave is no more; though his wervitude fo for life, the asture of it to the same as apprenticeahlp or by redemption, which though terminated by time, is, during its continuance, an severe a servituda as that for life. Of the same nature in the righ of a parent th the services of his minor children, whlch gives the custody of their persons. So where a man enters special bail for the appearance of a defendant in a civil action, be may seize his person at his pleanure, and commit him to prison; or if the principal escapes, the bail may pursue him to another state, arrest, and bring him beck by the use of all necessary force and means of preventing an escape. The lawful exercise of this authority in auch eases is calculated to excite no sympathy; the law takes has counce in peace, and unsoticed, yet it is the same power, and uned in the same manner, as hy a master over his diave. Had Jack been the apprentien of Mr. Johavon, or he had been the special ball of Jack, he would have the same right to retake him sa be had by being his owner for life-the sight in each case ts from the same source, the law of the land. If the enforcement of the right excites more feeling in one case than the other, it io not trom the manaer in which it is done, but the Dature of the right whicb is enforced-property in a human beiag for tife. If this is unjust and oppressive, the sin is on the heade of the makers of laws, which wlerate slavery, or in those who have the power in not repealing thens; to visit it on thoee who have bopestly acquared, and law fully bold property, under the guaratitee and protectuon of the laws, is the worst of ali oppression, and the rankest injustica towards our fellow-men. It ia the induigeace of a spint of persecution against our neighbors. for ao offence against mociety or its laws; for mo infringemeat of the rights of others, but enimply for the asseition of thear own is a lavful manaer.

If this apirit pervades the country; if public opinion is suffered to prostrate the laws which protect one spectes of property, those who lead the erusade against slavery may, at no distant day, find a new one directed agatnst their lands, their stores, and then debta; if a master cannot retain the custody of bus slave, apprentice, or redemptioner, a parent must give up tha guardianehip of his clitdren, bail have no hold on their principai, the ereditor cantuot arrert his debtor by lawful means, and the who keeps the rightful owner of lands or chatiels out of posvesion, will be protected in his trexpanacs.
When the law ceases to be the teat of right and remedywhen individuals undertake to be its adminiatrators by rules of their ows adoption, the bands of seciety ara broken as effectually by the severance of one link from the chain of justice, which binds man to the Laws, as if the whole was dimsolved. The more specious and seductive the pretexts are under which the law is violated, the greaset ought to be the vigilanea of courts and juries in their delection; pubis opiatoa is a seeurity against acts of open and avowed infringements of acknowiedged rights-from such combunations there is uo dangef-they will fall by their own violence, as the blast expends its force by ito own fury. The only permaneat danger is in the indulgence of the humane and beacvolent feelings of our aature, at what we feel to be acts of oppresston towards hunaan beings, endowed with the sama qualities and attributes as ournelvep, and brought iato being by the same power which created us all; without reflecting, that in suffering these feclings to come into action against rights secured by the laws, we forget the first duty of citizens of a government of laws-ohodieuce to its ordinances.
Those who ara looking only to the oppression which exists, but in their own imagination, may make their ewn philanthropie feeling the etaadard of right and wrong, but $h$ must be rememsbered, and impressed on every meunber of society, that no man can consider that to be injustice which the law declares and proteets as a right, or an act to be oppressive whict the law has provided as a remedy for its infringenient. The impreseion may be honest, the feeling laudable, and the motive virtuous in the abetract, but the law forbids its action on the property or persons of nhliers. The bistory of this cause affords a strikiag illustration of the dangerous effects of these leelingr being guffered to influence the conduct of even the best members of the cominnoity. The fair character and high standing in life of the defendants in this case, may be a guaranty to the public against any intentional infraction of the prace aad good order of soctety, but one incident in the cause shows the contagious effect of bad example in the higher orders of society on the lower. Joha Chester felt authoriaed to take and act his part ia the transactinn, mare bumble indeed than that of his superiors, bat not less +ficient in its furtherance of the oljeet, by cutting the tracee of the wagon; where John would have stopped in the use of his kmife, had ite employment ia another way been likely to effret the liberation of Jack, is difficult to say, and would be inviduous to ennjecture, itsuffices to refer to it as a salutary itsoon-the case is full of them.
The npinion of judge Washington, in Hill rs. Law, meets mur entire concurrence. "That if a man should honestly betieve that the perton claimed as a fugitiva did not in fact owe service to the clalmant, be could not in his defence allege ignorance of the law, and that such matters were unfit for the inquiry of the jury. That it was sufficient to bring the defendast within the provisions of the law, if having notice either by the verbal declarations of thone who had the fugitive In cuptady, or were attenpting to seize him, or by circumstances brought bome to tha defendant, that the person arrested was a fugitive or was arreated as such."-1 Wash. 329 . The case must be decided by the facts in evidence, and will not be influenced by the defendant's belief ur knowledge of them in any other way than in mitigation of damages, if you are satisfied that they were really ignorant of Jack's situation and they believed bim free.

From the full investigation of its merits, which has now been had, ail doubts of the slavery of Jack as the property nf Mr. Jobnson, by fair prirchase of his right to his possession and custody, and to retake him wherever he was foand, have wholly disappeared, and the defendants by confidiag in tus waked assertion of being frue, have seen the bad effrets of trusting to the fahricated stories of fugitives from service. In opporing his reclamation by his master they acted at their peril; he was in pursuit of his right-he entered peaceably into the house where he fownd his plave; he arrested and secured him in the wagon without any breach of the peace. There is no evidence of any cruelty practised on Jaek, or of any complaint of hard ueage; he appeara to have tnade nnne, nor to have called for any aasistance from any one, evea after some of the defeadants had come to the wagon; their interference was pureiy voluntary. The frot jaquiry then is, was it Juntibable?

The slave was arrested on Sunday it is true, but no isw prohitbits a man from protecting or reelaiming his property oa that day, 5 S. . R. . 30t. Working oo Sunday is no breach of the peare, $18 . &$ R. 350 , when doue without noise or disorder. A Jassce of the pesce has no right to enter on the land nf anether on Sunday for the phirpuse of shtaining evidence of a breach of the Babbath against the will of another. He ought to sumann the offenders the aext day, snd proceed against them in the usual manner, 351 . If the ser viez of process on Sunday was itiegal except for a breach of the pcace or felony, the defendants eousd not arrest of detain the Jersey party without process or legat authority for any other cause.
The slave, it seems, was seized In the twilight or night, but that did not justify the interference of the defendant to reacue him, or obstruct the plaintiff in removing hin;-the patting of Irona upon thiut is of itself no justificatioo of the infiction of any vialence upon the plainutf. If it was an aet of unnecessary severity, it would be a eircuinstance for which yon would inake a proper allowanre in assessing danages as one which would mitigate the couduct of the defendants, by the exeltement which it would be apt to produce. Whether however it was a measure of prudence or of eivelty not called for by the circumstaoeea in which they were plared, you will probalily be able to aseertaia to your satimfaction frool the facts, thas the defendants appear not in have dirfeted the irons to be taken off till the Measra. Kinderdines liad given their recognizance before justice Tompkins for hts appearanee, and the attempt made by John Chester and the other black man at the Bitlet to take them off, may not improperly be considered as some evidence of the oecessity of their imposition.

If in these or any other particulare, Mr. Jnbneon or his party made use of any uonccessary or wantou vintence towards his alave, he became amenable to the laws, but not to the defendants; he was oot bound to regulate hia conduct by rules they might thiok proper to preseribe, or to suffer thein to be the judges of his rights; he acted at his peril in arreatiog Jaek, and they at theirs io interposing any opposition.

If you believe the evidence the plaintif has established his right to arrest Jack-proof of his slavery aod nwing service to hum absolves him from tha risk he run in seizing him-but the same fact which absolves him makes the defendants hable if they have dooe any act not warranted by law by which the plaintiff has suffered an injury. It is contended that they had a risht to arreat the plaintuf and hit party when in the act of comanting, attempting to commit a felony, or doing an act which might amount to a fetnny and preveol its commission thereby; and such is undoubtedly the law.

There may be ao arrest withost warrant by a public officer, or a private person, who sees anntiter commit a felony-or if a felony is known to have been committed, the person commit. ting it way be purased and arrentrd; and when there is only probalife caute or suspicion a private persio may without warrant at his peril make an arrest, 6 Hioney, 3 , is- 19 .

A constable may arrest without warrant for a bresch of the peare in his presence, and coonnit the offeoder to jail for safe keeping, so may a jrivate person for felooy, or on an affray which has taken place in his prearoce, or where ath arrest in made on suspicioc, 8 S. & R. 49, 50. Such is the law of Pennsylvasia, whtch seeures the prace of the public, but tite law doea not stop here; it does not leave the citizen at the merey of peace officera or individuais-they make the arreat at their peril -in the emphatic language of the late ritief justion Tuighman. "I say at bis peril, for nothing sloort of proving the felaoy wili Jastify the arrest," 6 Binney, 319 -and the present chlef justice in deelaring the right of the constable to arrest in sueh case says, "There is no danger to the liberty of the citizen in this, for if the arreat and detention be improper, the prisoner can have inotant redreas by the writ of Labean corpus, nud the constable may be punished by indietment or subject to damageta in so action of trespass," 8 &. & R. 50.

The law is the sanie as to the plaintiff; "at the common Inw a master had a right to take up his runaway servant, and for this, as for any other lawfil purpose, mught enter peapeably into any house, unless forbidden by the owner. Any person with avthority from the master might do the same. The domestif authority of martere and parents must be supported as exicntial to the peace of society, aud contributing to a due subordioation to the authority of government. Addison'g Rvp. 325, the art of arpembly do not give, but only enforce this right.

If the person arresied is not a survant or slave, or the person making the arrest has not the authority of the inaster for so dolog, he is in either case liatile for the illegal arrest.
You will therefore consider the law as setticd, that where an arreat is made without a warrant from a proper officer; the perenn making the arrest io linble in damages to the party arrested, If he is innocent of the offence with which he is eliarged, and for which he hav heen arrested-though the pereon arresting may have hanestly believed the other guilty; thongh there was cround for auspicion, or prohable cause for the arreat, he it liable to an action for the arrest, uniesa actual guit appears. These elreumstances will weigh with a Jary in reflucing damaget, but as the arrest turns out to be Illegal, it cannot be juathSed; the reavon is obviuus, though the public peace requires the apeedy apprehension of offenders agsinst the law, it doon not authorise the imprisonment of the innncent; from this rule there is noexception, where the arrest is withont warrant. If a lawfui warrant la directed to an offierp, or a private person, and he doen not erceed or abuse the anthority it eonfory, he is liable to no action, though the person who is deacribed in the warrant, and arreated, is wholly Inuocent of the effence charged; this

Is also an incootestible princijle of the law. So that white innocent oren are protected in their liberty against arrests, by off. cers or private persons, on their own authority, the fatter are equaliy protected th the execution of lawful process. In the one case they art at the peril of the party arrested being guilty, in the other the law aboulves them from any reaponsibility. The law is the same if a constable seizes operson as a runaway servant, by order of sne clasuing to be hat master, the is lable to ao action if the person srrested is not his servant; but if ba apprebends him on a warrant from a magistrate nu action lies against him.
You will then apply these rules of law to the case before yoa, and inquire whether the plaintiff, and thuse aeting under hid authority, committed any felony or breach of peace, in acizing, securiog and carrying Jack to the house of Marple, in Ilatborough. The record of their acquittal is conclusjve evidence of their innocenca of the offeores charged ia the indictasent preferred against them at Norristown, ether jointly or severally you are bound to consider them each and every ooe as not guilty of any of the matters charged as a feiooy or offeoce undet the act of assembiy, of Mareh. 1820, or the common law. Indepeodently of this acquittal, if Jack was the slave of the plaintiff, neither he nor the others of the party coald be guilty of kidnapping, under that or any other inw of the state. Su img siuce au 1795, the supreme court unnoimovsly decided that It was no oficnce, under the seventh section of the act of March, 1788, for a manter to arrest his slave forelbly, and carry him out of the state; that the law was intended, and osly applied, to carrying atate; that the law was intended, and only spplied $t^{2}$ a freetnan out of the state into bondage, 2 Dallas, 266 .
The law of 1820 , section lst, in which the platintiff was prosecuied, was copied from the law of 1760 , and mart reerive the anne construction; its re-euactinn, with the full knowledge which the logislature must be preanmed to have bad of its judiciai exposition by the supreme court, which had remaioed unquestioned for twenty-five years, withont any alteration, is to be considered as aot intended to atter, and as not atteriog the law on the sulyjert. The ruin thus established by the legislature and courts of the suate, is the rule for our decision both by the 34 th section of the judielary net, and the uoiform decisions of the supreme enurt of the United States; it need not therefore, be regarded with any Jealoury as oppossed to the laws, policy or feelings of the atate, or the people thereof-neither do we thiak it necessary to add aoy reasons to those given by chief justice MeKean; 2 Dallas, 226, which has beeo read by coonsel.*

- Noti 1. Charge of the mourt to the jury.

The eeverity of the puntshment to be inficted in case of a ennvictinn, (a puoishment the same, io its nature, as is infleted for the moat infamous crimes), ought certainiy to induce the jury to deliherate well, before they determine, that the act coanminted by the defendint conatitutes the nffence, which is the object of the law. The extravagant operation and extent of the doctrine, on which the prosecution is maintained, ought also to awnkeh the most aeriousy altention, for it has been coatended in effert, that should a traveliter bring into this state a negro or mulatto siave; nay, shoutd a tradesman of Pennsylvaoia have a tuero or mutatto indented servant, wbo being sebt on an errand, Ioiterm away his time in tippling and debanchery, the mastar cannot forribly svize and carry the delinquent to another place, either beyond or within the Jurisdietion of Penneylvania, without incurring the penalties of the act of asemily: If it is intended afterwarda to keep and detain the negro or moniatto as a aiave or servant. Is it rational to conceive, that any legiviative body would have destined for snch an act, so grievous a penishanent? Agnin: It has been alleged that the law has made no difference and therefore, that the court can make none, between a freeminan and a siave, provided the injured party is a negro or muintto. But is it possible tiat any individual of common aense, that any assminblage of eulightened men shoutd so confound tha oature of thinge, should so pervert the princlple of justice, as to supposa, that it is as criminal for a master to carry off his own lave with the inteot to retain hion in slavery, as for a stranget to carry nff a freemno with the intent to seli bim into bondage? Can these actions mertt the same degree of punishment?
It is evident however that auch eoormities are not imputable to the Iegislature of Peunsyivania. By the 10th section of the act for the gradual abot!tion of mlavery, ( 1 vol. Dau. edit. p. 81.) persons mereiy sojourning in this state have a right to retain their slavea for a term of six months, and the delegates in congress, froin otiver states, foreign ministers and consule, anjoy that right as lone an they enatinue in their public characters; the succeeding section Hkewise expressly pmovides that absennding slavea sliall derive no benetit from tha law, but that tielr inastere shall have the satne right and aid to demand, claim and take thrm away that they had before. This act of assembly and particularty these provislons are nox repeaied by the supplemental act on which the prosecution fs founded. Then we find that any travelier who comes into Pennsyivania upon a tempmrary excurxion for business or amusement, may detain his slave for six months, and the previous law, (reengnized by act of asembly during that term), authoriens the master to apprehend the slave, and entites him to the ald of the clvil polife to sechre and carry him away. By a regulation of this kind, the policy of oor own system is reconcited with a due respect to the system of other rtates and countries, while an opposite construction wonld render it imposajble for any American or forplaner to pank with is slave through the territory of Paonayt vabia.

We have laid down the law to be, that bail may arrent their principat; this, ton, we have done in accurdasce with the deealons of the supretne court of this state. "In the retation in which the sevenal stater comprisugg the union stand to rach other, the ball in a suit cutered io amother siate, have a right to seize and take the primeipal in a sister otate, provided it docs not interfere with the interest of other persoms who have arrested euch princtpal." 2 Yeates, 964.
Bpectat bat may take up the principal when attending court, or at any tune lie pleaves-"it has theen quaintly saud, that the bail have their principal alway* on a string, and may pull the otring whenever ticy please, and render bitu in their own this charge"-4 Yeates, 12.5. P. 3 Yeates, 37. The court refer to and adopt the law as laid down in Eugland, in the same words, in 6 Mod, sill, In which it is added they may tale bimeven on a Sunday, "and cnntine htm tilt the nest day, and then render a Sunday, "and cnntine hitm tilt the nest day, and then render as of Eugland.

We have alsostated the law to be that apprentices, redemp. sinsers, slaves and servants who abseond from the service of their masters, may be apprehended wherever they may be found -this we lisve dome not bnly on the autiority of the courts of Pennsylvania, but of its varous lawi.

By the act of 1770 , yet in force, a fuzitive apprentice may be apprehended by a warrant from a jutuce, and cominuted to jaul ull be will consent to return to lits masser, or give secunily to anewer his complaint. Purdon, 42. This act was extended to redemptioners in 1820 . If any perxon farbor bun without givis notiee to tiis master, be shall pay 20 slalliuge a day-l'urdon, 42 , 3 -and the apprentice to sesve 5 days for each day"e abscund-ing-Purden, 629 .
The act of March, 1780, which declared all issue of staves born after that day to be free, untess registered according th its provisions, puts megro and mulato servants, till ist, on the wame footing as servants by indenture-1 Dall. 839-40. wetet. 4.
The reward for taking up runaway and absconded negro and mulato servante and slaves, and the penatiles for enticing away; dealing with, or harboning them, are also the same as in the case of nervanta bound for four yeara-Sec. 9, p. 8.11.
It was "provided that this act, of any thing it contained, shalt not give any rellef or thelter to any abennding nr runaway negro or mulatth slave or servant, who has absented thinself, or shall absent bisiself, from his or her owner, master or mistresw reviding in another slate or country-bat they shall have like right and aid to demand, claim and take a way lus slave or servant ar he might have had in case this act had not buen madeSect. 11, p. 842.
This section remained in foree till 1808-it was therefhre applicable to this case in le2s. it is all inportant, as evincing the spirit, poliey and feethog of the state to be miterly opposed to the relief or sheliering of abscondong or rnnaway slaves or gervanta frum other states, of considering the inamears who eome in reclaim thein as kidnappers, ryfians or felons, fit objects for ignominious punishasent in penitentiaries. On the contrary, it espressty declares that they shall liave rizht and aid, to demand, elain and take away his elave or servant-and in oriler that the meaning of this part of the law should not be inisunilerstond, that the benevolent objacts of the legishatere, as dectared in the preamble, should not be perveripd to purposes forbidden by the law, it puts the master on the same finting as to cairying his alave pout of the states, as if the law had never been pasaed. This is language wheh cannot be misunderstood.

It is due to the charsoter of the state that lis own laws at leat sloould be respected in courts of justice, by all wha are

It has been said that the words slaves, or servants, which are used in the other provisions of the supplementai act, being omitted in this section, it must be inferred that the fegimatare intended to protect the slave or servant, as well as the freeman from the onirage contemplated; hut, in nur oplainn, that very omission shows the fallacy of sueh a construction, for if the legishature designed to protect freenien and not slaves, they could not in any other way more pffectually manifost their meaning. In short, the evil apprehended was that of forcing a free negro or mutatto into another country and there takine advantage of his cotor to sell him as a slave, and for such an offence the pumushinent denounced by the law wonld be justly inflicted.

Upas a seview of the facta, likewise, we Alld occasion tn regret that the prosecution sbould have becn conducted with a zwat whieh rarely apprars in the provecution of the bighext eriminat on the stronzest proof. There in not, however, a title of evidence to extabtish the charge that the deliendant seduced the negm, or that be even apoke to him in P'enti-ytvania wisere the setion of seductinn must be comnitted to veat the jurisdirtion in the court. Nor can it be falily said that he cansed the nezro 20 be seduecd, for the advice given to general Revier was meres. ty the advice of a friend, whieh conld ant surety merit the ignominnus puniehurnt of the law, aad which wan not in faet adiptet, as the negro was forcibly, ind not by seduction, sent out of the state.
But, apon the whole, we were unanimnusty nf npinlon, as sona as it was provrd the uegrn wan a slave, that nol onty, his master had a right to ecize and earry him away, but that in case he abscondied or resisted, it was the duty of every magistrate to employ all tegitimate mpans of enercion in his powir for securing and restoring the negm to the service of his owner, whithersoever be might be afterwarts carried.
oncerned in ite administration-it is our most zotemn duty to enjoun it on you to take the taw of the land as you see it th the statute books, and enforce it according 10 its provisions. Remenber too that this law is that act, which has been the pride of I'ennsylvania, as one of the mpot noble and glorious emanauons from the mpirt of the revolution, as dectared in the preamble, whelt has been read to you with the most touching fores and elogurnce.

But you mast not take the spirit inf the law aceording to the Impulse whith opprates to rouse the feelings of counsel in the cause of their cheut; look un it, exanine itn enartment not onIy with a watchful eye, but if you please, in the plesitude of phitanthropuc zeat in the cause of oppresed bumaniy. To relieve the oppressed, ressue the free from bondage, to punish those who violate the rights of man and bumatity, to protect our fellow man from injustice, and to secure to all alike the beneft of the lawa, are the imperious duties of jurors. In obedience to auch dictites, wa cali your attcution to the laws for the gradual abohtilion of elavery in Pebnayivania.

The twn hrst metions ate the preamhle.
I'lie thind dipclarea that so ehild bereafter to be born shall be aservant for life or a siave. The slavery of chiddren iu consequenee of the slavery uf their mothers, in forever abolished.

The founth loas been noticed.
The fith direct slaves to be registered before the first of Noveuther, 1780 .
The seventh directe negroes to be tried for erimes and offencea tike other Inliabitants.
The tenth doclared atl unregintered staves to be free, except the domenticulavee of menber of congress, foreign minustera and cunsula, and persuns passiug through or aujourning in the state, not rexident in it, and meawen not owned in the state or employed in slinpa befongug to the intrabitante of the state. Thie is the subatance uf the abolation act.
The eleventh cxeept fugutives, as has been noticed.
Tlus law whs explained and ausended by the act of Mareh, 788, which declaied all slaver brought into the state by persone residing, ar intending to reside in it, to be immediately freeprohibits the taking of the siave out of the state with intent to change his place of residence, or welling him fir such purposes, direcis the registry of the chiddren of slaves, and punisties kidnapping.

In the spirit of these laws the legislature passed "an aet to incorponate a society by the name of the Pennsyivania society for promoting the abolition of wlavery, and for the relief of free negroes unlaw futly held in bondage, and for improving the condition of the African race." No society was ever founded for nobler objecth, or more deserving of putlic encouragentent and approbation; but it was no patt of the design or ohjects of this benevolemt suciety to protect or rescue runaway slaves from the clams of their masters. It was provided in their charter, that their by-laws, rules, orders and regulations enacted, or to be enacted, be reasonable in themselves, and not contradietory to the constitution and laws of the state. Acta of asembly, pp. 218, 223, A. D. 1789.

So far as has eume to our knowiedge or information, this society has aeted on the philanthropic principles of its institution and nose other, never inferfering with the nghts of property, as secured by the tawn; they have not infringed the condition of their charter, but pursued their legitimate objects with untiring zeal. It they have been perverted by any hunorary member, like Mr. Ellas, by enntributing moncy to employ counsel to proseeute a master for iaw fully reizing and taking away hus runaway slave, we are well ennvinced that it has been equally repugnant to the fectings and practice of the members of the suctety, as it would be to their charter.

These laws remained unchanged titl 1820 , when an act was passed on the subject, the provisione of whieh need not be particularly recited-the proviso in the second sectits is however important, "Provided alway", that nothiaz hercin contained shali be construed as a repeat or alteration of any part of an act of ansembly, passed list Mareb, 1iE0; or of any part of the act of 29th Narcli 1ise, except the 7th section whleh is tepeated."
This is the gection which perecribed the panishment for kidnapping, and was copied, exeppt as to the puushment, into the firt sectinn of the taw of 1823

By the law of 1788, the puni-bment was a fine of $£ 100$ and connnement at hard labor not leus than six or exceeding twelve monthe, until the costs the puif. I Datl. 589 .
By the law of 1820 , the fiue was tut lesa than $$ 500$, or more that 51,000 , to be deemed guiliy of a felony and seatenced to undergo a servitude not toss than seven of more than twentynue yeart, conthued, krpt to hard labor, fed and clothed as in directed by the pesal laws if this cotntanoneath, for persona convicted of robbery. Purt. 6.53.
The putnishment of the first offence of robbery ta a mervitude of not less than one or mote than aeven years, and for a second offruce not exceeding tweive years. Act of 182n. Purd. 821.
On the firat convictuon of raurder in the apcond degree the pminshment in eervitude tor nut dess than four or more than iwetve years; for the second offence, confinement for life. Act of 1823. Purd. 648.
The penal laws of Pennsylvania are jert, mild and bumanes ber penal conde Is admired nut onty in this, but is all the ciwtized nstions of the worlil. Here punishment is graduated in preportion to the ennrmity of the offence, and cruel puuisheneste are expressly forbidden by the constitution, as well as excessive fines. Art. 9, sec. 13, and by the 8th amendment to the consthtution U. S.
That offence must be dark and black indeed, which is, in the view of the legisfature, so nouvh more heinous thats highway robbery or wiltul murder. Can ymu believe that it was their incention to subject the man who arrested his own fugitive slave by force, with the intentun of eonveyug him to ham hosoe in suother state, to a puitshment greater in a threefold degies than the nost aggravated highway obbery, and for a tume exceeding by mine years the utimost terin of zorvitude, wlich a cours could, tior the lirst uffence, inflet on the vilest tuarderer whose foriettud life anay bave been apared by the mistakea hu manity of a jury.

Would a wase, ju-t or bumane body of men pans a law which would put on a level the man who reciained his own property by lawful ineans, and the wretch who would drag a freeman Into bondage, and arrest as felons of equal grade, a reapectathe farmer from an adjonitug state, with the sordid halitual tratifeer in human flewh-lite lawful taking of one'y own property, with the stealing of a human being.

When the punishment of kidnapplig was oniy a fine of $£ 100$, and the extent of continement only one year, the supreme cmort deelared that such enornities were not tuppitable th the leginlature of Pennsylvania; we should do the in great injuatice not to rescue them a necond tume from the iopputation, when the tine is greatly incr-ased, and the servitude extenced not only to seven, of twenty-ane thnes the extent, hut directed to be as a felon, and htghway robber; taw, justice and hamaoity combine to repel an idea so dreadiut. The great and benevolent act for the gradual abohtion of stavery did not abolish the distinctinn between bund and free negross and mulations, the free man and the absconding slave, the master who brought his siave there to reasde, and the master who came here in purstit of nue who aboconded from hum; and when you are invoked to reapert the legislation and spirit of the state, you will rememiber that this coassats in obedince in it law $s$, whieh expresaly declare-that they give no relief or absiter to runaway slaves from other ptatea -that their unaster shalt have a like right, and aid, to slemand claim and take them away, as if the law for the nhointion of slavery bad never been pasaed; and remember tho, that this law is expressly declared not to be ehanged of repealed by the law of 1820, uuder calor of which the defendants claim the right to consider the plauntif am a feion for doing the very act, for which he had a right to aid, help and assistance by the aloolition art, and by which the runaway slave was denied reltef of shelter withiu the state.

White the abolition act put free btacks on the footing of free white men, and abolinhed shavery for lile, as th those thereafter born, it did not otherwise literfcre with those born before, or alaves exeepted from the operation of the law; they were then, and yet are, considered as property-slavery yet rsixts in Penn givania, and the rights of the owners are now the same ns before the abolition act-though their number ls small, their eondition is unchanged. The righte of the owners of fugitive staves to take thein to their homes in another state, were as perfect in 1822 an tirey were before the revolution-these righta are defined by the abolition act in the most piain, explicit terms, without any condition impoard on their exerelse. The right whe compinte and perfect, if there existed betwcen the person seizing and the person seized, the refation uf owner and slave, or masster and servant, the master or owner mught take awny his siave or servante to another state of country where he restued, without the consent of the negro, the person with whom he Jived, the neighbortond, or the order or warrant of any magistrate. The law was his warrant, his authority, in the exechtion of which the master had a ripht to aid, and it is by this law that the rights of the partiew in this suit must be tested in this cake. If Jack, therefore, was the slave or servant of Mr. Johnson, he was nofelon, kidnapper or rutian, the act of seizure was lawful; sod if the defendants, of any of them, beat, nssaulted, arrested of imprisoned him, of any one acting by hiv autiority, the aet was illezal, without the lawful warrant or authority of an officer of the law.

Had the defendants any such anthority?
In iaquiring into the law of Pennayivacia, on the mubject of the rights and liberties of its eifizenis, and those of other states, a court who to to decide and insturet a jury upon them aecording to the law of the land, lis not at liherty tn overlonk that law which is supreme. If the ennatitution of this state or the uoion prescribes rulea for the conduct of officers in refation to arreat for erimes or breaches of the peace, we mast ohery them aceoriing to their terms, meaning and judicial exposition, without pegand to opisinas or treatises delivered or pubtishod elsewhere; an examination of rules to be deduced from swich souress does not suftice for the faithful discharge of mur dntions we at teast mast search for that law which we taust reapeet and obey, as weil as enjoin on your nhoorvance.

The 8th section of the 9iti article of the bill of rights in the constitution of Pennaylvanis declares, "that the penple shall be secare in their persons, housen, papera and passpssions, from unreasonable searches and seizures-and that no warrant to search any place or to seize any person or things, whall issoc without deacribing them an nearly as may be, nor without probable cause supported by oath or affirmation."
The 4th amondruent to the eonetutation of the United Ftates Geciares, "that the right of the people to be seeure io their perand seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrant shall iswae hut upon probable cause supported by oath of affirmation, and particularly deacriting the place to be ocarched and the persou or tilinge to be scized! !

The auprense eourt of this state fiave deeided that a warrant for forgery issued by a president of the court of cunsomem pleas, an the groand that it appeared to the jodge, frum comurom report, that three was stonng reamin to shaspect the party charged to be guilty, and that he was hikely to depurt and restrout to parts unknown, brfire the witoresess ecoulal be sumbenord to appear before the judge-to emable lum to twoue a warrant ou nath was itlegal on the lace of it, and a constable not manal to execute it. 3 Buncy, 43-1, Purd. The tirst order issurd by juige MeNiall was to John Kinderdine, withuat oath, athrmathon or any probable eause whatever-ou the mere statement made by him, then particulars of which the judge has been unable to recollect, so as to even state thein at the trial for our intormation-If instead of a verbal dircecuon to briog the Jersey party betiore him, he had Issued a warrant tor the purpose, the legal resuit would have been the sauve.

Herg in dneet violation of both constitutions, utterly wanting every requisite prescribed, thas order was, as evwiy warrant or witten authority from the judge wuuld have been, utterly tliegal, bull and void to all intents and purporew-affording no Justufication to Kinderdine, to esecute it or to aoy one io assinting lim-any act done under such an order is as tifegal as if none lad been given, and for any mjury done to the prerson or property of the phantilf, or tie others of his party, an action would lie as well agatinst the judge as all thone who acted in puranance of that order, whether it besued to bring the prartues before the Judge to prove the Jhantift's property io Jack, or to aaswer for a cringe or any offencen againat the laws.

The thberties of our entizens do wot depend on such a teaure as all admission of the legality of this order would tumply, nor are conetitutional provisions for their protection, to be deemed *uch soletha mockeries as we should make them by justifyiug the conduct ot the defendants in pursuanem of it.
You will therufore cousider every act done by them or any of them, every assault or offer of force, arrest, conflmeasent of restrant of the personal liberty of any of the Jersey party, under of by virtue of the order of judge MeNeill, an wholly without authority of the taw and in direct violation of its moat solemn provinions.

We now eome to the seennd order of the judre.
The judge telle un that be tork it for grantod, from weelng the juftice and constahle in eompany, thot the Jerwey party were in their legal cuntody, and in consequence of wheh beltef, he suggested the propriety of committing the negro to the cimnty jail, aull binding over the other party til pruve their property, if they had any. If you believe the atatement of the jouge, there can be no dithoulty in deciding on the merits of this pant of the transaction, taking it in either wav. As a eomputsory proceepting on the Jersey party to eompei them to prove the propurty in Jack, it was withoat any authority of law as atteriy void as the former order. If it wat to detain, eunfine or arrest them on a criminal accuation, it was uneonstitutional, for the want of an oath and probable canse; there is no evidence of even an aceusation made againat them in any specifie phape, or eltarging any dennite offence; the judge doen not atate that any appleatiom was made for any procens to be issued by hilt-if he in creditiod, he gave no order, but only suggested, advised of recommended the course he pminted out.
Yon will Judge froun the whole evidence, what wns the nature and object of the proceeding before the juige, And of what he did advise or direct. By referring to that part of the book of justice Tompkins, which has been read, it reems in lave bern weil underntond by him at least, "that it was thought advi*able to eommit the said Jack to jail for eafe kreping, until the said Caleb Johnson should have an opportunity to prove his property." The recognizance of Mr. Jolin avd Ju-tinian Kinderdine, taken on their return from the Judge's on Sunday night, shows their understanding of the matier; the enminion was to deliver to the satd Caleb Jolnnoon, whenever Mis claim is completely establishen, or lleliver him up at the next cosit of quarter arestoos of Montgomery county, &c. This whas the ooly act of Mr. Tompkins which appearn th have been done offirially by him that night, of which there is any evidence, unless the artiog Jack free under the recognizance was intendeal to be an ofineial net. As the adviee or direction of judge MrNeill was not pursued by the commitinctit of Jack, the condition of the reenenlzance was one which the judge wr juatice had on power or rigit to impose-the proceeding at the jodgn's was wholly illegal, and the detention of the Jersey pariy that night tawless nid uojustitiable.

We now enme th the proceedings before the jnetice on Monday morning. According to the aceonant of Mr. Roney, the eonstable, no witheasen were examined, no oath of affirmation was adminietered by the justice, or nuy question put to the Jersey party, exeept whether they fand bail; they anid they emid procure bail if thry had an opporturnity- the justiee said the must commit them, and tnok up his pen in write, the constable theo said he wonld the fortheopming for their appearance next morning, and they returoed to then Blife. Skillinan gave the mame seromnt of thie part of the transaction at the juxtice's.
If you believe this statement, it is the worat part of the transaction; with aisple time to proceed deliberately in due form of inw, with no ernwed or confusion to provent in fult and patient examination, there whe no excuse for not stricts putraing every step required by the faw and constitatum. The question of

502 NILES' REGISTER-JUNE 29, 1893 -RIGHTS OF PROPERTY IN SLAVES.

Jack's slavery had assumed a definite shape: hy bis adnission belure the judge it the presence ol justice 'lioniphins and the rest of the party; that lie was born a slave, and tiat lov lsud tived with Mr. Jolmern as wiflij he admalterd bis slavery till be was Huty, wien the alleged lie was frue by the will af judgo Herrian, of New dersey. The production of this paper Huen was ifeces sar) thatake but the truth of dach'a asnertuon, but it doen hot appear to have beell called or sent for, tur was Juck called on to verlly bis statement wil oati, though lie was a compront witness againet Mir. Jounson, if he was a free mau or ouly a servant lur years.

If is a very remarkabla clrcusstance that we liave no evivitce On this mubject +xcept Jack's adnisseman before the judge, lliat he was inot recongored an a wituest to apperer at court; that though he attented the tral be was nut a witiex on the undict nent, and though now free amil rexidhag at a viry convenicut disance to attend the trial or answer ints'fiogatortes-ws da not know what loe would say oa oath, or what aeconiat bee gave of blanseit on corning to Mr. Kindr-rdme's. 'Tise votiy min the bink of Mr. Tonspins descisbes hua as iliere Im ilse raniosiment nf John and Justanian Kinderdinv-liow tonit we kntow inat, but if lie money be gave to Mr. Eilis at the trial at Norristown was bis own, you nauy prewuiny. It wam a comsiderathe timp-if you take the sum according tu Mr. Klis' evidence there, it wan filly; I according to his evidence now, it was thirty dollarn. Jack In now a competent withess to any purt of the casm-hy their aot producing of takitg his evialence, of examtutng ally whthens to show the account Jact gave of binamelt, of whint ather reasos the delendants had for helieving bain free, asd promenomiz the plaintiti ing feloniy, than Jack's assertion at judge MeNenll'myou and we numst rounidn'r at an the only evidencr fin our conaideration on thas part af the care. Justice Tompkins appears to have acted on so other evidence of the fact of slavery of freedom, the whole propecution rested on that fact; If Jack was free he defcadants mught have been guity; if lie was a slave to the: paintif, they could not be guilty of kidmapping. 'l'liere could not be jurobable cause for the propecution, usless there was at least some legal evidence of his freedom made out by oath or atirmation. Jack'a assertion sat under oath or affrmation, was not evain the sinadaw of probable caumer-to justify the justice in conumittigg, arresting, detaining or issuing a warrant for the appreliension of the derwey party, of any of them. If a warrant asued on no other proof it wuuld have been liegal even fir their arrest; a comisituseat without warrant would have bees without any authoity; a verbsal directiou to delain or confue them was equally su

Dues the evidusce of Robert Tompkins change the result?
It ia your cxclusive province tor decide on liss credibility, you may believe or disbelirve hus evidence as you mav think purnew; but in givisg you our opiaion as to ite legal effect we must consider it as trum.

Ha says that John and Sarain Kinderdine were exanined before the justsee, but dues noi state what evidenee was given, and no paper or borik contanilag it was given itt evidence; thas rempres one constitutional shjectioa-but it leaves the proceedinge open to another fatal one, the want uf probable caune mu which tu isatue a warrast of order of arrest. 'This withese does not state whrthrr any of the otbrep party was present or not. Tbis is as all importast matter. The ninth section of the aluth artucte of the cosatitution provided,'that in all critninal piosecutions the accused hath a right to be lieard by funseif and counsel, to densand the nature and easse uf the accusstiou egaisst him and ta iscet the witnesses face to face."

Tlse misth anmendmest to the constitution of the United states providen, "that the accused sloall enjoy the right to be infirmed of tha nature and eause of the aectsanon aganot tum, and to le cosfronted with the witnespes."

It is therefore iscumbent on the defeadasty to satisfy you that the parties accused tw-fore the justice, were present on the examination of the witarase againet them; if it took place before they were brought before him and was not read to them or Informationgiven to them of its substance; or If it was had after they lef the ofthe or dome at any time, an a colur or cover for the proceedings which took place without the prewence or knowledge of the accused, it wat not only utterly lawless but aggravated by being done under the pretence of conformity to the provisioas of the comstitutiun.

As to all the proceediugs then of the defeudants which took place either for the purpove of takisg the Jersey party before the fastice or judige to prove the property of tha plaintiff or to establish a charge of kidnapping; we inatruct you without hwatation, that they were without any warrant or athority of law, wholly anqualifed and illegat.
We witl now inquire whether there was any law ful course to arreat on any other ground.
If Jack was the elnve or servant of Mr. Johnson, if he abseonded from lis remidrnce in New Jersey to thin state, he was entitled to weither relief or sheiter by the abolition act, it was prolubited by law, to harbor, deal with, coneeal or emplay hise, without notice to his master, (if kenown) usder a severe dally penalty. The laws uf the state reenguized him a the property of the piaintifi wbich he inad a right to take away from this utate to his residesce. The lst sectios of the bill of rights in the conatitutios of Penarylvania dectares, "that all men have the inherent and indefeasible right of eajoying and defending life and Hberty, of acquiring, posseswing and protecting property," "Ibat no man can be depriped of his liberty or property but judgenent of his peers, or the law of the land." Gect. 9 .
"That the right of citizene to bear arms ta defence of theosselves and the state shall not be quextiumed." Bec. 21 .

T'be second section of the 41 article of the cmastitution of the U. Statos declares "Lue citizens of ench stale sliall be entitied to alt priviloges and tasinutities of citizens in the several states." The luin section of the Ist artuic probilata asy atate from pas*ing atiy law  which nupairs tiv ibligatson of a contract."
"'he" scrotud amendment providics, "that the right of the peopie to keep asd bear arams whall hot be infraged.?

The sixti, "that as mas sliall be depined of tiberty of property, whlisout due jaocesm of law."

In addillog to throe righte Mr. Johason had one otlier important bine (t) which we invite gour spectal atteatron, and a cont parimos uf time fight givia and duty pujoineat by the eonetitution oi the Uinted States with the eleveath eectuou of the abolition act af 1 izo.

- No perion held to serve or laber itione state under the lawa thercof, cacapmig intu anathr r , shall it comequence of any law or regalation be discharged faotisuch wervice br labor, but shal be dulivert d up thin clanmof of the party, to whons such labor or service shall be duc." 4ib art. sec. 2, chause 3.
Porsuant to thin povision of the evnatitution, the act of con2ryse uf the 12th February, 1798, was parsed, bot bs iestrain the rights of 'the mavter, but tit give line the aid of a law tu enfurce thesa. This Jaw has been read on ywu, together with the opdmon of our respected predecesaors, in the cane of Hill wa. Law un which we give our enture asent, sin far as it affirus the uniftalified right of the master to seizr, secure and remove his fusotive slave." Do you perceive is this any thang iltscordant with tie foclings, the spuit, the posticy, or the legisiation of Penscylvasia, an maubfosted in the abmituon act, or the oae paseed to aucnd and explain it. Dus theste convtiutional and legal provisuons give any right to the plaintiff, or enjous any duty on others which are not the fundanuental principles of lier own laws, a acted on aud enforced in bur own courts, as of paramount and supretace authority. If you have any doubt, here the opinion of onc of the most lumane aan benevolent judges who ever presuded in any court, the late chilef juotuce Tighoman, in deliverting the opition of thic suprounc couri of thas atate-Wright ea. Deaon $5 \mathrm{y}, \mathrm{k}$ R, 63
"Whatevpr may beour pivata opinions on the subject of elavery, it is well knowa that our southern bretiren would sot have coaseutad to have becnuse pantica to a constitution under which the United States have eajoyed so numelt prosperity, in less their property in slaves had been securvi. 'f'hts coaritu tion has beell adopted lis' the free ennsent of the citiseus of Pena gy Ivania, and it is the duty of every man, whatever anay be bis市ice of statints, tu #ive it a fair bud candid construction." Af ser referring to the constitution, be obseaven-"Here is tie prin-ciple-tie tagituve is ta be delivered upose chaim of his master." But it rrquared a law turgelats the manner in which thes principles whould be rcinced to practice. "It was seressary to eatab ish mome mode in which the clain slonuld be made, and the fupitive be deliverril up," He then iprites the act of congrews. aod continues-" It plaisly appoars fronil the whole sense and ritor of the constitution and act of cougress, that the figitive was th be deliverid up on a summary procecdeng, withont the delay of a formal trial ia court of comston law. But if lie had rrally a right to freedom, that right was not impaired by this procerding-be was placed just is the wituation in which he found before he fied, and might prosecute his right in the state to which lie belonged."
T'iniv is in the #uirit of the Jaw, policy and ferilag of Penneylvania, as declared by the suprerne court, and if the acts aud procevdinge of inferior courts and judges in opposition to the rights of the ownera of fugitive slaves are quashed as illegal, of wbat nalure must be the lawless conduct of individuals, who, by an assuated authority, indertake to obstruct the execution of the supreme Jaw of the Inad? The suphreme court deciarea that the conwtitution of the Uniled States, would aever have bepa formed or assested 10 by the southern states, without aome provision

*Nots 2. Krtract from the charge of jadge Peters in Hill va

 Lav.To carry into effect the cosetitutioal provirinns on this subject, the act of coagress of February 19 th, 1793 , was enacted. This sct empowers the purson to whons a fugltive from labor or bervicen is due, him agrnt or attormey "to acize or airest auch fugilive from labor, and to lake hita or her before any judee of the circuit or dostrict court of the Unhed States resuding within the state, or brfore asy magistrate of a cousty, city, &e, wherein such seizure was ande, and on proof of owisg service to the clsinsant, elther by afficilt or other evidence taken befora a juige or magistrate of the ofata from which the fugitire creoped, the judge or magintrate of the mate in which be or she is arrested thall give a certificate theroof to the claimant, hia agent or attorney, wisich shail be sufficient warrant for removing such fugitive."

By this it clearly appeara that the elalmant, his agent or attorney, has the authorlty of this law tn peize and arrest without warrant or other legal process, the fogitive he clamss, sad that without belng accorapanied by any civil officer, though it would be prudest to have wuch officer to keep the pesce. Whitst than seized and arrested, the fugitive in as much In eustody of the claitnant, his neent of attorncy, as he woald be In that of a sberif or other officer of justice, having legal proceme to apize and arrest, who may use any place proper, in his opinion, for tetaporary and mafe custody.
for secnriag their property in slaves. L,ook at the first article and you will see that slaves are not only property as ehattels, but pofitical property, which confers the highert and annst sacred political rights of the states, on the inviolabilty of which the very exintence of this goverminent depends.
The apportionment annong the neveral atates comprising this union, of tbeir repreneulatives in congrens.
The apportionment of direct taxes among the several statea.
The nuinber of electeral voten for president and vice president, to which they shali reapectively be entitied.
The basis of these rights is-"according to their respective numbers, which shatif be determaned by adding to the whole gumber of free peraons, including thase bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians, not taxed, three fifthe of all other persons." So that for all thesc areat objects, five siaves are, in federal numbern, equal to three freemen. You thus nee that in protecting she rigitts of a master in the properiy of a save, the constitution guarantces the highest rights of the reopective ptates of which each has a rugtt to avail itmelf, and whin each enjoys ia proportion to the unaber of slaves within its boundaries.

This wha a concession to the southern states; but it was not without it equivalent th the nther stales, expecially the small ones-the basis of represputation in the menate of the United States was perfect equality, each benug entitied to two senators -Deiaware had the same weight in the sruate as Virgiaia.
Thas you see that the foundations of the government are laid, and reat on the rights of property in slaves-the whole structure tanst fall by disturbing the corner stones-if federal numbers cease to be respected or held sacred in questions of property nr government, the rights of the small states must disappesir and the government and union dissolve by the prostration of its laws before the nsurped authority of individuals.

We shall purnue thes anbject no further in its bearing on the political rights of the states composing the union-in recalling your attention to these rights which ave the subject of this controversy we declare to you as the law of the case, that they ary Inherent and unalienable, so recognized by all our fuudamental laws.

The constitution of the state or union, is not the source of these rights or the others to whieh we bave referred you, they existed in their plenitnde before any constitutions, which do not create, but protect and secure them againat any violation by the legisiatures or courts, in making, expounding or administering laws.
The mature nf thia case, its history, and the course of the argnment call on us to deciare esplieltiy what is the effect of a constitutional protertion or gusraaty of any right or the injuaetion of aay duty. The 26 th rection of the bill of rights in the conatitution of Pennaylvania, is in these words"'To guard against tranagresaions of the high powers we have delegated, we deelare (we the penpic of Pennsyivanta), that every thiag in this article is exeepted out of the general powers of government and shail forever remain invinlate." A higher power "declares this constitution and the laws of the United States which shall he made in porsuance thereof, shall be the supreme law of the lanil, and the judges it every slate shall be hound thereby, any thing in the conetitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding." 6 art. 2 claure convt. U. $s$,

An amendment of the conscitution is of still higher anthority, for it has the effect of controlling and repealing the express provisions of the constitution authorizing a power to be exereised; by a declaration that it shall not be construed to give such power. 3 Dall. 382.
We have atated to you the various provisions of the constilutinn of the United Slates, and its amendments, as well as that of this atate; you see their anthority and obltgation to he snpreme over any lawa or regulationn which are repognant to tbem, or which viniate, infringe of impair any right the rehy zecured; the concinations which result, are too obvious to be more than atated.
Jack was the pmperty of the plaintiff, who had a right to posseas and protect his slave or arvant, whnm he had a right to seize and take away to his residence in New Jersey hy force, if force was neeessary, he had a nght to neeure hinn from cecape, or rescue, by any means not crucl or wantonly severe-he had a right to earry arms in defence of his property or person, and to ase them if either were aseatied with stich force, numbera of vinfence as made it necessary for the protection or safety of either; he bad a right to come into the state and take Jack on Sunday, the act of taking him up and convesing hiun to the Bif let, was no breach of the peare if not done by umsh and diwnr. der, oceasioned by hitnacif or his party -and their praceable entry into the bouse of Mra. Kinderdine was lawfui and jnati fable, for this purpose, in doing these act, they weresupported by laws which no human authority could ahake or question.
The power of the state was incompetent to fropatr the obliga tinn of the contract or purchase from Raniey aad Berrian, or th discharge Jack from the selvice of his master; he conld not be diseharge jack from the setvice of his master; he conid nit be of his liberty without the cominission of an offence and process of law.

Did they commit any breach of the peaere?
Joseph Kinderdine proves he was in the house when they entered and took Jack, he heard no noise, and did not see them euter-he informed his uncie of what hal happened, came with im and his aunt to the wagon, but does not recoliect what was said.

Sarah Rakestraw testifien she heard lasachar ask them io prove their property, to which they rephed, to stand off, and If he resisted they would blow hiss through-If this witness is credited, it shows the une ol language rude and rough; but it did not amount to a breach of the peace without an ofier to use an offensuve weapon, or proof of some act done. Had such offer been made when Mr. Kinderdiue was doing an act whith interfered with their rights, they would have been Juntitied in using as mach force as was necessary to enable them to proceed th their tawful busineas-bis demand of proof of property was unautborised, if the iaw gave him this right he would also havis the right to judge of its sufficipncy; but he was acting in his owa wrong in making the demand, and they were under no obligafion, iegal or moral, to exhbit their papers, and subnit to an ef ammatoon by bim in the lughway. A request, at a proper tunie and plare, and under circumstancea where there would be any prohability of a candid and impartial atteution to legal evidevce respert for tha righta of property, or the faws of the land, would if retused rudely, have indicated a disposition oft the pait of the Jerseymen extremely reprehensible, and put their refusaion a very different footing from that in whiels it appears by the evidence of Miss Rakestraw; though even in surh came they would not have beeu compeiled by law to nhow their property or authonity, yet rude conduct or laugnage would have tended much to have paliaterl any exettement or violence which followed a refumal to accede to a proper request. On this subject there is much weight in the remark of the defnendont's counsel, that there is a social law, a law of decent respert for the rpiniun of othern, which ought not to be overisoked in the asserting of right -hut it is most certainly a grosa violation af this nocial law, to rudely demand an a right, that whieh ought to be enneeded only to courteay of manner, and propriety of ture, place and circuintance.
The next act of the Jersey party which in complained of, is the threat to blow out the brains of Issachar Kindesdine, when he etther had seized or was about to seize one of their borses by the bead, for the parpose of atopping them in the road, near the mieting house. At this time tirere was a crowd of some so of 30 about the wagon, and shostly after the plahintiff was struck in the bead with a stone.
Under such circumstancen, a demand to prove property or to stop, was inost unseasonable and improper, any attempt to stop tbem was unlawful, and would have jnstified the repeling sueh an attempt by as muelo force, and with such weapons as would be necessary to their safe paseage to the Biflet; what was aaid or done by them was to breach of the peace, or other offence, which in any manner justified their arrest or detention, 5 s . & R. 301 .

It would be a severe reproarh on the laws of the slate if any of the acts tentified to have been done by the plaintiff or his party comid be deemed a crime or offence, it is our diuty to say to you that in poiat of law they were guilty of netther; their conduct did not expose them to any other notice nf the law than possibly the fine for doing worldly business by the mere seizure of Jack on the Sabhath. If that had heen the only offence imputable to them by the defendante, you may be incifined to thmk with u* that the Jersey party wrre not the only persona who were exposed to the penalty-it aay welf be douhted whether it was a work of necessity, merey or charity, to proceed fnrther on that day than was done by the defendants before the Jersey party and the erowd reachen the Billet.
At any rate, travelling on Sunday does not fall within the irgal demeription of worldiy empinyment or busiaces, or any offence within the law eognizable by a magistrate, s $. & R. 301 -as going from Mra. Kinderdine's to the Bilict.
The noxt inq̧uiry is whether the plaintiff has been aseaulted, beat, or imprisoned by the defendanta, or either of them, and by whom. An assault is an offer to strike, beat. or commit an act of vinfence on the person of another, without actually doing it, or touehing his person.
A battery in the torebing or enmmission of any artual viofence to the perton of another in a rude or angry manner.
Imprisonment is any restraint of the pereonal liberty of another; any prevention of his movemente from place to place, or his free action aceording to his own pleasure and will; a man is imprisnoed when he is under the control of another is these resperts, or either of them againet bis own wifl.
it is false imprianment when this is done without inwfulanthority, and such imprimonment is deemed an as*anic in law, thongh no assault in faet is made; the one inciudes both offencen, the act heing uniawful. In actions for injuries of this kind, all parties who are proved to have taken any part in the asoault, battery nr imprionment, are principals, and answerahie for ail acta doae by themseives on hy any othera concerned in the transactinn, by their order, enoment, or procurement; or is pursuance and funtieranee of an olyeet or enterprize fa which they have ail engagen, and whieh is illegal. If twn mere agree or eomhiae to effect an anlawfinl purpowe, each one of the party la civiliy anawerable for all netw done in or leallogg towarde the accompllshnment of the joint otyect, directly eonnected with it or natnrally consequential. If the object and purpnse fs enterrd apon and enmmenerd by the parties concerned, and other indtvidnals, or a crowd asecmitird in conseqneace, and consummate the act or foin in ita execution; the original parties are responsible for their conduct, though the immediate netors may be anknown to them, or have no other concerted agreement or ennnection with them, than by the uniawfal acts committed, intended or tending to effectuate the original object and purpose.

If a mand dnes an unlawful act, apt or likaly to do an injury on some porxon, and an injury is aetually cauned thereby, it is Immaterial by what intermediate band it in inflicted, the firsit wrong doer to dirretly atiswerable to the Injured party an the linmesliate treapasser; an where a vnan threw a lighted squib Into a ctowded market honse, it was thmwn by ome and otior, till It struck a permon and put ont his cye-the man who firyt threw the squib was made answerahle, 3 Wiss. 407. So in the law where one than pubilicly and unjustly cliarges anotior with the commission of an offruce ar rititie of whicti he is innocent, and an injury is infleted on him by an exelited crowd.

It is more dangernisw than the sqoib, because more apt to be eftended with fatal consequences, and un cry wonlul be more exriture in Pennsylvania, in the most orderly community, than that of kidnapping.

You will then unferstand the law in he well sented, that it is not nepesnary to briug home to any of the defertants, tite definite act which bas cansed the injury; the law fastone the consequences of any illegal act npon them, which they have, ith any manner an before mentioned, directly or indirectly, done, brought about of caused.

Tiseir mese presence, however, when the aet in committed, does not make tifens acconthiable for it, without wome partieipation on their part, or excithag, directing or pacouraging it-these must be sone evidence of their actime or causing othera in act. If they take any part you may convider any or each of then who do sat, answerable for all that is done, unlean yoll are matis. fed that this interterence whe upennuected with the original and priseipal putpose.

If an ifiegal art is done ander conint of Icgnl anthorliy or prnceas, from un officer who had no jnrisaliction of the zolygept matser, or whose order or process is made or iswied in vislation of the law, the judes or jatime, and party procuring it, are treapaswere, on in the officer and all who act under bith, if the procena in void on the face nf it, 10 c. 76 , and his who procures wach order on false pretencea, Is the most aggravated case, It is not aeersary to constitue false iniprisonnient, that the permonit restrained of his hberty should be toneised or actually arrested, If he is ordered to do or not to do the thing, to nonve or not move againet hiw own free will, if it is not left to his own option, to go or stay where he pleanew, and force in offered or threatened, and the meanon of enercion are at hand, ready to be used-or there is reasonable gronind 10 apprelomud that copicive means will be used, if he does not yield. A prerwon mo threatened need not wait for Ita aretnal application. His submiesion to the threatened and reamonably in be apprelieniled force, is no coustent to the arrest, detention or restraint of the frevedom of his inntion-he is an much imprisoned as if his person wan touelied, or foree ectually uspd; the imprisonment continues until be in lef at his own will in go where he pleaspe, and must be comaidered na vo Iuntary, tull all effort at enercion or restratat cease, and the means of effecting it are removed.

On the part of Mr. Tounkins, it is enntended that the plaintiff has failed in him action as io him, for watit of the notiee required by the act of ascembly wtich has been read, Puril. 492.
This act appliea to all ufirtal acts of a justice of the peace, and must be litu-fally construted an as to give them the fuil benveft of she protection Intended by the notice. Though the act done Is prolnibited hy law, and a penalty imposed, an for marrying a miner withomit tioc coserent of his father, 5 finn. 24 , of arresting a party by wurrant fivr an act which is no offionee, na travelling on Sinday, or if in the bonest exercise of his Jarisdiction, he find gen erronenumy of the legal phararter and conmequences of an act done, and treass as an offsonder, a perann who han committed no crime, 5.2 .8 R. Intl-2, he is entitled to nmice. On the other hand, if he acta from improper motives, in a case where he had no autbority to act at all, or in the manner io whieh he did act, he will be depmed to have acted mepely undes the coing or pretence of hin nimm, and not fy virline of it, and no notice is neceswary. Nur if he inok any part in this praceenIng withmit Intendine in act are justice of the peace In his nff eial chararter, or did or direrted any aet to fee done, in a matirr whereof he had no jarivdiction. He mist be einthod with nfit cial power to dn the aet officially, en that he in antionised in judge and trecide whether the offi-nee chargrd bae been eommit ed, or whether the thine done fs punishatie or withtn his engui zance- If he jultes honeativ, hnwever mivtakenly or ignorantiy. be la entitled to notier in all zuch eases, though he cannot be justified In doing the art.

But if anme thinga are indlepenable to hring his official power into arilon, and those thingt appear not to have bern done, his apte are null and void, and cannot be official; an iseuine a war rant of arreat In a criminat accusation, without probafile canse, supported hy oath or afirmation-the power in do this is ex presilv eqcepted from ail the powers of the governinent, by the bill of righta of Pennsyivania, and the amendment to the constinution of the Inited Itates.

No art pan be hy virtue of offiee, which the power of gnvernment ie incomperent to anthorioe; it maet he tolen to be by the mere color of onfice, and no mutice in neepppary, whatever his motives or intentions werd. It fa for you to decide on all the evidence in the calsese applicable to Mr. Tompkins-how he acted In any of the erenes which nceurred, you will crnsialer him oe any other defendant, ae to wll inatters over whith he had no oficial prover to act, nr in wlich he did noi intend to act oft-pially-ymm mont find in his favor, if all his acts to the injury of These are points of law which furnish the rules for the decisinti of this case; you will apply the evidence you have bend to asceitain the factir as thry bear on each defendant.

In contraving the condact of the reapective partien, you eata decidv which has aeted within and ander the authority of the law, and whicli has violated it; if the evidenee has made tise snme umpression on your minds as on oure, there cannot be a doubt that the defendants have inflicted injuries on the plaintis for which he in entitied to redress at your handa. If the righte with whilh he was elothed by the anpreme law of the land, ars to be neither reapected or protected, you or we cannot be protected in its adrainistration; our powers are derived from the laws and constitution of the state and union; bis are from the same source and anthority, and from one source bigher than either. That power which ean at its pleasure alter and reseind any of the provieionw of the ennstitution itwelf, by a conwittstiomal amendment; by that power Caleb Johnson is Invested with and gharanteed in the enjoyment of rights which can be neithrf infrunged of Impaired by all the power of the state or Eencyal gnverniment so lowg na the nupreme Inw to which they are sulonidinate is obeyed. And shall it be permitted to individuale actiug under the impulse of their own feeinge and gassiona In do what is forhidden to the Irgislative powir of the country, with no other ehrek on their artivina than what they may eall the social law of the phace, or public opinion? This case illastrates the effrets of indulging that fatve philanthmpy which prostrates the law ard ilie constitution in its zeal againet slavery; as we remarked to yon before, it ettends not merely to make the aiave free, but frecomen alavem. The plaintife and hle party were denied the mae of a bed, and this by zealnts in the easse of humanity and benevolence. What would lave been maid of Mr. Johnson if he had refused Jark a plaef, and meane of rept and slepp-and it is to sanction surh philauthropy that lawe are in be alleregariled, not only to Justify the defendunts in attempting io liberate Jack, tut foreling his mantei from place to place ae a crinitnal, propecuting and now denmancine bim as a relen. Tlinuph he nffred manumivaion to hia slave on the first night, and has since cxecuted $1 t$, the defendante did not then, nor do they now relent, even after the full investigatiots which the paise bas undergnne.

We had hoped that they would have offered pome ciream. etances of mitigation or excuke, which would have made the quextion for your decision one of mere compensation to the piainuf for the injury he has actuslly sustained, without giving any thine In damazes by way of public example, to prevent frture outrapes against the laws and the constitutional rights of citizens of the United States. We very mnch regret that hy justifying their whole conduct, and boldiy makine the losae before you one iffright, there is but one mode left to you by which you can niept your duty th the partien and the country.
If there are any rights of property which can be enforcted, Ifour eitizens have permonal rights wisleh are made Inviolable under the protection of the suprense law of the state, and nnion, they are those which linve bren set at naught by wome of the defendants.
As the owner of property - whieh he had a perfeet right to penssexm, protwet, and take away, as a citizen of a sister staser, entitlell to all the privileges and immunitirs of citizens of any other etate, Mr. Jolimenn siands befare yots on ground which no isw ean take from under lim-it if the same ground on which the govermment is buitt. If the defendants can be justified in what they have done, we have no longer law or envernment-and If the personal Ilberty of the citizens can he tives violated with Impunity, there rrmain to us no rigits worth protecting.
The political aspect of puhtie affairs eanuot be overlooked when a court and jury are called on to dechle on constitntimal qumations. The country has happily pased through seme excitint and palnful scenen, threatoning lta peace. No one ean tell what danger nusy be impending over ur, or how imminent it inay he-bat it is certain that there is mneh eanse for vigilanes in ail those concerned in the adminiatration of the law of the Iand, in enforeing lis provisions; and by punishlug all infraction, in such a mariner, that it ohall bey in Its operation, es wril as in its name, pupteme-the oniy test and standard of right and wrongAs fitizons of Penneylvania and the United Itatee, it now rewte with you to pass upon the righth in enntroversy between Theap parties; they are of thr highest iniphotanee to pvery man in the commnoity, and to the whole cotantry, as affecting its deepest concerns.

The question of damages is exelnsively with you-thourh the defendants have not given in evidence or urged by their eouneel, any thatters in extennation, we eannot helpremarking that they appear in be respected in their neigliboihood; they afe members of a melety diatinguished for their nhedience and wumbission to the laws; than whom none nther in more meritariows in their charlty, henevolenee and exemplary good condnct in all the relations of life. By what motiven they were metuated toveards the piaintiff, who never Injured them of thrirs in the pursuit of his property, is hard to Imagine-it would peem that they were impelled hy some canse not dimelosed In the evidence or arrument of the canse $\rightarrow$ some nairit or tone in pnblic opinion; the temper of the times, some ermneoss Impresslons of the poliey of the law of 1820 , or mistaken advice on the ennstraction. This, however, is Ief to mere conjecture, as we are not athot fised hy the defendantio to place their conduct on this footing, the case mnst be ien to yout on the question of right, according to the lawa and constitution, as they have been shows to yous and on the question of damagey, as you shall think the jostice of the case demands.

Fourth sehis. No. 19-Vol VIIL.] BALTIMORE, JULY 6, 1833. [VoL XLIV. WboLi No. 1,157.

THE FABT—TRE PREAENT—TOA THE YUTURE.

0f-The president, after two or three days repose, by the aid of his medical atfendants, was enabled to proseeed to the university of Cambridge, near Boston, on the 96th ult. where the honorary degree of LI. D. was conferred upon him by the faenliy of that distinguished seminary of learning-as bas been the custom on the visit of a presidemt of the United States. After which be passed to Charlestown, where lie was handsomely received and escorted to Bunder's Hill-from whenee he proceeded on his tour, visiting Marblehead and Salem, scc. and arrived at Lowell, where he lodged. On the 28th he was reecived, in much form, by the state authorities at Concord, N. H. the legislature being yet in session-but he was a good deal exhausted, and compelled to retire from the press of the people. Here was the last place at which we had heard of him, until it was known that lie passed through Baltimore in the aight of the Sd of July -hastening home to Washington!

It appears that the president's health was such as to demand a rapil movement south, and one that would not be interrupted by calls marle upon him, or other like demonstrations of reapect-for he needel rest, and he found it on board of the steamboats anul rail road ears, on his journey. Instead of going to Portland, in Maine, as was intended, he lef Coneoril on Monday, the lst, after breakfast, and arrived at Washington at 9 or 10 o'clock on Thursday, the 4th of July, making a journey of 474 miles, in three days, very eonsinlerably reeruited. Such are the present accommodations for travelling.

The vice presillent and secretary of the navy, with Mr. Donnelson and col. Earle, arrlied at Washington with the president.

The addresses of the governor of Massachusetts, of the mayor of Boston, and of the president of the itniversity, are among the things which we have laid aside for record - for we rogard them as fine specimens of what aught to be said on such oecasions, if such formalities are tleemed "necessary and proper"-of which we have consillerable doubt, unfess in extraordinary eases, such as the visit of Lafayerte-the most extraordinary man of his time, the illustrious link between the past and present generation, a man, indeed, of three generations, and great and giorious and beloved in all-the pare and angwestioned friend of all the human family-the brave, the disinterested, and the good.

We have inserted the address of Mr. Everett, and the reply of the president, at Bunker's Hill, and proment a brief account of the reception at Mowell, because of the peculiar circumstances which belong to both places: for If the former be regardell as the "Nount Pisgah" from whence suceess in the revolutionary struggle was first elearly discencel, the latter may be respected as a splendid demonetration of the vietory obtained in establishing the right to "rregulate trate;" and, as our disputes with the "mother country" on that subject, canserl the revoIntion, so the nucessity of sceuring the bencfits of the newly gained power to "regulate trade" brought about the adoption of our present federal constitution:" and the hattle of Bunker's Hill will have been fought in vain, and the constitution be renclered utll anl void, when it is ardmitted that there is not powar in the fenleral government to defend and proteet the virtuous industry of the females of Lonell.

DC-The case of Mr Pleasants, "atisched" to apprar at the eircuit eourt of the Distriet of Columbia, will interest many of our readers. If the proceeding is not retired from-important results may he expeeted from it [^28]OO-In auticipation of obtalning a copy of Mr. Webeter's speech, ilelivered at Cineinuati, we have inserted what may be estecmed the preliminary matters.

Mn. Whrts. There is good reason to hope that the report of the decease of this worthy gentleman, is not trur. A New Orlenns paper of the 18 th ultimo still presents his name as a candidate for the gubernatorial chair of the sante.

Maryland. A few cares have appeared on the line of the Chesapeake and Ohto canal, abuve Williamoport.
rittsburg. A few more solitary deaths had oceurred in this city-our latest dates do not show au abaence of the disease; bat afford no preseat cause to apprehend it will become epidemical.
A few eases have happened at Claysville.
Kentucky. The Bardstow a Herald of the $22 d$ alt. says, that no case of cholera had yet occurred is that town, thowed they had been very numerous in the neighbothood.
The Msysville Eagle of the 27 ith says "the cholera still Ingers amongat us, though in a greatly minigated form.
At Flemingsburg the divease bad not suffered any abatement. It was thought that one rizth of the population who remaised in the town, had died. Among thean the editor of the "Intelligeneer" and his two daughters.
It had appeared at Paris with almost unparalleled mallgnity. The town way litetally deserted in 48 hours-but the Aight of many was prevepted by dixeave and death. In like manner ti burst out at the Lower Blue Lieks, a watering place thronged with visiters. Tbe venerable major Bedinger, a relick of the revoluilon, loat every winte member of him fanilly, Including a married daughter, and a son, a physician, who cane to attend apon the family.
The cholera bad not yet ceased at Lexington-but had so much abated, that the people were returuing to their homes. The list of ascertained deaths in this city is awfnl, the population being regarded. There died, in 20 days- 166 whites, 164 blacks, and 25 lunatics in the hospital-total 375 .
One white persou, 6 Indians and 5 blacks, bave died of the cholera, at the Choctaw college, In Reolt county.
A fow deaths have happened at Cynthiana.
Many fatal cases have occurred in various parts of Kentucky. The disease seems suddenly to present itself, and then at sud. denly retire without any known cause.
We had very alarming aceounts of the breaking out of the eholera at Lowinille-but lt veems that ap to the 25 th only 10 or 12 deaths had happened, and these chiefly of persons who had been attacked oa the river.
Wheeling. A letter signed by the physicians of this town (11 in number) acdressed to the board of bealth on the \%sth ult. ways that no new casea of cholera had appeared is the last fiva days.
Ohio. Though a few eases still bappened at Cincinnati, the disease had aot at all awnmed the charneter of an epidemic.
Tensesses. The cholera had ceased to prevall at Nashville on the 19th-but cases occorred in the adjaceat country. It was bad at Pulanki.
From the 1ith Dee. 1832, when the first case was reported, to the وoth June Iast, there died of the chnlera at Naabille, 158 persons-of whom 65 were in the last $\mathbf{2 0}$ days of the period given.

New Orleans. A steamboat had arrived at Louisville from New Orleans, which low 17 of her passengers by the cholera.
There were ouly 23 interments at New Oileans on the 17th alt. and a ptrong hope was pntettained that the discare was atont to cease its ravages; but private letters inform us that th was still causing a great number of deaths on the plantations.
It is stated that the use of calomel, is cholera, has prodoced almost cerlain fleath in Louisiana, in the preseat season. Opium srem to lie chicfly relied on, for a succewsful practice.

Misrissippl. A. M. 太colt, governer of this state, has died of the cholera.
Misoovri. Cnees are happening in some parts of this state. The cholera had been draadful at Palmyra. The whole population of the town was mily 700-but, it is stated that 120 deaths occurred, from the th to the gz and June?

Teras. The eholera has appeared In this couatry, but had not yet been very destructive.

Cuba. There is reason to hope that the aecounts of the ebolera at Havana have been much exagrerated.
Merico. An arrival at New Orieans from Tampleo, and tha "Courier" says-a letter dated Tampico the 7th, states that in the 14 days previous to the 6 h , there had been 500 deathe from the disease, and on that day the death amounted to 130 .

This fatatity we believe is unpreeedented in this country The town of Taupaco is totianated to emitann 3,000 soultr by ponie there is said to be between 4 and 5,000 luhabitaati*. On the 8th (the day before the Eimperor sailed) there was said to have been IKO deathr. We underntand uhat it was generally confined to the lower classes, and but one foreign merchant had died of it.

A Freweh barque, the name of which we did not learn, lont every person belonging to ber with the exception of one man.

Therev. Ma. Avery. There seerns to be a foul dispoaltion to perwecute this than-thongh acquilud of the heinote offrnces with which he was charged, by a jury of hat coantrymurn; and siuce fren reinstatud in the performance of his clerical dutues, by a couference of his own church, after a full and deliberate exanination of all the paists-even ponse, perhapa, which the law of the land could not have rearived. And because that wo thoughtlessly, or inadvertently, copied a hrier peagaph wisich insiooated that the jury had acquitied hio rather on the prinetple that it was better mungy guilty perauns should eseape than an innocent one sutlos, thay berause of the strengil of ithe testinony in has favor-it is proper To recur to the subject and say, that factis lave transpired, since the iriat, wheh go entirely to relieve Mr. Avery of certain patti of the vewtimony which seened to be the most decided agaiost him.

The anbicultural intereat. Though equally fijendly to every pursuit of the laboring people of the United States, we have naturally had the greater or more deeided interest in the business of the agricultural class-for the good renson that it is, by far, the most numernus and important: aml, in tloing alf that we could to excite manufactures of iron, and other metuls, wool, eotton, leather, wood, earths, be. kce the faet has always been present to our mind that a ton of iron or a bale of eloth, a pair of shoes or a ship, represented, (for each contains), a large proportion of its value in the produets of the land, and of habor variously employed upon it. A bale of eloth, for an example, worth 400 dollars, made and eonsumed in the Uuited States, as eertuinly represents an agriculftreal value of 300 ilollars, an 60 barrels of flour exported, at 5 influra per barrel-becanse of the wool contained in the eloth, and the breud and meat, &e. woluch have entered mo ats composition, through the subsistence of the makers of it. And, if the whole mantifacture of woollen eloth in our conntry is worth $$ $ 1,000,000$ a year, as has been supposed, it is fully equal to an expert of thirty millions worth uf fluur, beef, pork, kc. &e. for it maters not how the value is gained. The demanal at Buston, Providence and other castern cities and towns, for the flour of New York, Pennsylvania, Mary land and Virgisia, muels exceeds the general foreign ilemand-and the whent-grower can discover no sort of diffirence in five thollars paid him on aceomit of a burrel of flour consunvel at Inveell, or in five dullars received because that a bartel of his flour is consumed in London. But he has this great advantage, though all are not so sensible of it as they should be, that the market at Lowell is stearly-at Loulon capricious; the first may be depended on, but coneerning the second no calculation can be made; and thicte are other equally important reasons why the hone market should be priferred which have of en hecin urged upion the consideration of our readers, and need not be repeated ou the present occasion. If the gross value of all the mamufactures of iron, wool, cottrn moll teather, in the United States, be 125 millions of dollars a year (which is pretty near the real amount), we have the represpentutive, in these artielis, of nearly one hundred millions worth of the products of the land, inil labor, excited to render the mines aud the forests-the grain fieflds, anil hay fielils, the pastures and ranges, profituble-even mines of gold, without labor, lave no more value than mountains of granite. The anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania might loave been purchased, a few years ago, for a few cents per sere; but labor has been applied to the muking of canals and roads, and the value of these fielits is inunene-far greater than the gold ficlds of the south. or southern America, or even the diamond distriets of Goleonds and IBrazil. And so it is-lhat the land holling, or agricultural interest, has, direedy or indirectly, an average of twothirds or three-fourths of the value of all the leadiug arvieles manufactured in the Uuited States. Every steam engine employed depends on this interest for its furlevery wagon, used in transportations, relies upon it for the supply and subsistence of horses, as well as the support of the driver of them-whose food constitutes a large part of his ear ings. But if the driver were not to employed, he woulli probably be a prodicer of fnod; and, at least to the amonnt, or value, of his own eonsumption, isterfere with the general market for food, ated so depreciate its price. And what is price? It costs as muel labor to make a bushel of wheat at 50 eents a busbel, as if at 400; and it is the manifest interest of the grain-brower-die farmer, to build up a market for his promluets. If all the people were farmers, there would be no market for gruin. The foreign demand for bread-stuffs, including rice, is not equal to $8,000,000$ barrets of flour a y ear-and whit would be the price, per barrel, if eveny Anserican citizen raised hread for his own family? Nor one-third of what if is; for the small aurpluses happening would do more than supply the whole foreign ilemand. Alnd these surplusses woull always exist-(times of seareity exeepted), because that the closest and best managing firmer must have sonve money, to be oltained tirough the sale of his productions; and hence the surplusses would always be pressing against one another, to rednee price. This wust be elf ar to the understanding of every refiecting person, as well as that a money-price has only a certain relation to value. The aunual subscription to the Reaseten is five dollars; but we can much better afforil to send a eopy of it to a new eustomer in exchange for a barrel of inour, thas pay five dollars for the barrel of flour, in the usoul course of business. The former would be the disposition of a sarplus; but the latter bears direetly opon the profit in possestion. We have not time to carry-out the poims now made; nor is it necessary with respert to those who will tuke the tronble to think. It is the great interest of the American comannity that the money-price of the products of the tand should be high, and the demand steady. We would rather that the ordinary price of four was 9 dollars then six dollary, and of cotton 15 cents per lb. than ten.* The cireulation of money Urereby to be caused, in extra profits earned, would enable us better to purchase three barrels of flour or threc pounds of cot-ton-goods, at the high pirice, than one bariel or pound at the low one. And besides, every kind of labor would have its corresponding advance. Oor doctrine will not Iend to extremes. A glass of wine may be good for the "stomach's sake;" but a bottle may sieken tire stomach. We would not force the noncy-priee of the great wecessaries of life, but earnestly and sten. Jily encouruge the production of them, relying on competition as a balancewheel to regulate all affiars between producers and consumers. We refer to the nome trabs. The intercourse with foreign eountries must reat upon its own laws-restrieted or free, as reciprocated by the partics; but the amount of it is small, compared with that of the internal commerec of a comintry. In the Uinited States, the home trade is as from 15 to 20 to one, as compared with our foreign commeroe.

These brief hints or remarks, hare been eansed ly the reception of a letter from a plain farmer of Chenango countr, New York-wlon, in remitting his dues for subseriptinn, was kimilly plramed to holit a little familiar clat with us-which we are always thank ful to receise. though the peenliar eireumstances in which we are placed, furhinls a reciprocation of such courtesies, in most cases. He say,
"The allvance on wool in Eirrope, lase enabled the domestic mannfucturer to give a fair price for wool this sea-son-and, as ny farm in ahoost wholly deroted to the raising of wool, I am enabled to enelose you -dollars. You are on the right track. It is the land and the labor on the lanil, that must be sacrifieed by an abandonment of the protceting aystern. The woollen mill is precisely in the same situation to the grazier, as the flour mill to the tillage farmer. Neither could get on withont the nid of the other. The flour mill will continue to grind if wheat is redneed to 50 echts per bushel-and the woollen mill will move if fine wool falls to $$ 5$ eents per lb . But to enalle the farmer to furnish the wheat, he must reduce his rent and labor to one-half its present amount or cont-and the wool-grower musk keep sheep at 50 cents, per annum, instead of oue dollar, the present presumed fair cost of them-but the wheat cannot be supplied at 50 cents, nor the wool at 25, without eorrespouding reduetions in the value of land and lator.
-Except on account of bad cropa.
"As you are in the habit of using figures for proof, I send you the annexed calculations. I am informed that the Oriskany w nollen fact ory will, in the current year, require $200,000 \mathrm{lbs}$, of wool. Their agents, (and others), have come into this county to lay in their stock. T'o sup- ply this 800, noo lis. of wool will requre the whole elip of 80,000 sheep-2\} Ibs. to the head. To suppiort these sheep will require $\mathbf{5 3 0}$ grazing farms, $\mathbf{1 5 0}$ sheep to each, which is a large average for sheep-farmers. Tlis is a great wool connty-tstim ted to possese, at this time, $\$ 80,000$ sheep, mostly of the fine woolled kinuls, which have been inereased, in consequence of the manafacturing demand, from 60,000 , or thereabouts. These sheep have taken the place of the cow-pastures, and have raised the price of butter from 6 and 8 cents to 121 and 15 , eash, in any quantity. If these 220,000 extra shep were destroyed, and their place orcupied by eattle, 36,000 cows might be supported-the frosl of one cow being equal to that of six sheep, and their prothet wonld be $\$ 6,000$ firkins of butter-but at a mach redueed priee perhaps. We eannot import more than we can pay for. I think that we have now the requisite skill, and that the manufacturing interest will be as valuable as any otheras the price of flour may deeline from 5h dollars to 3 dollars. The south will then lave no other gratifiention than in raising the price of European laloor, and reducing that of northern labor to the same standard. The present general jerosperity of the farming intercst in this county, is entirely owing to the protection given to manufactures. There can be no mistake.

"Moses and Joslua warned the Israelites that when they were well settled and grown fat on the piromised land-not to rebel, and forget their Lord and Protector. But they did forget and did rebel, and their sufferings were great-until a new generution destroyed their idols, and returned to the true faith. We muse suffer-before our cyes shall be opened.
"P. S. Where a single woollen mill gives employment to half the inhabitants of a county-nearly 40,0000 free persons, ean it be donbted who are protected by a protecting polies?"

The population of Chenango, in 183), was $37,404$. We see it stated that the shecp in this eovinty require 1,860 farms. At $2 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{lbs}$ each, they supply $700,000 \mathrm{lbs}$. wool-say at only 40 cents, equal to 280,000 dollars. Wool is the "erop"" and the prifit of the farmers of Chunango, generally, and a very lamulsome one it it-ut fair prices. Bit the county also, fully furninhes itself with breal and meat, \&c. and has many manufacturers and meehunies who keep up a lively market, at home, for the other surplus productions of the agrieulturists, and supply them with many things which they neet-the surphusses of all these being likewise alded to the general stock of wealth, in exchanges with other parts of the conntry.

The preceding lefter uas not written for publicationbut we thonglit that the fiets set forth onghe not to be lost; and hope that its author will excuse its insertion.

Impontart facts. We have adducel handreds of instances, at different times, to shew that doties imposel on articles imported, are nom, neceasarily, taxes upon consumers; and that a rednced annout of domestic duties may only inerease the profits of forelign prolucers. On this subyeet the "United Stat"s Gazette" says-"lt is a fact well worth the attention of the: homest oprosers of a protection to American indonary, thont the prineipal articles of British manufacturr- which are admitted at a redueed duty under the altered turift, have adranced in price In Eingland, so as to cost the consuner here nore than when they paid a higher rate. stuli goods of every description, of whieh the consuraption in this country is immense and increasing, have adranced full fiftern per eent. and coarse woollens generally from 10 to 12$\}$ per cent.
"This result is no novelty to the merchant, nor hy any means unespectrd by him; as an indivilual, the change in no manner affeets his interest injuriously. The price at whieh he sells an article bears a regular proportion to its cost of importation. To the country at large, it raskes an important difference."

Tik what! About forty-five years ago, "lked Stome Old Fort"-(lie locutiou of which is not rery far from the centive of l'unsylvania, was called the "Hack Woods;" and the writer of shis well remembers the dejarture of a rapeeted fanily for that place, of whom lenve was taken as of persons nuw procecting to the "Rocky Mountains." Next Uhio becarne "the west," then Inliana and Illinois, and the left bank of the Mississippi was the extreme "west." But the "Father of Waters" was teaped at a bound, and what is now the state of Missouri became the west-then Boon's Lick, sud where the city of Jefferson now stands; the west was next located on the Yellow Stone, some two thonsand miles from the Mississippi, but hus been removel over the Kocky Mountains, and will soon have its place at the mouth of the Columhia river, on the pacific ocest. When that lapprens, "the west" will no Inger be heard of. In the present journey to the weat, pretty neser three thousand nifics are passed over in steansbouts.

A colonen cosvextiov las lately beeu held at Philadeljulia. Its chief purpose seems to have been to foster and extend an opposition to the African colonization project, now in operation; as the following resolution will shew:
" $/$ Resoived, That this convention discourage, by every means in their power, the colonization of our people, anywhere leyond the limits of this costisknt; and those who may be obliged to exelange a cultivated region for a howling wildermess, we would rucommend to retire back into the western wilds and fell the native furests of . $1 \mathrm{me}-$ rica, where the ploughshare of prejudiee has as yet been unable to penetrate the soit-and where they can dwell in peaceful retirement, under their own vine and under their own fig-tree."
$90-\mathrm{Ft}$ is in Africa or the West Indies, only, that the peopile of color can expeet to possess the rights of selfgoverument, in becoming a nation; and, without that, we regard it as morally impossible that they can obtain a nuch inuproved charactor or standing amongst men. The "piluughature of quejudiee" has forbidilen it.
1.ingina. From the "Liberia Herald"- "tt is buta few months since we noticed the erection of two or three warchouses of good size, on our Water street, and anong the improvements progressing in that part of our town, we perceive three other warehouses, belonging to MessraNelson, Cheeseman and MeGill, ready to receive their roofs. The great rise of propuerty in this part of the lown wuold astonish namy acroas the Atlantic. who preterol to beliceve that land can be purcliasel for a niere triffe in this colony."
A "high schoul" was about to be established in Liberia, through the homity of Ilenry Sluehon, of New York, who las given $$ 2, n(0)$ for that pripose. Common schuols are abomblat; and there is a free selool for reeaptured Africans.
The "IIeral.|" notiera the micite of a famous slave traler, Johw Ormumi, of Bawgoland, Rio Pongas. It is sipprased that he hasl shipped 2,060 slaves in the last four years. It dors appear as if licere was an espreial Providence over the affairs of the: dealers in human blood. In alonost every case thut we have heard of, these wieked tnen have hal their punishment in this world; annl often. like Urmonl, been finried into the nevt, hy acts of violence, conamitted by themselves or others.

Statistire. The int•lligent part of the enmminalty will be much grallfi-l with the following annunciation, in the "National Gazette."-

The lonn. Timorhy Pith in is engagerl on a continulation of his valuable "Siatistirs of the Uniturl Staters". He will use the I Irst maturials, and partienlarlv exhihit the condition of our W'est Inslia tiade sinee Mr. Melane's agreement.

Hrac Gite, on Hell Giats we learn from the Providence Journal, thas the steambont 1'rovidence met with an areident on the 2th ult. which, had she not been an excellent vessel, must have remolted in very serions consequetices. "When about to enter Hurl Gate, on' her way to New York, very early in the morning, the weather suddenly beeame very thick and dark; and from some cause she was c'riven from her course, and struck on the well known rock callud the Hog's Back. She was under her common pressure of stean and struck the rock with tremendous force. Some idea of the force of the blow nay be formed from the faet, that the best bower chain cable, box and all, was driven witl such violence against the railing, as to take the railing with it iuto the sea. The tables and chairs were overturned, and scattered in every slirection-the crockery and glass ware were broken to picecs-die jiano forte in the ladies' cabin had its legs broken off, and the passengers were throwa completoly out of their lertlis. 'The seene is dreserileed as one of unisersal terror and confusion, but lappily no person was seriously injuren; indeed we have heard of wo injury to any one, but capt. 'I'lanyer, and lve was but slighily liurt. The host soon procteilet on lee $r$ way, and it is thought sle lus received lintle tamage. No blame, we believe, is attributed to any one."

New Hampshing nases. Alstract of the report on the state of the banks, on the first Momlay of May, last, presented to the legislature.

Banks

Capital stock pain io - - No. 29

Amount of tlebts alue
Specie in the vanlis . . . . . $\quad 3,390,826$
Hills of other lauks - . . . . 464,571
Deposites - . . . 361,860
Bills in circulation

-     - $1,238,643$

Ren Riven Rapt. From the Louiaville Aitvertiser. The Hereulean task of removing shis ratt is in rapill jurogress. A letter dated 15 th May, ard written on the theatre of operations, states that ihirty-eight sections, embracing filty miles of the raft, had been removed. 'The portions detached have been ilispased of loy running them into the low britoms ur dowin the bayons that leat from the main channel of the river in the lakes on either sinle. The leaning timber on the margin of the river has been taken away, anl the small islands have lee" "unmoored" and disposed of. Tliere is no doubt, that after the work shall have been completet, the navigation will be as good through what is now termed the raft, as it has heretofore been beluw the rafl. The rapidity of the current lias been doubled below by the work ulicady done. The superintendent expecteil to continue his labors until the 25 th of June, by which time tha fungs appopriated would be exliausten; but lie felt confident of going throngl, the first great section of the raft, and thereby exteuding steamboat navigation about eighay miles ul the river, cutting off two-thirds of the keel boat havigation round the raft.
The party liad enjoyed perfect liealth. The land is said to be excellent and welf andapted to the cultiration of cotton. Millions of acres will be greatly improved in value by the work in progress. We only regret that the appropriation was insufficient to enable the persevering anil accomplished superintendent to denolish the raft in a single season. Though it was supposenl the work would take years of labor anil cost a nillion of dollars, he will effeet two-thirds of it with an expenditure of less than $$ 22,000$ ! The serviecs of such an individual are invaluable.

Parss. A talle of the birtlis and aleaths in the twelve arondissements of Paris, luring the year 1832, whivh las lately been published, presents the following results: In the conrse if the year, there were 45,675 , leaths, anm 26,346 birthon; mumely, 28,568 lowths, and 21,322 births in private houses; and 17,010 deaths and $$, 992$ births in the hospitals. Thus one-fifth of the population are born in the hospitals. Anung the births in prisate loouses thove were 16,553 of legitimate chilifren, and 4, iTis of illegitimate. In the lospitals only 499 were legitimate, and 4,498 illegitimate. Thus of the total births above one-thiril were illegitianate childicon. The dcaths exceeal the births by 19,371 ; but by sultracling about 16,000 occasionsed liy the cholera, there semain nearly 25,000 deaths, which number corsusponds with that of former years.

The 7 th, 8 th, 9 th, 10 th, 11 th and 12 th aromlissenients lost in private houses in 1832, the 222 l part of their population, whilst the 1 st, $2 \mathrm{~d}, 3 \mathrm{~d}, 4 \mathrm{th}, 5$ th and 6 th , lost but one $\mathcal{H}$ th. This disproportion becomes still greater, if, to the number of leaths in private houses we add those which took place in the hospitals, and which chiefly consisted of individuals belonging to the last six arondissements of Paris. The arondissements where the mortality was greatett, are the most unluealthy quarters of Puris, where the streets are namow and the huuses very lofty.

Acnikus. The Freuch editors are very imilignant at the idea which earl Grey conveyed in the British louse of lords, of a relimquishmetot of Algiers by France. They say-1t
"It is a great fault to have openad negotiations on wuch a question. Fratice is mistressat honte, anul has no more oceasion to apply to the English for the investiture of Algiers, than thory lual to apisly to Fiance for the investiturc of Irelanul. We posscess this territory by more libeval aun just tiths than Englan! possesses Gibruttar, NItalta sui the Ionian Islandia. Slisil, then, France be the only country in Europe that has not her tight engraven on lier swori?"

The ciecolativo medies of Englami, for a perind of paper basis and a period of specie basis, are thus cstisuated in the Times.
From 1810 to 1818 to be of bank of England and country bank paper
Silver
£ $45,2129,000$
Balance of individuata at the bank of Exugland - $\quad$ 1,500,000
Balance of individuata at the bank of Eugland = 1,672,603
And in 1830 In all 1831, (and prubably - $251,401,603$ nd in 1830 and 1831 , (and prubably at the present time), f $52,523,815$, viz: Hank of Kugland Coumary banks
£20,142,005
Colmary banks * . . . 7,000,000
Siviver dito
Private balance in the bank of England
Private balance in the bank of England
5,581,810
£54, $5 \times 2,815$
Orion teade at Lintin, in l832. The editors of the New York Mercantile Advertiser have bern favorrd with a statement of the opium irade at limin, in IRt2, from which they antex an absiract of the minnthly salos, and the aggregate for the year, amrunting to slse enornmus sum of veaily fourteca antIvome of dbilans, equal it ts supposed, to the whole eaport of tea from China. from Clinas.

The largent atock on land in wny one mumth was in Jult i1,503 cisests-and the stock remosining on the Ist Jantuary, 1853, was 5,110 elsests.

BpaECH sakiva. In the vacalion of parliament, the edisor of the Spretaint, in the hrope of awanging the aprech making frvorp, has anissed himself in nffising to the snme of each metmher of the loonse of coinmonn, the sumber of suses rach ppeaker addfosspril the house duriug the: lawt spapinn. and the culumna orcupied by the printed repuit of ilurir mperviem. l.ord Alitiorp, 134, Nutton 46, Saantey 29, and sir Rolert Perl 17. Logd A1-
 107 , Nonson 7, Stanalsy 47, and Peet 30 . The whole namher of epeakers was 29 hz , and the whole nuubei of sperehes anade wise 1,776
[N. Y. Com. atd.
Mrs. Axv Rotall gives us the following "taste of her guality" in a late tumber of luer Punl Pro-$W_{\text {ushingfon gentility. If our last visit to the war de- }}$ partment, we found from a lozes to twenty of the most shatneless ruffians on earth in the pension office. The only toterable clerk, was a negro, and he hackguarded ths ont of the office.
[Sone one has proposed that Mrs. Rnyall shall be sent to England on a tour, to match Mrs. Trollope's secount of the United Staters. It issa't worth the cost and time. But and if it were, we think that the English lady would maintaiu her rauk, unrivalled, in deliberate -; what we nust not say of a "lady."]

Chomwele's onatost. "Truat in the Lord, and rely on your pikes," was on one oceasion Cromwell's address to his soldiers on going into battle. On another occasion his general aldiress was, "Trust in the Lord, and keep your powiler dry." Kqually characteristic was his remark to his fatigued soldiers, when from the runge of mountains called the Gallees he pointed to the fertile vales of South Munster, and said, "Soldiers of Israel! bchold a country worth fighting for."

Ovtiage on an Indian. A late number of the Apalachicola Advertiser states that three or four desperate ruffians atiacked the house of col. Blunt, liead chicf of the Apalachicola Indians, at Iola or Bluntstown, in his absence, and having stceeeded in breaking down the door with axes, pluntered nearly all the personal apparcl of himself and family, about $$ 150$ worth of goods, and upwards of $$ 700$ in cash. The inoney was a portion of the amount reeeived by him last full from the government, under the treaty concluded with colonel Gadsden, by Which himself and Davy, the ehief of Spanewatka, or Cochranstown, stipulated to remove with the people of their towns from Florida, this summer or fall.
[Had weh an aot been committed by Indians-what then']

FOREIGN NEW'.  London 186 -Paria $20 i A$ May.  OEEAT BRITAIX AND IRELAND.

In the house of commons a motion was made on the 16 th of May, by Mr. Cobbett, that the name of sir Robert Peel be stricken from the list of members of the privy council, in conscquence of his beligg the author of the bill to reatrict the inaue of bank notes to the sum of five pounds. He wau tef, however, in a morvollously lean minority-anly four votea being given in favor of the motion, and 978 againat it.
Mr. Thomas Attwood, M. P. bad lef London to preside at a meeting of the people whieh he had cafled at Hirmingham, to petition the king that he would discharge lis bad ministers. It was thought that the meeting would not be allowt-d, because of the character of its getting-up, which was inflanmatory; but if held, it was aupposed that many vast assemblages of the people would follow it, fur similar purposes.
The dnke of, Orleans was present at n grand review in Hyde Park. Ilis visil has no connection with politucal movements.
A Paria paper says-lt is not true that a duef lasa been frught In London between the duke of Orleans and Louir Napoleon Bonaparte. The duke of Orieans having made use of language at a ball, which being repeated to prinee honaparte, was thought offenaive by him, the latter demanded satisfaction. Colonel Marhot having replied, on the part of the duke, that being heir presumptive to the throne nf France, be had more to risk in a Sucl than the exiles of the Imperial family, It became a personal affair between M. Achilte Murat and col. Marbot, who, by the by fan one of the individuals remembered hy Bonaparte in his will, and who, after the death of the emperor, received, through the Jiberality of the great man, 100,000 francs. No meeting has ne yet taken place between Mesors, Marbot and Murat, Lliough at the departure of the post, maturs were fast approaching to an appeal to arma.
The university of London is mach invoived in debt.
Lord Liffe, who nquandered one limmense fortune, has, by the death if a schoot fillow, come into possesslon of another of 2 or $\mathbf{£ 3 0 0 , 0 0 0 , \text { which he was dlstributing at Rotherhithe in splendid }}$ entertalnmenta. His personal property was lately mold to pay his bill at an hotel.

Finance.
The Paris Moniteur contains the follnwing [royal] documents: In the year 1833, May 10th, at half past three in the morning, we, the undersigned, Thomas Robert Bugeaud, member of the chamber of deputies, zonjor generw, coumandant of BlayeAntoine Dubois, honorary professerf of the faculiy of medicise, at Paria-Charles Francoise Marehand Dubreuli, sub-prefect of the armondispement of Blaye-Daniel Theotime Pastoureau, president of the tribunal de premiere instanee at Blaye-Pirrie Nadand, procureur du roi of the same tribunal-Guillanme Bellon, president of the tribunal of commerce, and drputy mayor of Blaye-Charles Borden, commandant of the national guards of Blaye-Elie Deserbmbes, reetor of Blaye-Pierre Camille Deord, commandant of the garrison of Blaye-and Claurle Ollivier Deffresne, civil commissary at the citadel-witnesses called In by gen. Bugeaud, to be present at the delivery of her moyal highness Marie Caroline, princess of the Two Sicilice, ducliews of Herri-(M. Merlet, mayor of Biaye, and Regnier, Judge de Paix, Who were aleo summoned, being in the country, snd unabte to arrive in thine). We went into the chadel and entered the house inhabited by hey royal highness, and were introduced into the room aljoining that in which the princess lay. Dr. Dubois, evn. Hugeaud aad M. Deforil were in the rown when the pains fist came on, and declared to the other witnesses that the duchess of Berri had been delivered, at twenty minutes before three o'clock, atter suffering but a very shott time; that they saw her in labor, and rrcetsmig the assistance of Dr. Deneux and Dr. Meniere, Dr. Dubons remaining in the spartment till the delivery. Gen. Hugeaud then entered and asked the duchess whether she would receive the witnessen? She answered-"yes, as aoon as the child id washed and dremsed."
A few ininutes anterwards Madame d'Hautefort came out, by desire of the duchesn, to requent that the wituessea would enter, which we did immediately. We found the duchesa I yiog in her bed, with a new-born ehild on her left side. At the foot of the bed were hented Madame d'Hautefort and Madame Hanster; Dr. Deneux and Dr. Meniere were standing at its head.
Prewidvat Pastouresu then approached the princess and addressed to ber, in a loud voice, the lotiowing questions- "Is it to the ducliess of Berri that I have the howor to speak?" "Y cs." "You are positively the duchess of Berri?" "Yes, sir." "Ia the new-born lifant near you, yours?" "Yen, sir, this infant is mine." "What is its spa?" "It is of the female sex. Mors over, I have charged M. Dencu $x$ to make dectaration thereof,"
And, Instantly, Louls Charies Drneux, doctor in medicine, ex-proiessor of clinical mild wifery of the facuity of Paris, titular member of the royal academy of medicine, tuade the following declaration: "I bave just delivered the duchess of Berri, here present, wife by law ful marriage of count Hector Luecheri' Palti, one of the princes of Campo Franco, gentleman of the ehamber of the $k \operatorname{mg}$ of the T'wo sicilles, domicilated at Patermo."
The count de Baissac, and the countess d'Hautefort being asked by us whether they would mign the relation of what they had witneased, replied, that they had come here to attend the luchess of Berrias friends, but not to wign any aet whatever.
Of all whieb we have drawn up the prewent proceat-verbal in threefold, one of which has been depoxited, iu nur presence, among the archives of the citadel, the two others have been de: livered to general Bugeaud, governor, whom we have charged to send them to the government; and, after thin had been read, have signed on the day, month and year mentioned above.
Signed-Deneas; A, Dubols; P. Meniere; D. M. P. Bageaud; Descrumbes, rector of Blaye; Marchand Dubreuil; Pastoureau; Nadaud; Belon; Bordes; Delord; O. Ihfresne.
[The duchess would be shipped for Palermo, as soon as fitted for the voyage, is a vessel of war.]

Nothing importonf from eview os 000 periant $\operatorname{irnm}$ Spain, except that the king was to review 25,000 men, and the reception of thr protest of Carlos against the female succession-with the nsual supply of robberies and assassinations.

PORTCOAL.
The war belween the royal brothers remains an It was. Miguel'n batteries had sunk two schoonera laden with provisions which were entering Oporto.
The people, made mad by oppression, have agnin appealed to force, in the frontiers of Galisia, in large numbers-but they cannot hope to ncconiplish any good purpose. All that are alide, and are witling th labor, should leave it.
Paris, 20th May. The grand eouncil of Berne has propomals under consideraiion, the purport of which is, that permission shall be asked for the Poles to return to Franee who leff that country on the news of the disturtannces at Frankfort, and that, in the ineantime, a epecified sums ahall be allon cd for their sup. port.
The account from Constantinnple do not agree. While pome say that the negotiations with Ibrahim had been broken off, because that, by order of his father, he insisted on the cession of Adana, nthers may that a treaty of peace had been actually signed between the sultan and the pacha, on which account great rejoieinga had taken place at Alexandria; all the foreign ships in the barbor fring a salute of 21 guna. Yet thin newa ia doubted.
The second eorpa of auxiliary Russians had arrived in the vicinity of Constantinopic-another bad landed on the Ariafir site of the Dosphorus, on the line between Ibrahim and the aulina.

07 -Later neurs-London papers of the 23d May.
Great Britain and Ireland. The quention of the expediency of the corn tavas has been again discussed in the house of commons; on which the London Courier says-
"It would appear from the observatione of lord Althorp in the house of commons lant night, that minitters are won mgreed cither as to the expedieney of insimaining the protective eorn duties to their present extent, or as to the mode of imposing duties on the importation of foreiga corn. Earl Ripon, in the hrmse of lords on Tuesday, distinetly decinred his opinion in favor of a protective corn duty; and his deciaration haw been generally received itroughoul the couniry, an an intimation of the Intention of the cabinel not to deprive the agrientural interest af the protection which the present sytiem affords to them. Lord Althorp last night, expressed his doubts whether the present system of eorn lawn #id afford any such great advantage to the anded interest. From the general tenor of his lordship's observallons, it is impossible not to come to the conclusion that lord Althorp is inclined to a port of free trade in corn; and the prineljnal reanon of his oppowition to an Inquiry Into the operation of the present syatem of com lawa, ix, as his lardship atated, the unfitness of the time for surb an inquiry."
Tive conton duties reduction bill, had prassed both houses and received the royal assent.

On the subject of negro emencipation, e question being put in the botise of eommons, to minasters, Iord Althorp said that be whan glad of an coppontunity to state, that miansters were determinud to prrseverve with the quewtion with all jusasible despatch.
The acconater fromi Irelagd represent une state of the jublic miod of that coumiry as perfircily tranginil.
The minsters appear tos have a large majority in the hosse of commone, in support of their projuct conecrising the church ita Ireland.
'I'lue great meeting of the political union of Birmingham, calld by Mr. Attwond, had panopd over withut any di-turbatice; Mr. O'Conuril was prescat. Some strong resshluctoss wrte paserd condemaing the repeal of the legimatave uniun with Irelend.

Kenn, the ector, died at London on the 15th May.
At the Iate great inceting of the people at Apitalfields (L.ondon) poime dowturbances twok place and n pobsee mian was kulled. T'lie fullewwing was the verdict of the coroner's jury in the case.
${ }^{4}$ We and a verdict of justifhable hoanicide on these grounds, that wo riot act was read, nor any prorlamatson adviaing the meople to disperse; that the government did mot take tha proper precautions to prevrat the mecting frown amponsting, end that the cunduct of the palice was ferveious, brutal and unprovoked by the people; and wh moreover expreas our anxious hope that the governament will in future take better precautions to prevent the recurrence of such diugraceful tratssactions in the metropolis, "1 (Loud cheering in the rooun.)

Ihe comner said-I do not know how you cen say ell theme thinge on the evidence which you have beard. The only evidence which you have to show yuu how this man met his death Was that young wnuien, who saw the stab given to a men, who wae acting in a laudable and unoffending manner; and bow any oue of the jury can justify surh an act, I din't undrerstand. I hope gentleanen, yon will reennwider your verdict. Youl are not bere to try the conduct of other persons, whetluer in the government or police. This, in nuy opmaion iw no verdict. (cries of oh, ah.) indeed is ian't. It was not justifable hamicide; if who either wilful murilef by some one you do know of soune nne you deva't knnw. (I, muglite $r$, and oh, oh, which was suppressed by the nfifer in attendance.)

Foreasan - We have patiently conaidered our vernlict. There have been conflicting opunons amongt us; but we bave all anxionaly coaspared our upaninas-nnd that ts the conscientious ver Ilet of ue all, patiendy and carefully forined with the anost enx wus deliberetion.
Coroner-Inu are called upon to say how Robert Cully eame hy his death, and the endy evidenee you have to decide upon hat is that of the young women who saw hiun stabbed.
Beveral of the jury exclainied "we do not believe her; no, not one of as."
thoroner-And why not ${ }^{2}$
A jump-Because whe was enntradicted by other witnesses. the pald she was two minutes talking to the pollceman, and it was pruved by all the otlier witnesses that that was inposelble. Blee was tucored.

Another Juror-She was; she was tutored by the police. She seknowledged in having been with them ever sirce that day. Why ask us to give a verdict agannot our consciances?

Coroner- Yons say there were no jrecautions. I think there werm plenty of useasures.
A jurot-Tinere were an measures to prevent the meeting; and the mean employed to disparde it were diagtaceful.
Cowener-Well, grntlenen, ynur verdict, is, that Robert Cully was killed with jupullable honicide?
Jurors - W'e do.
Cosonez, (tw the foremen-Well sir, I shall strike out all the reat. TThe coroner liere drew his pencll across all the words that followed "fuetinable liomiride."?

Foreman-I cannot agree to that, síf.
All the jary - Not eny of us.
Foremnan-Before God and nur conntry-mh our solemn oaths -we have given the subject all the conadiaration in our power: and that paper whieh I have hasicd you, contains the judgment In which we have unanimnu-ly agreed. If you strike out any part of that, it is mot nomr verdict.

Jnry-Certaiuly not.
Koreman-We have told yon our verlict; bat we would not give an act of juatifiathe lnonklede standing by Itwelf.

Coroner- Well, as you did your duty by givina in e verdict on shy that a man is justified in stabbing on ntwifending man.

Foreman-If proper mensures had boen taken, either by reedIns the riot aet or proclanction, or any other meane, we would not bring la a verdiet to fustify the hoinicide. Therefore to let that verdict go ebroad alone, would be very daugernux, and it bulght be thouglot we justified the stabbing of a policeman who *-A. legally eniployad.

Coroner-I think thet is the fiet.
Foreman-Nn, on the contrwi, we wish in give the police every protection.

Coroner-W'hat von eall your verdiet don't sonnd like it; I don't thlak that effir verdict.
R. veral jumpre- Wre will not give eny other.

Cornnwi-1 is not a gond vertiet.
A Jurme-WeH, If yna wall not take it, you had better dismise ar, and call anntier jutry.
A treal deal unore afi the contmiversy hetween the comner and the jury is given, but we hava Inserted pnongh of it in show the whote apitit of the proceediag. The frat insisted on a recounsideration of the verdict, saying that it traduced the police end the governument-the jury dimevowed ouch edevign, bat would render mo other verdict, &c. After the verdict wan repordedThe coroner wid, "Gentiemen, I comaider yonr verdiet diagracefil to you; but I diank you for your great eitention to the care."
The foreman howing, sald, "We thank you, air."
Thercupen a number of peranns in the room, which wat erowdod to escens, exciainned, "Hravo, jnmote; 5 mu have done your duty milly, the country is Indebted to you!"9 wisn followed by the nost vociferous cheering in the rooun, re-echosed with promigious vehenence by the croud ontside. As the jury withdrew, numbers of personw premerd forward and sloork each of them eageriy by the hand. In the streets, as they paned, they were clieered by name, but the police were honted.
The jury was occupied in this case fioas 10 e'clock, A. M. anis $11, P, M .-a n d$ very inuch exhaunted.
The stock of wool Is amail, end the price high, in Fingland, though large quantities had been received frnm Australapia.
A bill for the bettri obwervance of Sunday, or the Sabbath, has been argatived it the bouse of comanons-objections belag made to its details.

The motion of Mr. Cohbett, respecting sir Robert Peel, (noired above), whe expunged from the jonmals of the house295 to 5. The bnronet was very eevere on Cobbett, and the latter very disorderly. The reports of the ppeeches might amase nome of our seaders, but the griater part would feel no interest in thean.
On the 17th, Mr. Ruckinghem gave notice that on Tharsday, the sotil of May, he woild move, as an amuendment to the government plan for emsucipating the slaves, the following resolutuous:
${ }^{46} 1$. That every sinve in his majesty ${ }^{3}$ d dupinions has an indefeasible right to emancipation, without delay, and without price.
cuig. That from and nifer the $21: 1$ of Auguet, 1834, the enniver sary of his preapat majeaty's birth-day, slavery shall cease to exint in every part of the lintish enspire.
"3. That immedinte tneavures be taken to ascertain the actual amount of pecuniary loss that may be sustained by the owners of colonial estates, by the sulnstitution of free labor for sleve labor on their several plantations; and in determine so whas extent the netional funds should the appiopriated to compensate all those by whom such pecunlary lose may be actually pasLained.
"4. That an edequate stupply of preventive police, an independent and impartial magistacy, and tenchers for infant ana adult schools, be sent frmm the mother country to all our coionies in which slavery mey be ebolistied, the expense to be borne out of the funds hitherto approprieted to the support of our military establishmenta in those parts, which, on the entire abolituon of slavery, may be extensively end safely reduced."

Portugal. Fedro's prospect of success are said to be brightening.
East Indies. A senreity of food is expected. A letter from Boanbay, 29h Noveintier, says-"W'e have had no litule rein this year, appecially in the Deccan, that grain aud forage hnve risen in price greatiy, so mech $0_{0}$, that in Poonab and ollver places, the native tuoops bave plundered severai of the principal grain dealert. These disturbances have occasioncd considerable troubla. The natives (the poorer ctasses) wish government to fis a rate for graid, which probabiy will be done. A common laborer's pay, in the Deccan, in from three to four rupees * a month-s sepoy is peven. Grain is now selling et 31 rupees a inatind, equal to about 23 lbs. Englibh."

Holland and Relgiun. The king of the former has agreed to en indefinite armistice, on which fresh spectilations of peace are set nfloat.

London, May 22. It is with the greatest eatisfaction that we beve to ananunce that a preliminary treaty was sipacd yesterday by the plenipotentiarien of Great Britain, Frauce and HotIand. By this convention the Eaglish and Frweh enubargors will be taken nfi Dutch vesaels in the poits of England and Franee, and the Interruption of their navigation, on the part of the Dutch government, will be rumoved. "I'he pervices of the English and French united squadrous will thus likewse be dispruped with, end the intercourse betwees the reepective parties and Ilolland placed on the gaune footing en before the French expedition in Noveniber lase. The Dutch garriron of Antwerp, now prisoners in France, will, by the fame arrangement, be sent home. The ernixtice butween llolland and Brigitm will be continurd till the definite scttlensent of a permanent eparation, and till that time the arvigation of the Scheldt will remain free. This converotion bas been agrerd upno with the Duteh pleaipotentiary, and was seat off to Holland for ratification yesterdny.

The Polish fugitives. The following is the enswer of the Polimh fugitives to the council of Berne, on the propnsal that they petition the governmest of France to be readmined into that countiry:
"Consider yourselves, gentiemen, whetier it is possible that we can take thls step without lujuring the diguity of our national character, whash guardiaus we are. Whes we lef France, in order to withdraw ourselves frome the opuresoion of that goveraunent, we did not do so with a view of returaing under tite saine yuke, if we might oltain an angluut there. We could willingly apare the noble $$$ wiwd nation the burden which the prea ance of a cosps of 50 persont impores on it; but we cannet relurn to F'rance with the saerifice of our honof, and to indnce us agrin to enter France, the lirhabitants of which country sympathase with ur, the law which urakes exerptions to out advantage muxt be tirst repealed. Tinis is our resolution, which I hope you will approve. Aceept, &e.
*The rupee, for common use, mey be valued et 50 cents-but tie real commerciel valie does no avernge more then itit cents. A common lahorer's pay, in the Eant Indie9, is from 150 to 200 Atve?
(Tise miguatures.)
"Salinwelegier, Aprit *5, 18E21,"
Hamhurgh, May 17. The Russian government in Poland has pullished an ordinance of the eupror, Hated the gad ult. hy which persoun ae used of certain poititical offinces meluding the pulsicaunu of false oews, are ordered to be tried hefore courts martial, the sentence of such cuurts to be carried into executian as soon a they have received the conkination of the vicerny.

Tite Warsaw papery alno contain an account of 25 individuals belonging to the late Polish atmy, who were concemed in a recent unsuccessful att-mpt at insurrection. Five of the party were taken by Cossarkp on the frontier; ooe of them poisoned hinself, hut the nther four were brought before a conart martial and sentenced to death. The sentence was carried into execution on three of the surviving prisonerx; with respeet to the fouth, nil account of his cxtrease youth, the sentence was mitisated inth enrporeal punirhmeut and hard talor.

Turkey and Easypt. There is no later news concerniug the affairs of these countries.

CITY OF PHILADELPHIA.
As a proof of the prosperity of Philadelphia, the enterprise and spisit of her citizeos, the public improvements is progreas, and the antucipated internal advantages in our city, the Commercial Herald bad recently twu artuclez on tue local otatistics of the city, chiefly relative to the public buildiugs or works, recently cuspleted or now in prepalation. We extract the list, with the cousputed cist of each building or wotk:
Tise Fairmount water works, cost
$$ 2,063,000$
Bank of the Utited Blates
Bank of Penusylvamia
Girard bank
Philladelphia bank
Mint
Arcade
University, (bew buildinge only)
Chesnut street uncaire
Arch street theatre
Franklin instutute
Schuylkill Permanent bridge
Upper Ferry bridge, Fauruwunt
Apper ferry brulge, Fauruw
Arsenal, on the schuyikill, below Sonth street
First Presbyterian church, Washingtou rquare
St. Andrews' church, Eighih above Spruce streets,
City prison, corner of Brinad suld Arch streets
American Sunday Schnol Union
gixth Presbyterian church, Spruce etreet - Bapturt church, Dansun street
Baphat church, spruce sureet
Twelnis Presbyterian chureh, Tweinth and Walunt-vis. Custom houre and stores Farmers' and Mechanies' bank
413,000
235,000
250,000
50,000
175,000
102,000
162,000
75,000 63,000 3,010 300,000 110,000 150,000 50,000
65,000
65,000
50,000
50,000 42,600 30,000
59,000 35,000 25,010
30,000 90,000 Corauerciat bank 50,000
27,000 deaf and duab, aca trony of flue arts, ueademy of uatunal sciences, maspuic ball, city library, orphan's anylum, widnw's a.yfun, Waluvt strect theatre, Penumilvania bompital, ainiahoure, unll of independence, and a luan liat of other puhic buildiuge, and upwards of one huodred churches, the cost of which we are unstbr to otate.
The following pablic buildiage are uow in proprest:
New exchange, to be coniphited nezt ycar, architect's estimate
Nival arylum, to the completed this acasne
Penitentiary, to be conapleted this season
County prias?
Cosinty primit fille horpital, for the tame and bind, to be completed
Will this swason
Almshotuse, to be completed next year = 7 to Ginard emilige, fuat cosomenced, arebitect's entimate
Ceniral Prewhyterian cburch, entimate
Brieklayer's hali
Movain-ushig hail -"
Suuth front of Girard's squa with marhle bavements,
North sille of Girard's square, 22 houses
Rail road in Broad, from Vine to Bouth streets
Puhlie school, Front uear Pine streets
Girard appropriasion for improving the eastern front of the eity
$\begin{array}{r}800,000 \\ \hline 90,000\end{array}$ $* 90,000$
58,000 58,000 11,000
13,000 13,000 256,000 200,000 10,000 500,000
Frnm thla atatoment 11 will be peen that the eost of the public mprovement in progress at this time amnunt to nearly fowr miltions and a hatf of dollars.
And on the acaposed value of real estate in the city and coonty of Philindelphia-excleding all the puldice toildinge, all the
"This mint be whort of the true amount-but it in so In the "copy" before us.
"copy" before us.
churchen, the squares, burying grounds, ke. none of which are subject us taxation-He Herald has been able to ancertaiu the average valur:
In the city and liberiles - - . . $95,063,057 50
Penn townslif, Germantown, Roxhomogh, Rristof, Onfurd, Byberry, Murfland, Lower Dublin, Blockley and Kiugsessing
$11,872,35000$
Tolal $$ 106,935,40750$
THE LATE MK. TURNBULL,
We copy the following from the "Chatleston Mercury" of the odd ult. just we we find it-us a matiter of record.
'INTERESTINO DOCVMENT.
"At the late public meeting, in the coarse of a feeling and eloqueut tribute to Mr. Turnbual's asemory - after beariug tewthanamy to the genuine kindiness and warsith of heait which all, who knew tum intiontely, acknowiedged and loved-to the pure divinterestedues of his patrintiom, his freedom frimn all personal zaucor; and the fotty parity ausd gen+ribus clivalry of bis minives, gov. Hagne produced and read a letter, which he had recenved iron bis deceased compatiot, immediately aiter the appearance uf the president's prorlaination- 1 tine when it was expected that those who were true to the cause of C'arolina, would have to seal thrir fidelity with their blood. The lester is as characteristic as it it houorable, and will remain amour the records of the state a proud memonal of the decpased. We luve been permutued to lake a copy which we subjoin:
"John's Inland, 224 Derember, 1839.
"Sia-The state liaving called upon lier pariotic nons, to support her in her prosent andurous and unequal conflict with tite iederal goverthuent, I bog of your excellency to ariler my baiten to be eurolled, as a private, amonget the vistuntecrs-to enier upon any service, to which your excellency tuay be plotased to appoint me.
I however submit to your excellency, that my untiring zeal in a cause, than which ancient or nusderu hitany recorth nither so mintaty to suve the hiberties of a peopic, eutules me 40 beloug to that corps to whech you may assign the post of the greatest difthat corpe to which you m
"I have the honor to be, with the higheat conslderation and reapect, your excelicoey's most oh't ar rv't,
"ROBERT J. TIRNBCLL.
'His excellency Robert Y. Hayne, nov. of S. Curolino.
"The reading of this letter, wo full of the spinit of the Carolina Brutus, was recrivrd by the meeting with much emution. The grovernor stated, Uiat, knowing full well that this was no empty bravado, but a sincere offrrug, be accurdingly assugued Mr. Turnbull to that corpa, wlich had boen chown in form a rulijlug point and forlorn-ltope, in care of alarm; that Mt. T. Inunediately came to the eity, armed himself and reguiarly attended the drills of his corps: and he added, that he was very sure that, had a bloody conflict with our oppressors folinwed, and our liberties been claven down, Robert $J$. Twrnhall would not have survived to moun their toss. None can sloubt this, who paw how the spirit of the deceased rose an the storm thlekened, and who splrit of the deceased roset ase the plorm thickelied, and who heard his tone of proud deflance and aniunated contidiace, when the frowa af tyranay was darkest."

THE CIIOLERA AT I.FXINGTON.
Extract of a letter to the editor of the National Gazette, dented Lexington, Kenfucky, June 16.
"On Snnday, the $2 d$ Instant, that awful wenurge of God, the cholera, broke out in lexingtinn, and its ravagry lisve been dreadful and dranlating, beyond rxample-not excepting even New Orieans. It is the opinion of the best inforuted, that not far shont of 400 have fallen victims in about 14 day*-and thits ton with a greatly reduced population. More than one-half, probably two-thirds, fied somn after its coummenesment. Not the intemparate, $n o t$ the dismolute, not the wretched and pover-iy-birickpn aloue have falien, but many of nur bext citizensmen of wealth, inf character, of sobili-ty, of religion. No lese than ten or tweive enamumicants in our cborch, and i preanuse a proportional number in all the tent. Many of nur misi worthy and reepectable ladies alson-amoue them Mra. Scott, reliet of the late governor $cott. Thus the pestitence bas meemed to take a more elovated range than it has upinally done in otiver places. It tatrue, that many of the lower classes have falleth. It has been very severe upou the blacks, especlally upon those who were free. They had nonody to eare for them, and money would not command attendants. But, after all, no more than would not command attendants. numbers.
"The progress of the disease has heen frightully rapid. Many have gnne th their beds well, and have been fu their graves before the next noon. The panic has been dradful, and the more so as it was wiolly unexpected. All that could fly, fies. The city authorities disappearid-noliospital for the pior providedno bonard of health formed-no medical reports made or required -and now, no inode of ascertaining onr exact lope. We can only gueas at it by the nurnbers of the missing. Stores have heen elout-hotels and taverns shut-public houpes, printing nffices, ke. all shut; and, in short, nothing open but grave ysras and thrif premonitories-apothrenties' shops. Even butchers and bakers au-pended their functions, and country prople censed to surphy our market. In whort, the general cry sepmed in he that or Nopilionn's shattered tronpa, at the batile of Waterino-savee qui prut. Our plisalelana are either dead or broken down br. Pud. ley alone I believe has stood it through, and is sitl on the alert.

Eorne othera are trying to foliow his example, a la distance. Dr. Couke, a host in such a scene, has been unfortuantely puthorz de enmbat, by a fall. But, alas!-the mont they bave done is by way of precention. The geal ebolera lins lees cured but ia a way of precention. They the ladeed, tiat it will yield to medicline, few eases. They tell is, indeed, that it will yield to medicine,
If aken in season. By this I anderstand, before the diseasp fairIy sets in. They ean eare ur stop the premonitory symptoms; and this, I thlak, is about the whole amount. If the discase be nnder the control of modieine, why, with nome of the ableat physiclans, as I believe, in the Ulaited Siates, lave we lost 400 eitiseas? If the disease be, truly within the control of medicine, have not those phyicians, who have devoted themeflves, day and night, to the sick, an awfol responsilulity restiag oa thetn sull zoredcemedt But I have no doubt all has been done that was possible, la a state of society so eompletely disonganised. The general suffering lias been great, and individual suffering beyand description. No paper has been printed, or handtult issued, because there was nobudy to do it. All was consterastion and dismay. Some, who fled, were soon brought back on the bier-others were boried in the enustry. Gravrs could wot be dug, nor eotins made, so fast as they were wasted. A number of cotins, of boses, were sometimes pust in one hole. Tea of a dozea bodies have been len in the glave yard, unburied ull their turn canse the next day. When we retured, at night, we could mot expect, and hardly dared to hope, to mect again irell. Such, sir, bas been the eholera la l.exiugton.
"I said our city autharites had disappeared. This is true of them as a body. The mayor and col. Combs have been active. But individusls have generously, and I may ald, with a godlike zeal, devoted themelves to doing good, and to the mitigation of suffering. First and furemont, on this list, is bishop Smith, of the Episcopal eliurch, who, in budy, is but the skrieton of a mas, but in heart and sout, a giant in every good word and work. His whole time, day and night, rain and slune, has been devoted to the consolation of the dying, or the funcral vervices of the dead. Froal early dawn to midnight he bas been conataatly on his feet, or on his kaces; and to me, it seems a miracle, that he is still on duty, as bright as ever! What ofher elergyinen here have done-I have not heard. David Sayre, too, has devoted himself, body and soul, and purse, in the alteviation of misery, and deserves from the friends of humanity a brighter meed, than ever graced the hrow of a monarch. Many others have followed the example. Several gentuemen too in the eountry have contributed geaerously to out relief, by sending in and distributing, gratuitously, beef and other necessarics. Among these I need aot name the patriot farmer of Ashland.
"But we trust, that the agoay is aearly over. The eloud of pestlience, which has solong brooded over our city and burst upon it with all its fury, is begianing to recede. Oaly 10 or 12 deaths last night, and but few new eases. The weatier is now fine, and we eannot but hope, that Providence, la his lafluite merey, will say to the torrent of desolation wlitich has been deloging our eity-thus far and mo forther. Bnt Lesiagion has re ceived a whock, from whieh it casnot speedily recover."

WYOMING MASSACRE.

Correspondence of the United Slates Gazette.
New Troy, Pa. June 5, 1803.
This littie village was yesterday made the scene of an exhibifion of most uausual and thrilling interest. The remains of thone who were sacrificed at the W'yomiag masacre on the 3 d of July, 1778, were disinterred preparatory to the erectlon af monuineat commemorative to that dishatrous event. On the beautul plaia where now stands the eheerful village of New Troy on the west bank of the Susqurhanma, and a short distance above Wilkesbarre, was recentiy dixcovered the sepuiclire where the dead had been hastily interred by the nurviving settlers. The bodiea had evidently been promiseuously throwa into one common grave, and an no stone had been placed to mark the spot, It had loag simee been lost sight of. Different individuals residing in the neighborbond, some of whom were children of the sufferers, hal made repeated attempts to discover the grave, but the progreas of eultivation had so effectually obliturated ali traces, that every soarch had heretofore proved fruitlews. The grave is situated in a lit adjolniag the road and is stighty elevated above the surmanoliag country. The Susquebabal is within a short distance and addn to the picturesque buanty of the secnery, whieh from every point of view prosess. ea uncomman interest. About tweive huadred dollars fiad been already sulseribed towards defraying the expease of a monu meat. The workmen are now eugaged in preparing a vault in whech the remains are to be drposited, and it is expected that the monurpent will be erected on the 3 d of the easuing month, it belng the anaivermary of the battle.
The remains are now lyiug in lonxrs placed in an adjoiaiag buildiag under the eare af a meighbor, Firantun Ifill, aod are certaialy ohjects of great euriosity as well as interest. Eighty skulls are displayed to the contemplution of the apectator and the light of day, afier haviag for usore than halfa century reposed betieath the soil on which the merciless savage lef their slaughtered bodiea. The limith and aknllu are variously marked. Some bones are perforaind by halls, aad the skully almont invariably brokra by the tomaliewk; in wonace eases the pole of that inutrimeat has apparanily alon" performed the work af death, while in others the edge has clef through the skull in a manner that *hows tie enemy to have bera proficient in the ase of hie wespona. In every inatonce the mark of the ar-alpine knifr are distiactly wiwhe. On removing ome particular ok all, a bullet was found, at.
mont imbeded in the boar, a Ittile above the left ear and back of the teuple. The tcad to partially divided, apparently thattered, by the torce of the concussioni, and at this anoment is preaprved In its origiaal ponstion from which it ts removed withont dificulty for the iarpection of the eurious.
Among the relres was found small portions of a marment, made of wool, os which the color, a "botle"green, is dastinctly visible.

DREADFUL BLAUGHTER-8UMATRA.

The Singapare Chronicle of the lith of December, cantains the following accouat of the assassinating of no lese than three thousand Duteh troops and natives of the interior of Somatra, winther, it appears, they bad penetrated with the view of usaking reprisals upoa the native princes:
"Intelligence of auchithyortanee has reached this settiement from Slae; relative to the Dutch expedition, which we unentioned on the authority or sonse native traders lately arrived from Campar, as having reached Gunong Berapí in the Menankebu eountry. The intelligence we allude in in of such a nature, and involves statetuests of such disastmus occurrences, that, on being made acquainted with it, we deensed it highly necessary to make minute lnquiries as to its truth of prohability, before we gave publicity to it. The resint of our Investigation annong the several siac people wion arrived during the werk, is snch as to leave little douht on our tuinds, of tise entire probability of the statements. Our prucipal inforianat, on whose accoont rellance ean be placed mont, is the naquodah of a Siac prow, and wos of ose of tie rajah of Siae's ehief men. This person states, previous to his leaving Biac, some 10 or 15 days ago, a contidentisal person arrived there from Meuanghebtu, (a distaneo of about 15 days journey overiand, accosthag to soune, and 10 or 12 daya only, according to others) who infiormed the rajah to the presence of this naquidah, that the Dutch tmops had heen eut off by an Icainense number of the natives, who awsembled al night and slaughtered them in a dexpernte amak. The troopu are said to have been stationed at three different places, Paya, Kumboh and Along Pangang, ia the divisions of Agan and Rowa beyond Guong Berapi. It is stated that the Deteh, haviag gained over the rajah of Pageruyong as an auxiliary, came lato easy possession of most parts of the country; for through the infurnce of this rajah, the natives submitted to the Dutch, and allowed them to proceed so far inland as they did with litte or no opposition. It appears, however, that the Duteh too eondient of their pothtieal atrengti, abused the power so earily obtained, and treated the natives with such acverity and oppressinn, by rajsiag levies and contributions, that the latter becsme desperate, and having formed an extenvive combination, athacked the troops at the three places above nauned, simultaneously, (in order to prevent a junction) and slaughtered thell with their native weapons, it is believed, to a man. 'The nutaber of their victime, we are told was not lew than three thousand."

ACCELERATED MOVEMENT UPON CANALS.

On Saturday afternoon a trial was made, upon the Paddington canal, of the new eanal boat. The object of the triol was, to show that a boat built in a different form, and constructed of other moterials that the otdiaary canal boat, might, by using superior horses, be drawn along the water at the rate of ten miles or more in as hour, instcad of two niles as hour, the pace of the boats now in uee. 'The day was remarkably fiac. The portion of the eanal more particularly appropriated to the experiment was from the third to the seventh mile from Paddington. The boat was constructed of sheet Iron, rivetted hot. It was 70 feet long, by $5 \frac{1}{6}$ fret wide, and paiated green and white. The boat was provided with on awniog made of white twilled cotton cloth, which had been rendered sean traasparent with onl. The awaing was so set up that the top was exteaded over light wooden arches, which rested upon a thin upright frame of rod Iron; and the sides, in the form of curtains, were made to slide at pleasure upon parallel rods placed at the upper and fower ends of the eurtaias. The rudder was of a slagle sbeet of lron, of alont a yart ia length, and it was moved by a tuller made of about two yards of stout roul iron. Two steady buatiag horees, each mounted by a lad, and the two harnessed to a towing rope of about 1ive feet in length, constiluted the aroving power. The number iff person 4 on lonard the boat wan 48 , inchonding the erew the gratirmen making the experiment, mosie of the prinetpal members of the Grand Juaetion emonphy, and the visiters, anusoget whoin were Mr. Tr lford, Mr. Babbage, captain Bazil Hall, Mr. Hellyer and Mr. Gill; a lady also namde oae af the party on this Interesting oceasion. Certain distances were meanured on the ranal bank, and marks met up at the endz of them. At each of these placest, also, a man was stationed with a graged rod in lins linand, which be so held an that, upon the boat's panaiag, lie muzht ibstantly read off the height of the wave eaused by the disturbance of the watrr. When all things were ready ou the shore, and the party had eavisured, the boat was put in motion. The speed fron one station to anntber, taken by reconds watches, shawed, for fome time, a progress at the rate of thirtera miles an bour. The horses, however, mon begall in tire, and the speed fell to pleven, and ultimately, in returning for the third time, to ten and aquarter milea ia the hour.

The experinent, as far as it goes, was alteaded with complete along tive water sin amonthly and noselesely, that its progress is all hut inaperceptitif to thove on hoard whose attention is mot exiended to external objects. A retay of horser will be required the the of every four or Aive miles. The banks nf the canal will have to be edged for nine orten inehes ahove the ordinary levet of the water with hard inaterials, and the towiug path to be slightly sloped outwards. Improvemeats, no doubh, will also be miade to facilitute the passing of locks, and in the mode of attarliag the horsea to the boat, so that the animals may exert their poswer upon the boat, disemilarrased of the awk wardnees of the dirmelion in which, under the present form of towing, they are made to put forth their strength.
[London albion.

SOUTH CAROLINA RAIL ROAD.

The Charleston Patriot of the lith itt. containa a report of the finaucial affaire of the South Carolina rall mad courpany, laeluding a general statement of all the receipta and expentitures of the company sinee its organization, elassed nuder thetr everal heads. We gather from it the following particulars:

All the means of ule eompany, including capital stock, Ioans atid recelpte for tolls, \&c. Inave amounted to 8831,499 92, and the expenditures of all kinds to ec31,365 87 . Thissmin inclades the eost of all the locomotive engines (seven in number), fortytix passenger ears, and all the tinders, freight cars, kc. used on the road, negroen, horses, \&c.-amoubting altogetiier to nearly 8100,000 . To finish the contraete and complete the road finally, with all the eogines and cars astimated to be necennary, a further sum of eg73,044 08 is required; giving the eum of gitiol,410 0\% as the groes coot of the road and all the appurtenanevs and contingencies. The round pum of $\$ 800,000$ is for the acthal cost for the construction of the road and the materials. It exceeds the highert estimated cost at the cominenceinent of the workthe $\mathbf{f} \boldsymbol{m}$ evtimate being $\$ 405,000$ and the seend $\$ 687,000$. The excess is accounted for by the adoption of a more expensire etyle of work than was at irst conteuplated.

The eurrebt expenses of the company, for a chief engineet, commissioner, resident engincer, and two assistant rexldente, wooduen, &c.-If 814,340 per annum. With the exception of a superiatendent, this expense will cease within the aext two months.
The report proposes an itucrease of the caphtal stock of the company in sif $, 000,000$, whth a view of exthagushing all calit ing debte for loans, &e, and providing the funds for completing the work. Four new locomotive engines have been ordered from Figland, and tirce eontracted firr til Charleston, making a force of fourteen locosnotive engines alreatly in operation or 14 preparation. The rpport rcenminends a further Increaue of this power to the extent of ordering two engines monthly, intil they amonnt to a number to be decided on in the meeting of stockholders.
A statement is made, by way of appendix, of the amonen of business calcnlated upon, and the force neccesary to transport it. The amount of conton received at Ilamhurgh nnd Augusta, each year, is from 160,000 to 100,000 bales, of which from onefourth to ose fith ie now transported to Charleston by the river and coastwise-a eirenitous and tedious route. The compaittee think that at least three-fourthr will pass by the rail road, but they take as a moderate estimate only onr-halr, or 85,000 bales, $87,200,000 \mathrm{lbs}$.-the frtight of which would amount to $\$ 128,520$. The return freight being taken at an equal amouat, and the income from passengere al 5702,500 -the aggregate income fir the year is assumed to be very low at 8449,540 . I Large allowances are then made for locomolive power, coat nf conveyance, wear and tear, and Interest, repairs, agencies, ke. and the whole expenses are put inwn at $\$ 167,400$. The net annual income is thus atated at 8 295,140, or upwards of Iventy nine per cent. on a capital of $\$ 1,000,000$. Various other estimates and allowances are made, but the smallest possible Income- on the supposition that the lousiness fall short one-ibird-is put at fourteen per cent. The prappects of the raad are thus considered highly favornble. It is a valuable monament of mouthern etiterprise and perserver ance.
[Bali. In.

UNITED STATEA DRY DOCKS.  From the U'nited Stater Gazette.

Ma. Chandlea-At this junctare it may be interenting to your readers, to persse a correct and minate aceonnt of the great cranite dry dock, at Gosport, which lapt wepk received within is boson, the Delarare ship of the line. This magnificent nathonal work, corresponde in every respect with the dry dock at Charlestow 11 , Mass, which is about to embrace old Ironsides, the surcessaful hastle ship in the late war.
A trip in Norfolk in the spring of the last ypar, afforied the Writer many an Interesting exenrion across Elizabeth river to the navy yard, to winess the progress of Improvements at this extenuive naval depot. The most novel, expenxive and import ant undertakluf, waw the dry tork, then nearly eompleted, and built as well an the one east ward, inder the puperimendence of our conntryman, Col. Baldwin, arehiteet and engineer.
The cost of this stupendose work, at Gosport, was estimateil at about 7 to 800, theo dullars.
It is worth millions tu the naval service of the country.

United Stinfes dry doek at the Norfolk stetion.

The exravation fir the dry dock was finislued at the depth of abont 34 fowt below ordinary hieh water.
The fomndation of the dock is formed uf piles driven into haral stiff blue elay, at the di-tance of three fret frme each otior from eenire to centre. More than 4,000 of these pilfos wrie utriven. The-) varv in length from is in 30 feet, and were drivell witt rame weighing about $2,000 \mathrm{lbs}$. each, falling from a height of 25 or 30 reet. The piles are capped with timbers of a foot square, and taid in a direction at right angtes to the axis of the dock, The spaces between the caps are filled with etones, and the whole ts levelled to receive the first floor, which is of plank, and is three Inches thick. On this flowr, whd directly over the cape of the miles, are laid tinhera sixteen inches ly twelve, the spaces betwrell which are filled with brick laid in cement. Ipon this, the second plank fioor is laid minutar to the first. This fioner is about 341 feet in tergith and 100 in breadtit, and opon it resta the tnamonry uf the doek. The elone work of the dock risper to the lieight of 36 fewt above the plank floor, and 5 feet above high water mark. The month or eutrance of the dock is 60 fry't in width, and at high tudes, will adwit a man of war or tinn of battle-rlip drawing 25 turt of water. The stone flom here is 6 fect thick, and is composed of 3 courses of bainmered ptone. Thie clinuber of the dock, or that patt in which the ship rents, is 288 leet long at the bettom and 249 fect at top and is 30 fret winte at boturn and 86 at top. The sides aud upper end of the chamber are forineal of ects of altars as ateps, whicit, as they rise, recede from the centre of the dock, thas forming level walks aronnd the chamber for the convenience of workbern and for placing shorne to support the ship. The stone finor of the chamber is an inclined plane, and the masonry is 4 feet thick at the lower, and 5 feet 3 inctiep int the upper end sloping 15 inches It $n$ distance of 200 feet, and in composed of two cuurses of hamniered stone.

The gntes of the dock which secure and close the entranee, consiat of a pair of turining gatea, made in a matuner simitar to the gates of eanal locks, and a floathig gate or boat which last will be placed near the entrance. The boat when placed, will prosent a broad side to the river, and the keel will be formed so as in fit exactly a groove cut in the bottom ond sides of the inverted areh, which forms the entrance. The turning gates are placed in recesses between the floating gatr and the chainber of the dock. Each gate is supported by a pintle and two rollers, Which move upon iron rails laid in the stone floor of the recess. Each gate is computed to weigh from 50 to 60 tons. To move the immense weight, two eapstana with gearing, are placed on eaph side of the dock, within the masomy, with ehains at. tached to the gates to open nr shat them at pleasare. The mitre eill or that part of the stone flooring agninst which the gates shut, is compomed of blocks of etone, weighing from 5 to 12 tom earh. To drain off the water from the dock, there are culverts formed on each side commencing at the lower part of the chamber, and terminating ill a large reservoir built in the magonry aerons the head of the dock. This reservorr is a large cbamber, of 7 fret in width, 11 feet high, and about 66 feet long, and by means of a tnnnel, commuticaten with two large wells, sunk within the engine bouse. The tunpel is of an oval form, buitt of brick, laid itt cement, and is 165 feet lona, 4 feet high, and 91 feet wide. In each of the great wells are placed 4 lifting pumpe. of $9 f$ firet diameter, and 30 feet long, and 4 ehait pumps, with a sectional arpa of oue square fiot each. These pumpe, worked by a high prespure steam engine inf 120 borse power, it is thought will be sufficient to discharge all the water from the dock in about two hours.
The process fur docking a rhip is conducted as follows:
The reservoir, wells and tunbel are drained of their water, and the cominunication with the chamber cut of, by mease of composition aluice gates, placed at the heads of the culverts. The erreat gatea being open, the ship is warped into the channer by means of eapstans placed in convenient situations, when The gatea are shut, and the small sluice gates opened, wheh discharge the water slowly lato the reservoir and wells, till the sbip's keel touches the block: upon t'se floor of the chamber. Shores are thes placed to keep the ship in an uprigit position, and the steatn engine put in operation, whiels enon frees the dock from water and leaves the whip periectly dry, when her repairs may be commenced.
When the repairs are tiniximed, and the ship is to be taken out of the dock, the chamber muyt he filted with water, before the great gaten can be opened. The chasuber is filled by means of culverth, through which water is allowed ur pass from the river. buring the time the ship is in fock, these eulvette remsia closed by comporition aluiee gates. When the chamber of the dock is filled, then pressure on both sidies of the great gates being the same, they may then be opened and the ship discharged. M.

$\rightarrow$-nen (e) em.

EXCURSION TO LOWEI.I.
Hrom the Salem (Mass.) Rrgister
Laet 'Thuredny we tonk a side to latiwell, by the direct rmate thiongh Danvere, Reading, Wilmington and Fewkwbry. The face of the country on this route, after leaving Danver, ts generally sandy and sterile, and affords but fow ohjects worthy of notice. The canker worm has epread devastation over thiw whole tract $n f$ country, and nearly all the apple trees between Danvers and Lowell are scorched and dried up. We passed a frew helda of barley, nf a seanty ani mengre growth, and bere and there a hop yard bristling ap like quills upon the fretful porcupine. Gne ohject, however, was peenliarly Intereating, it was a solitary crow sitting upon a romk in the midet of a sandy cornfield, looking wiatfally on the lean and wallow leaves of the roung corn, Just piriggling above the yellow and rocky soril. The lomsee, and fencre, and out batdings were in admirable kropivg with the text of the scenery-llwy are part and parcel of the pause pisture. Farming, indeed, along here, is ennsidered ponst hukinvss; accordingly, whenever we ent to a chuster of houses we found the inhabitants had betaken thempelves to the manulacture of shoes, in which they are prufictent, and have even rivalied the if meighbers ol' Ly min. Now and then we paseed a elualer of neat honses, paluted white, and lonking very prettlly as they mitened throught the dark masaes of toliage which hung pendant from the branches of the majestic cimus. We stopped at a minwmaker's stome where tise ronal brawelied off, to inguire the way on lonweil, and the man, mistakling our ques uons, and lio fing filled with muthirathon at the right ot three great whtte mecting butases on a bill beloughig to hts village, nud Which stound in vinw, answered ux, very readily, "one is onthodox, one is U'intwrsal, and the uther is Baptint. ${ }^{16}$ We bufiriacd hom, that he bail nusunderntood nur question, and that we had Inguired the way th Lowell, on this lie pouted to the road before $u$, and we duve on. The mad was thow more and more mandy, till at last, riving a hill, we dvacricd Lowwell ppreading ous ou all wides, haif hud behind the trees, and hali openiag to our view, with ita buge factosies, its nuoneroun chureh tnwers and lita whtte dwelling hrusers. W'n soin eane th the beanitul village callod Bnividere, attuated on a gentle slope of land in this side of the Concond river. The village is separatrd fions the town of Lowell, but in fact forme a pait of the erttlements which have grown up with the eatabiin-lunent of the fartortes. Ou the right hand, heyond the Merrimack which is seen windiug ite way through its rocky banks, whitened with foans, we spe the hills rise gently and spread arnund, formuitg the mutimes of a grand araphitheatre; in the centre of whieh Lowell is stunted. These hills hava been selected for the wites of villas, nud several alegant dwellings hava been erected, and more are gning up. A bridge has lately been thrown ovrif Coucorl river, cutunctiluz Belvidere with the anain bowly of the aptlements on the other aide. The Concord river meets the Me rrimack at ighit anzlex, and the polat of land inclucled bertwern the two rivers lias heen chosen for the olte of Lowell. Here then, it a great city, termIef with an Indu-trious population, built up wuliun wis uq righ yeark, as if by princely power, and whose interont and prosperity are founded upon an linperiminable basia; alrrady berome the second town th the conumouwealth, in popolition and wealth, and rapidly Increasing into greater linportance. We slall not enumerate the factories, churelies, houres, winting officen, hocels, tnverma, stores, ahope, sec. Uhis bas beea often duse, and need not be repeated.
We arrived at Lowell about nomn, and put up at the American Hotel, a pacious and eonvishent lnuteve, fittral up in good atylf, and furnithed with every convenience for the accowmodaitou and hurnithed with every convenience for the accowmodatiou vation. We found a fricend who acted as our conduetor, and we were led through the factories and shewt inany othor thongs of greas iatereat aud curionlty. We contimued unr ramblies, manttimea lat the eity, sumetimes un the fhllo of the Merrimack, and then about the wewery around the Conenrd niver, till after the ovening bell rang for nine. We retired un rent al an eaily huhr, as seetaed to be unificualy the habit; and the inhabitants have prod reason for doist soif fur at three n'elock, the we st morning, even before day lighth, nue factury bell rang a merry pral, and an won as the fast pulsation struck upon the ear, the whirring and elanking of the mactinery was heard. We looked unt of the whirdow and anw the dawn had just began to lirow its grey light nver the east, and right opposite a factory lizhted up and all allve and in motion. At 5 o'eloek the great bell rung for a general cura out, and a sitanltancous moveusent in all the finetorics. The girle swarmed ont from all the streote and avenues which led from their boarding housen, and dirreted their steps towards $a$ alagle point, where they because cuncemtrated In a dener mass. at the bridge leading to the entrance of a range of factaries, atauding nn a line on the opposite side of a ptraight canal which supplies the water power to each of the farturies included in the entire establithment. The canal is bordered on the side meat the fiactories, with mtoren for rweeiving the raw eoturn, and on the bank next the streerwith mwa of elme of other ornamental trwes, which are enclosed and meparated from the main street hy a bandenme froce. At 7 , tie great bell rang for btrak-fatt-the great wherls were atopped again, atud all became silent; the sirls, men and boya pourvil forth from the gates, and orosaing the brime, divereed and radiated uff towards the board tag housea. In lialf an hour the great bell is agalit lieard, the Wheels commence their syrations, the strpets are again fill of people. The same cernumonies and the mane appearances take place at the dinner hoar, which In haif pasi twelve, mid at lialf past oase the bells ring again, and the aftrmono uperationa fonsmence. The wheola mo round, the spindles twirl. the lomms Jerk in the thread so quick that the eye can only eateh a glanere of thesn at they dant thriugh the warps, whin the tlasur is plainly percerived growing and winding iturif up on the cylithders. We tonk a glance at the wlole extablisbment of a cotion mill, from the operine of a bale of raw conton to its heing drawn out into a itread, and from that to lte warpine, sizing, weaving, fifding, packing, and finally its Ionding and carrying in wagons drawa by wix ktrut horsep, through the heavy sands on the Tewkyhury mad, dnw $n$ to Bowion.

The ringing of the ereat bell at Lawell, either at three of five o'clock in the mintuing in eertainly to some phopose. It in tuo piay-thing to eall idiers from their brda, or in disturb those who had better be aloed and aaleep. How silly it is for people to he talking of mornane walks, and horastine of taking ex ercise befire break fast, and then coming home tired mut, and weareely able in worry through the tedious dav. There is no such tancy ae this at Lowell. It in quite another thing of hear the ereat bell ring wiere. It starts up from their beds fen thousaud peuple in the proure of life, in the fill enjog ment of heulth, reacty asd able to handle and direct the roling and twinhig and twisting atod huwever, any utareasmative dut) nuporsd upan any indordeal, All are at linerty to couse and gis whemerver they plisase. The guls conve tul Lowell $w$ lor $\mathrm{H}_{\text {, }}$ and otas a* lung as it plearen them; placardeall upma the dinnts ot all the barturnes, the atterdance is from all yuat lezs of the esuntry, whed the stage ewarlien, drawn by nix loopan, are contonoaily orevuned in brouging th and conrynetunes, and asoruble it litile equads at whtue lavoutt place uf result, whene there wan a looking glaner, at which time atranged fortud ont nitu was whis, and wiat was what. That Is their bustue.s for the day; hat atier tea, which they take at 7 o'rlock they dress up fur the evroung, and the will lightid strirte and the luiltantly thunimatod storme wrie full of thom. There was nut a dry gomds store nor a unlliart's slorp in which there wrie nut to be meen griupe of these hair purrlawts. The workint af the vatious tacturies, the buildets, mavobi, carpentim, ke. of which Low lll is full, were ai*o on the gat 'Tlye hotels wern billed of dithonged about the piazzas, and in twa placas we obs. arved auctioneerm uounted nol a ptand unal bowling as untual tie raye ul the turch ligh, an the presoditig genias of the gapung cruwd. All, haweser, was eveiy where orderl) mad rexperiful, with thrir polfex, to krep the peace. At the ringing uf the- 9 nelock belf the multimde retired troun tise ptreets. We ought not to forget, that as we watked ahetitt the pluce, we notueral the refincmente of nersal tife, in h-tening th the fano, acconipanied by the flute, and were gnite delizhted at the liegh degree oll taste abil extention uf two amulurf prifntmers. Wre inquired nt one of the crowd of listeners, atd were iefioramell that the pedormpra wore sump of the hend workuw'll of ont: of the factorics. Indend we fiund that musie was a favorte mmus-ment, and a Ingte fire that oliegnt acrouphithment te catablished in the place. We saw in a clurch, spachus and lorantifiliy fintisied withon, a large and viegant organ, Iately huilt ly those exceillowt urgan nese nf it open aliapmest, and thr nanjestic power of its pub have: The clureli and organ co-s the proptritirn 2m,000 Jollurs. We believe there are bot leas than fitren elturches in Ionwoll, all of nudern architerture, and most of them buit rither of bick or stone, weveral nf which are furmithell with urgant.

But, affer all, it is not no much what Lowell is, as what it is inevitably destined to beeone-a city, wreond to bune in the state for population and importance. The immense vitent of the factorics already estalilished, and the magnificent worlin now In the progrew of erection, will lay a finindation for the industry and peosperity of a population of one bundred thoasand souls. There in already a thratre in building, of wood, very spacunu" and will coutain an auditnry not less than can be accothusodatrd in the Treanoat hiself. Ainoue the enovenirneres of the fisce, we visited a bathug house, firted up with much tnato and rle. ganee It eontaina apartmenty for ladion in one tivistom, and fur gentemen in anoliter. The montw were cargited and turniaford with chairn, tablez, glasses, and all the aceompanimenta of the tullette. Nelow the bathin moms there are apartments fur batloing in the river, and one spacions pnclowture, in which there is a bavin four feet in depth, enalenhated fot aw immers.
We saw the earpat extahliwhment, wlire iliey wrer wraving Kidderminster and Brit-welverarpe-ting, rugs, kr. Tha is tiong by enumbleate lonms not rawily deaeritiod. There appeared to be ahont twenty lonans at work, earlone haviue a different pattern, which comes ont without the eare ur thought of the npe. rator. The linseelis carpeting was wneen in the loom altrignther different from the Kididerminster, and requir-d the ald of a boy to move smme of the machinery. The uperation is slow and tedinus, and requires great care. The hearth nugs wrer of twn kinda, one having on it some fauciful हigures, and the other with a think uap of variepated molors.

Ruildinga were guing utp all over the immenee extent of ground on which Lawell stande, or is 10 stand. Bublhuga of all descriptithe of tone, hrick and wnod, were aecending, and some most extensive facturies, with all their arcompanimpate of dwelletese and ont houspes, wire etepting in that nuarter of the town hofdering on the Merrimack, towaris the falts. Thope is one vely large and benutifal brick factory near the outiet of Concorn river, epven or right stories high. Ifet timi-lied, hut mot yet it operation, dealened for the manufarture of broadeloths.

The great ulumber of aturne is quite enrprising. They stand In rowe in all the principal streets, and are of every deseription atorms, millinery, tailore, ernceries, eonfectionerx, &e. &e. They are spacione and heantiful. morticulasiv those nudre the turw I'nitarian ehureh. T'hrse have no windows, enther bow windows or any other. The cattre front is thrown opsa, and the whole interior of the shop diaplayed to the pasatngers as they proceed along the briek mide walkg.

We walked over the bask part of the elty, (as we eannm beip calling it) to louk at the ficsculvan labora at a geng of men, cuttug a deep pxeavation tiorwugh a molid mmsw of granite, to make an spesitig for the entrance. ot the ratway whth is nov buildug betwien this place and the eapatal. "They have a pretty tough job in haud. it is no less than tu put though a folid rock about foity fert in drepth, sud for the divtance, nt a guess, of one हith of a milis. Upmon mosunting to the torp of the wasoeth bald tiead of the sranse tuass, we waw luyyund, in the line of the roat, amother gang of treis, workthe then way in an oppossitedirection, to nuert those at thim end. As many teame were kept employed, cartitg atul draguing away the fragneents of ruck, an could get at the fowt of the excavation, and as misiny groups of miti as could statud to work, some drifting, wotne tumbsIIng dawa the loose fragunents of the rock, some loading, and wnue guading the osen awry with their londs. Ever and anon, the workinen would clear ont and hode theasolves labind trees or amons the rucks, when an explowian would take place, and the whole air would be filed with suluge and vioues and great rocks Aging oat in all directions. Then all the gang would return and resume their work again.

LOWELL COTTON AND WOOLLEN GOODS.

A late number of the Lowell Journal hat the following intererting article:
The whole amoment of capital at present Inverted is 6,150,000 dollars. The nuuber of large maits in actual operation is 19. These milln are each ahout 157 fret in length aud 45 fert in breadth-of brirk, fire stories light, pach averagug from ten to thirteen feet higi, thun giving opportunity for a free cirenia tion of aif. 'Thie aggregate mumber of spandies uned Is 84,000booms 3,000 . Tise whale ountuer of operatives enuplaycd is about 5,000 , of which 1,200 are malep, 3,800 are femaics. The guantity of raw cotton used in these tnilin per annum, ezewrds $7,000,000$ tbs. or 90,000 bates. The nuubber of yarda of cotton goods of varions qualities thanufactured atnaually in about $\mathbf{2 7}, 000,000$. Were the different peices united, they would reach to the diviance of 15,300 miles? In this estunsta is ineluded bout $9,000,000$ of yards of coarse mixed cotton and woollent megro cinthing, in the manufacture of which about 80,000 pounds of wool are u*s'd per annuin.
The quantity of wool manufictured annually into cassimeres is about 150,000 Ibe. making about 150,000 yards.
The Lowelt carpet mannfactory is in itaelf a curiosity-68 loons are kept in operation by hand labor, viz: 50 for ingiained or Kidderminster carpeting, 10 for Brussels, and 8 for ruge of various kinds. $140,000 \mathrm{Ibs}$, of whol in the coterne of a year, are mannfactased into rich and beautilul carpets, the colors of which will vie with any imported. The number of yards of enrpeting made per annan is upwards'of $1: 20,000$, bealdew ruga. The operatives at preecnt employed In all these milla receive for their lehor nhout $\$ 1,200,000$ per annum.
The lawrence cownany has now but one mill in operation. One other is erected, and will be in operation in about three thonthd. Thi foundation of twu others are laid which will be ready to go Into operation, one In 9 monthe, the other In Is. These mills will contaia about 16,500 additional ppindlee for eotton, and 550 lonmes, and will ume $9,500,000 \mathrm{lbw}$ of raw eotton annuaily, fornishing employment for 700 operativen. These three milts will probahly be the meany of additig at least $\$, 300$ to the population of Lavwelt.
The Middlesex company has lately erected another mill for the asanufiscture of casaimertes and broadeloths, which is said to be ane of the frat manufacturing edifices in the U. States. It Is 153 feet in lengih, by 46, and wis storien high. Nearly $1,000,000$ of bricks have been used in ite eonetruction. It will go into operation In about two months, and will cantain 2.880 ppindies, and 61 lwans for enssimerem, and 40 for broadcloths. It wili work up about 300,000 poasis of wool antually, and eaploy aboue कes nperativis.
The edifice, in which all the marhinory emploged in the mills t manufacturent, is ternied the "4uas'line shopp" b-Ionglag to the locks aud canal company, and is probatily the largeti "phop" In the conntry, moing built of brick, four wtories high, 270 feet in length and 45 fect in widih. Ahant $\mathbf{2} 100$ machini"te, some of them the most skilful and ingenions workmen in the United statew, or in the world, are constantly emploved. About eto0 tons of rat and wrmuglit tmn, two-thirds of which at lenti ara of Amrrican prodnction, nre anwinaily eonverted Into machinery, besides a large puantily of imported steel.

It is computed that onwarde of 5,000 inn of anthracite conal are annualiy cowwumed in the donweft msnufacturing extabliwh. ments and machine shop. besiden Immenve quantlics of charcoal and pise and hard wond furl.

THE PEEQIDENT-AT BENKER'S HYLI。
Address of Mr. Eifovaril Evegntt, to the preshlont of the Unitra Staten, on Bunker Itill, with the prestlient's reply.

Afr. President: I have tween directsd, by the committee of artangeprents, on belialf of theinselves, of their frllow eltiznens and of the vast multituife here namemblal. to bid you weleome to the aneir nt town of Charlestown, and Its fammena heights.

The inhatitants of a *anall and fruzal connmilnity, we esinnot, like ont brethren of the thetrupnlin and of the other erfat cinleg, through whirh you have pausel, receive yon lit aplendid man sions and halls of state; bat here, sir, ippon the frrecious soit once moistened with the beat blood of New England; with nothing ahove us but the arrh of heaven, we tender you the united, reapectiful and rordial raintathens of ont ancient town.

There art many inisure-ling historical reebllections conoected with this lumudiate nelghonhoud, which I will not take up 3 mur time in repmuntinie. I will oily ony that on yonder gemite rfevalion, the first cembitany of the pritlers of this eommonwealth, a litule nowfe than twa pintarie ago, laid the foundatiuns of thr aucu it culomy of Massachupetent and upon the hitt on whief we are now axsrethbled-npon the very ppot on which we staud-on the ITth of Juse, 1775 -beneath the thander of the batterica from the opporsite heighte of Braption, frons the vessels of war on the bay beneath us, and froun the hend of the columna of the advancing army uf flve thousand chosen Britum troops-while tlio tntire town of C'larleatown was wrapped is flames, ind every stecple, roof and hill top of the surroundine country was crowiled with anxuras spertatora of the dreadfal drama-Pirsenti, Putnam, Stark and their gallant avencintea bravety fouglit, and Warren, with bis herole comradex, nobly frill, in the cause of Amerlean Independence. You, Mr. Secreinry Cass, imay well cherish the memoiry of that day, for your father bore his share in its perils and It glory. Stark's reginuent, where lie fonght, was statloned not very far from the spot where yom statud.
We bid yon, Mr. President, who Ilke thoae our fathere, have expoerd y ynir life In the canse of your country, and more favored than they, lave been permitted to enjoy the frait of your inlls and danger-we hid you welcome to the precions pot. Most of thove who have preetedrd yon in the chief magistraey $\rightarrow$ Washington, Adame, Mannue and ysur Immediate predeceswor, bave trod it beffome you - and hut a few yeais tince, flie nation's gitest, the great and gond I.afayette, tnide hia pilgrimage alno to the same vetuerable precincte. T'n you, Mtr, who, under Pruvidence, conducted the banners of the conntry in victory, in the laut great struggle of the Ameriean arms, it munt he pecoliarly耳rateful to stand apon the epot itnanortalized as tise scene of the first monapntous confliet.
Wis have thought it might nnt be unwelenme 10 you to possees some Joint miemorial of these two aventfil day and anf an a one I now hold ia my hands-a grape shot dug up from the gnd beneath our feet, anil a cannon hall from the batile field of New Orleans, brought from the enploase within wheli your head quarters were eutahliwhed. They are proserved in one casket: and on behalf of the citizens of Charlestown, I now proment them to yon, in the hope that they will perpetaate in your mind an acceptable masociation of the 17ili of June, 1775, and the Pth of Januaiy, 1815-the dates of the first and last great battles fought under the American standard.

To dreignate in all coming time, the place of the first of these eventful contexts, the gratitude of this generation is rearing a unjestic inonumen: on the shered apot. We Invite you, sir, to amend it, and to behold frum Its elvevation a Invely scene of town and country-a ppecimen uot anfavorable of this portion of the great rcpublic, whome interesta have heen eonfided to your care, as elifef magistrate of the Enitud sintes. We rejoiee that Frin loave taken an opportnnity of nequiring a personal kmow. ledge of its character. L.eas fertile than wome other portions of the union, its wealth is in ite propilation, ite Institutions, It pursoits-its schools and its churches. W'e doubl not yne will find, in your extrneive journey, that the great springe of íp prom. perity are in harmony with the interests and wellare of every other part of onr common country.

The spot on whirh we are gatliered is not the place for adnlation. Stunding nver the asher of nien who died for liberty, wa can apenk no language batt that of frewomen. In mn addresg to the clilef magistrate of the I'nited Stater, there is no mom for one woril of eomplinuent or flattry, But with gratiffil rememhrance of your serviees in the countiy-wilh lupenmine rexpeet for your atation, the mast txalted on eath-and with tasastmats approbation of the firm, resolute and patzietle wtand which you awamerd, in the late alarming erlals of afflairs, in order to preserve that happy unlon undar one conetliutlomal thead-fop the establiohment of which these atreets were wrapped in arex and this hill was drenched In hond-with ote fieart and one voice we bid you weleome to Bexkeia Hill.

To the forrgoing addres the prepident made the following reply:
Sir: For the kind reception yon have given me, In behaif of the citizons of Charlextown, and for tie frirndly wentimente expremed on thin nceasion, I return yon my sincere thanka.
It ls on of the mom eratify ing Inciltrnts of my life to meet my fellow pitizens upon Punker Itill, at the baee of that monnment which their patriotiom Is prerting: and upon the aapret opost hallowed by on many Interestif recoliectiont-a rieh apert In the varions nationul ubjects whieh it presents in viow and licher sifil fit the assoclations, moral and historical which belong 10 it.

The eanller incidente of the rrvolution-the high tonad patriotip declaration=-the otr FH driermination th nseet the coming pvents, and the vignentm proparations in reslet them pucceppfit-ty-the ureat battle which opesed the revulationary eonteat, whose full rrwilte upon human institutions ase yet to be diaplosed, and in which, if your sacred inount wap Iops, and if your devnted town was ennwined, inupeilifinle glory wan acquiredthe services, the ancrificem and the sufferings of this genema and entightrned atate, and the memory of the renotrned men she lias furmisited for the fictd and the calinet; all theme recollections crowd upon the mind, and render thim one of the high places, where the Americall citizen wilt ever repair, to continplate the past and induige in the anticipation of the futurn-

And when to all these are added your inowal, wocial, literary and relipious institutions-your happy equatity of comblatinnyour charitable eatahishments-your toundations for education -the grneral diffusion of knowledge-your industry and enter-prime-and when we reffect that mowt of this is common to the New Engtand states, yon may well be proud of your native land, and our country may well be pruad of New Engiand.

I bave seen nuch to admire and erminte-uothing to excite regret; and if my journey be atiended with no other result to myself, I shall feel amply repaid by witnewnue this fatr prospect of human confort; and by findug, that, huwever high I had rated the moral and inteliectual chavacter of the eastern portuon of the union, I liad yet to learn that I bad not done it justice. I do not speak of the persumal kindupss 1 have ruet with: I cannot. But the inaprestion is on my heart; it witl oniy leave me not. But the inspr when life departs.

I accept, with grailtude, the intereating relica you have premented to me. I am sure 1 speak the sentument of iny feliow soldiers upon the plains of New Orleans, when I say, that to be associsted with the memory of that band of patriots, who fought with Warren, when he sealed lis prineiples with his life, is the bigheat meed of praise which our country could bestow. 1 am sensible that we owe It to a soo partial estimate of our mervices. It was thy good fortune, on that eventitul day, in lead an army It was my good fortine, on that eventful day, to lead an army comprosed of American citizens, appreciating the value of the prize they eooteoded for, and deterioined upon exertinns proportioned to its maguitude; and it was theirs to expel a superior force, and to preserve an important apetion of the union.
Accept, sir, for yourself, my acknowledgments for your personal kudness.

The following inscription was engraved on a silver plate on the box containing the eanmon balls, presented to piesident Jackson, at Bunker Hill, on Wednesday:
"These now harmiess memurials of ilie 17th June, 1775, and the 8th of January, 1815, were presented to general Andrew Jackson, president of the United States, by the citizens of Chatlestown, on the $4th June, 1833, on his visit to Bunker H1LI."

THE PRESIDENT AT LOWELLC
Boator, June 29. A genteman of this city, who was at Loweil on Thursday, states that the parade in honor of the president's arrival, exceeded all anticipation. The president approached the place about 3 o'clock. The military escort was composed of a eompany of artillery, a company of riffemen, several companies of light inflantry, and a procesaion of youtg femates enuployed in the factoriea. The number of women in this procession was fromt three to four thuusand. Ail werc neatly dressed in white, with nastes of different colors to designate the different manufacturing eatablishmeots, to which each respec. tively belonged. They were formed four deep. The leagth of the procession gave oceasion to a spectator to remark that there was a mile of girls. After the ptesident and sutte had arrived at the Merrinack hotel, the whote procession pasyed in review before hitn.
The manufacturing worke had all been sampended during the day, and, at the request of the president, one of the miltu was pet in operation, that he might witness the ingeutity of the machinery, and the immense power of the water-wheels. IIe appeared to be much engaged, and made such inquiries as evineed that he felt a deep interest in the establishments and the progress of our manufictures. Ife afferwards attended a public dimner at the Merrimack hotel, where it was his intention to pass the night and proceed to Concord, N. H. the uest day. IIe appeared to be in better health than for several days previous.
We are unwilling to let this account pass from our hands, without a few worde of cominent. What semtiments the scene inspired in the minds of the president and the gentlemen bigh is office and expectation, who attended him, we know not; but we hope that the evidences of personal, as well as national prosperity-of a high standard of mural and Intellectual, as well ad pecuniary independence-there exhibited, were not lowt, nor the reflectinns to which such an exlubition would naturaliy dead, like water thrown upon the ground, which eamnot be gathered up again. There were from thiree to four thousand females in the procespion-probably every one of them under thirty years of age. Not the oppressed, miserabte, half starved femalea of an Eurnpean manufacturing city, but well educated, well drepsed frmaler, perfectly independent of any coatrol fron the proprietors, al liberty to return to their work wheu the festival sbould close, or to leave it and seek any other employment that may promince more money, or please the fancy better. Is such a population to be trifled, with by the legislatnre mail ruters of this country? Dowe not the spectscle present, in a delightful aspect, the operation and effect of our truly repubtican instuthtinns? These femates are not destined, like tiose of Eumpe, who labor for a subsintence, to labor forever in the same capacity. They are to be the wives of vituous, figh minded, fudepenicnt citizens-the motiers of our future law ziverw, our leginlators, our judges, our presidente, our instrnctors and our protectors. And, with this view, what whand be the policy of our government? Clearly to give permaesence and stability to whatever system of political ecouony will raise the price of labor, and augment the value and quantity of agricultural and manufacturiog products. The pitiful conaideration of a cent in the price of a yard of cloth should never enter into competition, in the muds uf enlightened statrstuen, with the wellare and prosperity, the iudustry and the ludependence of the taborhag clasmed.
The governor'e ands, who attended the president to the line inetwern this ptate and New Hawpllire, returned last evening haviug left hum an tolerable health and execilent rpirits.
[Courier.
The Daily Advertiser mays-The president seemed much interested with what he saw and heard, [at Lowell] and made many inquiries reapecting the number of people employed, their average wages, the amuunt of cotton woiked up daily, of cloth turueil out, &c. showing by bis remarks that the subbect of domestic tuanufactures had previously eugaged his attentive observation. In order tu show more distinctly the effeet produced by the introduction of the power lootn and extenaion of the cotton businest for the iast twenty years, a gentleman exhibited to him a piece of British cotton shirting, loonght at a niarshal's saie of prize goods in the autumn of 1813, at eighty-fire cents per yard, cash, (Boston moncy or ppecie) and atwo a piece of American manufacture, of snperior tabric, which now sells for fourteen cents per yard, which is eonsiderably less than one-half what lie then patd for the bare weaving of the same article by thand. The president exaunined the fabrics attentively, and satisfied himself as to the cumparative qualities of the two pieces. At his depire, (all the works having beell suspended in consequence of his visit) one of the Mesrimack mills was put in operation. Ife visitcd the mili and the priot works, and carefully cramined the nachinery and the frocess of manufacturing.
During his visit to the Merrimack mills and print works, the apparatus for extinguishing fires (which is probably more effecuve than any other similar establishment in the country) was put in motion, and the immetse power of the water wheets to which they were attached was truly astonishing, coveriag the different buildugg with witer in a few miuutes, by various pipea mauned by the different eugineers.

For the fillowing "dilling" remark we are indebted to the Bowton Advocate, spegking of the slow of girls at Loweli-
"Such a regiment of heantiful soldiers was never before seen on parade, and though they carried light arms, and no artillery but their eyes, they preseutod a more killing force than ever Bouaparte unstered."

MR. WEBSTER AT BUFPAI,O.
On his recent visit to Buffalo, Mr. Webster was invited by the citizene of that place to attend a pulitic duner, which his engagement, and the necessity of an early departure, compelled him to decijue. He accepted, however, an invitation to be preseot at the launching of a steainboat, to wbich the proprietora had given the uame of Daniel Webster, and in reply to an address of othe of them, made the following remarks-
I avail myself gladly of this opportunity of paying my ackuowledgments to the proprietors of this vesect, for the honor conferred upon mie by allowing her in bear my name. Such a token of regard, had it proceeded from my immediate friends and neighbors, coutd not but have excited feelings of grateful reapect; and it is more calculated to waken these sentiments, when couning from gentemen of elaracter and worth, with whon I have not had the pleasure of persunal acquaintance and whose motive, I may flatter myself, is to be found in an induigent opinion towards weli intentioued services in a public situation.
It gives me great picasure, also, on the oecasion of so large an assenibly of the city of Buffalo, to express to them my thanks for the kindaess and hospitality with which i have beell received in this young but growing and intercating city. The launching of another vewsel on these inland seas, is but a fresh occasion of congratulation on the rapid growth, the great active prosperity, atid the exciting future proppects of this city. Eight years ago, fellow citizene, I enjoyed the pleasure of a phort vixit to this place. There was then but one steamboat on Lake Erie; it made its pasmage once in 10 or 15 days only; and 1 remenier that persons in my own vieinity, inteuding to travel to the far weat by that conveyance, wrote to friends to learn the day of the commencement of the contemplated voyage. I understand thit there are now 18 ateatnhoate plying on the iake, ail finding full employ meut; aud that a boat leaves Bufalo twice every day for Detroit and the ports in Ohio. The population of Buffato, now four times an large as it was then, has kept pace with the augmentation of its conmercial business. This fast progress is a sample, but certainly is thot to be regarded as the measure, of the future advancement of the city. So many elrcunstances incline to lavor that advancement, that it is diffeut to eptimate the rate by which it may bereafter proceed. It will probahly not be long before the producta of the bialteries of the east, the importations if the Allantic fiontice, the proluctiona, mineral and vegetable, of all the north-westem states, and the sugars of Lonisiana, will find their way hither by laland water eommnnleation. Much of this Indeed, has alreatly taken place, and is of daily occurrence. Many who retnrmber the compelition betwcen Buffin and Biack Rock, for the site of the city, will doublema live to see tice city rivead nver heth. "This singular prosperity, frtlow citizenr, so gratifyine for the preaent, and ac. companipd with such hizh hopes for the fiture, you owe to yours own induatry and enterprisc, your favored position; and to the flourishing condition of the internal commeree of the country; and the blessings and the richen of that internal commerce, be It ever remembered, are the fruite of a united government, and one general common commercial system.
It is not only thu trade of New York, of Ohio, of New Fingland, of Indiana, of Miehigan, but it is a part of the great aggregate of the trade of all the states, in whieh you so largely and so suecessfuily partake. Who does not see that the advantages bere enfoyed, spring from a general government, and a umform code? Who dops not see, that if these states had remalned severed, and each hal existed with a aywtem of impowts and commercial regniations of its own, all' excluting and repelling, rather than invining the thtercourse of the reet, the place could bardty hope tu have been more than a respectable frmaice post' Or cath any man fork to the rne and to the other side of this beautiful lake and river, and not see in their different conditions the phain and manifest results of different political institutions, and comntercial regulations.

It wuild be pieasail, fellow citizens, to dwell on these tupics, mo worthy at all thurs of rygard and refiection; and pepecially so fit to engage antention at the present moment: but this ix not the propjer moitient to pursue them, and tendering to you once more my thanks and erod wishes, itakr mil leave of yotl by expressIne iny lioper for the continued success of that great interest so exsential to your happiness-the commence or the lakes, a MEW DISCOVKAKD SOULCE OF NATIONAL PROBFERITY, AND A NKW bosd or mational exion.

An address was also made to Mr. Webster in behalf of the mechatics and mannfacturers of Buffalo, to which he returned the following reply:

I need hardly asy, Mr. Chairman and zentlemen, that it gives me much satisfaction to receive this mark of approbation of $m y$ publie conduct, from the manufacturers and mechanics of Bufflo. Those who are the most immediately affected by any measures of the government, are naturally the carlient to perceive their operation, and to foresee their final results. Allow me to pay, genilemen, that the confidence, you express in my continuance in the general course which I have prisued, muxt rest, and may rest safety, I trust, on the history of the past. Iesiring always to avoid extremes, and to observe a prudent mo. deration in regard to the protective syatem, I yet hold steadineas and perseverance in maimaining what has been edtablished, to he essential to the pulilic prosprity. Nothing can be woree than that what concerns the daily labor, and the daity bread of whole classes of the people shoulil the subject to frequent and violent changes. It were far better not to move at all than to move forward and thell fall baek agaith.

My gentiments, gentlemen, on the tariff question, are generalIy known. In my opinlon, a just and a lending object In the Whole system is the eneouragemetit and protection of American manual labor. I confese, that every day's experience convinces me more and more of the high propriety of regarding this object. Our government is made for all, not fur a frw. Its objeet is, to proniote the greatest gond of the whole; and this onght to be kept constantly in view iu its ndmisistration. The far greater number of those who maintain the government belong to what may he calted the industrious or producuve classes of the comulunity. Wiah us tabor is not depressed, ignorant and unintelligent. On the contrary, it is active, spirited, enterpriaing, scekng its own rewards, and laying uff for its own competence and ite own zapport. The nootive to labor, is the great stimulus to our whotusocicty; and no aystem is wise or juxt, which does not afford thla stimulus, as far as it may. The pro tection of American labor againet the injurious competition of foreign labor, wo far at leant as respects gencral handicraft prodnctione, is known historically to have been one end dexigned to be obtained by establishing the eanstitntion; and this object and the constitutivnsi prower in aceomplish it, ought never to be surrendered or conipromised in any degree.

Our political institutions, gendemen, place power in the hando of all the people; and to make the exercise of this power, In surh hamin, palutary, it is indoppensabie that all the people should enjoy, firmt, the meatis of education, and second, the rea*onatie ceriainy of procuring a competent livelithood by industry anul Iathor. Tliese itsthulians are neither denizned for nor suiard ion bation of iznorant paupers. To disaeminate knowledge, then, universaliy, and to serure to labor ant industry their just rewasde, is the daty both oi the gencral and atate governments, each in the exercise of it appropriate powers. To be free, the puople mnst be intelligently free; to be stibstantially indepelident, they nunst he able to secure themselven against want, by sobriety and indnetry; to be safe depositories of politi. cal power, they tmust be able to compreliend and underatand the general interpats of the comminity, aud ininst have a stake themselven, in the welfare of that eommunity. The inturest of labor, therefore, has an importance in our system, beynond what belongs to it as a mere question of political ecronomy. It is connected with our forms of government, and our whole ancial aysten. The activity and proaperity, which at present prevail among us, as every one must notice, are prodnced by the eseitement of compensating priees to labor; and it is fervently to be hoped that no unpropitious circamstances, atul 110 unwise poliey may connteract this efficient cause of general comprten. cy and public happiness.

I pray you, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, to receive, personally, my thanks for the manaer in which you have comninuiteatally, my thanks for the manner in which you have cosnin ## ix OHiO.

Cincinnati, (Ohio), June 17. On Saturday afternoon a meetIng took place at the excliange, for the purpose of making such arrangements as should be deemed proper, to express the sense of this comtuunity in relation to the public and patriotic services of the honorable Daniel Webater, who is now on a visit to this city, when Morgan Nerille, esq. was called to the chair, and Bellarny Storer appoimed secretary. After some appropiste and pertineat reinarks from Robert $\boldsymbol{T}$. Lydte, esq. the following resolutions were submitted by him, and unanimously adopted by the miceting:
Resolred, 'That it is a source of much gratification to the cisizens of Cincinnati, to learn of the arrival In thls city of the honorable Dasiel. Webstea, upon his firne vislt to the western country; that the high qualitications, long and emineut public services, and well directed industry of that gentleman, in his private and publie career, for the advancement and prosperity of our commion conntry, entitle hits to the respect and admiration of his fellow citizens.
Resolred, That as friends of the union, we appreclate, with grattude, hle efficient and zealous co-operation, during the lnst oespion of congiess, in explatning and shstaining the priselples of the federal constitution; and the devotion which he displayed fir the stabstity of the ubion, and the perpetuity of our free institutions.
Resolred, That aside fiom all party and polltical considerations, we are happy to reengnise in this distinguislied stranger, the mowt eievated properties of the gentleman and the zcholsr, the jurist and the statesman; and, that as such, he merite our regard, and is entitted to our hoapitalities.
Resolved, That a committee of thirty be appointed by the chairman, to wait on Mr. Webster, and invite bim to partake of a public diuner, ou Wednesday nest, the I9th instant.

Saturday, ISth June, I833.
S1m: The citizens of Cincinnati, anxlous to tender to you sonse evidence of the high estimation in which they hold your character and public services, have appointed the undersigned to invire you, in their namex, to a public dintier.
In obedience to their wishes, we have the honor of requesting yuur company, on Weilnealay, at 4 P, M. at the commercial excliange.

Hon. D, W'ebuter.
The following geutlomen were appointed the comsaittee to carry into effeci the resolutions of the citizens:
Gen. James Findlay;
Joseph Pierce,
Robert Huchanan,
Jidge 'Torrence,
Jidge Torrence,
Bellamy Storer,
Bellamy storer,
Joslah Lawience,
Robert T. Lytle,
Morgan Neville,
Judge Willam Miller,
General Eamuel Borden,
James Goodloe,
Jacub Rembr,
Allison Owen,
Peyton S. Eymmes,
Archibald Irwin,
Jacob Burnet,
D. T. Disney,

William C. Anderson,
Judge Gnodenow,
Daniel Drake,
Ebenezer Ilalse,
General Edward'King,
Dr. L. Reives,
Cof. Franeis Carr,
William Tin.
William R. Foster,
John H. Groesbeck,
Dr. J. Canwell,
E. S. Thomas,

John P. Fonte.
MORGAN NEVILLE, chairman.
Bellamy Storer, mecrelary.
Saturdey, June 15, 1833.
Siaz I have the honor to acktiowledge the receipt of your letter, as chairman of $n$ committee appolinted by the citizena of Cincinnuil, Inviting the to a publie dinner on Wedaesday. In thim my frit virtt to the wert, It has heen my olject to spe the country, as extenpively as I could, and to enjoy an intereourse wint the people, free from the restraints atul inewnveatenees, attendant on pablic manifestations of regard and kindneas. On the present occasion, however, it seenss to be thoughit, that what is so kindly propoeed nuay afford an opportunity of enlarg. ing that Intercourse, and of exchanging salutations with the citizens of Cincinnati, more favnrable than may otherwise be presented. With these Impressions, I accept with pleasure the invitation which is eiven to me. I am with moch true rseard, your obliged fellow citizen, DANIEL. WEDSTER.
Morgan Nerille, esq.
Acerrdingly on the $19 t h$ Jnae the dinner was given, of whirh tha Cincinnati Gazette of Jie 2lst sayn- ${ }^{\circ}$ The dinner to Mr. Webster, on Wednesday, was what, in the language of truth might be called a briltiant atfair. Every thing passed off well. The conpany was fuli to overflowing, and no unptcasant Inel. dent oceurred to mar the general hilasity. The mayor presided; tie rev. Wm. Burke inade an lavocation to the tirone of grace at the cornmencement of the festivities. The dinner was a gnod one-abundant-well prepared-the wines-bot in them I have no skill. Mr. Wehetor was enlled out for a speech at the 6th tnast. It was well concelved and liappy-natural in all its as-pecty-a little flatering to the whole west-a litile more so to Cinclanall in particular-and yet, perhaps, nothing whort of the whole trith. He has promsised to furwish a sketch of it for pablicatson, and we will not anticipate thas sketch, by giving ons froun uspre niemany. ${ }^{19}$
Mr. Barry* declined joining in the fewtivities, is consequesce of the vistationa of the cholera anong hin friends at Lexington

Vrry propueriy cobusidering that these ought w preciude hian from bethy oue of a feotive bosard.

Reguler toants.

1. The preaident of thut Iturd States.
2. Tise liseads ont deparinseat.
3. T'lte lederal jualu'iary.
4. T'Ise drany aud a, ivy uif the United States.
5. Tife menary of कl a-langtona.
6. Our dastinguislued gurpi, the hon. Daniel Welater-The profonand expmutuler of the constintion, the elogusit supporter of the fedcral unson, and the unifurus lifietad and advociate ul the wewtein country.
7. The paitists of the revolution.
8. The definudove uf our country during the late war.
9. Our friean, fillow citizen and gueet giti. W'us. Wrury IIar-rimon-ideutifled with the warfare and seltbuent, potsperity and glory of the watorn consutry - the laurrle which lie wears have bren well win, and are cherfilly aceoriled.
10. The prran- Wharn emolueted by learnung and palritutiom, a mational blesobigi but ja its lurnotiousness, a curve to all mankind.
11. Common echools-New Fugland has taught tis their value, In the fiuits she bas praduced trmin lior murserien of scituce,
12. The unatil-" fi must be preerfved."
13. The state of Olisi-Muy the devation of her sons to the Inssitutions of tie country, keeff pacen with the luprovemacui of her suil, the lucrease uf liet pigulation, and the enterprise of her cilizena.
14. The fair-W'bile they are fur waion, we defy tie world. Fisluntecrs.
By Daniel Webster. The city of Clucinnati-A beautifui Illastration of the conomration betwern unture and ass. Nay the proxperity of lier catizeus be combueastarate with their bueputulity and cuterprise.

By Wus. H, Harrison. Daniel Webster-The true reprenenta tive of the charturtit and usumere uf his eountry. Skiltal in inatiuet the cluef justice of Fingland iu the princuples of the law which are comanon tu both comntries, aud tu cousple with lord quance, fud in esplaining the prisciples of "good uld Einghah iberty.

Seut hy a lady. Daniel Iebater -

By T. Walker, eaq. Dundel H'ebuter-Tive Duniel there 5on will fud hum the inaster einrit.

By harcos sumith. The constitution of the Unifet Stutes Aubbguuss and mbscure only th the ambutious aud corrupt: when asoatcal by puch, thay there evor be found anoug the people a Daxith tho can intergret the writing.
By Banusel Findiay. Tit lim who yerterday came anmons a conanuasity of strangers, atud to moriow leaves a counumanty of frieuds.

THE DREAMA GP THE POET REALIZED.
The follow winq reitarkable pordiction by Barlow, in tuis Vision of Culumlous, fir -1 publislied at Ilartiond, is 1787, mumb have been rogarded by the gniesatiom of that day as the meacemerption of a vi=iousiry puthessast. How wouderfully lias it licrn fuifiled by the equapletion of unuse magnaticent undsriakings, the Fois and Ohio cancals?
" Ile saw, as widely spreads the unchantr Il'd plain,
Where suland rualuss time aren bloom'd io vasu,
CANALos, loug winditig, ope a watory thgtot.
Aus distant sireanis, and seas, and laken unite.
Frous lair Al. LANIA, tow'ral Iler Ia!lugg sun.
Hack tirouzh the madland lesptivatore chancels run,
Meet ilon far laken, theor beanteous towno that lave, Aud HC'USUN Jaiued to broan (HIli)'s wave." Vis. Col. Ed. 1287-p. 916.
CAts OF JOIIN H. PLFAAANTAN.
From the Richmond Whig, of Jume 27.
 THIS Paper.
As we promisel mome days agot, we avail onrwlives of the first lefoure, in lay before the reabora of thie fapmer, thes suswer of John H. Pleasante, (draws by gon. Walter Jonow), slowving cause why be shonid unt he absached fir an alleged contemint of Alframiria, in divobeyini a sniminous of sainl court, io stiond it mon a witteses. We rempectialiv soticlt an allontive pernsal of that anmwer, by meniferoen of the har, aud loy the pubtre at Iarge, helieviliz as we do, that grave primetplos of comstitutimnal and muniespal Iaw, arn involved in the case.

We bea leave hare in annorg estracia from a letier from een. Jomen, wheh will eoniriluter to enable the readsr aloniz wath the anawer, ta foran a juwi njunious of the Irgatirv of the cousce parmond by the court at Alexanilriana conirt for whose nuembers, se individuals, we eniertain every respert.
"The attachiment is malle refarnable in wome day in Angust, when the nolemn parade of another sperial mering of the const end srand Jury is arderril, for the simele mirpone mf dealine with your refraptory body, if they ean get hold of it. Bni this, I em

- The P. M. general, who happeaed to be al Cincianati.
well satisfed, they can never do: unalese you voluntarily subtuit, as a tuative citizen and settled mhabitant of our old cormнини wealth, tu be draugud frou the protection of dobieatic laws and mintutiuns, inte a turegat jurisdicainn, to which you never were sulycel, aud agathel whuch, ou are charged with wo offenee, but that of diclinhis upon sout bative soul, the extra verriorial jurisdiction of a losergu trilousal over sour pervon and jiberty. lisu nay, certasinly, if ywu picase, subnut in be thus dragged away, and connpulantily subjectied to the actinn of Inws and tribusubls, wathiu the liwited spliere of whose power, unthius but liseir own cmosulaion had bousht you; to whose juisprudence you are a siranger; and froma the posobble alauses, of from the arbitrary prianifules and temdencies of which no matuer how penall) they nay operate on your permon or furtube, the lawa atul tribunale mf your owa state, could give you no relief-no redrees, thaugh the sleutteni act, with the conninisplon or otaission of which you are chargrd, was comantied or onnitied, whilst you were ahiding in thr lieart of your own state, aud entitled th the prutectuoti, or sulyuct in the censure, of the constiof the laivs, or the paitu iplos on which liberty and property are secureal by cessatug institutions in the District of Columbia and in the wtate of Vircinia; they thas lue all equally excellem in theory and puractice. But as no stranger can assume parental authority aver a child, witiont the com-rnt of the parent, so ao atate can eqveribe juitsiction over a rituzen of anotiser state, withis the terribury of lis own mtulv, ninhout acmue conventomal arrangenuent between the ztatea tu that efiect. And no soverelgu statid could be justithod in rumittung low citizens to tho cognizance of a furvign Juristimetion, in the institution of wlinse government and laws, Ilume catizens could lave had mo view, nor the seate lirrself auy control uver any pursible veces ou abuscs, euther in the lawis themselves, or in the matuiniatration of the laws. If any auch educespiou nuay ever be decined cousi-tcut with the dignity or the dutuen of a rover, ign atate, it must be under sombe very pecular rircumstances uf unamient and urget neceseity; and then the concespium shauld be atrictly guatded, by pensitave regulaisuns ang wrill dedined limitations, instanted, or dassinctly approved and conthamed, by the laws of the state making the concession. I bave looked in vain, after an aniious and dulgent sparch, for any law of congrems that even asserts for the tibuuals of this dotrict any sucia authority over the citisens of Vurgiaia; and if any stieh law of compress could be found, I whould will rloallenge, with more unduubting confidence tin the triumplant maintenance uf my challenge, a reference to any une law, or any one act, of Virginia, wherchy whe bas, cither by exprias conventuin ur any tacit inplication, made any concemsion to comgreas of the power to egtemal the jurisdiction of the Juen! tribunats of Live Distrivi uf Columbia over the territory of Virgitia, or her citizens ahulimg in their own state. Indeed, a state ryghts question of portentous iusport arises; and one of fir ning interest than many ilat havr: Hade more noise is the country. TTis a litile rminarkable, that hitherto the stases have cxerted all Ilseir vighlanre and jwalousy to viudicate their aeparate rialita against rupposed etucroschnients of the general goverumuent In the rivirize of the highent powerx; but now, an inferiur pourt, eomplriply lacal in ite institution and jurisdietion, and no othrrwiun distinguislued frous osher Ineal Iribunals, bat that it happeaced to be crrated by congress for the local admindstration of Jusicer in a small dintrict undrr the exclusive legislation of comgiesn, and abonlutely excluded, in virtae of that explunite legislation, from the commanaity of states, both in their federal rolatione, and in their separate capacaties as soverretgn states, this same local and Inferior tribunal claius an extended jurisdiction la the wates, qualifying it not only to sumenon, bet 20 attaeli and bing to its bar by foree of its own process, cithzuns of the stased rowiding in the loudy of the states, and as cempletely clrar of its jurisdiction, ae citizenship and residence can uake theat.

"The alecisions of chlef Justice Marshall and judge Barbotar againut the power to arrest Mr. Randolph bimself in Virginia, fur the nssault comsistted by bint In the Disirict of Columbia, are cunclusive agalnint the power now apsuaved, to guthmon and atlach you as a witners In the pame or any sinular case; and every reason that operated against the arrest in the first iastance, concludes a forttori against the sammonsand atachment in the other; besinles other and more conclusive reasons applicable to the Iatter in particular."
Bu far gen. Joucs. We doubt not that every lawyer and every man who bas just viewa of our federal relations, and of the rights of the cituzen, will azree with hims and with this agumurut in hand, we shall, as we feel it our iuppratire daty, apply fir a wist of babeas corpus, in perfect coutidence that the pawer assumed by the court at Aleiandria, will be judtctally vetoed.
Cireull court of the District of Calumbia for the county of atterendria.

June 4, 1830.
A anmmons was insued from the elerk's office of the county of Alexantria, in the Dholtriet of Colnubista, direeted to the marshat of the sastern diatriet of Virginia, and commanding him to sammon John H. Pleasants us appear hefore the homorable the C. Stules judges of the parcuit court of the Distrist of Columbia for the county of Alenandria, nt the court house in the town of Alexandria, innmediatsly, to testify and the trath to say on behalf of the United States before the grand jury of the said eesan-it of Alcrandith.

Jume 8, 1873.
Thomas Woodward, depilty marshal of the District of Columbia (Who was ant experep Iruni Wawhtugton to Richmond. therm to areve a sumbuns directod to the suarabl of tive eastern detrict of Virgiwia) ullade watt in tywn cullit that lie had served the sunumoths en the satel Pleasants in the city of Rectumond in in ghita, ell the fith June; nud that sand Ploasants matd "he shonlid not attemi." 'Tlierruputu the disirict mitarney moved the conrt the evurt to state what evidesere he expected patd Plossants couth give in the grand jury fir Alc xamina county, the sand atcorney made ath aftidavit to the fullowitis ulfert:
 is the editur of no newepapror publisheal in the city of gichmond, called 'Daty Helunend Whiz and Puble Adventiser:' that be hati seen in wail paprer a tetter puidiobed, purpurting tic bear date 7 th May, from some person in Ativandria in some perion in Helimends wheth new apaper is produced and anmesud to the ath.javit ave exluht C: that the grabd jury lave now liefore thrm for consodivation, in bilt if inturtuent clargang R. H. Kandulph in the couuty inf Alexandria: that lte rxpects the sand Pleasants can prove who wew the urytier of seid letter: that be conmulets the facty and circunstiancean atatial th wand Intier as temdug to prove, in cunnesum with other tacta and elrcuinntances which he bis teawnet to belteve have teril prowed ol may be praved brofore the grand jury, litat thepr was puch a consparacy. He furtieer states that lue consuiders the tacto and erreumetances stated in satd letter as tendine to puove, if not such in conspirary, yet, in connexion with other licts and "ireumstances of wheh he believen evidunce has torn latd beture tive graid jury, an tleged asad inproper combination to prerent the ariest of eaid Kandolph, guteadrut of the Unitrd Ntatex, and whubh arwatalt hath buen presenemat by the grand jory; and hy preventing pueh arrest to obstrict the adinoustration of ju-ture. He lurther ptates, that it apperars ircm the mand briter that the writer therrof was acquainted with senid affence of satd Rondolyh, tenth befure and atiep the sume was conimitiod; nnil that, fur the rea-nos above stinted, he prisaed wo give evidence, at to the tryiter of the said lefter, to the grand jury."

Upon the ofrensth of this affidavit (presuming, as we must, that it - weaknean was ite ptrengiti), the court funtantly latd a rute on J. H. Plesannis th show ceatie in curt, on Momiay the 17th June, why an altachenent should not isase againat blin fur not atterntine agrepataly to the former aumbons.
This pule was, on the IIth June, merved un maid Pleasants, by the sanne depury maralal Wondward, who waw a pecond time deapateford trota Washugion to Rechenathel un this most important errand.

Deputy marahal Woodward, of the District of Columbla, at the sause thur, acrvel is s-cublis summons, upon waid Pleaxants, difretod as befure to the maralial uf the castorn distriet of $V$ ir. ginia, and cumunanding that manhal, in the same vague terms ais befire, in sunnum said Plrasants in apirear, \&e. and "to testify and the tristh to say on behalf of tive U'mited Statex, berfore the graud jury of satd county of Alesindria;"; leat with the fol. Jowlog addation to what was iequired ly tite former summens: "and to tring with him the oriainut of a letter, dated, Alexandria, May 7, pithi=hed in a aew -paper call.d Daty Riclunond Whig and $\mathrm{i}^{2}$ nblic Advertiver, of the dth of May, $1 \mathrm{~N}^{2} 3$, under the bead, "the Alexandria case."

To the judges of the circuit court of the Divtrict of Columbia, for che connty of etirecomdriu.Julin H. Plpanami= st the chy of Rechound, in the eommon-urent for a pupppoed matis menturned to the rute of your conarigranted at the insstance of the Unaled statem niturney for the Dhatrict of Calinnted to do any aft, the conamimsint or undisgion of which may amount to a teclinical contruipt u' the anthority of your cours, lie is gultitess of auy auch uffence in deemit mal intentiont fur that if the said shannums hash hrev taxued by the urder or with the privity of the cuitt, and if tos muthority to issue auch process had been leser yurstionablr than it is, he conceives that his cirewhotances alforded no suthernt escune for his fatlure to ascrud purshant to the tenor of the surumone-and thungh he was ani is sucesely iupressed with the aןminn abd bell-f, confiraled by the advice uf canafit counsel and by a rocent judicuil decision of luth and imponsinit authority to the print, thent the and olohgation in law, and therefure lie prennmed that it hat been iseand by the miniaterial olficere of the rourt, witiont the direet anctirn of its urder or privity; on if with puch order of privity, that tise count, proceedine in the firat invtance upen wi porien wiege-tion, wosuld, upcu further mivisement and naturep consideraten, quatb tief provedure an bansernding the limits of tis power and jurisiliction and as beine it itself irregular and tuiruawonable th ather remperz; yet from the real reopect fur the chararter both personal and nificial, if the chint, he beres leave wh subnit to the court in the tirst instance, the circminstances which he honpan would lave constituted a juat and rensotuable excuse for his fallure to attend the court or the grand juiy, pup-

Fuast to the tenor of the nutmmons in queation, even if a regular netinione mught lewfully iuti, in any case, from the District of C"olumfta inno thic comuson werith.
[Tibe lot reunt orfors to dancertic matiers.]
This respoudent has no perrental kumwle-lge of any erime or uffirnee combutied In the District of C'olunbia or any wiot cognizable by yotur cuust or by the grand jury of Alcanodria cullity: ind wat then any cirenastance frout which the law nfticere uf the U'uited staten comblt rrasemiably have prosumed every legitunate pupposition of hacts, eonnected with lats relative sifuation and curumstancer-indered all noturiety-wetit to rase a dircelly oppositr presumption: naturly, that be was an ilter atranger in any Iransaction that could thit hasve been the anbjert of investigation br fore the grand jury; and that, of the great maen of permona withu tise *ame dintance from the ecene of actuon, therte was het one to whom any personal knowledge of the unatter might not have been imputed with as with reawo and probiabitity as to thitsolf.
3. The minumare imports not thnt there was any prosecution, or other cause, actunlly peaduag before the conit or the grand jury, wherein the was required to testify as a witness; names no pariy againnt whom, nor nily exi-ting lisigution wherrin he wan so reguirrd to textily. The letter which he was required in produce, wan a simple friation of the nesault raid to have bepmemmmitied by Rntert B. Kandalph on Andrew Jackson, and the attendatst circumptancrs, withont the remotrat nllasion to any other of frnce conomittrd by him or atiy other person; and the fack, of some of the facts piated in the Irtier, would of cougse the the pabJeet of proof on the trial of Mr. Randolph for that act; bet the inderturent agniast him for thmt art, had already bren passed upon and found hy the grand jury-and by no poratility could it be prpaumed that pach art was any louiger the aubject of invrotigs tion lofure the grand Jury, mor was the ruxpondent ammanned to attend as in witnvas in that eace, but nnly to teptify vaguely opoli wome undetetimined and indefinite anlject brfore the gand jury. Whercas this respondeul wap, and is well advised, that according in the proitive law of the fand, and the well ertablished practice of criminul juitaprudence, as wrll in the county of Alexandra ins in the eronmonwenlth of Virginia, on wifness ena be lawfuily summoned by atiy public or private prosecutor, to textify belore the grand juis, hut in ense of a definite charge, preferred in the moloma formiof all indictment, or information for somp apecific off-uce charged againat sume hidividual or individuals by namp; and that the summons for wituesses in such case, should idettify the case and the partica by name.
4. Neither the ziminum: hapif, nor any pabsequent divelowire of lua object or purpuase, imports that elther the Irtuer itweif or any evidence of the tepprident could possibly be in fact, or could reasosablly lie prosumurd by the law officers of the United Auter, even coupetent, far less matrial evidemre, of any onc fact of cirrsmataice tending to prove the counmiveion of any erime or otti-nce whatever, ly any person of perrons whatever, in the enunty of Alexandia np plow here.
Irt. Because the better itself is not pretended to the the pround of any prosecutiun against the writre thereof, fir any litbilious, of other criminal matter therith contalned, but the enntrary eppears both on the phowing of the diatriet atinrney, and on the fare of the lettry itself, where the phlife innoerney hoth of the writing and of the peblicatioll therrof, alando manilezt.
2d. Hecause that the summone calla for the profuction of the Iettry, not an a Ifiter writien by any periy to any properation peodug before the enurt or the grand jury, or by any namued or deceribed individual in particular, buit as a lviter simply deseribed and mentificil by its date, &e. no matter hy whom writ-tett-no matier whrthet the farta related in it were derived from the personal knowledge uf the writer or from hrarsay.
3f. Becalise from the after ebowing of the diatrict attorney, ith his anid atfidavit, it dies nit appear that the letter is charged, or even anspected to be written by any paity in the prosecution mentioned in such affidavit; but that the production of the letter is benadiy dematided, in mittor by whom, or onder what crevinalances or upon what information mever written.
4th. Hecanse the district antorney when hr undertaken th opecify the ase intended to be made of the Irtier Iteelf, and of the textumony of thiw ruepondent, pretendin not that either the one or the other is cunpu-tent, for tess material evifence of any fart or circumstance affecting the gullt of Innocence of any party to the alieged procerition, ur of any othre individunl in particular; but morely zuresets, or rather conjeeturen somes pospable application of the evilence, to ane or nther of two eaapes, eltber the one now paid to he ponding befirfe the grand jury for couppirary, &e. or to the other already paesed upon by the giand jurv fir artual awautt abul fantery: and ouch applivation of the evidence ith suppoap-d in one or other of three different apperte of the case, alternately prownitd, as first considering the facts and circunstancers ataird in the Trtier, in connection with certain other farts and cirrmmetances as tending try prove a Stalesiey If not that, yet an illogal and inforoper combination in prevent the urrret al minl Randolph for his anald aresult; without pritending that the required evidence was at all competent, or had any t-ndeney to fix the auppoand guilt of anch combination upon any palty in the supposed nffence, or upon any other individaal or individualo in particular, but to prove indefaitely the inere existence of surh $n$ combination aniong unaamed and unknnwn persons; or lastly, that the writer of the letuer, (whom-many material and important cireumstances connected with the soid offence of said Handolph, (that is his assautt on the president of the Uwied States], both before nond after it was committed," and the district nttorney "expects the said Pleasania, [this respondent), can prove who was the seriter of the letier;'; in which last aspect of the required evidence, "tis clear that neither the testimony of this reapondent, nor the letter itself is expected to be either suficient of competeat to establish, by its own apecific credit of force, any one fact of cheumstance whatever, bit to be used as the mere means of discovering some new source of evidence that may by possibility turn out to be compntent and inaterial; but what is a stull more renarkable anomaly, this indirect object is profersedly sought to be accomplishod by means of a summons issued if one case to answet the collateral purposes of the prosecutor in nnother case, by means of a summons lasucd in the first case of an indictment for conspiracy mot yet passed or found by lie grand Jury, to seek a discovery of possitle evidence lur the triat of an indictment for an actual asvanit alrendy passed on and found by the grand jury; mo that after all, thim re-pondent has been summoned to attend in permon, sud to produce the letter in queation, upon a pending inguiry before the grand jury, whether one nf. fence has been consusitted, for the asere purpose of the posaible discovery of new mources of evidence opperating on anther case for n different offence, thereafter to be tried.
Sthly. Hecause the utter groundiessnexs of the pretexts on which the snminotia is professed to bave been isaucilis demonntrative from the contents of the lettrr publithed, and from the shewing of the diatrict attorncy In lisw watid afthdovit simee it is deemed quine evident and clear, that if the writer of the letter upon being discovered and produced as a witness, were to prove every fact and circumatince stated by him in the letter, there is not one that hat the remotest tendency th prove the existence of any puch conspiracy, or combination, as is pretended to be the mole groundil of the only indietment, yent pendiug before the grand jury: bus thint the only rase wherein any matiur stated in the letter erould be at all material, is that of the indictment for the netual assanit; and that is the procise croe in which the sumsmons was not isnued; atd thoreover if it could poswibly be deented the proper office of $n$ waunsons to compel the discovery by one withess of another witness pither in the anner or itu a different case, it is not pretended that miny such indireet method of getting ut evidence findm any npoiogy, either in the wilful muppression, or in any indirect defect of patent evidence to prove the fact of the actuel ansolt, beeaure it is untorious lisat the prosecutor rebes om the evidence of eye witnesses in abundance to prove sho faet incontestably.
The real object, the true end and aim of the mmmons could be iaferted from the tenor of the summons liself, and from the known tendency uf the evidence required by it, to be no other thna a wide searebing inquisition into the nuthorsisip of on published letter, either for the purpore of throwing odiun or suspiction on the unknow a writer, when diseovered, of of fishiag for a new witnews to facts which it was well known this respondent was no witnese to prove, and whereof it was equally motorious the lutter theif could not be cosnpetent evidence: nnd this respondent is well ndvised that it is no nffice of a summons, not nt all wothin the province of a grand jury, to drag a ctizen from his lume, and set on fort an odious inquisition into his private eorrespundence, for the mire ehance of the direovety of other wimesmes, who miny possibly prove what the witness summaned casnut prove; and that the insuing of a sumsmons for any such purpose is a manifest abuse of the process of the couit.

6th. PTis the common right of the citizen to write either in the confidence of private correspondence with his friends nnd acquniutance, of of ansinymous cominunications through the press to the public, my statements $n \mathrm{mr}$ opinions on poblie or privnte trnnsactions, freely and withowt danger of being permonally draws in question, either before tise public, of at the bur of nny legni tribunal mo ns such writing be not libellous, or do not otherwive transgress any private rights or publie duty; and it is $n$ manlfeat and grievons invasion of such common right, and the most perilous abuse of legal process, to institute any official and putilic Inquisition, to discover the contents of or the parties to puch private correspondence, or the name of any anonymnas nuthor of a jublished plece. If there be any excep. tion to titis general immunity ennceded to the nuthors of innocant and harmiess writings, the exception must be distinctly tnade out by the party whosets it $3 p$, in all its circumstances; he mu-t clearly make out a case where the ahsolute necessities of judicial juxtice require the production of the writing; n case Impossilale to be made ont, when it is not made elearly to approt in limine thint the writing if produced would be competent evidoure in the catnec; wherpas in the present instance, there is not imily the absince of nony wuch suggestion, but every presumption to the eontrary.
7h. But whatever might have hern the effeet of the summions if it had bren in the power of this respondent to com. ply with is rignisitions, fie avers that if was not in his power in produre the urizinal of the irtter mentioned or referred to in the body of said summons; breanwe, he says the sald letter was not written or addressed to limeelf, hut to another person, the correspuudent of the writer, who showed it tu this respondent, nod p- rimited him to take an extract from it; which extract he publivied in his said new*paper; that upon taking such extract, oe returned the ietter to the owner thereof, and had it not in hus possession, power of control at the time of being served with such summons or at any time since. And this respondent is not competent from any personal knowledge or of acquaintance with the hand witing of the person by whon the savd lettes purported to bave been written, to lidentify on his oath as a whom it purported to have been whiten; even if he could have been required, in the nlwence of the letter itself to speak of ite contents alld to prove the hand writing.
so far this respondent has submitted the facts and the reamons upno wheh be conceives that be ought to be, nad would have been excused for his farlure to comply with the requisttions of said summons, even if n suatianss otherwlise unezceptionable in its terme nud circumatances, might ta wfully rua from the Dhitrict of Columbin into tha cummonwealth, and if your court thad juriadiction to coerce the attendance of witacsees from this commonwealth. But he respectfully submits that your court powesses no such jurisdictorn; nod the point is now judiciatty decided by the two judges composing the circuit count of the Ilnited States for the eastern district of Virginia; to witt the chief justice of the United Stater, and the district judge: to each of whon, application was made in arrest the said Randoljth, under the 33d section of the original judiciary net of the United Statex, for the assnult which he is charged to have committed on Andrew Jnckson, in the county of Alexandria; and by both of whom the wnrrant was refused, for reasons and upon gmonds identical In princtple with the question of your court's power and juriadiction to tasue mammonses into this commonwenth for witnewses these residing. To the decisions of the said judges, (evidence of whirh, nid their opinioss at iarge, are as be underilands, in the poasession of the attorney of the United States for the District of Calumbia), and to the reason nnd law in the case, he respectfully refers.

JNO. H. PLEASANTG.
CYty of Richnomd:
The above babsed John H. Pleasants, this day mnde oath before me, the sulseriber, one of tbe aldermen for said city, that the ficts which he has nbove nlleged, as mintters within his own personal knowledge, are true, as above stated: leaving the matters of inference from the zummons itself, and the affidavit of the diatrict attorney, above mentioned, and the reasoas of iaw and right nhove advanced, to stand in their own intrinsic force. Given under my hand and seal, this 18th day of June, 1833.

A copy.
Stgned,
JNO. In TATE.
The "National Intelligencet" having published the preceding statement, on the following day, said-
We are requested to correct mind explain a mivtake in that part of the stntemrnt of the attnchment case, republished in our paper of yesterday from the Ricbmond Whig, which, quoting $n$ letter from general Joxzs, states that the nttachanent was made returned to a special session of the court appointed for some day in Auguat. Such, Indeed, seemed to be the underatanding when he lef the court some time before its adjournment on the 17th June; and the counsel, not doubting the resulf from what passed while he was present, mo informed his slient. But, we understand, the court nferwards determined on an adjournment over to the reguine term in October; of whieh he was not aware.

The "Whig" of the lst inat. speaking of the "attachment" says-
"Virginia is a sovereign state. What is the District of Coiumbia? An anomoly in the condition of nntions- dependency merciy, not even possessed of the right of self government. Can any or all the courts of Virginia, send their officers into that District to excente process? No. The movereign then attempts not to exercise, lay: not eves a ciaim to a power which a eounty court of the dependency botdly assumes and exerciees in respect to her citizens! The county court if Alexandria (for with nll its high wounding tities it is neither more nor less) can bring every citizen of the atate of Virginia to its bar, as witneswes, and imprison and fine them for disobedience, but the great commonwealth of Virginia cannot enerce the presence in any ohe of her courta, of the humblest Individual in Alesandria or Wnslington! A fine state of thinge truly.
"What should be thought of the presumption of the court at Alexandrin, in sending their officer into this atate, to diag its citizens to their bar? The federal judges (Marshali and Barbour) declined, for winat of power, to issue warranta for the npprelirasimn of the offender, Mr. Ramdolph; but the ennity eourt of Alexandria, with a full knowledge of this decision, despateh their officers into thls stnte, to bring its citizens prisoners to their bar as witnesses, in a case growing out of the very transnction! It is hard to imagine conduct more preposternus, of more at war with the ordinary raien of judicial conduct."

And in another place observes, of the jodgen-"We have viewed thrir high handed measurew in sendiag in depary marahnit of the District of Columbin, to serve process in Virginia, and their determination to imprison the editor of this paper for disobeying that procese, inn more obligatory on him than a mandate of the court of klag's bench."
OF-The crawling procredings had in this eane will recoll on the beads of the devoted. "Where are you going, Sawney," said a gentleman when be discovered a fellow crawling through his hedge to plunder his orchard-"Bock agen, sir," was tho reply.

NILES' WEEKLY REGISTER.

Foumth deniss. No. so-Vol Vili.] BALTIMORE, JULY 13, 1833. [Vol. XLIV. Whole No. 1,1s8.

THE PAST——THE PHESENT—FOR THE FCTCRE。

EDITED, PGIXTED AND PUBLISHEB BY LL. KLLKS, AT $$ 5$ PER ANKCX, PATABLE IN ADVANCE.

0 -The president is said to have recovered from the fatigue of his journey, and to enjoy a pretty good state of health.

OT-Mr. Webster having arrived at Pittsburg on the 4th inst. was waited upon by hundreds of persons, and invited to a public dinner, which be declined, but consented to accept a cold collation, which was given in a grove on the 8 th-about two thonsand persons being present. After he bad been addressed by the mayor, he made a reply of considerable leogth, which was liatened to with the deepent attention, and recelved with burats of applauss. It is expected that thie speech witl be published.
It is stated "that, in conenquance probably of the terrible ravagen of the cholera at Lexington, it is not Ilkely that Mr. Clay will visit the north, this sammer, as he had inteuded; which will be as great a disappointment to his friends in that quarter, as Mr. Webster's rapid movement homewards has been to the people of all parts of Ohio, who wern anxious to see him, and much disappointed that they had not an opportunity."
$00^{-A}$ writer in the National Intelligescar, speaking of carrency, says-
"Mr. Willian M. Gouge, whese work on banks Is full of information, statew, from the writiogs of two most ahie political ecohomists, that onr capitals amount to $12,000.000,000$, and its productive indnstry at $600,000,000$. Mr. Lee, of Bnstoa, entimaten capitals at $10,000,000,000$, and our national income at 700 or 800 millions. Mr. Niles values our capitals at $1,066,000,000$."
W'a quote the paragraph for the purpose of correcting a mistake. It was our opinion, In 1827, that the income, (nut the "capital") of the people of the United States, was $1,066,000,000$ dollars, at the then money-value of their various productions. We should now estimate the Income at anore than $1,200,000,000$. This will allow lees than 100 dolfars per head, for the subsistence and elothing, and all other acquisitions of necessaries or comforts, or new values annually created or obtained.

The estimated income, ( 1,066 millions, in 1827), had reference oaly to the products of labor-that is, that so much value was needfal to the supply, shelter and comfort of the people of the United States-and was annually ereated or obtalned, in the product of lands, minex, workshops and faetories, in the building and repaicof houses and ships, roads and canals and bridgesand the thousand other laborious oceupations of men and women, whether aided by sciantific or animal power, or reating on manual tabor, alone.

The table prepared and pubtished by ns in 1827 , was made np afer much refleetion and a long and close examination of all the factu which ware iben acceesible to ns; and we have since colleeted a great deal of information with the design of attempting a detailed statement, is which, bewever, no mora than an approximation to tha truth can be expeeted; but the weather must become cooler, and the editor's health a litte stronger, before thia deaign cas be carricd in effect. It will require many hundred references to facts, and laborious calculations-and, if eatisfactorily finiwhed, may gratify a laudable curiosity, and, perhaps, also be useful; for tucre is a great lack of statiatical knowledge, and kew are willing to aeek it for themselvestbough most persons are pleased in possessing it.

00-We have given more than the seual epace to our selection of forrign articles, becaure of certain documente and papers which ought to he preverved for reference. No very lasportant resalt is mentioned, unlest in respect to Turkey and Egypt, betwees whom there to peace-bst there are atrong indications of momentopa reaules; and cepecially, that the British government will abolishthegro slavery, in their West India colo-mies-wo matter at what hazard of ebets.

07 -There ars soma eurlous matters stated In one of the folJewing pagen eogeerning the "wouders of the deep." A belief in the existence of sea-serpents, and of ubetr appearanca off the eassern coast of the Neited states, in the summar sesson, is chanoot forced upon ue-by the "testimony of many witaesses."

Vol. XiLiV-Sic. 22.

It is hardly possible that so many persons can be decelved-and now there is a whole family of serpents! Where is the home e these monstrous atrangers?-why do they shaw themselves only in one neighborhood? Have they altrays existed, and just now offared themselves to the view of some of those who lahalsit the "crust of the earth"" "Brother Jonathan," wa think, will soon grapple one of them-for hefears nothing that wins.

0-Tha "York Republican" is doing a good service in publishing a complete list of all the forcignera who hold stocks of the stata of Penssylvania. We shall copy this list, ne well beenuan it is a curiosity, as in reproof of those who have bateled an mueh about the stock of foresguers in the baok of the United Itates. "Thou hypocrite-thou seest the mote in thy aeighbor'a aya, but disecrnest not the beam in thine ow a eye."

THE Choleata.

New York. Five deaths had occurred at the quarantina ground. rittsburg. A few sohtary cases have happened since onr last -but the disease did not seem likely to extend. There were 9 deaths on the Th, but no new case, hor death, on the Bth inst.

Maryland. Cases still Luappened near Whliamsport on tha ennal. Many of tire latoring people had fled, and the diseave had ubated, as well as ansumed a milder form.
Buthinore. A wild report was published in a New York paper of the presence of tha ebolura in this eny. We do not believa that ona case bis yet happened. Tife eity, indeed, is uwusually healthy, for the season.

Firginia. Two fatal cases ocemrred 10 or 12 daya ago in Richmond-but they were the first and the last

One case only at F'redericksburg-abobt 20 days ngo.
A good soany cases of the eholera have appeared on the Kanawlia. Whole number of deaths at Wheeling, froun the 16th May to 23d Jnne-153; a fifi of the population in some parts of tive town! In other parts no case happened! Tha disease has ceased.
K'entucky. The cholera was thought to have nearly subsided at Maysvilie on the 4 ih inst. up to which time there had bees at Naysvile on the sib inst. up to 53 deatlis-but baa since returnet.

There were a few cases yct at Lexington on the $3 d$ inst. with fatal terminations. The discase, however, had lost Its terrors, and $n$ healthy state was speedily expected. Amoog thove recently decensell, was Mrs. Sinith, lady of the P. E. bishop of Kentucky, with other highty reppected persons.
Deathe by ehotera, at the tatest dates, were happening at Georgetown, Slselbyville, Simpsonville, Danville, Fichsoow, Loussville, lynthana, in the Green River country, generaliy, Parls, Flemingsburg, Lower Bhue Licks, Lancauter, 81 priaghield, Augusia, in Manon county, Harrodiburg, Wuchester, Burdstown, Frankfort, Daoville, Mayerille.
The eases at L,ouisville were ehlefly in strangers. The elty, In general, was lieathy.
At the placen marked in tatic the disease was bad, at the latest aceount-at some of them awful. Not a tew of the most worthy and valued people of Kentucky have len as-"to be seen of men no more."

Ohio. A few fatal cases at Chillicothe. Some still oceurred In Cincinnatl.
Tennersec. The discase was aboting at Pularkl.
Indianc. From 20 to 30 deaths at Ealern, and nome at Charicston.

Itlinots. There had been 10 or 12 dcathas at Alton.
Minsouri. At Palinyra the disease wak itr:aulful- 106 deathe, an.unesainpled mortairty. Snlatary eanes ptill happened in St. Louis-but the hatest papers so not nuttre any deaths.

Minissippi. Tlie ehotera had abated at Natchez ${ }_{1}$ but not yet disappeared.
 the Int to the gith Junc inchetve, there were 1,0ity inkrmenteto wit: 764 in the t'athulic, and 268 in the Protestant burying ground.
Extract of a iettry from a medical gentleman In New Orfeans, dated Jnue 18-"The cholera has completoly pubsided. No new cases lave bren reported durlag the lant four and tweaty hooru. Dorine ite provalence I have been actively eagaged. Many drendlul abd soul-ptereing scenes hava I witnessed, but the doantation and calamity nchieved by this fell enemy of human existence, transrends almost any in the annals of affiction. I have seen the Industrous mechanie expire in the arme of hia heari-broken spouse, and toss from his imnocent offspilag le tha contse of a single aight; and before his remains could be conaigned to a cemerery, It tatie whitsessed his wife and seversl of bis infants atruck down by the terrific destroyer. My heart has sickeaed al the contemplation af ouch seenes, and It have bewildered my Intellect in the atuampt vo diviae the object of the tuftietion of such misery."
The latert aceounta give un reason to hope that the visit of the eholera was meaniy at a present termination.
Losisiana, generally. The disease was fearfully destructive at &t. Martunsville and its vicinity. The town had been neasly abandoncd, by all who eould leave it. At Rapides the mortality had been great antong the blacks. A few cases at Narhitoches. Ahaborias. Several deatha have taken place at Mobile Point. On Annelia lisand a few deathe have taken place.
Cuba. Leltere from Mntanzas, published in tin New York Journal of cumumerce, give tim inosf disiresing acconnts of the progress of the cholera in Cuba. One of these IFthers, dated 16 th June says: ""We are standing upin a volcano. & $8,000,000$ would not suppiy the foen of sloves, valulng them at $200 each. Mute over, who shall calrulate the number of orpismes lef des ituta, or mesarly ant Where is our guarantce that'Une disense in aot permanently focated in the island? llow ts contidenceutterly lowt and ruined - t be reatiscel?"

A letier of later fate, however, the 2 inth, states that the cho. lera bad disappeared from the *ity, but was spresdiag on eeveral eatztes in the country.

An othenal report of the deaths by cholers in Havana and its suburbs, has been publivitid, in which the whole number is put down 8,253 -of whinn $2,36{ }^{5}$ whe white, and 5,070 colored population. Of the whole unimber there were 1,450 white unates and 1,029 white feusales; 225 male free mulatioen, and 311 feinalen do. 30 mole mulatio plaves, and 35 female da. $9 * 3$ nuale free negroes, 1,196 femaies do. 1,381 inale negro slaves, 909 femate do. T'otal-males 4,609, females 3,480 .

Mexico. A leiter from Vera Cruz, under dete of 15 th June, statee that the yellow fever had carrird otr ane oighth of the population of that place within forty days.
Tampien luet 900 persons, in 17 days! But the disease had there saddenily stopped.
The awfill suddenness of the appearance of the cholera and Its fatal cfferta-with its quick recirement, are equally mysterious, tumany inslances.

A fetter fron Wheeling says- "A nother circumstance which I consider a singular one, never having eeen it mentioned as having taken place any where eise, is that the martins, and pyen the donevtic pigeun*, left us during the prevalence of the disease-[eholera] they are now [14th wh.] returning, which I take to be a groud omen. What this instinct, or what other cause Indaced them to abandon their frienda?"
"Whane truly gratified in learn, says the Charienton Conarier, that our fellow townsuan, Dr. Thomas Hunt, has been eunt mently succersful in his practice on col. Proctor's plantation, in the vicinity of Now Orimans. Fight physicians had been sue. ceasively employed, previous to Dr. Ilunt's eagagrment, and had abaadoned the place in despait, as dommed to destruetion. Col. Proctor's gang consisted of 200 negroes, 85 of wham had parished before Dr. Huat, prompt in obeying the call of hama. nity, reached the scene of desolation; and athrough every negro on the place was sereral timet stitacked by the dispase, he grapplicd with and subdued it, with the loss of but a ringle patient-a urtamph of profesaional akill perhaps without a parallel."
"The times chanee, ann we chavoz with taky." A little while ago-harilly two weeks since, it was proelaimed as the bitterness and falsehood of party, and, by mome, nccounted a sort of high treason, to "imagine ${ }^{\text {sh }}$ that the president of the United States was uot in roburt health; and, because of statements concerning his indisposition at Boston, that patent "rlemoeratie" newspaper, the "Abbany -9rgut," thus reproved and diasipated all that had been said about it:
From the - 2:Sany Argus of July 2. - The health of presidrnt Jackaon has been a fruitful theme of misroprepentation with a cortain clase of nawspapers since his frat eleetion. It seems this has become a liablt too firmly fixed with the Fivening Joar. nal, to be laid aside anow that no posible of supposed benrfit can resalt to the cause it advocates from the bellef of cen. J's Einces. The Journal of yasterday afternona says, "The lavt secounts lef the president Indisposed at Balem." The lest aceounts, publushed in the Argus of yerterday morning, lef him oceounts, pabished in the Argus of yenterday morning, lent him "abroad at an early honr," viaiting the Elast India museum, riding through the streets, and receiviag the visita of a large number of the eltizens of Batem.
Proua the tame of July 3. - It will be pereeived, by our axtracts from tha Boston papers, that the president arrived at Lowell on Thursday afternoon-that he vipited the extensive manufacturIng establishments, mille and print works, with very llitle appearance of fatigue-and that he paseed the New Hampshire flae, on hls route to Coneord, early on Friday sorning. His bealth seema to have been re-establiahed.
But on the 4th of July, the same paper was compelled to announee the sudden return of the president, and bis mpid journey direst to Washington, an if for the preservtion of his life, (and, perhaps, it was), besause of the firtigee that he had undergone, and the ill health whieh beset him! What other result was to have been expeeted? Many predieted that he would not live through his proposed tour, and some few were even wicked enough to suppose that such a hope was ealertained by a ecertain portion of his mont loutly professing triends-and all relleeting men were sensible of the fatigue that he would have to undergo in the journey istenden], because of the alnost constant pressure of crowds of peopule upon tim, and the continual presentation of new and exciting objects, at different pluees. In sonse, he was hemined round about by exelusive partizans, "and lield like a prisoner in bondo-aud, if we ever knew Audrew Jachson, he must, in his heart, have feIt disgustcd with a good many ungentlemanly and ruile proeceilings which happened in several eities, forbiddiag the approach of some of the most virtuous or venerable persom in the United States, and casting lim ituto scenes of anseless noise and unre. fleeting obtusion. 13esides, the aecident at Castle Giarden bidge, itu New York, by which many petsons (includiag some of his suite), were cast into the water, annidst the rubbish of the bridge, from which lie himself hardly eseaped-she running wway of the horses in his carriage in New Hampshire, and the dreadful manyling of three persons engaged in firing salutes in honor of him -must have alded uot a little to the burtheas lie was

- These "exclunives," In very numerous instances, were persons who thad been the butterest and most resolute of all hie "enemies" -and who hoialed, and hurrahed buder the "Jackson flag," only because they could not raise up one of theit own. lufluence and office they would have-and they obtained one or the other by supporting, as a blessing and a patriot, luth whom they bad regarded as a "curse," and denounced as a "murdarer." I hough in the presideutiat electivu of 1824 , we took no other part than that of aimply placing a bailot in the bor, exeept to defeat the juggiera who had comspired to foret their calididata tato the seat of the eblef magistrate, againot the manifeat wishes of a vast majority of the people of the United States-we were uot unobservant of what was going on, nor bave we forgotien somse thinge that happened, well rrmentheriag certain actors In then!-and we quety If tivere is more than two persons in the firt or wreond grade of [eivil] ofices at W'ashington, whe were not, at that time, mont decided, if not violent, epponente of genernal Jackson. The "originala" have been set aside, to make mon for nuch as we have Just ailuded to. The "spoils of victomy" have not been divided amongat those who "bore the burthen and the heat of the day "-the "ilt hour men" have mnnopolized every thing. He bave nothigg to complain of, or eare for, in this matter-which is mentioned only to say, "iempors mutantur!'
We have apoken of the "exclusivea" who made the president a prisoner. Tlie "Yankees" in their chastened respect for the cliief magistrate, had, no doubt, touched the best feelinge of Andekw Jacksox, and he saw and knew the differesce between the fawnings of offee-hulders and oftice-hunters and the wild outcries of a erowd, and the sober, yot kisd and reneroue doings of intelligent persona, who could lay aside every selingh feeling In rwudering attentions to a diatiugushed stranger and hotiored guest. If is even freely widl that the comaittee from Portsiusuth, N. II. having sbewn a dinpoation to make a thing of the president th be approached only by those whon they pleased, were disnitased, with a warm lefl handel blessing from the ge-neral-atud that this lmpertinent act had no lacousiderable itsfluence over hiv prompt return. He might, perhaps, have anticipated what would happen at Acsany-where we anw "the repubtican party" ia all its glory, in Aagust, 1824, at the extra session of the legislatire; and, for the first time, fuily anderstnod what wad the "mosster party spirit," which geaeral Jackeon ppoke of in his lecters to presideat Munroe, or understond clearly that the mily pure way of erriving "the repubtican party," was to precent the people from roting for their president: -and at that ume, and by "the republican party," the petenvions of "M/r. Jackson" to the presidency were treated with sovereign "demerratic" conteanpt.
There is reason to belleve that the ejes of the "old chief" have been opened by his tour. He eaw, or must have known, Uhat at Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, Black Ilawk and his suite, attracted the same sopt of crowda which surrounded himaelf and his sulte-and have been inade well acquainted with the fact, that persons were on the wireteh to age him to keep up the "unonater party spirit," and promote their own meas purposes.
Anotber thing probably annoyed the presideth, in the contests of ladividuals to get poapessition of hin person, and direct bis movements! We have heard of thinge which happened, and believe that they occurred, between rival eblefo for thit cormanand, at which one might lawigh huartify, if not diagusted with she preaumption and rudenens of indjviduals toneerned.
The Portiand Evening Advertiser of the $\mathbf{2 d}$ innt. contains the foilowing:
A letter was recelved iblis motning from Mr. Woodbury, or which the following is an axtraets.

Dear ir:-I regret to inform ywi that the it hen Jirne, 1839 , oldent is guch, connectel with other casery, to to induce bim to retura directly to Washimgton.
compelled to bear; for the president ls an aged unan, and has encountered many and very severe trinls of his con-stitution-whieh muat, indeed, have been an excellent one. But the bumson machine, like all other machines, will wear ont-and it it be adnitted for the sake of argument, that his mind is an sound as ever it was--surely, it need not be pretended that his borly is eapable of supporting that jiressure under whieh it woulhl not lave bow ell itself twenty or twenty-five years ago. It is only those who have passed Uirough a stream of ansious jueople, that ean form a just idea of the labor and exhauscion whieh attended the president on his journey. We, indeed, expected that his tour would have terminated sooner than it did-because of events that had happened, but do sot apprelsend that we were guilty of treason on that necount; for certainly, under the new charmeter of important "things as they are," annl the prospeet of things at they may be, we are not willing to "imagine" the illness or decease of general Jacksos during the time for which he has been recently elceted. We wish that he may live to return to "the Hermitage" in 1836-and there end his life, when Gon so wills it, in perfect peace.

A few years ago, one of the universities conferred the honorary degree of Lif. D. on Henni Clat-whose knowlenge of the civil law was unanimously admitterl, whose capacity, as a statesman, had been universally acknowleiged for a long period of years, whose tact and talent had so often called him to preside over the house of representatives-and who mighc, perhaps, even against the power of party, be now elected to that place if a member of the body, because of bis extraordinary fitness for the honorable and arduous station-whose rank as an orator is in the first line-If lie is not, "take him all In all," the ablest and most eloquent publie speaker of the present times, whether in the United States, or else-where-and Dr. Clay, Doctor Clay, was said and suug a million of times, by noisy fools who affected much pride in remembering Doctor Franklin as one of their coun-trymes-and who obtained his tille in the same way that it was conferred on Mr. Clay, and on the same pritsciples. Well-Ahis degree has been bestowed on $\mathbf{A N}$ paew Jacksox, and it is pretty near a "treason"t to eall him Docror! as a few have ealled him in reprobation of the act; beeause that the modesty of gencral Jackson's pretensions to a knowledge of the civvl lave were bighly creditable to him in times past, for he retired both from the bench and the senate for the reasons that the duties of a judge or of a senator were unsuited to the bent of his Inclitation, and when a second time sent to the senate la 1822, fe freely stated that the "husiness of legislation was not in his line." But why not Docton Jackson as well as Doctor Frasklis? Is it disrespectful to the former to place him in the rank of the latter? We should think not. But if so-the fault was in accepting the eomplimentary degree. When Mr. Ritchie reters to his own remarks on the legal knowledge of gen. Jackson, because of his opuinion expressed concerning the "secon!! sretion," we wouler what that veneruble Obnta Principiis will say ahout this LL. D. "Nous verrows!" Let the veteran make anew pen, and nib it sharply.

With respeet to this doctoring of the president varions opinions are entertainell, and some have pretly severely repurovel the freulty of the university on account of it. But the eompliment had been paid to every president of the Uuited States who ever visited Boston, and to have omitted a tender of this courtest, on the present oecasinn, wonld have subjeeted the firulty to much reprobation; and it would bave changed "pon Mr. (nincy, who is at the heard of the facmity, as the roath of his old federul feelingw, ke. Besides, gencral $\mathrm{Jmek}^{2}$, reelected by a large inajority of the Ameriean jucopleand an individual thus prefecred, in due regard fo our own republican institations, hould be, and must be, arcepted, as possesmelt of some equinent qualifications for the inost honorable office in the worthl. It is the right of every man to question the propricty of every memsure proposed or earried out by the president, and his duty to place hlmaell in opposition to every proeceding which he thinks in ennity to the general welfare; but it is also, and equally, his duty to render respeet to the shoice of the people, in his public character, and yield obedience to the laws of the land, enacted by the legal authority.

Without the former, our government would, in fact, be a monarchy; anal without the latter, "nullification" would Le made perfeet. Under such circumstances and views of the subjeet, we easily arrive at the conclusion-that the university of Cambridge was altogether eotreet in tendering the highest compliment which it eould bestow on the president -and thut if there was any wrong in this matter, it was in general Juchaon's presenting himself at the university that he might reecive it; and, therefore, lis friends ought not to be offended with the application of a title to him whiel be voluntarily placed himself in the way to receive-which lie might liave easily deelined, if it had pleased hinn, on any aecount, to lave avoided. Those, however, who coruplain of the use of "Doctor Jackson," when speaking of the president, would "feel a little red," if blushing were not out of fashion, when recolleeting what they said about "Doctor Clay"-on whom all men will agree that that partieular eompliment was rightifully couferred, because of his knowledge of the civil law. The eontests of political parties have had to effect on that knowledge, unless to increase it; and besilkes, Mr. Clay did not present himself to reecive the degree, as general Jackson did.

In the eontest for the presidency, lietween the friends of Mr. Adtans and general Jackson, In 1898, one of the leading objects of the latter (as stated by them), was to produce "reform," by rotation in office, and limit the presideney to a single term-and they broadly and unanimously asserted, athd on high authority too, that general Jackson, if elected, would cortainly retire at the end of four years. We shall not recapitulate the atrange things which oecurred to do away the "sommitment" that had been madu-but, a long time before the expiration of the four years, it was regarded as settled, that president Jackson would be a eandidste for re-election-things not being then ripe for the succession. If they lad, we have many good reagons to believe that he would not have been preferred by the party.* And even now, beeanke that the succession is not dlearly discerned, wome think that he ought to resign immediately after opening the next session of congress, and others suppose that be should be elected a third time!

There is all the difference in the world between the outs and ins! The first always wish "rotation in offiee" and "reforms"-the second firmily believe that "very well should be let alone." And it must be armitted, that it is a "snug" thing to have an office, worth more than two or three thousand dollars a year (itueluding the "can-dle-ends and ebeese-parings"), without any necessity of being present to perform its duties ten times in a year; except to sign mome official paper, which "Unele Sams" pays a elerk to make out-and mbout which the signer "knows no more than a horse soes of algebra," except that he has signed a paper, said to be for this or that par-pose-a monihly return or eharge for extra services! There are sunilry places so held. Who does not desire such a "situation" It is otium cum dignitate, in the most beautilul style!

During the excitement of the lant presidential elcetion, we saw a brisk altercation, which nearly resulted in a fight, beeause a pirson offered a large bet that president Jsekson would not serve out lis seeoud term-if elreted. The why and wherefore such an opision was entertalned, was iaperiously demandea-but firmily refosed. And now, many persons, and perhaps, the very gentleman who wus so "infignant" on the oceacion referred to, throw out the istea that the preside-nt will pretty soon resign the reins of the government to Mr. Van Buren, asel retire to Tennensee-bucause of ill bealth, or for some other rearon that may lue ussigued.

Navt of the United Etates. Vessels belonging to foreign Meviterrenean. Figntes-Inited States, Brandywinet and Con-tellation. thoop-John Adums.

H'ext fralies. Eloopm-Vandafia and Et. Louis. SchoosersGrampers, whark and Porpoise.
Cocst of Bras il and India. Sloopm-Warren, Lexington, Pascock and Natchez. Schooners-Enterprize and Boxer.

[^29]Padfic. Frigate Potomac. Sioope-Falmouth and Fairfeld. Schooner-lofphin.
Nevy department, June 29, 1833.
Smip notidina. A very large number of first class of ships have been buit at Baltmore within the last 12 or 18 monthesome of them for eastern merchants, and intended for packets, whale shipm, ikc. One of 500 tons, owned at New York and Bag IIarbour, and calied the Daniel Webster, was launched lass week Taren iteamaoatis benst. The "Lonisville Adverliser" of the 22d June, received this morning, cowtains the following:
Fire.-About ten o'ciock lat evening, the steamer Sentinel took Are white at the wharf in front of this city. The flames epread with such rapidity that in iess than ten minutes the belphins, above, and the Rambler, below, were also on fire, and the three boats were burned in about an howr to the water's edge. The Bentinel had a fuli freight for N. Orleans, the RainMer had on board several bundred barrels of whiskey, and the Delphine had jutt received about twenty tona freight fronn New Orieans for Cincinnati.
The engines, greatly damaged, wili be saved. The cargoes hnve been entirely lost. Passengere had barely time to taske their excape, leaving baggnge, clothing and anowey on board. There were aloout tweive steanboats lying in port it the time, and it was with difficulty those on Are were separated from the others.

Gtand collzoz. The corner atone of this splendid entablisinment about to be erected for the education of orphane, according to the magnificent endowment, and pursuant to the wili of the lats Stephen Girard-(who set aende two millions of dotJark for that purpose), was laid on the 4th of Juty, it the prepence of a great assembly of prraons, with approprate ceremonence of a great assemblat of prranw, whit apprnprate ceremoof the board of crusters.

A sood sian. The Charieston Courier of the 29th ult. naye: "Yesterday being she annivermary of the battic of fort Montirie, was celcbraied by the fring of a national salute at day itgint, frown the citadel, and by a dviachment from the regiment of artiliery. Another national salute was fired, at meridian, from fort Moultite. The Star Spangted Banner was meen wniving fort Monitre. in front of the citadel. We hail it as a favoraover a nuarquee in front of the citadel. We ary, an evidence of returning patriotism."

Froct oamatiso. There fave heen larie operations in the otock of the bank of the United States at New York, within a few days pasi, supposed to amount to a million of doliars-and there was a grent pressure on the money market. Amingg other thiags, it was said that the president's hasty return to Warhing. ton hat some connexion with a speedy renioval of the United Btates' deposites! These are not large enough (even if removed), to have any material affect on the businesa or state of the ed), to have any mank-at present?
In consequence of the demand for money, the otnck fell one per cent. on the 3d tast. at the shops of the jobbers in New York.

Tas U. B. nant, declared, on the lat, a dividend upon its atock, for six months ending on that day, of three and a balf per cent.

Wool. From the Hampshire Gazette, of July 3-pubished at Nurthampton, Massachusetts-Agents from the manufacturers of Webster and ohber towns have recently visiled this county and Berkshire, and purchawed large quantities of wool in Worthingion, Peru, Hinadale, Windcor, the. Many fonds of wool passed througb this place last week. We are informed that the prices given range from 47 in 70 cents, and the quality of the wool, from half biood to full blood and Saznny fleeces. We have heard of oniy two lots that hrought 70 cents. What is called fuli blood merino brought from 55 to 65 centa; much of it was soid from 58 to 60 cents. gach is the information we have received; it may not be eutirely correct.

A novit. caoz. Cheng and Yang, the Fiamese twins, have been tried in Truanhail county, Ohio, for an asanint and hatiery committed on an oid and reapectable citizen. The defendants plead guilty, and were each fined five dollars and costs.

Watrin. Tine following interesting articie is from the New York Gazetue.

Mr. Ho!! This enterpriwing individnal, having for the iant sis months experienced in his mammoth hoose, all that he enuld wish by way of patronage, jn now likely to realize his wishes in procuring a supply of pure water, not oniy for his own euthbishment, but for the lower part of the city. Late on Saturday aftornoon, his drili, having pasaed tirough 510 feet of rock, the onrface of which was 130 feet beiow the ground, (makipg a totai depth of 649 feet), sunk middeniy into a depth of water of a feet. If he proceede no farther all tis wishes and expectatione will be eatisfled.

Nellapication. A meating of the pfate tighte party was reeently held in Charieston, 8. C. On the oecasion of the death of a distingulshed member, the late R. I. Turnbuif. The hon. C. J. Colcock, after paying a tribute of regard to the memory of his friend, concluded with the following remarke:
"Let me setze on this occasion to way to you that another contest is at hand, and your opponenta in full array: you will soon be again calted to the field-and all that you have acbieved must be done again. The war againot the liberties of man is becoming more and more desperatc and farious-and the friends of freedom must exert thenselves, of we aink forever iato the gioom of despotism."
[With this flourwh about the "ilberties of man," ace. we hope that Mr. C. does uot alitude to the darit colored matter abows which some seem so anzious to "thick up a figble"]
Messas. Riveg and Gilmer. Because of the public character of thece gentlemen, perlisps, we ought briefly to notice an wuhappy incident which took place at Charlottesvilie, Virginia, a fuw days ago. Mr. Senotor Rices and Thomes W. Git. mer, erq. had been old friendo-they differed about nuilitiontion, and the priseiples of the president's proctamation-Mr. Hives suppoitung, and Mr. Gilmer opposing the latter. Tbey unfortunaleiy met, and, after some conversaiion, Mr. Gilmer isficted "the lieutenunt Randolph ostrage"-or spized the nown of Mr. Rives, and afterwards etruck bim. The iatter promptly main battie, but had rather the worst of H , being the weaker man.

Good natered eekari and arply! The "Pennsyivanian" says - "The Nien Hampshire Patriot perwists in aseerting that we are corrupted by the Cnited States bank. Is the Patiot a fool or a fiend?"
The "New Ifampahire Patriot" replies-" We have never said the editor of the Pemnoylvanion was corrupted by the Uaited States hank, and we mueh doubi whether that editor's poitical principles are not past the process of corruption."

Woon-choprtwe axwatose! Speaking of Mr. Wehster, the Cincinnati Gazette says- This gentleman proceeded from Cbillicothe to Circlevilie on Monday, June 94, and from there to Lancaster on Truesday. We subjoin in aneedote of the journey from Chillicothe to Circievilie, as related in the Circlevilis Herald.
An Mesprs. Weboter and Eiring were wending their way to Circleville, when about seven miles from the town, their pasoage was intereepted by a tree, which had receatly falten across the road, and which an honest yeoman was leisurely cutting oul. They surveyed the promises, to spe how the difficulty might be overcotne. Our knight of the axe, not knowing either of the distinguished senators congratulated himaelf on the timeiy arrival of swo such hate and able bodied men to his aspistance; and very frankly advised them, as the best meano of eeraping the diffeulty, to get down from thelr carriage, and and him in the removal of the obstruction. Piessed with the republican plainness of the auggeation, and finding the man's strength inadequate to the task in hand, they followed his advice. Mr. Ewing first took the axe, and wieided it with effect as he dope tils arguments in the senate and at the bar. He was relleved by Mr. Webater, who was less fawlitar with chopping lage frotn the road, than with removing the nhatructions of chop lngio from the whecin of government. His efforts were so tabored and Ineffectual, as to attract the notice of the woodsman, who dvelared to him, "yom are not doing your bent now, sir?'-ynu must be ptaying the ponsom': You don't bead your back enough, sir." The irce cut off and the way cieared, our travellers resomed their journey-and lef the country man blersing bis stare that tiry ind been Nirceted that way, (which was off the maia road,) at that propitious hour.

Laivemponi, and Manctigeter sath. Roab. Results.- 170 pae sengern per tiay lans bern the average.
It has not bren out of ase a single dny.
Oniy one fatal accident has occurred in in innoths.
Thite fare by coaches used to be doubie of what it is by rail man carn.
The time of goling betwen the towns redzeed from 4 to it hmirs.
A regiment of soidiers has been taken over the road in two bonrs.

The tocomotives travel adely in the tark, Goorls avernge about 10 s . per ton for carriage. On the canala they pay 15.
The Mancheater eotton mannfactures save $$ 100,000$ per annum, in the carriage of cotton alone.
A great deal of iand along the line has been let for gardene, at incrensed rents.
There is mach way-travel.
The mails are cartied at two-thirds of the old prices.
"A mianty ploon." The late advices from Arkansas (saye the National Intelligencer) hring ditressing accounts of a flood in the river of that name, the river having risen three feet higter than ever before remembered. The consequence is, that the phantations are deluged ali aiong the river, and not only tbe enLire coops awept off, but even the iand itself, in some instancest, washed 'away. The roaln were floodrd on all the levels, and traveling consequenily entirely susponded. Many lives, a iso, it was feared, had been inst. One or two bodies were said to have been diecovered in the sorrent of the river, pasing Little Bock. The following particular incident gives one a fearful glimpse of the awful reatity of the disaster:

Litile Rock, Jume 19.
The ateamboat Arkansas, in eoming up on Friday lart, was beekened to by a femate, who appeared to be in a tree topl near the shore, about 20 inies below this place. The current being very strong, it was soane tine betore the boat enuld be rounded to with alafety, during which the woman was lost sight of; and when they again came in sight of the place where the stood, the bad disappeared. It is kupposed she was drowned, as the banke appeared to be too much inuudated for her to havit retreated into the woods.
[Gazetle.
Rail soad accidext-at Brasela. On the rail road between Philippeville and Charlerol a serious aceldent has necurred in consequence of a train of carriages. contalniug upwarda of 50 passengers, having been imprudently detached from the hicomotive engine emplayed in towing them up a considerable acelivity. A stome had heen placed behind the wheel of one of the earriagen of the train for the purpose inf impeding their decent, and this stone haviag by some accident been removed, the whole train was set puddenly in motion, and by the force of lts own gravity was earried over a preeipiee elght or nine yards in depth. Three of the papsengers were killed on the spot, nnd Nopat many others were whinded more or lesa dangerousily. No fault, however, is aseribable either to the engiuever, M. Cochawn, or his machinery, whieh is said to do zreat eredst to the inventor, and to be aueli as is likely to accelerate the srrangements for the proposed rail rond, which, when eompleted, is to eotablish an easy and rapld communication between the scheldt and the Rhine.

Railwat experinest. An experiment of very great importance to railways has been tried with minch succusa upon the railway of the Lowe, the construetion of whieh was under the direction of Messra. Mellett \& Henry. A locomotive engine mannfactured by Messrs. Fenton, Murray and Jackson, of Leeds, employed upon thin railway for the transport of gonds, bas travelled with a weight of 15,000 kilogramanes, or fourteen tnas nearly, including the weight of the engiur, tender, witer and fuel, and has swrmounted an inclined plane of a rise of $4 \frac{1}{i n}$ 100, with a velocity the more surprising, as the pressure of the steam did not amouat to more than 38 ponnds upon the square inch. Tise Inclined plane is 2,184 yards nearly in length, and the engine accended it in six minutea, and dercended it imasedistely with great case and in perfect security ly requlating the valocity of the dewcent. Tive power of the engine was only applied to one pair of wherla, and they did not plip round in the least. This experiment bas far surpassed any which thas come to our knowledge, and whirli has been made up to thin day; for the experiment attended with the best resulte which have been tried in England, is that upon the inclined plane is the thunet at fiverpoont, the rise of which is naly oner in ACy, that ie to say, four ninthe if the rise of the inelined plane nt bernard, where the trial took place. Up to the prowent time it has been thought that the maximum rive of an inclined plane upon whieh an engine conid posplbly travel ought to be ten miltimetrest in one metre, that is, one ill one hindred, or at most frurteen miltimetren in one metre, that is, sme in seventy-eight? The alonve trial, however, increasen much this masimum. The inconvesiences arising from the emplovment of ptationary engiues will be compintely done away witit, shonid they give place to locomotive engiaet, since the train of diligences can, thonuch the meehanical agency of the intter, overeome the inclined planes.
[from Le Noreas Journut de Payis el dea Departmens.
Canadias canala. Helland canal. The firat vespel enterPd the Welland canal, at Port Cntborne, ap Iake Frie, on the $20 t h$ May, and in nlue daya ather the enllector reported thirtyeight achonners having pasaed thmughthe new route withont impediment. The eanat is in full and effectual operation, and much noore bapiness doing upon it than wad antictpated by ite boent friends. The American staamboat Persercrance runs daily from Buffin to the Chippewa, and on E'riday afternonn entered the canal by the locks at Port Rabillson, priceeded across the aqueduct over tha Clippewa, and through the new imite nver the Gravelly Bay, (Port Colborue) and thence shot acrost in Buffatn! The hartor at Port Coltorne is pronounerd hy all the masters of selinoners, as the very beat on Iake F.rie, and the steamboats will In future land all passengers and light gnode at Port Colborne, to he brought by the packet hoats to Purt Robinant ( 11 miles) and there by coaches to the fills ( 6 miles) or to 8i. Catharine's or Niagara, saving therehy 30 milre in licu of coming round by fort Erie. (Kingtton Chronicle.

Rtdeas canal. W'e have at last the plearure to annonnce the opentes of this important line of commninieation. The new ateamboat Enterprise, buit at Perth, after paspine through the Tay canal into the Ridean, in reach this port yestelday, where she awate the arrival, from O-wegn, of her engine-manifactared at Byraeuse. Wa had this interepting evidence of the resourees of a region of conntry, but a few years ago a pathteen wildarness.

Beitisil dUTV on cotton-official, from the Globe. The fillowing bill, commnnieated to this gnvernment by the eliarge d'uffaires or the United States in Great Rritain, recelsed the rnyal aspent on the 17th May last, and has accordingly beconut a law of the relam.

A till to reduce the duty payable on cotton wool imported into the mited Kingdom, Whereat an act was passed in the tirst and second year of the reign of his present majesty, entutied "'an act to discontinue or alter the duties of customi upon coals, slates, cottinn woot, baniln and wax:" And whercas, it is expedient to reduce the duty on cotton wool thereby Impnsed, be it therefore enaeted by the king'a mostexcelicnt majosty, by and with the adviee and eonsent of the lorls spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present pathament assembled, and by the authority of the same, that trom and afier the first day of June, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-three, there shatl be ralsed, levied, eollected and paid, for and upon every hundred weight of cotton wool, the produce of any foreign eountry, or imported from any foreign enuntry, a duty of two shillinge aud eleven pence, in Hen of the duty of five shillings and ten pence imposed by the said act.
Ind be it further enaded, That the said duty shall be raleed, levied, eollveted, paid and appropriated, in like manner ns if the aame had been luposed ty an act passed in the sixth year of the reikn of his late majerty, kmg George the fourth, eutitled, "fan act for wrantlog duties on custons."
And be it further enacted, That this act may be amended, attered or repealed by any act to be pussed in the pievent seasion of parliament.

Bostox. Firre during the last sis monthe-It will he seen by the annexed statement of Ares in the eity and vicinity, during the last six months, that the fire department have had a busy sason, whatever others may think to the enatrary. In the eny the number of fires during the sir months ending June 30,1836 , wan 42; and out of the elty, at which the Bowton fire department turned out 12; false alartn $21-m a k i n g$ itt att, 75 turns out. The loss in the eity was 840,050 , of which 821,760 was insured; the loas out uf the enty, was 830,700 , of whieh only 83,000 , was insured. L, ops in all 970,750 ; insurance 823,780 . During the twrive innnths of 1832 , there were noty 50 fires in the eity; 18 out, at whith the drparment tomed out; and 60 false alarms. fons In the elty, 861,8033 34, of which ह24,078 34 was ineured; ont of the city, -25,650, of winch $\$ 12,300$ was int whred. L,ows in all 887,313 3; melranee 836,37834 , From this it appears that tuere were only 14 more actual fires in 1832 , than in half of the preseat year; and that the anount of damage was ouly $816,76 \mathrm{~J}$ more in 186 than in half the present year.
[Patriet.
Sea meppent agaiv. The melor. Charles, of Provineetown, Jncob Cook, thapter, Jamies M Needhani, mate, airived here thas inorilag, reparts that yesterday, between 11 hid 12 v 'elvek, when abont sue and a half milles rast of Nahant, he heard a tremendoun ruph of water, and on looktng out, paw at about 300 yards distance, an Immence serpont, lying la the shape of a houp. The curcle was inrge enough for his relinoner th lle in. It snidenly ftretelicd itself nut and appared to be 60 or 70 leet in leugth, resembling a atting of carks. All hande liad a distinct view of it for "nparly an hour." Capt. Cook had a good glasp, and eonld plainty distingutsh the line of the merpent, with its "humps and lonltuws."

Captain Conk lias always heen an unheliever In the sea serpentetory. lle has followed the sea for twenty years-bern a number of whaluge voyager, mind mever saw any thing similar before. He say: that hat the berell fitt-d for a whalong vingage, he whild pot liave heatated to have got out his thoats and harpooned thim. He was witlin gun vhot, but unfortunately had no fire artus on board.
[Boston Transcrift.
It would apein that not one, but three or four veritable sea aerpenta have made their appearsner off Nahant. The foltowing arcount if them la from the Prithand Advertiser of the 6th inrtant. The *tennibeat wilt now doublless make her trips with crowded deeks:

The sea serpents and the steam boaf. The stramer Conneetieut arrived the morning tater than uaunt, haviog been employed for about in hour in chasing a ohoat of serin surperata. About six o'elock liat rvening, a sebinoner off Nabant, halled the Coninceticut, and totil raptain Porter that it be womld loak nut, be inigltt ece the sea serpent, for "the bore east of Nahant." The Cobnecticut atecred accordingly, sud veiy snon, not one sca serpent alone, but tiree, some say four, appeared in sieht. Alt the parspugren anv these monsters of the deep with their own eyex, distheliy and eloanly.

One of the pion+ine-ts in ho fond a gond view, payp, that one of the ecrpente waw une fundred teret lit length-with a head partly is the form of a snake, nod protly in the firm of a piekret.
 Erpretite wh s ludged to the athelt 90 feet long. One threw his Inorls ent of water atout 30 feet in a spiral undulatory motion, whow formed at tinurs upon a eatm sen, a beantiful dark areh. Duhitig a portion of tinis time, olie of tise serpents was thought In the distant about 28 meds. Aild hefore and after his near approach, they conld be netn for some time with a glama. The serpunts sermed to phiay the mport, and played around tha hast the some time, perlasp they took is for guother "sarpent" In or on the deep-and were seeking an introduetion.
Of alt there faets, we are informed hy many peranns, verhally hy one, apon whom we ean rely-and who han bitherto been credulous enough. We do not, wa eanuot doubt the kotimong of so many persons, in a stramboat upon a quirt sea-with the power of slappling and fullowing the ubjects of their cuitionty whitherioever they pleazed.

From the Boston Fest of Monday.

The sea serpent, in verity. Extract of is Ictter to a geutleman in this elty:
"Portland, July 6.
"Dear air-I arrived in eafety thie morning, at 8 , haviog passed an bour or tnore yesterday atternoon athusig a ohal ot sec ser. pente, there of which, meavasing fious tu or 80 to 120 or 130 ter t, Idiotinelly saw with the nakrd eyw, and aiterwards earefully exsmined through a glass. They were bing full length mi the water, occasionally lifire their beads lour ir five wet ubover the surfare and showing twenty or thirty bunclice, or suake-like vodulatione, at a time. Their hoads bore a resemblance in tise plekerel's, and the erease of their mouth, marking the diviwion of the jaws, was like that of a romminn stiake. The engine of the boit was stopped, and for three quarters of an hour we had a eool and deliberate vipw of these monsters. Such ill lonkirg abjeets I never beheld."

07-Since the above was recelved, we havecoaversed with several people who rame up in ihe Connscticut yenterday, and they all state that they saw, nhout $190^{\prime}$ clev: $k$ yeati ralay mos anug, a litua below Nahant, thres or lour of the acrpents, oue of which was certainly 100 feet in leugth.

Rnode Island. It appeara by the Providence Joumal that the Rlinde Istand Iegislature In arting apon nи abti manowie memorial praying that "the masoule corporation" should be cited to appear and shew cauan why their charteps should not he de. clared vold," have paseed a rasolution calling upon insanole bodies-not to shew eanie why their charters whould not be ine. elared void, an has been erroncously stated in aniue in' the Bnaton papera but-"In appear at the next sewshn and phew cause Why the prayer of the petitioncrs olouhlil nut be ganied; of, in other wordn, to ahe tv cause why they should not be ealled upen to defend their cbartera."

Extensive lease. Gen. Leumard P. Ciary, of Huffalo, has takna the lease of a lot of land 94 rest finnt and $$ 18$ deep, liomediately south of the Eagte tavern on Mans sfiect, in that town, for a period of 999 years, it $n$ yearily rent ur groo. It is tha condition of the lease that a block of briek buildingen is in be areeted covering the fromt, of at leapt three storice ligh. Gen. Crary bas been offered $$ 1,200$ for his bargail. We meution this an an estimate of the value of rral extate in the lonsiness parts of the city.
(Buffulo Jour.
(At the compreoccment of tha war in 1812-83 yrsis agnwithout the pale of riviluzed life. Thi luave ut the lot above mentioned will shew what it is unw, and what it ie experted to be. It mut beconn a qreat city. It: locatwin is onn of the most commandiag is tha Uaited Stater. It is at the foot of the open navigation of bur luland seas, and the terathating point of the great Erte canal.]

Me. Beraren. A public disnef wae given to this gantleman at Forsyth, Georgia, on the 20th ult. at wlith from 500 to 000 persons were prefent. On being toasted, he addrerned the meeting-but wa have not peen a report of his sjeceh. He concluded by offering the follnwing armilusent:

The perpetuation of the buion and the soverciznty of the otates of the coofedeincy-the one perfert, mecording to the apirit of the constimution - the ather effirient to resiat evary viaIation of it. Sava ua from siarrists, consolldationists and ofice banters; and the problem which rernaciles federal baino whistate sovereignty, though dificult of solution, may yct he molved.
Tha following were among the zrgular toapis, and the character and apirit of the dinner party may he gathered from them.

The federal constutution-a cavciaol of unlon between free and sovereign states, caeh of which is virtue of its nnvereignty, ts possessed of the right if preveating, within its linilis, all exereises of power not stipntated hy that covenant; and each of which ceases to be free lif precise proportion as th suecumha in foderal armgation of undeleggated powrr.
-The righl of whate interporition against federal encroach-ments-it is the great paramount ronservallve right, without whleh all the otber rightit of the otates are merely precarinus and held at the will of the frelernl hyah. In propnrtion to is tranmeendant linportaner, ouglit wo to be at once form in main laining it, and diserect in putuing it in expreise.
The foren bill-an act of I-ghlation liy wlielh nur conferierate sovernment has a-sumed to putt the sovercien htates cumposing the confederacy on the sanse fonting, anlijeel tos he dealt vith in the samp manuer, as bands of husurgents snd nuthws. As ont rege which, unless rrbuked aud repaired by the ofern luligan tion of a free penplof, must pad, in the loug ran, in cousigelug the eountry to conpolidation and ruin.

Tne coal taide. The watern part of Philadelphia, herp dering on the Schuylkill, now has n considerabise poppulation and minch buslares. It is probable that the value of fands and inta has bean Increarad reveral millione of dullars, in wewtern phlladelphis, because of the coal tradr; and the buntle whieh it caacs may be portly entecrapd from what follows:

The finatiag brilge at Gray's ferry, [nver the Ecinglkiti) was pecied in the grar 1816 mix huidred tibiem to the whole Tens. In ther moath of Juar. IS35, it wa* opeard three dhousend two Aundice times. Surely ti to tue that the nver wan frre-that the bridge was lought by the ntate, and that a stesinhoat was k pit for paoripugety, an in the Delaware. Mlay hundreal of carieis vesselr now enme direct to the river scluis lkill, ladem with liuluer, with pla-tir if Paris, aud with Gimh, whence they depart with cargose of sathacur coal.
(Three thousand two hutred times in a month, agaluet six huadrod timer in a yegr:-atul thin iprpeased unde on tha solvuylkill has um dimini-hed that on the Delawnre fromt, ben added to it-as any' new creations of businew must nerde do.)

Fingida. The bank of floride has, we uaderutand, (paye the Apalarliceila Adveitierr), been prirehased by then Cebtral bank of Flonda. The busiuess of both is now bleided, and will be lermafter condurted ly the last named tustitutions, at the bauking linuse of the fornur, in Tallahnsere.
finl. White is re-rlected to congreet, beatug pen. Call by a eonsiderable majarity.

Tine Cafe de Virn islande. The lahalithute are atill-uffreting for the want of fond-and many more have dird. It is estinasiod this miore than thirly thousand have perished by fatminet The "utotice coantry" affurda no relief.

THEAR "mRactota majpstiss!" A foreign jonmal relates the following strange siory, at the same time voueliing for its anthenticity: "A short time agn, the king of Naples requested the young queen (a dmughter of the lute king of Sardinia) to sit down to the piato, at a litule erourt eirce. The queen at first declined, but at the kiup's urgent solicitation, she at length consented. Just an alue was about to seat herrelf ot the innirnment, the hing drew back hire chair, and the queen fell. On rising she repronched his majesty for this ill-mannered jeke, observing that shic thought she hatl masriod a king, but that she lual only married a lazzarone. The king's reposta was conveyel in two simart sotuflets. In ennse. quence of this conjugal misunderstanding, an exchange of couriers has taken place betwern the conirts of Naples and Sardinia. The result has not yet transpired."

A dere was lately fought whith nuskets, near New Orleansthe fervit of which is thas given-
The one 10 whom it proved fital (and who was the challenged, snd, it would serm, the asgueved paity) was a highly teapceiabin soung ganthimsin, formerly a resident if New Jook. The letter adds that the oflier party was infornued by the smrgeone that he mist sutimit to aniputation in buth ifmhs as his mily rhasec of recavery; but that clomovine death in preferrnee, he had been attackrd with lockjaw, and was espeeted to survive buta few hours.

Chrrcis coestery. The fallowing comminieatinn addreased to the Poston Aitas, has hera eent to us with an luplied request for lic republication. If the rebuke is without foundation, ilve anreasin will be nufelt.
"The occupiers of pew No. 56, (middle aigle), in the rev. Dr. T.yell's church, Authouy it. are informed, that if Hipy eve gion in Chuirt clurch, In the city of Savaunah, Georgia, and toke seats in No. 58 , they will tiot be turned out thercof, as my meif and family wore on the inorning of the 9tis hupt."
Mr. EAltor:-The nhove hotice is thken from the New York Eaquircr. If the fact be, as ahove mated, (aud I liave no doube of it, havine experienerd a litile of the same pollt. ue- ), H deserves a publie notice, and I with to add the follnwing:
If any gritlemian ocropying the pews in the mildile alsie of 8t. Thnmas", Chureh, Brondway, New Yark, from thir rthtrance on the tweifth pew, ever enters St. Panl's church, Boatim, lie will find no locks on the pew doors; and further, he will find that we do not allow elrangers, with ladies, to stand in the miples more than ten minuter, and that we do not mifirt them in leave the church withoun offering them seats, paricularls whon the pews are but half flled.
[Con. ofde.
Gaelipaons iscaybs. Ancrtablishmeut tas lairly hren made on Charlen Island, one of the Gallipapus emup, under authority of the government of Ecuador, at which whale phipe and others will he funishad with pupplies. The colviny rennesto of about 200 perkona-and Joseph Villarmil, a natu... of New Otleanr, though lang resident abroad, is tha governur. The catabIlshment is ealied Florina.

Fassed novarse. Dr. Fraiklin, in one of his famifiar letters, dated in 1767, sair-' $'$ As soon as we Irft A bbeville, the swarthiness returned. I apeak generally; for there are some fuir women at Paris, who, 1 think, are not whitened by art. As to rouge, they doa't pretend to imitnte nsture in laying it on. There is no gradual diminution of the colour, from the full bloorn in the midddie of the cheek to she faint tive near the sidec, nor does it show itself differently in different faces. I have not had the honor of being at any lady's toilette to see how it in laid on, but I funcy I can tell yout how it is or may be done. Cut a hole of three inches in diameter in a piece of paper; place it on the sinle of your faee in such a manner as that the top of the bole may be just under the cye; then, with a brush diplred in the eolor, paint face and paper together; so when the paper is taken off, there will remain a round paich of red exactly the form of the hole. This is the motle, from the actresses on the stage upwards through all ranks of ladies, to the prineesses of the blood."

Tine traitor Aanold. At the elnse of the revolutionery wer, Arnold, the trator, accompanled the royal arniy to Eingland. 'Tlie eoniempt that followenl him through liti", says an elegant wriser, is illuwtrated by the speech of Lanuderdaif, who, perceiving Arnold on the nglit hand af the king and near his peronn, at he addrevsed his parliament, declared on hiv mosisn to the commons, that however gracions the language lie load beard froun the throue, his indignation could not but be bizhly exeited at beliotding as he had done, his ennjesty supported by as trattor. And on another oecaston, Jord Surry, riming tu speak is the house of commnas, and percelving Arnold in the gallery, pat down with precipitatson, exciatuing, "I will not speak wifle that man," pornting to lifis "is in the house." This unisefable outeast died in London, Juac 13, 1801.
[Bonfon stilas.
Cotrom ased oil. A correspundent of the New York Courier gives the followluz account of this oil: It is as lumpid as water, I have ceen it burn, and no one can thisenver a difference between it and the best hard wioter strained onl; for matisincry, tt eannot but be euperior to olive oil, bring porfectly free from glutinous particles; an a paint oil it has properties beyond the common linseed, the oil cake la more nutritious fios catile than limeed oil cake, ond the sedineut makes the best of printing ink.

Flotr inepections. The "Alexandria Gazetin" givee us the following mecount of the operations In flour, in that city, during the past year:

Btoek of flour remaining on hand July lst, 1832, M4. 4,541
Quantity luspected during the year ending June 301h, 883,
137,006
141,247
Esported during the year:

134,747
Fstimated stock remaiolug mis hand June $30 \mathrm{th}, \mathbf{1 8 3 0}$ 6,500
Alaves in the British Wgat Ixpifi. Froan the Kiageton (Jameteat) Courrant. Lant no juat fuppose that the omnipotence of partiament in to be bronght lato play, and that a bill will pase the imperial tegidatare, declariug nur slaves free-how are it: eractments to he carried into effectin the W. Indies? We would कay the thing fo impowible, and tise effert might be moret dianstrons. The West india uerchanis, we arm sativfird, whinid shut their stores, the planters their mill bonsem, aud the businest in the country would be at a zteod, end the slavea themasives len, at a momment'd warniog, without the meant of exi-tence, end al this to gratify the feosinge of a frw fabatiex in the mitiore comnuy. It is not necenury for 1 e to point sut what wond be the consequenees of such measures. The Weat India merchants, wiose property has berb entharked iu the soil, of she seestrity of slaves, will le sacrificed, and Einglinh ananitios will lie involved in the zeneral run. A & we shall have nu erope to ship, we shall ant require, nelther thall we be sble to affird, the mesns of existence to tho artasana of Bitmingtomin, Shetheld, Manchester, or Gingow. Win shall require an eupplies of annaburghs from Dundee, or pennistuns frmin Malitax: and, In every view we can take in the casp, we see nothing but rum storing the monher country and colonints in the fares and woe be to the former when tire Brilisli imlants of the West India Archipelago, are seveled from the pareat state.

BRIPF NOTICFS

At the silver mine of Kouigsberg, a wonderful gallery has hren piereed through the side of the mountain at the depth of 600 feet, through which the ore is now tramported, indtend of being hoisted to the inp. Its keneth is 6,000 feet, and it neeupied 23 years In Its completion. The procent was minat tedious, heing enturcly by celcination and bamuaring, whicli brought the rock of in fakes. Only two men could wnik at a time; it was com meneed hoth internally and externally, and It is mueh to theit eredit that upon mesting there were ouly two ur three feet dif. ference in the level, and wone lin the direction. It is from six to seven feet wide, and from ten to tiftern high.

* $90,000 \mathrm{Is}$ usually entimeted for the consumptina; the redvesion we aturibute to the effects of the chotera last fill.

A conchman in Englaisd was lately kiesing his favorite horse, When the aniual, wistuug to return liva fonduess tenfold, bit of lus pose and swallow ed if-kissiug gows by faver.
Prince Caartoryokl, a Polish exile in London, is reported to have once had an incoune of $\mathbf{\&} 70,000$ per annum, all of which the lost In definnee of his country-his wlie died of gief, and hia childres had been shot one by one la battle.
Aming the recent deathe at Borton, we notice that of Mr Richard Taylor, of Yarmouth, at the ege of 92 . White nt dia ner, in a lootel, he took a piece of areat in hls thouth, which in the atteupt to swallow choaked him, and he died in 10 minutes
There is a mother and four of her deughter reaident in tise town of Northempton, Mass, who have been collectively married seventeen tituen. The mother and one of the dangtuters, cach fuut times-the three other daughtars three times each.

It anay be mentioned as a rariny, that several higliway robberies have been latels comaitied on the Cove mountaia, neas MeConiellatown, Penusyivania. Many perons had thrned out to seour the conntry, but the rogues were not yet caught.
The Britiah governinent has extablished an ageney at Liver poot to give gratuitous aspiatance to persons repairing to that port with the design of enigrating.
About 140 emigrantr have arrived at Litile Rock, Arkonsas; dreet from Germany. They are accompanied by barth de Coentge and count Grolman, who appear to be their leaders.

A ratuennek was lately killed near Fort Smith, Arkanses, whose circular diurenstons equalled those of a man'w thigh-his length is mot stated. He carrind fify-four raties, and a buttum (the terminating ratile) meanuring 18 inchea in bength.
Figa, of the first quality, are grown at Mobile.
Com. Clauncy, tranaferred from the nevy yaril at Brooklyn to the board of wavy enmumissionere of Washangton, was enasidimented with a public ditutuer by the officers on the Broohlyn -tation.
The Delaware 74, being bew enpporpd, tse. was taken out of the dry dork, at Gowport, on the list lustant. Every thing has "worked" admirably.
A steambont is now plying on Lake Winnipiaeogee, and usking regular tripa hetween Aiton Bay to Ceutre Harbor. Thit beausult lake is In Now Haupphirr, at a mediuns length of 90 , and breath of 8 inice, but vei) uregulap iu its form, asd abougding with islands.

A few tuns of Thiga (hituminons) ral heve been brought to New Yort. The eoal helda are ineshanstible, and large supplite are sonn espected via the Chemung and Erie caoals.
More than one hundred thousand tons of enal have already descruded tha Schuylkill and arrived at Phasidphia, in the present weason, in 2,316 boats!
Ths "Camden and Auiboy rall mand and transportation and the Delnware and Raritan canal companies," paid to the treasurce of New Jursey, a few days agn, the sum of 815,000 fur the firat 6 monthe running passeligers, ke. via said cail ruad, being the hail gearly pay ment of the 830,000 sulpulated by said conppanies to be paid to the state of New Jersey, for privileget granted.
[Emp.
It is stnted In the Doylestown Democrnt, that me day las ${ }^{\text {a }}$ week, ninety sis biats passed through mene of the locks of the Delawafe canal, in that eounty.
Tive lat-st etatemput of the Moravian breihrea makee the whole bunther of their eect, diaperard over thr globe, th consist of no murr than 16,000 memobers. Notwithataisling thes, they maintais ly misxims for conversion of the heatheu, at an annual espeuse of $\mathbf{C 0 , 0 0 0}$ dallary.

Soune days agn a hnul was made in Grent Egg Harhour bay, neer Icaraley's puint, Cape May, at whlh 218 drum fidb were cenglt, their entire weight being from 8 to 9,000 pounde. Thit In fad to be the Iargest hat of this deacription of fash ever made In ibat bay.

A stout, good Inoking black fellow, receatly took passage, at Balimute, In the aleamboat Kentucky, for thie eliy. He: fore the boat reached Cliesepenke elity, it was discovered that he belonged to a gentieman of Maryland, and was emdeevoriog to make his eqcape fiom the bonde of slavery. An effirt was made by lie captais in ploee bimi Is soafinetwent, but the slave with one bound spreng into the water, and swan vigomeusly towards the phure. A buas was lownred in pursult, but before it reselied hiu ine sink, ant ruse as more.
[Phlind. Gaes.
Colonel Thayer has arrived In Boston from West Polnt. He comea (oava she Daily Adrertiser) th direet the conatructiva of tic fortlicications for the defence of thia hartonf, involving an expenditure of rising ह1, 200,000 . The eompletion of these worke will aild to the inany obtigaifing the country alreedy owe hith for his long and purcesaful tiliection of the uspfal lastitution, the enpeiliteudance of which he has just resigned.
A trader in benp, during the last month, carried anfely peveral bnxes of hives from Kennebeek, In Malise, to Quebee. He travelled during the night, and set his bees out during the day to fred sad onntiune thrit work, which they did with their unal acuvity and regularity.

Poland. Tife Russian goverument has received information from Paris, that a cunspiracy bas been furtard us make a Iruan attempt at revolutionizimg that cubutry. It is even gall! that letters have been intereepurn, in whelh a plot bas lieen diseras. Veted agatuat the lite uf the empuor Nirhulas. 'Jhts lant rebis juurtiey abroad, beeanse the atiairs of the eaxi tequire liis preactice at Bt. Prekershurght.
poatual.
Pedro seema to be on a givid understanding with adiniral gartorius, and his baval foree, geve rally- - lise wages of the saitorm being neatly att patd, Ile liad alas receivoil neveral parmuse of moldiers froun tirame aud Enuland. Ihs ultath ares noore poomising if succens thath hervoluture. T'lunsc of Miguel seten to be rapodiy approseliung ac cross.
Accounte from l'asix invition that the ambassador of Don Pedro had an audience of M. Broghe, and it was repurted that a Ioan of teu aultions ut foancen were to be loamed to Dinil Pedro. T'ive troops at Oportu had become very ansions for batile. They are untich annoyed hy Mugnel's hattorire, and rome of then, an well as of the intabiltants, killed. The fire was very heavy of shot and shellin, nud many honoses were anuch injued.

> TEAKEY ARH KGYFT.

The sultan has sulunittrit to all the slrmands of Melomet Ali, and his son, in the fothwoug order. Tie manmer uf it is laugh: ahes but the "brotiser of the sull and meni" is nut th be underatood as grantiug any thiug, except in him own g'ood pleasuret Order addremsed to the vizieri, murimirans, mollatus, radis, paibs, matacllung, vaivodes, ay auns, mutubles and other func: tionaries of the different parts iof Anatolia.
${ }^{\text {athe }}$ Tlie assurance of filelliy tud devot-dices given me at length by the govarnor of Ezypt, Melienoet Alı pacian, and lus mos, Ibuahitn, thaving leen acceptable to mee, I have grathitul tlicm mis ituperial benevolence. The govertmobituif Cretuand FyyM have been confirmed to Mehemet Ali, and in complianes is ith bis earnest desire, I have graiteil to lim the drparthornts of Ina maseus. Tripusi, Syita meydr, Safed abed Alippm, the distriet of Jerusaiem and Naplonoe, with the complucturg of the pllatons, and the command of Djldda. Hos zon, Ibrahion Parita, line an - triet of Djidda;: I have also acquieserd in lis drmand of the department of Adana, with the totle of molitesil. Fullowing the equity, humanty and elemency with wheth Gid has endown me, I order all perfons it anthority in the differeme partu uf Anatolia to refrain frretu purnuing'iler notahlies and inhabutants, and to bary all paat eventa tul chliviou. You, un your part, will an nousce my generous inteminus tu ali who arr: lin anthenity under you; you will endeavor to assure the public mand on tliss sub. jeet, and you will endeavor to olotain prayern in favor of my nugust personn from the peaple, whoue welfarw Gud lise entruted in nyy hapils. It is in uriles to onahe you nequatinted with these thiago that i have issued the preselit firmant, in eanionnity wibl my hatti sclipsitif. Iitu will, theretore, make touwn my onve reiga will to all whour it may ennerrin, nud ymu will obtalin their prayera ia my tavor. He careful that gim comply with it with out anoleatiag any person whomsoever, coutrary to my suprime dentres."
By the preceding cespion, the astrap of Figypt in now a more poteut monasch than the houd of the falttifil, who gravite him his pardon, and promusps him hivelempucy. ife possesses not only the domitiona whosen rosonrees have enabled hitin to r-xtend his power, but the whote of c'rete, whels hat liten beforc aranted him, and the Holy Land, togrther with the country aud the ports of the Levant, finon the limits of Anta Minor to the inouth of the Nise. He has Ihus obtained wea ports for tuls mavy, a great eceession of contiguous lerritory unt pupulation necrasary for hia pertoanent opcurity, and a uatural boundary, easily defesuded agninat foretgn aggrestion.

There is a formidable invurrection in Bnania.
The Ruseian fiert remaina in thr Bnephorus, and the Ruselan troope at Constantinople. The jorte uny bave sonie truuble in gettung them away.

The following is a memorial ixpita.

worda used are lony:

"We ciaim from the general governmaut, seonrity from futnre interference with our nlave:, pithir liy ordern in cuuncil ar any other mode not reengnized by onr laws.
${ }^{\text {en We clain that sectorlan minstonarims whait by len to the ope- }}$ ration of those lawe, which govens the inther subjocets of his mia jesty; and if thowe laws are itsintin-irut to protoct us trom re newed insurrections, excited though theis machiuations, we be perinitted to amend them.
"We ank for puch afterations in tive revenne acts as shail revive our prosperity, by restoring to the colouirs some part of tie Income of their entates, which has now, and has bung bern, as ogetier swaliowed up thy the extetions of the mothor conntry.

If these rrasonalile demands are rejected, we cali upon governinent to give us, without tuitire herrtation of delay, on expedient in sacrifice for the silipuisid goonl of the einpire.
 require that the intand of Jamaira be srivarated from the panout enuntry, and that being ahenived from larr alleciance to the BriUsh crown, the be free either to nssume independence, or to unite herneif to some state liy whoms =lie will be cherished and protected, and not insulted and plundried."

From St. Vincent. A report having loeen cireblated among the rhavere of this island that tirey woold be chanerpated on thes drrival of the vice goveriof-abu that event having taken place wilionit the expected result-alarming matipturs of lanatordiing a stivt and cliceiful obedience to their mustera.

L.AW CASES.

Ariff nollere of decisions.
A cane of ennsiderable inmontance was tried in the circuit count of the United States, lield in Ralcigh, sonne time in the course of lant wrek, jurtiens Marahali aud Potter juresidug. Tlie piaintiffs in the cave clainued title under a grani from tha land, benving Chate in to Witlinm Catieast, for SO, 000 acrea of vinry taker's sifire of Buncombec county, in 1725. T'le principle pount involved wan, whelher the line kuownad Plekenn" liune, ascertained and warked in 179i, wns the true boundary hetw con the rtatp of North Caroliun and the Ctreroken territory, as preacribed by the treaty of Ifrlaton in 1791, wad confirmed by the treaty of Trellico in 1798. Tlie land in di-pute fornur Buncombe county. It Was coniended by the planitiff that the licketha The wat cirmifonv; that the yurvejor should have atopped at Tlie Sith degree ut north lantudr., w luch is the bogudary of Noith Carolina, uccurdug to the declaratoun of rights, and is ahous tweive miles moutto of the reputed basedary of ties atate, sid that in faet, the trae boundurs llue required by the treaty of llotat had nevar been rain. Thie jury were instruetid by the court that the repuifed houndary of the stote (if such luwulary existed) whith whi a matter of fact mr (thir linventigation) wan to he regarded, and not the parnillel of tultewle. The Jury found for the offendant, and uts supuosed that the cnve wifl he tatien by writ of error to the supremus cuurt of the United States.

In ilim distriet emart of the Ifuited Sintes, now sitting, a suit thas just been thed, brought by the Uuited Statom againist John Hevberitadt, for rimovinig an eapty cank having the enutom loune unarks and uuinbers wpon $1 t$, hellite the same had been obliterated. 'The Jury found a verdict that the defeurdant did twiove the cank before the mavk wirce ellaced. A point of law was aserited on lis pari, that the rcmuisal contectuplated, wan that by prinnos who sold or hlsopmed of vuch caskf, nat thoon who goerchased them. 'I bis padnt, we preaume, will receive the to the dectotor of ilse cunts. It in certainly ol great inaportawre to the commoulty, that the curtusi of u-ing these eapty casks before the matha liave been erasrid, kirould be put a sup to, and such we bi lieve will be the effect of this verdict. The paaley is one huedred dollars for the renuoval of warli rash.
[ ${ }^{2}$ hiladelphia Gazette.
Importont trial. A gentleman jnst arrived frou Banger (Me.) has giveth un the partheulars uf a case of recrut oncurmore there Whath ts said to have escited considerable repasations. An unhownwed gring dealer, nuulud Trcanlwell, kerping a shop at what is called the I'oilin, with the avsistance of an underatrapper, nanned Whodwaid, midertook, ou 'Tuestay lant, to furnioh au Iridhunn with as much wiac as he could drint for twenty fire ients. "The Irishanats drank a pine ut staff wheb was drawn we returnet nort wher " ${ }^{\text {" }}$ and walked uff. In about half ma hour ine returned nond diank tso pituts mone. T'lue insult was death. Woodward was appreliended, on eomplahit of the corosere, Whe held an inqueat over tive banly. On Friday la-t lac was panuiaed, and repured to rexugnize in the sual at -550, fins hem apmen ance at the hrxt ( ume:) tirne of the suprise Lial, on the charge of manalaughtor.
[ Lusifon Journal.
Cikceit covat or the Unitad Statke. From the Frankfort (Ky.) Cumbonneulth. Linited Stotes vw. Jones. Tbot jury found the tuaif. On Friday (the loth Jum) the crianimat was brought into cmart, tund the artitence of the law promounced upoua hata imprimatmout to the prnitentiary of this olate. Ather the sentence was pronounced, the prisoner requested iliw blieriy of making a statcutent of the truth of the case, in which he wat iminged by the court. Il: thent, it a very molemn and emplatic manner, denisd havigg made une of any improper useans to notaill poskespiou of thr eltecks, and asserted that he knew wit neases who could have temtified to unaterial fristitending to ea tahlish his inuocenre, but which whuesspr, he intieved, were induced to alow hat themerlves by the machinatinas of has chemisa. He spoke of bering the varting of a gang of cut-throats horse thicves anil conntcripiters, who had conibned agaiant The beeaure he fand rindeavored to run them out of the country, The court infionned him that all there anatiorn wome subjects for the consideration of the prefident upou an applifation far par dinh, but were mot suitable upon the present necasion. The priouser in comelusinm said, that he ${ }^{\text {thoped }}$ Gind mught nevpeg rotten the herart ol the priedeut, to grant himn a pardon, if what lif said was not true." If wae excessively agitated-be groaned audibly, and wept most bitterly. Jones is a small man, with ait uncomunn one. As ithr tine of his harr-bite appearance is att uncominin one. At thr time of his arrest he wat a nuember his indictnemt. He io a married man with a mull family.

Thera are no public alarm bella for fires in Boston, and resont to beace had to the chutrch bells. Recently a fire broke out during the hours of diviue service, and a firmman areended the tnwer of Klug's ehapel, eorner of Sehool and 'Trenumistreets, and commenced ringing the miglity bell of tivat elineth. Tlue eexton, by order of the veetry minn, forcibly prevented further ringing, and a suit was binught againut the sexton for assauth and battery, with a view of teeting the question of right-i.judge Whitinan ruled that, although the bells were provate property, the membera of the departmeot sud eltizens have a right to ring them in ease of necentity, that is when a building was acmally on fire; and eonsuquenily, as vindictlve damates were disciatin ed by the promeeutor, lie fined the defendant 50 cents and costs. ${ }^{\text {t }}$ Connsel for the defendant, C. P. Curtis, esq. for the prusecution Jolsu C. Park, esq.

From the Mantreal Vindicator of June 98. A most extraordinary case came before the cunri of klug's beneh of this distriet, ou Saturday last, the oature of which the following detath will give some idra:
A young lady from Upper Canada, of the narne of MeMillan, about 16 years of age, was brought before the court on a writ of Aabecs corpus, at the instance ot a mon of the nasue of Kenuedy. It appeared in testimony before the court, that this young man repided fur a couple of yearis with the step father of the young lady in the caparity of elerk. That having had, in consequence, frequeat oppoitunities of seeing and ennversing with ber, he persnaded her, fo: certain reasons, to elope whth him. They pacaped through a window from the secoud plory of the house, by means of a ladder, durlag the night; and liaving emikarked in a eauoe, galned the opposite or Ansetican side of the Et. Lawreuen, and were married at Messena, by a magistrate.

In the mean tima, the family having diseovered their fight, the step-father and one of the uncles of the ymong lady followed the fagitives, whom they overtook about nine n'elock in the morning, two hours alter the mairiage cercmony lad been performed. The young lady apppared very murh affeeted, mud seemed very glad to be rejolned by lier frienda, will whont alie eonsented to return, when asked so to do, lia viug declared that Rumen Kennedy tad deceived lier. Some lime afterwards she was placed by her father, at her own requent, in one of the nunneries of thin elity. Kennedy discovered her retreat, and ly a writ of habean corpus, had the young Indy brought befnre the court. The Judge having heard the parties by their attormies, and read the several affidavita on both sidea, dreided, that as Mise NeMilian was not detained agalast her will, the writ of habeas corpus did ant apply to her case-enpecially as ahe was at liberty to leave the convent when she pleased, and as ahe declared ia her own affidavit befure the court, that whe was desiroua not to be restored to Kennedy. The writ was discharged aceordingly.
Miva McMillan belongn to a most reopectable farnily, and the queation excited a great deal of iuterest.

Bupnexe count. Reported for the Noun York Commerciat Adrertieer. Alvah Beebe vi. Charlet M. Liringaton. Thin wat an action of false imprisoaneut, fur the arrest of the plaintiff under the warrant lissued by the defeudant an speaker of tirn house of asserably, in pursuasce of a lesolution of the boume, for an alleged contempt in writing a letter to one of the inembero, which it was adjudged amuunted to an ofiver in bribe by the promise of stoek in a preding bank applicstion, ke. The defendant pleaded apocially a justifications unaler the resolntion and warrant, to which the phahtiff demuried. The demurrer Was broaght on to argumeot, at the prement July term, at Uliea. and was argued by Mr. John A. Cullier, covusel for plaintiff, and the attorney general, Mr. G. C. Hropsnin, for defendant. The plalotiff's counsal contetuded, amwng oflier thinge, that an attempt to bribe being an "infamous erime," within the slatute definituon, was not puaishable in this eummory mode, but that plainilf was eatitled to a trial by jucy-and also that the pira was defective in not averring that the warrant isoued upon onth -this fact appenring only in the recil if of the resolution, wilich was set forth in hac rerba-hut the court gave judgmeut for the Wafendant, with leave to the plainutir to withdraw the demurier defendant, with leave to the pl

OLIVER WOLCOTT.
From the New York Aimericen.
Dled, in the city of New York, on Saturday eveniog, Juna $1_{1}$ Ohioer W'oleott, in thin seventy fourth year of his age. The namse of Olicer Wolcoft, signed by tha father of him whoee death we now commemorate, to the Declaration of Iodeperadance, is associated in our litstorical annals with nonghe bat Ilisatriour deeds. The eigner of the Declafation of Independence, and who was afterwards made a brigndier zeveral on the Beld of batile at Baratoga-and subsequently to the pence was long govervor of Conneetieut-had in lime who has now gone to joiu the beroic band of the revolution, a worthy son. While yet a boy, he marehed as a volunterer it the hastily mustered forees that iepelled the British marauderm, who, during the revolutionary war, atuaeked Danbury, in Conneeticut, and bornt Norwalk. Ifle mother, with Spartan hernia13, buekled on the knapaact, and placed the munket lu bis hatis. His whole aubequent life proved that the virtoes and patrintiam of surh parents were not degenerata in him. Educated for the bar, he had hardly entered upon his carcer, when the diecerning aya of had hardly entered upon his career, when the diecerning aye of Weohington melected tim for comptrniler of the troasury; in which office he remained till Alexander Hamition retired from the post of secretary of the trasury, when the same unerring judgment promotral the ecompirnlier to the bead of the department, and made linat pecretary. 'This office Mr. Wolent flled with unquestomed ability and integrity, during the residue of con. Waalington's adininistration, aud the whole term of that ol Joins Adams. He wan nure of tic erreuit fudgev apprinted by Mr. Adams, under the judicloiv aet paased at the clovee of hite aduinistration, but which, cre it had well gone into efficet, was repealed under Mr. Jeffirnon. Thup thrown out of pulblic hitr, at the early age of furty, Mr. Wolcolt removed to this eity in 1800 , and commeticed buxiness as a merchant. He was shout at the head of a flourishling bouse In the China tude, and was proside at of the Merchats' batik, and subsequently of the baink of Aoreriea. On the brohhing cut of the war whit Great Britain Ia 1812, he closed his miercantile concerns, and, under the full couviction that the war was both just and politie, gave the whole support of lisis name, and meana, and talvints, th the ad-ministialion-differing therein from the militienl friends with whom he had always hefore neted. After the clase of the war Mr. Woicott returned to hls native villager of lititchfield, in Con necticut, occupying himelf in the quiet cultivetion of a farm, and the senciety of bid books. IIe was soon called by the voire of his fellow eitizens to perside over the sthtr-hs his father for inany yeors had done before-and for ten sucecsaive electinua lie wair chozen quvernor of Conincticut.
At the elose of this perind he removed in this city, to be in the vieinity of his elililiren, who wete ectited here; and, living In great retirement and privacy, he han liere hreathed bis lant. The character of Mr. W'olcott was strongly martiod. Stem, inflexible atud deroted, in all that duty, honor and patriutipa oujnined, he whe in private life of the utnost geutleness, kindones and slimplicily. With atrang original prwers, whieh the atirriag events of the revolutionary days in which lis was born rarty developed, he liad aequired a habit of w-If reliance, whirl hule fitied him for that snri of political en operation whith rewulte fomm expediency, rather than right. Ho atmed at the right alway, and at all exents, acenpling to hiv beat ennvictions; ated if any questioued his jodgment, noue cauld inıpeach his honesty and wincerity.

Jusilim et temaeem proposill virum
Noll eivium arior prava jobetueus,
Non vulum instantis tyıanui
Mente quntit enfida.

THE LATE COLONEL NICHOLAS FISH.
New York, June \%2. At the rousumencement of the revolvion col. Jioti was aid de-camp to brig. gen. Johth Morin Seoth, and he and his corpe went into servics as "pix montha' men." On the 2let Novemiter, 1776, he was appoluted by emugrese major of the second New York regiment of the eontinental army, conmanaded by colonel (afterwardo renersl) Pierre Voo Contlandi, and cerved with thin rank during the revidutionary war, aud what at its clowe, by a resolution of congress, connantapioned at lieuteaant colonel. He was In the battes of 19th Beptember and 7 th ( r - toler, 1777, at Brmis' Heights, In New York, which preceded the surrender of geweral Burgrynt's army, on the 17ih day of Ortober, of the anme year. Early in $1=7 \%$, he was ap pointed by genetal Wa-bington a division lisperior of the army under general the baiou Bleuben, who waw then invpector zeneral of the conlinentil arniy; and on the 28th June, 1758, colonel Fi=h eummanded a corps if light infantry in the celebrated bnttha nf Mournouth, New Jersey. In 1779 his requinent and himself were in Sullivan's exprdition against the six Nations of Indiane, in whieh, after enduring every privation, they suecreded in deatroying the Indian power. In 1780 he was attached to a corps of light infintry under the command of geu. Lafayetu. In 1781 he went with his tegineut into Virginin. and took a very aetive part in tha battlea which eveutuated in the surrender of the British ariny ecoumanded by lord C'orawallis, on the 19th of Getuber, In that year. He was majur of the eorjes of infantry eominaruled by colonel (aherwarls general) Haniliton, which on gallantly stornied ane of the Rritish redonbts at YoekLown. Io lika colmel Fish wan with the maln army under geueral Wachingion, at Verplanek's Point, in New York, and continued there, at Wisst Point, and at the eantonment at Newbuig, until the clnae of the revolutionury war. I:el. Fisit's ehnraeter in the athily was that of an execllent diselplinatian and a very gallant solilier; and he possesesd in a very hilgh degree the confideure of Washington, Lafayatte and IIomilton. Aner the peace, rol. lith was fir a number of ycars aljutant menetul of this state; and sueh was the artivily of his mind and his hathis of buxiness, that he embinued alinost to the clore of his useful IIfe to hold civil euphyment.

"THE CELEESTIAL EMPIRE."

Frosn the Canton Register of Jan. 94, 1823,
The following order was insited lin consrquente of a eruise made oonse lime last yrar by the Brilish whip Iord Auberst alone the eastern coast of China, for the purposes of tradnand discovery:
voyagen tht the coant.
In the Priking Fazetle, for Septetulier $$$ thi and 6 th, 1832, thare fa a paragraph from the rmperiv, in reply to Taou-hhon, the governor of Keang nat, conpernlag the Lind Ainiterst.
It states, that, on the 12th day of the 6th moon, tha Englist ohip was delivered over to lieutenant gencrai Kwanteen-fel, to see that alve lef the jurindiction of Keang-nan, and was con pelled to go southward; whercas, eight days aftef, slie was found at Shan tuig. On this oceurring, the eanporor espresmed his dispieasure, and required from the governor an explanation. The explanatoon was uh satusfactoty, and the gnvernor, the general, and a thiril ollicer are wubjected tu a court of mquiry,
The kuveruns says, "that of any' puch shtps should make thei appearance, and athehur withis his jurtadietion, to will send prectal oficers to seareh them, and see wherther they have pro Inbuted goods or not: and if they have, he will drive them away and if they refuse to uln:y, he'll puntsh them." The emperor replies-"tha view of the cast to utterly etroneous. Forfign ships are netither altowed thanelor, nor th sell any goots there. They are restruted th the port of Canton. If any sloips make Uteir appearance and solicit leave to trade, talented othicers must be sent to proelatun th tirin the ordecs of goveranient and require their impheit submission. They must not go to other provinces and anchor, and empleavor to atill goods. All the othefa on the coa-t, rivil and multary, great nind small, mint watch and drive away muthwaril, from province to provinee, evefy tureige ship; and they mast be handed over by the imperial hipa of ung provimec th those of another-fo that no excuses lue afierwards made. If this be not efferted, or any other mis. chtef atise, the governor alone sinall be lield responsible. Let bin sak himself how lic will be able in pustain the weight of the guilt which he will tincur! Ile misnanaged in the first instance, and now he boasts great thuge about what he will do herealter. Let him, in every thing, act necording to right reanon. Not put on the airs of great perapicaetty, and, after all, fail in doing the thing that is night."
"-Mureover; in managing outside barbarians, he must be careful to adhere to old regulations; and matufest at atl tumes a stern gravity: never affording any pretext for comnoencing bloody affrays. Ile is very wiong in assuming all nt onee a apirit of awelling self sufficiency; and disegarding, at the same time, the dignity of government. He sustans antufice in which the territory is comunitted to his eare -is it beconitng is hum to act and spenk in the way he has done!
"Ilis majesty commands that these thonghts be fully explain. ed to the governor, Taou sboo, and his colteague Tintsith-een. Respect this!'

SOUTH AMEIRICAN DEBTB.
Much has lern saisl of late about the debt owing by the new Bpanish American states to this canntry, and of the Immense linportance of recelviag the whole, or even a part of that debt but the public at large, perliajus rven the creditors themaelves, are very litule awnre of its vant extent. Snlymined is a statement of the whole amount, ingether with the arreara of Interest, by which it will be seen that they actually exceed $\boldsymbol{K}$ i2, 000,000 sterling!
Wtatement showing the amount of bonds negotiated in Loondon for aceount of the new spanish Aberican statep, and upon which the dividends are now in arreat.

Interest. Anmount.

Colombia
Dituo
Merieo
Dito
Peria
Peria
Chili
$\left.\begin{array}{lllr} & & & £ 15,897,000 \\ \text { Mexican } & 5 & 16 & 650,400 \\ \text { Ditic } & 6 & 6 & 950,003\end{array}\right\}$

Total
We are tadebted for the alove to a commercial friend, well acquainted with the sulyjeet, together witt anotiser calculation, which it is not necesary to give at length, ahowing the rates at which the respective loans were ratsed, and the depressed prices which, including the accunulation of interest, they at present bear ln thas market. Tlier average rate was 82 per cent. and the sum drawn from the eubseribern alont $£ 13,000,000$ the current market prices average about 's? per cent. nnd the value, if converted into money at the rsisting rate, $\mathcal{E} 3,3 \times 0,000$, conrtituting a loss of near $£ 10,000,000$ withont compating the arrears of tuterest, which humunts to $£ 4,597,000$ morr, which wrings up the total inss in Elligland hy these ill-lated contracts to between $£ 14,000,000$ and $£ 15,000,000$ sterlings. What ageraVatee the calamity is, perhaps, that the ste stes ali poserpow, more or less, the ahility to pay, but want the honcsty and grond faith to make even an approach to the filfilment of engagenments by whieli they were enableil to shake off the yoke of $\Sigma_{0}$ ain, and acitieve their independence. The contrnst with the coudnet pursued hy Englisit America, (the V'rited Stntes), in a state if thinge nearly sillillar, is too striking ant to be placed in juxta position with the above. Their kecuritics durnag the struggle were as low in their price, and apparently in a state as loopelexs ao thnse of Spantait Ametira nre thow. Oue uf thetr first measures, on attaininz intiependence, was to classify the whele of enres, on attaininz intiependencr, was to elassify the whele of the deht, and provile for the regutiar payment of the iaterest; it graduailiy beeame one of the moat approved and mecure invest menta, even for Europran eapital, and will be, in the course of the present year, fattifulty discharged in full to the la-t dotiar

Londen Timet.

RITISII PINANCES.

Ahrtracted from the wpecel of lord Althorp. The financial year ends on the Sth April.

|  | Income 1832. | Income 1833. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Custrms | $\underline{\square}$ | £ $16,769,691$ |
| Fixctue | - | 16,529,131 |
| Rtainpa | - | $6.857,340$ |
| Tanes | $\underline{-}$ | 5,003,967 |
| Post offee | $\underline{\square}$ | 1,45.1,900 |
| Miscellancous |  | 238,536 |
|  | $46,618,000$ | £ 46,853,650 |

The details of the income of 1832 are not given. The procise crw of income in the past ypar over the preceding is $\mathbf{£ 2 3 0 , 3 0 9 .}$ The following is a correct table of the expenditures: 1432.

Army e7,251,000
1833.

Navy
$5,4+42,835$
£ 7,006,498
Ordnane
$1,478,944$
$4,513,000$
Miscellaneous
2,900,430
2,136,953
Debt and other charges on the 30,080,239
£4i,859,000
¢45,365,507
The details $n$ f the charges for debt, &c. for 1832 are not given, but the gross numount of expenditures is above stated.
The result sitow: mil escess of espenditures over receipts in 1872 of almout $£ 1,200,000$.
There is an excess of receipls over expenditures in 1832 of £ $1,487,000$.
The revenue for the year has therefore improved, as compared with the expemilitures, wearly $£ 2,500,000$.
The revenue has improved but littemore than $£ 200,000:-$ the retrenchmenta therefire must exceed $£ 2,250,000$.
The entinates for the next year are

| Army |
| :--- |
| Navy |
| Orduance |

| Miserllancous. |
| :--- |
| Debt, &c. |

THR CIIINESE MULBERRY TREE.
From the New York oldrertiser and Adeocale.
"PPALMAM QVI MKKIUT FERAT."
Gentlemen: 'There is not a production in uature, after wheat, more precious that that which can afford what is incessantly wasted or wanted. While the pant or approaching spring season only euriches mankind with abundant erope of forod, a suecersion of crops of silk canmis be nbtainell by any known son of mulberry tree, whtte, black, Itatian or Calabrian; hut it ean, by the Chinese moras mulficaulis, be repestedly cultivated and distributed thronghout in thax pait of the new world.

The iraves of the Chluese mulberty Iree are very large, mea suring fionn 10 to 12 liehes in length and breanith, but alway so delieste that they can afford a tender puin to any youns batchell race ut the laboring salk fabricator, ant leaving, af the food oifered, nothog but an admirable lace work of tie remain ing slender fabrics, which the inseet could not turn into silk or rood.
The leavea of the Chinese mulberry tree lonk like pieces of silk, or porket handkerchiefs, which might have been suspend ed on it for drying, or other purposecs.
It was in the ypar lisens, that, as a member of the Linnsan snelety of France, and constututed thrif president in the drpartmen of the new woill, I heard of the diacovery made of the Clinere mulberry tree, to which no une could beform have: an aceess in that conntry; but the same productuon was plentiful snd fiouri-h ing in oute of the Phillipitite tslanda, in whieh Chinsan refugres, psilen, kc. have lieen allowrd tosetile, anil revive all the gomds. produce and Indmstry of their conntry, and which Mr. Petrote was directod to explore, and aise any other land of the mouthem ncean, from which useful seded anal plante coutd be obtained The voyage of Moms. I'errotet lasted nearly tirree years, and enriched his country with not Iesw than 158 eperies of areen, feet ligh, and with 534 indiviluatr, beaides twn cliesta be took of paim accedn in full vegetation. Ile liad inderd raplored the seas of India, and then lie came th thom of sumth America There had never theen so va-t an lomportation if rare genera of plante, seeds and trefs as that of M. Perrntet, and atnong thein was the ancient mulburry tree, to which he affird the proper name of moras multicaulif, because it produces many shoots from the roots

I now must mention that I had the first opportunity nf re ceiving from Parls, and from niy colleague, Mons. Perrotep three rooted trees of thm Cbinese multicaulie, whirli I wan prr mitted by the vcetry of the Freneh church, of which I hove had long the bonor to be a curator, to plant and rultuvate in their burying ground; and which I duliverrd to the praeticat eare of an Intelligunt hortientinrixt, Mr. Daniel Kane, who beat cotsid linmedtately propngate them.

1. The firut tree I presented to the Horticultural society of New York, and placed it under the care of Mr. Floyd, an eminent culturist, and member of the same society.
2. The second tree I presented to Dr. Hosack, who, being the proprieter of a splendid garden In the centre of the ptate of New York, could better propagate the Chinese mulberry tree.
3. The third trae I had rewerved for the Hamilton City Agricultural society, in the state of Ohio, of which I havo also the pleasure to be an honorary meruber. This, in spite of the care of myself, and my correspondent and colleague, D. C. Wallace, esq. failed in its long voyage through the ocean and the Mississippi. I replaced it, however, by a sound iooted Inyer, for wbich I have received acknowledgment, and, I hope, mented thanke.
4. The last distujbution for the Jefferson Connty New Yorl Agricultural seciety, which is under the guardiansbip of Mons. Le Rey de Chaumont, its preaident, an ancient landbolder in that cousty. This also falled, hut I replaced it by another, which has been acknowledged with kind and hnnorable thanks.
All the above distribations having been accomplishied, thought it was my dity to reward Ir. Kane for his labores and practieal attention to tho plant or tree I had first imported, and left the wbole of It to hitu, of the owly condition that he wonld supply me with one layer, if is was called for. He bas since fulfilled his promise.
By this thne I was informed that Mr. Parmentier of Brnoklyn, a very intelligent horticulturist, had made a great inportation of the Chincee mulberry tree, and that he was extensively eultivating the same. His succesp, as well as that of his widow, merit attention and praise-the binre so, that they bad dally labored to perform their part, and to prove their zeal by the extensive sale of tha Chinese mulberry tree, whilch to our knowledge has been nade to succeed by that entablishmient. At last, and In the year 1831, Mr. Richand K. Haight, of this eity, applied to me to procure for him such recoumendations as would cnable hitu to make in Paris a great purchase of the moras multicaulis, for which he masured me he had already appropurated 500 acres of land. With this reqnest I was very happy to comply-gave him several letters; to none of which I never received any answer. Tbis final explanation 1 think myself autinrised to give, in consequence of lisis late announcement in the Mercantite and Advocate to the public of his large importation of the Chinese nulberry tree, although I remain thankful for the compliment he at tast panid me in the same paper.

FELIX PASCALIS.

CAPABILITY OF MACIINERY IN MANUFACTURES. From the Lamdon Mercantile Journal.

In our remarks last week on open trade with one mennered
 Cinsa, we observed that our manufactures were capable of being increased th any extent; that extent is certainly not infinite-it is however, indefinite-and to an indefinite extent onr inanufactures might be mnltuplied by maehinery. In the slagte but innportant artiele of cotion, one man can now produce two hinndred times more goods in a week than he could in 1760, when George the thind ascended the throne. One mill, in Manchester can, when all the spindles are at work, pin as much cotton thread in a week as would go round the world. In the manufacture of hosiery, which is seated chiefly in the midiand counties of Noitinghain, Derby and Leicester, machinery has reduced stockingn one hundred per cent. compared with what they were twenly years ago. Owing to machincry, lace, which was 2s. per yaril eight years ago, thay now be bought for $4 d$. what was 8410 . per yard twenty years agn, is now 18 d . and mone kinds may be bought ns Inw as one farthing per yard! Wonilens have expricuced less rifluction In price than any other kind of wearing apparmi, At a paper manafactory in Herifordshire, a quantity of puip can, at a distance of twentyseven fert from the cistern In which it lips, be converted in three minntes by machinery, Into a shect of paper, ready to be written upon! Nuch is the continual advancement made in the Mancliester manufartures by machinery, that the trade say, if a monufacturer werc tu foave matinfacturing for a few years, he would be quite lowt upoureturaing to it again. Rall roads are machinery, and their adoption and extension will tell upon the price of manufactured gionds. Although thw improvements in machinery during the last thirty years have been so wonderfitl, as to unite the realinies of truth with more than the wonders of Aetion, yet who will tee so bold as to say that we are at the very top of the hill of advancement in mechanism? It was stated jll evidence before a parliamentary cobumittee, at the conclunion of the late calamitous and runious war, to the astoniqhiment of the comaittife, that during the war, machinery rqual to the power of sixtepn millions of men, had been set to work in this conntry: and, if a market could be fuand for all that machinery is able to produce, it could soon be doubled. Now, owing to the increare of the population, particularly of then Iaboring elasses, and the want of nuarket, machinery is in bonda, and the mechanic stands with ne liand tird belsind him, while the starv ing and migguided operative is ready with both hands to demotish his valuable invrntiona. What we want now is open trade to India, then will the green withes, wherewith the Samson of machincry is bound, be broke asunder, and the theam engine and spinning Jenny, to which Englatid owea more than all her gencrals, adomirats and ktatermen will increase that debt, by securing the valuahle matwrgl pinductions of the cast in exchanga for her incomparable productions of art and science.
0. 7 A few weeka ago we had a refereace to the precediag article, as a most splendid scheme, provided only, unaehne power slatll be kept out of use in the Fapt Indies, and the Chinese are persuaded to exehange thelf "matvras plodvetrons," for English "productions of art and science."
The chief part of the machines mentioned in the preceding, we also have th the United States, or can easily obtaia, when prepared to use them. Rall roads are well called "mashinery," and so are eanals-and whatever else reduces the amount of amimat Inbor required to perform any particutar thing; and it is beeause of the extent of her machinery, that England, whithe ber average rate of wages paid for [male] labor is not less than 8 or 10 dollars per month, (though that is, indeed, low ennegh), iz able to compete with the labor of the East Indies, though wagea in that country hardly average two dollars per month-the prople, in both casem, subsisting themselver. And hence it to that England wishes to have a "free trade" for the produets of her machines, but will not make liberal exchanges with other nations in "nalural productions," the result of mannal lator-bocause of the real or supposed necessity imposed of protecting lier own. And foreign bread and meat, and fish and fuel, the primary neeessaries of life, are exclurled, that British grain growers and graziert, fishermen and mincrs, may extst.
An "open trade" to the British East Indies may be forcedbut that will force the introduction of machinery into the eart, and present advantagrs naay be dearly gained in future injuries conferred - But the Chinese will uever permit an exercine of that paitial policy which is suggrsted, and ruffer themselvas to be embarrassed by a lefl-handed freedom of trade.

PROGRERS OF IMPROVEMENT

The Improvementa which have auccecded ench other so rapidly in the travelling facilitics in this couniry, are thus deseribed by He sentor editor of the New York Dally Advertiser, whose persousal observations go back as far as 1783:
In the year 1786, if we recollect rightly, the first stage carriage that ever was eqtablished on the great poot road between New York and Boaton, was set up by Jacob Biowh, then a resident of Hartford, in the state of Connecticut, a ad commenced ruaning between Ilartford and New Ilaven. It was a carriage somewhat resembling the coaches of later times, but far inferior to most of then in workmanship and appearance, and was drawn by one pair of horkes, which performed the whole journey through 1 mm one town to the othif. The route was upon what is called the middle road, that is by Berlin, Wallinglord, ce. and the jounney occupicd the dny. At that time, for a lange part of the year, a great propartion of travelicre from the castpart of the ear, a grent propartion of travelicr from the eastward to the city of New York, took pakage at New Haven, on ward to the city of New York, took pasage at New Haven, on board the sloops which plied betwren the two porte, and thus finished their journey hy water. The paseages varied, accordiag to stind and weather, froul twelve honr to three days. In the course of our own experience they differed as much as this. A considerable part of the road hetween New Haven and New York, along the plinre of the sound, was extremely rough, rocky and uncomtintable, and In fact in some places alinost Impassable for wheel carriagra. Aher Brown's cariage had run for ${ }^{n}$ year or two, or perliaps more, a man of the naine of Hall petttonned the legislature of Connecticut for the rxelusive privilege of running stage carriagrs on the road from New llaven through that state, to Byram river, wlich was granted, and the stagea were establithed, and run for a number of years, when thay parsed into other haada. Nut far from the same time, an ex elusive privilige of rmaning stage carriages from Inartford to the Massachuertia line, between Suffichl in Connecticut and Weet springfield in Man-achuxetts, on the great post road to Boston, which then pased in that dirretion, was granted by the legisiature of Connecticut to Ruben sikes, who for many years In con nection with Levi Peas of Shrewshury in Mappaclusetts, and probably with nthers, kept up the line though to Buston.
At that time, there were scarctily any turnpike roads in the country, of course, travelling in any hind of vehicle, was performed in a slow, tedious and fillgning manner; and all intercourse with different parts of the unou was laborious, expen sive and dascouraging.
After sone time, turnpike romis began to be formed, and the great obstacle to locomotion, preaented by extromely bal mads, was in many places renoved, and the travelling pention of the community began to take courage, and move from place to place with accelerated speed and increased satisfartion. The fashion having once hegun, as is uxnal in such eases, it soon beeame general, and turnpike mads were made almowt in every diree. tion. The advantages to the thainers and the pleasure of the country were great; new life and spirit wem infuwed amang the inhabitants at large, and over a laige pant of the niddlle and eastern states, the aspect of things changed, and all was active. animating and encouraging.
In procesp of time steamboate were invented, and a new lin pulse was given, not only to the activity of the United Statea but to the world at large. Here, veqsels of this demcription, which eommenced thour career at a upeed of about five or sis milss an hour, hy a series of improvemente in machinery, and villl in aavigation, wellt on gaining, until they have attained to the extrancilinary expedition of nearly twenty milea an hour. This, ona would hava supposed, would have patiafied the deaires of the ninst restiess apirits in the world; but, as there is no end to the exercist of human tngenuity, and mechanieal shill, probably thoae who live to see a few years more, will find a cosetant atterapt at more rapid movementa in uiese wouder working veasels.
In the mean tine, not to be behlnd band upoo land, the invention of rail roads han broken in upon the world, and already millions of money are lavesting in these new and astoniting invenwone fur increasing the eppeed of fucomotion. Projeets, almost without aunaber, are offered for ratablishing these new and entraordinary channels of communtication, ond it aust be acknowledged that they meet with the most dattering encouragemeot amone the monted meo of the country. Nothing is more cunsaton than to hear peopletalk of traveling on rat roads iwenty, thirty, aud sometimes even forty miles en bour-of going from New York to Phisdelphia to diauer, and back to New York to apper.

Those who are old enough to remember the state of thinges in the country at the peace of 1763 , and for a number of yeart thereafter, atid to reeoliect the extreme toil mud appreliension of a jouraey of a bundred or twe of males, to almont any point of the compats, and to compare their former experipace with what pasese constantly before their eyee, can hardly fail of feeling and expressing their astonishavent at the progreas of human affairs, at the resuit of human ingenuity, end the improvemeth that have taken place in the nuveable powers and propensitics of the tuman race, and enjucially ausong those of lucir own evastrymen.

The journey from Washington to New York is now made in 22 or 23 continuous hours-without hurry aoil without much tatigue, for the greater part of the thine ty expended in steatm-boats-su it may be said of the juurney from New York to Boscom; and Richmond is pasily reached froun Baltimore in hours. After a while, the Ohio river will be withia thisty nouns of Battimere. St. Lowis is ouly a short time from Pittsburgh, aud the Yellow Stone will soon be clise to St. Louis.

MANUFACTTURE OF IKON

From the Albany Gazette.
The manafactures of iron are daity beconing more important. With an incressing deinand, there seems to be an iacrearing supply, aod the ingeauity of our couotrymen is exerting itself to the utunst, to produce articles of this unaterial. Nut only clicap but durable and higinly fioished.
At this inotntht, we remeniler two arlicies infaltely puperior in character to those of a suanler kind manufactured io England, and they, if we may ure the expression, lie at the extremes of the workshop-axes aud deor locks.
It is admitted by the English that all attempts on their part to sonke good axes have hitherte failed. A pretulum ofioted for the beat inodel did aot produce the intended result, and while her emigrauts were crowding to Cenadia and New Holland, they were unable to carry with them axes, with which to bow "the woode beneath there sturdy stroke.
In the United States, neceswity, the moliter of Invention, led on the frrmation of good axes. Loke patient men they keep their tevaper. Our axemen may trace their celebrity, aod attribute theur experition, to the phape and ijuality uf the axes which our ingenious inechanica bave placed in their hands.
fo with rugard to locke. The vast iucrease of our population, and the conerquent sleusand for liabitable dwellings, creased a similar necessity for lucky; and it is well knuwn that those of Ansericaln inanufartire are nueli supperior to tite imported. In this city wio have frekemithe whose work is unsurpaseed in any country, while the axes manufaclured itu uur vieinity are equalty celelirated. So in the sinclung of irun nre. Vornstics of methods have from timm to timm been tried to oltain, at the Irast expenve, the greatert quantity of areal from a given quantity of ore. Oue of the most ingenicus nperations, we reviember et this time, and une in which setruce has esurtud an astoni-hing infuenef, is the use of the ponginatic wheel to srparate the suetal from the lampe of broken mineral. Mmes whinf aforited the best metal were emmetimes so diatant from the furnaces that the sansportative amonitied to a stan that monde it inpractirabin.

An ingenious person imariaed that a wheri, armed with inagnets, cuuld be inade to revolve lo sueh a way, as to pick op the Irout on one sidr, and dinp it on the other. Thia had a wonder. ful effiect upon the expenaps of the Murnaces. To probluce one ten of iroa, it is calculsted that three tone of ore are reqniredi, besides charcoal and ifuestone, which are alon used in great quantities.
'The breaking up of the ore did ont exemput the smelter from being obibged to throw in large quantities of stope with the ore, mes he could not ntherwise separate the metal from the pock in which it in found.

The mappetic wheel relieved him at once. Comparatively openking, he was rifl of the seoris. The magnets, however, became easily disordered; and to rutonch thrm was a wirk of Labof, inconvenient, tedious and expensive. Here the first fruits of the electro-magnetic theary wrope parecived. Professor Henry, of this etty, (now the ahle aecupant of the chair of natural philosophy at Prinevinn) efter eonntrueting the larseat magnet ever knawn, was applied to for annite advice in relation to the retouching of tipap wheels. He iminediaiply made a small artifieial magnet on his principie, and it was found to be succeasfai in rextoring the maguets to thetr fiemer atate in a very few minotes. This disenvery has heernme invaiusble to the furnseemen of the north, where the prinelple is anw recoynised; and it thewe how much, after all, the money making, end money getting portion of society are deceived, when they think acienee of ao coasequence to any but inen of letsure. Sciance puts momey In thetr pocketr, and ereutes the dividends apon soase of their usuat valued stocks.
It has been atudy mueft attended to of late, to know the character and value of American and foreign iron, compared with each other
The consnmption of iron in the shape of boiler plates, and cast ralts, is becoming enormous. The tenecity and character of the metal are yet to be thnroughly understood. The Baltimore iron is considered the beat in tie world lof ateamboats. As yet we do not fabricate wrought iron rails, but probably very soon shall, as inachinery will be contrived to equaliste the dif ference between the prices of Atherican and Eaglimh labor Cast trou rails have buen made with succeas at our own furnaces.

The American iron being malted by the beat of charcoal, th allowed to be more tenacious then the Englimh, which is metted with eoke.
To put the matter enmpletely at reat, however, very interesting experiments have been made at the opartments of the Frank Iin Institute, under the direction of Mr. Joltraon, a scientifin gentlenisil. The sperpiary of the treanury was anthorined snove yeara since, by an act of congiess, to expend a certain amount in coartructiog machines to make expermmente on the temacity of iron and otber motals used in steail bellers. It was on enthvtructed an to adait any degree of tewperature, up to $500^{\circ}$ Flerenhrit.
Soms inieresting rematis have thys heen obtained. The Pennoylvamion, who ts our authority for the assertion, migs it is as certained that the tenacliy of good ifon is increased by the eppllcation of atby draree of heat ander $4500^{\circ}$, which is eontrary to previoasly entestained opinions. Sobne Tranessee irou (from the Cunhbriand worki) wat found equal to a resietsnen of froen 59 to 64,000 Ibs. the sqnare inch! The Pennsyivanla and Conneeticut iron exlibited the anme qualities. No iron from our state was went on for trial-we linpe some of our propiletors of forges will sot forget to subnit opeclanens of their tron to the lest of these experiments.

It wan almn fund that conamon American iron was better thme the best British, and the best Amencan equal and generaliy superior in Awedish and Huspien.
A report is preparing to the exivibited to the nest enngrens, it which we may expect an accuruln mtalement of the farts, a document that must be of uncommion interest and importance.

To the editor of the Pennsydvanian

Philadelphia, July 34, 1833.
Sid: Having seen a quotation from your paper purporting to be a statement reiative in some experiments on the strenth of Iron, now in progress at the hall of the Franklin Institute, which in incorrect in meveral particularn, and therefore ealculated to misiend, it has been shought proper to give you the followiag infinrmation in relation to them.
Three yeart einee the Inetitute appointed a committee to inquire into the cause of the explosion of steam boilers, and to devise meana in prevent them. The secretary of the treasary of the Uuited States, learning that the inatitute were entering into this investigation, invited that body to moke a weries of ex periments, and liberally offered fundm for that purpose. Ever sinee their appointment, the committee heve been laborionsiy and induatrinusly purwing their Inveatigationa, and the experi nients slluded to In ynur notice, are a part of those performalnt by a sub-commitice of that conimittee.
It is unncees*ary in point out the errors in the resilts given in your notice, es obtained from those experimenta, ar the ez pelliments are now neenly completed, and will, in due tume, be unade pubile by the institate. Yours respertuily,

WM. HAMILTON, שictuary F. $I$.

silip building.

To the public. The proprietorn of a vespel constructed on the plan end princlple here recommended, are as evident ae atiy other fact with whieh we are already familiar, and it only requires a litie reflection to reconcile the utility and practleathlity of ench a structure in our ideas; for it witl he found when put in practice that there are no mat-rial differulties attending Hither the construction or the naanagement of vewsels of this deseription; for if built of the lighter species of wond-auch as white pine, poplar, or nny other kind not expreding these in their opseific gravity, they will shew satisfactosily that the possess abuudantly the indispensable quality of buoyancy for all the purpopes for which they are memminenifed.
Neithar white pilne nor poplar sere innre than four-tenthe of the gravity of vater, conarquently eny entnmion shaped vessel wili, if the bottom part noly is constructed of aquare Inge of thite timher, finat more than one lialf of its bulk abore the surface of the water, which will be sufficient to huny upall the upper works and materials of every knrt requited, and also allow pits in the solld ing work fot ballast and tanks th contain the water, provisions and aimere of every description. The boilers, to revicr them safe, may be placed luplis in the solid inz work.
The log work slouid the ennatracted of antfieient halght from the extreme botinm to finat one or more feet above the farface of the water, when all the upper works and materiats to be oan ried are entimated.
It is then evident that mach a vessel is not liable to the danger of berag sunk by the seme causes which oecssion that catee-rophe to others, and wonld be particulaily appropriate for alf the purpnses for which they are reconmended-such as utramboate, Aleain batieries, womb ships, gun boats, light boats, bracons, ke. and it is also believed that resselm huilt on this plan will be cheaper, stronger, lighter, safer and last longer than those conatructed ar heretolore.
By an estinate carefully made, the cost ap to the top of the olid $\log$ work will not erceed half the aumont of other vea cels. Steamboats on the western watera, built on this plan, would be entirely free from many of the matot serinus dangers that they are nuw liable to-such as saagw, explosions of the boulert, ice, wreeking by the power of the engine, \&c. Neithrr could fire make such ravages as in hollow vessels, for the thp part ouly of those built on this plan would be cadangered by thes deatructive element.
The method propored for brilding this descripition of eraf is as follows: Tise firtt log lain will serve for the keel-lay the nest tier ernawise-tise afat lenglitione, and so altentately untul the bulk senuired low laid; thea add the timbers by bestin them lito the shiles of the solid work, afier wheh proceecd with the operation of plankinet the vessela as in othri caces. Those loge are to be secured by wooden boits of large sizethree or four inches in diameter, and but linife metal will be required. To wreerve the bunynney of these vessels, eost each log with torpenliue and tallow, fill op the interoticen beiwern the fory with the same of ally other approved waser erment, cantr the senms in the ing work, and coat them aisn with turpentine and tallow, wheh is impervious to water for a great engili of tiase.
Tha vewerle should the sheathed for fresh water serviee, and eoppered over the stirathing for sall water service, or for the ocenn.
To those whe are diaposed to adropt this moda of ennatruetlog vessela, a more particalar deveription will be furnirhad.
Patent rights fir states, cities or dintricts, may be had by ap plication to the subseriber, purt pratid.

JAMES BARRON, U. S. navy.

~e 8 em

IOSPICE OF BT. BERNARD

From the New York Americun.
Our readers will be litereated, we ale sure, in the communication published to day relative to an Ameriean benefaction to this ancient and soltary station-tive discovery, by an Arnencan travelter, one of our fcllow citizens, of antisacite coal, in slee vieinity of this monastery, and the subseqnent irampmission, from home, of tinn of Notf's stores, In which th consume it, have been the mesas, it will be perceived, hy the letters of the senior restent, Barras, of securing the blewing of alundast warmith to the prous brotherhood who pase their lives amid etennal anews, for the catue of pious humanty.
[COMMONICATED TOA THE NEW YORK axEAICAN.]
The forpice of the great 8t. Bernard is among the choicest spota of Interest to the Euiopean traveller. The nopaid labors of the good monks and their en-workers, the noble dings of the hospital, are familisr to all thore who thite pleasuie in the records of deede of benevolence. It is plearing to learn by recent advices from that dreary region, that thene puru hearted devotees, to whom humanisy itself stamia debtor, are likely to enoy benceforth a litile more of human comfort than they have heretofore done, and, whal adds til our pieasure, that it will be through the inatruinentalny of our own irllow citizens. A few circumstances of their condition will make what we allude to bet ter understond. This Howpice necupies, as ia well known, the most elevated practicable pars of "ishe ligh Aips," where, at an elevalion of 8,000 feet from the level of the se a, has bren cun atructed amid precipiers of rock and ice, a rough bridle pana for the ennvenience of traveliers, connecting the Pays de Vaud with savoy and the neightoring patix of Italy. In that gorge atando the II mapice of St. Bernard, on the edge of a frozen fake, the hishest inhabited apot in Europe, and a great deal too bigh, us alf visiters will tewilfy, for linminn rndurance- Huless mupported as these gond fatiers are, and have been for these six hnudred yrara, by the unitied entinsiasm of religlon and benevolence. To give warmili to this frozen mansion, sibuate amid eternal lee and snow, and is a temperalure whish when falla in the zuro of Farchineit even in summer, would seem to be "a sithe qua non" of residence in it, and yet, from the expense or fucl, is utterly beyond the seanty and precarions mpans uf the eatablistment-all the fuel hithoino cungumed by them, convist tad of small fagents of wovil, brought up on the hack of maies, over a broken, rocky areent of ets miles from the valley below The revult has been, that the whole supply of itieir fuel, beyond what was aeeded for conking, has been reapried to warin their ahivering or frozen gursts, in the "travellers' moms," while they thamseives lave been content to paws their lives in a freez ing temperature within donges an well a* witherul, betwern na. ked stone walla, on bare stonn fonns, withont curtaine, earpet or fire. Guch have been their comforth. It is pleasing now to eonteinplate a warmer pirthre.

In the shmmer of IE30 a traveller from our eity, during a shart abode at the Hospice, whowe friendly walis relieved hitu asd his family just is time to save then from one of their prribus snow otorms, had the rond furtune in light on the disenvery that among the mineral products of the adjoining beight was an anthrselte eoal, though of very inforior quality. Ilaving no means of burning such an incombustible forl, this disenvery led to immediata directions for the erection of a grate for that purpose, but, as it proved, with partial success; and subsequenily, in hie return, to the reanting to them better plans and models, and evi niually, through the liberality of a few to whom the atory was told, th the transportation to the Hospice liself of one of br. Nott's admirable stoves of a large size, with all thinge appertanning to is inumediate use. The fullowng exiracte of lettere from the llorpice reiate to the progitess of the experiment and comelude with the noost satirfactor) atalenaent of its compivie anceess, and that "the joy of the brethren kauws no boundary.'
[The N. Y. American gives coples of the origisal letters, in Yronch, and adda a translation of theas. We shall lnsert onty the latter.]

St. Hernard, July 19, 1831
DEas anm: I ofen think of your thort visit to our ubode, and of the gond insiructiunu you gave as oth the method of burning antibarine. We coutinuc the experiments, and wa intend to put up grates muon.

BARLAS, elan. Teg.
St. Dernatrd, 54A September, 1831.
Sin: I ecarcely know how to thank you, dear sir, for the kind athl obliging letter with which you have bonored us, aecumpanied by valuable dereriptions ansl modele of grates, that will be of the greatest use to us: I beg you to aecept uur vincers thanks for them. According to the bitetrncions you gava us a yeur ago, I had a grale pul up in the parlor chumery: it ham sue cecden well; there are, however, aull some impruvemente to be made after your model, and, thank to yon, we hope to sueceed in it entirely.
A few days after your departime from our Hosplee a year ago. I win in great danger of beiug lost in a tempest on our mountatin. Tirce permons perimbed at a short distatsce from mes. God was gracionsly pleased to prolong my dayn; I onght to be very grateful to liom, and endeavor to live firr His service. Your very obedient servaint,

BARRAS, chan. Teg.
St. Bernard, Folruary 20 h , 1833.
Moch honoren sis: The Hospice of 8 t. Bernard will alway preserve a lively remembrance of the interest which you taka III its prosperily. I aseure you, and it beg you also to asoura your friends, that there is monember of our congregation, who is not very grateful for the benefita which our llospica haa received, aud is yet to receive, by your generous offre of a furnace In burn antioracite: it will be very valuable to un, by enabling us to warm them house recommicaliy, and will be a great relle( to suffering beings, for the distance of Ave lengues ( 25 miles) from the woods, their seareity, and the difficulty of transportation, obilged us to practice the strictest econnmy. The anthracite, as you know, is no near, that it can be trausported without ex-prose-but we were in want of the means of making it burn. Thie furnacv, then, will be a monument which will perpetuate the generosity and the devotion of onr frimend in America, to the poor travellers acroas the "bigh Alps," by the great Bt. Bernard. Gratitude will owe these beneste to that pious sentiment, which so deeply interesta the friends of humanity in the unfortaaate. Your hamble servant,

BAlRAB, ehan. teg.
St. Rernard, April 96, 1833.
S1R: The esperiment made by Mr. Jayubach, on the burning of the abihracite in the furnace that yon had the kindaesa to sind th um, was crowned with the noot complete saceess. Wie have now ouly to thank you, and beg you to be the interpreter of our sentimenta of deep gratiluile, to the grnerous benefactora who have utulled with o ou in Lindoces in th. . Your very hamble servant,

BARRAS, chan. teg.
The following is an exiraet from the gentleman above alluded to, a melentific traveller and friesd, who was fortunately at the Hospice on its arrival.

Iforpice St. Bernard, M6iA April, 1833.
My pian sir: It is with the greatest gratification and plea sure that I can commanieate to ywn the fulfinnent of your whab-
 St. Bernard. In this time of the your, when tha snow reaches Lride, 4 miliea below 8t. Pierre, it was with the utmost difieuliy for me to bring it up. Till Ly dden, it wae brought on waghif from there 1 took rix men, who brought in pieces to the shmmit. The construchou was very ditheult, lirepuse several pieces were limoken when I npened the case. . . Notwith standing all this I nnecerded to hurn the coal, which is mors a plumbazo tian anthrarite. Twiep yesteidar the slove was in full operation, and the joy of the brethren has no boundary. They remermier you and your ilear family with the greaseat gra thude. To morrow I shall go Nuwn whl the mariner and the dugs, because the wealher is very stoumy, and the anow enor mous. Your mosl obedirnt pervant, L. JAYNISCH.
P.s. I hope you will excu*v my good English, my dietionary is 6,000 feet below.
fecount, rendered to those concerned, of inoney receivel and es. Cr.
pended.
Eil. Laight, esq.
W. Monta

Fred. Prime
Mien Douglane
J. MeVickar, (balance)
© 10 Rill of stove
825 Rrinittell to Martigney, to my the expense of getling up monntain 10 Trancyort from liavre to Martigney, per bill, $\mathrm{De}_{\mathrm{c}}$ la Roche, ike.

858
93
The thanks of the monks of the Hinopice are hereby presented to the above named gentlemen, and also to Mevert. Nott & Co. who liberally put their stove at cost price; Messrs. Bolton, Fox . Livingstoh, in whose vessel it went Ireight free to llaver; and to Mesmans. De Rhaia, laselin and Moore, who kiadily undertook the charge of itu wafe remissiou to Martigney.

$\rightarrow$ +* en en

FOREIGN MINISTEHS AND AGENTS OF THE U. 8 .

Departinent of state, June 19th 1833.
List of ministers, consuls, and other diplomatic and commercial agents of the C'nited States in foreign countries, and of the pluces of their residence.
Aaros Vail, charge d'alesm, de , secretary of legation, at Lnndon.
Thomas Aspinwall, agent, &e, and consul, at London.
Consuls. Francis B. Ugden, at Liverpool; IIeruan Visger, a Mristol; Robert W. Fox, at Falmouth; Thotnas Weir Fox, at Plymouth;Albert Davy, at Kimgaton upon Hult; Robert It. Itunter, at Cowee, isle of Wight; Joci Ilart, at Leith, Sentland; Alex ander Thompson, at Glaggow; Thomas Wilsoll, at Dublin, irelande Renbea llaivey, at Cork: Thomas Willami Gilpin, at Sel Thet Herato Nprague, at Gibraltar Paul Frobeiville, nt izle or 'rase Horathon Wuna, at 'rurkx' Island; _- at De Irances 'Thomas Wynns, at Turk' 'slani; Paica; Pani Eynaud, merara; Peter Lanınan, at Kıngston, Jamaica; Pani Eynaud at Ieland of Malta; Mosen Benjamin, at Itritish Givyana; Thos M. Pertse, at Galway; Jolin Morrow, at Halifax, Nova Scotia

Commerciat ogents. W. Tudor 'Tweker, at Herninda; Cieurge Muyler, at Naswau, N. P.; Rulph Iliginbutham, at At. Christo pher and Antizua; Cliarles I.. Bartlett, at fulatul of Trinidad; Sola llaly, at Barbadoee; William Carroll, at Island of $t. Ile lena.
reance.
Filward Livingaton, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentialy, at I'aris.
Thomas $\mathbf{P}$. Barton, seeretary of icgation, at Paris.
Consula. , agent, &e, &e. connul, at Parls.
 Marmeiler; Francis C. Elywiek, at Nantes; Falward Church, at Alison, at cyons; Theodore Pilvat, at Cettr; James Josep beese, at La Rurhelle; - Pensular conmercial agent. Peter Suau, at Guadaloupe Is.
Con land.

John G. Boker, consul geneial, at switzerland.
nemaia.
Sames Buchanan, envoy extraurdimary and minister plenipotentiary, at &l. Peteraburgh.
John Handolpt! Clay, secretary of legation, at St. Petersbirgh.
Consula. Attatharn L'. Gitbson, at Nt. Peturaburgh; Johon Raiti, at Odessa; Heary Bcthielen, at Taganrog; Edmund IIrandt, at Arehangel.
Corn. P. Van Neas, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, at Madrid.
Arth. Mid山leton. Jun. aceretary of legation, at Madid.
Consula. Alesauler Burton, at Cadiz; Willinm surling, at Barcelona; - at Valencla; George G. Burrel, at Malagat Gcorge u. Adams, at Alicante; Maximo de Aguirre, at Bilboa; A.H. P. Edwarde, at INland of Manilla; Payton Gay, at Island of Tresentfics George Tr. Ladico, at Ralmaric Islands; Nicholas IP. Trist, at Itavana, Cuba; Robert IL. Stewait, at 'TrimiJad, Cuba; Lewis Bhoemaker, at Matanzac, Cuba; Juhn Owen, at Puerto del Principe, Cuba; Hopeful Twler, at Ponce, Porto Rico; Sidney Mamon, at Sl . Johns, Purto Rico.
Commerdal agents. John Leonard, at Nt. Jngo, Cuba; Henry Somerns agenfo Cuba; IVItam II. Tracy, at Gunyama K, Stearns, at Barascoa, Ruba; Rico; Sampson C. at Mayaguez, Porto Rico.

porteane

Thomas L. I. Bient, eharge d'aflaires, at I.iabon.
Consuls. Israel P. Hutchunemn, at Lisbon; -_, a Oporto: John II. Markli, at fsland of Madeira; Charies W. Jab nea, at Fayal; Williaut G. Mertill, at Cape de Verd Lslands.

sETUERLANDS.

Auguate Davezar, charge d'affaires, at the Irague Consuls. John W. Parker, at Amsterdam; John Wambersic, at Eoterdam: W'm. V. Patterson, at Altwerp; Thomas Trask, at Surinan: Lonis Paimbocuf, at Inland of Curacoa; Jolin ShitJaber, at Batavia; Louis Mark, at Osteud; Jehu Hollingoworth, at St. Eustatia.
neratex.
IIugh S. Legare, charge d'affaires, to the king of the Beigians. acstria.
Consuls. Cbarles Barnet, at Veuice; Geo. Moore, at Trieste; J. G. Schwartz, at Vienna.

Consuls. Frederick Kalı, at Darmstadt; Fredetick List, at Duchy of Baden; Robert Ravdoffer, at Munich.

swepr.

Christopher llighea, chatge d'atiaires, at Sinckholm.
Consuls. Davit Erskine, at Suckholm; C. A. Murray, at Gottentharg; Helmach Janson, at Beageu; _-_, at St. Bartholourew.

bFMARK.

Henry Wheaton, chacge d'athires, at Copenitagen.
Conouls. Jotun llaynals, at Coproliazen; Natitan Leevy, at Island of St. Thutsas; Juseph Rudgway, at Jolaud of 'sl. Crotx.
paUsis.
Consuls. William T. Stuons, at Elbervelt; Frederick Schil low, at stettin.
Consul. C. F. Goehring, at Leipzig.
hanegatic towna.
Conouls. John Cathbert, at Hamburg; Joshua Dodge, at Bremen; _, at Lubec; Kirnest Betuwendler, at free impenal city of Frankfott on the Maine.
italean etatea.
Consuls. Thomas Appleton, at Leghora; James Ombrosi, at Florence; Robert Campbell, at Genoa; Vietor A. Sassermo, at Nice.
goman states, and gingdon or til two sicilige.
Consuls. Felix Cicognani, at Rome; Alexander Hammet, at Naples; Benjamin Garduer, at Palerwo; John L. Paywon, at Messina. smyana.
Consut. David Offley, at Sulyma.
shasay rowken.
Consuls. Sainuel D. Heap, at 'Tunim; Daniel S. McCauley, at Tripolj; James R. Leib, at 'rangier.
Commercisl agent. - , at Algiers.
ONITED MEXICAN Btates.
Anthony Butler, charge d'affarres, at Mexico.
Consuls. Jantes S. Wilcockz, at Mexico; George R, Robert son, at Tampico; Thomas Heily, at Auguatulco; Harvey Greag at Acapulco; James James, at Veta C'ruz and Alveradoc; Damod W. Nuith, at Metamoros, or Refugio, on Roo Grande; Jotan 8 . Laumom, Chonualiua; Jamee Davis, at Sta. Fe; James W Mefiotin, as Nalullo: Henry l'errlac, as Campeche; James LeMefiotin, at salulo; Mas, Mazatian and shan Blas; David G. uox Kennedy, at Guaymas; Mazatian and dan Blas; David G.
 N. Pope, at Tobasco; John W. Langdon, at Laguna, I. del Carmen.

REFEALIC of COLOMBIA.
Robert B. MeAfee, charge d'affarres to New Granada, at Bogota.
Consuls. John M. Macpherson, at Carthagena; J. G. A. Wil Hamsob, at La Guayra; Alexander Danoufliy, at Ganta Martha; , at Girayaquil; $\qquad$ at Maracay I.Itelifield, at Porto Cabelio; J. B. Ferrand, at Panama; Thousa F. Kinox, at Angnstura.

Fthan A. Brown, charge d'affalres, at Rlo de Janeiro.
Consule. John Martin Baker, at Rio de Janeiro; Wondbridge Odlin, at San Salvador; Jolin T. Mansfield, at Pernambuco Abrahur R. Sinith at Para: Josbua Bond, at Montevideo Charlen B. Allen, at Islant of Maranham; Iqaac Auatin Hayes, at Rin Grande; George Mack, at Santos; Lemuel Wells, at Lsland $s t$. Catharine.

REPUBLIC OF CENTRAS AMEREA.
Charles G. De Witt, charge d'affatres, at Guatemala.
Consuld. Charles Eavage, at Guatemala; G. Coursant, at Truxillo. merealite or mekson aymem.
Consul. charge d'affnires, at Buenos Ayres.

CHILE.
John Ilamm, charge d'affairew, St. Jago de Chile.
Consuls. Thomas $$$. Russell, at Valparaiso; Daniel Wynne, at st. Jago de Clitile.

REPCHLLC OF PERE.
Samuel Lanned, charge d'affaires, at Lima.
Consuls. William F.'Taslor, at Quica, Arica and Arequipa; Asa Worthington, at Liura; ——, at Payta.
Commercial azents. F. M. Dimond, at Port au Prince; WiLham Miles, at Aux Cayes; Samuel Isracl, at Cape Iiaytien. sannwicu ishande.
Commercial agent. Jalin C. Jones, jun. at Sandwieh Istands. cilima.
Consul. Jolin II. Grasvenor, at Canton.
TEREEY.

David Porter, charge d'affaires, at Eublime Porte.
Daviliam B. Ilogxden, drogoman, do.
Consut. Frederick E. Bunker, at Constantinople.
LANT OF CONGOLAR AGENTS RECENTLY APPOINTED.
Agents. Places. Date of appointment. W. B. Blewellen, Salonica, 21st December, 1831. Daimas Devenant, stancho, Ilth January, I8\%2. Emanucl Samatissa, Tenedos, Ith Jaguary, 182 John Gliddon, Jasper Chasseaud,

Alexanilria,
12th January, 1832.
Damascuв, Beiront, Balbee,
Satd, and the sowns Satd, and the lownt within ther limits. Jerumalem, and the David Darmon,

D. Bnnaal,

Nich'e Lucn Perick,
Dr. Marino L.azzaro,

I2th January, 1692.
\(\left\{\begin{array}{l}Jeruwalem, and the  city and port of
Jaffa,

Cates\end{array}\right\}\)| Ilth J July, 1822. |
| :--- |

Cantes,

Bronen,
Dardanelles,

Ith July, 1822.
11 th July, 1832 .

NILES' WEEKLY REGISTER.

Founta skaiks. No. 21-Vol Vill.] BALTIMORE, JULY 20, 1833. [Vol XLIV. WhoLe No. 1,159.

THE PAST—THE PRERENTMOR THE TUTURE

EDITED, PRIKTED AND PUBLISGED BT K. NILES, AT $$ 5$ PER ANNUM, PAYABLE IN ADVANCK.

0.The editor has not only aegleeted his usual correspondenee with many valued friends, but been compelled to postpone tha preseatation of several long papers, ou Important statistical subjects, for which the chicf tanterials were collected some monthe ago-not on acconat of what may be properly called bad bealth, but because of a general Inability to labor with his mind or body as heretofore-and both need a brief relaxation, to regain atreagth. For the last twenty two years, the editor truly believes that he has been engaged in actual buaimest, (and nearly all at the deak), not less than iffy-four hours a week, for an average of the whole period, and it Is not at ail extraordinary that the should, sometimes, feel the general inablity spoken of. Every bow, if expected to retain its elasticity, must now and then be unbent; and it is the present intention of the editor, in the course of a few days, to start on a journey that will oceupy four or ive weeks-hoping to return and resume his seat with a renewed power to merit the liberal and kind support which he receives.
In the mean time, the ordinary business of the Rxoisten will go on as usual, and be also expects to contribute much to tis contents.

00 -Certain movements are making with a seeming design to create a new and prematnre and ardent agltation of the tariff question. We hoped that this might have been avoided, at least "for a season"-and shall not do any thing to provoke it; though it is our intention to do all that we can to keep the protectino princifle alive, and convince the people of the United States of the necessity of perpetual vigilance; and that, though the friends of domestic industry have been brought to a pause, they must not suffer themselves to be disunited, nor permit a suspicion to prevail that they have abandoned their opinions, in despair of the future. Better times ake a-heab! Facts will present themselves to diseipate the fool-notion, that high dutiev, on goods imported, are necessarily burthens on the people-and to show that they oftentimea are zost substantial benefitthat paice te abwave measoued by the meane or paying rT; and that three-fowrths af the interest in manuractures is in the owners axb cultivators or tit soil. An Joun Abans said in 1776, when supporting the claims of his conntry to independence, we say-that "sink or minim, live or die, turvice or pe riah, we give our heart and hand to this meanure," in a solemn belief that the protection of free labor in the United States in indispensable to the peace, liberty and safety of our countrymen; and that the enjoyment of such protection is a "matural and unallenable right."
With the views just etated, we propose, in the course of a few weaks, to commence a regular and calm discussion of princtples, and their effects-with the hope of being able to present some thinge in anch lights as will give confidence to the friends of the "American Svatzin," and weaken the virulence of its mistaken opponenta. Of thone who have ued "the tariff" to secomplish their owa tremsonable or aunbitious purposes, we have mo hope; and, if they will go beadiong to destruction-why Iet them! There ix no class of persona, to onr opinion, so deeply interested is the preservation of that "system," as those who mont violently oppose It. Passion will not permit them to observe the "gigna of tix timge," We shall boist the banner to the head of the uasat-not in defiance-but as evidence of our contidence in tha justica of the canse, with a consciounness, aloo, of an ability to keep it pmoully foathe thare. Wethough onily of the rank of a "eabin boy," wail not "give sp the ship," until the captain [which is the people], shall say "douse the stripes and star!!" That "comnatind" being heard, we shall humbly aubmit-but, unul then, have reaulved to do vhat we thiak is "duty."

We fearn from the "Pennsyivanian" that the hesith of the previdant is tolerably good, conaidering the fatigus be has recently encounterad," and "that be will probably retire for a short period from Washington, to enjoy the cool breezes and bracing air of the Rip Raps."

Voz. XLIV-Sie. 23.

We insert the address of Mr. Biddle, on layiag the comer stone of the Girard college, at Philadelphla, as well because or the beauty of its componition, as for the liberal and enlightened principlea which it proclaims.

The letter mail bag, or "Pouch," was missed between New Brunewiek, (N. J.) and New York, In the night of the Sth lest. and no doubt stolen. The postmaster, at New Brunswick, in offering a reward for the recovery of the mall, &cc. given a list of checks and drafts whieh are known to hava been in the mail, and also mentions conaiderable sums of money, which had been also reported to him.
Uader the head of "electioneering In Vermont" will be meea a new move in poltics. The Jackson and anti Jackson partiea bave united, to put down the anti-iuasouic-which is atronger than either of the other two, but much weaker than the swo united.
The violence to which parties hava proceeded In thle state, cannot be duly esteemed by the people of the south and west, who ure free from the "anti-masonic excitement"-which does not appear to have reduced its action, though the maconic lodges have generaliy surrendered their chartera and dissoived themselves, as we see it stated in some of the Vermont papers; and it is on this ground that the uational republican aad Jackson parties have "coalesced."

The fathersinip of nullfieation is disputed in South Carolina. The honor having been claimed for gov. Hamilton, has produced considerable diseussion. The parties acknowledge Mr. Jefferson as the original of the doctine-but they hava not agreed upon the author of its revival. We rather think that it belongs to Dr. Cooper, and see that he was so toasted on the th of Juty, at Culumbla:
4. By Dr. M. H. Deteon-The father of nullification, Dr. Thomas Cooper: He has been the patron of free principles in two hemispheres, and is most valued where he is best known."
Our much sateemed fellow townsman, Charles S. Welah, esq. late secretary of legation of the United Btates, as Msdrid, died on a journey from that city cowarda Valescia, whitber he way proceeding for the sake of his health-being afficted with a confirmed consumption. His was a gentleman of fine taleata, and lighly accomplisised, and only 32 yeare old.

One petition has been presented to the British parliament for the Immediate abotition of negro slavery, that was signed by 800,000 women-and another by meariy 900,000 more. The whole number of signers seems to have been atmost two millions! The question has become a national feeling-and such feelinga, in seeking their owa gratification, pay iftile respect to eonsequences; and thinge which may be right Ia themselves, are oftentimes brought about in a wrongful manner. It seems afmost beyond a doubt, that alavery will be abolished, and apeedily, in the British Weat Indies.
Thare lias been a graed display at the court of Eagland. The queen, the princess Victoria, heiress of the throne, and her another, the duchese of Kent, were splendidly dressed-all the patticulars of which are dezeribed, and avery article, it is proadly stated, was of "Britiah manufucture."
This is right. The lord chancellor slguifeantly sits upon a mack of wool-but a late American "ntatesman" said that "he would go twenty rods out of his way to kick a sheep!'" How uneasy then would he have felt on the wool-sack, sitting as lord chancellor of Great Britain?
There has been a great deal of excitement, and sundry revolationary movements in Mesico-in which blood was abed. The bottom of the businese may, perhapa, be understood by quoting the following article wet forth by one of the bands of conspirators:
"Art. 1. This garrison protests that it will sustaln at all hasards the hoty religion of Jesus Christ, and the eanone and privileges of the clergy and of the army, threatened by the intruded authorities."

We had hoped that the day of nuch things was nearly passed away. The religion of Jesus Christ is not one of persecuition or blood-shed. The famatie were put down. Santa Anna had behaved well.

A letter from Vern Crinz dated June 15, says-
"There has been auother revolution attempled in the interior, but is so nearly sinothered as to eause no feara. Energy pervades every department, and the states are alt in arms to support it. This crusade will end like all others-in disaster to the the party that got it up. Satha Auma was betrayed and made pitionter by Ansia, butrscaped. A drath htow wilt now be given to the prients and gauchupite an well as their friends; many have been seized and made prisoners. Amone them are ntumbered Terran Fontuta and Alubiranti; and of Mesicans, Rauera Berena and Morand, (exteandi of verancas), &c. Depend upon it all is safe, and it will nake the government stronger and more rerpected."

The king of Apain has resolved to entablish the succession on his infant daughter Maria lsabet Loouka, in faiture of a mate offepring, and had summoned those who have a right to vote in the cortes to appear in the cliurch of the rnyai monastery of st . Jerome on the 20th June lant, to take the oath of allegiance to her.
Spain is filted with highway robbers and chureh robbers-and sone of the provinces are altanost covered whth lecusts.

Mr. Febster arrived in Bultimore late in the afternoon of Monday last, and deprarted in the steambout for Philadelphia next moming, at 6 o'cloek, A. M. He expressed great pleasure in having wituessed the wonderful growth and prosperity of those parts of our country which he hall visited-and seemed much gratified with the generous and kind attentions whieh had every where been paid to him, and by persons of every political party,

We received yesterday the "I'ittshurg Gazette" of the 16th, containing a aketch of Mr. Webster's speceh delilivercd in that city, as reported by Mr. M. T. C. Gould the stenographer-which we shall jublish next week.

We have a copy of col. Drayton's farewell address to the Washington society at Charleston-and shall give it a pluce, on several accounts.

The present year will be long and awfully remembered in Kentucky-for the "scourge of the human race," the mysterious and terrible cholera, has passed over most parts of the state, and, in some, decimated the jueople in ten or twelve days-and then retired, as if appeased with the sacrifice rnade! Many of the best and inost valued inhabitants of Keutucky have fallen vietiass to this disease. It seems to luve ahated, in general-but at some places still fuarfully raged. It will afford pleasure to many to learts, as we have been informed-hat Mr. Cluy, and bis family, had not been aftlieted.

We have just received a letter from a highly respectable gentleman, resident in the south-western part of Lousiana. He speaks of the cholera in fearful termsand says that some of the planters liave lost one-fourth of their working liands! And even when it shall please Providence to arrest the discase, it is believed that a large part of the growing erops will perish-for the want of laborers to seeure them in season.

The citiea and towns on the sea-board of the United States are, in general, rather more healthy than is usual In the present season of the year. We do not hear of eases of cholera in any of them.

It is not easy to imagine the march of population and business in the "great west." Think of thirty-five huge steamboats lying at Louisville, at one time, receiving or discharging their curgoes-then look at the map and see where that city is located! Proceed north, and enquire What is doing on the shores of lake Erie, &e. where the Indian had his "home" less than 20 ywars ago, when the tomahawk and scalping kuife of the savage were bathed in the blood of our people, and the wildness of desolation hal perfeet dominion! In the present year, up to the 13 th inst. there had been 230 arrivals of veasels at the port of Cleveland, (last year, for the same time, only 142) and about as many ilepartures! 'Then think of lands being leased in Cincinnati at the yearly retut of 33 dollars the foot front-about three dollars an inch! Such are mere types of the raighty benefits which are flowing upos us, because of the protected and excited industry of laboring freemen.
"ThE INCLINED PLaxEs." We never pased these planes on the Baltimore and Ohio rail road without some llegree of apprehension, until Monday last, when returning from Fruderick-thongh assured that all necessary guards for the safety of passengers had been provided, and were daily examined, lest they might get out of order. This confidcnee was the result of an aecident which happened on the preecding Saturday. When descending the plame No. 3, at a rate of not less than ten, and perhaps of twelve miles an hour, being near the foot of it-the horse fill; but such was the vigilance of the driver and his assistant, and so great the power of the breaks, that the heavily laden car was stopped before any of us knew the canse of it, aunl the loorse did not appear to have suffiered an injury, though his hind lest were tying on the wail!' Ite was much frightened-but, guthering himself up in one or two nuinutes, lie was put into bis place again, and performed the remainder of his trip with a fule spirit, and at perfeet ease. On heing released, we could not observe any lameness, or hurt-thoagh some one said that a part of his skin, "of the size of a cent," was rubbed off.
The knowledge thus obtahned will render it inarl in as to excuse an accident happenimg at the inelised planea; for, unless because of sonse very extraurdinary cireumstance, it must be the result of pure carclessacss. And against that we have the best guaranties possible, in the interest of the company, and the employment, onty, of steady anil discreet and respectable persons, having charge of the cars. We have frequently travelled the whole line of this road, and never once observed the least disorder in the management of the transportation-so far as the safety of individuals was concerned; but must add that there is a great want of attention to seeming trifies that add much to the comfort of travellers, and which without interfering with the urgeney of journies on bus: ness, induce persons to inake pleasurable excursions, a to take their wives and children with them.
taz choleta.
We shall give up, for the present, nur brief notices of the progress of the cholera, through the weat-for we observe that they are subject in numerou* errors.
The disease has swept over nearly all Kentucky-and Ir severat places it carried off one-tenth of the intiatiolants! It atill rsked in some of the stantl towns, and in certain of the counties -but, on the whote, seemed to be decidedly retiring. In one instance, 12, out of a faunity of 13, had died!
A few eases now and then occur in different parts of Otio, Tennessee, Alabama, Missouri, (Western) Virginia, Loulslana, and at Pittuburg, &c. and in Maryland, near Williamsport, among the taborere on the camal.
A tetter dated Wittiamsport, July 9, says-"A very anpolling circumstance occurred among the first cases which we bad. On the afternoron of Bunday week, a female was attacked at One of the shatitees, a mite above tow u, and a messc.ager was despatched for the doctor instanily. Dr. Fintey weat up and remained a tiuce with her, but ber situation was sucl when be got there, ins to prectude all hope of recovery. He \},sturned to town, and had ncarcely taken his seat in the house. .
Her usesseloger came for him with the tidings that first eame for him was very alek. He remounte viat him, and fount him in the collapsed atage. honrs from the firet attack, and when he se health. The men have all deserted the line fe

4 .ect and more than 500 mirn have gonc off during, week. They have not removed a great diotance; some have rented eabing and huts in the couniry above; others have gone to the national road, near Cumbertand; and many (as I was informed by a gendieman yesterday) have erected vhantees in the mountains to remain in untit health is restored. Eight cases occurred yesterfay after dinner, and all are dead."
New Orteane is not restored to health-but the number of deaths is counparatively manth. On the 25 th ult. 36 . A letter of a later date alay the intermente were only 15. Preseat population about 30,000 .
The chotera was raging with great malignity in Lisbon, at the date of our lat accounts.

A Frankfort, (Ky.) paper says: "In many parts of this county chickena and other fowis have died in great numbers with ail the symptons of cholera. A gentieman of our acquaintatace edmintstered apirits of canuphor to several chickens which were apparently mear death, and they instautly revived and speedily rreovered.?

Picepocsets, ke. The whoie eountry seerns infested with aharpers, piekpockels, and viluer robbers of the meanent and most ecoundrel ble grade. We ahnost evety day bear accounts of their depredations and in large aunounts. Englagd seems to have the honor of givimg birth to a majurity of thewe "artasts." The highway robier shatids in tie relation of a gentleman to a boof, with compared with ruch oneakiog villains. We hope that the legalature of Maryland will, at the mext seslon, "give rauk" to pickpuckeu and their hundred, by placing their offesces highest on the list of criuses agsinat property, except man-steuling-that persous convicied may be takit care of, and taugit to apply their nimble fingers to the ham meriug of granite, for a goodly number of ycars, withous a bope of pardon, before the termination of the prriods to which they shall be sentenced-for the hearls of tieye persons winsi be "desperately wicked." Gangs of them follnwed the president in lise toar, and, probably, abstracted pretsy near 50,000 dollars frim the puekets of honest men, collected in erowis to pay respect to the cher magistrate-and Black Hawk also yrelded thesu a rich burvest. They are provided with many ecientific instrumeut, and are excerdingly destrnus in the tue of thea. They are generally well dreased, and have the matrners of respectable persuns, and press round individuals on board of steamboats, ke. when called upon to pay their fare, to discover the poeketa it which moury is deposited, &.e.

Amemican mavigation. Never was the effeet of protection more elearly Demoustrated than in the success which atteuded the nuraing of our navigating interest. It was protected-EFFicilatir photectin, fivon the slart of our government, as well by high discriminating dutien, as by the casxon law of the nation, for Iwenty-five years-and then had reached such power as not only to proteet itself, but to demand, even of Englaml, a relaxation of her navigution laws, and obtained it! With the same policy extended to manufactures, resolute and unyielding as applied to navigation, and to be relaxed only on the principles of pure reeipuocity in tuade, the like success would have attended that far more iniportant branch of industry, within the same period; and we might already have said, to all the wolld, we will ruceive your goods on a simple revenue duty, if you will so reseive ours-w wh this consideralion, how ever, whether the American laboser, who eats meat freely thice times a day, if he pleases-should be placed in competition with an European laborer, who cannot eat meat, treely, three times in a week!
These thoughts occurred on reading the following from the London "1imes" of the 28th May last-
No question of commercisl, futanctal, or eeonomical polley has ever excited greater litereat or ansiety anong the great body of inerehante, ship owners, and tradesmen of the metropolis, connected with the traffic or the supply of the colooles, than the proposed abolituon of negro slavery: aecordingly, to ctiy meeting was ever inore numerously atteuded, or more zealoasly watelied, than tha assemblage of the West India body collected yesterday at the city of London tavern.
We were rather amused to orberve the desterous mapner in which a certain honorable ship owaer attempted to repeat bid olf objections to the "reciprocity symem" on n question of negro emaneipation; but wa cansot think that lit-expeution was so happy as his design. His allusion to America was certainly very unlucky, and his want of success ought to counsel him Ho to renture beyond the Sound or the Bultic tuall. T'he proportiot. ${ }^{2}$ or our trade wath the United States carrud on in British one last year did not amount, he assures us, to more that yth of that carried on in American bottums! Has this quantity altered of late; and, it on, for what cause? , from the reciprocity kysitm, which lias exinted with on a treaty that auburquently became the moriel o all 0 sutes.
The Amerienns refined to trade with ue on any other ennditoons, and what we werr ntuliged to concede to the powerful government of the United Staice we could not refince to the more ferble commercial navies of nortbern Europe. Hence the origin and justification of that change in our havigation laws which Mr. Young is so gealnus to condemn, but which uo Eughsh government eould at firsi have prevenied, or can now alier, with. out entaling on ournetves greater evils than we bifict upon others. We taay mention by the way, hor Mr. Young's benefit, that the Americans have in this respert followed rive policy of Great Britain, and that sull thaur ewtenprise is much au to guve them a maufert advantage over all other nations who take their produce or trade to their shores. In the year ending September, 1830 , of a toral of imports amounting to the value of $870,876,920$, ouly $4,641,161$ were imported is foreign vessels!!

Egyrt. This empire, or kingdom, or by whatever nume it may be called, is now more powerful that that of the Uttoman Porte. The "slave" has, at least, become the equal of the "master;" the vassal, with more tact mind talent, energy and ambilion, lias dictated terms to his lord-and wou, for himself, independence and go-verciguty-as well as obtained means to compel a due respect for' both. 'T'hus an olil nation (under new circumstances), is restored-and Eigypt, if the policy of Mehenuet Ali is pursued, may again become a distimguished sent of the arts, as well as of stms; and, exerting a mighty influence over the alljaceut tribes, or nations, materially change the charweter und conduct of inany millions of the human race-reaching even the dark centre of Africa, atol gathering under one head the whole of the Arab races, those alone excepted whose "home" is in the dosert, anl "whose hands are against every man."

Neilher the present population or extent of Egypt (proper) as now established, seems settled, beeause that the extent of the new territories in the south, is not ascertained. A large part within its limits is in deserts but the valley of the Nile is exceedingly fertile, and there are large tructs of tillable land high up that famous river. The population that was subjeet to the pacha of Eigypit has been estirnated at from $2 \frac{1}{2}$ to 4 mile lions. We should suppose it nearer to the latter than the foriner. Syirla, a vast country, is added, with a population of more than $2,000,001$; Adana, which lies on the north castern part of the Meditcriwnean, is populousand the island of Candia, happily located, has about 300,000 inhabitants; and to these is yet added, in faet, the whole of cultivatel Arabia, with the charge of the "tomb of the prophet," \&ec. having absolute jurisdiction over Jerusaleın, or Palestine, now ineluded in Syria. We should roughly guess, that the whole population under the influence of the Eayptian seeptre, or sword, cannot be less than ten millions, and, perhaps, may considerably exceed that amount-inhabiting what has been, (and again may be), sonte of the tutust delightful regions of the carth-fitted 10 all the oceupations of man in the highest state of civilization annl refinement, and which. unter a good government, woulil soon again teem with denaely placed millions of people.

The opening of a canal, or making of a rall rond, (either of whieh is within the means of Mebemet Ali), from the Mediterranean to the Red Sea, would have as great an effect, on his country, as the introduction of steamboats has yet had on our own mighty rivers of the west, and restore Alcxandria to her ancient rank as a seat of commerce.

Onwamd-still onward. We understand, says the Vilage Record, that a contract lias beeti entered into by the operatora of the tnarble quarry of John t . Thomans of the Valley, to fur* nish t wo hundred thousand fect of marble tor the Girard college. The Pennayivania rall road, when completed, will give value to many productions of the countiy, which, without it, might have laill durmati for centuries. We state, as a fact deserving of notice, and wuls the hope that it may be useful to those who have limeflime or uther quarilis of mines, which they have either abohiltherf, or wrought with difficulty, from the quantity of water which impeded their progress, that a syphon has been constrorted and introduced into she quarry, which conveya the water off by a constant stream, permatung and facilitatigg the operations of the workmen.

07 - It is thus io every state of the unioa in which internal improvements have been made; and if the proceeds of the pub lic lands were applied nceordiun to the provisions of Mr. Clay ${ }^{2}$ bill, there is no calculating the atnount of the bepeft that would flow from the proceeding. The three nillions that would (probahly) be divided atnong the states every year, would, perhape, ect a new value of thirty millious, aunually, into motion.
The Ballumore and Ohin rall road thas caused a new buslaese. It would be quite pafe, we think, to asy, that a thousand persons are now snbertsted by the quarryiag and dressing of grauite and the road also gives au easy access to the beat quarrises of limestone.
"Wool. Fify bates of Burnos Ayrean sold at auetion, in Now York, at 7 cent-sale wopped. Sales at Philadelphta-prime Saxony 60 cente-sale ptopped; 65 offered and refused: full blooded murino 43 cruts; a and 7.8 blooded 43 cents-salen stopped. There is a brisk demand for fine and light feece wool.

The Ovenslaten. The Albany Evening Post of the 100h inst. says-The schooner Crescent, from Masunique, with a cargo of molasses, to Mr. F. Quaries, of this city, has been two days upon the Oversiaugh! Is it not strmige-very strange-that while the West lindia vessels in our enizens are conatitutionally bound to pay revenue to the tinited states, it shouid be deciared "unconstitutional" for the United States' governinent to furnish fur the se vessels an unobatructed navigation? We should be gratiked to know whether guv. Marey does ont have queer dreams about his vote agaiast an appropriation to improve the narigation of the Hualson rieer! Nuthing but the recorded evidence of the fact, could keep un assured of its exiztence. Duty, justice, reason and patroutism, all exclaias against the probability of such a vote! A senator in congreas frous the great and patriotic state of New York, and vote against a bili to Improve the navigation of the nobient river in the worid!! A citizen of AI. bany, and give a vole which cripples its commerce and blasts He prusperity!!!
Tue Weat Indian trade. Puglish vesaele, nays the New York Daily Advertiver, are cnastantiy arriving at this port with cargoes from the West indites. Here they reload with cargived of provisions, four, &e. and clear for SL. Jishn's, or some other near gort in the proviace, discharge, pay the tifling warrlunse duty, and proceed again with tiserr cargoes to the West Indies. By this circuitoum ronte they avord the duly limposed on A murrican produce, and sueceed in necuring to the tuselves all the earrying trade to and from the West ladies.

Mositure in rlouk. Mont Important researclies have recently been carried on by M. M. Fayen and Porsozz, an the aeveral points in the chetnical hintory of bread, flour and grata. Their obvervatiogs are mot yet puhlished in detail, but we select the following as being of the very highest comusercial diettic importance. They have found, that 100 parts of flour, sold as dry, and imparting no molst stain to blotung paper, contain, under ordinary ataoogpherie circumstances, 19 per cent. of water, and but 81 of dry or nutritive matter; that four exposed to moist air contains as inuch as $\mathbf{2 3}$ per cent. water, that the fineat four employed by the bakers, contains 16 per cent. under ordinary circumstances. In summer, these proportions of water are reduced, bat they are reinarkably increased In inoist weather. Thus, the quantity of fiour which by weight, at the rate of tive per cent. of water, would produce 150 lhas. of bread, will prodace but 127 it ibs, when the same weight offlour is purchased in long continued wet weather. The price of fiour should consequentIy, In all seasons be based nn the true quantity of dry matter is eontains, and which a simple and rapidly performed experiment would exactly indicate. Thus, by placing 100 grains of flour on e piate, and healing this on a vessel of boiling water for an hour, the loss sustained will dennte the precise quantity of water mixed whth the flour. The faets ascertalned by M. M. Peroz and Payen are publisbed in outiine in the last number of the Journal de Chlmie.

SLancet.
[We sone time ago noticed the apparatus of Mr. Nathan T'ysoa for disengaging the water from fiusr, when being manufaccured, with a view to its better preservation in warm countries -and are happy to learn that experience amply supports the good opinion entertained of his invention. The flour thus made, will not only keep eweet longer, but nuat be more valuable tian other flour because of the weight of the water discharged.]
Cincinnatt. We learn from the "Daily Advertiser," that ground on the pubtic landing of that city, bas been recently leased at thirty-thres doliars the foot front, per anntun. The length of the landing in 1,020 feet. Other instances inf the great value of lots In Cincinnati are mentinned-and tit risu luas been rapid, within the last six or meven years.

Ax thmenee estate, It has been reported in a Philadelphia paper-that the chancellor of New York bad decided in favar nf the claimante in the important case of the Trinity church, which has been contested in law for many yearu, and which laviuves property to the amount of twenty-five milloons of dollars; one of the principal beirs to which, we learn, ls Mr. Gcorge Brewer, of Kensington, In this city, an elderly gentleman, in moderate circumstances, formerly a clerk in the old V/uited states bank. It Is stated that they have auade a further clam to oue hundred and thirty acres more, situated in the ceutre of the city of New York, which, with the other lands, will nut only cinbrace the church, but fis reventies, as well as anme of the most valuable real estate in that ctty. This property has bern a mubject of dis. pute ever since the clome of the American revolation.
The New York Journal nf Comnuerce copies the precedlag and says-"That a suit bas been commenced agaimst the corporation of Trinity chareh, faving for its object to iliwpowess paid church of its Immense real essate In this city, is very prababile, and in fact true. But in this there is nothing very alarming ar very novel. Many suis have been commenced at different tumes against Trinity chureb for the recovery of thix properiy. but they bave unifornily falled, and we have no doubt this will."

Wassinetox. The following toast was given, at Lynchburg, VIrginia, on the 4th Inetnat:

The memory of Washington-When temples and trophles shall have mouldered into dust-when the glory of other names shall be but the legends of tradition, and the light of nther achievuments live only in song-phllownhy will rime again In the rky of ear Frankuin, and glory rekindie in the light of her own Wash. かeTON.

Col Dearron. At a dinner of the Washington society, in Charieston, on the th of July, at which eol. Drayton was present and preaided, the following toast was offered by one of the vice presidents:

The hon. Willian Drayton-The patriot "without fear and without teptoachi"-eatimable In private, Illustrious is public Iffe-all the cnds he aime af, are his country's.

After the enthusiastic applanse with whilh this toart was received by the cotnpany had uubrided, culonel Dragton rove and returowd in a handsotme manitior bie acknowledgmenta for the bonor done him; be tiven entered at some length into the questions connected with South Carulina's local politics and party divasonv, ased triumphantly vindicated his course in congress in referenen to them, and concluded with an affectiag allusion to Ins approaching depaiture from the state, bidding those aroand Inim an lmpressive and affectimnate farewell. Ifs parting ac-knowl-dgasents and benedictions were received with deep ensotion.

A Tonst. Tlie "Pennsyivanian" Ands fault with the "desmocrutic" cnumittee, for permitting the following toast of the late naty or of J'indadelptia to be pubbirsined!-regaraling it as an attack upon both prewident Jackson and governor 1 \%olf?
Ily Benjanitn W. Bichauds, 3d vice prewlotent. True demo cracy-The free will anal frye choice of the peonite; it morns alike offeial dictation, othelal jutronaen, and the deluave and Maink. We mometume pince noticed a great eale of wild lands in Maine, at very high prices-couceratug wiuch the "Purtland Cumrier" says-

This subject at presput excitea a good deal of iuterest. There is a uıy Five or six townshipe of land belonging to the state of Massa chusetts, after being advertisted sonne montlas in the papers of several states, wele sold at auction at Bangor a week or two since for a sum but litile short of fimar hundred tiousiand dullars. T'he collection of perople at ilie sale was very great; hundreds of theus laving ewne from a great fintance. The expenses, including titue and inoney, tiust have been mome thousands. The unitimuu price at which the lands were to be put up was one doilar per acre, and they would luave bea a sold at that price if mu more had been bid. Sume Innd dealens from this place who attended the sale, had mades up their minds thot to give mnre than seventy-five crnts an acre. 'The sale cnmetsenced, and the bids run far above the expectatinn of every one, and tivey were finally all strack off at more thaw three dullars an acre, and some of the townships at nearly four dullars. Mr. Ralph Hankington, of Boeton, whs announced as the purchazer of the whole.
But lo! and behold, as soon as the bews raches Bostan, Mr. Ifuntington appeare in the publle papera, and denies having any knowledge of the tranmactinn, or beiug any way directly or indirectly concerned in it. And report says that the individual who bid the lands nt is Irreaponsible, having no properiy.
Here was a pretty ketule of tinh, as Paddy wowld say. Peopla at the firet blush, etared and laughed at what they consialered the most splendid joke, the most mublime and magnificent boax nn record. But aftur all, is ant this quite too weriouts besiness to be suffered to prase off as a joke? Ought mot tie authors of is he made to smart for the deep injury they have inflicted not only on the land interest of the two staten, but on a great nemtor of imilivilunls also? For it will for a while have an injurious effect upon tand sales, and may aficet mauy persons very senaibly.
We put the queption to Mr. Cofinn, the land agent of Maseaclusetts, who wuperinteuded the male, whether his daty to himself and the public does not reguire him to probe this affair to the botbm, and ferret out the secret authors of it, if there art rnch, and arraign thrm at the har nf public opinion. At any inte, it is due in his own repuition to make a statement to the public of the eircnustances of the sale, and if be has been deceived, to show If he can, that it was no falt of bis.

Vinamia. The treasurer makem the following exhibit of the public funds on the Ist day of Juiy, 1892 .

In the bank of Virginla
8190.29905

In the Farmers' bank
177,57457

Total in both banks

8367,803 62
The statenient which we annex of the amonnt of inspecterl Whacco in this state, during the year endiag the 30th of June, and of the differrince Inetween this year't crop and the precedIng, have been furbished as by a mercinant Iu this city, whose naue allone assures us of its correcinew.

SuIpmite AND amieranta AT Qusazc. Comparative atate ment of artivals, tounage and emigrants, for the last four years, up to the 9th July in each year.

This shewa a greas falling off. If la probable that the ravagea of the cholera, last year, have chiefly checked emigration in the present.
The Indiama. A letter froan brigadier general Atkineon to the commander-in-ehier, published in the Giobe, states that the Winnebago Indians are reusoving peaceably from the ceded hads. The Pottawatornies intend also to aell out and remove beyond the Misstopppi, after raising their present crop-
Black Hawk and suite arrived at Buffilo on F'riday evening, the 98ch all. and lef there on the Sunday morsing following, in the steamboat Uncle Bam, for Detroit. They availed theinmelves of the opportunity, while at Buthalo, to visit the senceas In that neighborhood.

Impians in Manacituastrs. Scattered remnanta of the mhorigines atill liager in varlonum parts ot the state; bnt elioffy in the south eastern quarter, about Bozzard'n bay, and on the inland of Martha's Vineyard. Their united numbers are abotat 750. They are all under the guardinnslitp of the plate government, and are not allowed to ahenate their landa lint by eonsent of the overseers appointed by the atate to look after their inierestu. The society for the propagation of the gospel among the Indians, furnisties them with ministert and teachers. Ai Marmbpee and Martha'u Vineyard are settlements containiug 660 souls, who own 18,000 acres of fand in enmmon. They are all except 50 or 60 , of mixed blond, mostly by intermarriage with biacka. Soave of them have gardens and cultivated firldn, but thetr ehitef sources of inconse are the wood on their lands, the pipe clay of the island, and pasturing the catte of the whites. Many of the young men are employed in the whale and ather fisheries, and are akilful and industrious. They have forgolten their anclent namea and nearly all the Indian language; most of the children read and write. [Taunton Gaz.

Health of aramen. Nary deportment, July 8. The fleet surgeon in the Mediterraauan, under date of April 4, on board the frigate United Stases, writes-
"But one death from siekness has nccurred in the squadron for three months, which was on board this ship, being the firrt victum of disease wince leaving America. No death has nccurred in either the Constellation or the Johu Allams during the last three months."

Time of tie paestoential rlaction. The "National Gazette" some months ago sadd-Ammog the reforms nesded, we are inclined to place the adoption of one and the same sime, and space of time, throughout the United Suates, for the election of electors of president and vice president of the United states. Under the prement diversity of perind, the rewults of a atruggle in one state, Pennayivania, for lostance, have a sensible influpnce over those ol others, where the election is held later; and it may happen, as is the case now, that the absolute success of a candudate is ancertained hefore peveral of the states have opened their polls. The haowiedge of this fact dampa zeal and exertiun, and prevente'many citizens from voling at all, an they then deem uscless the exercine of their right of suffrage. But it is always of general importance that the real rolative strength of candidates and parties in every division in the unioo should be determined and promitgated $05^{-T h i s}$ is $n \cdot n$ an onimportant suggestion-and the subject may now be taken up, considered and deeided, nninfluenced by poltical partien.

TuE oovernmext pepoaites. Inquiry having heen made of un why the yeas and nays, In the house of representative", on the quastion of the continuation of the deposites of government funda In the bank of the United Etaten, have never been pubItshed, we find, on examination, that the fhet is so. The omission was of course accidental, or inadverteut. We have procurpd a eopy of them, and subjnin them.

The question beling stated on the 24 day of March on agreeing to the following remolution, reported by the comanittee of wayn and means, viz:

Resolved, That the government deposites may, in the opinion of the house, be safely continued in the bank of the U. Stater.

The yras and naya having been ordered thereupon, the question was decided as follows:
Yean-Measfs. Adams, C. Allan, H. Allen, Appleton, Arnold, A*hley, Baheoek, Banks, N. Barber, J. S. Barbour, Barnwell, Harringer, Barstow, 1. C. Bates, Briess, Bucher, Burd, Burges, Cahoon, Choate, Claiborne, E. Cooke, Bates Cooke, Cooper, Corwin, Couitur, Craig, Crane, Crawford, Creighton, Daniel, Davenpofi, J. Davis, Dearborn, Denny, Diekson, Drayton, Draper, Duncan, Ellsworth, G. Evans, J. Evans, E. Everelt, Hornee Everelt, Ford, Gilmore, Grennell, Grifin, H. Hall, Ingervoll, Jarvia, Jenifer, B. M. Johnaon, Kendali, H. King, Ingernoll, Jarvia, Jenifer, R, M. Johnoon, Kendai, H. King, Intyre, McKay, McKemana, Mercer, Milligan, Muhlewburg, Nelson, Newnan, Newton, Patton, Pearce, Pendleton, Pitcher, Pottr, Randnlph, J. Rred, Revelier, Root, Russel, Bemmes, Sewall, W. B. Slepard, Simith, stephens, Siewart, Storrs Nutherland, Taylor, P. Thomas, Tompkins, Tracy, Verplanck Vinton, Waxhingon, Walmough, Wilkin, E. Whittesey, F. Whutlesey, E. D. White, Wieklife, Williams, Young-109.

$\mathrm{N}_{\mathrm{A}} \mathrm{y}=$-Mussrs. Anderwon, Angrl, Archer, J. Hates, Beards iry, Bergen, Bethnue, John Blair, Bouck, John Brodhead, Cart, Claytub, Connor, Dayau, Fitzgerald, Gathicer, Gordon,' T. H Ilalf, Harper, Hiwkins, Hofman, Ilolland, Ilom, IIubbasd A. Klnz, Lecompte, Lyon, Mann, Mardia, Manon, MeCarty, Mitrhell, Pieraoli, Polk, E. C. Reed, sonle, Speight, Standifer F. I'homas, W. Thompson, Wardwell, Wayne, Weeka, C. P. White, Worthington-46.
Bo the resolution was agreed to.
[Nat. Int.
Mexican mepmelic. We deplore the never-ending disturbances that take place in the new states of the south-but must confess that we expeeted nogood for the people of them so long an they permitied the existence of an estabished reiggion. We refer not to any particular chureh. It in no matter what it in. But it is the quinuessence of folly, to aprak of liberty and justice on connection with an exfablished church. It ts the prisesple of the latter to dounineer over and opprese the peopie, that the "fat thinge" may be gatirred by the prieats.

Mxtract of a letter, duted Vera Cruz, June ISth.
"A dintirhance baving taken place on the 30th ult. In the neighboliond of Mexico, the president, gen. Sunta Abna, len the city with a amall division to quell it. A few days splbsequently the troops declared againat the government, and pfaced Nansa Anna under arrent; at the same time the officur concerned in the conspiracy problished that he wan at their head, and that he directrd their movements. It was generally belicved and we noticipated the proclamation of centraliam. Fortunate ly one of his aids dr-csinp ercaped, and informed the vice president that santa Anna was really a prisoner, and not concerned in the revolution, declaring that he would rather euffer death than prove a trator to his country. This eaused the peopte to rise en masse, and although the rehellion party threatened Mex ico and Puelia, they did not sitreved. Both plnces were wel prepared to resirt; meantime no information being received from Santa Anna, the businens berame very mysteronas, and great doubts were genernily entertained yexterday at uid day, when an expreas arrived from Puebla, loringing the welcome information, that he had escaped from thote who pretended to prociaim him dietator, aud kept him a prisoner; that he was not concerned in the rebrilion, and bad eseaped only with one offers of she guard plaeed over his person. In Puebla there wan a atrong force, of whith lie will now take the command. This revoluuinn may, therefore, be considered at an end, and we presume measures will be taken to secure trangullity on a firm bassis."

Francr ano the United Staten. The Paris correapondent of the Now York Courier, under date 23d May, furnishes the following information:
In the "Tribune," I find the following, which may perhape interent you:
"The Constitutionnel nske ministers the following quextion: Is it true that the treary with the Unlied Btates has experienced a conimencement of financial execution?" Is it true that a bill of fire millions drawn on the French treasury, has been premented and paid within the last few days?"
"We assare the Constitutionnel, (says the Tribune)- 10 whom ministers will no donht reply by a flat denial-that the treaty in queation has been in the course of poovigional execution fue a long time past. Not only has the bill of which this journal speak: been accepted, but the treasury has entrred into a number of other engagements, and has also given up securities. And it is expected that these preliminary arrmagements wilt he urged to enforce the innancial annction of the treaty, if even it should be discussed. There freph miltions have been paid, and will enntinue to be paid, In like manner as thow deptined for the estatitalment of the Russian viceroy in the Morea, and those for the Antwerp esperlition, &c."

MRIEF NOTICER.

We are happy In being now able to atate malilvely, that F. D. White, eqq. of Louisiana, had nearly or quite recovered of the wounds cruased by the explosion of the steamboat Iioness. A great "haul" han been made by Mr. Consjable Hays, at New York. A jeweller'n store wae latety roblhed, at Nrw Or leans, of prnperty worth 15 or 20,000 delliars-and information being rent to Hays, he mernred, (as it is thonght) all tive properny and mush other valuatle gnods-with the fellow, an Englishman, who has heen commilted.
In the diatribution of Utica and Schencetady mail road atnek the eapital of which, it will be recollected, was suhaeribed se veral times over, the commiswioners have given ahout fis50,000 in the eity of New York- $$ 560,000$ to the counties of Albany Reneaclart, saratogn, Columhia, tleter and Dicheas- 8950,000 in sthencetady, Schobarie and Montgomery-and $$ 610,000$ to Oneida, Herkimer and the other weatern and northern countiea of New York. The commiasioners each took $$ 10,000$ of the rock to themselves.
Tuen boya belonging to Ameriean whale shipm, have recently been taken off of C'hatham island. They had been on the ialand

349 NILES' REGISTER-JULY 20, 1833-BANK OF THE UNITED STATES.

six montlas, and had subsisted suring that period on raw terrapins.

Among the passengers in the Triton, at foston from Cape of Good Hoper, are to zebris, ${ }^{2}$ rlephante, 2 liyvinaw, al lions, 2 triches were kithed on lite pasagan by sunte it the beasta.

Lied, in Bahmore, on the I2th mist. Sowucl Sterrett, eaq aged 77 years-a monst wortty und mach belvied eluzen, and ont of the oldest inlsabitant of this city, luaving grown un with It from ita indancy. He was engaged in the war of independence, and in the last war-and all brave a voldier as ber was an mecom plished gentleman. Jie was tive forst representative in congress from Baltimare, under the present cunsitutinn.

T'le enton factory ot Meswrs. L. Heebe & Co. at Watertnwn New lork, has beell destruyed by fire-loes pestimated at fromi 150 to 200,000 dollars, only 25,000 insured. The fire is supposed to have been caused by sponstaneous eombustibn.

Tinty tive steamboatm were lying at the port of Lowisrille, on the 24 di ult. all briskly being laden or uniadet.

A Pthladelphia paper says-T'iere are now iying at Christian street wharf in Southwark, two schooners loaded with lee taken from rivuiets in New Jingland. This ire is of an elegan! tranegarent quality and of unusual dimensions for thas season of the year, a greater part of it excecdung thirty inelics in thicknese

The New York Amcrican names professor Mclickar as the American travelter to whom the brothers of the monnmiery on Mount st. Bernard are indebted for the discovery of anthracite coal on that mountaln, had for the prewrit of a Notestove,

A grand bull-fight was given at Ilavana, on tive 2tth of June, for thes benefit of orphans whos tosi their parents by the chmirra, geven bulls were turied out for siaughter, and the picridorei and matadores are highly applauded for their cournge alld destenty.
The Duke of Bourdsaux, who was bom mome forty wesks of 00 aftet the death of the duke de Brrri, was chrislened Ilenr Diea-donne, (God given); the Pentsylvanian caile lus new pimer, the lithe Ann Marle Rosaiie, diable donne.
A New Jersey papcr chargns a permon naned Jaenh Itsiey, with having violated the prrmon of hix own alaghtry, when ouly about 13 years oitt. Inmey was 45 or 50 years of nge.
The sum of £il5 19s. 6d, sterling, has been reminted from Gingow to aseist in the operations of the Assercan eolonizat Uon sociely.
The board of commispionmps under the late treaty with France, tands adjourned to the 3al Monday of October nost.
It is statent that five hands with ordinarv nowhinery, made 160 dwts. of gold in one day, on lot No. $1,0 j 2,12 t i t$ districl, &c. In Gieorgia.
Several cditors bave been reeentiy fined and imprisonce for lihellous matter; and many, who have so liar escaped, as well deserve it.
A newly arrived German, possesaed of abont 1,800 dniars, and some other vaimabie effects, was lately mitrdered at sit Loais by another Geruan cunigrant, for the purpose ur obtaining the money. T'lue murderer in in jail. The decensed canne th his death by Prassic acid administered to lim-after which the body was tifown into a well.

The steamboal Rubert Morris iately made the irip from Phiandelphia to New Castle, forty miles, ill two hours and fifteen minutes.
A seriou* isterruption (eays the Cincinnati (iazette) is nunde In the navigation of the Ohis canat, ly a bre*k in the aquenurt ower the Seioto, hear Circlevalles. It is aupposed shat three weeks will be required to repair it. During this period a continuity of navigntion cannot be muintaned. It will continue, however, from L'ortemouth to Cbilicothe, and from Columbus o Cieaveland.
The United Fintrg Gazette says-The board of commissioners of the Girard estate bad before them yesterday, a slatemeut of accounts, the aggregativ of which was $8 f, 319,16448$.
The legiaiature of Nrw Hamp-hire, recentiy in mepsion, discontinued the service uf a chaplain by a vote of 109 to 76 .
The rev. Jamen H. (Hey, of Franklin, has been clected the first Protestant Episcopai bishop of Tennessee.

BANK OF TIIE UNITED STATES.

All questions which have relation to the state of the currency, are inportant to the people of the United States-dceply interestel in its contractions or expan-sions-or, the appreciation or ilepreciation of what we eall "money" "as measured by the selling-value of lands, and honses, and all other sorts of "merelandise"" including gold and silver, in bullion or in coin. Whether for grod or cuil, on the whole, the "paper-money system" is so deeply rooted with us, that we cannot cas it down withont prostrating oursclves; and hence the great anxiety is-that that aystem, while rendering service to the public, shall earse the leant possible detrimen to the public. Honestly and prudently managed bank: are extensively useful; they are the aliment of industry and parent of enterprise: diahoneatly and imprudently managed, they must needs be a eurse of the prodnctive classes, and a despoiler of worthy men; and this eurse and spoliation is certain when they fall into the hands of "scurvy politicians" -as certain banks, that need not be named, most assureilly are-or use the means affineried to atlvance the interests of gambling individuals, whose busincss it is to speculate on the wants or iniafortunes of cuber men, and galler profit to themselves by "head "ork'L-despising lonoralile labor.

We lase no difficulty in locating the newly deelared hosility against the bank of the United States. It reat with sets of men resolved to "make money"-honestly, if they can-hut dishonessly, if they must. There are persons who, like the witels in the fable, would "disturb all hell" fir "a little dog"-hie meanest thing affeeting their own private literest; or, like Nern, would "fiddle while Rome was in flames"-whose soul is in the aequisition of wealth, who would almost agree to swaliow molten goll, that they might be gorged with that precious article! These are always busy-nothing escapes them; to have money is their "aim and end." Bitt when such miscrables connect their own selfish and base purposes wilh the party politics of a country-then have the people reason to he alarmed; and they should interpose, for self-jreservation, against the batuls of maranders-fer in numbers, but powerful from the instruments which they employ-who, in their zeal for the party, do not make over-nice discriminations between truth and false-hood!-And the movement of the great wheel of the party press, is necessarily followed without an exereise of the julgment-as the "preservation of the repablican party" defruuded the people of New York of a vote for Cheir pursident, in 1 K2t, aul gave a new aspect to the general politics of our country-that eertuin private views might be subsersed. And "the end is not yet."

The preceding brief remarks oecurreil on reading the articles which are appended. There is mid to be a sudden "searcity" of inoney, and it is the poliey of political partizans to clasge it to the bank of the United Staterbut, as will be seen, without a shadow of justice. That this bank has the pewer to do much injury-we surely believe; but that it hak, for many years past, so exerted that power, we cannot believe. As a measnre of safety, we would not renew the clarter of this bank with itu present power, and that has wot been asked for; but is it honest to expeet that the loenl banks should not be ealled upon to pay their delits-though they freely, (and vithont rcason assigned) call upon their debtors? It appeare clearly that the U. S. hank, instearl of redncing upen commola:ions, has extemeded the amount of them, in the places where the present money pressure is reported to exist; hut if these accommodations had been reduced, what rersonable man would have condemned the expedieney of the meaeure, in the circumalanees under which the bank is uow placed! A winding-up of its affairs is demanded-anl why not prepare for it as every prudent man provides himself with a new residence before the expiration of his old lease?
But the truth is-(as every person who refleeted upon the sulject foresaw that it would be), that the diminished extent of the credit for dutics payable on goods imported, is the chicf cause of this pressure on the mer chants. They have had, perisaps, an average of 25 millions of the people's money in use, without interest-peobably a larger sim, at particular times. The periods of the credits to them were reduced by the tarifflaw of 1832 , as they ought to lave been many years before; and importers, espuccially the English agents at New York, insteal of getling a settled capital out of the United States to carry on and perpetnally extend their business, are now enmpelled to make quieker relurns of the people's money into the public treasury-and in this we suspeet is the whole scerct of the present pressure, if any there is And the faet that it commenced in N. York, and is chiefly complained of there, may be offered in proof-for that eity is the ehief seat of the importation of English goodsthe particular trade in which is generally much against the United States-The exchange on London having a direct and powerful effect on our own "rnoney market."

[^30]We elearly foresaw this-and it had no small influence in purtially reconciling us to the law of 1832 We have no idea of "lending a stick to break our own heads with"-and if all the duties were payable in eash, as is usual it other countries, a reduced amount of the "protection"" songht might be submitted to. Perhaps, at least three-fourths of the British goods received at New "searee" In New York. And the New York "Mcreantile Advertiser and Advocate" of the 16th says-"SVe understand that the atnount of dinties secured at the custom house in this eity for the firat quarter of the curient ypar, was about $$ 5,510,0011$, and that sinee the present law weni inio operation, the monitity amount hara has bren about one inillion of dollass. Ho that if the importationes which have taken place aines the 4 th of March, thall prove a fair average, the recelpts in New York for a year from that tune, will be iwelve milions of dollars. From these primeiples it would appear that towering duties does not necessarily decrease the reveane. We have no exact dnta by wbich to ascertain the fact, but premume there can be Iftlr doubt that, when it is considered that tea and coffee now come in duty free, as well as tuany other artieles, tha increase of importation has been considerable in wome species of morchandiss, otherwlse the duties conld not amourit to a million iff dollars juer month."
These thuge render it manifest that the bank of the U. Fitates ben had no inatrimentality in bringing about the preswnre complaiaed of-even without recurring to the fact, that the acconemodaunis of that bank, instead of being reduced, to produce a preasura-have been ertended, to relieve onc. The reduced credits on duties, or excessive limportations, and, perhapm, both tngether, have had that affect which the charity of the party preas ascrilses to the bank?

Before the act of 1832, the Iawfil valua In the United Statea of thin English pound stering, was 444 cents-but its real value had averaged about 488 cents. For the anke of easier calculation, perhaps, the legal value is now establiahed at 480 centsor 2 cents to the prenay: 479 cents, as paid by the bank, is one eent less than the iegal par, and 9 cents less than the (gensrally) real par.

We menture the valae of "rmoney" by silver: in England it is measured by gold. The value of Engtish nooney is tiren datermined by the quanility of ailver which nutut he sent from New York to purciase ur pay firr a yard of eloth worth $f i$ in Lou-don-and this is the real rate of the exchangee of money-values. Those vatues in France are measuted by aliver-and, when the pound steding was rated at 444 cento, 1,000 dallars tworth of Foods, in F'rance, aubject to a duty of 20 per cent. on Importation Into the United &itatew, paid nearly if per eent. more duty than 1,000 dollara worth of gonds Imporied from Englani-the "hard dollars," in each ease, belne paid for the arlicles, in France or England reppectively; becaume that the pound sterling was nore than 444 ceuts.

It Is probable that the purchases of the bills on London, by the lank, bave bean partly induceml by the wish of the directors to relicve the presulire at New Yofk-by throwing into inataint operation there, a large amnunt of value whielt, for onme time, might have remained dormant-and hence, perhapa, the inrecasef aceommodations, or iswure, of the bank. The bank nuay liave, also, depired to hrild a large depnsite in Londous, (where silvar Is plenty), to gnard against any sudden detaands that may be made against it for specie.

The filse valutation of the pound sterling, previous to 1832, (from INiS to IRCR), brought Into the treasnry, for duties, at leaut $15,000,000$ dollars less than the datien on Engling goods Imported would havr ainounted $t n$, on the real money value of the pound sterling- -488 centa, for the perionl witated.

Wa cannot suffr this note to pas without adding-that the words "par" and "real par," are uaed in thrif vilgarly aceepted meaning. An ounce of gold, or pound of silver, tias no move of an absolute value than a cart-Inail of pumplins-thougli less lifble to fuctuations - berasse, only, that the wnpply and demanil are mora generally rqualized. The tiowe has been, in Fagland, when 125 legel pounda sterllug, (or more) were requirmit to purchace the legal worth of 100 poituds in gold-and then we said that the exphange with England was "below par"-the masenre of value in the United Atatew being regulated by the precinns imetals, and In Enelend by piecoss of paper-cov.*red with certain marke and writinge, "hecording to law." And so It was with us-exeept that the legat value of the dollar was determined only by a eprtain quantiy of ailver, stataped in a particnlar manner. And the relative valua between enld and silver, (as between iron and tohareo), io also unsettled-depending upon supply and demand, and differing, in different conntrien, at different Limen, under "exiating circtunstancen"-and it appears to ns a foolth no well as a misclievoiss eyror, (an we have more than once observed), to speak of exphangen on Iandon ar being at a certsin premilum, or so much "above par" "-meping that there la no mutually existing par; gold being the preseut standard of le gal valus in one country, and silver in the other. Why not thea, as has been the prartice of the hank of the United Etatem for mone time paet, give the commercial valne of the pound ater ling in mo many cents? This valne is fixed bv law, for the me. semament of dutiea, nt 480 cents-which is wifficienity near the general average of exchanges, for 15 yeare pant, inr avary useful purpose; and the price ofexchange twing steted in epnts, capsot be misnndersinod by any one-se mbove of 'below the rate of values established.

York are on British account. Whr anould wefuesian capital to Buitish agents?

From the Albany Argus.

THE MAMM日TH AND THE CITY BAMKS.
It is said that the Umited States branch bank in tha eity af New York, aided by the parent institution, has pushed the local banks for specie, for several weeks with unusual urgency; and that the consequence la a prossure upon tha incoey market and restricted discounts. It is not necrasary to show that the bank has a partienlar design in this, to establinh the fact that it possesses an undue power over the local banks and over the money market; and that it may exercise the one and control the other to the injury of the banks and of tha comanunity. Whether it be the etiect of Its own previous over issues, of the result of a seheme to narrow the means of the local banks and to add to Its own strength; the conelusion is still inevitable, that it posnessen undue and dangerous powers, and that they are liatie to be wlelded by passion or caprice, or for sinister objects, to the public injury, if not to the ruin of individuala. It la not tn be danied that the power of this institution, for evil if not for good, is very much increared by the forbearing contse pursued towards it by the general goverumirnt. Indeed it may be said that the money of the goverament, against its own wiphes and intercats, enables the monopoly to nppreas the local banks, and to accomplish nearly any scheme of advantage or of vengeance. The imniense sums kept in deposit by the government, hava lellt it the means not only to sustaln itvelf against the publice opinios, but to carry on a war, with fearful odda, against the atate Institutions; to eripple their means, nad to reatrict their ability to serve the public in seanotis of preprure or of increazed demand for money. It temils alan to convey the ithpression that the bank enjoys fully the confdence of the government, and is exsential to the publie ennvrilience; and that, whatever may have been the expic*sions of the popular opiation and expertalion, and however fully that opinion may have been repponded to by the executive and by the representatives of the people, it nuyst be sustained, not only in its measure against the atate banka, but in has meanc, howevar questlonable, to procure tha renewal of ite charter. The whole anbject ments the aprions consideration of the government; for it is not easy to predjet what may be the consequeners of a continuance of the present state of things.

From the Nalional Intelligencer of July 16.
The "Ginbe," of the 11 th Inst. ninder the bead of the "United States bauk," stainps with its offiefal sanction an artiele from the New Y'ork "Standard," begianlng with thia sentencet "Is is well known that this Institution has for sonse time past been rapidly curtailing its aecommodations to the merchants, and takiug specic out of the state bankn." The recklespness of the writers for the "Globe," In all their atatements regarding the bank of the U. States, must now be so well known to all its readers as to satiafy them that no faith can be reposed, eiltier in what is *ays, or in what li eanctions by its quotations from kladred prints. With it the bank can never do right. If its loans are exiended, It shouta, "the government deposites ars not anfe;" If its loans are diminished, the ery is, "the community in oppreseed." The sagacious "Glohe" cannot "distinctly perceive" what is "the object the bank propowes to accomplish." Astonishing! and not astonishing only, but moat horrible and alarming'! What! shnil this bank dare to thke a step without frat knowing whether the great "Glohe" "distinctly pereeives" the motives? Slinall that pure guardian of the public weal, that profonid Inquirer Into the myateries of currency and banking, be left in the dark respecting the fluctuations of the money concerns of our great seaports? Shall-but before wa carry thewe alarming inquiries any further, let us take breath, and look into the facts,
"It Is well known," says the Globe, "that this institution has for some time past bera rapidly curtailing its acenmmodationa to the inerchants." From the phraseology employed, and the artiele that it is intended to Introduce, it is plain that the curtailment alluded to la alleged to be at the bank and its northern offices, or in other words at the places where the ravenne to principally collected, say at Now York, Philadelphia and Boston. Now, In the official paper, posseased of course of the confidence of every departmant of the goverument, in constant comisuniention therefore with the treasury, with daily accemat th the returna of the bank regularly recelved there every month, and anpposed to have official annction for statements of this nature, the public have a ritht to look for wome regard to truth: they have a right to demand that they alinuld not be groaply deceived by the official mgan of the government on a subjeet ens. ceptible of arillimelical demonatration. Has the trinth been ind In this Instance? or are the writera for the "Glohe", at their old trieks of falsehond nod deceit? We liave not tha samen free accens to the bank documients at the treasiry which the "Giobe" has, but we elcallenge it in publish the figure: of, if it la akklige too much to require it in prove to the country ite total want of honesty in this matter, are content nurmelves with aseerting, upon our otvn reapmanibility, that the hank relurne prove that in the points spoken of, the reverse of the cilobe's "well known" nasertionw are the fact. If "for wome timn past," means between January and July, the monthly returnk of the bank for those periode shew an aggregate ivcapaik in the inans of all kinde at Philadelphia, at New York, and at Bonton, of more firan Twe mfLLSONs of pollars. If, "for some time," means between

June and Jaly, those returna shaw an aggregate Increase at the same places in one month of more than one milliton or bol-Laki. Thus to the attempt of the official organ to deceive the country piainly exposed. Thus it is shewn, that, at the piaces where the revenues of tha country are recelved, and where from enormous speculations in stock* and other causes a pressure for money exists, the bank of the United States has in one short month fincreased "its accommodattons to the merchanta" more month increased "Its accommodattons to the merchanta" more thann one million of doilars. What anow, honest lago? Is it not time now to turn round, and chnstise this naughty bank for darIng to increase "its aceommodations to the merchauts" of PhiLadelpha, New York and Boston?
Let us look now at another "fact" adopted by the veracions Giobe. Tiee writer in the "Standard" says, "the govarnmant deposites are probably eight or niae millions at thls time." The "Giobe" has no doubt verified this statemant hy examinIng the retnrns; so candid and impartial an "ofieial" would not surely let the public the deceived on this point. But, let us look for oursilves. The total public deposttes of all kinde, which were In April and May last naarly eigbt and a half mitlions, are shown, by the returns, to have heen on the first of June not quite six millions and a half, and on the first of July the increace was lesa than one hundred thousand dollars. So that, duriag the same month that the public deposites increased oan hundred thousand dollars, the loans of the bank of the United Btates increased, in the three great not thern commercial cities, more than one million of dollars. Now, wlth the knowledge of these facts which the Globe has, or might and ought to have had, are not the statementa wbich it lis putting forth to the country, under its ofticial character, (fintee and unfounded as they are), sufficient to disgust every friend of cruth and justice, every plain and honeat ettizen, and avery supporter cven of the administration, who would not see it and the country diagraced? In it not time that thooe, whose official stations implicate them with the Globe, should think of what is due to truth, to themselves, to the country, and not suffer miarepresentation to be thes decked out with the semblance of their authority?

It is proper to add-that the "Globe" has replied to the "Nationa! fatelligencer" and naid-
"The discounts of the bank sppear under fonir different names, vizs 'bills discounted on persomal security,' 'bills discounted on bank stock,' 'bills discounted on other stocks,' ard 'domestic bills of exchange.'
"The 'aceommodations to the merchants, are almost entireiy confined to the first description of paper. The discounts on atocks belong almost axclasively to brokers and stock Jobhers, and thoee on domestic bills, in a great measure, to men of the same deacription, and specuiators of every kind. Now, let us see what has been the ampunt of discounts on permanal security, whicb includes the accommodations to the nuerchants at the three places and three points of time specified by the hank.

|  | Jan. 1. | June 1. | Juty |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Bontrn | 81,273,237 | 717,731 | 7 7 \%,973 |
| New York | 4,490,977 | 4,482,R33 | 4,576,982 |
| Philadelphia | 3,4*2,159 | 3,820,827 | 3,481,424 |
|  | 89,246,373 | 9,027,391 | 8,286,719 |

"Thus it appears, that instead of an Increane of two militons In its 'aceommodations to the merehants' at these three points vince the firat of January last, there has been an actual curtailment of 9419,654 ; aod instead of an increase of tunre than one million within tha last month, there has been a positive decrease of $9218,922 . "$

07-Taking this in lia worst appearance, there is a seeming enrtailment of only 8419,654 on the great sum of $89,246,373$-an amount which it is ridiculinus to euppose has caused the pres. enre that is spoken of. But in the next paragraph the "Glotee" adenits that "the loans of all kinds" have been increaseal © $2,158,791$, since the lat of Jan. last-saying, however, that they were not made to the "merchants-hut to the stock-jobders" $-n$ n deprites of stockr. The discrunts on stncks have pinbsbly been lnereased-but it does not follow that they were made th the "Jobberw." If the prespura be surh as is stated, its natural disconnta npon them, isy rause deprosites of atoeks -to obtain discoanta upon them, hy real and regular owners of stockethademiy called opon to une the means in prossenalinn in meet the emergency of the ocension; and, as dizcounts on stocks are the best pecured, they are rightly prefered when a pressure for money exista; for wa have often seen the failura of a single house followed by a long train of bankruptcien.

TREASURY INSTRICTION. DETIES ON WINEW.
From the Philadelphia Commerrial Hlerald.
Wa are indelted to a commercial friend for the following corresponilence, with the remarks of the treasury depaitment relating to the dutirs on wines.

Treasury department, comptroller's office, July 12, 1833,
Gextiamin-I duly received your letter of thie loth inntant. olating that a diveraly of opinion appeared to prevail ammng the importers of Madeira and Blierry wines, in rriation to the redurtion of the dities, which, according to the 23d article of the 2d eeetion of the act of 14th July, 1832, was to take piape on he 3d of March, 1834.
The view onf this office unon the subject, having hern folly

York, nnder date of the $9 d$ inst. I enclone a aopy of it for your luformatum. Respectfully, JOSEPII ANDERSON, complraller.

[corv.]

Treanury department, cotnptroller's office, July 2d, 1832.
Gentlemen - 1 have received your letter of the $22 d$ mitime, stating that there had appeared in the public prints a reply from this office, to certain guestions relative to the operation of the laws on the aubject of the duties on wines-whicb questions, you any, from the involved form in which they were stated, not beligg cleariy undarstood, you submit the following with a view of eliclting an explanation:

1. "Suppose wa have wincs in publie atore, and under the control of the custom house on tha 3lat December, 1833, and imported before that period, the duty seeured on which ahow. to be more than 90 per cent. by proof of cost, and are not esut led to the rednction of 10 per cent. or axcesa over 20 per eent. by the aet of 2 d March, 1833 , lat section.
2. "Dops thls allowance of reduction cut off the right to claim one-half the amonnt of duty on the 3d Mareh, 1834, an per 93d section of act of 14th July, 1832, provided said wines are etill retained in the possesion of the otticers of the cuetome?
According to the 23d arttcle of the 2 d section of the 14th Mareh, 1834, one-haif the rates were to be reduced, after the 3 d Mareh, 1834 , one-haif the rates to which they were previbusly liable; and by the 3 d section of the act of 2 d March, 1839, anttied "an act in explain and amend the leth section of an act," &c.-all wines remaining under the control of the custom house officers until the 3d of Murch, 1834, were to be aubjected to no higher duty than would be demandable ander the said sad ardiele of the ed eaction of the 14th July, 1832.
But the 6th arction of another net passed on the 2d of March 1833, entitled "an act to modify the act of 14 th July, 1832 , and all other acts imposing duties on imports, "repeals to mueh of the net of 14 th July, 1832, and any other act, as is inconsistent with the net of 2 d Mareh, 1833.
As tha lat section of the last mentioned act, affeets only sweh gnols, the duties on which, by the previnas laws, (whether specific or ad valorem), axceed 20 per cant. It results that the wines, the value of which will be such ns in bring them within the operation of that rection, wit be axcluded from the reduetion autinfised by the act of 14 th July, 1832 -becanse as to them, the last mrntioned act is repealed, as has already been ntwerved: and that ns mo much of that act as relates to the wines, the present specific duties on which will not be equal th our ad valorem duty of 20 per cent. has not been repealed they will of coarme, be entitled to a reduction, after the $3 d$ of March, 1834, of one-half thwir present rates converted into an equivalent ad valorem duty.
1 deem it proper to add, that the mbject of the regolation at Inded to in the act of 2 d March, 1833 , entitied "an act to explain and amend tha 18th section of an act," &c. having been to place the importation of wines before the 4 th of March, 1834, upon the same footing with tbe linportations whieh might be tnade subarquently to that day, th has been eonsidered to be in accordance with the rpirit and intention of the regulation, that anch winea imported before the frot of January, 1834, and deposited in the custom house stores, as would cone witbin the operatiun of the lst section of the act of 9 d March, 1833 , estutied an act to modify the act of 14th July, 1832, and all othar meta imposing duties on limports," to allow them to be withdrawn from the publie stores anter the 31 si of December, 1833, subjeet to the same rates of duty with ainilar wines wbich might be imported subsequently in that day.
But as the wines which may be imported before the 3 d of March, 1834, the present specific duties on which will not be equal in an ad vaiorem duty of 20 per cent. will not eome withIn tue operation of the lst rection of the last mentioned act, they will, of eourse, have to remain deposited in the public stores unill after that day, in order to he entitied in a reduction of one-haif their present rates of duty, whereby they will be pinced on an equality with similar wines which may be imported subsequently in the 3 d of March, 1834 .
In favor of the winee of France, it is to be borne in mind, that there is a discrimination by the eonvention of that eountry of the 4th July, 1831, which discrimination is also sametioued by law.
(Signed)
Respertfully,
JO8. ANDERSON, comptroller.
-mee em-
TTFMS AND SCRAPG.
Trade of the Surquehannah. Five respectatile persous residIng at Cattawisan, on the North Branch of the Suaquchannalh, linve publinhed a certificate that hetween the 18th and 93d of May, there finated down past that village afe8 and May, there finated down past that village 2,688 arks, and 3,480 rafs, the latter with ex'ra foading of all kinds of produce equal to 5,000 tons and upwaris. The amount converted Into tonnagr, that has passed this apring on that branch, is estimated at 282, 600 tons!!!
A lieavy portion of this prop-rty ia carried acmss from lthace to Owrgo, And will hereather he tranmported nn the railway. whirh will be finished next pring. 300 wagnne a day, with lumber, sait and piaster, are frequently counted on the road between these two places.
Af inilitia outrose. Oue of nur mast respectable citizens, a rirk in one of the linke, and a monther of tio society of fine collector, for a fine of two dollars, and thruat into Arch atreet prison, to the distress of a large fimily, and the surprise and Indignation of a farge number of friends. We shall endeavor to ascertain the particulars of this ease, and solicit from our fellow cltizens, all facts that come to their knowledge, showing the evila and barbarity of the present militia system, pledging ourselves from this time forward, to exercise every energy for its total abolition, lookiug npon it as we do, as diagracefil to the atate and the age.

Phil. Ing.
Fron houses. The new process for smelting iron by raw coal and hot nir blamt, is prodncing a great ehange In Iron trade; and it ie antiespated by grod judges, that no lung perlisd will elapse belore cast iron of the guality known ns No. 1, will be manufactured at the cost of about 40 s . or 45 s , the ton. When this taken place generally it muxt inevitably produce an effeet which will pervade almost every eondition of neciety. Bleh and poor will, by degrees, find themselves inclosed in iron cages; and fir jolsts, and rlate roofs, will beconie thinge to be atluded to as betokening something venernile from antiquity. The introductinn of iron Into bullding operations will, no doubt opread rapldily, as the price of cast lron falls; and, if unskilfully opread rapidily, as the price of castiron falls; and, if unskilfuliy done at the outset, we may have a number of imperishable monuments of bad taste wherever we go. It is, therefore, of importance that good examples should be given in time, and that arehitects should be prepared for the ehange, so no not to leave the matter to the capriee or taste of the workmen of the founderies.

Singular sudicides. The Pittiburehciopadia of tirckirecure reeeived by a gentleman in this city, we learn the following facte, which occurred in the neighburhond of Little Reaver, in this atate. The letter states that "a very singular case, or more properly cases, of suteide took place in this neightorhond within a short time back. A woman, whose name I do not now recolleet, hung herself with a bank of yarn-her siater, about two weeks after, followed her example, with the anme hank-and two or three days since, another sister did the same. The fourth is now kept elosely confined, her friends fearing she may commit a similar act. Last fall one of the same family lung herself, making in all fonr who have been the means of thi ir own deathr, none of which can be arcounted for even by their most intimate friends. They bore exceilent chareeters, lived in the midet of plentv, and to all appearances were living hnjpuily."
Coat mine on fire. The singular spectacle of a eonal vein in Are is to be seen in the neiglaborhnond of Pust Carbon, at un grivat distance from the Scluyikill Valley rall road. It is mpposed that fire was communicated to the coal vein mome years'ago, since which it has been is a slate of ignition, fomoke having been seen at different periods jsouing from the groutd in various places. The fre la distinctly visible from the surfare of the cround by means of a ahaf.
(Miner's Journal.
Coal trade. It appears by the LTlster (N. Y.) Republiean, thit during the week ending on the $22 d$ ult. 6,341 tons 5 cwt , of I,ackawana coal were received at Rondout; and during the onme time, 52 veamels were innded with this artiele, and cleared from that plape. Or these, 13 werc bound to Proridence, 7 to Bonton, 9 to $\mathrm{Sal}_{\text {alem, }} 1$ in Jersey City, 1 to Norwich, 1 to 'W'II. liamathurg, 1 in Staten Island, 2 to Ifudann, 1 to Nantuekrt, 2 io Athens, 2 to Albany, 1 to Pant Gireenwich, 4 to New York, 1 to Triv, it Bellville, N. J. 1 in Bronklyn, i to Ponghkerpsie, 1 in Ifariford, 1 to Brietol, R. I. 1 to Newhurgh, I to Haverstraw, 1 in Rahway, 9 to New Bedford, 1 to Fall River, 1 to New Haven, 1 to Newport.

Sleam vesecl of trar. A Kingston (Jam.) paper of June 4, says-The Rladamanthus steamer, now in lilis port, from England, is 178 feet in length; her extreme breadth 46 feet; and her drpth of hold 17 feet 10 inches. The engines, two of 113 horee power each, are on the largest scale ever manufactured, and the means adopted to prevent accidents from fire, are, bat far as we can judge, effectual. Tire aceommodations on board are splendid and eommodions. As a nea boat, we undurstand ber qualitien are excellent, whether under stenun or panvas. She encountered anme very rongh weather, without mnch danger, when in the bay of Bimeay, when other versela weat on shrre on the French sonat. Sive nuly muunts four guns-two heavy 72 pounders, and two braes 6 poundera. Her original equipment was the guns we have alocady mentioned, with an eighty-six pounder on the bow, mind anixty-four pounder astern! That surlo a vessil will be most usefill here, to be yond a doult, in tmneporting troope from heat quarters to any part of the lafinnd where they may be required at a moment's. warning. The expense of maintaining lier in port will not cont more than an ordinery sloop of war, with 120 men ; but her consumption of coal per day, when her steam in up, anounts to 20
Died in Baltimore on the 6th inst. Francols Augustin Du Boismartin, aged 91.
The decerased was a nallive of Barhesienx. In Franee, and was educated for the army where low gerved unil the early part of ohr revolutionary struggle with Great Britadn, when inspired by the enthtisiantie Inve of liberty then awnkening in his native country, and informed of the dificulties the marquia de Zafoy effe had thenenunter in obtaining a convrgance to the Ameripan polonies, lie readily volunterred his ecrvices in thois eausp. aud by procuring and fitling nut the vessel which bore the youlhfill patilint to the shores of Amerien, hastened an event so mierestiog in the hastnry of our revolution. On his restirtt to Praner lie reannued hie rank in the Frencharmy, and sulowe. qu*nily servead in the regiment of Pinl au Prince, initil tho dis pervion of the French tronps in the izland of 8t. Domingo, when his devotion to liberal principles led him to seek an asyfum in this country. Hicre by his urhanity and the uprightnesa of his charapter he securent the estecen and ennfidence of alt Whon knew hun, and hy lis kind and gentle dispozition acquired the lastimg affection of thoate who stood in the more intimate relations of kindred and fiends.

Diamond cut dicmond. A six font Vermonter lately entered a atore on one of eur prineipal wharves in seateh of employment. He could do any kind of chore, he maid, and boasted mirch of his strength. "Etont as you are," said the clerk, "1'll bet & 10 you cannot carry that bag of salt (pointing to a very large one) twice acmas this atore and back agath mid necer lay it down." The Yonken etood for a monicnt scrateling hiv heail and gazing at a rope with a look at its end whieh dangled through a seutte, and then accepted the waper. He shumidered the bag with the utmont ense, carried it twice backward and forward, and then hung it upon the hook afroresanal. "Mister," snid he, "I guens 1'll truable you lor that are ten. I didn't lay it down-I hang if up." The clerk. Mueh in his dissatisfaction, handed over the money, and the Vernionter liff the store paying, "catch a weasel anlecp! Not so bad a day's work. Hetter than phopping logs!"
[Borton Gnlazy.
Ballimore ressels. Our Baltimore vesels continne to sustatn. to the full, their ןre-eminent reputation as fast wailers, Our builiters have a pertain taet in modelling, sind our peamen in aniling them, which, it would appear, has yet to be aequired elsewhere in order ta produce the same refulta
Another black poney. The new brig John Gulpin, huilt at Baltimore, lef that port in June, 1832 , for Canton and Valparniso she arrived at the lotter port on the 16th of Marcli. Iler pas. ange from Canton to Volparaisn is sainl to have been the shorteat ever made, and, as the supereargostates, hoth voyages were performed at the average rate of ne hundred and sixty pight mile a day [N. Y. Jour. Com.
A thief in a church. Wittian Arery (osys the N. Y. Journal of Commerce), was on Friday tried in the cout of acsaiona, upon the pharge of having abstracted thity dollara from a lady'n reticule at churcil. The circumatanens were as follown. A young iady on viltering St. Jolin's church, to attend a week-day lecture, pased Avery on the inside, who lumediateiy followed, elosed lier pew door with seening polttenems, and took a seat in the pew lamediately back of lers. The affair was singular and attracted the notiee of the lady, but slid not so fur awaken her suapicione as to prevent her throwing down her reticule apon the cushion by ber side, notwithstanding it contained a wallet with thirty dollars. Aher prayers, she wan surprised, on opening the reficule, to find the wallet lying on top of her pocket landkerchief, and turnal to look for the gallant gentleman, but he had decamped, leeling no doubt quite sure of having obtained some good at churelt.
Unfortunately for him, however, he lad been too long in aet ting his trap. A gentleman in the gallery hat noticed him for several weeks at clinreh, and always following sone larty and taking a peat behind her, an on this opcarinn. As he was a stranger, and had in peculiar manks of a pras ing man, the con*tant repetition of the pame ceretnony excurd euspicion. As the eongregation were rtanding, thle gentleman saw Avery, Whilc leaning over and reading with apparent devotlon, reach down and take enmething fiom the lady's seat, examine it, pass hin hond to his own pocket, and then lay back what he had taken su. The genileman interpreted the whole in a moment, and eame down at onee to seeure the stranges's arrest. But he wap gone. A young lady in the opposite gallery, also had a full view of the whole affair. The gentleman had marked the appearance uf Avery, and three weeks afterwards saw and recog nized lim, and scrinred his arropt. On the trial, Avery managed his own eaupe with tact, exhibiting gond mental resourcea, and nolwithstanding the completenesa of the testimony, and with. mit offering any witnesaesthmacif, undertook to maintain him innocenee. Dle appealini carnestly to the jury on the value of lilierty and heronglit the $m$ not to deprive him of 20 great a bles sing to gratify the conibuation of franatice which had been form ed for the ruin of an imnocent man. Hut all in vain. The jury returned a verdict of puily, and he will go-not to church ex actly, ylt where he will enjoy one continued Sing sing.
Eopyphian newtyager. A jounnal is now publiplud at Alexan drla, under the tithe of Misser Wekaiesf (Egyptian news) the vignette of this pmper, in opposition to the Ottoman ereaefnt arements half a sun, shining forth from lowhind a pyramid, on the nide of which stomir a flourishing young paim tree. On the len of the vignetle are three words--"Puinted at the nflice of the Divan of Exents In the Roymi Cistle." This paper, whielt is in the Aıabic and Turkish languagre, gives nn poltical news, but in confined to civil and inilitary pubjecta, which bave mercly a locel interces.
Al mestern comparion. Mr. Welster talk: of making the tour of the weat this summer. Let him enme. We know of no man whon would be more cordially rrerived among thase who "whip thelf welpht in wild eats," than the bosing "gant," who band ed nullification back to its clamupion in the same preilicamen that col. Crocket returnid Its last plate to the servant at the Mold tines! Great fire int lioaton in 1760. Frem the foston out in Whalington atreet, in this city, which cvtended into state and Water ktrreta and deatroyed 174 honseg and 175 chupe, hying nearly a trnth pait of ihe lown. 'tlie sufferere were directed, by the town authorities, to band in a statement of their several losses; and from this curinus cullection uf old docaments we sefect the foliowing specimentis
"Lapat att ye late fier March. 201700 & 60.
A nu pear of stase
A clorth riden whod Linbing $\mathcal{L} 10$ quised cott

A goun

2 pace of hoesn
4 paer of shoms
4 ivery stic fands
"Elimebeth Bickmors Los Mantua Bein Mat tier.
Wone Bed
456
556

Wone Ovel Tahle
$\Sigma 30$
Wone Bras Cittel
10
Wonn scillet
And Oather Smol Artukels

The next morceau appears to represent the damage done to a cordwainer:
"Boston Aprer 4 1760 A Count of whot I. lost in the fier of Bots and tutes add stufe an nere As i Can Cerconlate was the hole wan teun Fownd thurteene and atepenc lonful mumny & 10.138 Monrs Colliga."
Very strange. A New Yirk paper pays-While one of the abips recentty arrived from New Orleans was on the pasange, it beeaman nccesary to npen the scuttle into the run, when the passengers were appalisd by the sight of a black wnmaan and new born infant tyug upon the floor, both dead. Nn one had any knowledge of sheh $n$ perwon having been on board, and it was matter of earnent inquiry who she could possibly be. At length suspicion fell upon the *teward, a colored man, whn has a family in this city. The run of a sbip in under the charge of the stewnrd, being used an a atore romm, and communicating with the department. This scene was suspected to be the rasnht of his crimuali imdutgences, and an effart th remove the nhject of them to this ctiy in a ciandestine manner. He was accordinely put in colifineinent, to await a lugal examination.
Duteh trade with London. Tha foltowing is the return which Mr. Alderman Thompenn moved for on the 8th inst. nnd which wan laid on the table of the house of enminons in Manday: "An account of the number of British and foreign veaspls, with the aggregate amonut nf their rewipective tomaner, which cieared at the cnatom howae, London, for ports in Iloliand, froin Ist January, 1832, to 6th Navember, 1832: British whips, 218; tona, 25, 319. Porrign shipd, 117; toms, 16,343 . A similar accomut from 6 th November, I\&ir2, in 2 ith April, 183: Mritist ships, 0; tons, 0 ; forelgn ships, $8 \mathrm{H}_{;}$tolla, $9,8 \mathrm{sej}$.
Hylropholia. Dicd, of Ifydrnphabin, on the 92th of June, at $90^{\prime}$ 'clock, 1'. M. Anne, daughter of Robert Mitehell, ofst. Jones's Neck, in Kent county, Delaware, in the 17th year nf ber age.
The deceared compliained, from the Monday previous to her death, of an aching throughout her syatem, accompanied with a vague feeling "f ansiety and appreliension. stre attended, nevertheiens, to her work, as usuai, until Wednesilay afternoon about 3 o'elnek, when, upon going to the weil for drink, the aparmodic sensation produced by the appmacis of water, gave the firat sympunns characterintic of the malady by which she wan attacked. Frnm that period her spasms graduaity increased In frequency and vioience, and were accompanied with severe paina in her head and the lower part of her hreast.
The family never suspected the nature nf her disease until the morning of the day upon which she died; when, upon being asked by mse of them if she had not been bitten by a dog, she replied that she had not been bitten, bit that she had altowed a litile dog, which bad subaequently run off, and been kliled as mad, to lick a simall anre, produced by a seratch, upon her heei; madienl aid was then resorted to for the first time.

The decensed appeared to retain her nenswa profectly throughout ber illmess, aud evinced unt the slighteat disposition to injure any one in attendance. She lived twenty eight dnys from the perind when the virus le kuppneed to have been commtini-cated-five days from the cominnibeement of her indiapositionand fint hours after the convuinive arnsations at night of water, gave the firmt clue to the natare of her disease.

Uriled States. The Edinbirgh review, in an article relative in Stuart's Trarels in the United Stater, after apeaking of the unexampled progrcea of poupuintion and eivilization In America, holds the following hanguage respecting the casses that have produced such nstonlshing efferts; witich we commend to the attention of the reader.
"The tonth is, tinat ecery man in America is inatrurted, reads the nerwpapert, and takes a part in the prerailing political diecus. siont. The loofele and puhbic housen have ail a pretty good asmortment of books: much better, at leavt, than the trash natially met with in anch places in thla eomintry. The wmiverzal diffurion of educotion is, in fact, the zrand, the distinguished ercellence of America. It is this that has rendered the termes, moh or ratible, inapplicable cven to the dregs oi her eitizens in "the northern states; and fite them for enjoying, without absaing, the freent inatitutions. Had the tenth part of the sum been expended in extablishing seloonle in Ireland that has been thrown away in eupporting a priesthood detented by the pcople, that country woud not have been in the dingraceful atate in which it now is. And what but the want of education has drawn recruite to the -taisdnid of swing? and made our laborers believe that the deatrictun of their employers' property was the best means of atrucuint of their employ augurnenting the-ir wagre?"

Etipuctte of the French bar. Durlug a recent triat in Paris, as all advocate was proparing to take Ins seat upou the counsel's br'nch, he was rudely wnized by the coltar, by one of the municipal guards. A etruggle eunued, and upan being hborated, the advocate inmediately complained to the president of the court of the outrage upon his priston. The judge called upon the peace offecer to acenumt for his having thus ereated a riot, who attempred to jusitity himacif by fointing ont that the barrister had vichated the regulations an to contume, by prestinting himself in a pair of gray pantaloons and black stoch. The prendent, however, Informed this self coustituted master of the ceremontes that he hal exceeded hin province, and dismissed him, with a nevere reprimand for his piesumption.
France. A magnificent undertaking io in contemplation by the French goverument-the formation of a grand line of railwnys from I'aris to Rouen, Havre, Ly one and Marmpilies. Tlive government have, with this intent, ahcady demanded a vote of twenty thomsand pounds for the prefiminary surveys. This is part of a vote nf four mitlings sterfur just taken for the completuon of pubtic edifires and monnuments, canals and military roads In la Vendee. Amougst the farmer are the finistring of the triumplial arch De L'Etoite, $£ 88,000$; the church nf the Magdaien, $\boldsymbol{\Sigma} 112,600 ;$ the pantheos, $\mathcal{\Sigma 9 0 , 0 0 0 ;}$ the museum de natural history, $£ 90,000$; new hnidiugs for the grande bibliotheque, $\boldsymbol{E} 2 \mathbf{2} 0,000$, roval sehnol of the Ane arts, $\mathbf{~} 76,000$; cathedral of St Denies, $£ 60,000$; and deaf and dumb naylun, $£ 8,000$.
Patriotiom of the elergy during the revolutionary trar. Two ministern' mons, In the rounty nf Ewsex, whose failien were out In the arcat mtruggie for American liberiy and independence met not long sinch. Aner talking over somes of the events of that period, one says to the other, ${ }^{* 1}$ believe my father did mors than any ther ininister in the state." "How ene" says the other, "what did he dor"" "Why, ise sent tirree sons into the firld." The other repilied, "myy father did nore; he went him self, and took four with him." [Salem Gazetfe.
Longerity. There are now living in Chailestun, (B. C.) three individuals, who trannuet their own bueiness with perfect aecnracy, (and in two of the instances, the busimeas of others), of the following ages: $95,85,80-260$. It is remarkable that two of the three are the direct descendants of llugnnnits, exiled after the revrication of the edict of Nantes, 17R5. There were liviug in 1800, a lady, the mother of 34 live born childrea, who never had twins but once: one with 28-ainc over 100 yeare (oldept 110), and that nime centarians died sinca 1797 (the oldeat 114). Refer to 2d Ramay'n IItstory of South Carolina, 1809.
(New Haren Herald.

AWFIVL SHIPWRECKS.

A considerable nuinber of vepwels have been lost in the ice, in the St. Lawrence, aince the opening of the navigation this year and acveral hundreds nf persons have perished in consequence. The following description of one of thesn wreeks may shew the character of the whole.
Wreck of the Jady of the Larke. We have had an interview with Mr. Kobert Davinimon, from the vicinity nf Moneymore county of Londonderry, one of the surviving passcugers of the unfortunate crew of the Lady of the Lake, from Belfast, from whnm we learn that in addition th the fifeen passengers brought th Quebee whoac names were given in a previous number, tweuty-one were carried safely into Saint Johns, N. F. aud one enuled home tn Fiugland
On the mnrning nf the Ilth May, the wrather being calm, the vensel was surroundrd whith lee. The paysengers discovered a number of luman belngs, about eleves In number on the lee, some standing, pome lying and some sitting. They implored the captain to permit them th put ont with a boat for their relieff, but he being in a ratate of intoxication refiged to dn so. In tesse than half an hour anter these unfortunates had disappeared, the Lady of the Lake wae struck with the Ice and went down; as before stated in about 25 minutes.
The captain put out from the vessel in the long bnat, nind our Informant findling the boat abont to leave, Jumped overboard with his wife and child, and awam to the boat, the ehild was lost, but the parente were anved. There were in nil, 32 persons In the boat, (withont oare), with the captain who after two days fell in with the Harvent Home, of Newcastle, came alongside and uearly ali of them ant on board; but immediniely dimeovered her captaln and crew laviening int their boat at the steris as she was vinking rapidly. Captain Grant then pushed off with his boat, leaving thrteen of his fellow sufferrin on the rinking vessel, and putting out with the 19 in a boat, and had maffly weathered nut two days with 32 on beard without oare. Our informant having found two oara and a bag of biscuit on hoard the llarvest flome, held them up and atpniated to be taket on board for giving the valuable artieles; but the moment they were thrown into the boat, eaptain firant pushed off, and ten lim. Four youne men then jumped fram the bowxprit of the Harvest Home, and awain to the hant, thit they wore not taken in, when they lald hild of the edge of the boat he atruck their hand with the oar till they ennidd not retain their erip any lonerr, and on their renewing their holl with the aninjured hand, tise oar wan used In the same manner, tlll they sunk to rise no more: two of the unfortunate persons who thus perished were named John Wilison and John Turner. It ought in be borne in mind that at this time there were thirteen persons iesw in the bont, than during the two previous days, and she was provided with twn oars and biseutt.
The sufferers abaudoned on the deck of the Harvest liome, Iannched one of her boats, yet remaining on deck and put away from the sinking vessei. The eaptain refused in juit hark, in Instruet or ansiat them in launching the boat, though imptoringly entreated to do mn. As noon as the Harvest fiome was abandon. ed, esptain Grant put back to ber, and tnok npeveral artirlvs out of the wreek, but upon perceiving the twat in which our infor mant wan approsaching, he palted out to those on deck, "there they are-cotme diww," and getting all into the hrat, mwed away. Our intormant remanned in the open hoat for five days, away. Our intormant remained, in whe of the frmales havine no wearing apparvi, but chemise and petticoat, and was picked up by the Messenger, captaia Stahbs, who also picked up the jolly boat of the Lady of the Lake in which were the mate and reven others, making in aft twenty-one peratoss. The captain of the Messenger treated thrm with great kindness, waited on them and preseribed for them, ptacing every comfort his vessel afforded at their comraand. "The sleward of the Lady of the Lake loat both his legs by the frost, and several of the anrvivors suf. ferpd severely fion the cold.

Our informant declares that at the time of the areident the captain and seeond tnate were intoxienied, and that the person on wateh was not on look mut, hut laid on his breast on the deek, talking throngh the hatehway in the pasaengern below. The whole nuinther of paszengers was 935 not incinding infants on the breast. The whole number saved is 36 , making the lons of lires to exceed tivo hundred.
[Mondreal Herald.

YANKEE MANAGEMENT.  From the Portland Adeertiser.

Our sonthern incithern are perplesed to know how it is, that they with rich land, a warm bun, and staple productions givine an income of from fonr to twenty percent. are becoming poor and cashless, while we Yankers are beconning fich, and are having money, If not in abundance, at least an mufb ay is necessary. If they woutd come annong us, and study our econnmy, the anawer would snon strike them. One litie instance ts no had example of that Yankee econony and sluli that tarne ail thing", even the worst, to advantage.
It may not be generally knowa that in many parta of our state, our schoolmastere are not mily "boarded round," en as to save the drawing the pay of the schoolmasier's bourd from the school fund-that is, the sehoolmater is boanded a week bere and three dayn there, accordiug to the number of ehildren-bint that the school master is of en "bid off" or "put up at anction," as are our paupers-and the lowest bidder in the district takes him, as the highest bidder takes an article at a reguiar auction.
The writer of this article, when pruparing to be a college boy, being short of fund*, and with no other means of getting money than by kecping echool, hired out as a schoolmaster for ten dollars a month. This was all the achool district could well afford to give, as their fund was small; and even with this small sum given, it was necessary to board the schoolmaster as chpap an possible. The school commituee, therefore, called the district ingether, into a new, neat, convenient and comfortable schoolbouse, and in his preaence, a scene of this sort took place.

Auctioneer-" What will you take him for?"

lat Eidder-"One doliar and twenty-ive cents a week." Afuctioneer-"One dollar twenty-five, one dollar twenty five."
》d Bidder-"One dollar tweive centa and a half."
3 Bidder-"One dollar."
Auctioneer- "One dollar, who'll take him for less than a dol-Iar? One dollar, one dollar, any body less? Who speaks?"" 4h Bidder-"Seventy-hve erat."
Sth Bidder-Sevpnty cents."
And thus the bids went on, the nnetinneer exclaiming as nsual in the mean time, tull the mehoolmaster was bill of at forty cents per week! Yes, the loweal toldder cook him to board for forty cents per wepk. On going home with this tuidiep sociable happy man, whose house had more comforts and insuries than nine tenths of the houses of the rieh planters in the interior of the southern country, and whose table was as bood as many sit down at paying fourteen dollars a week for board, the writer held the following diatozue:
"How on earth çan you afford to board me for forty cents a week?"
Anower-"I make money by it, and have your company in the barzain."
"How so?"
Answer-" Why, you will board with me fonrteen weeks.The whole pay for board will be gis 60 . My taxew are a little over alx dollars. Now, I have bread ennugh, meat ennugh, poultry enough, rider enough, in short rnough and more than enough of every thing necessary to eat and drink. I have enough of every thing but money. All I want of money is in pay my taxea. Bnt, lif order to raise these six dollars, if it do mot get a inwa order for your board, 1 must make a jomrney to Portiand, of to Bath, with three times the produce you will pat, and from all this I find it difficult to raise six doliars in caalh. Therefore 1 make mnney in keepting yon in eat this prodace, and have your company, these iong winter eveningr, in the bargain. Thus you see, I am interested at boardiag you even at

Now, we give this to all onr mouthern brethren, an a specimen of the manmer in which we Yankees tive, and thrive. Let them do likewise, and their country swill be the richest and the happient on the globe. Here we are shivering in sunimer, with corn but three inflops high to the mort, while they are enjoying the bleedinge of midsunsinfe, and havc pmin aimoet ready for the barvest.

THE I,OCOMOTIVE "ATLANTIC."

To the elltor of the Bathimore Gazette:
Sis-My attention has been catied to an article, going the mounds of the newspapers, derctibling the locomotive engine, u<ed on the Saratoga and Alhany phil mad. It is stated that this engine can take fiftien tons at the apeed of seventern oniles in the howr. I lisve, of late, ofien travelled in the train of the Athantse, the engune with Comper's vertical beiler, used on the Baltimore and Ohin rail road-ronstructed onzmally at York, Pa. and modified and brought to its present perfectinn since t has been in use here. An accnunt of its powers may not be unacerptalite-and I ann iminced to offer it in consequence of iending the above mentimed article. The "Attantie" has been runnuse continuaily for the laxt 3 or 4 months, from Baltimore to the foot of the inclined planes, a disinnee of 40 mites, and haek again, the rame day. Upon this porion of the mad, thirtythree miles are ancending, at various gindes, of from ten teforty fcet per mule. exceeding, in the aseent, 20 feet, per mile on the arcrage, and the whole forty milen, in almost a constant sinceession of curves, of 400 feet radins, and upwarda. E'pon thit road the Atlantic has drawn, on the outward, or avcending trip, thirty tons, at the least, at the rate of serenteen miles per hour-with only 15 tons, her practicable speed excerds any safe limit on a curved pond. The Atlantic has drawn 92 tons on a levet, at the spard of 9 miles to the hour, and has brought seventy-twn tons from the half-way loouse, ( 6 miles), in Baltimore, at a rate of 12 milew to the hnur, on the level parts of the road; passing two summits, of $i 6$ feet per mille, for $n$ half mile, each at the rate of "ix miles an hour. The trnin which recently brought in the president wrighed forty tons, and paswed nver the snme distanee at the areraze speed of is miles th the hons. The power of the engine is such as to overcome the adicaion of the thearina wheeln, uf sunt mrtal on dry rails, with 4 tons weight resting on them-in other wonde, when too great a wright is attarhed to the engine, or too sterp an asernt altempted with her, the wheels fly round on the rails, without moving the car. This shews the ample supply of the stram-and in a new engine, now building it it desinnod to enople the wheeln, so an to employ now buiding it the at ansignerd then enople the wheelin, on an in empliny dant steam avaliabie. The motion of the piston eompared with that of the wheels, or progrespive mation of the engine is as 1 to 54. The only fiel emplayed is anthracite coal, which hurna withont any diffienity, and it is believed with more eeonomy and convenience than any other. The trip, of 80 milem per day, is performed with one ton of it. Althongt this engine is the first of this peculiar construction, and the firat that has completely succeeded in burning the anthracite, yet-in the small amonnt of its repalre, and the quantity of work that it is capable of performing-it is believed to be equal, if not muperior, to any engine that has yet been made. I am, wir, your's respeekfully.

HOLT'G FOUNTAIN-NEW YORK.
The facts stated in the following articles are of general im-portanee-and we take plenaure in giving the particalars atated. New Fork, July 8, - We are happy to learn that the persperering endeavors of Mr. Holt to ottain water by boring have at lengith heen erowned with suceess. Ahout the middle of last wrek, the person engaged in broing was delighted in find that he had struck a atraturn of timestone, foom which he piedieted that he ethould find water in three or four taym. On Friday afternoon, the drill which had been sinking with increased rapidity since it antered the liosestone, sudidenly dmopped about two feet at a single hlow, and then struck upmi a very hard roek helow. Immediately a strong current of water armee, and there is reamon to hope it may prove to be of the desired quality. It Is supposed to be so copioas that it will afford a constant supply of as much an can pass through the pipe, which is abont three inclies in dinnteter. On thila point, however, it will be impossible to determitue with eertninry, nutil the water erases to be affected by the forrign matter intindured into the passage. The two or three fret throush which the itrill dropped, is no doult a brook or fonntain; and the fact of a flint rock or some. thing like it, underneath, promieps well. The boring will now he disenntinued. We understand that no vein of water of any magnitude had been strmek fince entering the mek about 130 feet be. low the surface. Some water, we helieve, was ohtained hefore entering thermek, hut it was of an inferiof quality. The enat of the undertaking cannot be leas than 82,000 or 83,000 . It has been in progresa nearly two ywars.
[The dillt had, within the lase six monthe, penetrated 640 feet In depth, of which 510 feet are of anlid mock. So much for persereramec.)

Pure Water.-The important faet, which we mentioned on Mmilay, that of Mr. Holt, favine miticken a fiasure, at the deptlt of more than 500 feet of rack, by whieh it is made certain that the lower part of the city may he anpplied with fure water (protided that now fonnd, prover to be such), is a subject of conversation, and congratilation among our citizens. We have been consequently induced to make, of Mr. Holt's engineer, some inquiries on the subject. The digging of the earth commuenced 22 months ago, and we learn, that at the depth of 40 or $$ 0$ feet, a vetu of Iremh, hut tupure water was found, which induced Mr. II. to go father down. When he had dug to 150 feet, he eame to a bock, on the surfice of which tlowed water, as solt or salter than ocean urater. Not suecerding in his pursuit, he was indueed in apply the drill, wheh hay been at constant work a large portion uf the sinne, matit and day, wrought by a steami engine, till Snturday last. In thin vart depth, which Is as great ax why prrforation on record, the engneer believes his tool hax been applied to a solid rork, as haril as granite amil ghene could form th, witiont onen pens-tiathe a stratum. The puanty of the rock during the last thres or four monthe wonk lias been found to be neasly as hard as tint; and some patimate of the labor performed may be juiged of from the fiet, that the of the dabur nerformed may he $j u d g e d$ of from the finct, that the drill did not descrind more thas 8 in 10 inchen a day during the drith did not descrisd more thas 8 or 10 inch whole time in which it has treen employed.
We luritier learn from tive enginerer that the pipe which wns inserted into the surface of the tock was not properly apcureal ngainet the floced of onit water that continues to pass over it, and whieh rises it the inbe to the ocean's level. This fact may account for the freah water now foumb, not riving to the aurface of the earth, minglug as it probably dowes, and passing off in the -ame vein throught which the salt water finws.
It is intended imunediately to apply the pruper remedy against the salt water flood, thll which time it will be impoasibie to test the quality of that from the fiasure. 'This will be effected an woon as the proper instruments can be made, and we shall be happy to make a favorable report-uf which we have no noube. While in the subjnet, we miry as well say a word in regard to the ereat inconvenmence whieh auch an establishment an the hotel of Mr. Ifall suffers for the want of pure water. Ie emplays constantly three men, each with a horne and cart, owned by himself, and twn others whom he hires, to hring him water from 'Traphagan's well, more than two miles fram his honse, at nu expense of eight dollars a shy. This water is emptied into four cisterns, holding nae hindreal and I wenty-five lagaheads, and hie datly consumption for drinking, cooking, and washine, is twenty-fout hogeheards, [ Neve York Gazette.
Holl's castle. From the Commercial Alrertiser. hundred and fifly feat the founit whirp at the urpth of six hundred and fifty feat. The Journal of Commerce shys that limentone was foand there-but it is not so. It is mien slate. It also sprake abott a llint rock there, but this is all verbingeit is mica siate. Tlut fisure lo large, and the water abundant. Ita quality la not yet known, though I think it will prove to be gond. It rises within a few feet of the surface, and not above it, which provea that it does not enter the rock at any point Aigher than thia. Thus muteh to watinfy distant geologisis as to the genlogy of this place. The Jouranl of Commerce thinka this will cosit as much as iwn thonsand dollark -had le saivl twenty thoutond, it woulit probably lave eome quite as near the truth. The one in Heecker strcet, as Mr. Disbrow told the, cost ien thousand dolliars, and that doses not begin to be an ex prinsive as this. Holt's eastle may now be calted the "trountaln isx."
A. N.

Mr. Holt informs us, that he has not only areertained thine the mpply of the fountain will be abundant, but that the waier han been tried, and proved to be of a pure, mon, and excellent quality.

EI.ECTIONEERING IN VERMONT.
T'wn convrintoons, one mational republican, the other eonsisting of friends of the adnulistration, lately met at Montpelier. In the former, a ernmmitiee repoited, that they had eonferred With a commuttee of the Jackson conventlon, and had agreed with them relative to the thode of nominating a unton ticket for atate officers, The: Jacksum convention were to nominate eandidates for governos and four counsellurs, and the mational republican for heut. governor, treasurer, and eight counsellors. This inodn was adopted by hoth conventions, and Kiza Mereh was nominated in both for goverior, Jedediah II. Harris for lieut governor, Benjamin Swan for treasuler, and twelve other gentlemen for counsetiors.

CORRESPONDEXCR.
"Perkinsville June 8, 1833.
"To the hon. Ezra Meech-
"Nia-At this prorios of our political affalrs, when our party feelings have become calmed, after the late presidential contest, we can look around more dispasslonately, and without a reference in the struggles that have past, and select such men ne we dpem minst fit to entrust with he government nf our state affairs. With a parly whose moten is proseription, we cannot, will not unite; but with a party whose opinions upon the great anil leading interests of our country agree with ourn we would go hrart and loand, and by the succestof an milinn ticket, place Vermout, again, on a footing with the other states of the anion, where she inay wo longer be a bye word and a just for the fallacy of her opinions, and the infatuation of her sons.
"Relleving that sutch a 'ennaumation is devoully to be wished' and that through the agrucy of our enlightened and patrintip yeomanirv, it can be fully and decidedly accomplished, we would respre:fitliy solveil vour views upon the great interests of our enuntry, do wit-the protective policy-a systetn which we deem so interwnven with our national prosperity that to blot ie from our recorls, as a law of the land would be in spread maisery and povent!, whre all is now peace and plenty.
"We also sohicit your viewa on the land bill, as paseed by congress the last sesation, the principles of which, we consider desply inportant to the interests of Vermont. Very respectfulty your obedient wervants.
"signed,

J. R. WILLIAMS, JOIIN MARSH ROS. B. ACHENCK, A8A WHEELEK,

JUDGE MESCH's REPLT.

"Shelburne, June 22, 1857
"(ikאtlemik- Yours of the 8th iustant, is tha day receiv-ed-having beetu absent on a jouriny, when le arrived. I therefore embrace the earhest opportunity to answer your Inguiries. With regard to a union of the nationala, and thope called Jackwowiana, 1 moxt hrarily accord with your sentiments-that the lime lims come, whell we should lay aside all those party feetingh, and nse our utanost exertions to redeem the lost character of our state.
"Relative to the prolective system, It has aiways had my sup-port-believing as I do, that the muddle and eastern atntes never can prosper, without protecting all the articlet for which we grow the raw material.
"With regard to the land bill, I had lonked forward to the extinction of the public debt, as the period when the proceeds of the salew of the national domain-the common property of all the states, ought to be divided annongst them, agreeably to their representation in congress. Respectivily youra, Messrs. J. R. Williams, John Marah, and ofthere."

EZRA MEDCR.

BLACK HAWK AND THE BENECAB, &c.  From the Duffalo Repuilican, Juhy 5

The party of wentern ehieff, under the conduct of major Garland, constating of Black Hawk, the Prophet Napope, the Prophet'n adopted on and brother, and Black Hawk sen, arrived at this place on Friday of last week, and remalned antil Sunday inorning, whea they took passage ia the steamboat for Detrolf. On Naturday morning they rode over to Black Rock for the purposen of looking at the unlon of the grand canal with the Iake at that place, and also to have a fair view of the Canada shore. Illack Hawk immediately pointed out Fort Erie, and appeared in be familiar with the country arnund. He was there during the last war in the British camp, at the time when, as he expressed himself, the "Americana walked In the fort." In the anternoon the party visited the Seacca Indians, whe had collected at the couneil house on the reaervation to receive them. They were addreseed by capt. Pollard, an old and very respectable chief of the Seneen natinn, who, after expressing the pleapure which it gave them to meet the ehiefs of the Bacz, and after alluding to the present state of the aborigines, counselied their brothere to return hume with a peacenble mind, to cuntuvate their land, and nimore to fight against so powerful a prople as the whites. To this both the Prophet and Black Hawk replied. The firmer said, "We have heard your taik-It is frill of truth and gond advice-I have sald much on this sabject to our great father-we shall go home in pasee, we wish that att the tribes were collected on the fine lands went of the Miseissippl. 1 will mot make you a Iong talk-we only came over to sue how our brothers the senecas lived, and we are giad to see you." Black Hawk anid, "Our aged bonther of the Seneeas Who has spoken to ns hus apoken the words of a good and wise man. We are strangers to each other, though we have the anme color, and the same Great Spirit made us all and gave ue this country together. Brothers, we have seen how great a people the whitem are. They are very rich and very stiong-it is a folly for us in 6ght with them. We shall go hoose with mueh knowletge that we have gnt on our journey. For myself I shall advise my people to be quiet and live like good men. The advice which you give us, brother, is very gond, and we tell yon now that we mean to walk the straight path for the future, and to content ourseives with what we have, and wlith enltivating our lands."
The chiefs of the Black Hawk party behaved themselven with mueh decarum and propricty. They were visited by mort of our clizens, and every opportunity was farniehed by mnjor Garland th gratify the curionity of all who eaine.
They will proceud over land fron betmit tn Chiengo, where a nilitary esenrt will receive them, and coavey them thence to the Miss) mapippl.
A harge purty of the Onelida Indiann, nnder the eharge of the agent, Mr. Savage, lent this port on Wedneaday lasi for Green Bay, in the schooner Globe. They numbered in all, men, wnmen and ehildren, 145-were well provided with every thing necesnary to render them eomfortathe in thrir new habitations, and secined liappy in the prospect before then.

-mesen-

GELF-DEVOTION OF INDIANS.
"Dukee et decorum eat, pro patria mori."
The nubjoined account we eopy from the Jacksonville, (IIlinois), Banner. Keo-kvek, is well known to those who take an intereat in the Indian tribea. But had the four great men, we mean the Indians who offercil themselves to save their country, had they lived in aneient times they would bave come down to us fumortalized in the secord of patriotism and philanthropy. Davinl-the. Ioratil and the Cnratis and others, had a chance, they might conquer, but the poor indians were sent to die-Mintuas scevolu burnt off hat hand-but he stood in the presence of the great. Curuus leaped into the chasm-but the premining plaudits of the Roman world hushed the whosperings of fear and the ealculations upon pain-but the poor findians, knew they nust be hung up like dogs-amid the sneers and curses of those who preferred their doges to them. The case an set forth in the annexed detail is highly thteresting and would furnish a fine bist to a vigurvus faucy, for the leading incldent of a tale.
By private sources, we hear that the Bac Indians who had beea delivered up by Ke-o-kuk, to the eivil authorities of Warreas connty, for the murder of alartin have been disclarged-the grand jury uot having found a bill againat them. The history of this affair is somewhat curious. When the agent went to Ke-o-kack to dewand the murderers, under instructions from the war departiment, he informied the agent that they were out of has reach, but would consnit with his tribe what course to take til the preuntses. He called them together, and having stated to them that their great father would send an armed force suto their uation to take the murderers, which would caure otilfe and bloodshed, which it was las deaire to prevent, four young men of the trive, (they who were discharged), profiered themarlves as volustary offerings to appease the vengeance of their great fatier, and consented that they stoould be given up tis the agent as the offenders. They were accordingly taken by Ke-o-kuk to the agent, who had then imbiediatety confined in jail to await their trial. At court Ke-o-knk and other Indians of his tribe appeared, and the old elief was made a witness on the part of the prosecution; and, before the grand jury, be stated that these young men were not the pertens who commitued the murder, that they were out of his rench having fled frous his tribe! and that he supposed they would be satisfied, If any four of his young men should be delivered up to their Justice, not doubting but the same principles governed his whute brethren that obtained among the Indians. This testinony, of course, discharged the prisoners. The people were much exeited at this termination of the businesa; and the grand jury, in the exercise of their powers, handed to the court a presentment, the object of which wae, as we understand, to request the president to take the necessary measares to procure the murderers, with testimony sufficient to convict them, and presenung the agent for accepting the men who werv discharged, and requesting lim not to aceept any others than the real murderers, whose names were obthined from Ke-o-kuk, and the bills of Indictment found against theve. The Idea of Ke-o-knk and the young men was, that the judge would sentenee them to be hung tunaediateig-they had no other expectatiou. In this visw of the care, they abowed more devotion to their tribe, and more firmnems, than could be found under similar circumstances, among the most enlightened and civilized portion of the community. It is neediess to add, that they ma nifested great joy at their unexpected deliverance.
Mespra. Gatewood, Field and C. S. Hempstead attended as counsel for the prisoners.

TIIE INVENTION OF LETTERS.

The invention of the Cherokee alphabet, the absolute perfection which is ascribed to it by philologists, aud its general adoption amongst a nation which we devominate savage, appear to us to be among the most intereating circumstances of modern history.
When, where, and by whom, letters were invented, it in now useless to inagine. Notwithstanding the pretensions allvanced for Hermes, Meminon, Cadmus and others, there is no evndence to authorise us to award the hooor to either of them. But al though history has given us no authentic aceount of the sage, whoever be was, that first diseected the human voice, analyzed its sounds, and gave to each an appropriate mark or clunructer. our own age and our own country were to witness thin novel enterprise conceived and executed by an antutored savage, belonging to that race whose wronge will fill so black a page in our bistory. Cadmus imported an atphatert into Greece; sequayah, a poor C'herokee, invented one for his native tongue, and a newspaper in now printed in the charactera which he devised. This great genius, (for be riehly merits the appellation), is one of the most extraordinary personages of the age. Ilis nawe, when time shall have made it venerable, will be coupled with the names of Franklin, of Fulton, and other mutn whose inventions and discoveries have gained theu an inperishable fame.

About the ume of $8 t$. Clair's defeat, Sequayah, and a party of Cberokees, found a letter on a white man whom they had taken prisoner. This letter was, to the Indians, something novel and curious; and, much to their astonishment, its nature and uses were explained to them. It was long a question whether the talling leaf, as they expressively teimed it, was the invention of the white man, or the goft of the Gireat $$$ pirit. The reat decided for its divine origin. Sequayah, with the spirit of a philosopher, maintained the contrary. The "leaf," bowever, and it origin, were forgotten, till a painful disenss disabled gequayah from sharing in the pursuits if war and the chase. Then it was that his unid reverted to the mypteriona paper. Day and night did he meditate upon it, till, by olsaervations on the sound of the human voice and noten of birds, ailled by the nicer ears of his wife and daughter, he succeeted in his enterprise. All this tume, like Galileo, he had to contend with the neglect, suapicions and superstitions of his countrymen; tor they had heard of bie strange occupation, and thought that he was dealing with the evil spirit. After a ume, however, he succeeded in convincing his brethren of the importance of hia luvention, and be has ever niace been beld by them in the deepest reverence.
[Sclem Gazette.

GIRARD COLLEGE—PHILADELPHIA.

Iddrews, by Nicholat Biddle, esg. chatrwan of the trustees of the Girard college for erphans, prononnced by reguest of the building committee, on the occaston of laying the corner stone of the edifice, July the, 18303.
Pellow citizixs: We have now witnessed the laying of the enruet stone of the Girard eollege for orphans. That stowe, simple, maesive and enduring, fit eablen of the structure to be reared from it, and of the man whose name it bears, thas been deposited in its final resting place. The earth received it. Tomorrow the earth will cover it. Ours are the last eyes which shall took upon $i_{1}$ and hereafter it will tie in its silent repose, uninoved by all the revalutions of the changing world nlove it.
And yet from out that depth is to rive the spirit which may more lnfluence the deatiny of ourselves and our children, than all else the world now contalust The seed that has been planted ts of the tree of knowledge-that growth which gives to esintence all that rendsra it attractive-flowers for our early youth -fruits is maturer hife, and shelter for deelining years. It is that knowledge, which trampling down in ite progress the domilion of brutal force, and giving to intellect its just ascendency, has at lepgth become the marter power of the world. No people can now be distinguished or prosperous, or tialy great, but by the diffusion of know ledge-and in the stirring conspetition of the rouped pyirit of our timer, the first glory and the highent success must be assigned to the best educated nation. If this be true in our relations abroad, it is far more true at home. Our Institntions have boldly ventured to place the whole power of the country in the hands of the people at large, freed from all the great restraluts wheh' in other countries were decmed necensary. In doing this, their rulance is entirely inn the general Intelligence and edncation of the community, without which, such mstitutions can have neither permanctice nor value. Their brilliant wuccess lias hitherto justiffed that confidence, bus as our popsiation becomes concentrated into denser massrs, with more excited passions and keener wans, the corrcenve inflaence of tustruetion becomes dally more essential. The educa. tion then of the people, which cliew here to desirable or useful, beconues with us ementital th the enjoyment, ad well at th the anfety of our institutions. Onf general equaliny of rights would be unavailing wothout the intelingence to maderstand and to defend them-cur meneral equality of power would be tlangeroue, if it enabled an ignorant mass to thumph by numerical torce over the superior inteligence which it envied-our universal rigbt to political distinction, unless the people are qualified for it by education, becomes a mete abstractoon, exciting onily an abortuve ambtuon. While, therefore, to be uneducated and ignorant, is in other countries a private minfortune, in ours it is a public wrong; and the grwat aljeet to which statesmen should direet their effints is to elevate the standard of public instruction to the level-the high table land-ni onr institutions. It is thas that this day has been appropriatcly chosen for the firesent solemmity.

It is fit that the anniversary of that day whell our ancestors laid the broad foundations of our publle liberties-an that day when our coantrymen, throughout thin prosperons empire, are enjoying the bleswinge which these institutions confer-we, in our pphere of dity, alonid enminence the great woth, so ebusnently adapted to seenre and perpetuate them.
This truils no man felt with a deeper convietion than our dintinguished fettow enizu, whose history, and whose destgh in firunding this institution, may aptly occupy, fur a few moments, our attention.
Of these, now that the tomb has disalpated all the illusion which once surrounded them, we can opeak with the imparHality of hastory; and here, on this chusen spot, the ecene int has future fome, we may freely beatow on his minory the lomart which his unassuming nature wruld tave whaned while living.

We all remeraber, and most of us knew him. Plain in apprarance, simple In manners, frugal in all his habils, lis fong life was one unbroken puccersion of intense and untiring ludustry. Weatihy, yet withont Indulging in the ordinary luauries whieh wealth may procure-a ntranger to the sorial circl--indifferent to political distinetínn-with no apparent enjuyment escept in impelling and regulating the maliphed occupations of which he way the centrr-whoe very relaxation wan anly va riety of Jabor, the passed from youth to mabhond and tinally to extreme old age, the mane unchanged, mivatymiz model of juilicious and succesaful enterprines. At length, men began thegaz with wonder on this mysterious belige, who, withent any of the ordinary stinulunts to excrtion, uged bv beither hus own wantnor the wants of others-with rielies already beyond the lnpen of avarice, yet persovered in this threasing scheme of accumulation; and possessing on much, strove to pospers inore as anxiously as if he possemped nothing. 'Tuey did not know that nind-t this cold exterior, and aloof in that vern soltude of his mind, with all that scemme indifferface to the world and to the world's opmions, he still felt the deepest sympathy for human afliction, and nursed a ononery, yet a far nobler and wieer ant hition to berefit manklind, than pever animated the mont devoted forllower of that woflin's applaume. His death firet reveated, that all this accummiation of his iahorious and protonged exsstence was to be the inberitance of us and of our cluldiren-that for ong and their comfort, the city of his adopion was to be improved and embelloshed, and above all, that fior Ulsir advancement in ecience, and in morals, were to be dedicated the frutis of his lone years of will.
It required the self denial of na common mind, to resint the iemptation of bring hmmelf the wituess and the adainistrator of thim bouoty, and to lonve abstansed from enjoying the applause of las statefful enantrynu*n, who would have aeknow ledeged with affectonate reppect, the begsetits which they derived tron lum. Yel even thin secret and prospective muniticence must bave had its charm for a monil hise his; and we may well inaghe that the deep and retired milluess of hey opirit wha olteu soctincd with the visinis of the lasitug goond, and perhaper, toos, of the prosihunous ghory, which lie was prepariog. Such contemplabous the minght well undulge, for tulew have they been so fully realizen, From the momatht that foundation otone touchved the earth, the nane of Girard was beyond the reach of oblovion. From this loour, that name is destined to survive to the latewt poaterity, and whie litteri and the arts pxist, lie will bectied as the nusis whu, with a generours spint and a nagaclous foresught, loquteatied, for the muprovenount of his fellow naen, the acesbuslatud earninge uf his sitir. Je will be renembered in all fu ture thance by the eraphatic title with which loe clonee to be de*ignated, atril with whtch lue eotninelaces his will-a tute by Which we ourselves may probully recognize hims as "Steplen Girard of the city of I'huladelptia, in the conmouwealih of Pemnayivania, mercliant and marnues"-the authou of a inore munifieent act of rnhghtened charity than was ever performed by any other human beng.

Hif, will suderd be the most durable hasis of all human dis-tinction-a wine broevolence in the came af letters. 'Tise ofdinary cbarity which feeds ur clothes the distrosenst, catimable as it is, relieves only the julymical wauls of the suffirer. Bins the entightrued beneficence which loukn depper thto the wante of our baiure-wlich but merely prolonige esintuace, hut renders that egistence a blessing, by pouring soto these recemes of sorcow the ralnance ol nooral and intellectual equivation-the it is whaplo forins the wurld's truest beneliactor, and confers the anant enduriog of all fanse. Itiv glary is the note seeure, because the very objects of that thenevialrite are enabled torepay with fane, the kindness which sustains them.
It if $\operatorname{mot}$ unreasonable to conjecture that in all future timee, there will probably be In existence many thousand men who will owe to Girard the greatest uf all bleenings, a virtuous educatkon; onen who will have bern rescued from want and perloaps from vice, and armed with power to rise in wealth and dintinclion. Aunugg them will be found some of the bent edu eated ritizens, aceonuph-lied scholara, inteligent inechanits distinguslied artists num the most prounimeutstatesumen. In the midist of thetr prosperity, wuch meh ean never lorget the snurer of it, noe will they pver ceawe to ningle with their prayers and to cumusemorate with their tabors, the alane of their great beaefactur. What human beong can be furchabibe to the falyumess of having caused such in suceramion of ooth through retasie ages, of not ferl that much applause is muse grateful than alt the abouts which ever rise from the Immallent field of batte, and worth aft the vulgar fane of a hundred comquestos?

I'ine genmal dexign and the resources of the institution are proportioned to its purposes, and characteristic uf htm who did mathing which the dud uot do w+1t.
After the: bulding -luall liave bera completed, there will remaint the munual incone from twn millons nf dollarn, now yiels. Ing $$ 102,000$, and If these funds should be inadequate for all the orpluas applymg for admisuson, the inconne of nearly all the remininder of tire eatate is tos be appropriated to the erection of as unany new buildinf as bis कquare in then fity would have contained. So that in general, it may be stated with reamoable confilener, that whew all the lmildings ate ready for the recep. tion af the piopila, there will two avaitatile for the mainteranee of the inatitution, an inconie of not less than one lundred thousand dollars, which may be inereased to at lrat two hundred and twenty thousand deltiars.

T'lsese ample funds are to he devoted to the maintenance aud education of "poor male whit ouphoan children." (If all the classers of hunsan indigence there are nume more helphess and mone more eutitied to our sympathiea than thme clitdren of misfortune. They liave lost their inatural jumtectors. The armus which have hitherin etnbraced and stustained them, have been folded in death. They began life in eounfrits, perliaps in aftuence; but nuw they Fthend ainue, ahandoned and lrelplers; to struggle againnt the world's enldness, with precarium means of mishintenee, with mo means of Instruction, and treading on that sanow and alippury vurete which too offen suparates want from eriuse. From thid frieudlexs cundition they are reseurd by the benmvolenee of Guard, who not merely provules the tmeans of at onwe In the scate of being, and qualifica then in be uscfinl members ut that society wheli they would atherwise dasturb of corriogt.
How wide the thuita of that benevolence may be, it is impossible to eonjecture, If the inpriffection of language puggesta a duabt an to tre degree of deetitution which nathea an "orphan," the greater weakners of our mature forcem ujun wa the metancholy inouitry-what ehild is there who may not be a poor orphan? Who is there indeed among us whowe childres may not yei nefd tha blessumge of this insititusion? Let none of us in the enofisiacen of prosprity form lua nwn offaping serare, Alas? all util poosperity is so vain and shadowy, aud misfortuna is so

conatantly in ambush to ansail un, that it were presumptuoes in any of us to suppose himself beyond the reach of vicissitudes whieh would render stueh as institution the loappieat refige for lits childreu. Yes, fellow citizens, this college is our own; the property of us all. It is intended to remedy misfortunes the which we are all equally liahle. And it should be a souree o great consolation to each of us, that if, in the ever varying turne if human hfr, tutsfirtunes should overtake, and death sarprise ue, they who bear our namos, and are dentined to be the fisthers of our desecndanti, witl here find a home where they anay be prepared fur futurn usefulnean, and beconne in tars the protectors and support of their arore helplems relatives.Ifereatter, thanks to the bounty of Girarl, every father amone us may, on bus neath bed, enjoy the reflectiont, that although unpooviled with fortinur, there is secured to his sonis that whoch is at once the meaus of fortune, and far better than the amplest fortune without It-a good education. TThis conaideration, if any ituch incentive wera wanting, may serve to otimalate the sense of public duty In those wha adiainioter the Inatitution, to render it worthy of their own ehlidires.

For this purpuse, linppity, it is only aecessary to fulft the design of the founder, which provides ample meana and expreasly pujnins tive eapluyment of theon, to give every hind of liberal and useful insturelion.

I'luey would antich err, who, comparing this Institation with any ordinary standand, regard it as an alms loouse or a poot Inoune, in which a cerian nutaber of pauper boys, housed tozether, to be kept frusi harm, are in recetve some hasty rudhments of instruction, aud thes to be thust ont on the world to nuate way for a similar swarm nf unfurtunate ehildren. By no means. T'lue comprehensive benevolence of Girard looked to bigtuer and better thinge. It is mot a pror schonl, nor a eharity achool, nor a free schonl, in their ordinary acceptation. It is, at lie denominates it, a "college." The peremtory prohibition that "no distinctive dres should ever be worn," reveala his purpose that these yonthr shall not be derignated as objecte of retuark of enntempt by their contennpocaries-that they sball be distinguished only by thrir condiet, and whall not wear the Hvery even of ehartiy. 'The tustruction ton required, is of the highest character, pmbracing almost every thing worthy of belog studled In the circle ot homan knowledge. "They shall be instructed," eays he, "In the varions brancles of masad edecetion, comprehendug reading, w riting, granumar, arithmetic, geograploy, navigation, furveylug, primetieal mathematice, astronomy, natural, cheruscal and experimental philosophy, the Freach and sjouleh lenzuages - (I do not forbid, hut I do not reconmend the Greek and Latin landuages)-and such other learning and wripnce as the capactues uf tie several scbolars may merit and wrience ae the capaciues uf tive several sebolars may merit or wartant."

Tille exeludes nothing-nay, it emhraces every thing necessary to lorm a well educated man. How far this instruction it to be carried-whether when the degrees of talent and disposiuon come to be analysed, wothe are to be inatracted up to the point of their apprupriate eapacity, while the inore inteltigens and more diligent are to the carrical into the higher repions of scienee, are questions of future admintistrations, to be derided by expersuce. Hut it is manifest that all the mieane of edacathon, thorough, perfect educatlon, are to be provided; that avery facility for the scquisitlon of knowledge should be at hand; nop is there any reason why the Girard cullege-llberally endowed beymud all example-whonid uot be puperior in any pxisting establiwhateut, in the talents of it - professorss or the abundance of its merans of insiruction; and with the blessing of God, so it shatil be. Tlure shall be culleeted within these walls all that the knowledge and research of inen have accmazulaird to enlighten and improve the musu of yoush. It will be tha civil Weat Potnt of this country, where all the sciences whiph minister to uen's happinesa, and all the arts of peace, may be thoroughiy and practically tauylit. Ite succens will naturally render if the unodel for other finstitutionn-the centre of all Improvemest in thing tanght no lees than in the art of teaching them-the nuro ecry of iowtructors as well an pupis-thus, not merely accomplishitug the direct benefit of thuse to whom its instruetion extends, but ircadiating by ita exampla the whole circumference of buman knowledge.

To this Intellectual cultivation will be added that, withotet which all instruction is valueless, sud all learning the mere abllity for evil-tial mimal discipliae whirli makes men virtaoas and happy at theif own fireaides. "My desire is," sase he, "that all the Inviructors and teachers in the college shall take pains to Instil into the minds of the scholers, the pure principlea of morality, wio that on their entrance into aellve life, they may, froun inclination and balrit, evince benevolence towarda their fellow ereaturew, and a love of trutll, sobriety and induety." When thin harmony liptween the lipart and the anderolanding ceasea, mere knowledge it a curke, and men become Intellociaal statues, with the perfeet forms of manly ezterior. but cold and splish and worthless to the pommunity whieb esdutes them. Our youth too will not fail to be deeply Imbued with that enthustawtic devotion to republican governtnent, sad that kuowifige of his publie rights and dutles, which should form the basis of the Aincricun character. It in thue that the founder atrictly enjoins "that by pvery proper means, a pure attar'hnient to our repulilican lamitutions, and to the nacred rights of conscience an guarantred hy our happy monstutution, shalf be fortured and finstrerd in the minds of the echolars."

Nor need there the any diead that euch an education will disqualify them for thetr pursuite in after life. In this country all purnuits are open to all men, nor need the humblest citizen despair of the highest honors of the republic. They err who suppuse that because men are instructed, they taay desert the ordinary walks of employnueot. There never can be such an overeducation of the inares of the people. Men labor not for a waut of knowledge, but for waut of bread. The cultuvatiun of the miud, tike the cultivation of the soil, naly reuders it mure producuve, and knowledge beconses the bent auxiliary to indnstry by rendenug the laborer more inteligeot and more ainbitious to excel. The youths thus thatructed will go forth into the various pursuits of hife, uatay of which are iu thetr nature tuechanical; but they will begin with the duspostion and the power not merely to excel in them, but to rise beyoud them; and they will euserge from their workshope, as their countrymen Frankhn, and Kittentiouse, and Godirey, and Fulton did before them, reaching ali the distuctions of the ztate which uay be houorably won, by talents aod cliaracter.
That the scene of so many blessings may be appropriate to them, it is intended to make this structure wurthy ot ts great object-worthy of the name of its founder, anm of tise eny whech be was so aoxieus to cubellinh. Aumug the serences most newded in this country, where mividual wealth is hasteutug to indulge $\omega$ tante, and whore every mate mand ciby and county requires extensive public buildings, is architecture. Itdispeasable in the rudext torms of ditie, it becomes the bigheat orbament of the most enlightened. In every stage of its progreas, the wtyle of its publice works displays the character of the uation whish rears them. Ihspioporisoned and grotenque anong a coarwe aud unlettered people-in natuous more advanced, oftea over-ornamented woth the gaudy profusion and the caprices of tavtelesy weath-it is onty when sustained by the public spirit of a community at once enlightened and gruerous, that architecture attains the lighest glory-a retined sim. plicity. Of that perfection it is proposed that this structure phall present a model, the equal at lenut of similar works in any other eountry, and not uuwortity of the best dayn of antiquitya structure whieh will at onee gratify the toonorable pride of every citizen of the United states, and form the best study for all the branctes of industry counected with arelintecture.
The enjoyment of so many advantages devolves on us, fellow citisens, the duty of great care and vigilance to preserve them. After bentowing upon our city this rich thiteritance, Girard adds this pmphatic declaration. "In relation to the orgaaization of the college and its appendages, I leave neressarity many details to the mayor, aldermen, and citizefis of Philadelphas, and I do so with the mure cuntidence, as from the nature oi iny bequests and the benefit to result frout them, I trust that my fellow citi. zens of Plitadelphia will observe and evince nuecial care and ansiety in selectiog metubers for ther city councits and other aguat."

That the generous confidence with which he has thus committed to us the esecution of his great devigns, slapuld never be betrayed, we owe equally to the name of the founder and to the interesta of our posterity; as the whone value of thas instituition will depend entirely on the adiainistration of it. For myself and my colleagues, to whom the hugh honur thas heen assigned of sharing in that administration, I can ouly say, fellow citizens, that we have assumed the trust with the deegrest sease of its responsibiliy, and a determinauon to execute it in the spitit of enlightened benevolence wheh animated the founder; and we shall in our turn retire from it, with the lonpe that our fair city may always fud succeasora who to effual zeal, add greater ability to serve it.

Under such auspices, we confidently :rust that all Itie expectations of the founder will be realized. With tiis delightiful anticipation, we now invoke the blessing of God on this great underiaking.
In tha name of Stephen Girerd of the cily of Philodelphia, in the commonseealth of Pennsylvania, merchant and mariner, we by the foundation of this Girard college for orphans. We dedicate it to the cause of chanitr, which oot only feeds and clothen the destilute, but wiscly cunfers the greatest blessings on the greatest sufferers;
Tolue; value;
To the cause of morals, without which knowledge were worse than unavailing; and ofnally,
To the cause of our country, whinse service in the noblest object to which knowledgn and morais cau be devoted.
Long may this atructure stand, in its majestie simplicity, the pride and admiration of our latent posterity; inug may it continue to yieid its annual harvest of educated and moral eitizens to adorn and to defend our country. Long may each successive age enjoy its still increasing benefic, when tume shall have filed its halla with the memory of the mighty dead who have been reared within them, and shed over its ourwatd beauty the melHowing hues of a thousand years of renown.
axEtch or THE Paoposkd nutlaing.
Tha college is locented on a tract of land containing forty-five acres, formerly known by the name of Peel Ilall, situated on the Ridge road, $1 \frac{1}{4}$ milen from the city. This eatate was purehased from Mr. Willian I'arker, hy Mr. Girard, a sloort tume before his death, for the purposea of the college.
The building is peripterial, being 160 feet front, hy 217 feet on the flank, Ineluding the porticoes.
The columas avn 6 feet in diameter nt the base, and 34 feet 6 inches higb, ipeluding capitals asd bascs.

The order is Grecian Corinthian, from the monument of Lyicratus, or Lanterit of Demosthenes at Athens.
The shperstructure repowes on a easement, in the form of a truscated pyramud, compourd of 12 stepssurrounding the whole building. The passage betwees the columas and the walls of the cell as 15 feel.
All the colunins, entablature and pediment, are to be componed of white, and the cell of light blue marble. The floors and stairways are also to be cousposed of marble.
The vestibulcs are each 46 by 48 feet; they are ornamented with 16 rich lonic columus, antie, and cutablature, supportuag a celling enbellishud with lacunari.
Fach story contains four monns 50 fret aquare in the elear. The two rouns acrom the south end of the first stinry, afe divid ed from each other by marble eoluintr, aod entabiature of the Cormhian order, to that they may be used as une roons, for the jutpore of exhibitions, &e.

- The whole building is to be beated by means of furnacea placed it tie cellar
The college is lucated paraliel with the city streets, fronting the nouth. The land at the bane of the building is 36 teet above The rewervoir on fiurnount. The whole lieight of the editice is 97 feet, making the elevation of the root lith hect above the sand reservair.

AMERICAN INBTITUTF-NEW YOMK.
F'rom the N. Y. Adcertiser 4 aldeocate.
The attulutisiof the pubie as carnestly sidicited to the following eireular from the managers of the American Inautute, invil ing attention to their exfubtion, to take place on the 15 th of Untober numi.
Tlith early promingation of the intended munual fair bo made with a view of gavag upporiunties to our muchatics to prepare such artieles as they may wish to exhathi for the purpose uf giving lisen ootoriety-and well therits their particular attention. Nil nietiod that could be devised fur tive advancempent of the userul and ornameutal arts anong us, would seem to be so advaniageous as the plan here subaitited. The collection in one large roons of the varmous productuns of American akill and industry, has an andoubted tenden'y to awaken feelings of a proper natunal pride, and from the very numerous visitiors attraeted at these exhihutuns, we have uo besitation limgivg our decided award in their favor.
Wiat can possibly have a greater sendency to call forth a friendly dis position to native genius, than an npportunity to witness frout year to year the many advances whill are so rapidly making in the arts in thas yinhag and enterprising comuluuity? But a fow years since the manufacturea uf tive United States were confhed to a few of the coarser atticles in flax, in cotion, wrond and tion. Nuw, a farr of the Ausfiens Inatitute extribits -legant sperlinepn of almost every article of bonsehold nud personal comfort aud luxury. Murieal instrunients of the finest tone, and other wrticlea of ealnuct ware, of the most eaquisite workiuanship, cloths, eassiulerea, calicoes and muslins of supeIor fiueneas and fabric, Jnppanned ware ol every kind, sadillery and harnews fornituru, plate and plated ware of the finest polish, carpets and carpetiop, equal in texture and colors to the most trilliant of the loaported aricte, cuttrry of all sitids, from the inest surgical lustruments to cosnmon tuble furniture. In fine, tu every branch of meeltanical seience the mavonic hall, at one of thene fairs, exhibits specimens which would atiract praise and eulngy even in the great citive of Lomdon and Paris.
We speak aulvistdly on this sulbject, having attended simallar European institutimus: nor do we hewitate to say, that for ingenuity, enterprise and akill, no counlly produces workmen better qualified to ministur to the taxte, relined vinjoy usent and comfort of socirty than thase al'America; and nothing juremotes advancemont iu their various depattinents mores than grauping wgether, in anuual exhibitions, the various utewsils and fabrics fashioned from the abuudalat raw naterial with wheh our country abouudr.
To mechanics, therefore, in an especial manner wound we recommend an early attention to this truly patriotic plan of promoting their inferest, propared fir them by the lauduble exertions of thas valuable institution. Let theso remember that they are fast wearing away the prejudices whici, formerly existed in favur of foreign fabries, and that conmuntern, for the many and various articles of their production, are at last what is mos desirable for Usim. An intellgent and dixcerning public caunot reniain insensible to the claims uf their brethren for enewuragement and patronage, when the vast store of material with which our country abonmis is fotund, aunuallv, to be lucreasingly brought forwatd, fashioned into every variety of shape in uaple benten which the advancing state of society calls for, to miniater to its demande.
Let our feilow citizens bnt once become convinced of the fact, which will not much longer be ilenied, that we can furnish ourselves with vast numbers of the comforts and luxuries of life from our home resobrees, with more profit and advantage to the country than they ean he derived from abroad, and all partiea and denominations will rally around thein, to second the endeavors of a paterbal government to take every proper meavure for their continuance and support.

ANEBICAN INSTITUTE.
New York, July 4ts 1833.
The sixth annual fair of the American Justituta will be held in the eity of New York on Tuesday the 15th of October mext, and coutinue three days.

Premlems, consisting of diplomas, or medals, will be awarded, as usual, for such artieles of Aunvricimh production as shalt be alfudged superior, eitber in material or workmanship.
a As a new impetus seeme to have been Jately given to Ameriean induatry, it is confidently expected that the mir ananounced for Octuber next, will present still more dectaive evidence of the for Octuber next, wili present stilt more dectave evidence of the advancing condition of our agricutture, our manufactures, and the arts, than any of those which have preceded it.

Your attention in giving publicity to this circular, and aiding the efforts of the institute to effect a very general dusplay of ingeaious and usefinl fabrics, will promote the cause of national industry, by affording ocular demonstration that our okill and perseverance, under adequate protection, can compete with any and all other counitied. The varity and perfection of the productions which have on former oecasions been displayed at the fars of the institute, and the rapid reduction of poices manifented at every suecesssve exhibition, has already satistied many who before doubted, of our ability to compete with older and anore experienced matoons; and it is confideatly believed that Guture exhibitions will attract and npen the eyea of others, who now undervalue our resources, and who do not realize the perfeetion of out native improvements, because they have never been survad before the in.
Such ingenious and useful muchinery as may be conveniently transported, and put in operation, wift give ithterest and epirit to the oceasion.
Each articte should be labelled with the name of the manufocturer or producer, and with the agent's name and number is this etty.

The ilesign is to inform buyers where they can supply themselves with the best articles. In this way, by means of former fairs, many exceltent workmen have become better known, and have obtained permanent and profiable cuatonuers, who, white they have been better served, have at the same the rewarded and stimulated Amencan skili and madustry.

Arbictes entered for premiums must be delivered at early as Monday the Itsia of October.
More particular notices will be publirhed previous to the fair. For any other information whel way be dessred, apply to uther of the managern, in persun, or by letter.

Gimone Bacun,
Wix. F, Payte,

- $-\infty 800$

PASNED MIDSHIPMEN.
A board, composent of conabindure Jacob Jones as president? and captains J. J. Nicholion and W. W. Shubrick as members convened at Battinore on the 6th May, for the examination of such mudshipmen as presented themselven, agreeably to the orders of the departancht.
The following is a hist of those who were finund quatified for prumouon, arnanged in the order fixed by the boand.

> Warranta duted in leas.

1. James F. Mitler,
2. Henry A. Nivele,
3. Cbarten lleywood,
4. Elward K. Tlummpoon,
5. Willism C. Varrar,
6. Fraucu Rartlett,
7. Frencia Higer,
8. Resbert J. Ruse,
9. Willsan Clandier,
10. Thomas J. 1'nge,
11. Gearge Minor,
12. Percival Drayton,
13. Wm. C. Giitia,
14. Oliver Tod,
15. Robert F, Pinkury,
16. Thomas R. Rootes,
17. Edward M. Yard,
18. J. 'T. McLauzhlin, 10. Janes M. Gilliss;
19. Alexander Gibson,
20. Wn. N. Young,
21. Wm. W. Y. Bleecker,
22. Joneph F. Green,
23. Algeraon S. Worth,
24. Zach. Holland,
25. Huslirod W. Hunter,
26. Wim. C. Appencer,
27. Overtua Coar,
28. George N. Ilaw kuas

Warrants  arrants dated in 1027 .

20. Witham B. Ludlow,
21. Luther stoddard,
tes. John K. Tucker,
22. Wiltiam M. Wuiker,
23. George K Gray,
24. John Weeurs,
\%. C. S. Ridgety,
25. Rubert 1.. Jolinson,
26. Gicorge Mccicery,

27. John II. Maulsby,
28. Jothn A. W'uslow,
2.2. Benjamin M. Jove,
29. Jamee IS. Sully,
30. B. J. Moeller,
31. Ferdinand Piper,
32. Henry Walke,
33. John J. White.
[Mit. Mug.

- $\rightarrow$ - oun-

ARMY PROMOTIONA AND AIPHNTMENTR.
By an order throuzh the adjutant general of the army, nappears that promotions and appointuronts in the army of the United states, accordug to the following list, have been made by the presilleut, since the publicauon of the "order" No. 40, of May, It33.

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text {-ranmotiona, } \\
& \text {-ramint of aris }
\end{aligned}
$$

First reaiment of artillery.
of Leut. Jampa R. Irwin, to be I>t heutenant, 3lst May, 18:33, vice Wheelwriaht, seantued.
Bievet id liewt. George Watson, in be ed lieutenant, 3lat May, 1833 , we Jrwin, primиoted-(brevef, July 1, 1832.)

Thind regiment of artillery.
2d Lieut. Josept W. Harria, to be Ist licutenant, 30th June, 1833, vice Corprew, resigned.

2d Lieut. Robert Anderson, to be lst lieutenant, 30ih Juse, 1833, vice Brockenbrough reaigned.
Brevet $2 d$ heul. Bamuel H. Miller, to be 94 lieutenant 50h June, 1833, vice Harris promoted-(brevet Ist July, 1631.)
Brevet $2 d$ Lieut. George H. Talcott, to be 2d Lieutenant 30th June, 1833, vice Aadersom promoted-(brevet Int July, 1831.) HI- $\triangle$ Prointinknt.

Staff.
Charles W. Handy, Md. to be astistant surgeon, Ilth May, 1833.

The following named cadets, constituting the 1 st class of 1853 , at the last June exanination, having been adjudged by the acadeaie statf, competent to perform duty in the army, the president lias attached them as supernumerary $2 d$ lieutenask, by brevel, to regiments and corps respectively, as indicated in the foliowing litat-

Corpe of engineers.

Cadet Frederick A. Sunth, to be brevet od lieut. 1st July, 183.

Cadet Junathan G. Barnard, to be brevet 2d lieus. Lst July, 1835.

Cadet George W. Cullum, to be brevet 2d lieut. Lat July, $183 \%$.
Cadet Rufus King, to be brevet 2d Heut. Iet July, 1833.
First regiment of artillery.
Cadet Francis II. Smith, to be bruvet is lieut. 1 st Juty, 1833. Cadet William 11. Sidell, to be brevet 2d lieut ist July, 1678. Cadet Havid B. Harris, to be brevet od lieut. Int July, 1633 Cadet Erastus A. Capron, to be brevet gd lieul. 1 at Juty, 1638 Cadet David K. Hale, to be brevet 2d lieut. Ist July, 1839 Second reginent of artillery.
Cadet leaiah Garrett, to be brevet 2d heut. 1st July, 1833. Cadet Fduuund Nehnver, to be brevet 2d tieut. Ist July, 1603 . Cadet lleury Waller, to be Inrevet $2 d$ litut. 1st July, 1853. Third regiment of artillery.
Cadet Roswell W. Lee, to be brevel 24 lieut. Ist July, 1833. Cadet Robert R. Mudge, to be brevet ad lieut. lst July, 1833. Cadet John A. Thomas, tu be brevet 9 d heut. 1st July, 1823. Cadet Juhn 11. Alien, to be brevet $2 d$ heut. Ist July, 1833. Fourth regiment of artillery.
Cadet John 11. Miller, to be brevet 2d lieut. 1at July, 1830. Cadet James i.. Davie, to be brevet 21 lieut. Ist July, 1838. Cadet Atexunder E. Shirai, w be brevet 2d fieut, lst July, 1833.

Cadet Ilenry Dopoint, to be brevet ad licut. Ist July, 1853.
Cailet fivarge 1. Dinon, to be brevei edt lieut. 1st July, 1850.
Cadet Juel Rigys, to be brevet $2 d$ lieut. Lat July, 1633.
Cadet Genrge II. Pegram, to be brevet 9d lieut. Ist July, 1833.
Cadet James Mctlute, to be brevet 2d tieut. Let July, 1833.
Second regiment of infandry.
Cadet Isaac R. D. Burnett, to be brevet 创 Heut. Ist July, 1833.

Cindet Heary W. Wessells, to be brevet 24 lieut. lat July, 1833.

Cadet James W. Anderson, to be brevet $2 d$ fient. Ist Jely, 1835
Cadet Thounas Johns, to be brevet 9d lieut. 1st July, 1833. Third regiment of infandry.
Cadet Benj. L. IFubose, to be brevet id lieut. Int July, 1830 . Fourth regiment of infunfry.
Cadet W. B. Bhas, to be brevet $2 d$ heut. 1st July, 1833. - Catet lienj. Ajvord, to be brevet 9d lieut. Ist Juty, 1833.
C'adet Jolin 1. Hooper, to be brevet did lieut. Int July, 1833.
C'aldet Jobin W. Mctirabb, to be brevec $9 d$ lieut. Ist July, 1813.
C'adet Abrulazu C. Myerp, to be brevet id tieut. Ist July, 18iks.
Ciadet Ilcury L. Neoti, to be brevet idd heut. 1st July, 1850.
Fifih regument of imfantry.
Cadet Daniel Ruggles, to be trevet od lieut. Ist Juty, 1833.
Cadet J. C'hester Reid, to be brevet 94 heut. Ist July, 1836. Sixth regiment of infantry.
Cudet Jacob E. Blake, to be brevet $9 d$ lieut. Iat July, 1833.
tadet Jolin P. Center, to be brevet $2 d$ tieut. Ist Jnly, 1833.
Cadet George 11. Ringgold, to be brevet $\mathrm{Nd}_{\mathrm{d}}$ heut. let July, 188.

C'adet Joseph P. Ilarrison, to be brevel \%d lieut. 1st Jaly, 1833. Secenth regimens of infantry.
C'adet Auguslua F. Beaton, to be brevet Id lieut. 1at July, $18 \% 9$.

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { H-castalties-merionations. } \\
& \text { Iu tieutenants. }
\end{aligned}
$$

Washingtan Wheelright, Ist artiltery, IIst May, 1893.
George P. Corprew, 3d artilery, $30 t h$ June, 1833.
Austin Brockenbrough, 3d artillery, 30th Juae, 1833.
Frecet od dicutenant.
Merewether L. Clarke, 6th infantry, 3lst May, 1833.
-V-htLLEF TO EE OBSERVED IN ORDINAAV CASES OV PROMOTIOX.
3. If a fieid officer, the officer promoted will foin the roginemt and statun of his predecessor; if a company oticer he will joith the particular company where the vacancy to which he succeeds may have occurred.

The officers promoted will, accordingly, forthwith join their proper atation and companies, except those on detached service, or who may recetve special instructions from this office, they will report by letter, to their respective colonels.
5. The brevet $2 d$ lieatenants will join their reapective regiments, and report in person for duty, ngreeably to regulations. by the 3014 day of September; asd by letter, to their respective colonels, who will assiga themsio companies.

NHLES' WEEKLY REGISTER.

Fourt semisa. No. 2q-Vol Vili.] BALTIMORE, JULY 27, 1833. [Vol. XLIV. Whole No. 1,140.

THE PAST-THE PAESENT-FOR THE FUTVRE.

EDTEED, FHENTED AND PUBLBAED BY H. NILEK, AT $$ 5$ PER ANNLM, PATABLE IN ADVANCE.

0. Mr. Willian Shifpey, at the counting house of Mussrs. Peter H. Schenck &' Co. No. S4 Pine street, is agent for the Rearstan in the eity of New York, and generally authorised to transact all its business, in the reexipt of orilers, subscriptions, &c. &c. and will attend promptly thereto.

tre cholera.

Ten of the Indian youths at the Choctaw academy, at Blue Spring, Kentucky, have died of the cholera, and col. R. M. Johnson has lost fifteen of his slaves.
In the town of Riehmond, Kentueky, in twenty ulays, up to the 16 th list. but nine persons had died of cholera, six whites and three blacks. The town was assuming ith wonted lively appearance, its stores and offices were again open. But the disease was still raging in the county.
In the town of Lancaster, Ky. 116 persons hatl fallen vietims to the disease from the 19 h of June to the 8 th of July, 58 whites ann 58 blacks.
II Flenuingsburgh 66 deaths had ocearred, being about 1 in every 10 of its population.

In Lawreneeburg, Ky. 89 deaths had taken place out of a population of 250 .
In Seott county, Ky. the disease was making the most frightful ravages.
The board of health of Maysville, Ky. announced, on the 11th inst. that the cholera had ceased to prevail in that eily, and that all persons whose business or inelination may induce them to visit that place could do so in safety.
The canal hands at Williamsport, Md. are now said to be entirely clear of the disease.
The Wheeling Gazette of the zoth inst. says:-In Triadelphia, a village 8 miles east of this place on the turnpike, eontaining about 50 inhabitants, the cholera broke out with great violence on the 11 th inst. In a few dars there were 17 eases and 8 deaths. We understanul the village has been almost entirely deserted.
Liule Rock, June 16.-The steamboat Reindecr, capt. Cockran, arrived at this place on Sunday evening last, from New Orleans, in a most distressing condition-having lost SIX of her crew and passengers, by cholera, aince she left the mouth of White river. One of her passengers was lying at the point of death when she arrived, and is still lying in rather a critical situation, and almost every soul on board was nore or less affeeted with the epidemic.

The Pittsburg Gazefte states that the cholera has never been known in that eity as an epidenic, and the board of health announce, officially, that from the 11th of Jums, when the disease made its appearance, op to the 16di July, only 39 persons had dienl from the diseake.

There had been little or no melioration of the disease in Kanawha Salines, Va. and its vieinity up to the 18 th inst. The whole number of deaths, as asecrasined in the county, we learn from the Clarleston Baniur, was $i 4$. In Charleston, Va. there had beell six or seven eases of cholera and three or four dentis.
The National Intelligencer, on the anthority of a student announces that the cholera had made its appearance at Prinecton, New Jersey, nul that the students of the college had, in consequence, been permitted to return to their hoines.
In Indinna the disease is spreading, as is also the ense in Ohio. Deaths have occurred at several of the small towns on the Ohio river, and in the interior, we notice Ceaths at Lebanon, Dayton and Columbus, though in none of these places does it appear to possess the malignancy which marked its progress in Kuntucky.

Sthaves! The following, extracted from a Comecticut paper, has been spoken of in "tribute to Andrew Jackson!"

VoL. XLIV-Sig. It.
"He travels unarmed and unattended, but by hla honsehold, by day or night, through a land where every house he sees is his fone, and cerery man he meets is already enrolled as his life guard."
The remark is well-and propier. But the servile stupidity is in reference to it as something extraordinary. The "collar" is manilest! None but a grovelling slave -a fit subject for the multan of Turkey, would imagine a presicent of the United States travelling otherwise-for so all our presidents have travelled, and, we trust in heaven! always will do. We have seen president Adams taking carc of his own bagrage in a steamboat-and sitting down at the common table, like any other passengerand thus, we hope, that it ever will be. And there are tens of thousands of men, who were most decided in their opposition to the election of general Jackson to the presidency, who woull! have risked their lives to have provented the insult inflicted on president Jackson by exlieutenant Randolph, had they been present, and foresaw what was about to happen. And the general idea given out in the preceding extraet, is as old as the constitution. We saw general Wasuinotos thus proceeding to New York, to take his sirst oath as president-and have seen president Wasminoton on his return to Mount Vernon"uuarmed and unattended, but by bis own housebold;" and belield a negro, doff his three cornered revolutionary hat, and heartily shake hands with him who was "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearta of his country-men"-whose "uatne and fame" will outlive the pyramiils of Fisypt, and be more and more cherished as time shall hallow their adamant. It is the glory of our country that such things always have been; and to suppose that they ean be otherwise is-"moral treason."

Usited States mank. The New York Commercial of the 18th inst. remarks: "The government deposites have beeome a frnitful source of speculation, and some of the stock brokers are endeavoring to inculeate a belief that the president intenils to reorove the publie money to the state banks. If he hass any such intention, we should incline to the opintion that he would not again entruat eertain folks in Wall street with the sceret. Be that, however, as it may, it is certain that a premium of 25 per cent. was paill yestcrday in Wall street, to insure that the deposites woulil not be transforred before the next meeting of eongress, and Mr. Jacob Barker aceepted the prominm, and w rote such policy."

Imox. Fram the Albany Daily silvertiser. It is not only our own opinion, but we are confirmed in the belief, by many with whom we have conversed, that the mantufaeturing of eastings is brought to greater perfection in Albany than in any other place in this country, and, we may adtl, cven Europe. The hollow ware of Bartlett, Beat \& Cno is prefervel to the best "Seotel hollow ware" $\rightarrow$ the stoves of Dr. Nott reeeive the preference wherever They are known, and the machinery eastings of Many \& Ward, and othera, are eqnal to those of any foundry in the world.
The aroount of castings consnmed in this section of the country, may be julged of by the following facts:
Hówaril, Nott & Co, melt annually about 1,(00) tone. Bartlett, Bent & Co. do. do. ............ 350 1. & J. Townsend do. do............. 300 Rathbone & Silliman do. do............. 200 Many & Wraril do do............. 450

$$
\text { Total . } 2,300
$$

About one thousand persons obtain their smpport from the employment derivell from these establishments.
In addition to the amonit of irons melted here, Messrs. Hecrmans, Ruthtone & Co. sell amually 750 tons stove plates (from Philadelyhia) and Gill, Cooper & Co. about 300 tons from same place.

From the best information we can olstain, there are about 2,300 tons of castings manufnetured and sold in this city, and about 1,250 tons imported and sold here-making in all 3,550 tous.

Venmont. The "union" proceedings noticed in the last "Register," it appears, will be strongly opposedand Mr. Seymour, late of the senate of the United States, has leecn nominated, in several of the anti-Jackson papers, for the office of governor.

New Yonk cavala. From the Albany frgus. The tells collected on all the canals of the state, for the month of June, amonnt to the sun nl' $$ 174,6 $ 690-b e i n g$ $$ t, 26038$ more than the reveipts of the corremponding month of the last scason. The following satatuent exhibits the sum received on each canal for the month of June, to wit:

On the Fric canal
$$ 148,17046$
Cbamplain canal
21,165 24
Caynga and Seneca canal 2,411 17
Oswego canal
2,900 03
$$ 174,64690$
The wliole sum receired for tolls from the opewing of bavigation to the Soth of Junc, two montis and eiglit tays, is $$ 500,21194$ cents; lreing $$ 58,24096$ more than the receipts up to the same perio.l in 1832.
[The increased amonnt of the tolls on these canals is not proportioned to the increase of business on thein-for the rate of the tolls liad been considerably rerluced.]

Unifersity of New Yonk. The following is the close of 1)r. Watthew's addicess, on laying the corncer stone of the univarsily of New York:
"With these hopers and prospects, in the name of the most ligh Goul, the Father, the Son, anil the Holy Ghost, frnm whom conteth down every good gift and every perfeet gift, and with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning, do wee now lay this corner stone of the unircrsity of the city of Vew Fork; anl with the humble hope of his blessing antl favor, we tellieate it
"Th the cruse of fricelom-of ficedom, civil, intellectual, and religious; aml to that higlt canse for which our fathers were first exiles and thew warriors. May this institution furnish able aud devoted sons, who will uppreciate and nuaintain the frivileges transmitted to them as their heritage and birthright. We dedicaté it "To the cause of letters-of science und of education; the brightest earthly ornaments of a natiop, free and lappy as ours, and without which, freedom itself soon degenerates into coarse licentionsness, and results in anarchy and every evil work, We dedicate it
"Io the canise of religion-for without this, the tree of knowledge is severed from the tree of life; but with it freedom and knowlerlge alike become sanetified into blessings that enture forever.
"Aud firmly and permanently as we have now laid this corner stone in its place, would we also lay this instiution deep in the affiections and confulence of this community, and commit it eonfidently to the care and patuonage of Jim who sees the end frou the beginning, and in whom we trust, that after our names and inemorials shall have passed away, this university will remaill a pillar of IIght and glory to our city and oar nation. Esfo perpetian."

Easton, Pa. The anniversary was celebrated with great spirit in this prosperons towis, by military and eivic processions, fe. but was specially reniarkable locentise of the laving of the eomier stone of "I afayette college," ou which n noble edifice is to be erected, with appropriate eeremonice.

On settling the stonc to its place, colonel Porter, (presideut of the board of trustees), said:
"Here, on the anniversary of our independence, we dedicate this building to the cause of scirner: and rducation. May it long be the seat of viftue and learning. May the example of him whose name it bears and who is well described as the model of republican chival'y, the hero of three revolutions, of two eenturies and of both hemispheres, inspire the youth who shall be bere educated, with the proper spirit of patriotism and philanthropy.

And may the all hountcons Author of nature bless this our undertaking, pintert those engaged in completing this structure from accident and harm, and long preserve it from devay."

Baztimone. The ship-builaling business eontinues to lee proseched in Baltimore with unabaterl activity. Within a short time past, the kecls of five brigs, six schooners and a steamboat bave heen laid down, the greater proportion of which, including the sleambont, are building fing account of owners in other eitirs. Two nolle ships, of 500 to 600 tons each, are aslvaneing towards completion, nut one of them is exprected to be launchetl in subout a forthight. They are bosli designed for mervisants of Petcrsburg, Va. Our naval architeets possess that pcettliar shill and talent in the line of their profension which cannot fail to neenre them full employment, an long as first rate vessela are required.
[.2mer.
In the quarter colling July 1-there was inspeeted in Balimore $1.44,047$ bhis, and $1.494 \frac{1}{2}$ bbls. whrat flime 87 hlids and 5,226 hbls. eorn meal- 146 bbla. and $\$ 5 \frac{1}{2}$ bhls. beef, $\mathbf{3 , 3 6 7}$ bbls. pork-the two last nearly all "foreign" packud.

Baltimone and Omo mail moan. A late report of a committce of the board of ilisectors sliews:
That the reccipts for transportation during the last aix months, appears, by the accompanying statement of the supr rintenderit of transportation, to have been $$ 99,55686$

That the expenses of transportation, and the salary of the superintendent of transportation were i41,534 55
That the repairs of the roanl, machinery and aftendance on the saine, and salary of stuerintenslent of maclinery, were

18,37489
The wear and tear of horses and harness is estimated at 2,800 00
62,709 24
1.eaving, after dedueting the foregoing iterns, the sum of $$ 99,84768$
The income and expenses of transportation in the first six montbs of 1832 and 1833 , are thus shewn:

Incame.

$1832, $ 78,1604$
Expenses of transportation.
1833, 92,35686
$1832, $ 41,41429$

North Canolisa. The internal improvement convention of the state of North Caroliua met at Raleigh, on the 4 th instant. 'The lionorable D. I. Siwarn, govermur of the state, was chosell president, and two secretarics were appointed. One hundred and eighteen delegates were present. A coinmittce, composed of one inember from each conntr delogation, was appointed, to whom wate referted all inatters of inguiry, with inmivetions to make a gencral report. This committee made a detailed report on Friday afternoon, which produced a protracted discussion. After being modified in several particulars, it was fimally allopted, on Saturtag. Nearly the whole of the debate which oceurred in the converition, took place on a resolntion reported by the committec, whichaffirms "that the true prolicy of the state requires that its funds sloould, in the first instance, be exclusirely applied to providing the means of internal transportation, and in ereating and intproving markets within her own limits." The true point appears to lave been whether the neeessary improvements should not terminate at some point or pointa in North Carolina, rather than be connected with improvements, in other states on the urrth, south antl west, which might lead the trade to Norfolk, or to Charleston, or down the western waters to New Orleans.
The resolutions finally adopted deelare it expedient that "n liberal system of interinal improvements should be imuerliately organizell arrl vigoronsly prosecuted;"
That the general assembly ought to provide "by law or otherwisc," a fund for purposes of internal improvement;
That this fund ought to he applied "in the first instance, excluevively" to creating and improving markets within the limits of the state; within the limits of the state;

That provision ought to be made by law, that the state shall subscribe for twoofifits of the stock of every company chartered for internal improvement; and

That every company so chartered, ought to huve power to cross and interseet at pleasure, any work prerioubly authorised or made.
Committees of eorrespondence and to adilress the people of the state on the subject were appointed, and a memorial was directed to be luid before the next legislature. A new sonvention was recommended, to be held in November next, to deliberate farther.

Ohio casala. The tollo received on the Ohio canal, in May last, amounted to $$ 16,93380$-same mouth, last year, $$ 10,14743$. Un the Ohio and Miami canal, last May, $$ 3,34014$-same month, last year, $$ 3,73458$.

Natchez is about 400 miles from the ocean-but about to beeome a great seaport, by the aid of steam vessels a seending the current of the Mississippi, towing up ships. The state of Mississippi now exports ubont 225,006 bales of cotton, and is growing rapially in population aud means to double the grantity, if the inarket remains good.There seems hardly a limit to the amount of cotton which may be produced.

The deties which acerued at Boston in the two first quarters of 1832 , amounted to $$ 2,647,130$ 24: in the two first quarters of the present year $$ 1,821,95779$. The reduction is chiefly caused, no doubt, by achaitting coflice, tea, &e, duty free; and yet the price of these artieles has not declined.

In I'hiladelphia, the amonnt of dinties in the two first quarters of 1832 , was $$ 2,310,17849$ : in those of $18.33-$
$$ 1,322,772$
23 were anentioned in the last 12 stisstis.

The coal trade. 111,577 tons have descendel the Schuylkill-the present scason, up to the 1 thh inst. The cost of coal, at ilifferent points of embarkation is from $\$ 200$ to $\$ 250$ per ton, and the freight to Ihiladelphia from $112 \frac{1}{2}$ to 125 cents per ton.

Tus zonti west. A lot of ground in Buffalo (without buildings) lately sold for $$ 75,000$. It was purchased a few years ago for $$ 800$. A steambout has been built at Huron, (on lake Erie) 200 feet keel, and her cugines are to have the power of 210 horsen! Well situated stores in Detroil rent for 600 or 700 dollars.

Wheat. The standarvl weight for merchantable wheat this season, has been fixed by the city millers of Richmond, at 58 lbe. the bushel. Iast season it was 60 , and half the erop weighed $6 t$.
(IFhis.
British imponts of ghais, meal and flove. By a parliamentary return just published, it appeared that the following quantities of foreign and colouial grain paid the duties for the home consumption during the interval between the first day of the operations of the corn bill $(9$ Geo. 1 V. e. 60) which took effeet on the 15 th of July, 1898, and the ist of April last.

|  | Foreign corn. | Cononial. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Wheat, | 4,793,746 | 35,3,9615 |
| Barley, | 1,067,068 | 21.3 |
| Oats, | 1,455,987 | 8,818 |
| Rye, | 141,869 |  |
| Pean, | 195,201 | 5,521 |
| Reans | 178,452 |  |
| Huck wheat, | 34,859 |  |
| Iudian corn, | 100,425 | II |
| Quarters, | 7,968,405 | 367,578 |

Total.
$5,148,651$
1, (697, 370
1,464,815
141,869
2011,722
178,452
34,859
100,236
The annual average of foreign $\begin{array}{ll}367,578 \\ \text { guin entered } & 8,336,083 \\ \text { for home }\end{array}$ consumption during the period in question, appears, therefore, to have been as under-

|  | Quarters, |  |
| :--- | ---: | :--- |
| Wheat, | 895,410 | Pcas, |
| Barley, | 185,630 | 13cans, |
| Oats, | 254,759 | 13nck heat, |
| Rye, | 25,630 | Indian corn, |
| The duties paid npon the $7,068,405$ quart |  |  |

Quarters.
43,900
51,030
6,060
17,430
The duties paid npon the $7,068,405$ quarters of foreign corn amounted, within the above interval, to $£ \varrho, 501,713$, being an average of abont $£ 435,080$ per annem. Those on colonial corn, paid on 367,578 quarters did not produec more than Cfill. 378 .
The quantity of what, meal and flour, being foreign, on which the: duties were paid, was $1,880,534 \mathrm{cwt}$. from which the revenue ulerived the sum of $£ 182,888$; that of colonial articles of the like description was $372,446 \mathrm{ewt}$. which paial duties to the amonnt of $£ 15,076$.
[The quarter of wheat is 8 bushels, of 70 lbs .]

- A macnase has been insented in Cineinnati for eutting wheat, or any other suall grain, by horse power. It is stated that it will, when propelled by two horses, cut as fast as eight persons can hind. A fair trial has been made of it in the presence of screral member's of the agricultural society of Hamilton connty. It met their fullest approbation, and the editor ol the Cincinnati Advertiser, who bas seen the machine, expresses his opinion that it may be applied to cutting grassalso. This, if it proves fally successful, is an inportant invention; but so many ingenious novelties liave been brought forward of late, anul so few have answered the expectations at first held out of their intility, that we are diaposed to be somewhat cautious and inercdulons.

Spery orl. The city of Boston has eomtraeted for a supply of oil for the street launps at the following rates, viz:-simmer oil 90 cents, aul winter 1 dollar per gallon. Greatly as the whaling business luse increased withina few yeark, the supply of oil does not equal the demanis, amil the price is therefore constantly and stearlily on the inereane. It is almost impossible that the market should be over-stocked.*
[Salem Gazette.
Av immrise vinerand. Von Meyerfiky, a landowner at I'esth, in Ilungary, is eompleting a vineyard in that vicinity, which will ןrobably be the largest ever known in Europe. Its supuerficial area is nearly four hundied acres, and its produce, even in moderately favored seasons, will not be sliort of five and twenty thousand sulms, or 375,000 Fanglish gallons. As a receptacle for this proluce, the grower is erecting a cellar suffieiently spacious to receive double the quantity. Meyerfiky's brother, 100 , is by no mesans a small dealer in this branch of the liguor trade; for he is on the eve of starting a riral to the famous sire of Heidelborg, viz: a tun made entirely of marble, and capable of containing $63,000 \mathrm{gal}$. lons.

A cemossrt. A gentleman of New Haven, (Con.) has several volumes of the first new spaper that was ever published in Englanil. It was comnienced in 1558, and is cntitled "The English Mercurie" which, by authority, is imprinted at London, by Christopher Baker, her highness's [queen F'lizabeth's] printer.

Cisk of sencction. From the Lemehotirg Firginian, July 15. The superior conrt of this eorporation was engaged the greater patt of Wednesday and Thursilay last in the trial of a case of serluction; the first action of this sort, we believe, which has been brotght before it since its organization. The plaintiff was Benjamin A. Philips, uho instituted a suit against Tinsley. Padgett, for the seduction of Maria Philips, under promise of marriage, the conserpence of which seduction was the birth of an infant sluring the last winter. We were not at court on Wednesclay and did not hear the teatimony, lont the claracter of it may be inferred from the fact that the jury refurned a verdict against the defendant of thirteen hundred dollars damages-a sum, according to his statement of his pecuniary resources, which he is unable to pay.

Ginv. Stokra. At the amiversary dinner, at Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, the following toast was given-By the presiclent of the clay-I give, a friend, statesman, and a revolntionary soldier, now a distinguished. guest-gov. Stokes, of North Carolina.
After this toast was announect, gov. Stokes rose and said-"Gientlemen, among strangers, few of whom I have [^31]ever seen before, and fewer still of whom I ever expeet to see again, I feel highly gratified with the attention shown me on this occasion-l shall ever remember it with pleasure. I entered the service of my country at a very early age; I was in the battle of King's Bridge at Norfolk-I have been 44 years in the public service, (this year will make 45), and I expeet to die in the service of my country, as I am old and have but a short time to live. 1 will give you-The young, rising, and flourishing state of Missouri. ${ }^{\text {n }}$

Mias Craxdell, a young lady, las been imprisoned in Connecticuc, because that she persiated in keeping a school for "young laties of color," at Catiterbury"contrary to law." She has been bailed out.

The Siamesz Twiss, Deing at Cleveland, Ohio, were visited by Black Hawk and his party, who seemed nunch intereated in seeing them, and asked many questions. Black Hawk addressed the twins, (through the inte riceter), for five minates or more. The sulastance of the adiress was- "That he ancel his friends had lieard of the twins, and having been very anxious to sec them that they felt pleased in having their wishes gratifiecl."

He said "the Great Sjuirit lind made them as ther were, and would protect them and be their guide and protector, should they again cross the great waters."The concluding pibiase of lise aililress was, "the Gircat Spirit will eall both to him at once."

The Indians sat with the twius for nearly fifteen minutes.
He added "tlaat he would show to his red brethren the portrait whieh they had presented to lim, and would tell them what he and lis friends had seen."
[Cleveland .Adv.
"Weatzry womgx. I saw there a comple of splendid western beauties. The south produces clegant women, and the valley of the Mississippi splendid ones. There is an originality-a raciness-dmong the women of the west, which is eminently attractive. They touch the confines of eivilization and barbarism with such a daring grace, that the precise petits naitres of the Atlantia are thunderstruck or turned into gaping stalues at their fascinating wildness ancl enchanting andacity. A western or southern belle fresh from the woods, is a sealed book to an Atlantic dandy. He cannot understand her; he has not the key; she is beyond his vision. To know them properly; to estimate them accurntely, we must have been lost on the Alleghanics; slipwreeked on a foreign eoast, drank sleerbet with the Turk; tasted the river Jordan, or been killed and eaten by pirates. It is quite distressing to see the Atlantic belles piek their wal through a crowded tlrawing room. They sometimes stand on the outward edge of the erowil, and look despairingly to a friend at the other end of the room, as one would look upon the apires of Cinciunati from tlee pinnacles of the Alleghanies, or a traveller look across the Arabian deserts. A western belle dashes through the crowd as she would through the river mounted on horsehack. Nothing impedes ber. She makes manners, and eontrols the rulers of society as she marelies through itthrowing dandies asitle as a ship docs the billows. I'lee southern fine lady glides like a sylph; full of feeling and passion, which give edge to her conversation and fire th her eyes."

Portland . Idv.
Inelasp. It is almost constitutional with us to wish well to the oppressed people of Ireland-so long have we entertained a deep serse of the ivjuries inflieted upon them by the "tyrant" which also opluessed our fathves, in our own land; but have oftentimes had to regret proceedings of the character of those sated below-though the "organization of volunteers" mentioned was only, an we believe, in the idra of some ignorant person. And it is also a great misfortune, that forcigners, becoming citizens of the United States, do not always recollect that they are a part of the general mass of the people, anul should have only such motives and feelings as belong to the new allegiance they have voluntarily made; not lueng - separate party, because of the place of their nativity.

The "Dublin Pilot," under the head of "American sympathy for Ireland," says-"We have reecived a cop!
of the Uniled States Gazette, of April the 18 th , in whie is contained a long account of a pablic meeting held in Philadelphia, of gentlemen interesting thenselves in the condition of Ireland. The proecedings of this meeting are too strongly worded to be given publicity to in an Irish paper. Fhe discussion was a very animated one, as it referred to the coercive bill. The result was to appoint a committec to prepare a constitution and bo laws for the ןroposer nrgauization of "the association of the friends of Irelaticl." A eorrespondent states, "that meetings woill be held all over . Imerica, and tohmeers orgtanized on the model of 1782 ."
"Every good rule mast work both ways." What would sone of us have thought, in 1798, if such proecedings had been intimnted as hapluening in England-with respeet to the condition of thangs in the Unifed States?

Britisu West Ispia coloniks. The following state meats, which we suljoin from the official returns for the year 1829, will be some guide as to the value of these colonier to the nuther country:
The exports from these colvuics to England amounted to
The same to other parts
L9,087,919

Gross exports

The imports into the colonies from Englanil nmmuited to cs
The same from other parts
$3,100,000$

Gross imports

£8,621,169 And this trade gave enflloyment to 18,000 British seamen.

Statictics-St. Petrisacigen. The following is a talle of the pmpulntion of St. Petershorgh in 1832-males 294,468 , fromales 154,900 ; thal 449,368. Among them are veeleqiasties 2,188 , nolles 34,079 . Soldiers 39,437 , merelants 10,828 , artikans 24,179 , citizens 36,732 , of the middle class 66,366 , foreigners of various conditions, with the exception of mereliants and artisana, 7,199, domestic scrvants 94,000 , 1 masants $12 \overline{2}, 565$, imhabitants of Oclita 3,38s. Births, males 5,198 , tivuales 4,969 ; total 11, 167. Deaths, by virions discases, males 11,032, females 5,230 , by aceident 675 ; total 16,937 . Fixeess of deaths 6,758 . This great excess of dealis is not to be ascribed to the insalaltrity of the elimate, but to the disproportion between the number of the sexes. The mate proportion being nearly donble the female, the number of families is, of corrse, not proportionate to the gross amount of the population; aceorlingly, the execes of deaths is fomid in tie males, and onght to be deduetrd.
(IIterny Gazetle.
"Fann Pasauclon." To those who are in the habit of puffing great men and little nen, we reeommend the following "xtract from a rreent narrative of Housain Ben 1swail Ell llan, in which loe eleseribes the natural and supernatural pualifications of lis master, Alubsker lord Pakglauloo, a Maliontetun Malay chief who rules at Malacea. The puffirs and flatterers in this country will not meet with any thing in this more extravagunt than they are aceustomed to, lat they may find sone new expressions to grace their arlulation.
"Praise le to Allah, ant Mahomed who is his prophet! under whose favor ruleth in wistom and poner the mighty chief, pre-electell of (iod, A neasker lord Panghuloo of the eountry of Nanoing; tlie comforser of lis people in peace, and when battle ragen, the shedeler-ofthe bloed of his cucmies; the shield of his wide domsin and the vanquisher of invaders, who healetle with a touch those who ail, and with a birath disperseth his foes; whose lonse is the abode of propriety; who is faintiful, valiant and disereet; courteous to his neighlors, and who is continually manifesting his tenderness to the needy: may prosperity, honor and lengthened sway wait upon his lighuerss, nut upoo his foes eonfusion and despairing defowi; of whose procectings in peace I itulite the justice and wimlom, annl of whose actions in war I record the tempesturus and scattering fury; and from whose countruance the rave of conquest and greatness illumine the prage of mg, lis servant Ifousain Ben Ismail El Mima, recording his praise-worihy and valorous aets, that they may be known in all countries both above and below the wind, and be read by those who lwell to the east and the west of the sun, that his example may be remembered, and his greatness prolonged-And so be it."

We know not the paper to which "eredit" is due for the precening-else world glatly a ward it. It is a fine specimen of crawling and puffing-and well fitted to the present state of the times.]

Relics of Mart queen of Scots. Certain interesting relies of the never to be forgotten yueen of sorrows as well as of beauty, are yet amongst us, and in the possession of personages of her own gentle sex. The celebruted casket, said to have contained the fatal letters produeed to excuse her eomlemuation, grace the cabinet of the honorable Miss Grimson. The pearl neeklace, which used to adorn her beautiful neek in the bright deys of her charms and her power, is the sometimes ornament of her no less lovely countryworaan, Miss MeDonuld. And the hallowed liule cross whiel, lay on her bosom in the hour of execotion, is regarted ns a sacred inheritance in the family of the dueliess of Richmond. And, perhaps, what is the most affecting relic of them all, the last garment whieh folded around her in the last aet of that horrible seene, and stained with her blool, is in the possession of the house of Throckmorton. Sone touching verses show how often it has been embalmed with a tear from the gentle eyes of lady Throckmorton, the beautiful friend of the sweet bard of the "The Task."

[English paper.

"Tace cmivalay." The following le related by Mr. Rusb"gir Feltou Harvey, aid-de-camp of the duke of Weliington, had fost sn arm in batife. Whilst one of the battes in Spain was ragiog, the duke gave him an order to eonvey to another part of the field. Half across it, a Erench nficer was seen galloping towards him. Sir Felton's sword huug by his side, thnugh lie could not wield it; If was his right arm he had hnst, and the other held the bridie; but he faced the foe, lookiug deflance. As they swinly drew near, the Frenchman raiwed huneelf on his stirrups, his sword uplifed. Discovering, at the very moment for the stroke, lis adverwary to be defenceless, he brings down his weapon in the form of a complinnentary salute, and rapidly passes on. He gave his salute in ailence." This was true clivalry.

BRIEF NOTICFS.

We shall carcfully refrain from entering into the merits nf the matter, but having two or three times noticed the suhject, we feel $1 t$ right to say-that the crcitement in Rhode Island, against the rev. Mr. Avery remains nuabated. It would almost spem, ladeed, that though aequitted by the verdiet of a jury, he has yet to pass through the ordeal of public oplaion.

According to the Dublin Journal, the number of Protegtants who bave emigrated from Ireland Junng the last few years is as follows-In $1829,12,000$; in $1830,21,000$; in $1531,29,500$; in 16132 , 31,300 -minking a total of 98,000 durng the short rpace of four years.
The New Haven Herald atstes that Messra, P. S. Galpin & Co. beling dewirous of removing their carpet fretory to the east bank of the harbor, contracted with Mrsurs. Wooding $s Eperry, of Hainden, who effected the removal in a few days, bodils, without the workmen ceasing from their work. It was firsi taken np an aseeat of 20 feet, and then conveyed atout Aliree. fourths of a mite. The building is 76 by 30 feet, and contains 16 looms, with apparatus.

John Randolph, at the time of his death, was in possession of 318 slaves, and 180 horses, of which 120 were blood lorite.

With deep regret we announce the death of general John Coffee. He died on the 7 th inst. In the 6.2d year of his age, at his residence nsar Florence, Alahania.

This hrave man was one of the nolisest specimens of an American elfizen aoldier. We saw himh last wluter on a visit to the president, to whom he had been a right arm licrougtoout the war, and were greasly whuck with the plail, unpretthding, far mer-like appearance of one, who had been a thundertott in battle. He had nothing of "ihe pride, porap, and circumatance of glorious tray" aboht him. Alhooghl of exceedingty robust, Hereulean person, lie had not a martial look. His mambers Were gentle-the expresion of his eountensnce quiet and thoughtful-and his whole air and aspeet wore the appearance of serious, reilgious feeiing.
And this tone of mind, roused to enthusiasm, characterized his soldieralitip. Oue of the bravent men that ever led a column to the charge, and inspiring all with his own esergy, the animating motive in his own bosom, was decotion to his constry.
[Glabe.
According to a Berlin article of the 7ih May last, the univer. sity of Berlin has forty-six regular and forty-fonr extra prufeaaors; forty-three private tutors-altogether one hundred and thirty-three teacbers. There are eighteen hundred and thirtytwo regular stindenta, and fion five to sia hundred persons who fillow eoursce of lectures.
Joel Clough, the murderer-of Mra. Hamilton, who was under sentence ol drath, made hls escape from the Mount Hilly state prison between Siturday night and Sunday tuorning last; but was captured about dusk on Sunday evening. He was diseovered coming out of a swamp oft the Rancocas, by a colored msn, about three nules west of alount HoHy, who guve the alaru, and was soon foined by several persons. Clough made no restsiance though he had an axe in his possession. He was taken back to prison, and was to have been executed yesterday.

A nurst foul mod unnatural murder was committed in Pitlsylvania county, Va. on the 10 th instant by Armistead Cran on the perwon of his brother, George Cran, Jr. at the house of his father Plitip Craft. Imtnediately after commitung the deed the aurderer floil; and the father was taken up on wuspicion of baving atded the eacape of his son and thereby becoming an accesaary after the fact; but after full examination before a enurt of justices, was discharged, the teatumony not being sufficlent.
The cilizens of Lexington, Ky, held a meeting on the 10 th inst. to take into consideratiou the expediency of eatablishing an orphan axylum in that place. A committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions and draft an addresa to the citizens of the clty and county.

Melincholy-We learn, that recently, in a ncighbering town, au efligy of the rev. E. K. Avery was suspended in a pubic situation, at some perind in the ught. It the morning it was seen by the people passing, and among others, by a young man, whu had, for a brief space, been subjected to mania melanchotia. He immediately came thome, and observed to his mother and biother: "Tliey say that the man hung up out there is Intended to represeut Mr. Avery - but it don't. Iknow what lt's meant for-it's nieant for me!" He seemed grieved, and "more in sorrow than in anger." Ahout two hours after, lie was found dead, having hanged himself with a cord. Thus it would seem, that in one lustance at least the syspenslon of thigies has been atlended with more inmmedintely serinus connequeuces, than the excitement of the public feellig, which they unturally enhanea or engender.
[Proridence Journal.
Mathew 'T. Scott, esq. has been appointed eashler of the $\boldsymbol{U}$. States hraneh bank, at Lexlogton, Kentucky, In the place of Jnseph Fowler, deceased; $F$. Dewees, teller, in place of Mr. Scolt, and '1. W. Huwkias, elerk, in place of Wm. T. Smith, deceased.
John Thaw, eaq. has been appointed cashier of the branch bank of the Unised States, at Pittsburgh, in place of James Cofrcy, esq. resgued.
Several cases of hydrophobia have recently been mentioned ill the newspapers. Flicited by them, the following cure is published in the Boston Morning Powt; of what efficacy it is to bo considered, remains to be sewn:-
"'The inliubitants of Gadiel liave made the important discovery, that near the ligament inf the mau or beast bliten by a rabid animal, and beconiule rabid. pistules of a whitisht hue make their appearance, which upen spontaneonsly about the 13th day after the bite; and at this time, they say, the Arst symptums of trun liydrophobla make their apprarauce. Theis niethod of cura consinta in opening theme pustules, and iffaking the patient spit out the lehor and fluid which run from them, ohen washing the moush with salt water. This operation stould be performed the ninth day nfur the bite. The remedy is so effectual, that with Usese people this bitherto lucurable diseare has lont its terrors."

The nteamboat Bonnets of Blue has been recently loft betwean Savannah and Mobsle. The passeugers and erew with the ex. ception of oue negro were all saved.

A pablie meetlog lias been called-in Edgefield, S. C. to take Into enasideratlon the coustruction of a branch from the Charleston and Hanburg rall road to the former town.

The manufacturers nf Iron in the elty of Plitsburgh, have dotermined su abandon the present unode of wrighiog iron in grous, and adopt that sued in weighing other articles of merchandise. This alterstinn to take effect on the Arat day of Anguat next. The price of iron, linwever, is to be reduecd, to correopond with the reduction in weight.
James M. Masnn, esq. of Winchester, has been appointed by the executive a visiner of the universliy of Virginia, in the place nf gen. Janres Breckeuridge, deceased.

A merting of the people of the county of Lunenburg, Va. will be lield at their conrt house on the secend Monday in Angust next, to take into connideration the propriety of an immediata public expression of their opiniond in regard to the monimation of Bexs. W. Leion, exq. as a condidate for the otbec of prezident of the Cnited States.

A splendid animal. There is now exhlbited In Portiand, Maime, a bull, seven years old, weighing three thousand dive hunired pounds. He measures 11 feet 9 inches from bis nose to his tail, girte nime feet, and is 5 feet 8 inches in helght. He is of the improved short horn Durham breed.

A lettet from Vera Cruz, under date if ISth Jane, states that the yellow fever had carried off one eighth of the propulation of that place withis forty days.
General Solomon G. Kreppa, a senator of Pennsyivania, died at Brownaville, fra. nis the 14th Inpt. of chatera. Gell. Krepps ts ligglily apoken of as an able and useful sematior.

OREIGN NEIVS

From Liverpool pupere to the 96 June, inchusice.
The question of rechartering the bank of Eingland, was brought forward in the house of contuons by the chancelfor of the exehequer, on the 31st of May, and carried, and the plas as prot posed by ministers has beet subsequenty neceedrd to at a merct pog of the stockbolders. The favorable result of this inipurtitut question has given a fresh impuise to the commercial and inoaeyed affairs of Englaud. Confidence being reatuted, the funds rose, raney was pleuty, and bu-iness was maviug sit with bealthy setion. The American nicichants will be glad to learn that cotton in Liverpool had risen three vightis of a penny, and that upwaids of forty-seven thousand bags liad beeti sold during the first week of June. We truat, however, pays the New York Commercial, that speculation in thas chinitiy will proceed with caution. Rementiber the fatal year of $1 $ 25$.
On the 3d of June, the duke of Wellington brouglt forward a motion for an addicas to the king, callang un line majesty in enforce a atrice neutrality in irlation to fortigat, a and clasping the ministers ever since thry lad locen secuie in their flaces, with pursulag a coaree most injuricus to the country. Alter a ong delate the motion was carried; coutcuty 68, noll coatent 68, majorty against mimistets 20 .

The reply of the king to the address of the lurils was presented by the raarquis of Wellesley, lind Eteward of his majuesty's household, on the 6ih. It was laciunic, to the point, and gave litile satisfaction to the party of the duke.
An address approbatory of the ennduct of inimisters had sub. equently been introduced to the louser of counoris, and ather a fiery detate carried; for the notlou '3il, againat it 98, unajority for ministers 233.
The diacussion on the slave question came up in the house of commons on the 3d. Mr. O'Connell opened the debate, aud epoke at great length in favor of juminediate emancijrabion.Lord Sandon fillowed, and for the purpase of haruonlyong, was also in favor of immediate enancipation; hut olfored an amend. asent, increasing tile grant to the proprietors of rlaves to iweuty millions, and a loan of ten milhuses. The chancelleur thomplit the atim too large. After much ilscusajon, Mr. Stathy satd, he congrafulated the country and the morld tiat tie fict had gone forth; that the abolition of slavery was iuevitable; and that the question was anw reduced to the matter of compenamion. T'len fres resolation was then put and carried; aed as lobl sandoll dif not press hia motion, thie comumittee rose and liad leave to it agnin.
Lord King, baron of Oakliam, died in L.ondon on the 4th of Juae, the is succeeded in his tutle by his son Peter, tusw lond King.
Primee George, the only son if the duke of Cumbesiand, is aeld to have beeone tutalty blind. He has beent lioko did upin pince the death of the duke of York as the protable occupant of the throne, and husband to the pliacess Victoria.
Distarbances continued in Ireland.
Bir Beratford Canniug had arived at Paris on lin way from Madrld to London.

A rint took place at Boveg, near Amirne on the mornitug of the 23 d ult. The gen d'armes were comppilled to retire, at tirst; but being reinforend were enabled to tike five prianoliers. whoni they handeufird and were ahout conducting Heni to Aubell. The sight of the handeull's mo inecused the cltiz'ns, that the nob was again rallied in great numburon, and the groll d'armes obliged to abandon their clanrge. A detachenent from ther eartison of Armiens arrived and quelled the rint without Huondsheil.
The coltiers in the neighburtiond of Vallencienuer, to the nuabet of 5,000 had turnultuonsly asmembled and coinmitted preat excesses. Ten thousind troops hal inatched agounst thein for the purpose of quelling the inaurrectiont.

HOLLANDAND MEDGIVM.
England and France ari aninl to loave wade a tronty wilt the for which he mon strenunnsly coniruided. Ilr)ginion it is said is lon in the precarions state In which Willinm has thonslit proper in plece her, occupping territory which the cannot keep, and mos occapying wit the parts bulouglug to leers without fixed boundaries, posessed of nothing whoh eonsiltutes stalitity, Inapires confidence, or insures the firture fiapuseess of a cobis. try. The flections in Belgiam liave rerulted in faver of the Catholic lotereat.

GERVANV.

Gerieus disturbancek tnok jlace at the frie uf Hamhach, and the Bavarime imops were cothimiled to clarge the tuulutude; Gve perwons were killed and fifv-lume taken minonops, Svup toms of diandfection had also been uatulested by partien of college students.

TORK:

The vicerey of Figym had woditiel thraloin pacha ta splure tmmediately behiad we Taulus, whil all hor antuy.

The revolis agninat the sultan in Albania and Boonia bad become general. The Ottoman troopa have been driven from all the plices they ocenpied and the Turkisb functionaries deprived of their employmurnts. The Servians, finin Vidin to Niwsa, unaminnounly rufuse to pay their taxes, and the Greeks of the distucts of Verevin and Greneva are ulse in open rebeltion againat the grand seignor's governimeut.

GREECE.
An onder tsaned by the regency, declaring afl Greek foreigners who do not thke an uath of dielity to king Otho, had exested geueral diocontent and in rome places had beea openly resisted.

An Insurrectinn had a republican covarnmentoken out in ltaly having for its objeet a republican government. The centre of operationa was to be Chambery, and the Polish refugees were to and. The plas is onid to thave been a aimuitaneous movement on the Sardiaian staten, Fiance and the French parts of Switzeriand.
poateaal
The accounts from Oporto are unfivorable to the suceess of Donna Malla's cause. The cholera was spreading throughout the kingdous.

-wn enem-

THE: PRER:IOU'S METALS.

From a late London payer.
An claborate puper prepared in the loreigu office has beea laid befote parlament, which decides the gaention as to tha comparaive productions of the American gold and silver mines duning the haxt ton years, enting with 1829 , and the periods incucediately procrding. Thia return exlitits a material falling off; and alturught mich of the dinuinution may, perhaps, fairly be attributied to the unsettled state of the countries in which the thues are pituatcd, sull there is abuodant reawon for concluding thot the ssturres iteelf is approaching to exhauston. From this curiou* document we make the following ubptract:-From 1790 to 1803 , the uincs of Mryiro yuelded gold to the value of silver ; Cluht, gold $\mathcal{\&}$ L63, 974 , solver $£ 944,736$; Buenos Ayres, gold $£ 1,862,935$, silver $£ 19,2 \pi 6,830$. Frunu 1810 10 1821 , Mexien ytelded gold $£ 1,913,075$, eilver $£ 45,3 \times 6,720 ;$ Panama, gold Buenas Ayres, gold $£ 2,161,940$, sllver $£ 7,695,842$; Ruasia, gold $£ 3,703,743$, sliver $£ 1,502,981$. The returns from Monte Video are too vaque to lead to any safe ceaulia. The comparative increase or decrease in periods of ten years is as follows:-Mesice (rom 1790 to 1799 aud 1800 to 1849 , in gold an increase of 16 1-10th, in silver a decrease of 2.2 . Sths, on the whole a decrease of 1 S Silse, as eomprared with the first period; from 1810 to 1819, in gold it decreare of 30 , of nfliver a dectease of 4835 ths, on the whole a decrease of 474 3the as compared with the first period; fonm 1820 tu $1 \mathrm{ke9}$, in gold a decrease of $787-10 \mathrm{the}$, wiver a decreare of 5625 his, on the whole a decreate of 57251 h as connpared with the first period. Paasana from 1790 to 1799 and 1800 In 1809, in geld a decrease of 11 7-10ths as comppared with the first juerind; from 1810 to 1819, a decrease of 93 3. 10ths; 1820 to I6.9, a decrrane of 66 4. 5ths. Chill from 1790 to 1799 and 1800 tu 1809 , in gold an increase of $6.5+5 t h a$, silver a decrease of 31 , on the whonld an therease of 435 tha, 1810 to 1819 in gold an incruare of 340!, +ilver an incroase of 304.5 ths, on the whole an at Shas, vilver u ilecreate of 81310 his, on the whole a decrease of 319 bihhs. Ruenos Ayres 1790 to 1799 and 1800 to 1809, in gold an increase of 434 -5ths, sllver a decrease of 234.5 ths , on Huc whole a decrease of 191.5 th; 1809 to 1819, in gold an increase of 413 3-5the, silver a decrease of 51, on the whole a deerfase of 11 ; 18.10 to 1829 , it ituld an increase of 42 3-5ihs, silver a decrease uf 70 , on the whule a decrease of 623.5 ths. From 1 E 20 to $1 \mathrm{e} \cdot 29 \mathrm{Russia}$ pronduced in gold $23,703,743$, in silver $£ 1,5112,981$. On the produce of the whole of these sunces thereCirev from 1790 to 1799 , and frum 1800 to 1809 , there has beels, na rouspared with the firwt pwithed, in gold ant increase of 264.3 thas, filver a slecrease of $63-5$ the, on the whoie a decrease of $44-5$ ths; from 1810 to $1 \times 19$, in gold an increase of $902-5$ the, milver a decience of 4.54 .5 the; and from 1820 to 1829 , in gold an increase of 743 Sthw, ailver a decrease of 363 -5ths, and on the whole a drerease of $49 \%$-10tiss.

WRAT INDIA RLAVERY

The following is the prlition of the plaptere, merehante and ontherb conceraed ta the Wied lada colonies, to the king of Vingland.
"We, yiur majenty'm inoat dutifal and loyal aubjects, being planters, uspohants, tuorigazeen and others interented in the W. India colonirs, appronarli your majenty in this period of our alaut and tismay, with a fill coutidence in your majesty'a patoranl fectinga, which etusure the extension of your gracious protertion equally to all your subjects-the weak as well as the powerful.
-We are threatoned, thmough resolutinns already proposed to parlimusent by one of your majestiy's principal secrrtaries of state, with me lased, in our opluion, than the condacation of omr pruperty-sinr tille in our slaves, secured in us in every possibla manner hy legosintive aud legal authority, beiug propoeed to be forcibly takull from us.
"The effectin of this measure will he to preclade the owners frum alt puowibitity of beneficial cultivation of thetr estates. It will reduce them froin a prate of compereace to anc of destituthen.
"It will ruin sueth of us as, in onr character of British merchante, thave, under the fath of the guaratite of varmus acts of the British parliament, hivented our fortunes-our entire dependence for the support of our wives aud chaldren $=0$ moridependeace lor the supprity. It is put nore certainly, though gagew of thas very property. morn obviussly, fatal to such of as, not a fen are annuitants or clanuants upou slaves only.
-We humbly sulinit to your moet gracious majesty that injustice such as this, powerless as your peturoners arc thicomparison with thear enemass, can never be sanctioned by the father of this people, through your majerty's giving your roy al asaent to a mearure having vueh effect: unless the sanue shall be accompanird by an adequate compensunon to all interested therrin. We venture to represent to your majesty, that if the state, ill the firesumed exerclee of a high moral dinty, considers that the property of the Wicat India popprictop in their slavea Intcrirres with a national olject, it has a clear course, as in all cases where the property of indivieluats so intericres, by offering to theus a lair couppensation for tis surrender.
sive humbly amsure your majesty that we shall not attempt to interpose unteerssany obstaclea to sueh an object: but we clam your majesty's protecuon againit any measures tending to depitve us of our poative and undeniable rights of property, which shall not bave been matured with an equitable considerathon of sueli rights, and bave obtained our concurrence.
"We appuroach your majesty with thereased conflifenec, recling that we are laying our grievaticen nut only before a benevolent and patribic sovereign, but before the only one of our kings who has bimself witaessed the enthusiastic inyalty and devowon of lus subjects of the West India colonites, and is, of his own petsonal knowledde, aware of the calumatics and mistepre entations to which they liave becn exposed.
"Under these eircumstances we lay ourselvee at your majesty's feet, and tumbly pray that you will not, by the exercise of your majesty's royal prerngative, sanction of antionise any act which shall be destructive of our nights of property, so repeatedty and so solemly recognsenl by your royal prrdecessors, and the pariament of Gireat Britain, unless a fund should be prethe pariamenty provided for fair and stificient compensation."

AXE FACTORIEA AT NEW IIAVEN.

From the New Furk Mercantile Adeertiser and Advocate.
Pagsent to tue president of the United States. We know not when we have been more gratitied than on the fopection of twelve wood axes, presented to the puresident of the United states, white vimung the manufactory at wheh they were made, at New Haven, Connecticut.
These axes weigh from $6!$ to $7!\mathrm{tbs}$, each, nud were made by twelve different workmen, eleven of thrin heing the first ensay, onty one out of the twelve having failed to complete lins axe on the first trial. These specimens of the great perfectinn to which working in iron and steel has arrived in this eountry, wroe examined in our office by many persons who ealled in, and all almitted them to be of the tnort complete and splendul onisth; their blades boing polished as bright at allver, and each enttaining it ths. of ateel; on a very elosin inspertion uit a fitw of any sort could be diseovered. T'bey are hanisomely packed ifl a neatly made and higify polished Aickory box, and will be exhbit-d at the Merchant's Exchange for a day or two, being on their way to Washington.

They were made at the manafariory of Alex. Hartison, esq. who now averages one hundred ant fity pro day, and ean with his preeent arrangements extend the daily product to 900 . He usually mokrs lits axes to eontain hut one pound of steel, that quantity being considered sulhrient gencrally; any quantity, bowever, can he used, to order. The bultaing ined for this manufacture in 150 by 50 foet; the yard ruchasure, for eantaining eonal, Iron and other materials, 900 ly 130 feet. A stean engine of 20 horse power is used, which eomsumen one ion of Latkawana coal per day, one ton of the same is consumed in the forges; finy hauda are cuployerli five arindstones of one and a half to twa tons each are kept in ennstnat motion, ns well an two stallet ones for finishing. All hamis in the extablimbuent are remalkably headthy, no inconvenience whatever arisug to the zrindurs.

How elteering it is to find that the usefal arta are advaneing to wueh a high state of perfection anong us, consummag our raw materials, employing nur citizens, furnishing employsaent to our farmera to feed them, oar muectaanics to clotho them, and our miners to keep them muppliced with coal and irnn.

Cold indeed must be the feelings of that American, who does nost experience a pride as the teadn the accounta which tell us of the raphl atrides we are making lin the supply of very many of our wants, at reasonable prices, by the miployment of our owa people, who are liviug comfortahly and loppily under a provident government; every Induntrious man enjoytug lis poslitical, eivil aud religious frecdom, and matutaining his rank its socicty.

It is in this latter glorious fact, that is seen the rabl and true ailvantage of our republican institutions. It is here, in the country of Waalitueton, that the sublime seriptural tuth, that the "lationer is worthy of his hire" is truly exhilited. I, ime may thas state of thinga enntine to exi-t. It is the tumentery of honest, indunfrious meetmaicA, farmers, and other workone men, that are the real substance of the country. In vain would Pros. vidence have bleased un with inexhatutible mines of the piehrot ore aud beds of coal-In vain would our atreams furniath the mustetil waterfall-in vaia would rail roads and eanals be constructed, were it not liof the aweat whieh moistens the brow of our hardy and indurtrious yeonanry, who are kept oniployed by the eapital and enterprise of those who have, ander the same wise tustututions, aceumulated a sutficiency to entark In establishtnents such as that of Mr. Harrison, which has now been tin operation only six urduths,
New Haven is famons for the manufacture of axea, Messry. Coltins & Co. of the same place, having one on a much larger seale and equal celebrity. We underetand the president wat highy grablijed with the present of these axes, and wrote a very handsouse letter of acknowiegment ou their receipt. With a cummerce that whitens every sca, cosileges and unversities in counticss numbery, smiling thelds of the richert verdure, and golden harvest with houndless storer; with faelitics of interchange lucreasing daily, and a people Industriously employedin tinc, with every otiver blessing, this great country wants nothing but a steady pursnit of its best interests, and thankful hearts th a kind Provideuce, to realise the mont sanguine wishes of the purest patriotion, and to coatinue to the remoteat ages the boute of hberty and the asylum of peaee.

RELEASE OF TIE MIBSIONARIES.

The release of Messrs. Worcestor and Butler is one of the leading electioneering topies in Georgia-aud the friphds of goverunc Lumpkin-to defend bun-have caused the publication of the following papers-a proceeding which does not appear to liave been anticipated by the authors if theu--for it is expressly stated that their viewn were "commanicated only to your "elf"一that is, guv. L. who has not been pleased to regard them as eonfidestial. The proceeding will be esteemed an extruordinary one; but we shall not make any present comments upon it.
htate of new yonk, alaany, dece, 18, 1832.
Jis excellency Witson Lanaphin, gov. of the state of Georgia. Deail siat: We beg leave to address you upon a pulject with Which, we confess, we have no right to interfere, athd in reference to which your feelings ubust, long ere this tinar, bave been sutfieiently harrasmed. We refer to the refractory unswionaries now contined in the penitentiary of your state, in pussuance of a sentence of the court of yout state, and upon conviction for a deliberate and unjustifiable violation of the laws nf yotur state.
It is not our object to enter either into an exanumation of the factu of thetr case, or iuto a discuspiou of the law which governa it, but to unake to you frimodly purgestions, proceeding from the beat of motures, and which, being communicatrd onlly to yourself, ean do no harn, If they do uo good. Still th is propet, that we should precede these shggestions with such our elvarly entertanined opinions, in retation to the intrinaic merits of the impending controversy as may satisfy you that we are uot now, as we at no previous period have been, ranged upon the side of thowe who arraign tue conduct of Georgia, hapuga the unotivea of her legislatorn and other publie officers, or question the soundness of the principle she has asoumed, that no independent soverelgnty can exiat within her limits, and that leer laws within those limits, sulject only th the laws aad treatics of the United Statex, mant prevail and be euforeed; and that we thay not be misunderstood, we fartiser dixtinculy say that we do not enns!der the treaties madc thetwern the government and the Indians as partaking, in any deqree in a national senae, of the character of treatied with ustependent nations, but rather hold them as contracts or aricies of agreenent, sulyjeet in afl cases to the eonstitunion of the United Suates and the laws of congress; and we ennsider it inconsistemt, wholly and absolutely inconsistent with that provision of the eonstifution, which guaraitecs to all the states of Itis confederacy a republican form of government, that the prewulcnt and senate should have the power tis make a treaty whichshould constitute or recognise an independent sovrreignty within one of thuse ptates. You will not underntand us an admittiug, of even for one moment aupporing, that thir has been eather donc or attenpted by those autinorities; but wa are thus explicit, that ino doubt as to our opiniots may weaked the force of the suggewions we are about to make.

Thus muelt being sath as to tic imprestions we entertain in relation to the law and the right of the case, we now speak as polliticians. From the unpleasan! agitations, whelh, at the present tiase, are convulsing, in an unusual manner and to an unusual extent, another of the Independent ntates of the union, wa feel the derpent intereat that all danger of conflict hetween tha authorities of Grorgin and any of the authorities of the gmneral governuent should be put at rest. This, we helieve, may be done by the paulun of thom miagulded men. Our reanons for this belief grow oul of the late clection. No suljeet was moro filly submitted to the people, pending that conteat, than tho enarse of the adminiasration in relation to the ludians and tha opinions entcritinet by the prestilent, which oplaions, it was well known, wonld be earried out in pfactice, in casc of his reelectiont and we ferl safe ith raying, that no quevtion Involved In the canvnes was labored no asiduturly and so ingeniously on the part of his opponents. Still the result has overwhelmed then with astonishment and shame, if not with eonvietion of their errora. That same result has furniahed your patrintic otate with a judgnerut in lier favor, paramonnt to all othery under this givernmeut, the clearly espressed judgment of the Anterican people.
Cnder thean cireumatancen, we cannot bat helieve that the exhbition of magnanianity on the part of tha state, by the pardon of the imprisoned missionaries, would have the most happy effeet npon the puhlic mind of the whole union, while tt would taknaway the ground of perding litigation which desperate men may try to push to an unpleasant reault; and we venture to ask this axercise of the important prerogative reating in your hands, because we are convinced that your patriouc fellow eltizens would, after the events which have transpired within the last few weekr, sustain you in the act, for the sake of the state itcelf. We are sure they would do so for the quiet and peaes of the suion.
Excuse us for this unauthorised intrusion upon your notice and your official duties; and beiieve us, with the highest requect, your obedient servants,

BILAS WRIGHI, jr.
A. C. FLAGG,

JOHN A. DIX.
His excellency Wition Lumphin, governor of the state of Georgia.
The undersigned citizens of the state of New York, having bestowed much attention ot the proceedings in the cnee of samuel A. Worcester and Elizur Butler, and viewing those proceediage as hikely to affect the welfare of the other states and the whole union, feel it their duty to submit to your eonsideration the result of their reflections on the subject. As this expression of their opinions and wishes, xprings from no feelings adverse to Georgia, but on the contraty is promoted solely by a regard to what they sincereiy believe to be the true interent of all parties, they tiatter themstives you will not deem it entuer obtrusive of luiproper.
Parmilt as then to state that under all existing circumatancen, we deem it a matter of great moment, that the prisoners referred to, shouid be set at liberty, without delay, whilh as we suppose, can oniy be done by disclaarging them under a pardon emanating from the state authority-aud such a pardou we sarnestiy re: commend.
The result of the recent election must render it apparent, that the remonal of the Cherokeas is deenned expedient by the nation; and under this impression, the underaigued are of optaion that very many persons, who have hitherto counteracted their removal, will now deem it their duty to co-operate in bringing it about; and they have reason to believe and confidently hope, that an infuence wili be applied to reconcile the tribe to stich a reault, by those very persons who have bitherto labored to preveut it.

Uuder such a change of eireumstances, the undersigned ean not see any possible advantage in the fusther confinemeut of the misaiouaries. On tha eontrary they conceive that since it it appareut that the Indians must be removed, the release of the missionaries nay be of use in reconciling the Indians to that measure. Forwe cannot believe after what has taken place, that the missionaries, any more than ourselves, ean doubt the axpedieney of aequiescing in the poliey of the general government, sustained, as it seems to have been, by the decision of the American people. In the present state of this question, and of our public affalrs, every cause of irritation stionld be removed ne speedily as possible, and as we sinecrely believe that it is in your power by adopting the course suggented, to render an immense service to the nation, without injuring in the least the interests of your own state, we most renjectruliy sollicit to the subject your early and favorable consideration.

Wie are, with sincere respect, your most obedient servants.

Eliphalet Nott,
R. Hyde Walwo
R. Hyde Walworth,

Simeon Dewitt,
B. F. Butter,

David Suticeriand,
Ab. Van Vechten,
Wilitam B. Eprague,
Wuitiam Lockhead,
W. C. Marey,

Greene C, Bhonson, B. T. Weleh, S. Van Henseclaer, John Savage, John Ludlow, J. W. Caupbeli, Isaac Fetria, Hanc Feria, Absay, December 17, 1872.

LATE TOUR OF THE PRESIDENT

While the president of the Uniten States was on his late castern tonr, we cut out and laid aside a multitude of accounta of the proceedinga had at different placer, in a supposition that much matter for record woald be aleaned from thein; fur this purpose we have overhauied tha inass, and are compelled to express somes suiprise at the poverty of its contents, and sameness and tameness of the Ineidents mentioncd. There is enough, bowever, of the ridieulous and mide.
The following are some of the few articles which we think sbouid be added to the record:
Among the various and numeronts aneedotes related in connesion with the Journeyings of the prrailfent, we have noticed no one anore pleasing than this from the Providence Journal.
The vencrable Moves Bmown califd upon the presitiont, at his Indgings, nud was ushered Into a patior on the lower floor, The preaident came down to receive hin, and was addrewxed as follows: "Friend Jackson, having been arquainted with thy predecessnrs, I thougit I would eail upon thee." To which she president replied, that "he was lappy to meet a man so venarnhle In yeary, in the posseasion of all lils faculties, and hroped that God would continue to bless hlm." Mr. Brown ex. prensed a desire that ha might vixit the Yrienils' schonl, hefure he should leave the city, which he accondingly did In tise after nnon, where be again met the vrnerable patriarch. whom, on taking leave, he addrcesed in the foliowing tertns: "Mr. Brown, Ihave esainined your inmtitution, and find no imperfection in

It-God biess you, sir." To which the sage of nimost a century replied, "I wish thee a safe returu to thy home-the Lord bless thee."

Address of governor Lincoln to the prealdent.

Tin following is the address of governor Lincoin, of Massachnsetts, to the president of the United States, in the ball of represeutasives, in Boston:
Nr. Presiden/-The legislature of the commonwealth of Massachusett, representing sentiments and feellags of their consutuents, learnt, with great satisfaction, during thair receat session, your intention to visit this section of the union. A ware that the time proposed for your journey would not allow to the members the denired gratifeation of personally presenting to you their respectiful salutatinns, by a concurrent and unatiunons vote of both hranches, the honor of tendering to you the congratulations of the government, upon your arrival in the capital, and the hospitalities of the state, during your continuance in It , was specially assigned to the executive.
This office, it is moat grateful to me, to be permitued to discharge. And I have now the happiness, withia these halla, where the resolution of the legisiature was adopted, and In thit presence of this assembled mulitude nf your fellow citizens, in the name of the government and people af the atate, to bid you WELCOME To Massachusetts?
W'eleome, sir, most cordially weleome to all of interest, which can here be offered, worthy your autention and enjosment!
We desire to present to you, as the chier magistrate of the nation, the evidences of the piosperity of this porion of a common country, over which, by the free suffragen of your fellow citizens you have for a second time, been called to preside.
We would point to our agricultural resources, and to the condition of an enlightened and Independent yeomanry, the proprietors and cultivalurs of a rugged yet productive poil, whieh in alike, the oceasion and the reward of a virtuous and untiring Industry.
We would exhibit the amazing result of the progress of that spirit of enterprise and Improvefuent In manufactures and the arts, which has filled every valley with busy population, and made every waterfall subservient to the devices of hmian skill and ingenuity.

We would in vite you at the anma time to observe, in our einy and eomniercial towns, how that trade flourishen, in the connexion of dotnestie product with houe coasumption, and the exchange of the fabrics of the workshop for the raw material, which is the growth of every cliune.
And more papecially, would we commend to yonr notiee our public instisutions, the schools and seminaries of Iparning, those noble monuments of our father ${ }^{\prime}$ ' wisdom, and patriotions and piety; and the bospitale, and claritable aryluns for the relief of the destitute and the aflicted, the beneficient provisions of more recent time.

We speak not of these things. In the pride of loral vanity. They are the legitimate fruits of our happy republiean form of govenument, a government, in the establishment of which wa rejoice to racognize the active ageney of your early yeara, and to the fupport of which you have signaliy contributed, in various Important stations In maturer fife. They spring, as do all our political and civil enjoyments from that nationel sowereignty and independence which you have so valiantly defended, wtien ansalied by forclign fors, and that union under the constitution, which, with equal patriotiom and giory, you no lesa trlumphantIy asserted, on a Inte memoralie oceaston, against internal disaffection and disloyalty?
May this visit, andertaken for the purpose of beeoming beiter acquainted, from pereonal observation, with the interesta and sentiments of tite peopie, confrm those pstrintic viewe, which you have expressed, of the mntual dependence of each section of the country upon every nther, for the continusince of the prosperity of the whole. And may' it ba your happiness, as it has been that of your llinatrious predecessors, when the labors and responsilhilities of the highest station of earilily distinetion shall be laid aside, to enjoy In the tranquillity and dignity of venerated age, the eherished reapeet of a nation of fremen, bencfitted by your public life, and grateful for your many services.

Mayor's office (Nem York) June 13, 1833.
The mnyor has recelved froun the British consul, fixty dollars -from M. Van Schaick, eaq, one hundied and pixty eight dol-lars-from Waxhington Irving, eng. one hundred and minetyeight 25100 doliars, makime 842625 -being the sum of the contributions from the president'a suite and the company on brard the Nosth America. on Wednesday last, for the benefit of the unfortunate man who was injured in firing the salute on board the revenue cutter.
The mnyor has received thin day, the following letter, with its contents, for the foregoing object.

New York, Jume 13, 1833.
Dgarsin-Understnnding that yon liave under your direetinn, the funde raised by autheription for the relief of the innfortunate peaman who lowt his bands while assiating in firing the Fainte to the president as he approached the city yeerterday, herrby encinse to you, Io conformity with inatructions from the president, the sum of finy dollars, which he requents yon will apply to the same onject. Vour obedient servant.
A. J. DONEI_sON.

Hia*hington Irving, eaq.
[A similar fetter, and emelosing also fifly dollara, wha sent to Kirk Boot, esq. at Lowell, hy order of the presideot, for the rehef of two persous who wese also tuangled, wheal enployed in fring a salute.]

Presentation of a bible.
Wbile the president was at llariord, Messra. Andrus & Judd, presented him with a copy uf their sterrotype edituon of the presente, elegaully bouod. The president returued his acknowledgasents for the present in the follawing terus:

Hartford, June 17th 1833.
Gentlenen-I return you my thanks for the sacred voluioe you have presented to me, and for the personal kindness you have expressed. Iferveutly unite with ynu in your prayer for our beloved country, and I supplicate Providence to incline the hearts uf all our ciuzens to keep its holy law-to realise the inestimable blessings we enjoy-and to become as distinguished for genuine piety among the natioos of the carth, as they are for the light favors, national and political, which have been vouchasted to thein.
For myself, gentlemen, I humbly rely upon the blessing of God to puide me in the performance of the high duties which my countrymen have assigned to me-commending all with all thelr requests to bls care, and not doubting, as lie led our fathers to acquire the independence we enjuy, be will lead our ons in his own good way to defend and maintain it.
I am very reapectfully, your obedient servant,
ANDREIV JACKSON.
Mesers. Andrus & Judd.

The president and the grand lodge.

The Boston papera contain the proceeding* of the grand lodge of, Massachusette in reference to the visit of prepident Jackson to that city. It appears that as soon as the president arrived int Boston, the grand lodge was called together, and a resolution passed appointing a committee to wait upon him, and, in the name of the lodge, to "tender to him the cimgratulatious of the fraternity in that jurisdictiou-to express their deep and grateful sense of the firm, diserett and hunorable ananner in wisich lie has sustained his usasouic relations during a period which the eneunies of the institutioo have rendered somewhat embarrassing to brethren in conspicuons public stations-to assure him of Uheir hearly gond wishes and prayers for bis future liealth, prosperity and bappinuse, and to invite hin to honor the graud lodge with a visit on the evening of the $24 t h$ of the month, at a special communication to be called for that purposes."
In reply to the invitation, the preeidems sald he was unable to visit the lodge on the 24 th ; but if another time could be selected, he wonld takn pleasure in making the visit. The time war ac cordingly changed, and the grand ludge and Invited brethren, to the number of between three and four hundred, were accordingly assembled, at an early hour, for the purpose of paying their respects to their di-tinguished brother. About 80 'elook, the coinmittee appoiuted to escort the president to the hall eame into the graud louge, accompanied by the lons. Joel R. Poinsett, (one of the president's suitw), and preseuted the grand master the fullowing letter:

Boalon, June 23, 1833.
Brethare: I anticlpated the pleasure of waiting upon the grand lodge of Massachusetts thia evening, and of tendering to them in person my thanks fur the cordial terms in which they were pleased to notice my arrival within their jurlediction; but finding myself a good dsal fatigued after the labors of the day, I mnst ask their indulgence, and beg them to accept in this form the assurance that I jusily appreciate their kindness and good wili, sand trust that their interests, as an institution ealculated to benefit mankind, may coutinue to prowper. I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant, ANDREW JACKSON.
R. W. Henja. Russell, FYancis J. Oliver, and othere, committee of the grand lodge of Massachusctts.

After the letter was rean, the hon. brother Polnsett addressed the grand master as follows:
"Worshipful trother: The prosident of the United States charged me to express to tha brethicen of the grand Iodge of Massachusetts his slincere regres n! being prevented, by limitsposition, from accepling their liwitatinn tis meet them in the teniple, and frows tendeiling them in person his acknowledgments for their attentions. He beresed me to azsure them that he shall ever feel a lively Interest in the welfare of all lastituton with which he has been so long comnected, and whore obJeeta are purely philanthropir; and be intructed ove to express to tiacm the highesteem and fraturnal icgard whieh be chetishes towards them all."

We shall elose onr selections for the present, by recording the followiog reinarks of the editive of the "Richmond Enquirer:"

We have never had any very great penchant for presidential tours throughnut the coantry. We were not very much delightefl with the descriptions we liave rrad of president Washing ton's tour-and the excursion of Mr. Monroe, during lis îrat term of servire, was sufficient to satiate and sieken us. We mever witnensed any gnond whlch it prodnced in the measures of his admintstration. Anul we expressed at the time the digguat, Whieb many uf the attentions he received were so well calcu lated to turyire in the unind of a republican. They were more like the tomage uf subjecta to their ruler, than of a free people towarde their first magistrate. They partook more of the pomp uf monarchy-than of the simplicity of the republie.
Fur oor own paits, we would much rather that Andrew Jackann had remained at Washington, or vistited the Hermitage, than havo goue upon such an excursion as the present. He caonot induige the simplicity of his own character; nor absolutely rggulate the maniers of others by his own tate. Ife cannot peptess the excensive attentions which will be paid to him, or the syeoplantic panfus rice, and the overloaded palfs, of sonue of the newspapers. We loave already seen the inost ridiculous ancedotes told-thinga which would be acarcely tolerabie in the aeting-about ladien, and girls, and private parties, and select coteries-but the repetition and the flaunting of titem in the newspapers, are in the vilest taste! We beg our brethren of the north to avoid ail such examples: "they are more honores is the brearh, than in the observance." Yet amid all these supertuons, and many of theth sitty, dexcriptions, we cannot fail to purceive that the prewident has beeu received with a cordiality of kindness, and a sincerity of reppect, which bespealk the great populatity of the man and his administration.
00 There is some "exeltement," in peveral places, because of the expenses liturrid on aecount of the president's visit. In New York they are reported to have amonnted to finm seven to nine thousand dollare-at New Haven, the tavern bill is put downat s500, ke. We do not admire such exposures. They are probathly the effect of the "exclusiveness" whith we have several times mentioned, or the contests of "rival chiefs"some of whom were not well pleased!

MR. WEDSTER A'T PITTSBURGH.

From the Pittsburgh Garette, of July 9.

DANIEL WEASTER.
An already stated, this distinguished stntesman reached town on Thureday afternoon last, under the eacort of the mayor and a numerous cavalcade. The exchange hotel, at which he took up his quarters, has been thronged ever since by crowds of eager viniters, without regart to party, anxlous to see and testify respect to him whom all unlte in regarding as an iotellectual glant, on whom the constitution itself did not disdain to lean at a moment of imminent peril. Agrecably to previous arrangewents, he was waited on by a committee of forty of our most respectable citizens, to welcome him to Pittsburgb, to protivr facilities for seeing to advautage whatever he might deem worthy of examination, and to Juvitr him to a public dinuer. This last testimontal of respect was declined, for reasons, In the force of which the commitiee acquieseed. Mr. Webster Intimated strongly in conversation, as we learn, that his great object was to see as much as possible, during lifs limited atay, of the west, of the people and the countiy, in a plain way-and that a poliic dimner, with its forms, etiquette and necersary limit, seemed cal culated to restrain and ohstruct, rather than to facilitate, the free amol uncmremoninus kind of literconrse which he desired. The following is a copy of his written reply:

Pittsburgh, July 5th, 1833.
Gentlemen-I hardly know how to express my thanks for the liospitabie and cordial welcome with which the citizens of Pittshurgh are disposed to receive me, on this my first visit to their place. The terins in which you express their sentimente in your letter of yeuterday, far transceud all merits of mine, and can have their orimin only in spontaneous kindness and and good feeling. I tender to you, gentlemen, and to the meetIng whicl, you represent, my warmeat neknowledgments. I rejolep, sincerely, to find the health of the city so satisfactory; and I reciprocate with all the people of Plttaburih, the most sincere and hearty enod wishes for their prosperity and happiness. Long may their city continue what it now la, an abode of comfort and hompitality, a refuge for the well-deserving from all nations, a model of Induatry, and an honor to the coututry.

It is my purpose, gentlemen, to stay a day or two amnng you, to pee such of your manufactories and publie Institutions, as if inny be in my power to visit. I most reapectfully pray leave to deciline a public dinner, but shall have great pleasure in meetIng sueh of yonr feilow citizens as may desire $1 t$, in the most friendly and unceremonious manner. I am, gentlemen, with verv true regard, yoors,

DANIEL WEBETER.
To hon. James Rnes and others, zentiemen of the committee.
In ceference to Mr. Webster's wishes, the idea of a formal dinner was abandoned; but as the anxiety seemed Intense for some colliretive expression of public admiration, it was decided in invite him to mret nur cilizens at the spaclous grnve of Mr. Miltenberger, on Monday whernoon at 4 o'elock. The change of plan was judiclona, and the scene a truly gratifying one. Refreshmenls of a plain kind were spread around, under the charge of the eommitter; but the tables conld gerve only as a nucleus to the vant multitude. Mr. Webeter moved freely abont the beantiful gronnds, recomizing his numeroup vistiers of the preceding days, who were led, by the frank and engaging cordiality of hiu manners, to become, in turn, the introducere of nurlt as had $n \boldsymbol{n}$ hefore enjoyed the pleasure of taking him by the hand. His honor, the mayor, at length ealled to order, and aldoressed the cempanv pretty much as follows:
"Thave to a-k, gentlemen, your attention for a few moments.
"WVe are mot here to mark onr sense of the extraordinary mprits of a distinguished statepman, and pullic benefactor. At his particular request, cvery thing like parade or ceremonial has been waived; and, in consequence, he has been the better enabled to receive, and to reciprocate, the hearty and spoataseous expression of your good will. I am uow desired in attempt, in your name, to give utterance to the thivetsal beeling around tae.
"Gentlemen-We are the day citizens of the United states. The unun as sale. Not a star has talles! frout that proud ban ger around whelh our affectiuns have so lintg rallied. Aud when, with this delightitu! asaurahce, we east tur ey es bark upon the eventful linterry of the last jear-w heu we weal the gloonuy appeltenatons, and pealiaps turpeless deappadency, whieh canse over up-who, grwticusti, cant learn, withmit glow of emilheiaxit, that the great champion of the consitut hor-thut Dasikis Wirastan-is muw itt the midat nf uan. To his mizaty sutellect, the natoon, with one votee, contided ite cause-of life or death. shall there be wuthath from the gentiemen, is a goverturnt wot of torce but of opuion. The reason of the people must be satiabied before a call to armes. The uass of our peacelut and conscirntoons cituzens vanuol and ought not-except in a clear cnace-to be urged to abaideni the implements of induntry for them nword and the haysulet.This consideration it is, that imparts to iols llectual proermit aence in the service of trith, its uncate uiable vialus. And bence the precionsness of that at mirable and unswsiverable expmotton which has put duwn, once aud forever, the artíul sophisms of nullificatinn
"If, gentletsen, we turn to other partionsuf the pulite history of our distinguished guest, it will he found, that his clathes th grateful acknowledgmont, ate not lewa ingosalig. The cause of domestic industry, of internal improvenetit, of educatim, of whatever, ith short, is calculated to render us a prosperoun, united aud happy people-has found in bim a watchfut and efferent advocate. Nor is it the teast of his meterite, that, to our gadfant nary Mr. Webster has been an early, far riahted, and peisevering friend. Our interior pisstion camiot render us eold and unobservant on this point, whitot the victary of Perry yet sup. phes to us a proud and insping annivervary. Aud such is the wonderful chain of mutilat tiependence which binds our nhand, diat, in the remotest enruer of the wrst, the ex changeabipe valine of every product must depend un the securty with which the ocean ean be traversed.
Gentlemen, I have detained you too long: yet I will add one word. I do but echo the language of the thronge that liave crowded round Mr. Webster, in declaring, that the frank and manly simplicity of has character and mannert, las created a freling of personal regard which no uery intellectual ascendaney, could have secured. We approached ham with allobiration for the aclievenente of his paldic career-never supposing, tor $s$ monent, that our hearts could have aught th do in the nuter; we shall part, as from a valued friend, the recollections of whose virtues cangot pass away
To which Mr. Webster replied. ${ }^{*}$

Mr. Mayar and gentlemen-

Irise fellow eitizens, with unaffected sensibility, to give ywu my thanke for tife huspitable tuantite ith which son have twen Eind enbugh to receive me, on this, my fird visit to Pithoburgir; and to make all due acknowledgments to your worthy mayor, for the eentinents which he has now seen fit to exprese.

Although, Eentlemen, it has been my fortune to be personally acquainted with very few of you, Ifeel, at this moment, that we are not vtrangers. We are fellow counerynen; fellaw entizess; bound together by a thousaud ties of tuterest, of $s$ sonja thy, of duty; united, I hope I may add by bonds of mutnal regard. We ale bouod together, for poud of fur evii, in uur great political interests. I know that I ann adilressing Americand, every one of whom has a true American heart in lis bosom; nad If feel that I have also an American leart in my bosom. I muldress you, then, gentiemen, with the same fervent gnond wislies for your happinens-the same brothelly affiction-and the same tokens of regard and esteeu, as If, instead of being upon the borders of the Otio, I stood by the Connecticut or the Merrimack. As citizens, emuntrymen, and neighbors, I give you miy bearty good wishes, and thank you, ovet and over agan, for your abundant haspitality.

Gentlemen, the mayor has been picaned to advurt, in torms beyoud all expectation, or merit of aty own, to my services in defence of the glorious constitntion under which we live, and which makes you and me, all that we are, and all that we de [^32]sine th be. He liaw vastly overrated and exaggerated any effurts "If unine, but he has non noverrated the minortance of the criste to wheh his reonarte ullude.

lientleme:n, it ta lut a tew short montiss since dark and portentuus clouds dad hatg uver our Inevens, and did shut out, at It weir, the smil it lum ghary. A new erisis had arisen in the histury of thas governmicit. For forty years our government all itrocted-not conceritad. Itut trow, a time bad come, when authoris) of haw was rowistid by the authonity in law-w fien the power of our genonal dovernment wa* sersisted by the arm of a state guvernumem, atd whell nolitary furer, under aft the sane sums of atate constitution atill state law, was threatening to timode the opreatome of the fodesal guvirnatent! That was, gentlemerif, a crimis. Every one folt it to be such. I, and every gerol eitia'm of the contituy, folt it to be auch. A general anxte't pervaded the breases it all whol partooks of the glory of their conntry at honc-and loww was it abroual? Why, every intellit e"ht timend of human liberty throughoat the world, loolhed with auszenu int at the ejoctacte wheh we exhilated. In a day of unquesthourd prupperity, atter haff a crutury's happy experiwent - wholt we were the wouder of all the liberal wen th the world, and the envy of all the ilfiberal-when we bad shown outseive= to he fast advancmg to natound renown-what was threatphent? Disniton! There wery those anutug UA, who wish ed to brenk up the gavernment, and scatier the four and tweaty statex, linto four and twonty sectionn and fraginents!
(icntiomen, it was at tins monncnt, that the predident of the Cinited states, trap to every duty-comprebeading and fully undernsauding the case, came fottit, by his proclamation of the loth of December, in language which inspured in me new bopes of the duration wit the requblic. It was patriotic, and worthy to be cartied throngh at every linzard. Gentlemen, I speak withou rrsenve upot llis sulject, I have differed with the president, as all knuw, who kutow any thing of so humblie an udscidual as inyself, upon many inpoitant autpjecta. Io relation to internal mprovements-rechartoring the United States bank-perhaps, in the degree of damestic protection, and the disposition of our public lauis, I liave berw not abie to sue the interests of my country in the way whirls he did. But when the efisis arrived in whith our eonstuthtion was in danger, and when he came forth like a patrotie cluef magsatrate, $I$, for one, taking no conncit but of patrintiom-feeling no impulac, but the tapulse of flaty-tielt inywif bound to yirld, not a lame and hesitating, lut a cardial and etficiunt suppurt to his meaveres.
Gentlemen, I hope that the result of that experiment may pruve salutary in its connequenecs, to our government, and to the interestry of the commmity. I finpe that this signal expression of pubtic opimen, which inas for the time puidowis the dea. potion of nallification, may produce a lasting effeet throughout our while country. I kuow full well, that poputar topies may be urged agninst the proclamation. I kuow it thay be enitl, in regard to the lav of the lant ucssion of cougress, that if such laws are to he mainhutued, congress tnay pars what laws they please and enforee them. But this arguioent forgets, that members of cungrean are litit thê agents of the people, cliosen at short intervals, and always remuvable at plemure, by the people, whose wervants in thu national Irgislature, are as much subervieot, and at witliugly obedient, as any other of their servante. it is ensy for thase who wish, and who pursue, meaznres calculated to lireak up the union, to raise the cry of consondidation. But it repel it. I ain no con*olidationdst-1 disclaien it. I wish to ipeserve the conrtitution, wilhoht addition or diminution of one jot ur title. F'or thes anme reason that I would not add, I would not witbodraw. Those who have placed me in a public station, placed nte there, not to alter the constitution, but to administer it. If a change be desirpd, our mastery must make that ehange -if alteratisns are required, you, athd the rest of yonr fellow citizens must make the change. This eonstitution is our power of attorney-our letter of credit-our endentuals-we are to ae accordingly, without interpalation or alteration, honestly and truly. The peopte of the United States-they, und they alone, can tread it under frot, but their servants bave uo such powef.
And wilat in the ground tior thin cry of consolidation? I maintain that the measures recoummended by the president and adopt ed by congtewn, were mensures of self defence. Is it consoldatuon to execuic the laws? Is it consolidation to reaist the force that is threateming to uptirn our governument's Is it consolidaton to proteret oflieres in thr dieclagge of their doty, from court and jurien, who are previonsly' sworn to decide aganst them.
Gentlemen, I take occaston to remark, that, after much reflcetion upoth the subject, and after all that has been said abou the encroachoent of our generil governinent upon the rights of the states, I know of no one fower exercised by the general governoeol, which was not admitted ly the immerdate fruends and foes of the cotsotitution to bavis been cruferred upan it, by the people, when that instrument was adopted. I know of no one power wheh every body did not agere, in 1769 , was confer ed on the general gavernment. On the conirary, there are several powera, and those, too, anumz the must impontant for the interrets of the peopte, which were then allowed to be cooferred by the coostitution of the Uuitrd statce, which are now ingenimusly doathted, or clamorou*ly drnied. Geotlemen, upon thi point I shall dedain you with no fitther remarks. It does, however, give the most aincere plensure to say, that, in a long sign throagh the atales wrst of youl, and in the great atate north of ynu, he well as in n tour of some dava' dration lit the respect able state to which you belong, $t$ find but one sentimeut in re gard to the conduct of the government upon this subject. I Enow that thove who bave seen dit to eutruet to ine, in part, Useir Interests in congress, approve of the neasures recommemied by the president. We see that he has taken oceaston, dusing the recess of congress, to viait that part of the country; and we know how he han been received. No where bnve hands been extended with mote sincernty of friendolitp; and for one, genatement, I take oceasion to say, that, having heard of his return to the seat of governiment, with hralth rather debilitated, it in among my most earnest prayein, that Providenee may upare him Itife, and that be may go through with his aduimsiration, and come out with as much success and glory as asy of his predecessor. [Gireat applause.]

Your worthy cluef magistrate has been kind enougb to express sentusents favorable to myse It, as a friend of domestie indastry. Wbat a world of remark does thet suggestion open-when standing at the confluence of the two sireams that constilute the Obio, in the midst of a population distinguished for their donientue industry, fainily conforts- the means of education, and the means of providing for their fammes by their industry. What in not comprised here, in "the means of proterting domestic induatry": Next to the constutution Itselr, there ean be no question of more absorbing interent, than the protection of our own domestic manufactures. I do not mean mny particular elass, but the whole, ts comprehended uuder that system which probut the whole, as comprehended uuder that system which provides for our wants-that systemi whose essence, and object, and life it in to administer compensatung rewards to Americau maoual labor.
Gentlemen, those of you, who have taken any pains to iuquire into the history of that part of the sountry to whteh I belong, know, thit in the quarter with which I nom more imanediately connected, the people were not early to urge npon the government protection by high duties. Indeed, candor obliges the to acknowledge, that, when the act of 1824 was pasaed, nrither he who now addressen you, nor those with whom he neted, were ready or wilting to take the step which that act proposed. They were not prepared to act; they doubted the expediency. It pasaed, howevar, by the great and overwhelming influence of thin eentral seetion of country, New York, l'eunsyivenia and Ohio. We acquirsced; we yieided to It , alopted It , and gave to our capital and inbor, such direetion as would enable us to conform to the poliey of the country. We bave becone wedded to it, and identihed with it, till I know of no shade of difference between the interests of Pennsylvanis and Massachusetts. We shall aot yield it without a struggle. Neither shall we yinld the prinenple of proteetion without a evere struggle, under any eircumstances whatever. And who would choose to yleld it? 'Who, slanding here. and looking round upon this comasunity and its interests, would be botd enough to touch the spring so so much industry and so mueh heppiness? Who would stop the mouths of those vast eoal pite'-arrent the cargoem that are now running down a river, the noblest in the world, and which stretshes over the finewt territory possessed by any government Who would queneli the firee of so many steam engines? It cannot be done, without great public calamity, and great private diatress, Theve said, that I ain in favor of protecting American manuel labor-and after all thet has been said, I have come to the conclusion, that, to leave American menual labor to bear a compethtion with the unpaid and half fed labor of Earope, would produce a state of things to which our country cen never submit. This is the reason why I maintain the policy of the American System. I see in my own country, nnd I believe it is the saine in this, that its stimulus to labor, has been ite offering a fair compeasation for labor. When I say our country, I mean from Peuobscot to New Ortrans; for nine-tenths of the whole, belong to the industrious, productive, Jahorious classes. Dead sapital in in but few hands; and this syatem does not promote the interests of the capiatist one tithe part that it does those of the laborer, the industrious men who oversees, or labors upon, the eapital of annother. - Is $k$ not this great stimulus which now applies isseif to uur wholessociety, and sets so many wheels in motion? Is it not the comprenseting price or tabor-is it not, that labor is high and the means ofliving low? I want no other proof, that God has blessed us with a happly eountry and generation.

Suppose we compare onrselves with other countriex-I see many whom I know to be eunigrants from other countrics. Why is the native of Ireland among you? Why has lie left the laud of his fathers? The Emerald lele is as dear to him ne ihese rivers and hills are to you. Was it not taxation on one hand, and the low price of labor on the other, that induced him to conie to e eountry of free lews, and of bounilless extent; where Industry has its reward-where the menns of living are low, and the price of labor adequate? And do not these remerks apply to euigrants from every part of Europe? Is it not that Industry and personal character cran do more for a man here, than lin any other part of the world?

Our povernment is the breath of the penple's nostrils; they make it, end they appoint agents to adminivter it. The people are the suurce of the gower of our eovernment; and is it not clear, that it is ussafe to trust the affairs of governniest in the hands of the prople unless the great majority of the people have some interesi in the govermment? Who wonld be safe in any communily when the power is in the hands of those who have Bothing at stake? It is the true potiry of enor government to whield the greet body of the people-the prominetive elasses.

Gentiemen, it appeers to me mo plain a proposition, thet the industry of this country ought to be protucted, and mast be pro-teeted, against the peuper Inbor of England and other parte of Europw, that arguinent is superfuous. Were 11 not for treapass. ing upon your patience, I would state, as in historteal truth-fur it is beyond nil question-that a leadeng objeet of establisbug the constitution was to devise a system of lawy to protect artizana aganst the ctieap pauper labor of Grpat Britain. In the zown in which I live, th is has notorious as the revolution iteself.
Som efter the peace of "83, there came on a perlod of distrem over the whole Atlantic coant, far exceedtug niny thing that had bern frit during the war. Importation in Britush alngs was free -Aurerican slaps there were none. The cheaper labor of England supplied the itshabitants of tie Atlentie comat with every thing, irom the crown of the head to the sole of the foot. The merctuants of Boston appointed a committee, et the heed of which was the neme ever venerable to the mind of all true Ancricans, Jolin Haneock, by whom stroug resolutions were reported, declaring that the inbabitants would not use any art clea imported in Britinh ships. The mechanics of Boston met and recommended the iahabitantim not to use Bratisli articles at all.-[Great applause.] "Por," pand they, "with all regend to you, Mr. Ilancork, what odds does it make, whether our shoes, booth, hats, hendkerchipfs, or shirts come in British ships, or American ship-they take away our bread, come in whet shitp they mey," This stete, the state of Messachusetts, and even the state of Virgimia passed laws to proteet their own people thy impost. But it eouald not be eftectually done. Ope state wonld pawn a law-anoticer would not-there being no general syatetu, ttere conld be no protection. And it in a historical truth, plain beyoud doubt, that our great object, along the Atlantic coast, in adopting the constitution, was that, by establishing a regular and uniform system of imposte, the various arilzans and handierafts mipht be permitted to earn therr bread. There were, at that time, no manufactories in the interior, for there were no inhablants. Here was fort Pitt-upon the map to be sure-bat no people. Anong the mechanics-the workere in leather, tin, ron, sce. there was a greater depression and poverty, than there had been during the wer. And, I hope you will pardou me for another ansedote which is brought to iny recollection. Massachuectie was the ninth stete to adops the eonstitution. If she adopted it , it would go into effert; but it was matter of great doabt whether she would. The mechanics of Boston met and passed resolntions. They said it was necessary for them. They elected delegates in miopt the ennatitutinh. Their proceedings wre communicated to samuel Adamm. He had doubls-he was a friend of liberty, bit he had honest and sincere donbts ebout the practicebility of a general government. Paul Revere, a worker in brass, read to him the resolutions of the mechanics. He was asked liow many mechanies passed these resolutions(the meeting was held at the old Green Dragon)-was the room fill? Oh, yes, to overfowing. Were there any in the strects? Many. Haw many? More tlan the stars of heaven. [Laughter and applause.]
It was thus the consfitution of the United States was carried. Any gentleman desimus of pushing the historical inquiry, will find that the great end prevalling interest was where there were merchants and mechanics. There was a patnral hesitation about the adoption of the constitution; and it was only ugged through by the interests to which I have adverted.

Under these circumstances, it cannot be expectent that we, of New England, will readily abandon our ground. We are ruady to do more work, with lese protection, If that will answer-but we yet believe that the power is in the constitution. And I do not believe that it is within my competcney to draw my pea across thet power; for I have no more power to diminiab, than I have to add. And, arting in the situation in which we are pleced-as a portion of the zreat American family-baving the pame interests as these greet and vast central distriets-we shall go on, atterhed to the ublon, attached to all the great intereath of the government, and ettached to the constitution.

Your worthy mayor has alluded to the subjeet of Internal insprovement. Gentlemen, it has alweys aeemed extremely etrange to me, that in the progrese of human knowledge and human vir-the-for I believe that humnn virtue is making rapid progressit has elways scemed extremely strange to me, that the objecta of government ahould be limited so much to helligerent operations, that ite dinties should seem to be considered es referrible so exclasively to wars with other pations. Cerielnly, in a day of Christianity, in a day of light and knowledge, of benevolent freling and action, it should be the busineas of government to turn its attention inward; to remember, that the objects of its supervisinn are intional, immortal beingo; and to seek to promote ell great interests, mon far may be wishin lta ennstitutional power; and, surely, within that range, are objects fur more worthy of zeal and ankidaity, than aupli as look to our external relations-to war, or vietory, or triumph.
What, in onr dey, ham not been done by voluntary association? Cur whole government is a voluntary assncietion. Why shoald it not direet its attention to those things which look to prace? Itpon this wubjeet, I will oheerve, that when I eeme into conaress, on takina a vipw of the country, and lis'interesta, and enncerns, at the close of the late war, I thousht it to be iny duty, to way, tiet a smitable time had come for governtnent to tarn its ettention inward-to survey this vast comitry, end particnarly this vast wesiern country-to take a eomprehensive view of the whole, and to promote the Interexts of the whole, by the construction of roads, eenels aad other meane of intermal communication-to adopt a liberal syetem of internal lapprove.
raent, in whateoever unites man to man; in whatsoever open a better market, by clearing the way between the producer and the consunter; in whatsonver connect more intumately the various parts of mur countiy, anil binde us closer and clower toge ther. The west, with whirt I aminu urote connected ihan with all my fellow citizens, is the great theatre for theae internal improvements. 'The east is ofd-nut ouly old but sualt. Our rivere can be menzured, yours cantiot. Clur formon can be sarTeyed, yours cannot. We are bounded, yuu are boundlems. It has appeared to ine, that the ween, the tertito, the opening, the obiciting west, was a proper object for the regard of goveril meat. To clear the rivers, to improve the inabors uphi our Inkes, to open roads and canals, to slo witatever finght unite the people, and bring lim who etlls and bum whe buys nearer together, appear to me to be objects woutily of all regard. I clatui ao particular merit upou thus suliject-it is froin mo partualty to the west that I would tend sid to all these objects. My aflecetions know uo west-no east-Ho north-no mouth. I would comprehend them all in one great and connected whole, and consider it iny country.

I see this place, gentlemen, purrounded with circumstancea strongly enforeing these truths-ynu have vast internal improve-ments-the anost promiuent of which is wour canal, when connects you with the Atantic ocenn: others are projectit, bot less Important than thone counpleted. The Ohio canal, which does so minch credit to onr young sister of the west, and with which your city needs a direct connection-tise Ohio and Itait more rail road, an arth or liranch of whelis, extending to yrrur city, would be peculiarly beneffeial, and whicin is As much entiUled to aid from the genernl governatent as the Ohio and C'hesapeake eanal: with respect is these, and many othere, It has always appeared to me, and I make no merit of it, that it is the duty of our government to lend a generous countenasce.

One word more, gentlcuren, aud I have done.
Tbe mayor has spoken of ioducation: sud can any man doubt, ans a eocial being, as an immortal belng, as a being interestrd ia the world that is-as a being vantly more interented in that which Is to be-that education is the great busimess of man? I take not baek one jot or tittle of the expression. Education-the formation of the mind and character, by instruction in knowIedge, and instruetion in righteotsness, is the great end of lusman being.

Gentlemen, it is most gratifying to witness the attention which has been aroused, not confiued to latitude ur longitude, upin this subject. In the progress of sirme five or six werks in the etate west of you, and a part of the time in your own mate, have marked it with delught. The wouterin world-our whole west, is full, beyond all counparison full, of aptitude and clanme tn Instraction. The country in young, asd settled with parents who have many chuldren-whowe meana are ant aflusut, but who eagerly seek education. I'he demands are fast thereasing, and beconing inore and more urgent and inperative.

Inder free institutions, liternture, knowledge and noriali, might well be experted to fourish; but, we are setting thit grma example which all Europe may look upron with astonishunn-ntthat, with popular instltitions, and under a system of absolute toleration, we see no indifference to the great couse of religion.

We bave denied a political sanction to nnyspet; yrt placis of worship are seen to spring up in every direction, athd of every denomination. Tolcration begets no indifference; but zeal, inther than Indifferenee. It is connceted with eitucation, with the inteflectual and moral culture of the mind; and wheresoever men meat, to worship the Gud of their fathers, I whin tiren the means of instruction and the meanin of adequatcly couducting the great and good work.

Gentlemen, I have detained you too iong
My friends, my fellow citizens, my coustrymen, I must now take a respectful leave of you. I have wpent a period of tive or six weeks west of the Allegheny, for the first time in my life. It has been a serles of happy dayn. I have scen much which I sball always remenber-inuch to inforin, as well as delight me. I return you, again and again, my unfrigned thanks, for the fankness, and kindness, and neighborliness, with which you asve made me welconie: and wherever I may go, or wherever I may be, I pray you, my friends, to helleve, I shill never lose the recollection of your Kinduess. May God bless you all.

It is belleved that about threa thousanul persons were present duriag the delivery of Mr. Webster's speech.

We had laid aside some aecount of the attentions paid to Mr. Webster at Iancaster, Chilticothe, Stenbenvilte and many otler plncer in Ohio-at J.ouisville, ske. In Kentucky-nt Wheeling and Wellsburg, Virginia-at Bedford, (hanliervburg, Gettym. burg, &ec. in Pehnsyivaala-but it does not seem neceseary ilint We ahould record them; but it may be well to Insert what follows:

He ilectined a public dinner at Steubenville-but at a private entertalnment in that town gave this toast-2Te stafe of Ohio-The ahundance of her remources nad the fertility of her soil, are only equalled by the hospitality of ther eltizens-may her infinence in the councils of the nation always be as salutary as they must be Influential.

The Frankfort (Ky.) Commentator had these remarks:
The Cincinnati papers inform us that Mr. Webster bas lef that place for bis retura to the east. Is consequenee of the prevalence of the cholera in Kentacky, be declined visiting this state. We speak the fealings of the whole community when we may, that it is a natter of ileep regret that any circumatance Fhnuld Uave prevented the people of Kenitucky trons having is in thear power ta testily to Mr. Welaster the regard they entertaill for him an a cirizen and as a stateaman. The citizese of Kentteky have looked lirward with much eagerness for the pertud wien the areat son of New Einglarni wrold visit theip wate, and we with his own eyes how nuch there was in this favirted land io justify the attachamitt of lier chitdren to it. We wished fum to have contrasted our own peogle with those of thin own #ectini, conindent that he would have dsecovered much to admure in us, althought it was totilly different from that to which the lind been accustonned. We weere prepared to acelcone him. Hitt, wince it is mordered, that the fell disease which desolates our land, turning a paradise lnto a charnel house, bas deprived us of this pleasure, we must induige the bope that when the conntry is reptorid to liealth, he witl return again. Cicero, we are told, when he viaited the cities of Greece, atthough under the clonds of politicni diapleasure, wat every where in iltat polished land, igreeted as the accoundowhed oratar and skillul civilian. Mr. Webrter would linve found that in Kentucky he was considered as the compeer of our own great orator-like liminn ormantent to the har, the liwlls of legislation and the nutional commeil"; and like him deacrving of the reapect nind attention of every unan who took pride in the fame and achevcousuts of his countiymen.

The "National Intelligencer" of July 11 said-
Mr. Weboter has wrought litte less than a miracle upon party fently and divisione in the western eountry. He has fairly extinguisiced the one and ohiliterated the other. In the last anmber of the Nashville Banner we find pubished the letter of invitation to him to visit that city, from which we take the followung extract:
"In diacharging the pleasing duty thus assigned them by their fellow chtizens, the undervigued liave much antimfaction in being able to assure you, that shouid it *uit your convenience thos to extenil your western tour, yon will be most curdialiy greeted by the citizenis of thin town and neighborhood, without distinetion of party, and that every effirt in their power will be cheerfally inade to render your viait as agreeable to yourself as they are sure it will be sati-factory th them."

Tint Mr. Webster wheuld be thus reapectfully invited to Nash. ville by a portioni of his wewtern countrymen bs not at all surprising. The reinarkable leature of the honor thus pand him is the complete jrinitical amongamation perceptible in the following list of the comnititec by whom the invitation wan signed Win. Ariustring.

Timutas Winshington
Felix Grundy,
II. M. Kutlelige,
logat McNairy
H. R. W. Hıll,

Jolen P. Brwin
Robent Woodis,
Girorge C'rockett
II. L. Donglase,
. L. Divare
We here beltold Jackwon-men, Clay men, neutrala, and every other clasa of puliticiasis, harmoniousily uniting to pay honor to talent: and intequity which thiry believed to linve been employed usefully to the thate country. It is a spectacle we delight to look upion. Would that such were onteaer seen?

-ate etere

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.
Southern district of New York.
The postmater general of the U.S.

These were artions of debt brought to reeover penalites allegred to the incurred by a violation of the third section of the act of cumgress parsed the 5d of March, 1827. That section it in the following words:
"That ao jerson, other than the postmaster general, or his authorimed agents, shall ret up any foot or horse post for the conveyance of leaters and packets, upon any post road, which is ot tuay be established as such by Inw; and every person who shall nffend heretil whall itucur a pe paity of not excecding finy dollary, for each letter or packet so earried."

Tite causes were brought to trial before a jury at the last January term, lis hohor judge Betts juresiding. The counsel for the plaintit, J. A. Hamulton, D. A. offered evidence, slowing let, poathuaster nt Providence, R. I. Ttat the defendants as partncra kept a lottery and eschange office there, and another office in New York, and that they had been for a consulerable period of time in the practice of sending their letters, from one office to the other, im a bundle or small leather bag by faseenters going bark and forth in the weamshoati running between Provilunce and $\mathbf{N}$. York. They were alno in the habit of sending witts their own leturr, frre of any cltarge, the letters of third persmins who dcsired to have them forwarded. Mr. Mallet se. veral time interfered, and insisted on the illeyality of the pracife, and threatefed then with a promecution nonles it was dis continued, and the defendauts, not laving taken logal advice, agreed to discontinue it.

Being afterwards advised that oending letters in this manner was not unlawful, they again began to send them as bsfore, which, being discovered by Mr. Mallet, he directed these suits to be brought, being the first ever brought for the offence alleged, No evideuce was offered on the part of the prosecution to prove the offence of "ecting up a fuct or horse post," ex. cept that the defendants bad sent letters by passengers going in the steamboats, as before mentioned. 'Thss, the counsel for the prosecution cootended, was the petting up n foot post within the ineamig of the law. 'To ehow that the wates between N. York and Providence were a post road, lie teferryd to the act of congress of March 3d, 1ed3, which dechares, "Unwt all waters on which steamboats regularly pase from port to pont, shalt be considered and wstabilimed as post roads." IIt also insinted that sending lettern frem the delendant's offices in the pteainboat whari by their office cierk, was clearly setting up a foot post on the post road between tive two cities, the street to the steambosat being a part of the post road.
E. Paine, for the defendants contended that the aets coinplanned of, did not constuthte an offence within entiser the letter or spirit of the act of congress relicd nom. It was ajpartent to every one, that the gravainen of the offence providrd againet, was, not the sending of letters, but the retting up a foot or horse post. This was the act prohibited, aithough the penalty was afined to the ietters sent.

It was contended, that to bring the defendant within the lefter of the law, it must be shows that they had ret up a post. That by a post was meant, sume persom sent expressly, and with mome ant of regularity, for the purpose of convesing letters. If be weil on finht, he would be a then prost; it on horseback, or in a carriage drawn by horses, he woridd be a horse post; but in etther case, he must go by land. That it was alsurd to nuppose that a horse or foot poat could gn by water. The words horse or foot perfixed to the word post, were intended to be descriptive of the mode of eonveyance, and coutd nsean notinug else. A permongoing in a packet to England might as well be calied a font post, as one who went in a etcamboat to Providence. Besides, the letters were sent by passengers in the steamboat, coing on their own business, and who tarried the letters canuaity. This was not the setting up of a popt of any kind. It was indispenaable to the character of a post, that the business on which it went should be the carrying of letters. And it was inslated that the words of the law were to be understood in their plain, and obvious sense and not to be strained to create a penalty.
In order to show that the aifinged offence was not within the spirit of the act of congress, the other post office faws on the same subject, and the ribvious policy of their prohititions were referred io. From these it was evident thut the government did not ciain the exclusive sight to carry uli lethers, but merely the exelusive right to mainthin ports for carry mg them. The goverameat post office extablishment was destued from the Englishaystem of monopoises. Iu that country, the wants of the government, inight pieserve it, as a branch of the revente, in the highest degree of rigor. But in thim country no such thecespity existed, and it was inconsistent with the spirit of our Institutions, to make the pomt office extalinsloment an infringement upon the litertiea of the eitizen. Alt that was necessary was, to prevent patablishments of the same charaeter from being set up in opposition to the government extablisbment. And accordingly alf the prolibitions of the varione acts of congress were directed to this object, and, this only. Ninne of them were designed to prevent the transmiasion of Ietters, howsver Irequently, of in whaterir quantities, but to prevent the setting up or growih of such establishments.
The net of March 3d, 1835, reprals all other acts passed for the establishment of reguiation of the post office, and is ernphatically the post office law. The only prolibotions in this act are the following:-
Section 6. Requires the master or manager of any steambaat to deliver the letters bronght by hum to the poptmaster of the place-and also requires evers perion employrd on hoard a steamboat to deliver the letters entruated to him, to the master or manager.
Section 17. Requires the master or commander of erery ship or resed arriving at a poirt of the $\mathcal{U}$. States, before breaking bulk to deliver aill has letters at the post office.

Seetion 19. Prohibits any efege or ofher rehicle which regularIy performs trips on a post road, or road paraliel to it from conveying tettern; and also prohibita any packel bout or other ressel which regularly plies on a water declared to be a post road, from conveging letters, except such as rrinte to some part of the eargo; and linposes a penalty nf filty dollity on the owner of the carringe, other velicle of vessel, or the person who has charge of it, for its violations.

No subsequent act of congress enntains any prohibition except the seetion above reeited under which time suits are brought prohibiting the setting up of a tharse or finot port.

It was contended that the uniform and studied forbearance nf congress, when legisiating about ships, vessels, "teamboats, packet boats, and carriages, to prohitit the sending of letters by pasaengers, or passengers conveging them, and confluing the probibition expressly to the masters and ownery, or persons in their employment, was conclusive evidence that they bever deaigued to prevent their being sent hy pasacngers. That the reason of the master, owner and survants lering prolithited was obvions. It was in prevent the conreyancre thempeives from becoming nival extablishments to thope of the post office. It would have been the most natural and easy thing imagitsable for congress, when legisiating about these convegances, to have said that no passenger going in thein should earry letters. As they had not seen tit to do so, it was hardly to be supposed that they had designed to do it, when prohibiting something 80 apparently different has the setting up of a foot or horse post.

The court charged the juiy in substance as follows:-
That, if the driendants empinyed a person to earry letuers from New Yurk to Providence regularly, sueh person was to be deemed a post. That, if such person wax cmployed to go on hersebaek, he would be a horre post; if on font, a foot post. But that it was not necessary that a person emplayrd to go on foot, *hould go ail the way by land, to constitute hum a foot posts For instance, if he were employed to go from New York to Albany, and shouid go to Hartam on foot and then uke a ateambrat the rest of the way, he would be a foot post. That the jaw having, by various previous provisions, prohblited the carry ing of lettern hy steanbests, pachets, stages and earriages; undoubtedly designed, by the provision under which these actions were brought, to complete the plan of prolabition by ex. trnding it to the conweyance on horneback, or on foot. That it Was for the jury to way, whe ther the acts complained of were a viofation of the law, as the conit had stated it to them. If nos a viplation, the acte were undoubtedly an evasion of the law, but these actuons shonitl not be sustained for acts which the law did not expressly forbid.

The jury withdrew and returned a verdict for the defendants.
Afterward $A$, the district attorney moved to ret aside that verdiet on the grounds of misdirection of the court, that the verdiet was agathet evidence, and on newly diveovered evidence. But the eourt, afler argunient, denied the motion, as the charge contained no misdirection; the jury had passed apon the evidence submithed to them, and the newly discovered evidence wan mereiy cumulutive atd was known, of might have been, before the trial to the povtmaster at Piovidence who had direeted the suits to be brought. Judgurent was therefore rendered for the defendants.

"!RON CASE"-AT NEW YORK.

The foliowing case was reported for the "Journal of Com-merce"-and we give it in extenso. It is not neceerary, at prement, to say more than that the great principle involved in Mr. Clay'a "bil of cotmprontare," as oume have called it, was grossly tiodated before it went into operation, in the repeal of certain procisos in the aet of 1832 , on which that compromise was founded, and at four o'clock in the morning! - though these prorivos were originally intronded, and npeciaily inserted in the law of 1872 , to inswre to the wakers of iron the smount of protection apparentiy extended to them, and for which they the more cherrfilly submitied to the large reduction of the duties established by that law!
There werc eircumasances attending the repeal of the provisor which cantiot be thonght of without disgust-and the effect of thin repeal is-that iron, partiaily manufactured, or, more properly speaking, cpparently manufaetured, la adnitted at a Icos rate of duyy than the iron iterif?
We have alrendy frecly stated the facts which belong to this extrwordinary met of Ieginlatlon-and shail, probably, have something more to say on the subject, that the repealing act may be repenided, as a matter of resprect to common decency. The bonst of the Einglishonen seems as if accomplished-"we'll break down the iron arch of Pennsylvania," aatd he, "and the whole system will lath to the ground."
DISTHICT COEKT OV THE UNITED STATES TOK THE BOUTHEKI

DIRTEICT OH NEW YORK.  In adníralty, July 7, 1833.

The United States of America,
Thirty-onc boxes and forty-two packager of articles, and ten pieces of Iron faisely denominated ptraight, bent and turned linke, and anchor iron. John $F^{2}$. Sarchet, elaimant.
These artieles were imported in the Wm . Byraes from Liverpool, and invoiced 29 boxew bent linke- 2 boxes straight linke42 packagen turned links-and 10 pirces of anchor iron, with their respective weights, cost, &c. The importer, by his attorney, Johin Sarchet, claimed to enter them at the custom howse at 15 per cent. ad valorem under the act of 1816, as non enumerated artieles manufactured in part-and denird that they were a complete manufacture of iron, whiell pays 25 per ecot. ad vaIorem. Attached to and firming part of the invoice, was the affidavit of the shipper at Liverponl thast he wha th the habit of receiving and giving orders for links and anchor Iron, and thet they were the articlea in commerce known hy that name-and aiso the affidavit if the manufacturers that there were afticlet of commerce well known by those nsmep, and fit for mothiag but scrapiron unless made into chnins and anchors, and for these purposes much more valuable tion har irnn. Thirse affidavits were very full, detailing the proofs by which links nad anchor iron are made frotn the raw materina and every thing in reiation thereto. Theae the importer submitied to the collector attached to his Invoice, who handed them to Mr. Mead the appraiser, who made the following report:

Appraiser's office, Jonuary 18, 1833.
S. Strarticout, erq. collector.

The two invoices handed yon herewith of Mr. Thomas Barrow of Liverpool, offered for entry, contain the following articles, viz.
Bint or chain imn of varioun diametrm eut up in ends of different lengthe for the making of links for chains, some we straight, nome bent thus $U$ and others of an oblong form turned or twisted thus 2 the euds lapering to a point and hal for welding.
The straight ends are of the diameter of 22 inch and cut in uniform lengthe of ' 5 inches. The ends bent thus $\mathbb{U}$ are 721 and $9-16$ of an inch in diameter and in length 54,6 and 7 mohew. Tbese, tongether with the stranght ends before named, are simply cut from the har or bolt imon while in a heated atate-varying in length and in diameter aecording to the size or strenzth requirnil.
The oblong or turned limks are $15-16$ or an lueh diametrr and aaily at the side by the aid of a machune ealled a mandrill, and then parked for purposes of transportation on a round bolt of iron 10 f feet long and If inches in ilianeter, with a large bead or fat piece of iron at one end of the trolt sufficiently large to prevent the links froin passing over, and at the other end by a key securing them from vombing off.
The iwo preees called anctior fron are two feet Inng, 63 inches aquare at the large end and tapering down to if inelies ut the other end, and is in fact and truth hainmered Iron. It is unlike bar irn in every partieular. Eaph piece hesides is prepared separately by itself and then weldell togetior for anchors.
I would particularly recommend in your perusal the nath or affirmation attaclied to this invoice of anebor iron. It sete forth in a clear aud explicit manner the article In question-wilhout a word from me-that it is intendedl for anchors there cannot be a donbt-that they are not aneliors there canuot he a sladow of a douht, and that they are not manufacturrs of irnn sulted in any kbown purpoace, it is also equally clear and conclusive.
The oath or affirmation attached to the invoice of bolt or clatin froa, is in the asain eqnally elfar and eompreliensive, as recardm the facts therein set forth, save that part which draw deduetions from premiser not warranted by lacts, which part is toarked in the margin of the atfirmatoon by invorted lines. I cannot but consider this a cave where the object of the oviner is to evacle the payment of dutips inaposed by the lawn, and one an clearly and palpahly wrong as not to ailmit of any well grounded defence under any virw of the ease. They eannot in traib bet conaldered ax manufactures within the iniont and meaning of the law; that they are not elatins, no one will be foolo-h ennuglt to aver; but that they are inteuded for liuks for chains, no one will deny.
Under what view of the case, then, can they be ealled manufluctures of iron? We might with the same propriety call a bar of iron a manufactured articte. I an, reapectfully, vour obedient servant.
(Signeal)
A. B. MEAD.

The bolt or chain iron, althangh cut $n$ p into picees for tinks, should be classed fir duty as bar of bolt iron, made wholly or in part by rolling, and the anchor iron as hammered iron. (signed)
A. B. M.

The coliector then, on suspicion that a fraud had been com. mitted in making the entry, ortered the packages to bee examin. ed hy Nicholas Saltns and Daniel Ayres, two merrhants in New York city, who reported to the collector as follows:

sCHEDELED.

New York, January 21, 1833.
David S. Lyon, eng. deputy collector of port of New York.
An: In answer to your letier of the 18 tl , requesting us to report to you our opinion of the iron entered by Mr. Sarchet in this custom house, imported in the ship Wim. Byrnes, beg leave to state tial the said iron is what is represented in the certifieates, viz: three descriptions of links well known to the trade as parts of chain cables, requiring but a sunali process to make them complete chain cables, and parts of anchorn ready to be joined together. The tariff axpressly states that chain calbes or parts of chains, shall pay 3 ets. per lb, and anchors or parts of anehors, 2 cts . per lh . This was well known to Mr. Sarchet, and his attempt to enter them under any other form is an attempt of fraud on the revenue, and conspquently in our opinion ought to be seized. Reapectfully we are, &ce.

NICHOLAS &ALTTUS. DANIEL, AYRES.
The articles were thereupon libelled as bar and bolt IrnnNort bars and bolts of Iron, falsiely denominnted links and anchor iron-and also for that "the Invoiee and packages were ralvely made up with intent by a false valuntion, cxtension, or othervise, to defrnud the revenue"--that the grods were deweribed as manufactured artieles aubject to 25 per cent. ad valorem, when they were Iron in bars and bolte, and vuhjeet to a specilic duty-that the packages contaiued articles not deseribed in the invoice-that the packages were examined by two merchants and fitund to ditfer in their contenta fram the entry.
On the trial-the substance of the testiniony was this:
The entry cletk of the enstom house testivied that Mr. Sarchet came to his desk, and proposed to enter thin invoire at $1,5 \mathrm{per}$ cenl. ad valorem: but withess would not so enter it , nud an eniry was then made out at 25 per cent. ad valorein: lie mokril Mr. Barchet what he wanted it charged at? lle replicd 15 per cent. Bonde were executed in blank.

Mr. Mead, U. &. appralser, testified-that his report was eor. ract, and he found this invoice, pieers of iron intended for links of chains, and he was bound to say, that the papers attached to the invoice were correct in every particular, and squared with the information the received, and confirmed it. The straight Inks lie considernd braziers' rods, but in emomrren they would not be hnown as sueh. That he had no experience in iron, but what he had acquired ag appraiser.

Mr. Soltus for the U. S, said that he was an tuporter of iroa, and signed the repert with Mr. Ayres to the collector as above, Wheh was correct-that it costs about 9 to 3 fents to inake these links into chains-haka are known in eomnieree as distinctive articles. In orders you merely give the diampter, and the manufaplurer has intew for the length. The government advertise for straight and betit links, and withess has supplied then. Also for anchor iron in parts, but he never supplied anchor iron-chajn cables are invariably imported 90 faithoass, in seetions of 15 fathoms connected by shackles.
Ar. Ayres for the U.S. soid that he sigued the above reportand it is correct. He should think a tink a part of a chain, and thinks the trade would so eonsider it-shouid Uhink anchor iran parta of anchors. He sells links, and anchor tron-he invoices them as links und anchor iron-they are ordered by those namee, and so known. In conumerce. He phould order them by that панie from abinaf. Being asked if he so irdered, sold, bough and livoiced them, by what name he winld enter them-the district attorney objected and the judge ruled he mast not anwrir the question.
Mr. Ayrrs firther satd, to make tire turned links Into chains he thought would eost 9 ceents per lb. Inoagines Sarchet'w parts of anchors only wanted welding, a hoie pancised and a riag to anake anchors of them.
Mr. Jacocks, clork in the appraiser's office, said he knew very litile of iron-sulposed this anchor iron for the purpose of tnakink ancliors. Unth this trial sopposed a link considered by every body a part of a eliain.
Mr. Harker, collector of Philadelphia, wnid Barchet in 1829 enntended that the anchor tron was not parts of anchorm, but hachor iron znliject to 15 per cent.- livi for the law of 1832 witners wruld have coneulered inkss parts of bolt tron, and so cloarged thrm. The treasury deculed before 1632 that they were not parts of chains, and the anclur fron not parts of anchors. I had clarged the link as bolt tron and the anchor iron as anclonra, as I always fix the ligitest rate of duty where there is a dnoht.
Mr. De Camp, enntom house nfificer, made imn 30 years previous to 1818. He should call links parts of ehaius, welded or not, and ihe stratght ones, braziers' rods cut up in pueces, fi fof rablut screws and many purposes. The anchor iron 1 supposed pieces of anchora, and would be so convilered by the trade. When these pieces leave the forge they are balr made. If i Wantell to muke an nnchor, I should order the number of pieces, giving the weiglit, nnd I don't know how it would come inveic giving the weiglit, nnd I don't know how It would come invaicell. Never anw an Invoice of it. I don't know whetice it is an ell. Never anw an invoice of it. I don't know whether it is an articte if eommerce, but I have sern small quantities come into port for 13 ypars past, like thas. Never finished or made an anchor, but anld a great quantity of anchor iron to merchants, whin mell to the anchor maker. If weli drawn, not much to do but weld it.
On the part of the elaimant-Mr. John II. Howland of New York, limporter and dealer in irnn for many years, testified that, this invoice was not chains nor bar or bolt iron.
Mr. Cornell, a merchant, and five chain cable and anchor maker, including the most extensive in America, testified thas linke, straight, bent and thrned, and anehor iron, were an article of commerce well known by thown names, and so ordered, bnught, sold, and invoiced-that the anchor iron was equally finished with fron in bars and botts, and the links more so. That both were more valuabte for chains and anchors than bar or bolt irnn, but if not used for these purpores they sbould sel! the same for scraps. That these links are not a manufactured article, but parily manufactured, and are the raw material of the chain maker, na common lar and both iron is of the general amith, and as anchor iron is of the anchor maker. That links welded and finished separately, would be no part of a ehain unless in links-that a chain or part of a chain is a series of chains conneeted ingether, and these mast be more than one That the cost of making these straight links into chains is about 4 to $\boldsymbol{g}_{5}$ per cwt.-bent links 10 per cent. less, and turned \& 4 37t to 争5-Uhat the general price of anebors In 11 to 12 cents per ib. and of anchor iron 54 cente. That chaia cable iron and anchor iron in a different kind of iron from bar or belt iron, and much superior in quaitity, having no cinder in it, and higher in price, made in a particular way for the manufacture of cables and anchors. There is none in America auitable for the purpose, and experiments have proved it. The claimant also introdiced the estimony taken in 1898, before congress, to show that eongresa in passing the law hncw thene articles an links, in which Mro Kepre'n examination nayz, that at the Pera works they mans. facture principally chain links and har iron-and also the ad vertisements of the navy departments for links and anchor iron -to show that congress intended to leave these articies nonenimerated, as bar iron could not possibly be imported in that form for any useful purpose, and an our own iron is not suitable, that the rhain cable and anchor makers migbt have the adrantage of a cheap raw material.
Murh other teatimony was taken, which, with the argumenta of erminsel, neecupied the court six days; but our limits will not permitits insertion.
Judge Betts read the following
IV. g. district court ortion:

The forfeiture is claimed-

1. Recause, on inspection of goods, the Invoice was found to have been made up with intent by a false valuation, extension or otherwise, to evade and defrand the revenue. There is no proof showing any erronenus valustion of extension in the invoiep, and it is adimitted hy the district attorney that the forfei ture can only be sustatned by force of the expression "ur otherwise."

He insists that the proof slonws that the invoice was accomspanied hy a rrpresentation from nuanufacturers abroad, calculated and intended tu induce the collector to allow the goods th be entered at a rate of Nuty lower than they were subject to by law, and that the inventory in correspondence with that pront, was made up by a misdescription, a false denominatina of the goods.

The articlea were entered as articles of manufarture subject to a duty of 2 j per cent. ad valorem, and the aflidavits of the manufacturers representing then th be so. It is pontended on Hie part of the governmint that shey were bar and holt iron and apehora or parts of anchors, and linbie to a spectife duty under the act of Muy 22.1, 1824, of 3 cents per lb. on the thoks and $z$ cents per lb. on tiv nuchors.

By the act of May \%2, 1824, sec. 1, art. 5, a duly is impoaed "on iron cables or clains or parts thereof," of 3 cente jer tb . and "nn anvils and anchors two crute per pound."

By the act of May 19, 18.2s, sece. 1, art. 2. a duty is laid "nh bar and bolt iron, inade wholly or in part hy roling," of $$ 37$ perten.
The 5 th articie of the lit wection of the act of May, 1824 , pruvides that "on all manulactures not atherwive sperified, made nf lirasn, irun, steel, pewrer, lead, or tin, of nf which either of these metale is a component material, a duty of 25 per celat, ad valorem slall be laid.'
The 2d artiple of the int seetion of the act of April 27, 1816, enacts, that there shall be laid a duty of 15 per centum ad valorein on all articles not subject tor any other rate of duty.

The claimant insixte that althwugh he entered liss importation as subject to sluties under the act of 1824 , yet that strictly 11 comps within the provisions of the law of 1e16, and should be charged with only is per cem. duty.

To bring these srticlea within the keope of the libel under this branch of it, it munt be found that they were aulject to apeeific duties, and that the manner of clarging them upon the invoice is emmprehended in the interdiction "or otherwise" of the act uf is30.
The point has been most pressed, in argument, that the court should now decide, whether they are not entitled to entry on the payment of 13 per cent. Instead $n f 25$.

It does not appear to tre that the point is necessarily raised for decision in this cause. The allegation is that the geods were snbject to specific dnties, and that the claitnant attempten a fraud upon the revinise in entrring them as listble only to an ad valoremt duty. If the erneral proposition is decided inf favor of the claimant and his goods aequitted, it would be entirely gratuitons on the part of the evurt to gn further, and settle be(ween him and the officers of the custom house the rate of duty be should psy.
The present question is one of forfelture alone, and whether the goods are liable to specifie or ad valorem dutier, is an inquiry which can have no relevancy except as showing the motive of the party in preparing lis invoice. As he entered them there as liable to 25 per cent. duty aud offered to pay that, it would be a useless speculatinn to inquire what the evidence of a fraudulent mnative might be, had he endeavored to pass them at the lower rate, therelyy asving 10 per cent. more in himacif. We can in justice, do no more than eatimate the infinence of the act done, and there would accordingly seem to lue no utility in carrying our regards to a more suppraable state of facts. The term "otherwise" in a penal law is liable to serious ohjection for wsint of that precision and certalaty the citizen has a right to expect in the languagu of a law which is to confiscate his property; and no court could go further in giving it meaning and application, hy construction, than the plain intent of congrean manifented in the context of the terui, impcriously demanded.
The 4th section of the act of May 98, 1830, declares "that if any paekage shall he found th contain any article not described in the Invoice, or If sneh paekage or invoice be made nj, with intent, hy a false valuation of extension of otherwise, to evade or defraild the revenue, the same shall be forfeited."
Having deripnated three delieta by this clause, ench of which whall work a forfelture of the enols, the inquiry is whether some other substantive and distinct nffence was intended to be provided against hy the term "otherwiee," nnd if so, whether It is to be interpreted to embrace every other fraud or evasion thint may be devised, other than the three sperifically deagnated.
It is believed no nonnd administration of penal law can permit a range so unlinuted and hazardous to language of a very equivoral import. The expressinn ought rather to the construed as anpplelory to thnse preceding it, and as having relation to the samie subject matter. Congress no dnubt intended to specify the modes in which offenees followed by a forficiture of pio perty should be proved to have been committed, bit as the enilmeration might possility omit some offence coming clearly within the general clasuification, though varying in kome geculents of form or manner from those named, wacd a phraseniogy brond enough to bring such equivocal acte within the statute. The statue should therefore to constrned as applying only to casen of the same charncter with those enumerated, and not to any of a different and independent description.
The offence described by the art is "making up a package or invoice" in a particular way. The term valuation and extension, apply to the invoice, and the otherwise as immedintely ansnevated with them by juxtaporition and grammatics/ eonnectuon, ouglit undoubtedly to be read as haviug reference to the invoice also. By what methed of muking up an invoiee other than hy valuation or exteusion, cun this traud le conamitied.
But by onitting articies, that coffence is provided for in a previous part of the section.
But effeet may br given th the term by applying it to a fraudulemt modewcription of thee involer; though true th certain intents, get beiug talse and fraudulent as to the matier of dutiea to whet the rral article would he entited. For instance, as entoring rifined sugar as white rlaged, kc. the dexcription actually given thoush tue in terma, not heling the whole truth such av rrpresents the exact character of the conunodity, and if neted upwn at the curtum lion*e will lrave the goods to pasa wath a lawer rate af duty than they would pay under full denonination. In the case before the court, anchors or har iron entored an anehor iron-parts of clatill cables, ant linke-bott iron, as straight links-if done with intent in evade $n$ defraud the revenue, woull the making up the involiee othorwise than by false valuation or extroxion, and in a way caleulated to evade the phyment of duties and wn as 10 give applicatinn and pignificancy to this bramely of the statute. It wruld stus become the false pharges and the want of correspondruce of the goode mentioned in the preceding part inf the section, as all the articies of the libel proceed upon the allogation of a fulse denomination, or description of the gonds inported. This contonling quention in the merits of the cause may be as well discussed under this hratth of the case, as in conncretion with any of the other charges of the libel. The different forms in which the offence is stated in the libel so as to bring it under some of the prohlhitious of the «Latute as compreliended in and depend upon the proposition that "what is ralled in the invoice auchor iron, is bar irno or anchors; and what are called atraight links, are boit iron, nr brazier'm ridr; and what are ealled bent and turned linkx, are parts of chain cablet or chains;" and these false dexcriptiona are given with intent to evade the payment of duties. If this proposition is true, the ganda wmuld be subject to forfelture under the branch of the libel now dixenssed: and if not true there in no matter set forth in any other part of the libel that would suliject thein to firfeiture. Withont therefnre waiting to arrange the proofs under the various characs of the libel, the most commodious and perapienons mode of considering it will be to bring it it review under the head of the pleadings.

A eritucal examination of lise evidenee produced on the part of the government cannot fail to show that the allegations upon which the property was seized are too feebly supported to Justify a condemastion for these causes slonne, and if the pronfs niake out a caae involved in mone nucertainty and doubt, this doubt raised is nut an to the accuracy of the involee and entry (which wraid impose on this claimant the obligation of proving their correctnoss and bnna fides. Wheat. R, 411), but it is, whether a probable cause for seizure existed.
The invoice and entry doscribed the first item under consideration to be, "ten pieces of anchor iron."
The specific charge in the lithel, applicable to this commodity, is, that it was firon in bart; althomgh in the proceedings and argutnent it was conslicted to be anchors, of parts of anchors, and that it did not eorrespond with the involee because of that misnomer. The only witneas in the part of the United States personally converkant and experiencerd in the iron businges who considens thesp as parta of anchors, is Mr. Do Cainp. But be is exceedingly indistinet and mancertain in hls judgment as to the denomination it has nequired in commerce, and he unitea with the other esperienced witnepses, on tive part of the United States, in saying it is not known as bar iron, that it is both more refined and of higlier value than har iron, and also is carried forward to a state of manufacture adapted to making ancliors, apd is more valuahle for that use than any otiser.
Mr. Ayres nayis it is known in commerce as anchor iron; is so Imported, invoiced and sold, and the general bearing of the proofs for government lis, that an order for anchor iron would be as distinct and well understood in business as for any other artiele in the lion trade.
Under this proof, without adverting to the very full and shtisfaetory evidence on the part of the claimant in this behalf, it camint be maintained, that the article entered as anchor iron did aot correxpond with the invoice deacribing it as auch. If it wan not to be considered a manufacture, but the raw material for the trade and business of anchor making, yet it is put beyond all doubt liy the proofr, that it has acquired a settled and notorinus dennmination entircty distingulshing it from bar iron. Sn also it cannot be termed un anchnr and be liable to a specific dity as sueh, because it has to undergo an important modifieation and manufacture to bring it from its present state into that of anchors.-
The act of 1824 imposed a duty on anchors, and not as is agsumed in the report of the mercliants who inspected this importation, on ancliness and "all parts thereof." The latter provision is made in the act of July 14, $1 \times \mathrm{Kr} 2$, (aec. 1. arts 9 .) but this importation does not come under the provisions of the latter nsatute.
So as to the other parts $n f$ this entry. The testlanny of Messrs. Mcad, Saltus and Ayrea, on the part of the United States, is elear and unequivecal, that the articies inventoried and entered as straight, belt and turned linke, are well known in commerce by those denominations. They are manufnctured and auld by these appellations; the atraight and bent are common in our market aad pass by the name of liaks-the turned are an English fabric, and seem to have been imported solely by the claimant. All the witncases however agree in terming it a link, aad the appraiser using the aame denotaination details the mode of its manufacture.
This species of links and the bent onex were naquestinaably within the geaerat description of tiuks, and whether they are more, and conipose parts of chaias, will be more particularly soticed presentiy.
Those called ntraipht links have the appearance of ordianary brazier's rods, shotemed to a standard length, titing them for chain links. The rod is no other way changed than by cutting it into pieces.
It has been streauously argued that this is oniy a simulated manufincture, still teaving the raw matrial on anewer inany valuabie uses to wheh it is ordmarily applied, and that the alteration is fraudulest; intended to introduce the article in its present form at an impost below what it is legally hable to.

Although in the opinion of some of the wituesses, iron cut liato these slint pieces may be ased to advantage for bolts, serews, spikes, ke. yet by far the greatrot weight of evidence is, that unless inanufactured into linkw, it would be only marketable or useful in this form, as scrup iron.

And the proof tooth of the witnesses on the part of the United Ststes aad the claimant, places the fact aloove question, that the artiele in this form is a well known commodity, manufacturel! here and imported from abroad, and bontht and wold under the name of atraight litsks, and that it is in well eatablished use for making chalis, and If most valuable for that parpose. This proof is abundantly sufficient to show that the artielps found ia the packages correspond with the invoice, and that they were properly entered as links, i( they are not something more than merely tink. The remaining inquiry tien is, whether all the links are not subject to duty ax parts of chains.

There can be no doutht that in enrrectnvas of innguage pevery distinct eomponent portina of an entire thing, is a part of that thisg. In this sense a link is a part of a chatia. As a wheel, spring nr chain is a part of a watch, each of them esseatial to the existence of the particular thing.
The act of congress laying a like duty upon "cables or partr thereof," Includew within the tetter, the separate link 4 , as well an the scries unitrd in a chaln, aad would aceordingly be so applied, uniesa a differeut signification be given up by usage and Is well kaown to those conversant with the particular article, or the coanection in which the expression is used, denotew that It is to recrive a more comprehensive munning. In seekiug the proper interpretation af the phrase "parts thercof" as npplicable to chain cables, we discover at the first step, that custom, norina loquendi af laws, as weli as of society, has nffixfo a measing to the firat clement of the pubject (dinks) cssentually variant from its acceptation is the strict spnse of the term. $\AA$ link considered as a pubstantive article of a manufacture, aiust unqueationably be finished, have every opmation pertivmed upout it required to fit it for the use it in destitued firr; whether ronind or oval, opea or elosed, it beeomes the hink only when the artist has completed his labor upon it. The link which forms part of a chain cable, must necassarily he closed; acither a stralght piece of rod, anr beat at ose end, nor turned so as in bring the two cuds a aariy into union, can in accuracy be said to compose that description af tink. Uwage, hawever, as it has been abmindantiy proved, does give the aanae of links, to things Inteaded to firm chain cables, that cannot compoze sueh cable without great adilitional labor and manufacture, and if ia tike way the expression "parts of chains" hay obtained a meaning different from the literal import, the rute which adopts the ells omary appellation in the one case, ought also to give it the ame force ia the other.
The evidence very satinfactorily shows, that chain cables are mported entlre and in fragments nt wections of several fathoats in length, which can be united by sisackle links, or openung an ordinary link so as th supply the ieagth that may be required, and that surh sections of the chain are knowa in commerce as parts of cables or chains. The part being completo as a chain of itself, but of leas leagth than the eable commonly required.
As thix is the denomination the commodity receives from the dealer, the manufacturer and thoee conversant with it, the picanmption is exce.edingly forcible, that the faw of 1834 contemMatcd thore sections as the parts af chains which are made fiabe to the same duty as the cntire ehain. But whether this be mo or mot, it is very clear to my iniad, that ia the sense of the act of 1824, nothing can be deemed part of a chain that is not, ar to itwelf,'as finished and complete, as the entire chain. It matters then very hittic in this cave whether ia the interpretation of the act, single links should be accepted as parts of ehains, inasmuch an to acquire that quality, they muat be finished and perfectel no links. Neverthcies the conatruction I put upon the act in view of the facts diaciosed by the evidence in this canse, and which it is proper to avow is, that parts of chains and pieces of chain are pynonymoum, asd meak n scries of links comprising ha sectunn less than the chain as usually imported. Is this view of the suliject, the part may enasist of scveral fa. thonst, or any less erient beyond individual detached links: it deantes a portion takea from the whnle and still retaining the propertics of thin whole, leas only the extent.
In ribher virw if the aubject these articles are not ilabie to condemnation for the causes alleged.
The diatriet attorney has areurd that the Importer ta bound to grods being entered as manufactured articles and subjeet to a duty of 23 per cent. If it is fousud that they cannot with justice be denominated manufactured or are subject to apecific daties, they must be furfeited for those causen.
The asswer to this argument is, that the goods have not been procecded agaunst as improperly described in the entry, nor it any statute shown subjecting them to forfeiture for that cause. The allegation of the libel is, that the goods on examination and haspection were found not ta correspond with the descitiption in the investoty, and it is for that variance that the act of 1800 abjects property to forfeiture.
And it may be further observed, that it is aot showa that an crroneous claim at the cratora bouse in respect to the duties, payable by inports, afficets the topportation or entry, when the poods are correctly deseribed.
Probably it is of coastant occurrpnee at the custom house, that merchants and the collector difter an to the rate of dutues to be applied to an entry, when the goods are accurately and exactly denominated. The court know juctictally, that such differences thave sometimes occurrud, and that the constructiot the merchant claimed for tite laws, has been upheld in all the courts. Had it beea invariably otherwise, congress would deal with most ungeturous severity with the citizen in confls cating his property for a differesce of opinion, which could do the revenue no harin, as the thing is placed uadisguiredly in the hands of thu public officers, for ticma to judge whether the merchant is correct of not, in his estimate of the character of the eommodity, and they have the power in the firat lamancer of enforcing their conetriction of the laws, by retaining the goods untii he pays the duties they demand.

In my opinion a misdescription of that character wouid no afford grount for forfetture of the groods.
The following decree was entered.
This cause having bees brought to hearing upon the pleadinge aad proofa, and having been argued by Mr. II milton, the attor ney bf the United States, on the part of the United states, and by Mr. Walker and Mr. Halt on the part of the elaimant, and the promises having been fully considered by the court, it is considered and dectared, that the chargrs in the libel, purporting that the goodn apecified in the eatry were falaply deseribed in the invoice meationed in the pleadings, with intent to evade and defraud the revenue, are snflieient in law to subject such goods as were imported in boxes to forfeiture under the provisions of the fourth section of the aet of May 98 , IN30: but it comsidered and nieclared, that anchors, or anchor iron, Importe ia bulk and not in packnges or tundtes, are not snhject to forfeiture, niter the provisions of the anill section, and if they were so , it is fuither declared, that it is estahlished hy the proofs in the cause, that anchor iron in a counmodity well known in commerce and to artizans hy that appellation, and is distinct and differeat from the article dennminated bar Iron, or iroa in bars and that the commodity seized and articled upon In this cause correrponds with the description thereof in the invoice.
And it is further conaidered and declared, that it is established by the proofs in the cause, that the articles described in the invoice as "traight tinks, hent links, and turned links, are arti cles well known in commerce, aud to artizans, by those names and druominations, and are not, sor is either of them, bar or molt irnn, within the acceptation of that term in ordinary uaage is trade and commeree; that they have been subjected to a procean of manufacture by machizery and manual labor, changlag them fram the raw material iato articles of enhanced value, for the particular uses to which the change has adapted them; and that they correspond with the deacriptions thereof in the invoice.
And it is further coneifered and dectored, that it is entablished by the proofn ia this cause, that cables or chains, or parta thereof, an known and denomianted in commerce and by artiana, consint of a seties of finished links, and that ome unfinished link or any indefinite number of unfinished links, are not de sominated "cahles or chaims or parts thereof," and are not known as such.

Therefore it is enasidered, adjuiged and decreed by the eomurt, and his honor the divtriet judge, by virtue of the power and anthority in him vested doth order, adjuige, and decree, that the gnods, waret and merehaadises, specified is the pleading in this canse, and seized by the collector as fotfrited, were not enterrd at the costom house ia this port as charged in the libel, by a false denomination, or description; and that the packages nr invoices the reof were ant, nor was ether of them, made ap with intest thevalle or defraud the reveaue, and that anome of the anid packages coatained any article not deacribed la the invoice thercof; and that the goods imported and eatered as aforewaid, correspond with the iavoicen thereof; and it in therefore forther connidered and decreed, that the goods, wares and merchandises, described ia the pleadings, be acqultted of the seizure thereof, and be forthwith delivered up to the claimant.
Rut inasmuch as it is made to appear in the proofs that the ppblic appralsers, and two merchants, aworn to asslat in the examiaation of the goods aforesaid, reported to the collectnr that, is their opinion, the importation and entry thereof hat brea frauduleacly made with inteat to evade the revenne, and recommeaded is seizure therenf, it is ordered that a certificate From cause of acizure be allowed and catered.
A. Hamilocree the U. 8 . district attorney has appesied.] J. A. Hamilton, for the U. States; C. Walker aud J. F. Itan, forma

90-We insert, under the head of " "1ullification and so $^{2}$ forth," a strange letter from gen. Harailton, of South Carolina, and certain rough reinarks of the Washiugton "Globe" upon it-us matters of euriosity only, proper for record, and in the manner presented to fis, except that we have italicised the words in the "Globe," as to "the "uncoustifutional protection" of coarse woollens, and cottons and "cash dutics," with what is said about the triumph of president Jackeon "oven the American Ststym ix ali its paits." 'These are queer things; and, if the "collar" is truly marked-may be worthy of future comment. The temper of the general's letter, and the sharity of the "Globe's" remarks, can luardly be sufficiently admired.

THE chozers.

But four cases of this discase oceurred at Pittsburgh, from the 17 th to the 2311 ultimo,
The cholera had nearly disappeared from the western part of the state of Louisiana. At New Orleans it had entircly disappeared, and that city is represented as healthy. The mortality amongst the slaves in Louisiana must have been immense. The Richmond Compiler states, that on the estate of general Wade llampton, a little above N. Orleans, on the Mississippl, out of 1,500 slaves, more than 700 had died.

The various papers received by the late mail from Kentucky, give the gratifying intelligence that the cholera lias greatly abated through the state, and in many of the towns where it had raged severely, it had entirely ceased. In some sections it had left the towns but had extended its ravages into the country.

Two cases and one death of cholera have occurred at Kuoxville, Tennessee.

At Columbus, Ohio, seven deaths hat occurred from cholera, and the disease prevails in several other towns in that state.

At Clarleston, Va. but one case had occurred for several days.

A note from Kanawla Salines, Kanawha county, Va. reprorts 96 eases as having occurred there between the $9 \mathrm{th}^{2}$ and 16 th ult. Most of the new cases are represented as mild and much more manageable than before.

The board of liealth of Pittsburgh under date of the 23d alt. report six more deaths from cholera, within the week immediately preceding, being forty-eight in all since the 11th of June, the date of lis first appearance.

It appears from letters subsequently received from Priuceton, New Jersey, that the reported appearance of cholera in that city was prematıre. The physician who, at first pronounced the case, which gave rise to the alarm, "a case of maliguant cholera," now considers it "an aggravated ease of cholera morbus."
A gentlentan of Salern, Inliasa, writes to bis friend at Clincinnati that from the Ist to the 1'shl of July the cholera had carried off 60 of their citizeus out of a propulation of 600 .

Religiots nfowspapers, and cowthotenatis. We have "fallen upon evil times." Inteed, it would almost seern that a return to the "days of fire and faggot" might be specdily looked for-if the secular power could be renilered subservient to the propagation and "glorious progress" of some of the leating Christian sects. Coneerning such quarrels, (which then existed as now though with a better excuse than at prescot), Pranklin, about sixty ycars ago, said in a private letter to a friewl:-
"When theolegians or religious people quarrel abous relizion, eacb party abusca the other; the profane atod the inflidel believe both sides, and enjoy the fray; the reputation of religion in general suffres, and its enemiwa are realy to Fny, not what was said in the primitive tumes, behold houe these Chrisflans lore on another, but, nark how these Christians hate one another:"

And when we refer to ecrtain newspapers in which "the drum ceclesiastic" is mon loudly and wickedly
Vol. XLIV-Sig. 25.
beaten-with rub-a-dub here, and rub-a-dub there-it may well be said-"mark how these Christaine hate one another."
There have been many regular set-tos between wrane gling priests—whose zeal was mauifestly greater "to floor" their antagonists-and, by cart-loads of Latin and Greek and Hebrew, "with" or "without points," send each other into the safe and fast kecping of "the prince of devils," and gather laurels for themselves-outrageously and indecenlly inconsistent with the sublime principles of that religion which teaches meekness and forbearance and "picace and good will to all men." And cven the 4th of July-a day which of all others should be kepat free from such coutroverbics, and mainly because that perfect rights of conscience were established by the Declaration of Iudependence, has been used for the purpose of forwar ding scetarian or particular religioua views, and the prugress of one of the "churches" has been toasted on this day! At Salem, (Mass.) a "reverend gentlemen," invited to address the people in honor of the anniversary, thumped and thundered against Sunday mails; and at Boston, at a large dinner party, the increasing power, or numbers, of the Roman Catholis chnrch in the Uniteil States, was several times greeted at the "festive board!" Such things are not only in "bad taste"- they are alccideslly mischievous, and should promptly obtaili ile most deeided marks of public reproaeh, contempt and scorn.

We "owe no subscription" to the rules of faith of any party of religionists-for we cannot receive the wholy doginas of any onc; but we agree in practice with the good people of all, who "do justiee, love mercy and walk lumbly." And it always delights us to wituess, or be informed of, such instances of ou-operating goodness, as is found in the Baltimore infirmary, where our valusble and ralued friend, Solomon Fitting, esq. the governor of that institution and a "Jew," has a charge over the "Sisters of Charity," devoted to administer to the wants and relieve the pains of the sick and wounded and sore. No one who is aequainted with the persons just alluded to can, for an instant, suppose that "Jew or Gentile," "bond or free," is regarded in the fatherly or sister-like kindness and care with which patients are attended-or that between the two, so different in matters of faith, there is any difficrence in doing what the "lawe and the gospel' enjuins on both.
The wonderful increase of Roman Catholies in the $\mathbf{U}_{\text {. }}$ States, within a few years past, seems to have much alarmed some other seets of professors. Bu: these ought rather to imitate the zeal and industry of the Roman Cestholies in perforning what they belicve is a duty, than "utter thunders" at them which fall harm!ess. And on the other land, the lofty exclusiveness which we sometimes see proclaimed lyy the Roman Catholies, is merely calculated to provoke ennsities among the people, and renuler cause for saying "mark how these Christians hate one auother"一and a!ay! with strict justice.

We real that "the harvest truly is great, but the laborers few." Every "ciuurch," more or less, has adoptell certain "articles of faith" which are regarded by its thorough-going memhers as evsentials; but if all these "essentials" were colleeted together and made into one look, a Chinese philosojiher woulch probably, regard the Cliristisn religion, (as set forth in these utterly opposing dogmas), as a inuch more confused mass of matter than that of the varions seets which abound in lils own laud; and, perhaps, also elaim, in his own behatf, the fact, -that a far greater number of the inhabitants of the world are of his own genernl way of thinking. And yet on the importsut point of shewing the duty which man owes to the CREATOR by rendering kindness in his creatures, the followers of Moses or of Jsses-of Confucius or Mahomet, or even those who regard the person of the Grand Lama as the invisible evideuce of GOD-would all agree. In matters of faith, every man loas ant unquestionable right to judge for hinself, when determinIng what particular sect approaches the nearest to the dietates of his own eonscience-but it is required of all men, that, using this great aud glorious liberty for themselves, they should not interfere with or abuse others for doing the same thing. It shews a spirit which is in malignant opposition to the clasrity of the gospel; and in the qeautiful parable of the "good Samaritan," and in nuinerous other justances, it pleased the Gireat Tenclier, to shew that professions, without works of benevolence, were utterly vain. The Gientile, who poured oil and wine into the wounds of the man who had been beset with thieves, was preferred to the griest-capped laevite, who would have suffered a fellow man to perish by the way-side. The dignified professor-one who had a legal right to enter she temple atol render mouthworship there-saying "stand aside, for I am holier than thou," was shewn to have no religion in his soulwhereas the other, who might have been hucked into pieces had he penetrated even the "outer veil," was held up as an example for the followers of the "Meek and Lowly."

It is not often that we speak of such subjects-and for the reason that it is hardly possible to refer to the tenets or conduct of a religious seot, withont finding a thonsand pens ready "to leaju from" their ink-stands, blackened with all the fury of partizan zeal, and sharpened by the common "danger of the eraft;" and the nost insolent remarks uttered, in the most general terms, are discovered to have sonte direct application to persons or things which never entered the mind of the writer of thembut we would encourage a greater degree of liberality, and a closer observance of what we quaintly call the 121 h com-mandment-"Let every one mind lis own business." Our business, "us we understand it," is to enforce the 11th commandment-"Love oue another." And we do think that deeds, and not worda-the offerings of the heart, rather than of bulls or of rams, or any other outward ceremony or sacrifice, will find acceptance hercafter: when the dust of all men shall be mingled in a common mass of matter-autoerats and emperors, popes and archbishops slalll return to the earth as they were, with the wild Arabs of the desert, and the filthy Hottentots of southern Afrien-and "all without distinction lie." But we have been disgusted with the foul and mslicious things which we have seen published in too many of the religions newspapers, and would enter an humble, but earnest, protest against them all, saying "Let there be peace between you."
"Bulis AND meaiss." It is not long since that speenlations in stocks assumed the shape of an organized business, in any part of the United States-chough allied gangs of "black legs," and other sharpers, including counterfeiters of bank notes, were well known to existfor nearly all, if not all, of the dealings in stocks resulted in actual sales and actual purchases made, as persons wished to change the condition of their eapital, or as they supposed that priees would honestly advatice or declineos individuals sell, or purchase, flour, cotton, tobaceo, sce. in their prospects of the future state of the aetual market. And even yet it will not be easy for sober minded Americaus clearly to apprehend, that persons holding a respectable rank in society, make a regular business of gambling in the stocks, on the same principle that persons bet 100 or 1,000 dollars on the turn of a eard, the cast of a die, or a foot-race between a pair of eockronches! With this difference, however-that the "black-leg," In the gambling houses, proper, or "hells" as they are called inLondon and Paris and other placesperlaps, more fairly, takes the chances of the play, than the stock-jobber on 'change, and may be a less closelyoalculating knave-for the stock-jobber may have more influence on the game which he is playing than the "black-leg." Instance the vile and base procurement, at New York, of a certain message of president Jackson coneeraing the bank of the United States, before it was laid before congress, and the heavy stock transactions which followed that disgusting procecding-a proceeding Thich, even in stock-jobbing London, would have consigned the authors of it, with the actora in It, to public exeeration and universal contempt. It was for less than this, that the banner of lord Cochrane was torn from the wall, and toanpled under foot, and he, himmelf, east out of the compary of loonorable inen. This gross fraud has never been explaimed. The preaident is, ns he must be, acquitted of alf previous knowledge of the matter; but many think that the grossness of it, and the treachery of some in whom he had confided, ought to have caused a strict examination into the facts, as well as a severe and puhlic exposure of all the persons engageal in it.

The taet is that such a body of dealers in stocks as we have described, is in full operation-and to these men nay be fairly ascribed the clief part of the clamor and falsehood whieh has been latterly cireulated coneerning the bank-for the aliment of the slack-jobber in in agitasing the frice of the atock, rusting upon his more perfeet knowleilge of business, as the professed gambler does upon his know ledge of the cards), to turn such agitations to his own advantage. So the buzzard, at a "giddy beight," smells a putrid carcass, to feed on.
We have "bulls and bears" as well on "change at New York, as on 'ehange at london-a class of persons who have atupted not only the cockney terms, but also the cockney rules, for doing "business." They had better have ealled themselves the rooindlera and the nown dled-and then we Americans would lave understood them without the neceasity of referring to an English slang dictionary.
In making these general remarks, we do not wish to be thought as denouncing every such dealer in stocks for a deliberate gambler, or desperate knave. We bope that some exceptions may be found among them. Hut the ordinary manner, and leading motives on which this business is conducted, we think, well deserves, the general character which we have given to it. There is a saying that "speculation is the life of business." It may be so-though we have never practised it in any manner whatever. But if spreculation in substantial things-wach as flour and cotton, "gives life to business"-it is no argument in favor of those processes concerning [not in] the stocks that we have spokeu of-any more than it would be to apply it to foot-races of cockroaches, as suggested above-for the whole business of stoek-jobbing does not add one cent to the earnings of the country; whereas speenlations in flour or cotton, by eneouraging or compelling enterprise, may add to the quantity, or increase the general market for those substantial commodities; and thus a benefit will acerue to the growers of wheat or of cotton-and the circulation of money, which is "the life of business," be rendered more rapid as well as more extensive-resulting in new and substantial invertinents, to be further used in new creations of value. But dealings in the stocks have no substantiality in them. Persons who do not hold a single share contract for the delivery of thousands-and those with whom such contracts are made, offer fresh contracts-without the transfer of a single share of stock, except in some extraordinary case, where the shares contracted for are demanded. It is not possible to believe that there is any public grood in such transactions-or that they furnish a fitting employment for intelligent men. Let every eircumstance be pleaded in their favor that may-it is neither more nor less than sheer gambling.

We have been led to these observations by the facta stated in the following paragraph-which we cut out of a Philadelphia paper a considerable time ago, and have just found in one of our collections of seraps; and, with its insertion, we shall conclude our remarks for the present.

Bulls and bears. These terms, so common among stockholders, and so well understood by them, frequeptly puzzle the uninitiated of the community not a little. They originated in the Loudon stock exchange, where stock-jobbing is carried on to a greater extent than in any city in the world, and where a large tnajority of the transactions have no reference to investmenta, being made altogether on time, and the difference paid on settling day. Bulls are buyers, and bears sellers. In New York, where they endeavor to copy England as mueh ws possible, and esprecially London, a large trade of the sanie nature is carried on, especially in United Stated bank stock. A great strife has prevailed for the last two or three weeks between the two belligerent parties, the balls and the bears, the latter struggling to the utmont to keep the stock down, as they have large, anil still have larger deliveries to make at prices considerubly belowe the selfing rates. The bulls have nothing to do but to watel the manueuvres of their adversaries, as the stock contisunes to rise, in despite of all their efforts to cheapen it. But the worst of all is, that the bulls refuse to sette at the difference, but demand the stock, which requires the bears to make bona fide purchases, and which they must do of the bulls, who keep advancing ou them, or send here, as they lave doue, though without much suceess,
We arg and we abe sot. We are sorry to sec it meutiotued, by a Washington letter writer, that a distinguished offieer of the navy was, sometime since, engaged in speculating in the stock of the bank of the United States, and as if in full communion with the herd engaged in that business-but we are not sorry to learn that he probably sustained a loss of five thousand dollars by thus wandering out of his proper course.

Bankivg in Nxw Yonk! We have a full and long statement of certain things which happened in taking, or assigning the stock of the "Seventh ward bank," in New lork, and enough, indeed, of "bargain, intrigue, corruptiou and managennent!" We lave not roon for the details. The great principle of the politicians of this state -that the "spoils belong to the victors," were never more completely manifested than on the present occasion, as the following bricf notiees will shew:
The number of slares applied for in the 7th ward, was
Do. awarded 13,170
3,710
Refused
The eapital of this bank was to be only $$ 500,000$-but it seems that more than $6,000,000$ were subsoribed, a "glorious speculation!"
Now, of the 3,710 shares assigned to the 7th ward, it sppears that the four bank commissioners, ("providing for their own fanilies"), first awarded 1,135 shares to themselves, their futhers and brothers, sons-in-lazo and brothers in-luw and mothers-in-lav, and sucasivmexyet generously leaving 2,575 for other persons, or more Hant two-thirds of the whole!

Well-the 2,575 shares were thas disposed of-
To public officermof the United States or state or city of New York. . . . . . . . . . ...................... 1,640
To members of the common council. ................. 230
To inspectors of the ward election-(3 persons). ... 115
To members of the ussembly....................... 550
2,535
To THE PUBLIC!!!................................ 40
2,575

" $O$, her-jam satis!',

An application is to be made to the legislature for the repeal of the charter of this bank-but is the "management" alout it more flagrant than in other cases, sinec the organization of that graud machine, the "safert vexu?"

There was, however, one redecming feature in the conduet of the commissioners. They did uot knowingly, it seemis, award one share to the brokers. But still we must say that the right to exclude them, us a body, is rather questionable!

Paics! The price of cotton is rapidly rising. We suppose that the south will not ascribe this to the arrangement alont the tariff, seeing it does not go into effect unstil the end of the present year-and, for several years, will mot have any material effect on our present manufietures of cotton. But coffce, has also risen, though imported eluty free! What will the "philomophers"'say to these things? They are "botherers," whichever way they are turnct-"sstumbling blocks"' to the "wise," but easily understood by practical men.

Tur: uevestrg. According to the data which have been fornished by the returns of revenue acerued at some of the principal ports during the firgt half of the present year, there seemis to be a diminution of about one-shird as compared with the revenue which acerued during the
the same period in 18s9. This is owing to the repeal or reduction of dutics ander the new aets of congress, and oot to any talling off in the amount of importations. But notwithstanding the diminution of duties accruing the present yeur, it would not be surprising if the actual receipts should lee equal te those of 1833 . For, in the first place, a cousiderable part of the duties which accrued in 1832 are payable the prescit year; and in the sceond place, the iutroduction of the cash duties and short eredits under the new laws, will throw a larger amount of payments in the present year than of right belongs to it. The receipts last year, from customs, were $\$ 26,244,44177$. Thic expenses of goverument will not execed $\$ 14,000,000$. Conscquently, if the receipts of the present year shall equal those of $1 \mathrm{ks2}$, there will be a surplus of more than $\$ 10,000,000$, which, added to the balance in the treasury at the commencement of the year, $\$ 4,502,91445$, and $\$ 4,000,000$ from publie lands and other sources, will give a total surplus of more than $\$ 18,000,000$. Deduct $\$ 7,001,69883$, the amount of the national debt at the beginuing of the year, and there will be a clear balance of about $\$ 11,000,000$, which congress will not know what to do with. If we had the control of Uncle Sam's pursestrings, we would, with the consent of the southern states, apply this sum to the gradual extinction of slavery. Next ycar the actual receipts from eustoms will not probably exceed $\$ 15,000,000$ or $\$ 16,000,000$.

Cour. Ef Enq.
(We shall see-"nons verrons!" how nearly these calculations will be realized. There are some "odds and ends" which, we think, have not been brought into the account.)

PuFp-PUTP-PUTF. Flaming handbills are stuck up, says the N. York Gazette, about our streets, offering to teach fifty-two (!) branches of education in a year, at thirty-eight cents each branch. We saw one under which some wag had written:-"Them as larns mannera, twopence more."
OOF It would not be venturing much to say, that the haulbills alluded to were issued by modest foreignera, just imported or exported, as the case may be, and who have had iuterest, or impudence, enough to fill many newspapers with daily puffs. One fellow teaches reading, perfectly, in 12 lessons, to persons who just know the difference between A and Z: another grammar, critically, in $7 \frac{1}{2}$ lessons: others writing, in $6 \frac{1}{4} 7$ lessons; another painting in $5 \frac{1}{2}$ lessons: and many teach-that "fools and their money are soon parted."
Lost mail yound. We learn from the post office in this city, that the mail from New Brunswiek, (New Jersey), which has been missing for two or three weeks, and for which a reward was offered, was received at our post office by the southern mail this morning. It appears from the post bill that this mail had been reoeived at the post office in Cincinnati, (Ohio), whence it was sent to the post office of this city where it should have arrived on the 6th ult!! It is fortunate that this mail has been found, as it exonerates several pesons from unjust suspicions. We are informed that a considerable sum of noney has also been saved; that one letter contained $$ 700$, and others checks, &e. to the amount of more than $$ 2,000$.
[N. Y, Post.
Librilis. There are good aecounts from Liberia.Those who expected that a prosperous colony would be built up at once-were ignorant of the history of every state in this union. Aill such establishments require much nursing, as well as energy of mind, and strength of body-with considerable time-and the pionecrs are al ways the greatest sufferers; but now the colony appeara to be established-and its inhabitants have become aufficiently acquainted with the soil and climate, as well as with one another, to make rapid improvements of their condition, and make daily accessions of strength.
Two of the principal, (colored) offieers of the colony, Mesars. Williams and Roberts, lately addressed a largo meeting at Boston, in aid of the colonization societywhen the following facts appeared-
The perpalation of Liberia is betweent three and four thousand, ilistrihuted in seven settlements along the coase and in the interior of the colony. Its territorial extent is from one hundred and fifiy to two hundred miles in length along the coast, and aloout fifty in breadth. It contains one thousand housce, four schools and six churches, The most friendly relations subsist with the surrounding mative tribes, many of which have placed themselves under its protection, and submitted to its laws.

Mr. Williams, who is lieut governor of the eolony stated that when lie first arrived at liberia, it was nearly a wilderness. -'I'here were but a few inhabitants, abil these furnished with nothing but miserable luts for habitations. They were surrounded with enemies on every side, among the native tribes-and by the more infernal for, the slave trader. Slave factories were numerous along the coast, and one was locateal within a few miles of Monrovia. Yet he felt that there he muulil enjoy the privileges of a freeman, anl leceletermined to adopt it as his home. He accordingly returned to America for his family, with whom he soon after establisheal himeelf in Liberia. He drew a brief but srikiug sketeh of the condition of the country then, when they were obliged to sleep on their urms, whll the fearful anticipation of midnight rassacre, and rejoiced when the monning sun beamed upon the unbroken slumber even of infancy. The slavers were abroal on every side, aud even in the harbor of Monrovia, several slave ships were often at auchor at once. Yet in this feeble and perilous condition they resolved upon the bold attempt of storming the slave factory in their neighborhood. In the white man's land, mueh an exploit might have been called chivalrous. Mr. Williams headed the party, and the enterprise was completely successful. Thise fort was taken by storm, and a large number of imprisoned slaves liberated. Mr. Willians contrasted those times with the jre'sent situation of the country-w ith a propulation inereased thirty fold, at peace with, aud thenaclves the protectorn of the surrounding trative tribes, enjoying the ineans of moral and literary improvement, and posscesning all the comforts of life. He gave a favorable account ni the inovals of the colonists. During all his residenee in the colony, he liad not seen more than two or three resirlents drunk, and liad heard more profaneness since he left bome a few weeks ago, thau during the whole priod of his mhotle there.
Mr. Roberts confirmed the statements of Mr. W. coneerning the eondition of the colony. 'Ien thousand natives of the adjoining tribes were under its protection and laws, and it had friemully intercourbe and communication with more than one lsundred thonsund in the interior. The commerce was considerable and inereasing. "The exports of the last year anounted to $$ 70,000$, and those of the present year would probably be more than $$ 1(0), 0 x 0$. The slave taffic lad been completely abolishod He ree pelled, as totally untrue, the cliarge, which has been cireulated in this country, that the colonists connived at the traffic, and even furnished the traders with slases. He said that a slave ship had not been seen in the harbor of Monrovia for many a year. They dare not cast anchor in its waters. Nor is there a slavefactory within one hunired and fifty miles of the colony on cither side. To that extent the traffic is completely abolished.

The eolony, lie snid, is jrosperous and inervasing, and the day is not far distant, when the flag of Liheria will wave in the harbors of Anerica anl Eiogland. Then poliey, if not justice, will persuade America and Eingland to respect us.

Mr. Stciart'к toca. A certain Mr. Stuart has maile a book called "Three years in. Imerica." It very mueli differs from other monufuctures about us and our country. Mr. S. evidently meant to be honest-and to speak of things as they were, or, at least, as they appeared to him.

We meet with the following notiee of the book alluded to-

Mr. Stunart did not ser a beggar in Boston, or a pereon staa was not well dressed. His observation just comes contemporaneonsty before the public with a paragrajith in the country newspapers, whish teltm un that at Oft Bosion, in Otd Figgisnd, where the population amounts to 13,000 upwards of 5,000 are paupera in the receipt of parish pay.
$03^{-1 t}$ should have been alded, however-that, though there are no "beggars" in our Boston, there are a few "paopers"-perliaps, to the amount of ilie half of one per e*nt. of the whole population, trgand being lad to satives of all New England.

Lotrenies 1x THIs cocistay. It appearn from the statenuents colleeted in Mr. Gordon's able discouree, that although the lottery trade is prohibited by the la wo of this state, the yearly traffic in 1 loston alone, probably amounts to more than a million of dollars; and that, 25 per cent. being allowed for commission, the profits may be rated at $$ 250,000$, which, divided among 50 dealers in this city, makes a yearly ineome of $$ 5,000$ to each. It is believed that the business is so systematically arranged, that the eity is divided into distriets, and persons aprointed in each, to board vessels just arrived, visit eertain bar-rooms, cellars and other resorts, and contrive means generally for the good of the tiade.

In the city of New York, accorrling to the presentment of a grand jury, made Nov. 12, 1830 , the number of lotterics drawn during the year jurevious was 59 -with $1,857,000$ tickets, amounting at the seheme price, to mine millions two hundred and seventy thousond dollars.

13ut, says Mr. G. to ascertain, as near as may be, the anomut of tickets sold in varions states, the best data, that ean be casily obtained, are furnished by the number of schemes drawn in a year in each state, and the value of them. We presume the following atatement may be relied upon as very nearly correct, in regard to the lotteries authorised by the following stutes, in 1832:

States anthoriaing

lotlerics.
New York,
Virginia
Connectieut
Ithorle Island,
1 Pennsy Ivania,
Delaware and N. Ca- ?
rulina, (joint grants) $\}$
Maryland,
Dclaware,
N8. of classes.
80
7 E
88
78
88
68
26
37
18 32
. Im't of tickets at

Aggrogate in 9 states, $4: 0$ ucheme prices.

In $\quad $ 53,136,930$ and several of the souticris states have Island praned of 59 elusse have others. Khode tax the granted one of 32 elasses last month, whieh will of these, the sum above named, with the addition of 85 per eent. Lrokerage, makes an amount of sixty-six millions four hundred and troenty thousand dollars.- that is, of five times the sum of the annual expenses of the American government, and of acarly three times the whole yearly revenue!
[Boston , IIer. Jour.
Friente' thal in 'Takntos, N. J. The court of crrors and appeal m-composed of the goveruor and memleres of council, one from each county in the state-conrencd yesterday, and organized for business, the eause for argument being the inportant case between the two parts of the society of Friends commouly called Orthodux anal Hicksites, involving the right to the possession of certain propicrty. In conserpucnice of the absence of Ceorge Woorl, one of the counsel for the Orthodox, the eourt arljourned over to this morning; when all the members of the cout appeared, except two-Mr. Board, of Hergen, and Mr. Carter, of Wurren county. The cause was then opened by Gartett D. Wall, who read the pleadings filed in the ease, ou the part of the Hicksites. He was followets by Ceorge Wood, who read those filed on the part of the Orthodox, which oceupied the court near ty two hours. He was followed by S. I. Southard, who real the interpleatings on the part of the IFicksites

The menbers of the eourt, with the goverwor, sitting in this case, are-1)r. Clowson, vice president of eouneil, of Salem; juclye Wood, of Morris; Peter 1. Clark, of IIunterdon; 1. Townscud, of Cape May; James S. Green, of Somerset; Daniel IHolmes, of Mouniouth; Wm. Cham: jion, of Burlington; Wm. Merkle, of Sussex and I. T. MeJowell, of Middlesex: two members being absent; and two-J. Kaighn, of Gloucester, and 1. H. Williamson, of Fssex-being ineligible to a seat in this suit, the first being a member of the society of Friends, and the last being one of the eounsel for the Orthotox. There is no member of couneil from Cimberland besides the governor, who was elected to council, and afterwards appointed governor.

It is yet unectain when the regular summing up of the pleadisigs of the counsel will eommence. If the reading of evidence, whieh is very voluminous, is dispensed with, It will probably be opened hy G. D. Wall, on the patt of the Hicksites, thia afternoon, or to-morrow morning, He will be followed by George Wood and the hou. Theodore Frelinghuysen, on the part of the Orthodox; and the whole will be closed by the hon. S. L. Soutlarid, on the part of the Hieksites.

Great interest is felt, both on account of the importance of the trial and the very high stmadiag and talents of the counsel, on both sides of the question. In aldition to the above named gentemen, who will take part in the argmment, I. I1. Williarnson assists in preparing and arranging the ease on the part of the Orthodox. The conct meets regularly at 9, A. M. and 3 , P. M. sitting six hours each day. The seeretary of the court, judge Wentcoat, has taken pains to lave the supreme coart roone fitted up in a very cowvenient manner for the ocension. This room is very large and airy, and eapable of containing a large number of spectutors; althoygh numbers are now here from Philadelphia and the alljouing counties, yet hundreds more might be aecommodated without inconvenience.
[Philada. Gaz. July 17.
Ma. Ravpolph's will. We understand that Mr. Randolph's papers have been ransacked, ant that uo will of a later date has been found. The public curiosity has been so much excited upon this subject, that we may be exensed for noticiog the present state of the facte, as wo understand them.
Judge Leigh is said to lave in his possession, two wills in Mr. R's hand writing-the lat is dated in January, 1829; the ofl in March, 1832.

The 1 st directs his slares to be manumitted, and makes provisions.for their maintenatice, and we believe, removal, under the superintentenee of tishop Mcade, and of Francis S. Key, esq.-and hequealies the resitumm of his estate to judge leigh. This will is said to have been subsequently "cancelled" by Mr. R. and his signature to have heen cut out.

The 2 d will makes no provision for the manumission of his slaveg-and its principal legacies are, 1. $\$ 10,000$ to judge Henry St. G. Tucker. 2 . $\$ 10,000$ to julge Leígh. 3. $\$ 5,000$ to John Randolyh Leigh, a young son of juige L_ 4. Gascoigne and a filly and some plate to Mr. John Wickham. 5. Two fillies and a pair of candlesticks to Mr. Macon. 6. His carriage and horses, and some French plate, to Dr. Brockenhrough-and the residue of his estate to the ehlest son of his niece, Mra. Bryant, of Gloucester, a daughter of judge Coalter-with the reversion, in case of the death of the boy, ahout 20 months old, withont heir, to the ehtest son of juige $\mathbf{I I}$. St. G. 'Tueker-and in ease of his death, to the judge's next son, \&c. \&e.
This last testament will probally be offered for prolate to the next Charlotte court. It may perhaps be contested by the trustees for the slaves, upon the ground that the first will may be goon-or, it may perhaps be conteated by other jarties, upon the ground, that neither of the wills is good-and in this case, that the whole property should be distrihuted according to the provisions of the act of assembly.
It in probable, indeed, that the subjeet may give rise to some litigation-io which case, it may breome hereafter the duty of the court of appeals to decide the whole matter.
[Richmand Enquirer.
Eacape or slates. As the James Fisher, a regtalar trader from Richmond to the northern ports. was lying at Rocketts, on last Satarday evening, the 27 ll nilt. four slaves got on board and concented themselves in the hold of the ressel. She was deeply larlen with coal bounil to Newark. In the conrse of that night or the next morning, she sailed-ankl some time during the day, (Souday) a knoeking was heard on the ceiling of the ileck. On raising the hatches, thrce of the negroes rushed out, one of whom jumpert into the river. On putting oot the small boat, the swimming fellow was taken in. It was then diseovered that the fourth slave, belonging to M-sars Worthain & Magruder, of this citv, hall heeome suffocated in the close air of the vessel. The eaptain of the James Fisher, with the negroes, returnel on Sunday evening, in the steamboat Potomac, and delivered them up to their owners. The captain and erew most positively diselaim all knowledge of the intended plan of their escape. As several eases of this description have recently oecurred, it becones essentially necessary to ardopt the most efficient police regulation to prevent their reputition.
[Riclomond Enquirer.
Destacctivk, rheat Waterponn, N. Y. Waterford, (Suratoga co. ) July gtb. We have jusi subdued one of the inost rumons fires which has ever been visited upon our village. Almost the entire part of the town, upon which our extensive mechanica! and manufacturing operations were catrical on, is now in ruins. The loss is immense, and falls ulmost entircly on that enterprising elass of our cinizens which constitute the life of all onr business operations. The fire was thecovered in the new machineshop of Kimball \& (Yo. about 2 o'elock this morting, and before the citizens had collected to much extent, the roof had tumbled in, and the fire had communieated to the shop of Messrs. King, Wiog \& (\%. on the south, and Messrn. Ohney, Amhler \& Mmor, on the north; the last contained almin $8,1 \mathrm{~m}()$ dollars worth of machinery-losa very heavy. From thenee it enught to the roof of Water ford cotton factory, and raged with such violenoe, that before we coalh arrest its progress, the two upper stories, with almost the entire muchinery, and much valuable property, was either consunsed or dashed to pieces, in the attempt to save it from the devouring element. The walls of this great buildieg remuin almost mabroken, only to give ${ }^{\text {non }}$, desolation. The Fire Engiue Maoufucturing company, are sufferers to a considerable extent, say ith all, four or five thousaml dollars. The company of Oloey, Amhler E. Miner, abont $\$ 10,000 ;$ Mr. Blake 2,000 ; and the cotton factory $\$ 15$, who: besiles, nome ciyht or ten different branches, which were carried on in the sane baildings, of more or less impontance. The loss amounting in all to from forty to fifty thonsuad dallars.

Ahout fors huadred industrions moclanics are dependent unon the mercy of the public for employment in consequence of the fire.

- Mbany Eve: Jour.

Sater of pentic lanns. The sales of public lands in Michigan twritory during the quarter eoding the 29th Junt, amount to about two hundred and five thousand dollater, as follows:

At Monroe  $$ 90,000$  1)etroit, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . .79,000  White Pigeou,.. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 86,000

The aceession which has been male to the population of Michigan since the npeniug of mavigation this season, may be rstionated at between 5,000 aud 6,000 . There is Gut little doubt but that cest year the population of this territory will eatide us to cuter the nnion as a free and sovercign state.
[Detroit Journal.
From the "ratu west.". The steanboat Assineboine, B. Pratte, jr. master, a rised on Thursday night last, from the mouth of the Yellow Stone, with a full eargo of furs, skins, &e. for the American fur company. By this arrival, we leam, that the stcamboat Jellow Stone lost three of her hands and a pilot, by the cholera, while aseending the river, near the month of the Kmasas. We also learn, that fumine-A culamity more dreadful than the cholera-lhreatens the inhahitants of the immense region of the Upper Missouri. No buffalo had appeared upon the plains of that eonitry doring the past spring; and the Indians, in the thriftess econony which governs them at all tinica, were in ennsopucrece destitute of the meats of sulsistence. Eisen the trathers ware compelled to subsist on Buffilo tongtes, (oltained during a preceding season), atol eorn; and the voyageurs land not this fare allowed to them. No one has, we helic.re, protended to acconnt for this disappesranse of the imamense herds of buffaln whivh eosered those regions, It was observed, hy persmens whon were in the Assincboine, and who hare beer in the habit of navigating the Missouri, that points at which vast numbers of hufalu had always been known to herd, were ileserted, or but a aingle one dow and then seen.
[. H isentri Republican.
Officena of the hate war. A mecting of a number of the officers, who served in the late war, with Great Britain, was beld at Columbas, O. on the 8th ult. when a resolution was passerl, appointing a committee of three, to draft a memorial to congress, asking a grant of land, in consideration of their services and sacrifices-and that the committee respectfully solicit the co-operation of the Ohio delogation in congress, in obtaining a just remuncration as aforesaid. And that said committee, Genrge Kesling, John McElvain and William Ihoherty, correspond with officers and committees of other states, interested in the subjeet.

Sailing of the Delaware. The U'nited States ship of the line, Delaware, capt. Baťard, sailed from Hampton Roads on the 30th ult. for New York, with a fresh southerly breeze, which will probably take her to that port in 30 hours. On Monday, the president of the $\mathbf{U}$. States, and his suite, paid a risit to the Delaware, and were attensled through the ship ly capt. Ballard and his officers. The president expressed in warm terms his artmiration of the interior wonders of this prodigious floating eastle, its superior style of equipment, and the high sate of discipline observenl in every department. At going on board, and leaving the ship, he was compliinented with a salute of 21 guns-although he had signified his wish to dispense with that oeremony.

Siveglar phenomixot. A cortespondent of the Buffalo Bulletin, gives the following aecount of an uncommon occurrence which took place In Genesce county, on the &Oth of June:
Between two and three o'clock in the morning, there was heard by several of the inhabitants of the towa of Java and Shelilon, Genesec county, a remarkable roaring, resembling that of a "rushing mighly wincl," accompanied with a trembling motion of the earth for a considerable extent. It was so considerable, that some removed the glass and earthenware from their shelves to prevent its breaking. In the morning there wan discovered on the farm of Mr. J. Sykes, in the north part of the town of Java, a remarkable breach in the earth, extending from Seneea creek, west, across a small flat of a few rods in extent, up the side of a hill, the slope of which was about twenty drgrees, making it in the whole to be about forty or forty-five rods in length. It was 20 rods wide at the end next the creek, 13 at the mildle, and 16 at the upper end, where the earth was sunk from 25 to 30 feet, while it was raised about 20 feet above the bottom of the creek at its lower end, making the highest point at the creek uearly as high as the lowest depression at the other extremity. The bed of the ereek was raised abont 20 feet ahove and carried about 3 rods beyord its former situation. The ground was thrown into ridges from 2 to 10 feet high. A considerable portion of the surface has entirely disappearcol, press-nting in its stead several strata of different kinds of earth. Trees, stumps and $\log s$ were earried 12 or 15 rods. A small grove of timber, some of which was 20 inches through, was carried the above distance, zome standing, some broken down, and some torn op by the roots. Ia some instances, logs and other pomlerous sulantances, that were in contact, were separatell six or eight roils, and others before at a diatance, were thrown together. There are many conjectures concerning it, but no one can satisfactorily secount for $i t$.

A patnanch. Died at Hickory Hill, in Baltimore county, on the $22 d$ inst. Mr. William Thompson. This venerable man, on the first day of February last, hail attained the very advanced age of 111 years. He was born in SL. Mary's eount, Md. spent the greater portion of his life in Frederick county, and moverl, last fall, to Baltimore county, where he died. He left eleven or twelve children, the eldest of whom was living last summer, and is beliered to be atill in existence, at the ailvanced age of 91 -his youngest son surviving is 25 years of age. The subject of this notice was distinguished for his lionesty and temperance. He has been heard to say, that in the course of his long life he had never used a gallon of ardent epirits, and had never been intoxicated but onee, and then from Jrawing cider. He nercr was confined to his house until three ilays previous to his leath, and enjoyed hls sight and liearing to the close of his life. He usever required the use of spectacles, and as reeently as the past summer, walked the distance of two miles to a son's house and back to his home In the same day.

Geologacal aunvex. Messes. Iucatel, Alexander and Tyson, the gentlemen appointed by the exceutive, in pursuance of a resolution of the last house of delegatem, to make a geologieal surver of the state, reached Fredericktown, on Saturday evening last, on their return from Washington and Allrglany counties. They are now engaged in exploring the neighboring county of Montgoneery, from whence thoy will proceed to Ba!timore, and soon after contemplate agaín visiting our county, with a view to a more extencled and minute survey. We learn from them that they have discovered the most finttering Indications of great mineral wealth in Alleghany county -and that that heretofore negleeted part of the state is probably destined one day to become the Wales of Maryland, vielding iuexhaustible supplics of iron and comal.

Various speculations have been for some time on foot In regard to the existence of coal and other mineral proituels, in the monntains in the vieinity of Frenterick, and it is stated that an examination is now in progress in the neighbortiood of the Vellow Spring. When Mesmes. Ducatel, Alexamaler and Tyson revisit the comutry, they will probably emleavor to aseertain whether the expectations of the coal hunters are well founded. [Examiner.

A "Eextiable tentle," In the year 1816, Mr. Jonathan Worthington, of West Springfield, found a turtle upon his premisiss which had "J. W. 1717" marh-ed-evidently cut with a peaknife-upon the umler shell. The turtle was set at liberty, after evamination; and again found in 1823; again in 1828; again in 1829; and a few llays since in 1833. The father, grandfather and great gramilfather had the same given name with the present Jonathan Worthington, who thinks that the great grandfather marked the turtle. The turte is of the species commonly called the box turtle, having the upper shell very crowning, and the lower shell flat, with a joint in the centre, with which this amphibions, when alarmed, closes his entire body in his shell in a elose and compact manner. The "venerable" gentleman, if the date in correct, must of course be upwards of 116 years old, snd is said to he as active as any of the young fry of the same species which is generally to be met with.
"What's all the best on't," the farm upon which the present Mr. Worthington lives, has heen in possession of the four several Jonaihans, and the "renerable" has always been found within a few rods of the same apot; which indicates that, whatever may have been his observations for the lant century, his traie-ls have not been very extensive.

Spring field (Ms.) Journal.
Santa Ficanayan. Letters from some of our tradera, as late as the 20th June, lave been received in this eity. They were then assembled at the Diamond Grore, about 160 miles from Indepenilence, in this state. On the 19 th, an election for officers was held. Mr. C. Bent was elected to the captaincy; Messrs, Iegrave, Barnex, Smith and Branch, lieutenants. There were one hundred and eightyfour men belonging to the experlition, and ninety-three wagons, carriages anil dearborns attached to it, sixtythree of which were loasled with goods. The company had suffered very much from the bailness of the roods, caused by the great rains which had fallen there, as every where clse. We liave unlerstood, though the letter we have seen does not allnile in it, that the traders are under the escort of a company of rangers. [St. Louis Rep.

Monemext to Canuya. Fxtract of a letter dated Rome, March 8: "Last Monday week cardinal Galeff visited the capital, for the purpose of inspecting the picee of sculpture erected to Canorn's memory. The work was enstrusted by the late pontiff to Fabris, the seulpor, who has acquitted himself in a way highly ereditable to his talents. On the pedestal of the memorial"is senlpture in the act of embracing painting and architectore, and mourning with them over the loss of their favorite. At her feet reelines the genius of harmony, contemplating hor stringleas lyre. Canora is represented aitting, ree elining against a bust of Minerva, but as if on the point of rising from his seat, under the inspiration of some suctilen conception, which lue is desirous of perpetuating with his chisel.

A voble tailos. The great Mr. Stulez, tailor, in Clifford street, who retired to France a few years ago, and was ereated baron Stultz, died on the 17 th November, at his estate called Airca, in the south of France. This estate cost him upwards of $\mathrm{E} 100,(000$. He had another large estate near Baden-on-the-Rhine. About a year ago the baron sent the emperor of Austria a present of $£ \$ 0,000$, to do with it what he plessed, for which present he received in return the order of Maria Theresa, and the patent as count Gothenburg. The baron had great wealth in the bank at Vieuna, (Rothschild's). His property, besides these estates, exeeeded $\$ 400,000$.
[London puper.

BRIEF NOTICES.

Commodore Chauncey has arrived in the city of Washington, and proceeded to the discbarge of bis duties as one of the commiasioners of the Navy Board.
B. W. le Elos, esq. of Va. has been formally nominated as a candidate for the presidency, by a public meeting at Mecklenburg court bouse, Va. on the 15 th ult. Maj. T. M. Nelson preaided at the meeting, and O. Good acted as secretary, the hon. Wm. Mark Alexander made the nomination in a seriea of reWm. Mark Alexamder made the nomination in a serf Clough, the murderer of Mra. Hamilton, was execnted aceordIng to his sentence, at Mount Hully, in the state of New Jersey on Friday the with ultimo.
On Tuewday night last, the schnoner Volunteer, capt. Morgan, was capsized off the mouth of Severn, near Annapolis. The crew were taken from the wreck on Weduesday morning by the sehooner Voinnt, capt. Post, of Staten Island and earried to that city with the vensel, towed in by the latter schooner. One of the hands of the Vnlunteer, a lad, in conseqnence of his anfferinge on the wreck is not expected to survive.

The "Courier de la Louisiane," of the 13th ult. states that the two steamboat that carry the United States mail between New Orieans and Mobile, have both burst their boliers. "The aceident occurred to one in the beginning of the week, and to the other yesterday-we understond the engineer was killed, and two other men slightly wounded. The contractors, we hope, will Immediately supply thsir places."

A Mr. McAdams, of Clermoat county, Ohin, was married In May last to his fift wife. The springbeld Ploneer states that ha is the fatber of twenty seven children.
Mrs. Hazleton, a lady residing in Concord, New Hampshire, has reached ber hundredth yemr, aud is represented an being in good health.
The president of the United States len Washington on the 26th instant, it the steamboat Columbia, on a visit to the litip Rap*, for the benefit of hiv health.

Sir thonwand five bundred letters were received at the powt office In New York on the 22d Instant, the whole of whinh were either delivered or mailed for their place of destination before 5 o'clock in the afternoon of that day.
A man by the name of John Ilaggerty, who resides in Frankin Place, Philadetphia, stahbed the wife and wife's Nister on Baturday last, white under the infuence of Intosication. The alarm being given, several cllizrne rubbed fin, wben Ilaggerty placiug himself on the stairs threatened destruction to any one who should ascend. A young mant matle the attempt and was wounded in the face. Another seizing the opporiunity rushed behind Hagrerty and knocked him down with a poricr bottie. He was then seized and ennveycd, cavered with blood, beforea magistrate, and commitind in prison. The wounded persons wore aaid to be dning well on sunday morning.
Charies Martin liaker lef Philadelphia on the 19 h att. In the 3 o'elock boat, on a vipit in Balitmore, in company witha young man named Wilkins to return the Monday fittowing. Wilkinn has returned and repiresente that he had not seen Baker since the aveniag of the 2 lat nitimn. The Intter is asid to have had two hundred doilars with him. He in a native of Marshfield, Maspachusetis.
Mr. Amos Kendall has been appointed ngeat of the govern. ment of the United States, by the secretary of the treasury, under the direction of the president, to collect information from the state banks in the principal Atinntic cities with regard to the withdrawal of the depositen from the bank of the U'nited Atates.
Melancholy. Mr. Joseph Ingham, wine merchant of this city, threw hinself on Thursday evening the 25 th ult. out of him room in the third story in the Tremont bomse, and fell upon the Iron poluts of the ralling on the south aide of the huilding, three of which penetrated hls side and and back. He had exhiblted for some days symptome of mental alienation, in which state of mind he must have taken the perilous leap. He was alive last evening, but his situation is extremely critical.
(Boston Atlas.
Four prisoners made their esenpe from the Jail in Washingtnn elty on the night of the 23d Inst. hy sawing out a part of the ceiling and working their way through the roof-a reward of one hundred dellara to offered for their apprehension.

An attempt was made yesterday by several of the convicts is the Maryiand penitentiary, to effuct their escape. We learn that three of the th succeeded in scaling the yard wall, by means of a rake whicb ta used fur cleansing the eewers, Thim they fasten ed upon the rall of the parapet and ascended the handie. Ona of the men leaped to the ground on the ouside of the prison, but was sood apprehended and returued by the persons in the neigbborhood. The other two were takes on the wall, by the otticert of the unatitution.
A valuable salt apring has been diecovered by boring near Pittsburgh, on the opposite side of tha Monongahela river. The depth reached by tus process was 627 feet, and the atream of salt water rises to a height of thirty feet ahove the level of the carth, and at the rate of seven thousand gallons in 24 hours, of etrength sutlieient to make twelve or fifeen barrels of salt
A fire broke out at lthies, N. Y. On the night of the 14tis nithmo. I'he loss is estomated al from 60 to 80,000 dollars; insurance on the wame to the amount of $$ 30,000$.
A portmanter in Maine lias been fined by the supreme eonrt of What state, zer0 for the detention of a letter by one of his elerke. A package of 88,600 was recently missing from a trunk at Doolit!le's tavern, in Boston, whew a seatch took place, and the money found between two beds, where, it is presumed, the person en tranted with it, put it hitmself for greater anfety.
An ingenious piece of mechanism has been invented by young Louls Napoleon Bonaparte, for the firing of urtillery. It afforda the important advantages of firing the guns in the wetest weather, withont priming them, with much greater expedition than usual, and with perfect certeinty and safety. Eixperimients have been made in this country since hta arrival, and bave completely succeeded.
A vistior at Long Branch, from the city of Philadelphin, lost his life on Monday last, by an aet of indizcretion, which we mention as a caution to others. Afier eating a hearty dinner, he foolishly ran a race from the boarding house to the beach. He immedtately stripped, and while in a state of profuse persplration, went into the surf to bathe. In a few moments be was seized with a crainp in the stomach, and thougt medicni assint. ance wan promptly tendered he died in the course of the day. The Individual was Dr. Mangas, a Freach gentleman.
[Phil. Gazrtte.
The harvest in Ohio to maid to be exceilent, and that there never was a greater promise of fruit in that state.
It is stated in the Raleigh Register that $n$ saw mill was erected near London in 16:3, but was afterwards demolisined In order that it might not deprive the laboring poor of emplnyment.
The jail in Detroit has been twice attempted to be set on Are, of tate. Suspleton, saye the Detroit Courier, reats upon the hacke.
Two young men by the name of Jamea and Jolin Taylor, while engaged in blasting rocks on the 23d Instant, at a quarry uear Port Drpmalt, were dreadfully mangled hy a premature explosion. Jaines Taylor survived but a fuw hours, and John la much burt, though his wound are net considered dangerous. It is supposed that he will lose his eye sight.
Mr. Parkins, nx-sheriff of Londnn, against whom several libel cases were pending in the city of New Ynrk, was tried on ons of them last week. The damages were laid at $£ 25,000$. Mr. P. conducted his own defence and was inost profuse in his abuse. The jury returned a verdict of 6 cents damazes.

The legielature of Georgia have passed a law, forbilding the employment of any slave of free pursinn of color, an a composi tor, (type setter) in olly printing office in that state, under a penalty of & 10 for every day during any part of which the said biack should be tha* mulawfuly employed.
At Buffalo, on Saturday the 13th, a stnrm of wind and hail destroyed 10 or 12,000 lights of glass, beside blowing down snmi old buildings in the ruburbs of the town. The wenther is oaid thure to be "remarkably cold for the spason."
The Mississippistate bonds to the amonnt of $$ 1,500,000$, bearing six per cent. intereat, from the lat of March last, redeemable in thirty three years, have been purchased at $113 \%$ per eent. by Measra. Prime, Ward, King & Co., T. Biddle & Co., S. & M. Allen, J. D. Beers & Co. and others.

FOREIGN NEWG.

From London and Parls papers of the 146 h to 94 h of June. Onfat britalis and inelano
Mr. C. Grant, on the 13th June, brnught before the house of commons, in a speceh of great length, the propositions of government for regulating the affairs of the East India company.
The fullowing resolntions have been adopted in the houee of commone on the bill for the aholition of slavery in tha British colnnies, the second resolution passed by a vote of 286 to 77.
"]. That immediate and effectual measures be taken for the entire abolition of slavery throughout the colnsies, under auct provisions for regulating the condition of the negrops as may combine their welfare with the interests of the proprietors.
"4. That it is expedient that all cbildren born after the paseIng of any act, or who shall be under the age of aix years at the time of the passing any act of parlimment fir thia purpose, be deciared free: subject neverthelest, to anch temporary restrietions as may be deemed necessary for tbeir support and mainteunnce.
"3. Thnt all permona now slaves shall be registered as apprenticed laborers, and acquire thereby ail rights and privileges of freemen; subject to the restrietinn of inboring, nudar eondlition for a time to be dxed by parliameat, for their present owners.
"4. That, towarils the compensation of the proprictors, hin majesty is enabled to grant to them a suin not exceeding $\boldsymbol{\varepsilon} 20,000,000$ sterling, to be appropriated as parliantent shall diect
" 5 . That his majesty be enabled to defray any such expense as be may incur in eatahishing an ethecent stipendiary nugintracy in the colonies, and in adding the local legislatures in pioviding upon theral and comprehensive principles for the religious and moral education of the negoo poppulation to be emanelpated."
Howne of lorif. Fast India charter. Lard Fllenborough inguired how the qumstion on the alove subject was to be introduced to the house?
Earl lirey-by meane of resolutions.
Lord Ellepborough then inquired if a similar course was to be purnued reaperting the West India measure.
Eant Grey said reatutions had alrcady been proposed In the other house, and that a bill founded thereon would fillow.
The house, on the 1'th of June, weut Into coumitiee on the Irish the aet, when lord Althorp proposed a resolution to the efiect that an advance should be mate to the elergy of Iriland, in lies of all arrcars of tithes in 1031, 18:52 and 1e33, and that the money should be repand by a land tax on those lands for wbich the tithos were in arrear.

The plan of the gnvermment as stater by the clianmifine of the exchequer, with rgaril to the bithen ill arrmar, is ta stop their exaction to grant a anm of money to the elengy in lira thenrof, Whith is to be repaid to the gnvernment by a tax upan the tand Hable to the payment of tithes, but which have not been paid. This will shif the burthen from the tenant to the landlofil. Sir nell, of conree. The first proposition subinitted by loril Althurp was agreed to, and the debite u;pon the other resolutiona was adjourned over.
"It in said that his majesty, as the bead of the church, has addressed a strong letwic of remonstranec, through the archbishop of Canterbuiy, to the betucho of bishopa, and especially to the sif or seven, whin thstinguished the-usarlves by thicir vote on the Portnguese question, relative to their conduet under the present critical circumatances of the nation, expresping his kurprise that they should expone sheunctres to the imputation of aeting from sethrh and worblly motives, sacritieing all claim to the reapect of the religinus eomminity, and expoving the church to the danger of lostag ita intluence, by their being ultumately driven by the power of public npiuion from their seats it parlia ment, If their votes, as spiritual peers, were not regulated by more diseretion and attention to the signs of the times!"
It is etated in the London Times that the tory perrage, alided by the bishops, will make another attempt to overthrow the Grey ministry by defeating the Irieh church reform bill, which ft is feared can only be dereated by the ereatinn of new peers, as the majority of the tory party in the upper house cannot anoun to lean than finy. The king is said to be averse to this muasure
Mr. O'Connell liad given notice that he should bring forward a motion for the repeal if the union.

On the same day, on the second reading of the duke of Richmond's Quakers' and Moravians' affirustion bill, the binhop of I, nndon took oecasion to make some remaiks upon the want of onlemnity in the administration of oaths in that conntry, and the unifecessary use of thinse solemin obligations. "The right rev. prelate said that he considered that nine tentins of the municipal oaths ought to be alohished, and a simple aflirination substituted; the alon objected to administering oaths to permons not of age, except in judiclal cases, and he gave notice of his intention to direct the attention of partiament to the subject lit the next setation.
The lord chancellor and lord Braley fully concurred in the views of the bivhop of Lendon.

Iu the bonse of commons, Mr. Tennymnn gave notice nf his intention in move a call of the bouse on the thl of July, to take into consititeration the expediency of trimnial parliaments.

Mr. Ewart, on the same day, presented a pretition from the merchants and ship owners of Liverpoot, spaying for the thmoval of alt restictions upon the importation of augar for the purpose of refiuing. The petitions sint-d that the exports of Britush inanufacturea and produce to Biazil, St. Thmingo, Cuba, &e. excred by five fold thase to our West Indis colonies, with a field for untimited extension, whilst our inaporta adutted to consmmption from those comntries do not ammunt th one fousth the value of our exports. The p-titioners estituated the lose to the value of our revenue and commenc: of the country by the present re the revenue and commonc: of the country by the present re strictive system, of bountios actually paid ont of the treasury, by indirect taxation, by the rentranint unan the eonsumption, and upon the extenfion of commerce and manufactures, at fully C $5.000,000$, annulaliy.

Mr. Freyel mowed for lanve to bring in a bill to repeal the enrn lawa. Ho was seconded hy Mr. Hume. The motion was rejected by a mnjority of 25 .
Iondon, Jume 24. The ssate of the manket for the principal ataple artictra of trati: and commerce, is exeecdingly favorahle, and prlena have g-neraliy advanced. The epirit of apeculation and conflenen in the future condition of trade has revived, and business to a grent extrint is doing in meatly all the articles.

Collon. A week of heavier business has not scenrred in the Liverponi entton market for moine time. On one day 10,000 baga were sold. We are not allthorised, by any eommunlcation wo hare meen, to state that they are overrunning business in the manufacturing diatricts, but we apprebend that to be the ease, and are denirnus therefore of dirowing out a warming bint upong the anbject, because we think the estrandinary activity of the cotton maiket would not coutinue, if manufacturers were paying due attention to the demand.
Ireland still remains in a taghly exeited condition on aeconat of the collection of tithew, and in many instances of late the civil authonty have fuund it necessary to calt in targe detachments of the miltary to their aid.
bhance.
Prince Talleyrand had sold bis splendid collection of paint. inge preparatory to his leaving Londion for Paris, which was to have taken place on the 20th of June. It was contidently belicered that he wonld nut return again as ambasuador.
The duchess of Berri had been therated and taken her departure for Palermo, accompanted by general Bugeaud, a nurse and her ehild.

In France a diseovery has been made of the existence of a secret tribunal of the most appalling description, and which sceems to have been formed on the moilat of the sacred reane of W'estphatis. It was instituted by the Italian refugees in Fiance, and has led to the must horribte assassinatsons. It serves to show that the fieuds of Italian freedora, hke the fiends of thberty every where else, are mjured and discredited by weak, funious and unprincipled pirtimans.

At the *itiug af the elianiber of deputies on the 18th wit. M. Benjamin Delcasert sabll that he was charged by the committee, and Intruated with the esaminaton of the bill relative to the treaty with the United states, to expresn ith regret that the late proriod of the seasioti at which the bill had been presented, and the numerous important points involved in the examination, rendried it limpossible to tunke the report this session: but the conimittre was most ansious that a treaty should be terminated which proserved the commercial relations so highly important to the intereste of wush old allies as France and the U. States.

Gcn. Lafayrtic thus "prike:-The rapidity, gentlemen, of our work, athd Che sentiment of a double duty, impel me to say a frw words. An Alicrican tieaty (exclamation from the centre) wan laid b:fore you, witt the specech from the thrube at the commencement of the seswion. I do not inean to dwell upon the varinus canses of drlay that have supervened, but will conflue miself to what was presented to you the other day by the minister of finamee. I wilt nat either, gentlemen, expatuate upots the scutiments of national bonor and justice, of of what in beenuing tuwaida a fiendity nation-the ouly one, which, in I814 and 1515 , did not unite with our cuemies; null if whe had done it, be it satd in passing, her claims would long since have been liquidated, as were those of all bostile powers. I will add, that if she had evell consented that a third power, England, firs instance, should take charge of, athl urge these chams, every thing would have been settird long ago; but she would not present herself as an enemy, and preferred to wait till she coutd, as a frient, urac her clains. Nor will I entarge upon a greal interest, the greatest of our maritime interests, that of the liberty of the scas, though, as we caunnt place any great reliance upot that coalition which occurred during the American war, thetweell the squadrons of Russia, Spain, llolland and our own I tunk that a union of our naval forcea with those of America, without meaning to projudge possible circumstances, is the true plan of sceuring the libetty of the seas. I will merely occupy your attention concerning a commercial intereat of great or gency.

I regret that our honorable colleague. M. Pulcheron, is not here, as he might repeat to $y$ ou the eatimatez be made for me the other day. The city of L,yons alone (I cite but a pingle exabiple) cairiced on with the U'mited States a coumerec of 25 mil libus of francs: Since the treaty made by the good will of the Voited Stater, this commerce is worth 80 millions, and it will he 100 mittions by the 1 int Jauuary next. Imight also speak of What the clamber of commerce of Ilavre has written to one of our colleagucy; I might dwell upon the interests of the wine growing depattuents: but I confine mywif to the single observation, that if the treaty is not derided on at this seesion, it is to be feared that at tho meeting of the American congress in December next, moanures may be taken, in view of the negleei on onr part, to reptace thinge where they were before the treaty. I leave you to juige of the inconvenience of such a course to our eomamerce.
With these miort romarks, whels the mintster of forcign affain would, if he were present, rustain, as not long since he told me he woulil, I will merely reply, in advaluce, in one otjection that may be made, that in this nuatur I ppeak as a good American. Genthmin, that ir a title of wharh 1 amp prond-it is a title dear to my lorart-bit no our, 1 lutaginc, wilt allege that I have ever bern s bad frrenchman.
I ank, thrrefore, that thi queation may have an carly pace in the oritrin of the day, so that yon may disen-s it before the close of the session; and my advicr, if I may be permitted to use sneb a teriut, is, that afficurli examitnation as is proper, the great intereate above alluthen to be not lime sight of
The mini-ser uf forcien aflatea sain that the envernment wea mort anxlehte for the immeriate ili-cu*sion atid adoption of the treaty. The delay in presenting the lill to the chambers arose from the difficuty of coltecting all the documenta neceseary for the eluctiation of a treaty by which a final adjurtment was made of trannactions extending over a period of more than 20 years. Even now, none of these documente had not coune over Trom America, but the hoped before the next seasion the eummittee would be in posmession of every infurmation.

Count Jaubert courtdered that it shouid not he allowed to go forth to the worid, and particulurly to the Unated states, that the chamber whs prepared to adupt bludly a treaty iuvolving the payment of so laige a sum of money as was to be paid to the United states. The intereste of the connitry required that every point connected with the treaty should be annutely examined, and fromt the fielings of distrest wheli the brovishone of the treaty load excited in many menbers of the elsambers, he hatl no dontht it would to wo.
M. Manguin anlmadverted on the ah-urdity of supponing that the chamber or the commattee could have torned any thecteded opinon on the subjeet, when the miniater filmieti had just told them that all the necessary documents were hut collectod.

The minister for forengn affira obsel ved that all the mons important documents were in the hands of the committec. 'thove which were to cotae would be nefiful as esjlanatory ducnomente, but were not of pribuary imprortatice.
Other hon. deputies demanded to be lomard, but the climmber, which bad for some time shown atrong marhe of fupatience at this epindal dieenanions called louiliy for the order of the day:
The presudent maid that as no guextion wan leefore the: chamber, the discuxstum evuld nut lie alluwed to be carried further; the comstututional rizhl of the chanbel was peritecty und ronod; mo treaty wheh reymired the mawent of the legishature tior the means of carrsing it into execuitur could be comodited as even provistonally ausceptible of being carried into execintom unt that assent war given. The !phatiob wap, tiftefore, ebtirely open, and nothing which had pased evoblat projuige the opinitui which the chamber ainght hereatios come to on the treaty. (Applause.)
The eliambir then prosected to the discussion of the tudget of ways and means fir the year 1831 .
In the sexsion of the eliamber of the 10 tio, gutu. Lafayrtte took oceasion to emplatn of the enntansane of the ahare trude, even under the protection of the tri-ewlor liag.
The minister of the mariue repled, that-since 1830, not a sintgle Intance had exletrd of the French tlag having covered the shave trade; but Epantsh and P'ormguese verself, eneaged in the slave trade, had disguised them-chee under limench enlor", in order to nvail themselvers of the exemptien ("lijosed by I'renell vesofls from the search of Euglislt mell of war; bit the wonlel not again occur, as with the eqpitins olegrect of jontinge an emit to the slave trade, a new convetution hidd beev made between France and England, for the inutual right of wemeh in certam seas.
A statue of Napoleon is ahoilt to be crested upon the column in the Place Vendonie, formed of the ramon taken from the eneay in hovevintorimas camphigni; and the workne日 are already engaged in raising the scathitding.

paln.

A private letter from Madncistates that in consequtence of a discovery that the troops und civil anthontion in t'adiz theing devoted to the gneen'w party, the gatrisun of the city had beeni puddenty changed, and the personis appointed to othice by the queen suspended. It was also stuted that a Spani-h anmiy to co operate with that of Bon Miguel had beeth ordered to be collected on the frontiers of Porlugal.

At the opening of the chambers on the Fth of Junc, the king of Belginm anmonnerd from the throne that events of great inn portance to Ilelgimon had tak'•n place; that F'rance nad Eingtand, according to their engagrments hind taken posmenalon of the fortrend which threatuned one of the finest itelgan ciliem. That n eonvention hat beon eonelutled by the same porwers which would pat Belginut in porerasion of the greater part of the advantage attached to the areaty of the lith of November, without taking from her thone purnoma of territory, the menaration of whieb would be wways feit as a panifill sneritice. He would take eare that, in the arraugementw with Hollatid none of the righte of Releciun should be infrouged.

A partial disarobing was to tokez place, so as to dibuinish the expenditures without wrakenilg the orgalization of the army. He announced that the graverniuent wonld now be ahte th direet unremitting attention to the inhojnal nuelturation of the conntry- io the fonterng of its tmanafacturen and emmineree.

He also stated that he had ohotained from the l'inten states the mont favorable stipulatons for one of the most iuportant branches of manufacture.

The guxernment bed felt the necessity of ziving a now impulse to the pintice tronk, nul the erombended a pian tos the chambers for a grand eommoniratinh froun the pea and the Selielde to the Nense and the liline.

 King W'lloan and all han court will be present to welcone their 1H0rn.

Frimn Brasels, Advierg have lwen rerivent th the out uf June. Anting the toptes of shecu-.ion was the apprupriation of ononey in enowtrait on Iroul rafl inat, to cobanomere at Maen to liruwela, Antwirp and ()xtiml. Por this purpmor it was proposed to conitart a loan of eizhteen mullinus of franes.

poktenal.
A tettor frmm Viatango of the 30th of May statra, that the batseries had almost mecssautly conlinused to fier upho the enty uf

Oporto since the 16th, which had suffered conmiderably. Decrtions were frequent fromilon Pedro's army, chiefly Prenehinen. The fort of tirvilho had beeu completeiy silenced. Don Pealro had diamissed twelve otficers and two quarter-masters trom the marine Lrignde. The marques of Palmello and Mr. Meulizabel had reached Cuporto with reinforcenients for Don Pedro's armiy. C'optain Napier had ariived to take command of the thect. It is stated on what is ealled a respectable nource that a very patimfactory huderstanding exists between the king aud earl Grey on the pulject of Jortugal, and that in the event of the con-thunonal forees marclong oll Lostem, they will meet witli a degree of supporit froulthis conntry which was hardly to have been expected, eanshdering the alificultuen with which the agents of Doat Pedun had to contend licre, owing to the convicturn on the minds of ministera of the hosthliyy of the majurity of the ltwate of perers th the comstitutional canse of Portugal. Arrangemants have, we are imturnued, been already made to soeure the pmenticaton ur l'ontugnt. I'liey are dependent, it is thor waljuct.
() - pateloes had been recelved at Paris from Madrid by the goverumith, apprisug it that the khis of Npan han refused in acknowledye lloma Maria, the queen of Portugal, although ther eabinets of P'ari* and Lamden hat put this condition to their consent t, the alrohtion of the zahque law and to their acknuwledgment of the promeess of Asturius, as heiress to the throne of siftain. In eonsequinee of which, the envoys of france and Eugland would pootest against the holding of the curt, and atamat the violation of the righta of those which it wonld con-ecrate.

The ezar reccived that portion of his tronpm, at Dunaberg on the 31st, which were under the eomminnd of count Pabien. Ha lias also visited a number of fornficallopm that have been recently erected. The numeront new public buildings in $8 t$. Peto rsburgh are proccediug rapldly. lsut un worke of art-no sulendul dome, or contly towera, ean relicve himf from the exacration whech hie couduct has justly drawn upon him, in relation to the l'oies.
A Ietter from Waramw, in March, states, that by order of the czar, prince l'askewituch has declared to respeciable mothers (bow berwaved of their sony) that whould they be discovered to inve written to thrir exiled children, they would be publicly whipped in the public maket place.

AFFATEA OV THE EANT.
It is etated from Coustantinople, May eseth, that Ibrahim pacha fias rually eommeneril his retreat, and preparations were onaking itu the Ruszian catap which indirated the speedy withdrawal of the troops. The official news that the Egyptian army hat aptually commenced ite retrent, arrived at the Turkinh caputal on the 27th. The reis cfiendi immediately communicated it to the forrign amhasoadons, and count Orloff repeated his declaration that the Russian army should retlies so soon ar he was certaiu that the Arabs really bail retreated.

TOMB OF* KOSCIUSKO.
From the Suriss Patriot.
Soleure, Surilzerland. At a short disfance from Soleare, on the high rond to Jollcerne, in situnted the village of $ukwinf. It is there, in the siciuity of a chajel, that repose the retmaina of Korciusko.
Kosciusko! At this revered name Foland shouid arise and threaten the tyrante nppreswing the land of liberty. At this very name tho glorious achievementa of a great general burst on our tuind.
On the 3 h of May, 25 Poles proceeded from Soleure in military procession to Zuk will, th prostrate themselves at the altar of the Aluighty, to salute the ralien of an illustrious conntrymana, and to celebrate the anniversary of the conutitution granted ent the 3d of May, 1792, wo the people of Poiand.
The mun gave the light of ita glorious rays to the noble remnatit of a nation as illustrians as unfortunate.
'I'lue horintal chaplaiu, M. Sanner, was at Zukwill to give big pious arsistance to the noble refugers.
The rrligions crrumnny over, the Poles lef the temple, and knelt before the tunt eontaining the awhes of Kosciusko. It would be sliflicult to deaeribe the onfemnity of the scene on sceing the hroom of Grochen and Oytratencky bathing with their tears the atone containing the aslies of the hero of Foland, and awearing to march in hif footatcps. Perhaps at that very moment the vile elaven of despotiom were insulting with thefr mordmble grin the unfortunnte Poles who, on the borders of the Frozern neenn, are puinfutly eating the hirad of siavery.
A ['oli Is offiecr, it his mather tongue, briefly mentions the deeds pariorturd by kosciuskn in brlanif of has country, and gives nut that noble wariur an the monlel they are to intitate.
$\because$ l'aland," was \& he "in nut yel annubitated; wheresoever beats a Poli-h lieart, "till "xists thie natictualiyy of Poland." Ile then,
 1-1wit, In lite latal of frerdom; and to offer, in the name of his e- ut, ifym h, his thanka to a nition that has given them welc.nne anl ent.redl lito their pain and anffering. And-like the winhe whonlway = himed limir eypa towards ston-the chtidren or I'oland turned their fares towarils the north, and saluted theis entintiy froms afar.

An mhabitant of Solcure replied to tiris speech; he expresaed the wish of the $S_{\text {wiss }}$ popmintion: union, fraternity, liberty and devotednees for those who have ahed their blood in the dafence of freedom.
Thus terminated a ceremony which affected deeply the numerous spectators it had called together.

THE BRITISH WEST INDIES.
We lseert below a table showing the population, with the annaal atmount of produce and of the exports and Imports, of each of the British West Iudia colontes, drawn from docuinents land before the Rritish parliantent. It will be apparent from this atatement, how completely the produce, and consequently the property of these islands is dependent on slave labor. The number of slaves is nearly ten times that of the white population, and the colored persons out-number the whites in the proportion of one and a half to one.
[Boeton Daily Ade.
Of the popalatian, produce ata imporm
Of the populatian, produce and imports and exports of the British Went Indies, conglied from official docunend:

THE GLORY OF THE CHURCH.

The following, from a late English paper, is not over-colored. Bat the English church is not worm than other estabilahed churelses, In its prineiple, thnugh more onerous in its operntion, but yet more tolersut-provided always, the pecuniary requiaitions are daly complied with!
 But what are the Iabors, watchlaga, fastings, perila and dificaltics of our baron-bishops? These holy men, perhaps, pass many a aleepless night In the first atage of their exaltation, by What poseible meana they may escape from Lalandaff or Bristol, or sospe other poor see, with which they find themselves disagreeably saddied. By dint of voting and jobbing in the bouse oflords, the successor of the npontles 6 nds his prospects brighten a Nitule; for, after Infinite exertions of soul and body, he is transiated to Eretsr, peradventure; whereby his apostolical pocket is replenished with a greater number of orthodox gulneas. But mot In Exeter is the godly man at ease; he is smit with a love of multiplication, and letter after letter is written to has patron and the minister, urging the neceasity of a more advantageous transtation. In the couree of time Winchester or Durhain is vacant-then do all the eagles gather together to the carease; loud are the screams of the apostolical vultures, and the dismay of the first lord of the treasury, to know how to satisfy so much pious voracity; at last, anter undergoing the threats of a dozen great lords, each eager for his nwn clirnt, the premier makes meiection of the hero of this picture, and crowns his hopes with twenty-five thousand pounds a year, snd all the gorgeous dignities of the Durham episcopacy. Afer this, surely the man of God is eontented at last? By no means, he has oonn and daughters not a few, hond np pliews very numerous. For all thesn there must be accunusiated a store of good thangs full of inarruw; the eldeat son is to be the head of the facilly; for him, therefore, the parlinment and the regular course of parliamentary jobbing is open; but for Ins younger brothers the chureh anust open her nurwe-like arms, and pour upno them n shower of benefices. My lord bishop speedily stide forth from his liberal urn a deluge of golden prebendn, hvings, arch-deacoernes, reatdenturies, precentorshijs, clinnceries, sub deaneries, perpetaal curacies, fellowships, tuaterships and vicarage.
Hishop Tomitine bequeathed seven hundred thousand pounda to hts famity, alrcady well enriched with episcopal muaificence.
ne eonn
T INDIA TRADR.
facts stated below - for every one who or extraordinary, in the facts suated below-(for every one who knew any thing about the matter knew that they would happen), we give them plsce; only requewting that our readers will refer to whas wa sadd about the "recovery of the West India trade," at the time when it was "rrecovered!",

From the New Fork Daily alvertiser.
We had occasion a few days since to notice this aubject: since which wa have had an opportunity to become acquatnted more particularly with facts, and find that the Injury done to American commerce, is much greater than we apprehended, owiug in the great facilities afforded to the provinces. It is a fict that Eingish vessels are constantly arriving here, from the British West India Islands, with rum, molarees, &c. which they discharge, and take in return cargoes of beef, pork, flour and other articles, proceed to Yarmouth, Halifax or any other port in the prosince, lie aloul side of the wharf twenty-four hours in somet cases, roll out a few barrels Into store, give a nomisal bond that the eargo shall be landed fin a Britioh faland, and then proceed on their voyage of destination, where they diecharpe their cargo free of all daty. It Is estimated that the deteation by taking this circuitous route is not on an average more than ten or fifeen days longer than to proceed direct from this part. The extra expense would be on a vesiel whose dinbursements are 400 dollars a month, for 15 days, 900 dollars; to this may be added some little extra pilotage, and perhape help, half per eent. extra premium, which, on ten thousand dollars, would be finy dollars. The whole difference may be set down at three handred dollars. An American veanel of one hundred and sizty tons burthens, will take aboat fifeen hundred bbls, any fire hundred blels. of beef, five huadred of pork, and five hondred of flour. The duty on beef and pork in an Engtish island ts otated to be five dollars a basrel, making five thousand dollara; the daty on flour, calculating the difference of enrrency, one and a half doilars a barrel, or eeven hundred and finy dollara; making the whole daty on these articles alone, which ie a very moderate cargo, five thobsand seven hundred and finy dollars, which must be paid by the American bottoin. The British cargu is admitted free of duty, consequently pays nothing, and is snbject only to the before mentioned detention of about hiteen day\%, which nay be set down, as before stated, at about three husdred dollars.

Thus the American vessel would have to pay British Difference
Now every one who is familiar with the trade, knowe that this differpnce nlone is a much arenter profit than ls masully made In a West India voyage. In fict the Brituht vessel would be making $n$ handsome business, If she clenred $\mathrm{S}_{2}$, 450 a a voymge, while the American owners would be loosing three thonsanad dollara a voyage. We have taken n vexsel of one hundred and sixty tons, when it is known that much larger veapels are engaged In the trade, we have also taken these artieles when it is well known that many more might be envmerated. Wie have, however, taken a cnse within compasi for the sake of being easily underwtond. Is it nt nil surprising that the number of British vessels arriving here is constantly Increaging? Is it at all surprising that the Irade has nearly all passed Into the honds of the British merchant. How ean it be expected to be otherwhe. Can American induwtry, enterprime and akill, purne a trade against all these diradvantages? We presume no oae will pretend that it ean be done.
If we take another view of the case it is equnlly fatel to the American Interest. Formerly the Iarge British West Indiamen went out from England to the Islands in ballast, depending on retirn eargoes of sugar, rum, coffee, kc. On the voyare out as the vessels were empty, they earned no freight. Now the vessels coms out in Novn Scotia, with passengers and some bulky articles which earn a finir freight, then take in a eargo of Picton or Sidney coal for New York, and thereby earn a second freight; here tske in a cargo of provisions, touch at the provin. ces, and proceed to the islands; or take in a cargo of lumbiner and proceed direct-therehy earning three freights, where they formerly got notbing, and then bn at the dealred port, ready to take a homn cargo at a light rate. Whlchever view we take of it. wherever we turn, we see the American vepsela entirely and effectually cut off from a trade which has the name of being free and reciprocal.

In the first commencement of this trade, before the mate wns taken to the provinces, for the purpose of turning good Ducbess county pork into pork raised in the provinces, merely by a ews-ulicate, and when provisions were taken from here, and the duiy paid, the British vessels in part, after earning two freights from England, and betng on their way out to the islands, began to take frelght at 50 cents a barrel, and even 35 . The consequence was, that our own vessets, unable to carry freight out and home for $\%$ cents a barrei, were driven immediately out of the trade, and have never returned to tt. They could not cotnpete with vessels which had earnet twn fieights already, and had a high freight waitiug for thefn for Eingland the inutant they reached the inlands.
How differently did this trade stand before this arrangement. Then, although the trade was prohibited, the American vessele enjoyed the irAole without any interruption. As the vessels of neither country could go direct, and as there whe no dimituution of the consumptinn of American ficur, lumber, provisions, fish, Hive stock, candles, soap, &c. &c. it the Hritish istands, and as they must be had somewhere, then these articles were all carried by American vewels to St. Barss, St. Thomas, and other neutral islands in the meighborhood, and reshipped in drogere to the different British ports. It was fouud by offeial returne that the exports were as great as they ever were, and it was also proved that we ware in the fuil and entire enjoyment of the carrying trade. It is now proved, beyond all controversy, that this valuable commerce is wholly or nearly lost.

DUTIES ON IMPORTATIONS.
At thls season of leisure, we shall present some extracts from a document to which we have once or twice referred, being statements of the merchants to shew, THat tue tncakass of the detias inposen ay the tarift law of 1828 han no arprct to incaeask the pitch or ooods inpoatad! This was a beautiful confession from the merchants? It eatablished our whole theory, concerning this matter-that increased duties dn not necesaarily increase the price of commodities, nor diminished duties necesarily diminish prices. And the fact, at present, we belleve, exists-that every leading article, the duty on which was reduced by the act of 1832 , now bears a higher price, in the market, than It did at this time last year. We shall revert to this subject on some future npportunity. The "phitosophers" may speculate about these things as they please. We are prac Uceal, and are content with the flacts as they have occurred, and will tappen.
The document before us is No. 13, of the 22d congress, 2d session, and contains 24 large 8 vo . pages. We have selected all the let ters and statements that bear directly upon the ploa of the importers-that they, and not the conntimera, paid the extra duties imposed by the law of 1828! And a law was passed for their retief, the drain of which on the treasury is yet to be unfolded. We understand that the amount elaimed is an "awful" one!--that it has been heaped up into a good many millions of dollars. "Nous verrons!"-" "nour verrona!!" "nous verrons!'!", Dac. 14, 18, TO agavirt manchasidisn raom putise.
Dec. 14, 1832 . Printed by order of the house of repretentativet. Mr. Verplanck, frova the commitiee of ways and means, pre. eented the following documents on the subject of the bill "to exempt merchandies imported under certain circumstances," 免e. No. 619 .
Copy of a letfer from S. D. Bradford to Samuel B. Barrell, Samuel B. Barrell, esq.
Boston, 2414 January, 1832.
My Beax sire: I, esq.
MY nRAR aiR: I have lont no time in presenting your letter of the 17 th to capisin Rich, and the ofler the 17 th to capiain Rich, and the other gentleasen, whowe claims you have been aelected to represent, and several have promised to addruss you. I enclose two letsers by this post, and may to address you. I enclose two letsers by this post, and may, perhaps, at a future time, write you more fully upon the subject mentioned in yours. I ain not a little surprised that any person who was conaccted In any way with the home or foreign bnsifoode rose after the tariff of 1 O28 passed; and theat, in this onnumced ratue, the importers were partly indemnified for the loss mustained by the sudiden increase of the duties. All persons who were in trade in 182s, will testify that it was a year of very wreat depression in the price of domestie and froign goode, and that rather deelined than adetich the duty was raised on the 300 A June, rators, and our cominercisal in frice. My house are large opeBritain, Russia aud India; and we inported freely in 1828, and can truly say, that every article we imported was actually worth less to us after the 30th June, than in the previous year, 1827 , under the old duty; and we had to sell nearly all the wooliens We received, after the 30th June, at a heavy loss, as also our Russian goods, at cost or under. Many of the latter we exportod or sold at under prime enat to exporsern, whereas we should bave made on uur 700 pieces of ravens duck $$ 1,050$, had not the duty bave heen Increased. We would apply the same remark to broadcloche, fushings, plain, kerveyt, vestingt, serges, Alammele, We nearly erery other article on whifh the duly wras increased. We ean prove this by our books, if calied upon, and so eas others who elaitn under your direction; lnot, as for congrese ever being able to pass an act wlich eannot be executed without going Into all these caleulations, such an undertaking would be nterminable and impracticable, and I should consider it as doing nothing. No plan will answer, or ean be ezecuted, which coods previoua to lat May, or whose of ali such as ordered thode previoua to lat May, or whose partners of agents ship coode not knowing that such a bill had passed, and which aaid soodo arrived before ist septeinber, 1828 .

The bill reported lant year wnuld meet my case, and that of most others, very fairly. I should like the wording a little altered, (as I once before anid to you, and I gave the words I would substitute), as I think much doubt will be raised as to the real meaning. If a partser or agent in Eugland, of Russia, or elsewhere, nent out goods to his house there before he knew the tarift had passed, of would pass, the dutien on sueh goode should be given up, and they should be viewed as goods "ordered" from thie coantry. Ally bill proposing to return only a part of the extra daty, would be Impracticable and unjuat: the whole whould the returned, no matter even if the goods had risen ivstead of having fallen. Why favor the tmporter of other kinds of goods: The importer of iron, knowing that the duty on that would nee on the lat September, would of coarse, a vail himeelf of that faet, provided any advance could be had; bet ao advance has takea place on iron or any thing elve, as you will see by reading Henry Len's report on the article; and the doetrine of Mr. Niles was, for once, verified, that laydng a high dufy of m lowers the price of an artiele, and reducing the duty increases tos ralue.* I hope, therefore, there will be nothing in the bil about "satisfying the secretary" about losm sustained. The mail is eloaing: 1 will write more fally in a few daya. Yours, dear air, very truly, uNothing ean be more certain than that the extra dury laid In 1828 came, nearly all of it , out af the pockets of the fimporters. some eases may have ariaen, where some kinds of goods, sold, after the tariff was passed, higher than before; and certainly if this had not been the case, many importers would bave tost haif thelf capitala: but the advance was on articles on which the extra daty amounted to an Increase of 40 and 100 per ceat.; and it may be truly and safely asserted, that in all oweh easees the advance readized was only a fractional part of the extra duty imposed. Take, for instance, the articie of English fannels, and suppose an importer to have received abir nn the 30th June, 1828, of 90 pieces, ensting $£ 45$ stering in England; the duty under the tariff of 1004 , on thin bale, (being 304 per cent.) would amnunt to $$ 7396$; by the act of 1828 the duty would have been 8207.
8. D. BRADFORD

Fitraet from Mr. Bradford', letter of January 281h, 1832.

"Now auppose the importer did realize, in July or Auguas. 1820. 5 and 10 per cent. advance more on flanneis than be would have done if the dnty had not been increased, still is not his lows very heavy? It would amount to the difference there is between 8207 and 873 96, (less the small advance obtained) and the proHit he would have ohtained on the sales of this bale, provided no extra duty had been imposed, and these twn ltemes will amouns to more tinan the difference between the old duty and the new which we claim to have refunded. In tike manner, I eould illastrate the same fact in many other articles. This country consumes largely of un article called "bocking"," well known to the New England peaple, (Mr. $\qquad$ 's ampertion to the eon. Ifary notwithetanding), and many bales of this article were annually imported, costing, in England, 6d. per yard; the duty by the tariff of 1824, whs 4t eents per yard, and 221 cents per yard by that of 1828; but I need not enlarge on this subject."
Letter from Benj. Rich and Son, in reply to $. B. Barrell's letter to Mr. Bradford, of Jemuary 17ih.

Boston, January 23, 1832.
Dean sir: Your ieiter to Mr. Bradford of 17th is before ns and in relation to that part where it is paid that the articles mee in price in proportion to the additional duty, and that the eonoumer paid it, we can answer for ournelves, most decidedly, that every article we Imported from Russia rather declined than mase clean hemp, which wo had bern selling at sp25, we were obtleed to take ere20, or not aell at ail; and ravens duck, on which the duty was increased upwards of four hundred per cent. we could nnt nttain for it any higher priee than hefore, and were obliged to export it, and work in every way ponsible to save our selves, and, finally, had to submit to a loas on an articie which we had previousiy made a falr mercantlie profit. This we know In have been the case on many other articles, particularly weod, and some woollen anods. There is no better renson why enngreas should admit our claim, than that it was evidentiy their intention to have extended the time to the first of September on all articlee the same ae they did on iron.

Letter from Findeor Fay, in roply to $\mathbf{S}$. B. Rarrelt's letter to Mr. Bradford, of Jamuary 17iL.

Janvary 94, 1832.
Gin: Mr. Rich has thown me a letter from you, requesting information to prove that the tariff did not canse a rise on the Imported article equal to the additional daiy; and I am happy that the facts in the case fully warrant the aspertion that, in wonl, the importer enoid not realize even the price at which is had before sold. I have before me sales by Whitewill, Bond * Co. of Emayras and Adrianople wool, in December, 1829, a 12 cente per ib. at which price the sale was stopped, and the Iot afterwarda cloned at private sale at 11 cente; whereas the price of these wrols, previous to the tariff of 1828, had been 14 and 15 cents, and the addltional daty imposed by the tariff wad abost $5 f$ cents. The sale of wool to which I have referred wes among the firm public asles of wools after the pagange of the tariff: as there wate hardiy one bele of wool sold in this city
-Thin down ant apprese our ldeas-price and vahe are mot for nearly or quite a year, of course I refer to imported wools of Bayrna and Adrianople. Your obedient servant,

S. B. Barrell, esq. Weshington.

WINDSOR FAY.

Fxtract from Mr. Hradford's letter of Felruary 11th, 1832.
cWe are gratified, bui not surpried, that the documents which have been tratumitted to 50 H, to proee the decline in the walue of goods in $18 z 5$, have froduced couvicton upoo the mind a of those who have perused thermi. No permon who wav engaged in commereial pursuits at the tume, can donbt for a monent that all the rthtementa which have been subhutted to prove the decline in the price of maported goods, after the pastage of the act of May, 2 mia, are liternlly and stridly true. W'e cannot tum over a price current of that sear, whech does not contirm it; and the losers wheh the furrign merchants sustaned were neither few nor small. Now, indeed, conld it be otherwite? The new duties inpored, amounted, in many cases, to an increane of 80 a 125 per cent. above the ohd daty, and were prolulatory; so that no persou lias finported a bale of those arucles since 183.
"We are very aorry in find that any gentleman should have come to the coaclaation, that the dreline ith the pilices of grodis in 1 Nsk, arose in collspquence of 'overytncked' narketr; and that the canse of the oventock was 'an exportatuon, on the part of the murohants, that the duties would be increased; and that increased orders wresesent abroad for eonds in conseyucuce of this expectation. The rery rererse of the is the faet. The imports in the sumtner of 1825 , and in the antumu of that year, were not large by any meana, nor upon an iscrensed scale; and it ty a well known fact that very few permons believed that the tariff aet of liges woulh pass, until they read its paseaze in the public prints of the day; and wre are confidont, that if anty person believed it would panat all, there was nol a merchant in this constry, who ever conceived, for a trament, that it would commence itn artion at onec. All supposed that four to twelve months wonld be allowed for the mercbants in prepare for so great and wadden a change, as had been done upon all previous ocensions.
"We are pleased to find that Measrs. Lewle & Co. have forwarded to you the documents which we requested them to send. We could nend you twenty more affidavits from thes rity, should it be deemed necessary; and ns many more fion New York; but we cannot think it pxpedient to multuply documents which may not be required. Ir, bowever, you are of a different opnlon, we will forward you any namber for which you may write to us."

Afdaeits of mundry merehtnts of Philadelphia, shooring a decline in the pricer of goods nubsequent to the passage of the lariff of 1828 .
[Oace of thene affidavits is sufficient-all the rest responil.]
Philadetphia, February $\geq$. $1 \times 32$.
I, Thomas C. Rockhill, of the bouse of Tluomas $\mathbb{C}$. Rockhill 2. Co, merchants, of Pliladelphia. do heseby certify, that I am, and have been extensively enzaged in the wholesale dry goods importing businesn in said city for many yearm, and sold large amounts of Aritish cotuon, woollen, and worted goods, in the years 1896, 1827, 1828 , and $1 \mathrm{k29}$; and, durlug those yrars, thy experience satisfies me, that there was a continurd dechne in the value of such goode, and that the additional duties imposed on Briliah manufuctures in the month of May, Is3ed did not creafe a general appreciation in the ralue of such merchandise.
T. E. ROCKHHLL.

Sworn and subseribed before me, February $34,1, \mathrm{C}^{2}$.
J. PETTIT, J. $P$.

Slatement of lows on three importations of goods by F.&R. Thompon, Philadelphia, and on which a elaim for return of duty is made agreeably to the statementi furnished by them, Octoder 23d, 1 R30, and forwaried to the secretary of the treaswry of the United States, by J. N. Barker, collector for this port.

| Marks and Nos. | Ifhen and by what vebsel imported. | Cost in sterling. | Coat in dollars. | Loses. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| $\begin{gathered} \text { F. \& R. } \\ 3 \pi 4 a 380 \end{gathered}$ | Seven cases imported July. The, $1+28$, per nhip Hannibal, from Liverpool | £678 1110 | 37,01598 | 837312 |
| 281 a 387 | Beven cases imporied July 21, 1829, per ship Algonquin, from Liverpool | 58178 | 2,59\% 16 | 18335 |
| 3984302 | Five cases importer Aliturt $9 \mathrm{hh}, 18.38$, pet ship Juhus Cesar, from Liverpool | 461 18 1 | 2,052 90 | 117 37 |

Philadelphia, od month 2d, IRJ2.
The nhove statempnt of Inew is exclusive of the lues of inter est. Vpon the same description of zoods, imported hy nis from the same houve, in the corresponding period of the pear 1897 , were afited a profit.
F. K R. TIf Malpañ.
[This sutament is supported by the aindavit of thin clerk em

The loss on $F \cdot+R$. Thompson's inportations stands thue: Sterling cont of 9 casen clothn, $£ 1, i, 2417 \mathrm{~s} .24$. or Ambunt of dutses paid oo name Exelange, freight, insurance, and shipping charges 3,66602
4,70440

Cost of the goods

813,7042
Loss of a merchant's ordinary profit on 813,77042 , estinated at if per cent. is 81,06273
03318
81,49639
The ahove statement showir that the loss only varied a few dullars frum the amomit of extra duty charged upoa their goods.

- Iffidavit from Boston, showing a dectine in prices in 1828 , of arthat yeur.
We, the undersigned, being merchants of the clity of Boston, do therely testify and declare, that we bave, for tnany years, been dealers in, and sellers of, cotton, worsted and wuollea goods; were lasge holders of diy goods, of various fabrics, prior 10 the year $1 e^{2} 20$, as well as during that year in which the tariff act was passed; dealtireely during that year in flushings or fearnanghtw, dralt ker=e) $w$, broadeloths, woolien paddugs, baizes, flatuels, wornted, howtery, blue, mixed, and green platise, blankets, promted calicoes, and moat, if not all other articles of cottrin, worsted, and woollen masumactare, on which the duty was greatly enlaneed liy the tariff of 1828. Upon the pasage of suid uct, many perions supposed that those manufactures on schich the dufy was mereased, would immediately vise in the market, and cominand prices proportionate to the scid increase of duly; and, at the first rien of the suljert, such, perhaps, woutd appear as the natural rerull. Such, hovever, was sot the effect of the tariff of May, Iest; for, instead of adrancing, most, if not all, of the jrimcipal artictes of cotton, wornted and weoollen goods (on which the dufy mas increased) rather deelined than inproved in price afler the pasuge of the tariff act of May, leva, and would not, in many cases, bring so much in market as they had done the year previous, under the oht daty. And thene facts we are prepared fulty to establish by full and complete extracts from our books, to whichis we had refercare before expressing ourselves so fully as to the state of the market and the value of goods in 1828. The consequence of this statc of things, was a great and heavy loos to such of the undervigned as had ordered goods under the tanff of 1024 , but had them arrive under the tariff of 1828, an the increase of duty on many leading articles in the busiaess of the under-igned wat rased froms 5 to 130 per cent. by the act of lese, and for which they were unable to indeunify themselvea by obtaning an increased price when they made sales of their zoods after the paxsage of the act of May, 1822 s . The duty, for mestatice, on a yard of flusling, costing $\mathrm{Ls}_{\mathrm{s}}$. 3d. sterling in England, was mereased from 18 cents to 21 per yard; on a yard of baize, costing 6 s.* from 4 ceats to $22!$ cents;
On a yard ot drab kersey, conting 18, 11d. from 13 cta. to $29 / \mathrm{cta}$.
 Printed cotton tromg if to $8 \frac{1}{2}$ eents per mquare yard. Some of these new duties were, in rffect, prohibitory, and have since caused a discontinuance of inportatuon of the artucles on which the duty was thas incrensed; but still the undersigned had to reeetve, th Io28, such articlea as they had ordered under the ofd dut y , which arrived under the nev, loaded with the increase of duty, aud lont heavily on the sates of them. The underigned could not wndertuke to decide arhat occasioned the peccirke in PRECEs shich occurred in IIEj8, It may have arisen from sundry and various causes, but they are decidedly of opinion, it tras not produced by an incressed importation, occasioned by an expectation on the part of the Ameican merclants, that the tariff would pass; on the cootrary, they have faund no evidence that the importation of those articles in which they deal, were upon an increased seale is that year, or greater, if so great as usual; and they are or opimon that, eencrally, the passage of that act was a matter of great and sudden aurprise to the great body of mercliants themselves. The decline in price in 1828 was not pecsliar to the articles in which the undernigned deal, but the same oceurred in the price of Ruswian manufactures, of raw woot, and many other, the accessary artleles of living. The same is the of molarsers, alsn, the value of which declined very much in the makket, altiough the new duty wan greatly inereased.
The undersigned canld go more into detail to establish the factu they would prove by varinus other illnstrations, did they deems such a course necensary or desirable, bvt they are of oppdeemusuch a course necenary of desirable, but they are of opt-nion that the pvidence already produced on this subject will be deeuscd anfielent.

For the late firm of WRIGHT, BLAKE & Co.
GRANT & AEAVER,
JER. FITCH & Co.
JOIN II. BRADFORD & Co.
EIWWARD CLARKE $k$ Co.
PIIVEAS FOSTER,
IENRY GARSETTT & Co.
HOMRR & DORR,
Monton, Feb. 24, 1832.
By George Homer.

[^33]Ed. Rea.

Letter from A. 4 S. Henry, of Manchester, to Grant & Seaver, of Bosion, in reply toritant manufactured goods.

 (Per Manchester.)Mancherter, 30th June, 1828.
Deas sian: We duly recelved your esteemed favors of the 2ed and 31st ultimn, and in compliance with your desire, we have used every effort in our power, and held out every inducement that could be reasonably prupused, to induce the parties with whom we have made conlracts for your worllens, to accept of countermands, but we are zorry to say without the least auccess, and we shall be compelled 10 send almost every piece of them.
Thes fact is, that the manufacturers who had orders for the states, do not know what to do with the goods, for they are only calculated for that particular nuarket, and unaaleable for any other; and whether the partiex who gave the orders revide liere or be in America, if they are at all remponsible houser, their goods, so far as they have been prepared, will be delivered to them by the nanufacturers.
We believe that is the case without a single cxception, and in truth the equity of the case makes it but reasonabie; for the orders that came forward, and which are at beat of un great extent, would throw a dead and unsaleable stock upon some extent, would throw a dead and ruin them, wherean, if distribut houses, which what, perpartics who ment the orders, the inconed amongst the different partise whobably be rery serious.

As to what we are preparing for yon, being as we have said, obliged to take them, we have hesitated whether to ship thein when ready, or to pack them up and let them Ile in Liverpool for your further inatructions; but we have finally concluded that the beat course will be to ship thicm at once.

If they lay over they would lose the season, and of course be less valuable to you in the spring; and as to selling them in this country, either now or during the ensuing winter, we are very confident that the loss would not be less than 90 to 25 per cent. at least, excluslve of interest. We can scarcely suppose that in your mode of diaposing of your supplies the loss would be so reat as upon a sale here; on many articles there will be a potitive loss, but still it can be no "break-neck" business.
There is alwo a chance that congress may remit a part of the ligh duties on such goods as the importers are compelted to take, and no doubt all the uerchants will unle in endeavoring to obtain redress.
The law in a monstrous one, and it is diffieult to believe it can be permanent. We are extreaty sorry that a compliance with your wishes should be impracticable, but we truft you will see that (circumstanced an wo are) we are anlopting the wisest course in sending you the soonds we are comphlled to take, rather than keep them here waiting your furtier mistructions.
Believe us truly, dear sirs, your most obedients, Messrs. Grant & Seaver, Boston.
Letter from Giant 4 Searer to Samuel B. Barrell, esf.
Doston, Junuary $\mathbf{I I N}^{2}$, 1632.
Deala ara-By your letter of ——, we leara Hat an opinion ethlertained by some of the macmbers, that goons tuported under the tariff of le2s, were sold at advanced prices in colise quence of said tariff, and that the consumers were suffecers instend of the imponters.
We have carefully examined our linvoices and sales, and now annez particulars of many lrading artieles of winch we were annex parters to conniderable extent, to wit :
Broadeloths-which cost from 94. 6d. to 16s. stering per yard: on this article we loat frua 15 to ets por cent. and, it somut in stances, 35 and 40 per cent. The advance of duty was enormous, in connequence of which we were induced to hold some of the goods for a tine in preferenee to cuakiug so heavy a lose; of the result has been, that we tave now on hand; a consulerable the result has been, that we have noir on hand; a consulerabic amount of the Identical cluthr in quertinn, ou which we shall amount of the Identical clothe in quertim, on lowe, including Interent, nonre than j0 per cent.

Cussimeres-Tlue same remarks as thase aganst eloths, will apWy to this article, and add, that we received rawninueres charged at 4 s .6 d . whach would coot $$ 160$ per yaid under the old tariff, whieh actually eost us, under the new, $$ 212$; and we find we suld a part of these grods at 8130 and 8155 per yard, in 1825 , and finally closed them in February, 1 e31, at about the same sacrifice, excluaire of intercst.*

Flannels-We euffered heavily on this article; have now on hand flannels claarged at 3 h .6 d . sterling per pirce, whieh, under the old tariff, would cost 91404 , and under the new 81925 per picce: these goods are now worth in the market nbmut $91250 . \dagger$ We, therefore, shall lose, including intesest, from 10 to g 11 on each piece, enormous, say from 3 to 8400 on a bale of from 30 to 40 pincee.

Hocking batzes-Charged at id. sterling per yard, cost formerly 21 cents per 5ard, and uader the present tarifi, cost 39 cents per yard. On thewe goode, our loss was very heavy.

Kerseys-The operation of the tariff is such, that our kerseys which cost 1s. 7!d. were charged a duty on the 50 ceuta minimum, and on those which cost 1s. Ed. were cliarged with a duty [^34]on the 100 minimum; the consequence was that we actually lost on all our kerseys; and on those which came under the 100 minimum, our loss was exceedingly heavy.

Vestings, cassimere sharts, hosicry, $c. de.-we also loat money on.
All orders since the passage of the tariff, have been given with a view of coming nearly up to, lout affely within, the different mimimums; for matanee, ordern for kerseys have been for those which do not exeped Is, 7d. sterting, of to come under the 50 cents minumum, and alto for a quantlty very much Lutter, to come up to the 100 minimum; the same case is alno okserved in ordering cloths, enssimuerrs, vestings, shawls, &c. &c.
"The faet lis, our losies were heavy on our impontation for the autumn of 1 e2x, instead of making nur usual profit of $12!$ of 15 per cent. Under these cirenmatancen, we feel that importers, anl not consumerx, are entilled to the full allowance of the difference betwen the extablished ditieg at the time the orders were giren, and those whieh were eharged on the goods at the time of their arrival; and that we should, in justice, also reerive interest on the same up to the time of payment of such difference."

We have not, usually, been in the practice of selling groods at auetinn, but in the fall of 1828, aud ppring of le29, floding it imponatble to dispose of our tarif goods at private sale, were induced to offer a part of our importation of 1828 , at Whitewell, Bond & Co's public saler, and we herewith enclone to you their affidavit respreting nuch salen; and, alro, affidavits of our clerk: can likewive furnish affidavits of commission merchants of New York, if necessary, as we shipped a few goods to that market, but were reshipposi, in consequence of being worth less there than in Boston. Kespectfully, your obedient mervants, GRANT & sEAVER.

Sam'l B. Barrell, esq.

BANKING!

The following has been published as the true "democratie" plan of operations-when the bank of the Uinted States shall wind up ite affairs.
A sulastitute for each state, instead of a branch of the United Slates bank-inereasing the capital of each state from one to ten uillions, (to be owned and managed by the citizens of each stale.)
New Orleans has on this plan with the accumulation of several millions more.
Alabama
$88,000,000$
and will increase it this year to 4 or ${ }^{5}$ millious Missiz=1pul
$1,000,000$
and will increase it all the state requires 4,000,000
1,000,000
$5,000,000$
remiesser with branches
Indiana wilfertabli=is this seasn ( Ahin ought to ralablish with brapehe $10,000,000$
Kentucky 5 to 6 millions 5,000,000
Illinais in duc ture 1,000,000
Misrouri
2,000,000
Virginia $5,000,000$
New York (in one bank in New York) . . . $10,000,000$ 1'enneslvania (in I or 2 bauka) - . . . 10,000,000
Marylated (in the banh)
4,000,000
Vurth f'arolma
Sollth Carolina, If they ran ecll thelr tonds - $\quad 2,000,000$ Soilti Carohua, if they ran ich their bonds - $\quad 2,000,000$ Gengla.

2,000,000
$879,000,000$
Other stales to be allilent.
Five perp erut. atock of all the states having 20 to 30 years to run will brine par, and many a cetblderable premiun.
The plan ilie same as the Uuiun Lauk of Nuw Orleans. See their cliatter.

With this project perfected how great would be the "division ships, and all sonts of aizenews-and the dealings in the stocks would employ a whole regiment of lazy sharperse, in New York only, and suppert 5 or 6,000 pertorns, domg nothang to add one cent to the wealh of the limied states, of comfort of the peor ple.

BOWIMIN COLLEGE.

The Boston Daily Advertiser, giving, in extenso, the Iong and Icarued opition of Mr. Justice stury, in the eave of this eollege, has alno the following summary, wheh it may be ueful to ineret, as shewing the point decided.
Case of Alten vs. Mi Kecm. We publioh io day the opinion of Judge Storv, in the wrill known and limportant case of the president of Buwdoin collige, agnibst the treapurer of that institation, for the malary and perquisites of his office, which lie claims to hoid notwitbrtandlus the provirions of an aet of the Iegitlature of Maine. paresd on the 31nt Marcli, 1831, by whiph he was ejected. That art ordained that nes perwna should huld the office of president in any eollege in Maine, beyond tha following eommencement, unless he should be re.elceted by the boards of tranters and overseets; and that any person elected to *neh office should be liable to removal at the pleasure of these boarda. This was argnieseed in by the two boards, who procecded at their meeting abont the time of the commencepeas of 1831 , to elect a president; but no person received a majority of the votes, and the institution has remained ever since without an acknowledged president. The questions presested in the case were, l. Whether the action is maintainable against she defeadant, as treasurer, supposing the plaintiff to be righitfully in office. 2. Whether the platitiff, notwithstanding the het already mentioned, and the proceediags thereupon, is rightfally is office, so that he is enticled to recover the atnount of hats alary and peryuisites, of either, againat the college. The last of thene questiuas is obviously the most maternal one; and the of thewe questivas is obvowny in al leugth: Aner a tull state. learned judge proceeds to discuss it at length: Aner a full suatement of the provisions of the charter, and the various acts of ancat oy the provistons of the charter, and the various acts of subject, he laye down the pronciple, that the college is a private and ant a public corporation, and proceeds te show, by a course of reaconisg, of which we will aok ismpair the effect by an attermpt to give a cursory outine of it, that the act of the legisalature of Maine is unconstitutionsl and vond, and in addition to ture of Matne is unconsthus in oflice under a costract with the this, that presudeat Alien is in ofice tander a costract with the pair. Os this quentioa therefire, the opialon of the court is expressed in favor of the planatifi; and it ia expreased with equal clearness in his favor on the other.

COMMODORE BAINBRIDGE.

This accomplaslied and gallant officer died at Pblladelphia on Saturday last, and was interred on Monday evening with mill. tary and civic muthors. We sulijois the following just tribute to tus mermory, which we copy fiotn the National Intelligenecr.
The latt I'hiladelplia papers bring the sad intelligence of the death of the upright, bonorable and clivalious officer, commodore Withlias Bainamisos, of the navy of the United slatea. For several years past afticted by a tingering diseane, the news of mis deadi has caused more paun than aurprise. We had beeu prepared for $u$, iudeed, iny the accounte of the atate of heath in whick he bad returned froun the eastern states to Philadelphia, with the obvious desire to breathe bis last in that city. We tany be peraitited, however, yet to expreas our sorrow for an ovent which has deprived the country of one of ite best cilizens, and the anval service of one of its brightest ornaments.
Comunodore Bainbridge was in his sixtieth year, and might have been spared to us for unany years to come, but for diviress. ing complants contracted in the service, which fonally termineted his valuable life. He was a native of Princeton, in New Jersey, and was born on the 7th day of May, 17i4. At an early age he was apprenuced to the sea-service, and behaved so well clut the rove to the comusand of a merchant ship at nineteen years of age. Frou that tiae ( 1793 ) to 1798, he commanded merchant ships in the traile from Philadelphat to Europer; during which periud, is the small ship Hope, with four sinall carriage cuns and nine men, he had an engagenient witi a British schoon er of 8 guna and 35 mea, commanded by a malling master ia the navy, and compelied her to strike her colors, though, the two countries not being at war, he could not take possession of her. In Juiy, I798, he unexpectedly, and withous any mpplication on his part, recelved from the executive an offer of conmuand is he rask of lieutenant in the navy. We whall not ptetend to pocasitulate bie mubsequent services. His capture, by the coundips of the frigate Philadelphia, under his command, in the bartor of Tripoli, his long lmprisonument, his fortitude and courage under it, ara mather of hastory, and seed not be bere dwelt upon. Let one anecdote suffee as illustrative of the characier of the decensed bero: whilst he was in captivity, and the Americau zeneral Eaton was advancing upon Tripoli, the pacha seat word to capt. Bainbridge, in no doubfful terms, that he had the means, which in case of extremity he should upe, of isjuriag the Apericans in the most tender poist, by putting his prieonert to deeth, ke.-thus hopisg to la tinnidate the captain, aud induce bim to wrive elther to the eonpmondore or to Mr. Eaton. Cape. Bainbridge's reply was, that he and his orficern were in the power of the pacha, and that he tuight do with them as he pleased; that the United State: had many other officers and seanen, and that, consequently, they should be no lons to the conntry. It may readily be conceived that, after this reply, be was importuned no furtiner,
The event of his life, however, which has most familiarized our readers to his name, was his gallant achievement of the capture of the frigate Java, on the 29 th Deceminer, 1812, being the thisd of those victories which established the character of the Americaa navy. Tise action was a srvere one, and amoaz our wounded was the cominodore himasif. The generosity of the vietor to the vanquinhed covered tim with as much elory as bis valor in battle; and for his honorable courtesy on that oceaaion the gratitude of the prisoners was expressed in the most feeling manner.
Nisce the conclapion of the war, eommodore B. had enmmanded with great reputation and popularity at several naval stations, and for several years filled the situation of a commissioner of the navy board. Every where befoved and esteensed, he was no less so hera than elsewhere. He commanded the respert and cateen of all who knew him, asd formand friendships which nothing but relenteses death could have severed.
The name of Bainasidaz, now arded to thoee of Drcater. Peasy and Macponveon, will loan be held in gratefml and affecticuate remembeance, not aneraly by thrif anrviving associntes in the perils asd gtories of the service whith they adorned and elevsted, but by the whole country, of which they were ure citizens and fauthful servants.

The following order, on the receipt of the melaneboly intelligence at Washmgton, wha issued by the navy departmant. ozveral maval oader.
As a mark of reapect to the memory of commodore Witzian Raindaibes, who died at Pbiladelplua on the 27th Iastant, the flage of the navy yards, stations, and veanele of the Unlted statee navy ate to be hotsted half mast-and thirtees minute guns fired at noon on the day after the receipt of the order.
Otficers of the navy aud manue corps are to wear crape for thurty days.
Nusy department, 20rh July, 1833.

MR. EDWARD EVERETT.

The subjoined letser was writen in answer to inquiries proposed by the auti-masonic coumultiee of Middieser county, Mass. through their secretary, Herman Atwell, esq, and ts naterpreted an identifying the poitucal interent of the writer with the catue of anti-masonry.

Charlestown, Mast. 294h June, 183.
My daan sin-I have your favor of the 27 th instant, addressed to me on behalf of the ant-masoutc cuatuittee of the county of Middleaex, in which you request in expreasiou of my views abd opinlons, relative to the mintinution of free masonry, and tendency of secret societies geuerally.
My public engagements, as you ate probably aware, are of such a aature, an to make it impoasible for nia to attempt a detailed exposinon of my views on this subject during the present week. Nor is this perhaps necessary. I nouce lu your letter week. Nor is this perasps necessary. froure the letter of Mr. Wirt, of the 2 th Bepmember, $18 $ 1$, as contaniligg the prineiples of the "large and respectable portion of my lellow cituzens and constitueuta," on whose behalf you address me. In the coprectness of those principles 1 fulty coseur. "The suprenacy of the laws" is the fuudaniental priuciple of civil society. "The allegiance due to the country ts the higheat human oblsgatuen" of all useu, who anter into civil socieiy; and I conceive the institution of free masonry to be at war with both these principles.
With respeet to this Institution, I came to the conclusion, and expreseed it repeatedly in pubtic, several years before the preseat costroversy arose, that ita preteations to antiquity were uutounded. It is probably the growth of the last centrary and a half. It thas frequently been adraitted to use by respectable members of the suciety, that it is useless; and that as such it had better be abolished. It only avowed objects-charity and knuwledge-can be much better promoted by public ameciathons. If it be useless, it must be worse than uselesa, because it occasions a waste of all the time, attention asd money-aecessary to keep up its organization. The titular and ceremonial paris of it, as displayed belore the public, appear to nue strangely at variance with good taete, parucularly in a republican community.
But the great objections to the institution lie much deeper. All mecret societies are dangerous In proportion to the extent of their organization and the number of their members. A secret society, so widely diffused and connected as this, puta a vast power, capsble of the most dangerous abuse, into hands irroapossible to the public. The ercret ceremontes and rites an they have been disclosed, appear to me on many grousds, highly objectionable; and the oaths and obligstions are open to the mosi weighty exceptions, on the acore of religion, morals, abd good sense. 1 am aware that sopus of these oaths must have been taken, by many great and goed men. That does not atter their character. And as I eannot belleve, that they could have stood a day before the face of public sentiment, had they been openty adnaiaistered and received, it is not the least objection to the instisution, that as a secret society, whose rites and ceremonies nusst be substautully anknown before baad, great and good men have been surprised into giving it a seeming sanction.
The force of these objectiona is lmancasurably incremsed by the fact, that within a fow years, the Institution has been actually made the instrumest of the greatest (the greatest because Irreparable) evil, which can be inflieted on society, the destruction of the life of a citizen; followed ap by syatematic and suecesaful attempts to screen the murderers, in defiance of the most rigorous efforts, on the part of the tribubals, to bring them to justice.
It is unnecessary to say, that I speak of the tendency of the Institution, as avinced in cases that have occurred, and consequently may occur again, and not of a aecessary effect in all cases. When I reflect that Warres and Washington, among the dead, and Marstall, among the living, and nambers of pinus, virtuous and hosorable men, in the community around us, (sume of whom I have the happiness to count among my personal friends) are members of the institution, I cordially adopt the sestiment of Mr. Wirt, in reference to the same point that "both justice and prudence demand discrimination," and that it would be "anf unjust proscription to involve inaoceace with guilt and treason."
Such are my views of the subject, very bastily expressedwhich, in compllanee with your request, you have my permiswion to make public. I am aware, froas some little experienee, that this may expose me to obloquy, which I would rather avoid. But if a man cannot safelv venture on the expression of sentimeata like the foregoing, it is idle to boast of the liberty of aperch and the pross. I am, dear sir, rrsparifully and faithfully yonas,

EDWARD EVERETT.
Afr. Herman atirell,

MR. GRUNDY'g ORTHODOXY.
Corrempondence between Folix Grundy (a senator of the U. S.) and the president of the United States.

Nashille, May 64, 1833.
Dean sir-if am duly aware of the impropriety, in general, of croubling you upos subjects not connected with your public duties, but tit enses, where justice to individuahs require it, I rely eonfidently that you will not withtiold any thing within your knowledge which may prevent injumitice. of youe.
lat. Whether you were not lutruately acguainted with my conduct an retatuon to the great queations of nutlification and conduct during the shote of the lant session of congrest?
2 d . Whethur you bad not full opportuaities not only of knowing my conduct but also my private feetings on those subjectas?

3d. Whether any member of congress labored with more zcal and assiduity to put duwn the doctrines of nultification and secession than I did?

4th. Whether my whole energies were not directed to suatain the administration in the great conflict in which it was compelled to engage on the above objects?

Yours with zreat respect
Gen. Jackson, presidend of $U . S$.
FELIX GRUNDY.

Washington, May 19, 1833.
My pean ind-Your letter of the 6th May, with its enclosure, hes been received. i am in some doubt whether I should repiy to your iaterrogatorses, as any answer I can give may not protect me from the etiarge of interfering in the choica of a seprotect son to be tegislatuie of Trennessee. But the fear of this Imputation ouglit not to preveut an answer so far an my knowledge of the retation in which you stand to the question proposed, may be necessary to do you justice; under this obligation, therefore, I feel at liberty to repeat now, what I have often sadd before in conversation, that your conduct during the taet sesaion of congrese, is opposition to the absurd and wicked doctrines of nullification and secession, was highty useful and energetuc; and throughout, as far an could judge from your votes and conversation, no one could have manifested a greater zeal to give effect to the measures of the adintnistration.

In stating thins generalty my opiniou of your conduct in the eenate on the subjects alluded to, I trust no one will tafer that I have auy other object in view, but that of satisfying you, that I an incapable of doing you injustice; with the choice which the legistatare are called upon to make, I can have nothing to do. Believe ame very sincerely, your obedieat servant

Hon. Felix Grundy.
ANDREW'JACKBON.

NULLIFICATION-AND SO FORTH!

From the Richmond Whig, July 12.
Gan. Hamilton, of Bouth Carolina, being Invited to the same fourth of July celebratiun which Mr. Calhous was prevented from attending, was also forced to decline from the state of his health, but transmitted in lien, the following letter.

Pendleton, July 4en 1833.
Ggitcexem-I eharished the hope until a late hour this morning, that my health would pernit uny being with you to-day, and that I milght in person retura you my sincere thanks for tha very Alattering and friendly Invitation you hava given me to nnite with a large and respectable number of the ciuzens of Andermon, in the celebratiou of the anniversary of American Independence; but being compelied to leave this for Charleston in the course of two or three day, I do not deem it prudent to put my convalescance to any previous trial by injudicious fatigue or axposure. I am therefore constrained to express my greut regret that I am unable to accept an invitation thus kindly tendered. It might, under ordinary circumstancas, be proper to conclude this communication with this apology, but the occasion itself, the deeply Interesting crisis through which our state has just passed, and the retation I have borne to the latter, will, I am in hopes, excuse the few remarks with which I propose to trouble you. You witl find in the sequet, that my purpose is not to indulge in a fruittews unvtanhysical diecusston, but powe is not to induige a more grateful, though mournful and affectouate utice.

The ceiabration of the annivarsary of the iadependenoe declared by the old thirtcen free, novereagn and independeul statea, before even their confederation in 1778, cannot fail to produce asalutary moral influence, if regarded with a just edumate of gorates a love for liberty liself, a jus\% sensibility to every thing that looks like tyranny and oppresson, and nourishes also attachasent to the sovereignty of these states, under an abiding conviction that, as the great struggle for independence was waged and consumunated by each of them, in its sovereign capacity, however conjointly they may have acted, furnishing, as it does, a type of their present relation towards each other, exercising again conjnintly a sovereignty whiels dows from each, and by which the agent created by this sovercignty is reaponsible to each and all, it cannot fail in its lofyy and choering associations to make us better inen and better truytees of that freedom which has been confided to our care.

But if, on the other hand, we set up false idnls, and wornhip in a stapid spirit of bugotry-the mers effigy for the divinity

Iteelf-if, tuder the name of union, the substantial easence of liberty is to be lost sight of, and the very terin itself is to be employed nok only as a cloak for fraud, violence and ibjustice, ont for the basest servilty and man worship, we shall have the duy itself teaches, and find that we have approached not much mearer in our adoration of the real objects of the union, than the Ligyptian did to his God in wornhipping a crocodile.
Bince our last anmiversary, our state has passed through a severe tuial. It thank Gud she did not falter. If our vktory iv not as complete at we could have desired, of as the juitice of our cause would have juatified, we have not, at least, ourseives to repronch. It is euungh ibat substantial interrats were seor eured, and, amidst alnost unexampled dimcuities, the pain of bonor was preserved by the stugle and uanassisted effnits of onk party. If we liad been united at home, and if, after Soutu Caparty. If we liad been united at home, and if, after soutul Carelna had avowed in the face of the world her ultimatum, all her children had gathered around ber in Btial obedieuce and devotion, Lacedemon, at no period of the hiatory of Greece, woutd have presenied a more triunphantiy giorious atitude, than this state would have done, small as she is in poputation and terrtorial exicut. We should have liad not a bill of compromiase, but a bill of plensry repeal and pactication.

The intestine dissenslons which prevented such a consummation, are to be deeply lamented. But do not let us despond. Let us hold to the faith that is in us. Let us pause, gather strength, abstain front any unnecessary agitation of the public mind, keep our lamps burning and our ranks firm and unbroken. Tha eternal truthe which lie at the foundation of our principles, must go on, waxing stronger and stronger, until the plastation states shall exhibit to the world the seemisgly extraordinary paradox which antiquity han before revealed, that slave-bolders Hemselves are the most vigilant guardians of the civil and political liberties of their country. Depend upon It, the day is not far distant when all our resources must be hrought again into action. Our antagonist "is seotched not kilted."

Whilst we thus guard the sanctuary of our principles, iat us aiways remember with grateful affection, when the hand of death comes among us, who have worshipped at our altars. The javinn of the deatroyer bas brought down to the cold chambers of death, within the short space of a few weeks, two of ous strong men, whom at thls mnmeut we could least have spared. Of him, who has found his last reatlug place within the bosom of his and our own mother land, I shatl not nnw speak. This proud, yet painful office will devolve upon me elsewhere and at nother time. But of hint, whose grave is now turned to the last rays of that setting sun "whose hroad disk he is never deatined azain to see burnishing in its declining beams-the blue hilts of hla own Virginia," I desire, in the fuliness of my heart, to eay one word.

John Randolph has lef us at a moment when he was prepared to have served us moet. If God had seen fit to have permited him to have taken his seat in the next congress of the United States, and to have allowed him to enjoy even a temporary respite from his almost uarelenting disease, no period of his eventful ufe, (brilliant as it was), could have been contrasted with the splendor of thoee elosing efforts, which I know it was him design to have made for the inberties of our country, or, if thts design to have asade for the inberties of our cobntry, or, if the failed, of rousing his own Virginia from her slumber, and rekindling the long extinguished ares on ber watch towers. ExKindling the long exunguisied ares on ber watch towers. Existing, as there was, between na, almont an hereditary friendshlp, during the whola progress of our strugale, I was fa comatant correspondence with thts highly gifed and mort extrmordinary man. Whatever errors he may sometimes have supposed we bad committed, from too much ardor in a good cause, be never faltered for one momest in the atrong and affectionate interest he took th our fate and the auccess of our cause, or in the deep indignation which he expressed at the atrocious despotism of the proclamation, of the tima serving profligney of some of its supporters. In one of his letters, he remarked to me, "Jj I cannot be booted and mounted for the combat in your approaching coafliet, I will at least be borne, like Mulay Moiua, in a litter, to the field of battle, and die in your rapks. ${ }^{3}$

I had dexigned to have sent you a letter which ha wrote me a few hours anter the president's proclamation had reached him, when he was stretched on what was almost his last bed of sickness, but, on more mature reflection, I have deamed it adviwabie to consuit a mutuat friend both of the deceased and anyself, in Virginin, as to such parts of our correapondence as it might be proper to be made pablie, before any of his lettera appeared. The Jetter, bowever, to which I allude, shall see the light. Wheu it does, I promive you that Andrew Jackson, esq. viti not lave akin enough laft upon his back to determine the colnr of his epidermis.

To have lost at this exirent moment one who, with such rare and extraurdinary andowmento for the erials, possessed and exercised ench a apell like influence over publie opinion in his own state, is a calamity that can omly be contemplated with compneure when we reflect that death eame at last, to relense this bright emanatiofn of the athereal spiric, from a broken tencment, long suffering, stiking and decaying from almost the first dawn to the last vestiges of life. Peace to his manes. The areuth uever had, pever can have, a more glorious, gallant, and southerer aha mostically an bonest higily gifted champion-one who was emphaticaily an bonest man-one who knew in fear in the cause of truth, and stood forth in her defence in invincibie arinor, brandishing bis bumithed lance in the light of heaven, and refecting high in ito bright thus accourted that be publicly stond forth before the wortd as the elampion of the libertims of hits country.
It will be the more pleasing, if less Hrefut, province of the falthful blographer likewtse to bring us in cluser cosumunlon with the thuusand virtues which endeared him to thowe who, knowing him best, invarably loved him most. To reveal to us his gushing sensihilty, his inbred trindernesa of lieart, hita romanue devotion to the dutiea and otficen of friendship, bis parental kindness to hiw slaves and dependruts, whom the premed, from ne very bumbeness of thrir allothent, to regaril am his child en, and withal, if the lambent bean of the evening light ning can be caught, the wit witich mparkled in never ending lastica from his lige.
Let us then offer a libation to his spinit. Igive you-
The memory of John Raulolph, of Roanokv:-In guarding the aslien of her highty gitted son, let Virginia remrinber him propletic warningw, and be prepared to stand, where he ntway: noood, In the trenches of the third parnilel, in detence of the constatution and the liberty of his conititery.
I remnin, gentlemen, with sincere renpeet, your fripnd ani fllow clizen, J.s. $11, \dot{W} 11$.'NoN. jr.

To George Rankin, esq. and olher menliers of the comaitice.
Ilnwever unhappily for his enuntry, we helieve that John Randolyh, for his own fame, could not liave slied at a lmppuer period. The deep and unaticeted npprethen-inus for the libertirs of the conntry, with which the derputic piomiplos uf the proelamaton, and their univernal necoplation worth of the I'otomare, have inspired all who belleve those libertuen to depermil upon the strict interpretation of the constitution, and the mangume calru lations made on the excrilons mind great abiltiew ot Mr. Mandulph, to procure a reveraal of the fatal digmas of the proclamation, have caused his untumely fate to be lamented with a liveliness and univernality of patriotic forrow withont example. For the illustrious mrin uf our land who had deserndent to the tomb before him, died in the fullnews of yeart, and when their country had reaped a full harvent of thioir virtues and af their talentra; but John Randolph died terfore the bad accomplished the last great nervice expected from lith-which secanedioculiarly seserved for his prestiar powern, and which, we fear, the strength of none liviug is adequate to neliteve.

The reader will linok with peculiar intereet tor that letter of Mr. Rambelph to which gov. Hamitoa Ic?ere, and wheth le declares it bis purgose to publinis.

COMMENTA OV THE AROVE

From the (ilobe, July isis.
Greal doinge at Shab-Tovm, Soulh Carolina. The unllifiern, t seems, have resolved that sh.a a Tow y whall ectipse t'oll where they began theit revolnt,onary movementa, Whinnon the proctanation-the firce bill, and upon the mon, whllichan triumphed by his vetocs, and brfore the people, orer the .1 ineri can Sytem in all its parts, to now the order of the day with the nullien, tuder the tead of Messru, I'allonn and Hamiton: nomd at Slag-Tiow w, they have made *ome terrible slopis, indeed, at the president, and all who unite with han in the srintinent, that the union muat be prearoved. Nome wisty or anventy toast were drunk. Warren R. Davis was the Melbatlie of the day Ile uiged the immediate enfurcemient of the test oath, to ex eluds the union tarn fiom the ughts of eltizrothip in south Cambina, and but one wish seemind to animate the whole mor't ing, in which, we are tuld, "great unmuinitg, prevailes," and that was mont frankly avowed in the following tanst, vizs

May those who woled for the Bloody hill to enerce Kouth Caro Uina, a free and sovereign state, into shameful subnalssion, necer go down to their graves in peace."

The whole tenor of the proceedinge go to show, that the ho nest gentlemen, who now take the leat in South Carolina, mre of opiuion that every man who favors the proclausatsun-the foree bill-or, in other worke, that all who nre opposed to nulliAcation, ought to be shopt-dourn, and not suffered even to "dle in peace.'

That most dirimeresfed, condiffent, urambitions, honesf, guiel poltician, John tatiline Cathonn, who kousht to knit all He powers of government in the hands of the lank-bitembing it with internal impruvements and the tarifi-making it the re eciver of the inaposts and the disbinter-with Mr. Melluffic's high toned exponituon of feshral power, in "ong: or the proPLe," for its guide-this strait laced gentleman conld uot be present; but he wrote a letter to Name Tows. He is now ho longer distressed about the money or the cotton of the struth. But libiaty, linenty, in lowt foherer!! He says, "of all earthly things I place lakaty in the first rank," &e. kce "I believe tineaty to be in imnifnent danzer," &e. ke. "I'the prochamation and message of prevident Jackoon, and the prosange of the Goree bill nt the last "rasion, liave laid the a that the ruot of 1.1 nertiv," &e. &c. "Unless the people should rive from thetr leehargy and put then doun, ota ooviromint with noor necome AS DEAPOTIC AR ANY ON EARTH"'- "Whelher we orelo he A VRFE reopik, depende on the fatel, whether there Grallina and biv. OEREOE ACTE OV ESVRPATION on the part of the federal gorers. onent, are acquiesced in or not." "I arillingty murrendered oll personal considerations to oppone the opproach of urapotisn." ditis unt in the power of any singte, or frw imilividnals, to picmerve hins rty. "He then eloses with a prayer to Providence, to "wouteh over wi in this atkat and HanuEnots CRINIS, and no ewlighten the people and ingpire their hearts with the lore of THEth LIBEETY and cowntry, that they may clearly see the dan ger, "& c .

This is the sum and eubstance of the whote fetter-not a word about the tariff-the unconatitutional protection of coarse woolichs-or cottons-or cash duties, in the entire epiatle. Free trade itecif is lorgotten! and bothung is thuaght of by Mr. Calhoun, but the right of nullifieation and secession from the unton, to sceure to the people of the south the "LisegTY, "aye, that is the wand-the liberty of making lifm the dictator-the TENT DATH-MAKE $B$ for a fragment of that confederacy, the eblef magistracy of whels the so long nought, but aow despairs of ever atturning.
The knight errant of nullifeation, general Hamilton, it apprara, was on a vist to thic metaphyeleal expounder of the crevg, and he, ton, wrote a lucublation fing shab-'Tows, or Shap Jotv-a name, which serms more ngt to the doctrime.
With regard to the unton, the crusading general Hamitou sa) s:
If "we set up fulue i. Lols, and worship, in a stupid spirit of blgutsy, the merre elfigy fin the divinity itrelf-1f, nmier the name of isias, the substunthal ewence of LiakkTY is to be lost sight of, wim the veas tern usinf it to be cmpluyen unt unly as a cloak for fraul, viohlsice and injustice, but for the basest seritity and man worship, we shall have icatut an little from our fathers as Imm the nugust moral whelt the day itself teaches, and find that we have approsached wut much nearer in our adoration of the real objects of the union, than the EEyptian did to Ais God, ta teorehijping a C'Woc'ull.E."
This in very figurative, and fighty. Brought down to the coninon level, we suppote it menar, that the unton is a "mere vflugs;" that nulliticatuon is "the subatantial essence of tiberty;" that the union ts preferred to the riglit of each state to mulify H, liom spurit of "man-worahipe" of devotion to geperal Jackson on the part of the peuple-that general Jackson is "A caocuplu.k," and the matuin in "a sfupid spirif of bigotry," idolize a monster; and for the sake of that monster are induced to feet in affectionate reverence for the institutions be watches ovet and would prescrve. This imleed is a teirible slop at the American people and their president.
The general, it his $n \boldsymbol{x t}$ paragraphs, in effect, tells us that be would have given law to the whole country, by the sword, 15 his state liad becn wiled!' Ite likes union ou a small scate.
[Hece the paragraples referred to are inserted as they appear in the forrgothg letter.]

The theasing of that is a litule wrapped up, but as hatory the litte atates of Girecee-bo south Carolina, being a litte Iave fonldinit wate, would have been able, but for dissention, to have eonnjucied by mans the freemen of the other creat states, and added thoin, doubthest, to the number of South Carolian laves. F'or the present, however, lie it sativfied that he saxgd "the point of honor." It is true, with the proclamation before Ins 1.3c*, he whuld not "go his dealh for his mugar." He pait the alut): but lie lives to fizht another day. "Depend wpon it," was 5 our death-doing geneval-"deprend upon it, the day is not far distunt when alf our resources muit te brought again finto action -our untagouist is scolched, not ktlesy." The next time the uultiness wall give no quatere.

We are then told by general thanition, that but for the untimely death of the hmight of thasuluke, ho would have joined Hullification 14 then crusade ajathat "the atrocious despodism of tio proctamailion." In one of his leflera, (says the gencral,) the remathid to me-

If I cunnot le looted and mounted for the combat in your approwchina conflict, I will at least be borne, lite Muley Moluc, in a 1:1ter lo the field of buttle, and die in your rambs."
T'o shew the prople or Slan 'I'ow whow Mr. Randolph meant to deal with the piesisent, the geucrahsonnan was about to setod tu the on a hotter lie reeeived from the gentletasa before his death; fint dowlining it for the piervit, lie gives the slap dourn people the following acenumt of the asatier:
"I had dewnet to have went you a lettr which he wrote me a few tumit after the prosidenits proclamation had iesehed bint, When the wain btheleded on what wan almost his laat bed of sickness, liut ou mote duathre reflectum, I bave decmed it advisable to con-ult a matual fricud troth of the decensed and myself in Vingua, as to euch parte of our corrrapondence, as it might be piropre to make public, before any of bis Icters appear. The WHL NOT HAVE BKIV ENOtGHIEFT VPON HIS EACK TO DETEAMINE THE COLOM OV HIE EPLDERMIS."

'I"u be lior one: mounvot sermus, we must say, that we do not believe that Mr. Itambolph ever wrote whrh a tetter, as to lere divecribed. If lie dud, what un-t the pmbitic thmk of the pretenwions to open, tuanly eanior and stucerity which hits fitetods at srrt for him? Mr. Randalph wrote to the president the most friendty, nas, the kindod Iettera. Even after the proclamation appared, he eane to Wayhmgton-waited on the presidentdined with him, ind in his very lant interview, evinced the same reapectinl, fol-ndly regard, which charaeterised all his provinu* intereourse and correapondence. How then could Mr. ltandelpho, if lie were an fngenuour, honest man, have hartbored in lis lownt under all these showa of friendobip, the maliznant, deadly linte. which is is now preteniled, eharacterize his letters to ecucral liamition? We hope the g'neral will feet himarif called on by what wr have sald, to produce his corresponilenet, his whole correspondence, and nothing but this correspondence. This te due to the dead and the living.

NILES' WEEKLY REGISTER.

Foumti seriss. No. 2t-Vol. Vili.] BALTIMORE, AUG. 10, 1833. [Vol. XLIV. Whole No. 1,14\%.

THE PABT—TRE PRESENT—TOR THE FUTUEE。

EDITED, PRINTED ANU PUBLINHED BT B. NILES, AT 55 PER ANXUM, PATABLE IM ABVANCE,

OF-In the last parugraph of our article in the last Register umber the heail of "Religious Newapapers and Controversies," a mistake occurvel which we deem it pmper to correct. The word "insolent" should be "innocent," so as to read "the most innocent remarks, uttered in the most general terms" &c. The word will be found in the 6th line from the beginning of the paragraph.

Cnolers. This disease still liugers at Pittsburgh. The boarl of health reported two deaths for the week immediately preceding the 30th uls.
In Mismouri, the discase has been peculiarly fatal. Pulmyra, a comparatively small village, lost between the 1 st and 15 th ult. upwards of 100 of its inlabitants. At St. Charles many of the best citizens had fallen viotims. At St. Louia, the eholera was subsiding.
The Vandalia Whig says, the eholera still continues in Illinois, and although its progress is not rapid, deaths are oceurring almost daily. At Carrollton it has broken out with such malignity as to suspend all business and elothe the town in gloom. At Galena, there had been between 30 and 40 deaths from the 19th June to the 1214 July.
In Ohio the cholera prevailed in many places; at Cincinnati it was on the increase; 8 deaths occurred there on the 1 st inst. It had declined at Colunibus. In the penitentiary at that place there laad been 29 cases aunl 7 deaths amongst the convicts, up to the $301 h_{2}$ ult. Out of 803 convicts about too hat had the premonitory symptoms.
In Kentucky, it had greatly subsiled, though in sone placea it was making fearful iuroads. In Bardstown the family of judge Rowan, late U. S. senator, has been severely visited by this inserutable scourge. His sons William and A. If.; his son William's wife; grand-daughter, Miss Steele, and his sister Mrs. Kelly, had died, as also, several of his slaves. His son Johu was siek, but not dangerous. Maysville has sustained a serious loss in the death of Mr. Charles E. Wolf, its late mayor. He was buried on the 25 th ult. with all the respect due to his station and eminent services as the chief executive officer of the city.
Hagerstown. Three deaths by eholera having at different intervals occured there during the season, of persons from the line of the canal, a meeting of the eitizens of this town recently took place, at which a conimittee of ten gentlemen of the first vespectability was appointed to examine into the condition of its health. This committee report that after full inquiry aml careful investigation, they find that from the spring of the presetht year, down to the $29 t h$ ult. Whe eitizens have enjoyed kood health, and that so ease of epidemic cholera has originated there.

Late from Buenoa Arass. By the brig Amanda, eapt. Yorke, Buenos Ayres papers have been received to June 22d inelusise.
The eleventh legislature of the province ennvened at Buenos Ayres, 31 st May, on whieh day, governor Balearce deliverefl a message containing ainong other paragraplis the following:
"The minister sent by the government of Washington, whose expeeted arrival was announced to you in the preceding year, and whom it was resolved to await in order to come to an explanation relative to the destruction by main foree of the colony in the Island de la Soleclat, (one of the Falklands), by the eaptain of the United Suates corvette Lexington, ilid in effect arrive, and was received in the character of charge d'uffaires: won are, Messers. Representatives, already arfuainted with the state of this negotiation. The government, in orfer to follow it up, has appointell a ninister, aud leas untifiell this appointment to that of Wahhington; and he will shortly be de.

Vole XIIV-Sin. 26.
spatehed with the competent Instructions to obtain satisfaction and reparation for so great an injury.
"The re-settement of the Falkland Islands was imme* diately resolved on, in the mode that the other attentions of the province allowed; but soon an event occutred as unexpected as disugreeable. The government has in= formed you that the eaptain of his Britannic majesty's sloop of war Clio, sustained by a superior force, took possession of the islands in the name of his sovereign. Then it likewise stated to you what would be its conduet. It has therefure direeted its minister at 1 ondon, that, energetically remoustrating against the violation of the most sacred principles of the law of nations, be demand the restitution, and seek such satisfaction as becomes the justice and humor of both governments, by those tnears which probity, good faith and sound reason dictate."
[Jour. Com.
The opphessed south. Some of our southern follow citizens complain that the laws passed by congress to counteract foreign legislation, and to protect our domestic manufactures, as well as American labor aud capital, embarrass their trade, and are produeing with them, poverty, distress aud ruin. To alt who will dispassionately examine the sulyjeet, these complaints will be found to be visionary and unfounded. It is the grain growing states, that have reason to complain still of the state of the markets and our foreign trade.

From tst Oetober, 1831, till 30th Sept. 1832, there were inported into Pennsylvania from foreign countries, goods, &e. amounting to the sum of $$ 10,678,358$.
And yet, from Pennsylvania there was exported in the same year, of domestic protuce, $$ 2,008,991$
of foreign do.
3,516,066
Whereas, in the same year, there was imported into South Carolina,

1,213,725
And the exports of her domestic produce were, Imports into Alabama,
Do.
7,685,853 306,845
2,733,554
South Carolina, with a population of only 581,458 , more than one-half of whom are slaves, has received during the last year of her agricultural produce, nearly eight nullions of dollars, whilst Penusylvania, with a population of $1,347,672$, received for the whole export of her domestic produce and manufactures, little morv than two millions of dollars.

Alabama, with a population of 508,997 , more than onethird of whom are slaves, received as above for her cotton and sugar, nearly three millions of dollars. In this state of trade and commerce, who are the sufferers? Surely not the southern planters. It is to be remembered, that the greatest part of our imports are from Eugland, which does uot admit a barrel of our flour, or a bushel of our wheat, to be sold in her market. The duties on foreign flour and grain are so great, as to exclude them from the English market, except in a season of searcity, to prevent a famine, and yet southern planters tell as thim it is unreasonable to impose duties on Rritish manufacotures, for the protection of our own labor, expital and domestic manufactures.
The total of exports of prodaet as stated, shows that the labor of the south is, under the existing laws, mueh better paid for, than in the grain-growing and free labor state of Pennsylvania, and even if the product of single plantations be eonsidered, with reference to the labor used on them, they equally show the adrantages of the southern planter over the grain grower of the middle states.
In the Savaunah Repoblican of May 29th, is a statement of the produce for the last year, of three sugar plantations in East Florida.

The first plantation produced to cacla hand for the year, $$ 337$
The second plantation, 570
The third do. 475 The aggregate, as given, is, that 79 hands produced 50,600, which is 387 dollars for ench haud, and greatly $$ 50,600$, whish is 387 dolars or each hand, and givatiy north. Is it not inarvellous, that our southern fellow citizens, with the alvantages which they possess, slould complain of the market anal commercial regulations? It is, however, with them, as it is with some individuals in every socicty, that those persons, who, by the bounty of Providence, have least camse to compluin, are tre ones who talk inost of their innaginary evils.
[Frunklin Repository.
Hritish Weat Ivmes. The Jonrual of Commeree has been permitted to copy the following extract of a letter from our consul at Janaicen, addressenl to captain Newton, of the United States slip the St. Louis, on the eve of his ileparture from that pmrt. By it we regret to find that the most distressing appreheusions ure contertainced for the safety of the white inhabitants, in consequence of the arrangenents now making in the British parliament with respect to the emancipation of the slaves in the 13ritish West ludia possessions. We trust that our govermment will lose no time in placing a naval force in that quarter, for the better security of the lives and property of our eitizens.
Consulate of the U. States, Kingston, Jam. Jume 30, 1833.
Dear sir-llaviug unlerstoonl that you intend sailing to-morrow, I should do great injustice to any ter-linge if I did not testify to you my sincere and most grateful thanks for the courtesy and distinguishenl attention I received from you during wiy late visit out board the St. Iosis, and without meauing to refleet in the least on the character of any one gallant officer in the service, have only to say that if similar attentions were more generally paill to our acevedited ageuts abroad, it would add girently to their respectability in the eyes of foreigners, and thereby enable them the more fully to secure the interests of their fellow citizens. [After sone firther remarks in hight commendation of the St. Louis, heer officers, and all pertaining to her as a ship of war, the letter proceeds-] Your departure from this place at such a critical moment as the present, is not only regretted hy myscif unal family, but by the cutire jopulation of Kingaton and its entirons. You nre aware, sir, that the views of ministers, as regarls the emancifation of the slaves, &ce. in the different colonies, have been receivel here, anil it has not given satisfaction to either of the partics interestell, and least of all the slaves. It in generally therefore beliceved, that as soon as the particulars shall have been promulgated throughout the island, poisoned as the minds of the negroes now pre, that they woill make an attempt to emancipate themselvers, and the conseguences in that case, cannot be otherwise than fatal to every white inhabitant, foreigner or ofherwise. Whether these things will take place as soot as is generally expectenl, I camot take upon me to say; perhaps from the jrcewntions which the government are now takiag, a considerable time may yot intervene, before the negroes ventire to carry into effeet their plans; anl as there is a groat sleal of "American property and interest in the colony," it behooves our gorernment to take every precaution for its security. I therefore most earnestly entreat you, to impress upon the minal of the honorable seeretary of the navy, the propricty of keeping a vessel of wour in this neighborhood, and ocessionally to visit this port, to communicate confidentially with me.
Although your time has been very shot here, I trust yon lave both seen and heard cnough to justify the appulieation I have inade, for the presence of ans armed vessel, as soon as possible, and if it should please the honorable secretary, from the known reputation of your character for gentlemanly conduct, combined as it is with all the neeessary prudence which the commander of a ship of war should possess, roming here at such a time, and under such circumsfances, f know no one who wnuld be more agreeable to me , and the authorities gencomilly, than you, sir.

With my best thanks to all your gentlemanly offieers, for the kindness and attentions thus inclividually evinced tuwards me, daring my late visit on board the "St. Louis." I am, denr sir, with best wishes for your honor and leappiness, your very sincere friend and faithful servant,

Roneat Mosiue Hagmeon.
Latest fnom Poertuosl. Captain Howland of the brig Hetsey & Jane, at N. Bedfurd, from St. Michael's, which he left ort the 99 th Juve, reports that four or five days previous to his sailing, a schooner arrived at that place, in fiuur and a hulf dags from Oporto, with a few wounded soliliers from Dont Putro's army. She brought arcounts of Don Pedro having ruecived an addition of troops from Finglani ant France, and that 5,000 soldiers had embarkedl on board steamers at Ojorto, clestination unknown.These aceounts were received with much satisfaction at St. Michael's, and hopes were entertained that the struggle would soon terminute favirably to the canse of Donna Alaria. The acoouns, however, previous to the above, were of a nature not viry flattering to Bon Pedro's friends, aul these last, inspired them with new hopes At Matleirn, 14 hh June, there were 3,000 of Don Miguel's loest troops. Every thing was quiet and the ituhabitants alid not entertain the least fear of Don Pedro's succeeding.
Welcome of nex. Cass ix Dethort. At a meeting of the citizens of Detroit, on the 2311 ult. a committee was appointirl, who in pursuance of their instrictions, adliressed a note to gen. Cass, then on a visit to that eity, in the following terms:
${ }^{41}$ Detroit, July 24, 1853.
"Hon. Inewis Cass, secretary of war.
"Sir-'The eitizens of Dhetroit, your neighbors and frienuls, who have so long had an opportunity of witness. ing your important publie services, aud the admirable qualities which, happily blended, allorn your private character and worth, gladily avail themselves of the oecasion which your temporary visit to this jlaee affords them to solicit your aceeplance of a public dinner, at such time as may best comport with your convenience.
"Cherishing, as we do, the recollection of the social and frierully relations and intercourse, that so happily charncterized the period of your gubernatorial functions over the territory, an opportunity to revive, even temporarily, those happy recollections, would be gratefully appreciated, and particularly by that portion of our eitizeus whis have long had the pleasure of an aequaintance with yourself and your excellent and amiable family.
"Hiapuy in being the organ through which the citizens of Detroit respectfully present to you, sir, this small triloute of their respect, permit us to addij the expression of our unalterable wishes for your health, welfare and hap-
To this note the following answer was returned:
"Detroit, July 94, $183 s$.
"Gentlemen-Be pleased to accept for yourselves, and to communicate to the eitizens of betroit, my acknowledgments, for the kind invitation I bave received, to aeeept from them a pulalic dinner.
${ }^{46}$ The time at my dispossl will not allow me the pleasure of meeting them upon such an occasion. But this proof of their regard in not less welcome to me, and is hut a coutinuation of tlat kindiness which for eighteen years I have experienced from them in the relations of jublic aul private life.
"In whatever circnmstances I may be placed, the recollection of what I owe to the confidence and good will of the citizens of Detroit will always be present with me. I am, gentlemen, with regard, your obedient servaut, Lew. Cass."

Important to voyagres ann ship owners. A casc was lately tried in the court of common pleas, New York, whereit an emigrant to this country brought an aetion for clamages against the owners of a ship in which he had engrged a passuge to this country from Iiverpool. The ship with ber cargo and passengera on board had actually proceeded on the voyage; but being materially damaged by a gale on the third or fourth day, to return or aink was found inevitable. The passengers were consequently diaembarked at liverpool; and thervfore demanded anolice passage immoliatcly by the same ship owners, or to have their paid farea returned. Neither was done; and the plaintiff in the suit engaged passage io another pack$\mathrm{et}_{\text {! }}$ and having arrived at New York, he brought his action to recover the amount of the fare paid; and of the expenses to which he was neecssitated by the failure of the first voyage. The passage money was 16 dollars.

The learoed judge in his summing up, charged the jury on the law and the facts, and laid it down as law, that in cases of the payment of passage money, and the consideration not being reutered, nor the passage completed, those contrating to curry the passengers, at common carricrs, were bound to exceute their agreement, and, if not done, they were liable for the amonit paid them. That there was no distinction in law between freight and passage, both being alike in the same principle of maritime law, which requires the eariying of the freight and passage money as agreed.
The jury returned a verdiet for plaintiff of $$ 16$, with 6 cents costs.

Phil. Scntinel.
The: Inmax chanacter. The Richmond Compiler relates the following interesting incitent, strikingly iflustrative of that exalted trait in the Judian character which tolds with unslaken firmness to the observanee of a plighted faith, be the circumstances what thuy may under which the pledge was given:
When geveral Scott, in his late eampaign arrivell at the American encampment in the north west, he found three lndians prisoners-under a charge of murdering the whites. The evidence against them was slight-anl an application had been selit on to Wadhington to obtain their diseharge. But the president hall gone to the Hermitage, and the secretary of war to Detroit. No answer was of course, obtained. Io the mean time the cholera broke out among the American troops in the camp on Rock river. Many became victims. One of the three Iudian prisoners also took it and died.
The general secing the danger they were exposed to, deterniined on letling the two survivora out of confine-ment-and zolll them if they wouk confine themselves to the idand in the river, he would permit them to go there. Their word being pledged, he direeted them to go to the extreme part of the island, where they might keep somewhat out of the way of our troops. They accordingly repaired to the quarter where he had lirected them to go; but they never once left the island-although they might easily bave made their escape. Meantime the cholera apread, and the danger thickened. The general then told them that he would permit them to go to their tribe, upon condition that they would return to the camp as soon as he gave them notice that the cholera was gone. They assented to the terms and went home.

These men were under a charge of murder-and might have lost their lives if they were put upon their trial. But, notwithstanding this eircumstance, the moment gen. Scott had determined to hold his great council with the Indians, he informed the two prisoners that they must eome in-and they did not hesitate to to mo. They repaired among the first Indians to the American encampment.
The reader will be pleased to hear that ther were ultimately acquitted-though one of them had to pledge himself to attent as a wituess against anotioer ludian, who was chargell with murdering the whites. This dury too he fulfilled, though at much fucourenience to himuself.

Indian lands, &e. At the time of writhg the following letter, Hashington was president, aud Mr. Jefferson his secretary of state:

Philadelphia, Aug. 10, 1791.

To general Knax.

Dear sim-I have now the honor to return the petition of Mr. Moultrie on behalf of the South Carolina Ynzoo company. Without noticing that some of the highest functions of sovercignty are assumed in the very papers Which he annexes as his justification, 1 am of opinion that government should firmly maintain this ground: That the Podians have a right to the occupation of their lands, independent of the states within whose chartered limits they happen to be: That until they cede them by treaty, no att of a state can give a right to such lands: That neither under the present constitution, nor the ancient confederation, had any state, or person, a right to treat with the Indians, without the consent of the general government; that that consent has never been given to any treaty for the cession of the lands in question: That the government is deternined to exert its energy for the patronage and protection of the rights of the Indians, and the preservation of peace between the United States and them; and that if any settlements are male on the lands not ceded by them, without the previons consent of the United States, the government will think itself bound, not only to declare to the Indians that such setilements are without the authority or protection of the United States, but to remove them also by force.

It is in compliance with your request, my dear sir, that I submit these ideas to yon, to whom it belongs to give place to them, or to such others as your better judgonent shall prefer, in answer to Mr. Moultrie.

Til. Jxyfensox.
Damise nonnery. An cxtensive and daring robbery was committed in Rutland, Vt. on the night of the 24th inst. Sonse villain entered the dwelling louse of William l'age, esq. eashier of the bank, and stole money to the samount of nearly $$ 7,000$. The money was contained in a small trunk, which was carried to the bedroom of Mr. Page for safe keeping, regularly lockell, and the key deposited in his vest procket. The rogue must have entered the bedroom, taken the key from the pocket while the family were asleep, ami departed with the trunk, which was found rifled in the north parlor; and the bank keys in the small yard in the front of the house. The bills were, we learn, mostly of the Itutland bank. One thousand dullars reward is officred for the recovery of the money.

Imphisonmext fon debt. In the British house of come mons, on the 13 th of June, the solieitor gencral moved for leave to introduce a bill to amend the laws relating to debtors. We have not scen the bill itself: but the remarks of the solicitor general, on thu subject of his motion, give a very general aceount of ite provisious. He stated, that bis principal object was to give a remedly against the property, instend of the person, of the slebtor. The first provision of the bill would be, to allow immediate exeention upon all bills and bonds, when they liecome due, dispensing with many of the proceedings at present in use. On a summons being issuenl, execution is to issue forthwith, unless security is given to the eourt. The debtor is to be brought before a commissioner, and if he refuses to exlibit and surrender his property, is to be committed to prison. The creditor is to be entitled to a remedy against all kinds of property possessed by the debtor. Power is to he given to debtors to make a surrender of their property, in which ease, the creditors, by a majority of four-fifths, may give him a certificate of disclarge. To obtain money with an intent to defraud, is declared a misdemesnor, as is also the abseonding of the debtor, or the stating of a false account in the surrender of his property. Imprisonment for debt is proposed to be abolisherd, exeept in eases attended with fraud, but where a creditor makes onth before a magistrate that his debtor is about to abseond to a foreign country, the latter may be imprisoned.
(Boston Pat.
Catastiofne bt hifitying. We have the following statement from a gentleman who visited the acene of the aw ful oceurreuce which it describes, the morning after it took place.

A respectable citizen of Hampshire county, Va. of the name of Arnold, who earried on the business of tanner, had been to Alexamlria to sell a load of leather, was reInruing on Thursday, the 25th ult. Iravelling on horseback by the stage road, when about ten miles below Aldic, in Loudon county, the appearance of a heary cloud warned him to seek shelter for himeelf and horne. He aceordingly rode up to a stable at the side of the rond, where the stage stopped to change horses and having obtained permission of the stage driver, put his horse into one of the stalls. The driver at this lime had the four stage horses out before the door-three of them were in a cluster, and a few paces from the door, the fourth waa detached a little distance from the rest.

Mr. Arnold was stunding in the stable door, ealmly viewing the threatening cloud as it thiekened and rolled over head, flashing and roaring in awful and terrifie grandeur. It was not long that he stood thus: a calaract of eleetric fire desceruled upon the stable, rending it from the ridge pole to the sill. Mr. Aruold was struck dearl! -the three horses near the stable door were killed, and the driver knocked down and so stunned that he remained for a time, insensible-His life was evidently freserved by the accidental circumatance of his having a si/k handkerchief in the croven of his hat.

Our informant saw the hat and banalkerchief; the rim and the top of the hat were severed from the crown, a large piece taken out of the latter; the several pieces were cut asunder as neatly as if it had been done with a sharp insirument. 'I'he loandkerchief was seared or scorcheil, as if a red hot iron had jassed quickly over it. A small reddish mark was perceptible on one of the driver's cheek s, but whelher from lightuing or not was uneertain; besides this there was unt the slightest appearance of its effeet on any part of his body. He was entirely free from any pain about the beal, thongh be complained of a soreness in his breast.
[Nirfolk Herald.
Disease among catter. The following is from one of our most respectable farmers in the county of 1'hilualelphia.
To the editor of the Inquirer.
[1'cuи. Inguirer.
Sir-A discuse-name unknown to the writer-is prevalent among the hornel cattce anal horses in the neyglborhood of Frankford, in this eounty; and my ohjeet in publicly stating this faet, is to elicit, if possible, throngh the medium of your journal, some information touching the disease, its cause, its cure, or what is most ilesimble, an "ounce of preventim,". Within the last fortnight, or three weeks, upwards of nine cows anil nix or se ven horses have tlied in the immerliate vicinits of the village, and all, so far as I can learn, were carried off in the same way. The writer of this eotuminnication has lost, of a stock of four cows and three horses, two of the formur and nue of the latter, all having uliced within ien days. My cows and horse were apparently in health thrce hours previorts to death! and in every instance they were finuml dead without exhibiting any symptoma of iliserse. I am tolif, however, that a horme of one of nyy neighbors exhibited uneasiness and a kind of vertigo a few honts jurevions to death, but that to symploms of ilisease wre visible in the mort-ing-the animal having died in the evening. I had a prest mortem examination of oue of my cows, but eonld dineover nothing in the stomach, bowels, or patmeh to provluce death-these parts of the animal exlibited a liealthy appearance. The abilomens of the cows and horse were all mueh swollen afier death.
13.

August 1st.
P. 3. Cow well, apparently, at &, P. M. Alewil at half past 5.
Cow well, apparenlly, at 10 in the evening; found dead and cold at 5 , next morning.
Horse well at 2 o'clock, dead at half past 4.
Ftymologr. The Nantucket Inquirer publishenl the following extract from a lecture delivered at Boston, by John l'ickering, esq. on the subject of languages getierally:
"In geograpliy, the name of Cape IForn is commotily ansociated with the ides of a horn and we often hear of a ves- $^{\text {a }}$ sel going round the hors, \&ce. Hut the trute meaning of the word is altogether different; this extremity of the continent was called by the Spaniards Cabo de /lorno, mesaning eape of the furnace, or Cape Fiurnaces, which corresponds in the name of the aljacent land, called TYerra del Fuego, or hunl of fire. In our own neighborhood, too, the name of .Mfurtha's lirielard has beets sadly cortupted; and upon that corruption has been founded an ancient story thit it was given by an Indian chiet to his danghter Martha, as her portion.
"We will leave the story to our joets to embelliah their works of imagination; but the sober truth of history is, that it was so named from Mantin Wregand's land, now shortened to . Mitrina's I'meyurd.
"Again; the familiar exclamation on hailing, "ship a hoy !" is deriveal from the same root, and is substantially the same woral with the ancient exclamation used at the tilts and tournaments of the kuights-that is, ho! or in French, ho la, that is atop. The same expression smong landsmen, is applied to velticles moved on land by horses and other animals, but is corrupted into the well known exclanation, wo or hwe, that is stop or stand still."

THE DUKE OF NEWCASTLE.
From the Nottingham (England) Review.
On Wednesday liorenoon, we observed placarded on the walls of this town an address from the eari of Liacoln, heir apparent to the dukedom nf Newcastie, to the eiectors if the south eastem division of the county of Nottingham, offering himself as a candidate for the representation of that portion of Nottinghamshire, and at the same time stating that he should be at Newark market tloat slay (Weduesday), at Bingham yesterday, and at Noutliwell thas day. The same day's post brouzht us a long communication from Newak, being an alphabetical list of one hundred and thirteen persons who thave been ejected from their houses in that borough, under the principle of "May Inol do what I like wilh my oum?" Probably we shail print the entire list before iong: in the meantime we shall now make a few entract, and the firet name is-Anderwon, Petcr, Balderton gate, rent $£ 4$, nelf and family tenants for forty y yars, value of premises $£ 40$, voted for Witde.
Bates, John, Wiison street, rent 27 10s. father and self tonants fifly right yenrs, value $£ 120$. Wide.
Dirkett, Wim. Fismion road, $\boldsymbol{f}$ is rent, father and self teanants afy-six years-Wilike.
Bcech, Wm. Stoduan street, rent $\mathbf{2 . 5 5}$, aelfand family tenanta for one hundred ond fifly years, did not vote at all, haviag refured to take the oath.

Carver, James, sen. Nortnn Disncy, not an elector, but known to be favorable to the inde'pendent eause. (His son'a tavern was nue of Wilde'm comnititec bouses).
Gardacr, Thomas, Beaumond street, rent $£ 18$, did not vote, but was present at a dinner! Had expended $£ 450$ on the duke's premises.

Inwe, Mrs. Wilson street, $\mathbf{~} 8 \mathbf{1 0 n}$. son voted for Wilde.
Parkinson, Thoman, Wilson street, rebt $£ 8$, self and fatber tenants 46 years-Wilde.
Rawden, Miss, Wilson atrect, rent $£ 6$-maling farors for the Sturs:!
Thorpe, Janes, Markel place, rent £2?, self, father and grandfather tenants 100 years, and expended great sums on the pre-minea-voted fir Willouzhby and Wilde.
With numerous instances of this kind, where famities have been ejected from tenement in which they have bees rexident time ont of mind - where widows were turned out of their houses beause of the manner in which their sons have votadwhere persons had espended more than the full value of their promisea in improvements, and get weie compelled to quit withont rembneration-nay, where even the fact of a millues haviue male favors fur the upposite party, was deemed a suffcient gronnd fir depriving tier of her hou*e-we wonder that any relative of the duke of Newcastle should have the effrontery to show his face as a candidate in Newark.
0. -The preceding in a fine specimen of Eughish "fiberty" whifeli has buen mo inuch boasted of, for aeveral centuries-not that persobis were "reformed" because they had not pleased "his igrnce," the iluke of New avalle, in the tnaniver of votingfor Eughe," the nuke of New cavtie, in the tnanioer of voung-for the only country in which great men "rewatd their friends and punish their enemies," for opanion's sahe! It is as severely demanded that persons should "tise the black stonc "and may "God is God, and Muhomet [or any body else] is his prophet," whe Uuited Statey, na on the lands of the duke of Nivecartie, or at the teinple of Mecea-but, perhaps, not quite ro generally complicd with!?! The pilguins at Mreca, howeser, have this antrantaze-they know on which wide to "kixs the black stone"-but our tlevotees are often requirrd to kias on hoth shifes, and all widen-to kiss otr, what they had kissed nuto watels the rolling of the stome, and kise its very bottom!:
But we inmert thas article chiely th shew the condition of the English prasantry. The fiunily of one man had been snecespive TESAxTs for one handred and fifly vears, and sn on? We have alwaya thonglat that beantiful Eaghish Fong, "Eire around the lluge nak," & e. expmed dosgusting factr, in purferting ne a boart "The fields I now hold on your honor's estate, is the anam that my grandfuther tilled." Three gencrations, aud a drpendent still-with a hope that the fourth descent would also be dependent.

TREATY WITII NAPI.Es.
From the Salem Commercial adecriter.
Convention betwern the governmett of the United States of Ameriea, and his majesty the king nf the kingdom of the Two Steilien, to terminate the reclamation.s of paid govertment for the depredations inflicted upon Amicrican enmmerce by Marat, during the yeari $1809,1810,1811$ had 1812.
The government if tho United Estatea of America, and his majesty the king of the kingdom of the T'wn Sicilice, desaring to terminate the reclamation advanced by atid government against his aaid majesty, In order that the murrehants of the $\mathcal{V}^{\circ}$. Sintes may be indemnided for the losses inflieted upon then by Murat, by the deprefations, eeizures, confircations and dertruc-"Take an mstancr-Mr. Wrbiter's rperchi, in Font's resolastion, wan "consolufation" and "tory imb"-Mi. /hayne"s, a zlorions diaplay of "constitetional doctumes," and of the "true whig aclincl." Nuitber of the gentlemen tiamed have changred their opinions-bin what te their posetion with the phblic now?

Lion of their vewela and cargoc, during the years 1809,1810 , 1811 and 1812, and lus Sictian majenty devinng thereby to wrengtien with the said government the butofs of that harnony not hitherto distuibell, the said governneent of the United States, and his aforesaid inajesty the king of the kiugdom of the Two Sichiea have, with one accord, rewolved to conse to an adjustment, to effectuate which they have respectively named, and furnished with the necessary powers, viz: The paid government of the United Staten, Julin Nelson, eqq, a citizen of said states, and their claarge d'alfisires near hia niajesty the king of the kingdom of the Two sicilies; and his majenty, his excelleney D. Antonio Maria statella, primee of Cassaro, marquis of Spaceaforno, count statella, &c. &e. &c. his stid uajesty's minister, secretary of state for foreign affairs, &c. &c. who, alter the exchange of their respective full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed to the following articies:

Article I. Llim majesty the king of the kingdom of tife Two Sicilles, with a view to satisfy the aforenaid reclamation for the depredationa, sequestratious, confincations and destruction of the vessels and cargoss of tice mercinantin of the United States, [and for every expease of every kind whatsoever, incident to, or growing out of the same] inflicted by Murat luring the years 1809, 1810, 1811, 1812, obliges bimself to pay the sum of two millious ooe hundred and $\delta$ ffeen thousand Neapolitan ducats in the government of the Ubited States; seven thoumand nis hun dred and seventy mine ducats, part thereof to be applied to reimburse the said governmeot for the expense incurred by it in the iranaportatinn of Anerican seaneu from the kingdom of Naples during the year 1810, and the rexidue to be diatributed amungst the claimants by the said government of the I'nited States, in such mauner, and according to such rules as it may prescribe.
Article 1I. The sum of two mlilions one hundred and fifeen thousand Nempolitan ducats, agreed on in article the first, sliall be paid in Naples, in uine equal Instalinents of two hondred and thirty five thousand ducate, and with interest thereon at the rate of four per centum per annum, to be calculated from the date of the interchange of the ratification of this eonventinn, uatil the Whole sum shail be paid. The first instalment shall be payable twelve months after the eschange of the said ratification, and the remaining Instalinients, with tice literest micetarively, one year after another. The said payments shall be made in Napien, into the hands of kuch persons as shall be duly autinuised by the eovernment of the Uniten States to receive the amme.

Article III. The present convention shall be ratified, and the ratifications thereof shall he exchanged in this eapital in the space or eight mosathe from this date, or sooner if possimle.
In faith whereof, the partics above named have respectively subscribed theae articles, and theretn atherd their sealn. Iman at Naples, on the fourteenth day of October, one thousand cight hundred and thirty two.

EMIGRATION TO CANADA.
The Canadian Literary Jnurnal contains some curious stale menta respeeting the character and extent of the receut emigration from Europe to the Canadas. Prior in the year 1830, the number of emigranta was cotnparatively pmail, and they were almont exclusively laboring men, wholly deetitute of pecuniary resources, who came out for the purpoze of procuring the means of substatence. Within thie last tiree years, the niminber of the emigrants has been three or four times angreat as the average of several years preceding, and a iarge portion of them lonve been farmeris of cotisiderabie property, jirofessional men, and retired officers of the aring and navy. 'The value of real entate in the provincew, says the Journal, has been overy where materially mereased, and that of wild lands in Upper Conalla has been more thao doubled. The number of eunigrants in lt:29 was 15,$945 ;$ in $1830,28,000 ;$ in $1831,50,254 ;$ aniling $1843,51,746$. Was this last number, 19,830 were inales, 17,052 remales, and 14,864 children under fourteen yenrs of age. Ali of them were voluntary emigrants, excepting abont 5,000 , who reeeived parochial aid. Thirty-five thousaud went to Upper Canala, 10,000 remained in Lower Canaila, 2,250 died of ciolera, 850 returned to their own country, and 3,346 went to the Unitrd Statep. Durring the laat frur years, the increase of emigration from England has been five-foid, from Ireland three foid, and from Scutland two-fold; and the emigration froun Eingland in 1832 was greater by 70 per cent. than that of the preceding, year, whie tive cuigratioa from Ireland in the same period was diminished by 15 per cent. Four years ago, the elugrante from Eingland came principally from the northern counties; they now rome chiefly from the snuthern. The professional men whopame out during the last year, have extablisifed themwilves in the towus and vil lagee of Upper Canada; the officers have obtained, and in gencral setded upon, the lands to which they are entitied for their services; and the agricultural emigrants have phrchascil culti vated farms in diferent parts of that province. The laboring class have been settled on the wild laniln helonging to the erown, a large portion of which ate in the district of Newramte. It was in tifis dustrict, that the first experiment was made of seuting bodies of indigent emigrants upon these lands; and though varions difficulties have been enconntered, the Jomrnai deciares that it has proved eminently sneeewnful: the population of this district having Increased since the year 1817 finm 4,000 en 30,000 . The advantages derived from emigration are attributed chiefly to the exertions of Ileutcmant governor sir John Colborne, who has not only done much to promnte lt, but has distinguishod inmseir by lits efforts to secure the comfort and prosperity of the emigrants.

TIE FRENCII IN ALGIERS.

The oceupation of Algiets by the Fruncli is not unattended with trouble. The Arab tribes of the interior, unsubdued and as hostite an ever, are a eonstant bource of uncasiness to the French occupants. A late Parls Moniteur says:
"Reveral hoatile tribess had plundered our allles and neighbors, the Beni Urgins, of their cattle, and escaping with limpunity, had been encouraged to enter by uight into our eatablishmients, and, being expert thievex, carried off some of our horses, mules and impletnents. Gencral D'Uzer, the commander-inclilef at Bona, liaving learnt that the stolen property had been taken to the Outlet d'Atta, a tribe settied about fiveliengues off resolved to chastise thewe depredators, and at the same time intimidate the Araln by making a great display of force. Consequently, on she 2ist, at midnight, he marched out of Bona an advanced guard of 520 cavalry and some ligiut Infantry, under the command of col. Perragaux, following hituself, in half an hour, with 800 men , infantry and engimeers, and a battery of artillery, moviug in the deepeat stlence. At daybreak the tribe of Oulet d'Attia were completcly surrounded; but, at the first tnuskrt shot, the tribe of Beni Aeoub, one of our most hosule enemies, hastened with all the cavalry and infantry It could asspunble. A bilak firing ensued, durnay whleh col. Perragaus hartened to nend in the rear the flock and cattle he had captured. This made the enemy attack us with increased fury but they were completely routed by two brilliant charges of on cavairy, which left thlrty-one Arals dead upon the field, and mate six furisoners. Upon this a retreat was made in the finest order; but after marching a short distance, colonel Perragank halted his ment, to allow them to refresh themseiver, and afterWards returned to Bona without further interruption. General D'Uzer, after reatoring th our enclosures eighty locad of cattle that had been carried off, diatributed niny three oxen to the Karesas, finy cows, as many calves, and 100 mheep to the Benl IVgin, and twenty costh to another tribe, whels though called Onlet d'Attia, in frieudly to us. He then returned to the guitiy tribe of Oulet d'Attia the remainder of the eattle brought off who, on their side gave up the borses and objecta tirey had taken from us. Tlue severe lesson these received has lat great effeet in the country, so that several inhabitants of Bona who, nn theur way from Constuntine were plundered to a large amount by the numerous tribe of Ell Cahal, have had all the stolen articles restored to them."

FRENCII AND ENGLISII AGRICULTTURE COMPARED The following comparative statement, showing the amoun of nnimate and inanimate power appited to agriculture and commuree In France and Great Britain, is given by Mr. Charie Dupin. Ilc takex the pmpalation of France at $31,800,000$, and England and Soutland at $15,000,000$.

Applied to agricullure in France.
Iluman race
21,056,667 equal to $8,406,000$ lis.
$\begin{array}{cc}1,800,000 & \text { is to } \quad 8,406,003 \\ 11,200,000\end{array}$
Osell and cowa
6,973,000 $17,4: 32,000$
Asees
240,000
240,000
Total
Applied to agricullure in Fingland and Seotland.
Effective laborer.
Ifuman race
Horsen
Oxen, cows, &c.
$\begin{array}{lll}5,000,000 & \text { equal to } & 2,132,446 \\ 2,250,000 & 6 . & 8,750,000\end{array}$

Approsimating cstimate for Ireland

$24,632,446$

Total for tiee United Kingion
7,453,701
$A_{g p l i e d ~ t o ~ t h e ~ a r t s, ~ m a n u f a c t u r e ~ a n d ~ c o m m e r c e ~}^{\text {a }}$

Anlmal forree equal to Mills and bydraulic engines Wind millm
Wind and stenm navigation
Stean engines
In France. In G. Britain.

Tntal firce

Approximating estunato for Ireland
Total force for Great Britaln
$\begin{array}{ll}\text { Men pouer. } & \text { Men poirer } \\ 6,303,019 & 7.275,497\end{array}$
$\begin{array}{ll}6,303,019 & 1,200,000 \\ 1,5000,000 & 1,2393 \\ 3\end{array}$
$\begin{array}{lr}233,339 & 240,000 \\ 3,000,000 & 12,000,000\end{array}$
$\begin{array}{rr}\mathbf{3}, 000,000 & \mathbf{1 2 , 4 0 0 , 0 0 0} \\ \mathbf{4 8 0 , 4 0 0} & 6,4000\end{array}$
$\begin{array}{r}27,115,497 \\ 1,002,667 \\ \hline\end{array}$
$28,118,164$
By the nhove extimate, it appears that Franee, with a popuiathin of $37,000,000$, emplays it agriculture, the arts and conmrree, a conjolned aninuate and inanimate power equal to $48,814,290$ able ment; and that Grent Bntain, with its pepulation, (say $28,000,000$ ), emplay: a power equal is $60,206,311$. That the inanimate power applied in Eingland and Scotland to agrirniture in equal to twelve times the human force, while in France it does ont exceed five times; that the inanimate power applled to manufacture and commerce in Great Britain, is four timen greater than in France; and that the whole animate and inanimate power engaged in manufheture and commerce $m$ Great Britain is nearly treble the amount of that so oceupied in France.

PRODUCT AND CONSUMPTION OF COFFEE.
The following calculations concerning the prodnct and coneamption of cotive, will Interest innny of our readers, who are not conecrned in a trade in the nrticle. We think, however, that the estiunted ammunt of the comsumption, as well as of the pruduction is a great deat tho hugh.

From the Howlon Courier.
Eatimated consumplion of Exurope. The papulation of Europe is about $210,000,000$. If one-tenith of this number be cnnwumers than +16 . per wexk, the consumption wifl exceed $300,000,000$ 1bs. In most parts of Europe, tha higher and indditing classes, comprehendiug the noblity, lugh and usidditing elergy, legal and medical professiens, merchants, manufacturing proprieturs, Innded geatry, rich mechanics, and navnl and military officere, are generally consumers of eoffee, and constitute more than end-tenth of the populntion. A Inrge partion of all these being rich, and addieted to lusarious habits, consune ns mucb coffee In proportion to numbery, as the weathay or middung popuintion of our citiest and the nsual consumpthus of the latter is flo. per whek, or 25 per year for each individusl. Coffee is, perhaps, more senerally consumed in Germany, the Netherlande, Prussia and Ausuria, than in other Enropeau couutries. The whole population of these is about -

| 54,000,000 | 1-4 consumers |  | 13,750,000 |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| France  31,000,000  9,000,000 | 1.5 | 6 | $8,000,000$ |
| Turkey ${ }_{\text {Ppain, }}$ Portugal \& Italy $30,000,000$ | 120 | 16 | $1,500,000$ |
| Denswark $1,600,000$ ) |  |  |  |
| 8 wedes $\quad 3,700,000$ | 1.10 | 4 | 750,000 |
| Switzerland $9,000,000$ ) |  |  |  |
| G. Eritain and Irelnad 21,000,000 | 1-7 | ${ }^{11}$ | 1,500,000 |
| Russia 57,500,000 | 1-40 | 4 | 1,500,000 |
| $210,000,000$ |  |  | 97,000,000 |

Bnt to reduce this number of consumers to it 10 of the Fhole population, 23 per centum sliould be deduct. ed, and say for round nutubers
$6,000,000$
Which leaves for consumers
If ench of these consuase $16 \$$ pounds nnnnalily, which is $1-3$ less than the quantity allowed above to the greatert cousumbets of our cities, the annual cutusumption of Europe will be $21,000,000 \mathrm{lbs}$. 161
$350,000,000$ lhs. $50,000,000$ do.
If one-seventh be deducted from this
The remainder, or lesat aununl consumption will be

secafitulation

1. The wealthy nnd midding clanses of Europe exceed onetenth of the whole popuintion, are generally consumers of coffee, and consume as much in proportion to numbers, as the wealthy and middling populntion of our citics.
2. Only one tenth of the whole are assumed an aptunl consumeri, nnd nre allowed, for cachindividual, only two-thirds of the quantity consumed in our citics.
3. One-seventh of the quantity thus allowed to this annount of population at this reduced rate of consumption, is deducted for over estimate; nud the remainder, or the least quantity that can be obtained froth the most reduced rates of population and consumption, is $3,000,000$ millions of pounds.

Whether eoffee will rise or fall in price hereafter, must depend entirely upon the wnnts of the world and its means of supplying them. Upon either of these points eertninty is not attainnble, nad npprosimation lo nill that enn be ratloualiy expected. The question therefore involves merely $n$ calculation of probabilities, from data, of whieh, though many be facts, othnrs are mnrely eonjectures. The supply consisth of prodaction nid stock. The production of some countries to ascertained; that of others nearly so; that of others merely conjeetural, though known not to exceed certain qunutities. The ntock in first hands is generally capable of beiug nscertained; that in second Innds is lese so, though it is usualty proportionate to the former; that in the bands of retailers, merely conjeetural. The time necessary to produce enflee, or to renew deficient stncks from the produee of new plantations, is known exactly. The consumption of the world cannot be ascertained, but can be inferred from the amount of importations, snles and stock in first hands, in a period of several succesaiva yents. The following eatinnte of production ts higher than noy that has been published within the fast four or five years.
Jnva now produces for exportation
The rast of India and Arabia
Braxil
Cubn
$\begin{array}{ll}40 & \text { mill. lbs } \\ 30 & \text { a } \\ 80 & 4 \\ 50 & 4 \\ 15 & 4 \\ 40 & 4 \\ 20 & 4 \\ 15 & 4 \\ 10 & 4 \\ 10 & 4\end{array}$
Porto Rico
British West Iudiee
British West Indiee
French do.
Duteh do.
Epanish Main
Total production ef 1833
The atnck in firat bands, Jan. 1, 1873, in Eurnpe, iunportung Asia, and thn
U. States, aceording to the most nn-thentic accounts yet putblished, did not exceed 120 mill. lbs.

The stoek in all second and third hands did not probabiy exceed S-6 of this amount, of 220

Therefore the actual supplies for 1833 du not exeeed $\overline{530}$ u The annunl cousmingtan of Europe and importing Asia is not, probably, less than 300 mill. lbs.

And that of the U. States not leas than 80 Lenving the atock, on the lst of Jmunry, 1834, in first hands $764-11$ milis, in afl second hands 63 7.11 mills. nnd in all hands

If produetion does not inerease, the crops of 1834 will be
And the supplies for 1834
If present prices eontinue, the annaal merease of consumption in the $U$.
Stntes will not be lese thinn
10 mill, lbs.
And as the nonunl increase of onles since 1829 , as nscertnined from the circulars of importers in Amsterdam, Rotterdan, Antwerp, Hamburgh, Bremen and Triestr, nx ceeds 6 mill.
lbs. the increase of all Purope and the Levnint may be estinated at not less than

And the whole consumption of 1834
400 mill. Ibe.

Which will leave the atock in all hands, on the lat of January, IR35
If production stil! be stationary, thn erops of 1835 will be $\qquad$
And the aupplien for $1833 \quad 340 \quad 4$ Prices being still statiounry, and ennsmmption inereasing as before, the cousumption of 1835 will be dind the deficieney for 1835 will be 80
But the reader will pronounce this calculstion Inadmisulble, for at theen rates, two yeare will not elnpse before the world will not contain $n$ pound of coffre except that growing on the trees, and will require $80,000,000$ lbs. more than the supply. But this result depends upon n continuance of these rates-that is, of production and consumption. Will these rates be nitered? for nothing else can alter the result. Production to known to be inereasing in no countries excepting Brazil, Cuba and British India; and the incrrase of the firat does not amount to $10,000,000$ Its. nnmually, nor of the second to $5,000,000$, nor of the whola to $20,000,000$. In At. Doningo, Porto Riee, the British West Infies, Dutch do. the Rpanifh Main nnd Jnva, it tn known to have decreaned nince $1+29$, and the present rate of decrease is not less thau $90,000,000$ annually. In no cowntries except Brazil, has planting bereu extended since 1829, and in the Spaniah Main, Porto Rieo, British Weat Indies, Duteh do. and Java, old estatre have been nrglecied. Should new ptanting begin in all countrics in 1sk3, the produce of it would not reach the market for sale till 1837, nor in great qunntities till 1838. Production will not therefore be nagmented daring 1834 and 1835, nad consequently thint rate will not be disturbed.
Will the asmumed rate of production continue? This will depend upon a continuance or fall of present prices. Nothing then but an advance of present prices will ehrek the present rates of consumption, ind preserve the balance between demand and supply, till production enn be auguented from new plantations. The present prices in Europe, exclusive of duties, nre 100 per cent. higher than those of 1830; yet eonwumption sinee then, ealculated from sales, has increased $10,000,000 \mathrm{ibs}$ anaually. The price of 1819, in Europe and the United Sintes, were from 100 to 125 per cunt. above the presens; and coffee then cost to the consumer, 95 cents per Ib. In Boaton, 36 ceats in Hamburgh, and in London 48 cents for British plantation, and 65 cents for St . Domingo. The reader is left to his own coneluslons.

From the Ballimore American.

Coffice.-This artiele can no longer be classed nmong the luxuries of the coutntry; it enters so largely into the daity consumption of nimost every family, rieh nid poor, that its nppropriste place to now n prominent one among the necessaries of life in the United states. Within a few years, especinlly, the conxilmption of coffee has inereaned rapifly, and it hae nt length attained a point which renders it $n$ matter of some interest, both to the importer and dealer, to nacertain thn agregate quanthiy required nanually for the wants of the couviry. A stasement in in Inte nutaber of the Boston Courier, prepared for the purpose of ancertaining this fact, gets down thn namual consumption of the United states nt 91 millions of pounds. A friend who has examined the Conrier's ratement, pronounces the estimated conaumption to be erently exaggerated, and in order to show as nenrly ns practicable the true quanntify, and thus to counterat nny overw rought or noreaponable ex pectations whith the Bostin estimite may lend to, has furnished us with the folfowing statcment of thn actuat uaports and exports of coflee, end the extimated consumption, for the lasitwelve years up to the first of (Vctober last. 'The fiema of import anll export firr aria year are correclly copied from the olicial returns the teasury department.

The nett From irhich the following farts are 2 was do.
for the lant aix ycars merpane 25 millions per annum
Aggregate nett lmportation for $1827,8 & 9$ $10 . d o_{0}$

17 do. 1830,31 &

Sbe 104 years,
lbs. 251,054, 240
Us. $150,147,916$

Inerwae--nearly 17 milliogn each year
The aggregate meti importation for 1829 & 30 $100,560,625$
50,5i5,615

Deq. do. 1831232
71,413,5e2
mereane 90 millions for ench year
$112,171,42 \mathrm{~d}$ $40,758,546$
Aggrigate consamptions for four last years about 180 milions, sverage 43 zullions

Do.
55 millinns.
And the followisg division of the consumption of each year, correspouds with ether view, viz 1829 , coasumption 30 millions,
$\left.\begin{array}{lll}1820, & \text { do. } & 40 \\ 1834, & \text { do. } & 50 \\ 1832 & \text { do. } & 60\end{array}\right\} 110 \quad\{180$ millinns.
At the same rate of iacrease, the MOTE AY THE EDITOA.
May not a part of the weemingly increased conenmption, just above stated, be in an Increased atock on hand? We do not titiak chat the annual consumption in the United States much erceeds 50 m ullions of piounds. Cofee rucently paid a duty of 5 ceents per Ih. but is aow free; yet the price of the arnicle luas tot fallen with the fall or abulltion of tive duly, asd hence the commanption has not been lacreased on that account.

A NEWLY INVENTED PUMP, OF GREAT POWER.
Fram the Annerican Dally Advertiser.
Mr. Pouloon-It is but hitic known to us, that we have a reat curiosity in this way at our l'liladelphia aavy yard, the Invention of the iagenlous commodore Barroa.* It is placed Into the river, of the wharf-plathoin, in the rear of the Peansylvania man-of-war, mo as to be ready at any time to deusanstrate its power and perfection of operatian. It is not bored in the nsual manser into a log, but is formenl of plank, forming a tour willed box. W'bilst seeang it giving upi its barrei of water at every atroke of the quick and easy lever, I could not furbear to think what aumerous gea veasels, of the nicrchant service, miglit be saved froun foundoring and loss, if it were once adopted in our coammerce! Ia the naval service it would of coarse prove of saving value in all cases of destrnctive leaks from balls fa the hull. Our chamber of commerce, and our marine insurase offices, have uuch interest in this anatter, and ought, we should think, to eudeavor to get its geunrai use lato our merehant service. It might be die saving of milions, it titme, ia sea risks, and, above all, the preservanioy of numerous liver of our marioete! Whes we read lately of the "one huadred horse power" applied to the draining of the dry dock at Hoston, for the Inte presideatial visat to the "Old Ironsides" there, we conid not forbear to think that four such pumps as commodore Barmat's, wet by crank to a ome borse power each, would have etfected the same purpose at mnch luss sxpense. With such pumpa, the contracturs and engiucera on nur nomernus railways, canala and pulsic worky, would facilitate thelt labors in draiaing required plitces-and mines nulbjected to water inundations, lite our silver manes it North Caroliaa, and of the companies working ia Mexico, would be saved the heavy sutus they now disturae in keep them dry. Bome that have bera abandoned in Bouth America, by their accumalation of water, thight be agaia wopked to profit. The same idra will enalile us tu coutemplate the meass of briagiag morasees inlasd, and many water lands along our rivers, lato a practicable means of draiaIng them, and sn making them capable of grass production. On the whole, as se liave the demonstration of puch a pump, wh much needed, la to masy of our operations, we hnpe hereafter mos needed, With In hear of its adoption orarraily throughou our coumiry. With the Inventor it is probably but a serondary eoscern, followed ont to its accomplishmeat, as as aruanemont to an fuventive
*The same gentleman has a model of a ship, to be formed Wholly of loge, for war service and stenn power, of suels nuassive thicknes, ( $n$ f molid buik), an to enconnter wingly any force of a hostile fienet, and to burn them with red inot balls. The idea In, if I underwand it, with such proterilou in nur waters, to make our ussal expenses in fortidications usnecessary.
anind; but with sheh powers an it possesses to beacfit the publie, it becoaver manter of regret to contemplate it as reating in its prement restrictrd use. I have only to add, that I hope the distiaguished gentlenan concerued will sutfer thia comasiendatoa flum an unkuown hand.

UTILITY.

DR. SMITII'g MAGNETIC NEEDLE.

From the Nationat Intelligeneer
Bexpectlng tiris article, for marinc and aurveyor's compamen, of which, a manufactory bas been eatableshed in this city, the evidewee whels he luse exibibutedsatiofies ut that it is a valuable inveation. Ite atlvantages are so well described in tite fullowing letter, selectrd frum sevefal we have swen on the subject, that every one interested will compreiend thean without further eaplanation:

F"ashington, 20th May, 1833.
Sta: I have the bonor toreport, agreeably to your iastructioss relative to the examiuasion of the lmproved needles of Itr. Suath, that I hava hal them for sonne tima pasi under exausoatunn, aud have carcifully tested their qualitien by a vaijety of experinents, and believe them to be very euperior to the commen nerdles now in use.

In the manufacture of the common needies, there has aiwaya been great negleet both in providing a stistable inaterial, and adopting a regular fortu, it being icft for the most part to the conveapnce and fancy of the Workmea, and the size and shape of the material, which is, ao doubt, one of tin many cuuses of the great discrepancien oberved in their action and results.

This in very far from being the case with the aedles mannfactured by inr. Smith; lie has adopted a form which le has found by loag expertence to be the most fit, and anost tenacinasly adheres to it: his unterual is of the firat quality, and earufully worked, great attention being paid to thaguctizing it. Ile also supplies his ueriltes whth what he calls feeders, small pieces of soft Iron that slode on it, placed nesr its eads, thereby concentratimg all the small magnets, (which exists more or less), near its points, givinit anore stenimess, aad a greater directive power to lis acedles, and avniding, in a great degree, rective prower local atraction to which bis turedlew may be subjected.

I ascertatucd this last to my enture satisfaction, by aubjecting the same seedlo with and without feeders, to an attractive force, in the following manaer, viz: Owe of lis neediles was sumpended on a fins polat, plised it the centre of a number of coaccutrie circlus, drawn atwhnil it hatfan iuch apart ou a tabie: when the setulle was approsched armed with its freders, I found that I eonld approach much tuearry to it with an attractive force withont disturhing th, than when it was unarmed, or two of the circles, or an inch, wlicn the body approaclied was a strosg magnet, and a much greater force to cause deviation than they would ever be subject to on ship-board; proving conclusively that they were a protection, or security aganet local attraction, and this security appeared to be in proportion as the feedure wore pinced near to, ar farther fram the centre of the necdles; the feedetw appared in some cases too small, the proportion theqwecn thn freder and aeedle aot belug in my opinioa ae yet woll ancertained. The needlew are remarkably active, and pospeas much morc directive power than thome of the common klnd now in use, (with which they were compered), when drawn aside settliug again very quickly on the maguetic meridiana.

Dr. Smith'# manner of reatoring deranged peedles by conclasion wils his "electric rod," in simple, nad effeetive by one wha is eyperiesect; be selitan, if eves fhiled himself; but I am nos able so impute to myself on mach adroitaess in applying the proper degree of force required; I ain disposeal to think, by a littie practice, it may be easity aequired; one thisg is most certain, it is the asanner of restoring a derasged needie, so simple, and in the posacssios of all, that when once known, few will be wiling to leave nntried.

I ber leave to arld, that I feel ladebted to Dr. Smith for the obliging manncr in which he has shewn me the whole process of msnufacturing hls aeedis, and satisfying my numerons ingulrips, mand feel confidence in recommebiliat hitu to your notice, beloving, from tha trials and tent to which I hava oubjeeted hia neefles, that tisy are a vaiusble Improvement, and highly deserving your patronage. With great respect, &c.

CIIARL.ES WULKES, Jr.
Lieut. U. S. naty, attached to depol ins.
To com. John Rodgers, fe. &'c.
MINT OF THF UNITED &TATES
Mesenge from the presilent of the United States, tramsuifting a report of the operations of the mint during the year 1832. JANOANY 21, 1833-READ AND LAID ON TiK TAaLE. Washinglow, 19h Jaw. 1838.
I tranemit to congress a report from the director of the miat, exhibitiag the operntions of that institution during lise year 1832. ANDHEFW JACKSON. To the hon. the speaker of the house of representatires of the $U, S$.

Mint of the U. States, Philadelphla, Jam. 15, 1833.
Sir: I have nuw the honor to submit a repurt na the genern tranaact
The coisage effected withia that period amnnate to e3,401,05s comprising $\quad$ 管 38,435 in gold coiar, $62,579,000$ la silver, and g23，620 in copper，and consisting of $9,128,307$ pieces of coin， vis：

Of the amount of gold coined within the last year，about \％ 00,000 were derived from Mesico，Houth America，and the Went Indies；$$ 28,900$ from Africa；$$ 678,000$ from the gold re－ giou of the United States，and about $$ 12,000$（rom sources not ascertained．
Of the amount of nold of the United Staten，above mentioned， whout $$ 3 \mathcal{H}, 000$ may be stated to have been received from Virgi－ nia；$-458,000$ from North Carolina；$$ 45,000$ from Houth Caro－ lina；\＄140，000 from Georgia；and about $\% 1,000$ from Tennessee．

The following statement exhithits tha quantity of gold recelved frem those distriets of the United Atates which have thus far produced it in quantitien sufficient in attract notice，com－ mencing with the year 1824．Up to that period it had been received at the mint only from North Carolisa，from which quarter gold was first transmitted for colnage in the year 1804. During the interval，however，from 1804 to 1823，inclusive， the amount had not exceeded 9,500 yearly．

|  | E | $\begin{aligned} & \frac{y}{3} \\ & \frac{5}{6} \\ & \frac{5}{5} \\ & 2 \end{aligned}$ | $\begin{aligned} & \text { 嗃 } \\ & \frac{6}{6} \\ & 8 \\ & \text { © } \end{aligned}$ | H． 0 0 | $\begin{aligned} & \text { E } \\ & \text { E } \\ & \text { E } \\ & \text { E } \end{aligned}$ | $\begin{aligned} & \text { 发 } \\ & \text { 槀 } \\ & \text { (1) } \end{aligned}$ | $\begin{aligned} & \text { تِّ } \\ & \text { R. } \end{aligned}$ |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 2894 | － | 5，000 | － | － | － | － | 5，000 |
| 1＊25 | － | 17，000 | － | － | － | － | 17，000 |
| 1826 | － | 20，000 | － | － | － | － | 20，000 |
| 1827 | － | 21，000 | － | － | － | － | 21，000 |
| 1898 | － | 46，000 | － | － | － | － | 46，000 |
| 1829 | 2，300 | 134，000 | 3，500 |  | － | － | 140，000 |
| 1830 | 24，000 | 204，000 | 26，000 | 212，000 | － |  | 436，000 |
| 1831 | 96，000 | 293，000 | 22，000 | 176，000 | 1，000 | 1，000 | 520，000 |
| 183 | 31，000 | 458，000 | 45，000 | 140，000 | 1，000 | 1，000 | 678，000 |
|  | 86，500 | ，190，000 | 96，500 | 503，000 | 2，000 | 1，000 | 13，000 |

It is rendered bighly probable，by extimates entitied to great respect，that the quantity of gold of the U．Btates，delivered at the mint witha the lant year does not much exceed the one－hair of the production from the minea－nearly an equal amount be－ Ing supposed to have been exported uncoined，or employed in the arts．If this conjecture be nearly correct，the production of gold from the United Suates，during the year has not been lese than a million and a quarter of dollars．Tlis may be regarded as equal to one－airth part of all the goid produced，within the wame period，from the mines of Furope and America，estimated according to the results of recent years，an given by the best au－ thorities．
The prevalence of a fearful epidemic In this and other cities of the United Stases，was sensibly folt in a diminution of the nsmal demande on the mint，and ite productiveness within the third quarter of the year．In every department of the Institu－ Hion labor was，dnring the prevaience of the danger，more light－ ly exacted；and it is stated，with much pleasure，that no indivi dual employed in the eatablishment，became a subject of the disense．

Operations，I have now the satisfaction to say，have been commenced in the new mint for the proof of the machinery；and all the departments uf the institution will be transferred in a few days to that edifice．
I have the honor to be，with great respect，your obedient ser vant，

SAMUEL MOORE，
The prevident of the Uniled States．

PRIZE ESSAY ON A CONGRFSS OF NATIONS From the Calumet．

It will baseen by the report that seven essays（of the thirty－ seven which have been presented for the premium），were se－ lected by a comanittee appointed by the board and transmatted to the umpires．The following is the decision which was re－ ceived the 7th of May latt：
The subacribers，aceording to the request of the committee of the Amerieas peace society，have carefully read the several essay，which linve been transmitted to them by the committee， for the purpose of awarding the prises authorised by the society for the two essays．

Upon full consideration，they are nf opinion that five of the esanys poseses very high merit；and that their merit is so nearly equal，and yet of sn distinet a character，that injustice would be done by awardiug the bigtiest prize to any one，to the exclusion of the others．With a view，therefore，to a just distribution of the prizes，and，as the best means of accomplishing the import－ ant objects of the sneiety，they respectifily recommend，in llen pf the prizes，as proposed by the soetety，that the whole sum of six hundred dollars shnuld be equally divinled amone the anthors of thmee fire essays；and that each of them should be published for general distributiou．

In testimony whereof，we have bereunto set our bands，tht 291h day of April， 1833.

HOSEPH STOKY，
WM．WIKT
JOliN MCLEAN．
As this decision does not meet the views of the society or the donors of the prize，it being too much to print and publish tha five esalys，and mast also disappoint the expectatuss of the writers，it is judged Inexpedient to aceept it as the final deci－ sion．While the aciety and the donors of the premium are grateful for the services of the umpires，they are happy to know by communications from two of them，that it will meet their approbation to consider the decision as not made，an it was their united opiaion that no other judgment could justly be pasped on the esways submitted to their inspection，no one of them having the desiratie superiority．
It being determined aleo in renew the offer of the premium with an increave of the prize，it is judged inexpediest us open the letters of the five selpeted essays，of to publieh the motiou．
To those whon have favered the society by writing for the cause，respectful acknowledgments are cordially made，and their renewed effirts earnestly anolicited．They are requented to look at the condisions of the premium，with partirular rofer－ ence to the wiblies of the dunors．

L．1）．DHWEY．
June， 1833.
Recording sec，A．P．sociely．

51，000 PREMIVM．

By the liberality of iwo friends of the cause of peace，the board of the American peace society are enabied to offer the premium of 1,000 deilars for the bext essay on a congrees，or court of nations，for the anicable settement of hational differ cnces and the atolition of war．Should two essays be of equal， or nearly equal merit，the premium will be divided in corres－ pondent proportions between them，If both are estcemed worthy of the prize．
The conditions are，that the eseay contain from 60 to 150 oc－ tavo pages，of abont these limits；all the manascripts to be at the dispownl of the society，both the surcessfol and rejected essays．The ensays to be transmittad free of expense to the ofinee of the pence mociety，129，Nrsan strpet，New York，di－ rected to L．1）．Dewey，before June $20 t h, 1834$ ．
The wish of the society，nad of the donors of the preraium it， that the essay may，under God，effect，as to the snbject of war， a revolution in the public inind－may，if possitbe，produce in the sentiments men have on this sulijeet，a change radieal and entire－may effectually demonstrate that war is needless；that， in fact，it is an practicable as rational，for nations to decide their differences by reasonf；that rewort to the sword is Irranonally brutal，and cruel，and wicked，and alsaurd．As rulers，acting accordantly with public opinion，do now require threse whon they rule so satte their difforences peaceably；sn，the changy that is deaired being wrought，the perple by tbe resistless power of their united calls－the encrgetic influence of the popular voice rightly expressed，shall cause that statemmen become true ministers－the nation＇g servants shali adjust all difficulties of the nation，In the same rightful and leeal macy．The rasay which shali carry conviction to people and governments，that national differences can he settleil without recourse to arms－ ought to be，if men are rational beinga－and must be，ere the full reign of the Saviour on earth can commence，is the one songht for．It meedn then to show bow unadapted to adjust national differences is the brutal force of war，that teeming mource of human ilis－－to show，in reference to this adjustraent， the perfect $\delta$ tness of a court of nations，its advantages，its fea－ sibility．
Should not the gentlemen who examined the esangs before， find it in their power to act ns unpires agnin，other distinguivh－ ed geaticmen will be selected．

Cor．sec．22．P．S．

RUSH＇\＆MFMORANDA

Mr．Richard Rush，formerly our ninister at London，and more recently secretary of the treasury of the United Satew，has just published a volume entitled＂Memoranda of a veridence at ite court of Iondon，＂from which it is probabie that we sliall make come liberal estracts．

Our present purpose，however，is to introduce the following notice of an important subject，as we find it neatly prepared ja the＂Baltimore Aarerican．＂
Speaking of Mr．K＇s narratives of diplomatic conversations， \＆c．the＂American＂observes－
The quesfion of imprestment was one，the settlement of which， by treaty or convention，was a pubject to which the attention of Mr．Rush was especialiy directed．As it is one of great im－ portance，and one of the prints still in controversy，it may be acceptable to our readers to know the precise terma wheh Mr． Rush was empowered to offer，and did otrer to the British gh vernment，and the grounds upon which they were refused．We donbt whether any such offers will ever be made agaia．
Mr．Rusi＇s first and least favorable proposition for the Mritioh side of the question was，that both nations slasuld reeiprocally enter into stipulations impowing resirains npron the naturaliza－ tion of the spamen of the other，and excluding from their mervice all seamen not natnralized．After recitug the provisious of the net of congress of 18／3，Mr．Rush promined that the U．States would further provide＂that every British sithject desiring to beeome a eitlzen，should be bonnd to appear in person toffore the proper tribunai，onee a year for the trmm of five years，untl lis right should be completed，＇or adopt some other niore puac－ tienl and satisfactory arode of ascertaining that his restunaec had been bona fide and unibterrupted. The United Btates were further to agree that no Itritish seaman who might be in their cerritory at the tume of the ntipulathon, should be admitied sith pubire or private ships till after the expiration of the regular cerm of naturalisation. In return, a dintuct provision was asked from Gireat Britain, not to mupers out of American vessels. This offer was made by Mr. Rush, April 18th, I818. The answer of lood Castlereagh, dated June Ifth, was mbort. Ile said that "on full consideration of the proporal, the eathnet had not found it practicable to forego, onder any arnamement, the execution of which was to depend upon the legislante ordmances of another eountry, the right of Great Itritain to took lor her sulijects on the high meas, into whatever service they mught wander." In reply to an inquiry from Mr. Hush, whether aty proposale would be aubusitted on the part of Great Hritain, Iord Castlereagh answered that he wan prepared with bunte that clid not ansutne as a bastis the right of entering our vespels; but he offer ed to euter into stipulations for a teader exercise of this mitht, restricting the boardiug oftieers to those of rank not helow heuteanant, giving "responsible reccipts" for the men taken out, &e. -which wele dechned upon the general ground that the Uinited States would not aduit the right of entry at all for any auch purpuse.

On the 20th June, 1818, Mr. Rush thercupon made nnother and final offier一and truty it seears to as that conecesion could not possilly go further. He proposed that both nations should rigudy exciade from all vessely, public or private, all native born subjecta or eitizens of the mher. The sarue precautions, as in the former offer, to be taken to prevent imposition; seamen already naturatized to be excluded; and each party to have power to grant licenses to its own acamen to enter the scrvice of the other. By such an agremsut all British sulijects in the United states, not naturalized at that date, or who whould arrive subsequently, were to be peremptotily excluded from the abips of the United States, public or private. Int retorn, the etipulation not to enter American ships was required or Great Brialu. This proposition was also rejected, and afterwards reconsidered by the liritash, and two coudiliona nunexed; one of which wan refused by the American negothators and withelrawn by ford (Gastlereagh. The other was mecepted. It was a stiputation that the treaty should be revocable at short notice by ether party.
The negotiation belng opened, the British brought forward a counter project. This project accepted nll the ternss of the American project, an to the exclusions and exceptions of seamen. Other requisitions were made and debated, mgreed to or withdrawn, but they are not inaterial, as the whole megotiation went off on two points. The British proposal reçured that eaeh nation should furnish the other with a tist of the names of parsons to be exeepted out of the exelusion from sea servicepecifing the place of birth and the date of naturalization of each, and that none but those whose names were on the list should fall within the execption. The Aniericans proposed as a substitute, that no persou should be entitled to the exemption "unless he produeed proof of his having been duly naturalized prior to the exchange of ratifieations of the treaty"-which was rejeeted on the ottier side. The ottier point upon which the question went off was, the demand of the British combinssioners that the treaty should take effect from its "algnature"-whieh the Americans could not eanstitutionally eonsent to, and proposed, from the "exchange of ratifications" - Which was also refused. This seems to us so triffing a point to bdinsisted on, that the inference is natural that the British ministry lad no serious intention of making a trenty on the subject at all. On these two points the negotiation, in the language of Mr. Rush, "fell to the ground."

DIPLOMATIC IIISTORY

Mont of our rearers, we suppose, are apprised that there is in the press, at the office of the publishers of this paper, a compilation of public documents communicated to or cmanating from congress, whieh, under the titte of "simerican State Popers," embraces the whole documentory history of the Vintied States, from the beginning of the governinent to the present day. Few, however, would, without partirular examination, reatize the value and literest of this compulatop, which is under the direction of the secretary of the penate and the clerk of the house of representatives, and is ananetioned hy sic authority of cougress. The papers are dirided into clasers, the first class bring that of foreign relatious. Of the papers helonging to this clase, many hove never before hern meen by the publie pye, having been eommunicated originally th confidenee, the raamons for which have uow reazed. Some of these docnmente are chrious enough. We have Jumt lit upmis the subjoined, which recalles to the mind old times and eircumstances which are rapidly fading from memory. It is an amusing a sainple of diplomaey as one wnuld desire to spe on a sumamer's day. [At the date of this Irtter, it will be bore in mind, Don Onis was here as minister fron the corten of Spain, but not reeognized, king Josern being at the head of the governument of that eountry.) We dare any our readern will be instructed as well as amused ly il, and so we bete insert it.

Niational Intelligencer.
To the senate and hous
The senate and house of representuhires of the Cniled Staten: comnanicate to eongress, in confidenee, the traushation of a leller from Lionie de Oule, to the engtain gencral of the province of the Caraccas.

The tendeacy of misrepresentationa and suggestions, which, it may be iuferred from this specumen, enter into toore impor tant cofiespondences of the writer, to ptnmote in foreign councils, at neritical period, views adverse to the peace and to the best interests of our country, render the contruts of the letter of sutheient moment to be made known to the legislature.

January 10th, 1811.
Transtation of a letter from Iuls de Onis to the eaptain general of the province of the Caraceus, dated Philadelphia, 2d Feb. 1810.

The administration of this government having put the stamp upou the servile ueanuess and adulation in wbich they stand in relution to their oracle Bonapatte, the day before yesterday, by their direction, Mr. Eppew, the son in-Inw of the former presidert, Jefferson, made a proposition, that a minieter should be imsuedhately sent to Joseph ltonaparte, at Madrud: this was supported in the committee in which the house then was by Mr. Cuts, who is the brother-in-law of president Madison. There were varions debates: there weie howlugs in the tribunals: there were sareawins against the rupreme central Junta, and many trifling obvervations from oue paity and the other, among whel mirntion was made of the arrival of a minister from the supreme junta, and of this governinent's laviar wisely refused to receive him; and at leuglti a vote was taken, from which it resulted that, for the present, no minister was to be sent to Joscpl.

In the annexed paper you will see all the debates, whieh, for want of time, 1 have not bern able to have translated: if your excellency should not be informed, by my former despatelies, of the inode of thinking of the present ndininistration, this alone will show the little hope there is of obtaniag any thing favoiable from it, but by energy, by force, and by chastisement.

Tue facility, I again repeat it, and I will repuat it a thonsand Limes, with whels Ameriean vensels are admitted thto our eoloniew, prefering theu to our own, makes these people belicve, that onr wenkiness does ant permit us even to talk to them on equal ternsw, much less to take measures which may injure them. From hence aprongs the great opinion (la gratide opunton) they have, that the intruder, Joseph, will rule in $$$ paiu and her colonies; and hence the incitement to therr scandalons conduet in promolung, ty every means in their power, the machinations of Joscph, to thake homelf marter of our colonies; as if upon that depended thes happiness.
The determination of making war on Fagland, and of treating Spaill with contempt, supposing that her nullity did not entite her to any thing else, was taken by the present administration some time since, though it was not in them the determina. tion of reason. To accomplizh it, they thought of forming an alhance, offensive and defensive, between France, Russin, Denmark, Nweden and the United States; and some even suppose that it is formed. With this object, they have sent Mr. Adatne to the court of Petersburg, in quality of minister plenipotentuary, directing him to examine on ths way (hacieudole recorrer al paso) the eourts of Stockhotm and Copeuhagen; but, not withstanding thia, if England wlould deplay her energy, In however small a degree, and if, on our part, some vessely should be sent to their coasts, and some troops should draw hear to Louisiana, there is reason to believe that we slould sce these provinces separated and divided into two or three repubties, and conscquently they would remain in a ptate of perfect nullity. We should soon have from the republie of the north, which would be our friend, all the supplies wbich are now drawn from the others, who would perish, from poverty and quarrela among themselves.
This country is now withont a cent, with a deficit of four millions of dollare in her revenuc; with not more of an effective army than 6,000 despicahle men-of whom 2,500 that they had at New Orlcans, are redueed by denth to 600; and, although they bave passed a law for 100,000 , much time and money will the necersaiy to organize them. Its mavy ts, for the most part, disarmed, althongh they propose to artn it, and the whole of is Is reduced to eught or nine frigates. The blindncus of these people is such, that the secretary of the treasuay, Gallatin, speaking witt collonel Jozeph de Gonzales, late zovernor of Puno, who, from his loaving come from the Ilavana, Mexico and other provinces, the believed (not knowing his Integrity) to be one of the many emissaries of Napolcon (the ensi which abounde most here) otfered to bim the constitution of Paine, and other papery relative to the liberty which here they dispute abont, persuading him to send them In Mrxico, and our other colonies, and that he should wndeavor to induce thets to unite themselves to this republiet that here they were ready, if this succeeded, to move near to them, or even to place in-their country the seat of government. 'These, sir, are the ideas with which this adininintration in animated. Notwithstanding, nt the time they obmerved this eonduct, they sent general Sumter, In the character of toinister plenipotentiary, to Rlo Janeiro.
Gol preserve you many yeara. LUIS IDF: ONIS.
To the ceptain general of the prorince of Carecces.

HARBORS ON LAKE ERIE.
From the Clerelasid Adecrtiser
A statement in the report of the engineer department aceompanying the last annual report of the secretary of war ${ }_{1}$ whew:
the amount expended on the various workn to October 1, 180. The anoney" undrawn from the treannry, and therse lin the handa of agents at that time, which are still appicable to their completoin are also given, an folluwa:

Cont to Oct. I, 1833. fromindrawn

In the Aands of agents Oct. I 18iz.
Buffalo
Bumek Rock 881,584
36,197
Junkirk
36,197
29,267
46,240
Cunaingham's creek or Madiana Conmeatt
Ashtahala
Grand river
Cleveland
Black river
Hurun rivir
La Plawance Bay $\begin{array}{ll}21,913 \\ 6,25: 2\end{array}$

7,616

2,600
5,2000
1,300

300
, (Mis
4,500
730
8,123
-361,349
h.tent hovaEs, &c.
$A_{\text {Lprogriation. }}$
Lolght house at Butfalo 5,750 2,500 Cleveland 1,740

1,525
341
131
Bacon light at (6. Hiver $\mathbf{3} 64$
Several $n f$ the above harbors will not require any more expeaditures to complete them beysund what has been appropriatd. The eugineer estimates for further appropriations to complete thowe of Buffalo, Erie, Cunnugliam crevk, Ashtabuln and Biack niver. The appropriate committee in congress report for 832,000 to carry on the works at Buaffalo. These harbors when finshed will have cost probably baif a million of dollars. The engineer's report in refereuce to the above work, says, "the phans adopted for deepening einannels at the tnouths of rivers which were choked up with sand, have affirded, in their exeeution, in result far exceeding the expectation of all who were acguainted with their aituation prior to the commencemput of their Improve nuent." Works of a similar character, it may be observed, have been known in other parts of the world for many agen; but here they have liad all the difficuities of an experimenc. The artiticial harbors of Ramsgate and Yaronouth in England are said to be of a like description with those of Lake Erie. The one at Ramagate was not completed for forty yeara from its commencement, and cost $$ 2,600,000$-the piers built of stone. The one at Yarmonth has been rebuilt seven nr eight tiones, and the annuat cost of keeping it in repair is 89,000 .

Herod, the great, built an artificial harbor at Cresaria to secure vessels from the strong south weat winds of the Mediterrancan sea. He first formed a strong mole or break water, somewhat like the one now buildug in the Dela ware beiow Philade!phia, by oinking stones of finy feet long, eighteen fert wide and nitue feet deep, and which therefore must bave weighell about 600 ton* enets. On this arose a pier 200 feet wide defended by a wall and towers.

We notice in the enginter's report the inprovemente making In the navigation nf the Ohio and Mississijpi rivers in removing anage, sawere, &c. In the Ohio the deppening of the channel by means of "wing dams"' promines to be a great brnefft to the navigation of that river. The atperintemitent say, 'that work which way formerly viewed as an experiment is now reduced to a practical certainty. The bars tbroughout the whole extent of the Ohin river can be reunoved in such a manner as to prodnce a safe and uniform navigation at its jowest stage nf water with gteam boats drawing fon feet of water. The five harm that have been operated of were by far the most difficult and shoalest in the Ohio from the mouth of the Scioto to the Mississippl river, and had but two feet of water at the loweat stage of the river." It in auspieions that these linprovements in the lownr Ohio are making In conjunction with the completion of the Ohio canal, thus facilitaing transportation and travel, which will be indef: mitely angmenting; and at the same time perferting THE LONOEst LiNK Of ixLand maviantion of which the worlip 13 evacertisle.

FRANKLIN.

TIIE FLORIDA KEY&.

A writer in the Charieston Merenry is presenting the poblic with some intereating sketches of Florida. We extraet the following notices of the cotton, torchwond, mancliencle and mangrove trees.
The colton tree in indizenous, not only to Florida keys, but alco to the maia as far north as the latitude of Charleaton harbor. It repembles in colvr, (lieing yellow), the East India nankerns: the texture is woolly, and the plant perennial. It crows 10, 12 and 15 feet ligh. I am not aware that any experiment have been made in the cultivation of this cotton. Meriment have been made in the culivation of this cotton. the states under the name of Peruvian cotion?
The forcherood tree, as itn name imparts, is naed for torehes, It burne bright like lightwood; and in enmbustion emites a plea annt ndour resembling frankincense. From its pleasant sinell, it is much used for smoking out mosquartors.
The manchenele, when cut, emits a milky fluid, which, if applied to the human body, is peculiarly trritating, and by aome herid to be painonoas. I reciblleet an aneedote which proves that the irritsting proprieties may be ecommunicatenl to the haman body without actual contact, and that it may be diriven off by secompoittin rrauling fious lieat. A munter or men were engazed elearing a road, they had cut down and aet fire to several manchechele trees. Three or fout men of the party ineauttutaly mat down to leeward of the bmining trees; the sunoke being conveyed to them by the wiad, produced a violent inflanmatron in all parts of their bodies which were uncuvered. The inflanpuation, hwwever, wad must actute about the fhee and eyes. They wire led home liker hitind meen, in a "pretty pickle." They were very soon relieved by a solution of sugar of lead and opium, applied constantly with wet cloths, until the beat and pain subridrd. I have never known fatal consequences to foltow the application of the manchenele.
Mangrove-1 must nmt forget to mention thia tree, and its connexion with the collection and formation of roil, to whech it is admirably adapted. A beautiful itiustration of the fortmation of earth from the wea, Is exhibited und the Floridn reef and keys. In fact it may be taced from the inetpent formention of various aponges coral, &c. to the establishment of dry land. 8o eoon as the sponge, coral, or even a sand bank approselies within a foot or eighteen inclsew of tise water, the mangrova attachew itweif. The seed of the mangrove reseuntiles a loag bean it of it inches in length. As suon as ripe, it falls from the tree into the water, one end being heavicr than the other, it floats about perpendteuiarly, whitit in reaches some shoal spot, when it fixes itself to the botiom, takes root, amil becomes a tree. The roote of thid tree in process of time firm a complete network, in which all flomting materials, sen weed and sand are collected. I bave ween inangrove islands, (as they are called), of several acres in extent, which dill not contaili one pingle fiont of dry land. Nay more-I have seen ehannel ways of lit and 14 feet derp, passing through thewe islands, over which a natural bridge had been formed, hy the mangruve roots. In other places, I have known a few mangrove trees, by attaching themselves to a amall sand bank, collect large beds of pand ataund them, upon which the sea deposites its shells and birds of the air their cges, and the seed of various plants whieh they inay have collected in their migrations. In process of time, when a soll capable of supporting a stronger grewth is formed, the mangrove having performed its destined use, dies and is supplanted. There can be no doubt, but that the while of the filorila keys have been formed in this way. That is to say: by the growth of coral and sponges, the drin of watid hy currents, the growth and offices of the mangrove, and depositions of the sea and of birde.
A naturalist, who is well qualified for the tayk, might reap an ahunalant harvest at Key West and alonz the reef. Many planis have been discovered on the keye, peruline to the West Indies, and not kuown as indigenons to tie United States, which bave undoubtedly been brought over by birds from the trojics. These birds must be found by the naturalist who has time and patience to spend the whole year in thim section of country, as they probably inigrate at particular seasons. Se verai hirds have already been found not hilheito known or described as inluabiting the 1 'nited States. And why not others? The hirds peculiar to the Florida keya may be load in great quantities, and shelis and coral by cart loads, provided one is an adept at obtaining them.

\section*{gALTT MANUFACTORY.

Fron the Barnatable Journal.

Fron the Barnatable Journal.

The manufacture of salt by solar evaporation whether regarded as a source of individual wealth, of as a branch of our national industry, is nne of no little importance. Necessity campelled the inthabitants of thin country to engage in it; and vider the fostering care of our governmrnt, they have been encourag ed to inveat a milition and a half of dollars in this manufireture. We shall give a listory of the establishment of the manufacture In this country; an account of the improvements whth have from time to time been made in the manuer of constructing salt works; and, of the present condition of the manufacture.

Sixty years ago, there were many small eetablishments in thia comnty for boiting salt from sea watep. That of Messrs. Obed E.. Sutith and Job Chare, at Harwich, consisted of twelve kettles, of sixtern gailons each, set in tnamon work, and protected, by a low building, from the weather. At first they rained sea water by a hanil ipmp, afterwards by a wind mill, and conveyed it in spouts to the boilers. This establishment was continaed till after the clowe of the revolutionary war, a period of unore than twenty gears. In Falmonath and Barnstable there were similar establishments. In fact, tite restrictions imposed on our commerce by the British parliament formevpral years priop th the revolution, by cutting off the supply of foreign eatt, compelled almost every man on the seaboard to become a petty manafacturer. The exhorbitant price of foreign salt, and the distress occasioned hy the revolution, obliged many to continue thia petty business, and induced others to adopt other meane for making sait for their own cousumption. Somn after the close of that war, bniling salt was discontlnued, and has not since been resumed in this county.
The malt made by boiling was a very inferior articie. It was fine zrained, and imperfectly separated from the lime antus of the bittern, and other Impurities contained in ses water. Or the fabor and exponee of boiling salt, we may, without entering into an exact caleulation, form a very correct eximation. In order to obtain a singlo bushel of ealt, eight barrele, or 259 gatIone of sea water had to be evaporated, for the most part, in kitties III adapted to that purpose, hanging over a fire, or bet in mason work unprotected from the weather.

An appnrently unimportant observation, one of those smail incidenta which oflen pave the way to great discovrrien, extab Hisined the fact that salt could be made in this climate by solar evaporation. Suveral salt boilers at Harwich remarked that soune elam sheits on the sea shore comitathed miuute chirystats of salt. These they eoncluded must have been firnaed by the drying away of the water ief in them by tive tide. The correctuess of thie optnion they seon aecertamed by filting weverai and setung tbem on posts. Mr. Aumitel Wreks, of that town, made another expernment, which was more satisfactory. Hie ennvtrueted a shaitow box, open at the top, six feet in iength by two in width, and divided into three compartmenta by narrow atrips of a board placed erosewise on the insids. 'This he filled atripa of a board placed erosew wise on the insids. This he filled with sea water, and exponed to the eun's rays in fair weather, and at other timem kept it covered. With this simple apparatus he manufinctured salt sufficient for his own consumptoon. This experiment was made in the year 1774 or 1775, and was probably the Arst salt made in New England by solar evaporation.

About the same time that Mr. Weeks made his experiment, on anmecessfal attempt to mannfacture salt was made at the Isle of &hoals. A vat about ten teet equare, and a foot in depth, was scooped out iu the ground, and made tigbt witt a layer of clay. Over this a rude frame whas placed, to anpport the boarda that wers laid over it tu form a covering ou tha approach of a atorm.
The first attempt to manufaeture salt in wnrks construeted on the plan uow seneraliy adopted in thil country, was made in 1876 or 7 , by John Sears of Dennis. He was a poor tmati and had praviousty led a sea-faring hfe. Possesaing an inventive genius, he conceived a plan for manufacturing salt by a iess tedious and leas expensive process than the briliog down of sea water. Wanting the means to test the practicability of the plan, he aasoctated thunseif with Vidward Sears, Christopher and Fidward Crowell. Tbe latter bad seen the works at the IAle of $thoals, to which referrnce has been made; but it doen not appear that John Bears had aay knowiedge that ealt had ever been masde in workn mimitar to the onve he proposed building.

The stuation which thay seleeted for the erection of their masufactory, is on Quvet Neek, in the northerly part of Denpis, [thes Yarmouth] at a suatl dintance from the sea shore. The vat, or bottona, as it te generaliy called, was cnustrueted 100 feet in length and 10 in width and all on the same level. The tlooring was white piue plank, laid on oaken sleepers, the latter running crosswise, and the former lengthwise. 'The gunnels were also of plank, eight inehes drep and secured on the footing by uprigbt pieces mortised Into the eade of the sleepers, aud by knees passing under the flooring and on the outer sidee of the gunael pleces. The corners of the vat were atso secured by knees. The roof was euriounly fanhioned. Rafters grooved on each side were permanentiy fiateued to the gunnely, at the distance of from tive to sis feet of each other. The dooss were anade of a corresponding widtit, and consiated of several boards of the name iengtb with the rafters, clamped together like a common door. These were slid obliquely upwards and downwards, in the grooves of the rafters, when occasion required, and they were prevented from sauping in the eentre by slender rafers placed between tbe priacipal ones. It was soon found neceasary to bave a separate vat for chrystalizing the sait. A partition was accordingly placed across the original vat, dividing it into two.

For the two first years, water for tha supply of his malt work was binught in pails from the sea shore; it was then removed about three-fourths of a mile, to the situation on which onefourth of it mow stands. A littte before the close of the revolution, Mr. Sears procured one of tha pumpe of the British ship of war Somerset, wreeked on the coast of lape Cod, and ereeted it for the supply of tais manufactory with water, and to avoid the labor of bailing. About 1790 be constructed a mill on the plan of those now in common usa.

Like other inventors, Mr. Hears did not exeape the shafts of ridicule. For a long time his manufactory was known by the appellation of "John Beare' Folty," and to avoid tive sneers of the valgar, he coustrueted his mill in secret.

In Brewster, then Harwieh, Mr. Eeoto Clark, and rev. Mr. Dunater, conmenced the manufacture a littie beforv the elose of the revolution. Their works were built on "Bmart ipoint," Ia the north part of that town, and were consiructed like Bears', axcept they were divided into three vata. They had no pump for several years-afterwards one eonstructed like a common hand pamp. These works are now in good repair, and owned by Mark Clark. Mr. Nathaniei Freeman, of Brewster, aiao built salt works about the same tive.

In Barnstable, the first salt worke were built by Mr. Admn Hiackley and Nathaniel Gorham, in the year 1779. They were eonstrueted on Mr. Seara' plan, about tiny feet lu length and ten wide, and divided inth two vats. The water for the many. factory was carted from the sea shore, about a fourth of a mite distant from the works.

In other parts of the county, there were works similar to the latter, for the manufaeture of satt by selar evaporation, hut they were all broken ap aoon after the elose of the revolution.

gALT FORMATION

1) THE VALLEY OF THE OHIO.

The fift articie in the last number of the Journal of Science and Arts in entitied "Observatione on the saliferoun pock forsand Arts in entitied "Observatione on the saliferoun rock foruation in the valley of the Ohio," by Dr. $$$. P. Hilidreth, of Martetta. It conveys muth curions and valuable information, parts of which we copy for the benelit of our readers.

"For many yearn after detulements luad been commenced weat of the Allegtiany muuntans, the tnlabitunts were entirely dependent on their brethren east of the Appalachath ridge for alat; an article su necessary to tior existence and comfort of eivilized man. It was transported, with immense labor, through harrow d-files, and ainoost impassable roade across the mountam ranges, on the backs of horses. Long trams of these meful animaia ingibt be seen toiling up the ateep sides of the mountains, their ancouth pack-saddles laden with kege of salt, iron ware, and other merchandine, deatitied for the use of tha early settlers. Thim for a long tume was the only mode of transportation. At length rude ronds were construeted which eould be iraversed with wagons, and they eaused sonse reduction in the cost of transporthion, but it was not until the eomapletion of the 'Nationai or Cumberland road,' that travelling in earriages could be effected will nither ease or safety. From the gear 17 ete to the year 1800 , the price of salt varied from four to eight doliars per buabels and it was supposed by the inhabitante, that its eost would always prove a metious drawinark on the prosperity of the conntry. The upward navigation of the Ohio and Misainsippi rivers was long and tedious, requiring fron four to six ntonths to aceomplish the voyage from New Orleans, and the outlet being owned by a foreign nation, forbade the expectation of relief from that quarter. Iron, so indinpetwable in agricuiturai pursuits, was another heavy item of expense, and was, for many y ears, iranspotied in the aame tedrous way, until iron ore waw discovered in the laasrel mountans auni farmaces were erected. Frem that period, they have been gradunlly extending down the river, until no portion of the United States ta more cineapiy wr more abundanty supplied with irmn titan the valiey of the Ohin. Sait, so valuable and so scatce in thesc eariy days, as to be looked upon almost as a luxury, his now become so abundant as to sell for haif a cent per pound. The nit-wise and beneficent Creator, who formed tha earth fur the habitution of man, has stored it with ail thinga necewpary for his enmfort and happiness. In every rugion rinote froun the oeran, he has deposited in the bowele of the earth, vant magazincs of salt. The interior of Africa, Asia and Aloerica, contains, in the form of rock or native salt, or of sprimgs, fountains or lakes, or of efflerescences, a sutficient supply for the wants of all the inbatotanti. The valiey of the Ohio, from its head water to Shnwneetown, in Iitinois, may be said to be based on a saliferous rock, affording an abundance of water, highly eharged with muriate of soda, and affording it in abundauce, wherever perforations have been mnde, of a sufficient depth to reach the preeinas deposit. There are many evidences of ite exteniting, along the course of the Allpghany range, for more than one himadrud twilea in breadth, and for several bundred in tenyth. The sati rock commences near itu western and northern base, in the coal and sandstone region, and extends as far north and went as these two intreating formations are found. In Ohio, sandstone and coaf are abundant, from tite month of Big Beaver to some miles beinw the mouth of tha Sciota, nnd they cover a traet of eountry, between these two points, from forty to eighty milles in width on the northern bank of the Ohio. If the sait deposit exsenda as far north as Lake Erie, it is probahly very thin, or eise It dereenda deep into the earth; as few or no indicationm of salt are found north of these boundaries. A few milles below the mouth of Big sandy, the Ohto takes a more westerly course and the sandutone in lef on its southern share. At the western and northern termination of the sand rook, the lime rock commences and enntinues with littic interruption to the Mississippi river, and the grvat northern lakes. Sall water can doubtless be found in all that region, where sandstone prevails, as the two formations are known to accompany each other. The superincuinbent strata, composed of sandstone, argilite, mari-slate, &e. as will be more futiy sbown in another pince, varies in thickness from five bunired to tweive hundred feet; and it appears to sink decper into the earth, on or near the Ohin, as the salt rock la reached at tean and jess depth, at we ascend the streams discharging their waters intn this river. This is especially the fact with the salt wells in tha Maskingum and Bie Kenhawa rivers. A few miles above the falls, at \%anesville, the sait rock is found short of two bundred nad finy fert, white thirty miles below it is eight litindred and onv feet to the lower satt stratitm. From aeverai circumstances, it wouid serm to be a fact that the ancient inhabitants of this vailey were not unacquainted with the ase and the mannfacture of salt. In wells at the Sriota Salines and at the Blue Lirks in Kentucky, the beds of firnaces, and large fragments of broken potis, made of coarse earthenware, were repeatedly found, at considerable deptuw below the present surfaee; affording strone preaumptive pviffence, that the quality of the water was know'm, nnd that it had been applied to the wants of tman in ares long since pmosed away. Tusks and erinders if the elephant and maxtodon, were alan found in diggivg the walt wrtla at both these places. 'The attraction of wild beasta to there salinca. probahly first bronght them in the nulien of man. At the licks on the Kenhawa, peveral indicationm were disenvered of their having been in ase long before they were known to any white man.
"The firm attempt at mannfmeturing sait in Ohin, was made abont the vear 1798, nt what is now railmil the 'nhl scinto *ait workz.' This spotit in in Jackson comitr, on tive banke of a smaif creek, ealled Salt Crrek, a tributary of the river Ecioto. The weits were dug near the crrek to the ilspti, of twenty or thirty feet, and the salt water rose luto the excavatlons from crevicue

In the rock below. The present mode of plereing the rocks was not known untul reany years after. The water thns procured was but weakly lmpregnated with salt, and required irom wis to eight hundred gallons to make a bushel of bify pounds weight. It was also very dark colored, and Gilled with the bittern, composed ehiefly of muttates of line and magnema; the manufaccurere not goving it time to dian, but transiernigg it immediately fron: the ketties to the pack hurses uf the purchasers, who, transporting it iuto the various settiements, sold it to the mhabitanta for three and four dollars per bushal, as late as the year 1806. Thas saline was thought to be so inportant to the country, that when this territory was erected intos a state in the year 1802, a tract of six miles square was set apart by congresa for Uhe use of the state, embraeng this saline. 'I'wo other tracts of wx hundred and forty acres each, were also reserved for the same purpove, one on Salt Creck in Muskiugum county, and one in INelaware county, an too valuable to fall into the hands of indiviluala, lest they dbould errate a monopoly of the arthe le; these being the only places then known in ()hoo where ant could be made. A spectal act was passed by the legislature, in the year 1804, regulaung the manageinemt of theae malues, and an agent appointed to rent out the small lits to manufacturers, latd out on the borders of the erseks, wheresult water was found most nbundant. The rent demanded was sisteen cents per year on each galton of eapacity in the kettles, and no one person was alowed to use more than four thousand, nor less than six hun dred gallons in each furnace, guardmg here also, carefully, ugainst monopoly. The agent was authurised to inspeet the salt before it was offered for sale, and to lay oft suitable wood lots for the use of the furnace holders, free of expense. T'he amount manufactured in any one year, never produced a revemue to exceed five hundred dollars. As other and much better saline springs were discovered on the navigable streams, the works at the agencies went gradually to decay; and finally, in the year leat, the 'salt reservations' were sold and the proceeds placed in the treasury of the state. In the year 1803 , a new era commenced in the inanufacture of salt. Irreviously to this time the water had been obtaiesd from wells sunk tho deeper than to perfurate the "uperincumbent earth to the rocks betow, thirongti some erevice in wheh it had made its way to the surface. But now, atteupta were made to come at the sourcen of the founcain, by boring, of drilliog through the rock formations, to the maline deposit itself. The tirtt trial of thas kind was made on the lig Kenhawa, six mates abuve Charleston, and oaly to the depth of seventy or eighty feet; on fusther trials, it was discovered, that the water became stronger as they descended, and the first wells were gradually decpened to three hundred and finy feet, with the mont alisiactury resulta. Water was ubtaiued of such strength that seventy Give gallons would make a bushel of salt of finy pounde weight, of as mueh as four hundred gallons frotis the oll wurface wells; producing an mmense saving of time aad labor to the manulacturer, and a much better article to the consumer. The spaee, now occupied by the salt wells, estends to the shores of the Kenluwa, and is about se. venty miles from the mouth of the river. The upper wells reach tie salt rock at two hundred and fify feet. Tite lower wells strike it at a number of feet deeper, the rock dipping to the north as it recedes from the mountains, or deseends the tiver."

BHIPMENTE ON THE OIIIO.

Law case before the supreme court of OAio, at Cincinnati, at May term, 1833. Josiah Lawrence, ws. James and Rohert McGregor.
Asaumpsit trought against defendants as owners of the steam boaks Tecumseh aud Amazon, to recover the value of ecrtain goods shipped at C'incinnati for New Orteans and loat at l.ouls. ville. Plea non amumpsit. The bilt of lading, on which the action was founded, was for goods shipped on the Amazon for New Orleans, but there was a metnorandum on the lef band enargin uf the bill, in these words:-"Shipped in Cincinnati, on board steamer Tecumseh, to be re-shipped al Lowisrille per steamer Amazon." It was admitted that the defendants owned the boats 'Tecumseh and Amazon, and that the gonds were aetually ehipped on the Tecumseh, the Amazon then lying at Shippiog. port, betow the falls of Ohio; and also that the latter boat being of the larger elase, was, at low water, employed below the fills, and the T'ecumsch above, and in taking freight to the boats below.

A great number of witnesses were examined before the jnry. From the testimony, it appeared, that unthl about the year 1819 , it was the general custom to trabsport merchandise, at low it was, the general custom to trabsport merchandise, at low riers began to use flat boats in carrying goods over the falls; and from thence to this time, the use of flat boats for that purpose was continued by some, and was on the increase. Both metiods were sull used; and it was now somewhat unvertaln which mode was mnst in use. The transportation over the fatls in flats was preferred by many, becanse it kept the goods elenner, exposed them less to the heat and sun, left them in a better exposed the unarkel in the lower country, and was less expenaive. That way of passing the falls was more hazardons than by drays, but that, in the opinion of many engaged in the trade, was counterbalanced by the superior condition of the poods. The insuranee offices charged $1-8$ per ecnt. inereased premium for risks that were intended in pass the falim in flats. Owners frequently obtained permission of the shipper to pass the falls In dats-cither given verbally, or by memorandum on the bill of lading: though flats were often uned whout wuch leave. It was mure conveaient to the carrier to pass in flacs. It was the custom of the trade to consider the memorandum on the bill of ladiag, as tu shopmentis in other boats, or tlate, ns a part of the bill uf Jating.
It was also proven, that when the Teetunseh arrived at Louisville with the cargo in question, the state of the river was such as to raise a doubt about taking her safely over the falls and back agam. The pilot dectucd taking her over, though some witnesses testhed that at that time, and for several day afturwards, there was suificient water for her to pask. The goodn were moved from the Tecumseh and laden in flats, but owing to the state of the wind, the pilot reftised to take flat over the falls. They were then mooned for the night and properly guarded. Karty the next morning, the steamboat Lady Fianklin run foul of the flats, munk them, and although every exertion was thade to save the goods, they were lost. The net loss to the plaintiffs was adatitted to be g994.
In the progress of the cause, the plaintiff calleal a witness to prove the agreement of the parties to this bill of lading, that the goods shoulh be carried over the falls in ths Tecumseh. Stover, for the itefendante, oljected to this evidence, and the objectuon was argued by Storer, and by N. Wright and C. Hammond, eontra. 'The court held it tneompetent to vary the terms of a written contract by parol evidence, and rrjected the tentimony. The testimony, the court said, whs not offered to establish a general usage, but to vary this particular bill of lading.
The cau*e was argued to the jury, ly N. Wright and C. Han mond fiur plaintiffs, and by Storer क $F$ bos for the defendants.
Judge If right, in giving the cause to the jury, stated: That the bill of ladng, winch was the contract between the parues, was prima facie the true embtract, and to be continued aceording to its terms and legal effeet, though if there were any general or common usage of the trade, atfecting the manner of executiog such eoniracis, that unage wonld be regarded as a part of the eontract, and withith the contemplation of the parties. A compliance with such contract in accordanee with such general usage, would in law satiafy its stipulations. But a mase to atfect wich a contract, must be common, and of general notoriety, not thectuating, or dependant upon whim, caprice, or any suelt circumstance. Where the bill of lacing is in the asual form and a carther would reserve to himself the privilege of deviating from the usnal course of the tradn, he should stipulate for the privilege and vary the contract aceordingly. The bill or lading is to be taken altogether, including the memorandun-in the ease the contract inclades the memoranitums an to the emphoyment of the Tecmmseli to take the goody from Cincinnati to the Anazon. Its legal effert obloges the earrier to take the freight from Cincinnati, in the Teenmeh, to the Amazon, below the falls; but as the usage of the river when the water is too low for the smail boats wafely to pass over the fallw, admits the transportation from l.ounville in shippingport by other meanf; that usage the law regaris an incorporated into the contract, and withon ite stipulations.
A eartier is in general tiable for all injury to freight entrnsted to tim, which does not remuli from the art of Gid, (inevitabie aceident) or the enemies of the state. He undertakes for the safe kerptige of the goodx, the safe conduct of the vessel, and the consequent employment of the proper means, navigatorz. lights, watch, &e, for her preservation. Ile is bound not to expose the freight to any extraordinary hazard or peril. And although while in the eustomary couree of the trarle, the carriey is excused from making good losses resulting from inevitable aecident or the pulilic enemies of the state; yet If he deviate from that course annl expose the freight, and loss acerve, even from these causes, before he has returned to the course of the trade, it falts upon the owner. Such exeuse from repponsibility is only available while the carrier is in the prosecution of his voyage in the usuat route. You will then inquire, what was the state of the water when the recummeh arrived at Loulsville and if satisfied there was sumfient for ber pafe paswage over the falla, It was the duty of the drfendants under their contract to carry the plalntifis gools over in that boat. And if with suffil eient water for the Tecumseh to pass the falls, the defendant chome to employ flats or any other means of transporting the freight for their own convenience or jrofit, ind the goods were lost by such transit, by inevitable accident or publie encmies, the lose would be that of the carrier, berause of the deviation from the contract and the exposure of the freight to increaned peril. If you find this to be the case on the evidence, it will not be necessary to inquire further, for the plaintife tight to recover would he complete

If you shall find the atage of water to be sueh, that when the Teeumsch arrived at louisville, it was masafe for ber to pase the fallis, then It was lawful for the earilers to overcome that obstruction to the navization it the manner adopted in the eommon course of thr trade. Ir that cominon comrae is in light the boat over the falls by minading a part of the eargo into bighters or to untade the whole carmo and transport it around the falls on drays, or carry over in flats, the cartire must adopt the nsual courae at his perit. Rut if two ways are in common use of ovetcoming the otelacle, nne known to be more hazardons than the other; the earrier adopts the inost haznrdous method at his own risk, and ir lose intervene, it in his lows. This rewults from the nature of the employment - he has the eatire control of the goods and those employed in navigating the veserl, nnd alithough tor some purposes the carrier is agent for others than the owners, he is not permitted for his own conveatence to subjeet freight entrusted to bim to any but the common and known perils but at his own rexponsibility.

It is not disputed but there are two ways of transporting goods past the falls of Ohto in low water in usc, onc hy drays, and the other by flat-boats. It is urged that the whote current of the testimony, the price of insurance and the nature of the trans. portation itself, conclusively khow the usc of flat boats the most hazardous course, and therefore not presumed to have bern contemplated by the partion, and at the rink of the carrier. It is for you to judge from all the circumstances in proof, and if yon find the uee of drays the teast perilous, the deleulants are responsible for the consprquence of adopting the other conrse; and the circumstance of the increased hazard of the tranaport by flat belag counterbalanced in the estimation of anme, ly the more cleanly appearance of the goods or thelr less expostur to the heat of the enn, doen not affect the question, athongh it may aflord good renson for those having the power of chotee to inicur the incrensed hazard in the expectation of realizing the advantage. The right of the shipper, and the lubility of the carrier remain untouched. If on the cther hand you tind the known general course of the trade in the to cmpley flats at low water to trane port goods over the falls, then ant then oniy, would the carrict aerfuire the right under the contract, base the water was ton tow to go nver with the Tecumseh, in lade the merchandiace in that kind of eraft, and only in such case can yon be called to Inquire whether the flat-buats were properly moored and paftly manned and guarded. If the goode were fo laden without the contract, and white they remained without, a loss even if ocea ainned by imevitable accident, would fall upen the carrier. If so laden within the contrnet, as being according to the known cuatom of the trade, or the least perilons comrse, thin if proper eare was loestowed for the protection of them, ant loss resulted from inevitable accident, it in to he borin by the ohipper. In either case if the loss resulted frmon nreligence or the wanton act of the navigators of the Lady Franklin, the defendants nre responsible to the piaintiffs and thay tave their remedy over, against thoae concerned in the Lady Franhtin.

Verdict for the plaintiff, and judgment.

BOLTON ms, CALIEER & WIL.SON

This was nn action of trespass on the case, against the defendante ae the proprictors of the Rearling and Harrisbug stage eoseh, tried before jurtice Rogers, at in circmit court for Danphlu county, J'cnissivania, the 16 th April, Ir 33.
When his honor sammed up the evidence in pointed terms in favor bf the plaintiff, the jury found for tise plaintiff $$ 1,300$ damages. On appeal th the knpieme court in Bank, the cause wan argued for the plaintifr by Fisher and Krause, and for the defendants by Wiedman and Norris.

Chief Justice (Gibeno delivered the opinton of the court - Among the reawns assigned for a new thlst, there is lat one which deserves to be moticod; and there is ao little evmen in it, that were it not necessary to correct an apparent misapprehension on the sulyeet of $i t$, and $\ln$ a matter of very general cowcern, it would not be maile a subject of remaik. The move. ment of carriages passing on our turnpike roads in opposite directions is requlated by epecial enactment; but there is no positive law to regulate the pawring of those who are traveiting in the same dircetion. The defendants gave evilence of its being a curtotn in the latter case, for the leading carriage to incline to the right, the othicr making the transit at the same time by the len; whenee it is attempted to be shown that the injury puffered by the pinindiff, liad been necasioned by bis own neglect of Uhs cuntom whitich was said to have acquired the consistchee of a lav, but which was very properly exploded hy the court. Nothing should be more peitinacionsly resisthd than these attempts to transfer the functions of the juige from the bench to the withesses' nthud, liy evidenec of cuntoms in derogation of the general law, that wonth Invalve the reaponsilititics of the partien in rules, whome existence, perhope, they had no reason to surpeet before they came to the applied to their naghts. If the existence of a law he so ulacure as th be known to the constitutional expoxiturs of it, onty throngh the evidence of witnesses, it is no extravngant abramption to take for granted that the party to be nfifected whe igmurant of it at the time when the knowledge of it would have been most material to bim; and to try a man's actuons by a rule with which he had not an opportunity to become acqualited hefore hand, in the very worst species of tyranay. The prolability of setual ignoranece in respect to this pasticular custom, is greater than in respect to aimost any other that can be imagiturd, as the traveller might reasona by auppose the whole law of the road to be comprived in the statutory adinonition that merts the cye at cyery gate and britge. The unc of parol proof has been, th way the least, suff ciently extended by pustering it to control the private written laww which individuals establish between themelves for the regulation of their rigits in particular tran*actions, wishout auffering it to control the gencral law of the land. The judge, therefore, did a valuable service to the stahility of the law by freeing the casse from a matter so cutirely forrign to it . It remains therefore to be acen whether the rute taid down by him, is founded in the priuciple of justice and reason. It was bint pretended that the mant conchen are entitled in precedence, or the enjoyment of any paiticular prisitrges. "They are indeed protected by an wh tof congress from boling wilfuliy anit wantonfy obstructed or delageul: but in every other respect they are on a footing with all nther carriagre; nitd it is right perhapm that it should be so. Expetience proves that the divers of them are not the mont elgible depositories of power; and there are few who have not to do with them etther as passengers or travellers. The publie consequently has an important interest in having them in common with the drivers of other carriagea, held strictly to the measure of their rightu; and thas can be done only by making their employers sureties for their gond conduct, at rar as the law permits, and linble for their acts. They are sel dom of sufficient estate to reqpond ill damages to any consider able cxtent; and to treat them as exclusively liable, would in mont fartances be a demal of ipdress. With theae considera tions in vicw, the juige stated the law to be that a traveller may use the middle or eltiry side of the road at hia pleasure, and without being bound to turs aside for another traverling in the same direction, provilied there the convenient room to pass on the one hand or on the other. And why whould it be otherwise? The Jaw to requlate the deflection uf those who are travelling in opposite tircenions was denigucd for the specific case mentioned in it, the olject lieing in avoid, by a preconcerted movement, the collision which might otherwise cosuc frum the mutual misapprelicusion of intention frequently obscrvable betweenfoot passengers. But this mincertainty is productive of no collision between carriages travelling in the same direction, and the principle of the cnactument in therefore not to be ex tended to it. It is certainly but reasonabic that the traveller to be accotmmodated phould be: at the pains to give his carriage the proper direction to enable him to protit by his superior speed, annl if there be conventent room to pass on any particuiar part of the road, lie ought not to complain. If there the not, it ts doubtless the duty of the other to afford it, on request made, by yielding him an equal sliare of the road, if that he adequate and practicable; if not the object mazt be deferred till the parties arrive at around more favorable to its accomplishment. Should the leading travelier refuse to comply, he would be answerable for it. But to effect the paskage by a forcible collision with him is not to be justifind, rediews being ulcmandalite only by due course of law. Conformably to thits, it was impossible to doubt that the injury entiled the plaintiff to his action, nad as it clearly appeared to have theen the effect of negligence, the verdict was properly rendered for such dannages as will probably induce the proprictora of mail coaches to take care that their drivers be more nttentive to the righte of oluers, for the futhre. Judgment affirmed.
[Lancanter Journel.
SLAVES, AND ELAVERY IN VIRGINIA. From the ( Richmond) Farmer's Register.
The editor considers the question of slave-labor and siavery as coming farly within the province, and accordingly we bave in this number layge extracts from two articles on the subject, (both written in Virglinis) which first appeared in the American Quarterly Review. From one of these we quote the following paragraphe, which, so far na they relate to the public lands, express the views of a rapidly increasing proportion of the people of Virginia.
We belicve that means may be found to colonize the nanual enrplus of the slaves of Virginia, and to parchase such a portion of that surplus as it may the neceanary to purchase.
The annual increasc of slaves in Virginia (leaving out of view the 6,000 suppowed to be taken off to the southern markets) is less thatt 5,000 . If this nutuber of slaves be valued at the ater age of $$ 200$ per head, the sum necensary to purchase them will be alout a miltion of dollars. To defray the expense of their deportalton to Africa and subsistence there for some months will, oll the patimfartory carvlation of Mr. Mathew Carey, to which we nust refer, at $$ 3$ per head for adults and children, require 8125,000 -adh to $w$ hich the cost of deportation of 1,200 free blacka, (their annual increaze), en0,000, and we have the suin of &150, (010. That the state ur Vigginia has no possible menns of purchasing 5,000 slaves per annum ta obvinus. Hut were the cutire cost, that of tranpportation oniy, $$ 150,000$, we should insist that the legislature take it into merious consideration Low far that expense exceede tha mirans. In any cvent, our advernaries will allow ns to sct down the item of transpartation to the charge of the state: if this be ali, it in to bifre mo insurmiountable cmlanrassinent. Perhaps it many be thought best to dipor the free negreses first, nnd then the whole expenioc is that of transportation. Where, liowever, shall we find that creater find which will presently be needed for the purchave of the sur plus of the slavex, and before long for the pmrchane of a pait of the capital number? There is not far off a fund to which wo belleve our cyes may be turned. We loave cone to tion eonelu. sion that such a fund is the procecds of the pubtic tanisk in the trensury of the gencral governmem; and we donnw invite tho fricuds of the removal and colonization of the negroes to 6x hereafter their thoughts, and to press their pretensions on this fund. The aunual ineome to govermment frem the pulalie Innds is now estimateal at threc millions. Liet one thind of this anount be demanded for this alijest, to be uali-r the cutire management of the state aubloritios.
In coincidence witt the known opinion of Virginla, we are not willing to demand a sluphe appropriatoon of monet from congress. But we are inclined to tbink, that an appropriation frosn the receipts of the puldic lands wodd not be liatle to the constitutional objection, which woutd forhtd $n$ grant of money ralsed by taxta. We have an minfigned respert fur conssith tional scruples, but we are nut ambitions ourselves of entertsin Ing more scruples than Mr. Madison. Let u* hear, then, what कhal gratern livimg anthority anya upon the sunyed, in hiv letter to Mr. Gubley, of Deecuter last:
"In contemplating the pecuniary resources needed for the emoval of nuch a number to a great dietance, my thoughts and boper have been long turned to the rich tund presented in that western lands of tho uatren, wheh will woon entirely cease in be usuder a pledge tor aonther objcet. T'ise great one in puestion Is truly of a suational elsaracter, aud it is known that distingusphed patriots not dwellug th slave-fordins staten bave viewed tic object in that ligtit, and would be willing to let the antuomal do buatu be a resource in eifecting it. simould it be remarked that the slates, though ail anay be interented in rrlieving our eountry froas the colured popmiation, are not equally eo; it in but fair to recolteet that the sectunos twont in be benetitted are those whose cessmons ercated the tund to be drsposed of I am aware of the consututinnal obstacle which has presented itmeif; but if the geteral will should be reconctied to an applicatton of the terricorial find to the removal of the coiered poyulativu, a grant to congrese of the necessary authority could be carried, with little defay, through she forme of the constinution.'
Hetore any one condeunst us for luomeness of constrnction of the conshinion, we beg fuither that he wili reail Mr. Jufferion'n letter to Mr. Sjarks, (vol. Iv. pp. '3cd-391); we adopt all the qualifications therem meutioned.
Judge Marshall most properly singerete that the olypection, in s political view, to tite applicatma of this anmple fund, is very taueh lessened, in his estumation, luy the faet that our lands are becoming an object for whach the statses are to serambie, and whech threatens fu sow the seede of discord anuing us, instead of being what they unght be-a sourre of batsopal wealth.
A zreat part of the proceeds ot the pubbic downan once appropriated to this objuct, there would som be tound mo lasartuountable dithenliy in the reanoval of the necessary number in Virguata. But it as sad that were congress disposed togive a tailion anuually for the spreilic olymet of the removal of the slaves, it womld feel bound to bextow in propurtionally motl the olave-Imidmg wates, in if all be ant inefined to receive $n$, then on those which would be. We answer, that if congrexs slonuld conspist to pledge a certain share of ther acvinise from the lands for the purchase umil renoval (under the laws of blicestatew) of the slavea of the Vinted States, we lrave mo iloulot it wouid be thougtat wise th begua with the vflectual relvof of the greatest sufferer firat. A imbutie's atiention to the fillow ing etateramen I'lie state of Virgina courtanm, ly the lant evosus, less than one-fifeenth part of the whole whitc paimiation of the United Suater; it contailis more ifin one-movenili of the frae negroen; and it possessen between a fousth and a lints of all the shaves in the union.

"Virginia bas a greater number of siaves than any otiner state and "'enircmeac, all put together-ami more than lowr times nas many as either of themt. Lasistana aud samth t'arofina are the muly statse in which the miaves are mure momeroun than tie white puisiation; and Virgoua ha* more slaver, without emtimating lur great and unforiunate propurtion of free perwons of color, than buth thewe states put torgetirer. Nay, one haif of the slate, titat whieli liew on the cast of the Blue Ifilge of monutaine, itself contaitss beariy as many."

Jut if congreas slrould ilechine to grant from this fund for the opecilic purpose af the reasoval of the blacka, and prefer to dintribute amouz the states the portuon of nomey severatly assignable to them, let surls paition as would fall to Vistitia, be earnostly elanmed of the legislature for this olbjuct. 'I'lie annanal recetpt of between two and sistee foundred thisusand dollarss winch Mr. Clay" bull (Iruited to five year# duratomi), wonid assign her, Would not be allequate for compensating masters on the forcgairy plan, but it migin suffier for lasing an imumense deal of good wh the jlan in Mr. Jeffurwn's ietur to Mr. Npatke, the purchase of the chitdren at a sinali but just priere, the clint: dren to be diaposed of cithor acconding to the partrenlars of timst plan, of under any other julan wholt thaght the speedior, anil leas burdenamme to tic fuersons to be chargeni with rearing thean.

We believe that bufore thalf a million of bincks were conveyed to Africa, there woulil unt remain a matater mbstinately resulved to retain his alaves, etcept th the most smathern and sonth western statex, where wlave labor is nest to exnewtial (we hope not abonintely), for the cultivation of the amin lasidu.

We exinort the penple of Virgitia, thro, first to week aid from thrif own legssatiore to the exent it can be afforded; secons, to insist on the passage of permasent iaw going as far in the subjeet as public opinion wall jusinfy; and thard, so askert thes claims to a share in the proceeds of the publoc lands. Let it not, by her fastulinusness, be inade true, that alie cedeal an enipire to the general government, nnoler a virtual condstion that slie alone was to durive nu henefit from it.

Suppose then, means be thus fotund to defray the expense of emascipaling aird Iranxporting then to ponne other conutry, the next question is, where a auitabie n-ylum may ber fonnd tis which tn eonvey them? W'e answer, that Africa nflords tire must efigible situatmon for such an asylum, and that we loope Virginia Would a vail herself of the noble begiuning whirh Itas been made by the American colonigation mociety at Libcria.

$\rightarrow$ 野合

JUDGE CLAYTON AND TIIE I:NITEE STATES BANK. From the Georgias Journal.

Alhewe, July 15, 1893.
Mrank. Fipitora-A report is provaibng, aud to which wide clongged my opinion on the bank queation. Lest allence om tny part mught sketa to give it even the semblance of trath, t ain constrained reluctantly to appear in your paper to contradict such at unjust and unfounded suggertion. Such report as I uuderatand, bas gopa forth by reason of a letver addresed to somue individual in l'miladeiphia through the sgency of one of the directors of the branch of the Uoited Staten' bank at Washington city, by giving information of a transaction in that bank relative to maseelf, whach it shall be the purpose of this comsmutucation to explain, and will, I have no doubf, be perfectly saturfuctory to every human being, of the least liberality, who shall dhs me the jnatice to read it. When 1 lef home in November last, to take my seat in congress, I carried with mea laige onu of noney, in Georgia currency, to fulbl a contract fur machinery in the elty of New York. I applied at the above bank to excliange it for United states bills, bat upon being informed that a premium of 7 per eeol would be demanded, I declincd it, aud detetanined to send it back to Augusta, for the purpose of purchasing a bill of exchange, where, as I was inforlsed, one could be obtained for one and a half per cent.Accordingly, by a asfe private conveyance, I forwarded it to an iudividual, with an rarmest request to effect the purchase and return the draf wiblout deiay, as by my contract I was in be entilled to a deduction of titree per cent. for pronapr payment. This took place on the 13 th of January, and on the geth of the same month, I reecived a letter from the bearer of the funole infirming me of their delivery, and enclosing the receipa of the perann to whoth they lind been remitted. From this lant hudividual I conid learn nothing, thrugh repeatediy addreseed. Thus strougly theatened with a heavy loas, and ntill mare barrarsed by the eonsequences it was likeiy to involve, $t$, of course, a waitral the event with unusal anxiely, and, as might well bo imagibed, with on little interiuption to ny pminlic dislurs. I was lield in this suspense duing the whole sespion of congress, abd, finally, was informed by a irnend, to whom I bad wrillen ons the anbject, that my agent had used the money and bad lailed.
This information 1 irceived on the 5 hth Marrh, the day after congress adjourcil, and but two days after I had voted, in a minofity of 41, that I believed the bank of the United Seates an unsafe depository of the public money. It in imposatibe, if it were neccosary to deneribe the state of my feplinge at the mosment. A large aum of noney faithiessiy embezzled-an urgent contract ciaiming purformance-without the means of ratisfying the drmand-from home, and consequently away frmm ofl my resources-in a land of etrangere, and compelled by eircumotancen to remmain at Washington, it may readily be conceived What whe my sunation, and Ithat situation may be safrly mabmitted to the reflection of a liberal community. I had sufficient proof, at the time, what generoun minda will do under sueh an mulouked for difficulty. A* moon an I read the lettip announcluz my mixtortune, I handed it over to some one of the gentlemien with whom I boarded, and mentioned the distrewaing perplexity it wecasioned in the fatlure of my engagement, a matter of bueh more concern to me than the loss iteelf. In an inatant, and unsolicited, general Robinson, a senator from Indiana, stept aside til a table, and knowing the amnunt I wanted, (being considerably less than I had lost), drew a note for If, endorsed it limsol If, and was immediately and voluniarily aucereded in Hiat kind and magnammoun act by Judge Mangom and general Hawkins, of North Carolina, jndge Bouldin, of Virgisia, colonel King, of Alnbama and captatin Mcintire, of Maine, who returned and prosented it to me, remarking that they hoped it woull relirve my present embarraswinent. In the glow of freting which such a generous act inspired, and eertainly in winlent conirasl with those unilor which but a few moments hefore I Irad wuffered, I aceepted their kind offer, though it was to torrow money from a ballk against whieh, polutcally, I was and ath still upposed, not howrever withour expressing my apprehension that their friendly interferpnce would be nnavailing, or that an improper construction would be placed upon the tranasetion. To obviate whielt colonet Kıng, with that readiness demandiag my most unqualified acknowledgmenis, repaired with the note Io tite bank, explained fully all the circumstances under which the Ioan was auked, and was wholly instrusnental is procoring the accommodation. The bank anked, and I have no doubt erpreted notiring else but an ampic necurity for their money. And tinough the above endorsers are worth two hundred thousand dolinrs, yet to observe strictly the rules of the bank, ita officers required of me a inwu ndorner, or what was taniamount to it. This wan eomplied with. Hut a day or two after, general Van Nese the preaident of one of the cliy banks, hearing of my loes and the grrat inconvenirnce to wbich it anbjected me, very menerously offered me the name accomonodation. Thus then a loan souzht in consequence of an urgent and unforeseen necessity, created by an unexpected act of perfidy-acquired in the meat open manner-upon the best socurity - froen an inatitution whoea burinkes it is to tend money for gain-profesaing to be impartial in its favnrs, and made in atriet conplanee with ita rulen, hat been tortured into a prace offering, designed and so received by mc, to quiet my opposition to its re-establishment! Lagreage faits omr to express, in a sense of becoming self. reapect, the scorn which in die to such heartiest illiberality. I will, however, do the officers of the bank tha justice to nimy, I do not helicve they intended their agency in this matter, to have amy inch rffect, and tharefore cannot be oo illiberal as to expert It, whatever inay be the views of a aingle director, in the unkind has givea ruse.

I bave taken the liberty to mention the names of iny endorsers, with no moinve of an ostentatious display of the lingli eliaracter with which my credit lias been supported, but to aval myeelf of their distinguisbed reputation to sustain the facts of my statement, so lar as conbected with the bank trankaction; aod to a public not always too endelous or induikent towards a narrative intended to refute a rlander, I have thought it not ambs to tender a list of the williesses. A. S. CliAY'ION.
P. S. It is reasomably expected that this conamunicalion will fiud a place in all those papers where it bas been deemed a matwr of such public interest to conviet me of incowfitiency.

COLONEL, DRAYTON'S SPEECH.  washtiotux socikty

At the celebration of the fourth of July, io the eity of Charlea ton, by the Washingtou society: one of the vice pissidents gave the following toast:
The hon. Wim. Dragton-The patriot"without fear and without reproach,"-ewtinable in private, illustrious in pubiie lite$a l l$ the ends he aims at, are his country's.
When the enthuslastic plandits with which this toast was received had sulsided, col. Drayton iose and spoke as fillows:
Prllow citizens-Althnigh you have been induced, by persoual kindneas, to speak of tie in a matuncr which I not very far from meritug, I yet receive your tlattermg complincot with the most grateful feetings, uot because it is flatterimg, hut he cause it manifeat your approbation of my eonduct, alld your opinions, that the exertiona which I have made in the cause of our couotry, and for the preservation of your rights, however upefficient they have beeo, have been all that my tumble abitities enabled me to render, nud that they have been directed by purity of utention. But, fellow cilizens, any thing reiating to myself, is unconnected with the object of this nusecting. We have met for the purpose of culebratung the anniversary of the Declaration of our Independence; of giving utteranee to the deep and heart felt emotions which are associated with the re eollcetion, that by the toils, and the sulferings, and the valor, and the blood of our aocestors, wn were raised from eotonial vasalage to sovercign power. Whinst thus rejoicing, we ought, also, to remember, with emotions scarcely less intense nnd reverential, that our ancestors, after experledcing the eviia of an embarrassing and feeble confederacy, framed that constitution which was ratified by the people of the United staten, to secure the bleasings of indcpendence, thberty and union, to themseives and their posterity. Gireater blessingw than independenee, therny and unon, were never bentowed by man upon mant anly yei have we withessed a period, when wome of the posterity of oar glorious ancestora would lave hazarded the posmension of ticse inestinable treasures, to promote the triumiph of a pernicious mplastry, first promulgated in the "exposition ansl protest," which was pabished by the order of the legislature in Ireember, 1828. These observations are oot ioade by ine, as prela. tory to an elahorate investigation of the odious doctuine of net -ification-a doctrine so paradoxieal, ae to involve in ita mere statement the palpubie contrathetion that a single state, under no other restraiot than her own discretion, cafn, within her limits, annul the laws of a gnvernment, which the people of all the statca have solemnly bound themselvea to obey, na "Ure upreme laws of the land"-that a state can exempt herself from the burthens, and paricipate in the benefta of the unionean be a unember of the body poittic, and absolve berrelf finu the obligation which it Imposes-that these grnes Incongruitica might be sustained, what have we not enulured? Whilst the areonsplishment of nullification was in progrese, the practleal pfinct of which, it was alleged, would be a peaceful and constitutional remedy for our grievaoces, ean we ever forget that cluth were organized in every elty and hamlet, by whove firesponsible wiil, the constutution and the laws were controlled-that thonsande of volunteers were raised, holding themsclvea ready, at a minute's warning, to mareh and to fitht, as if a foreigu enemy were horering upon our coast-that large sums of tnoeey were expendd by the legialature for the purchase of armit and ammunition, to reimhurse which, we must be heavily taxed $\rightarrow$ liat our youth were allured from their appropriate avocations, and the softer sex from their characteriatic pursuits, to mingle in the strife of politieal conteotoon-that ancient friendahim were dissolved, the ties of blond rent asunder, and the domestie circles, whero affeetion, and harmony, and eonfidenee should reign, einbittered by party rancor-that a portion of our citizenn were proseribed and diafranchised, because they would not take an unrighteous and unconnatitutional oath-liat our whole state was convulseal to its eentre-and that aven the horrors of civil war were anicipated by those who deprecuted it as the direst calamity with which an offending people could be visited by an avenging deity? These, fellow eituzens, were some of the bitter fruis of nutlification. What are the benefits which it has conferred upon us? We were tobl, that it was resorted to in order that we might be relieved from the intolerable oppressions of an uneonatitutional protective tariff; and yet the convention which an mulled all the protectuve tariff acta, by their ordinanee in November, 1832, formally repealed that ordinance in March, 1833 although a lariff act was then in existence, which enaeted, that protecuve dutiea should be levied until June, 180.2, which, thereAfer, perpetuated "tbe protective system as the settled policy of the country," so far as it could be perpetuated by Iegialation in the event of a uniform duty of 20 per cent. producing a revenua beyound the exphuditure of the goverument, which sut stituted cash in lieu of ervdit dutics upon all imports, and which introdaced the innovatiou of the home valuation of imports, thus incruasing, by 40 per cent. the amount upon whieb tha duthes are to be assesped atter the year 1842; and althongh that conventiou, to the "address to the people of Bnuth Carolina," rewolved that usth these abustw, (the protective tarif acts), "shall be reformed, no mors taxes should be paid here," and in the "address to the people of the United States," declared, "if we subuit to thissystem of unconstitutional oppression, we shat voluntarily sink intet slavery, and tranemit that ignominious inheritance to our childrell. We will not, we canhint, we dare sot rubnit to this degradation, and our resolve io fiared and wnalterable, that a profecting tariff shall no longer be enforced whin the limits af South Carolina. We stond upon the prispciples of everlasting justice, and no human power whall drive we from our position." That position, nevertheicme, has been abas-dnned-lise orduance of nutififation, founded upon "the priaseiples of everlanting justuee," ham been repealed by the convention which ordanincd It-and "a profectire farif" is now "enforced within the timits of South Carolina." I whall make so futher connments ujon the conduct and the acts of the eonvention of South Carolina. No powers of eloquence emuld more vividiy extubit their ehararter, than a bare relerenee to what they thave dinse, and what they have undoue. I take no pleasure in dwelting upon so humiliatugg a topic, and phall quit it, with simply expressing my fervent hope, that our mad experience of the evils of nullificution, and the rejection of its dogmas by every leginiature in the butoll which has consitlered them, may operate as a solemn and palutary waining to deter others from tmitating the exatuple of those, who, had they not been "driven from their poaston," would have plunged their state into all the miveries of anarehy, and bioodalied, and civll war, and, ultimate$y$, liave pubjected themselves to the degradation of submiseion to the goverument which they had resinted, or of dependance upon a foreign power
If the convention which asscmbled at Coiumbia, in March last, load lomited their actin the the repeat of their ordmanee of nulitheation, the wounds which have been iufleted upon our distracted state, hught have been healed by the lenient lonud of tume: the wrongs and injuries which a numority have sutiered, tuigh inave becul forgiliten, or forgiven, and gradually, that harmony tuight bave re-appeared whelis formerly prevaled among us. But uutiortunately, with that convention wrigusted another ordinamee, declarmg, "that the alloghance of the eitizen of this state, is due to the said state, and that obedivice only, and not allegiance, is due by them to any other power wr authority; and enpowering the general aneenibly of the sald state, from time to tume, when they may deem it proper, to provide for the ad mintolratise, th the entizens and othcers of the state, or such of the otiecis as they may think fit, of sumtabie oaths or affir mations, bindug them to the observance of sneh allegiance, and abjurng all otber allegance; and also to define what shal amount to a volation of their ally giance, and to provide the proper punishment for such violation." With euch an ordiHance as this, to be enforced in the discretion wf the legislature to talk of our rights and liberties is an insult to commous sense I an aware of the argument wheh is relied nuon by our potitical opponents, that test oaths are required insevelal of the states, and that a state may, unquestimbitsy, instat that the eluzens, in the form of an wath, slanil manifest their obedience to her constitution and her laws. Thicse poritiona I do not cuntruvert. 1 eacept not to a test oath, in the abstract, but th the purposes to $w$ hich it has been applied. The federal constitution was as directly ratified by the people of this statre, as was the cunstitution of the state. The allegiance of a cilizen of the Uuited States to the United States, is as substantive and inbligatory, as is that of a citizen of the ptate to the state. Within the sphere of federal allegiance, the United Statex are supreame withiu the sphere ol state allegiance, the state is suproune. Federal and state altegianee are perfectly conststent: instean a interfering with, they mutuaily strengthen each other, Nou withstanding the distinction which is drawn in the ordinance of the conveotion, between allegiance and obedicoee, (suggested, I prenume, by the same spirit of parndoxicai subutty as tive dog unas of nultitication), their meaninga are identical. Alleginoce is the obedience which every citizen owes to the constitution and laws of him cnuntiy. A elizzen of south Caroina is also a citizen of the United State*, consequentily, be owes alle Eiance in the constitution and laws of Soulh Carolina, and to the conatitution and laws of the United 8tates. Sbould he, neverthe less, be involved in any difficulty, proceeding froun an apparent or real vasiance, between the laws of the stite and of the Uwil ed States, by the constitution of the latter, "the laws of the United states urade in pursuance of the constitution, fhall be the supreme law of the land:" shonid doubts arise, in the judgment of the eitizen, whether a law of the United States hem been "made in pursuance of the constitution," those doubte, by the provisious of the federal constitution, are to be resolved, if the last resort, by the federal judiciary. Kerping steadily in view the true meaning of allegiance, and these provisions of the constitution uf the United Siates, no citizen can be embarrassed by the subject of his alleginnce. When, therefore, the state, by an ordinance, requires her citizens to take a test onth by which they abjure nll attegiance, exerpting to herself, It to obvious, that they munt cither violate that alleghance, which they are constisutionally and eonscicntiously bound to obzerve towards the United States, of by rafinsing to to so, be rendered atnenable to any paius and penalties, (extanding even to death and confocatiou of property), which may be imposed upon them by the legisiature of the states. It is againat such a test onth as this, that 1 enter asy protest-a teat oath, unconstitutional, vindictuve and cruel, exlibiting a melancholy proof of the reckless extremes, Into whech a dominant party will rush for the attainment of their object, when misted by narrow prejudices, bliaded by exclusive feelinge, and infuriated by burning resentments. Untul the ordioance contaiaing that test oath, be annutied, it must be execrated by all who recognize the federal constimition as a constitution. It usnrpe the exercise of u power whinch no state, in the union, can grant-invades the sanctuary of the heart-tramples upon tise macred righits of con-sclence-and prescribes to citizens of Noutir Carolina and of the United siates, to abjure that allegiance from which they cannot be ahsolved, excepting by expatriation or revolution.

The radical error which pervades all the reasonings of the ad vocates of nullitication is than-sliey liave not distinguinhed between connututioaal and nutnral rights-between righta under the canatututuon and beyond it. As this state always acknowledged the federal constitition, whe could not be relieved from a protective tantf, upon the gromud of its beiag unconstitutional, otherwise than in bonc of the modes warranted by the constutution, anong which nallification was that includen. When, ly her sote suithority, Flie undertsok to annul a protective tariff, whe exercised an extra constisutional and revolutionaly power, derived from the rights ol' man and of nature, parumount to ali constitutions, although she never deelaren that she had aecr-ded from the uncuit. Had the made this declaration, and acted upon it, she would have been entiled to adopt such mennures an she deemed necessary for the accomplishonent of her olyject, fire in revolutions pelf prepeivation is the supreme law. Slie might then have called upon ber eitizens to renounce their alleziance to the union, and have milified the constitution and all the laws of the union. Placed in this situation, she must either have settied her differencer witt the Vimitel Ntates peaceably, by treaty, of failang in thas, she must have appealed to arms, and abided by the issue of the content. In thas struqzle, she anight have cossidred those citizens who were not tio lier to be against her, those who were not her firieuds to be lin- foes, and her eitizens would then have been compelled, at their peril, to choose the sids wheth they would mathtatn.

Before resuming my seat, I will offrr to you a few remarks upon a sulyeet whel has created no litte exenemeht. I allude to the "acs"" further to provide for the collection of daties upon imports," for tay vote in favor of the passage of which, the harshest epithcts of censure and crimanation have been lavished upon ore. When that act was passed, the ordinance of the conventioa was in foree, by which all protective tanff acts were declared "nnil and void, and no law, and all contracts, promives and obligations made or entered into whit putrone to seenre the duties tnuposed by tise sand arts, and all judicial proceedinga which shall be hereafter had in affirmance thereof, shall be held utterly null and vold." This ordmance came into operation from and after the lit day of Februrary, 1833 , from whieh period, it interdicted "appeals from the state counts to the supreme eourt, in any cases witbin the purview of the ordinance," required "all persons holding, of hereafier elected to any othees, civil or anilitary, under the state, (members of the legislature excepted), to tahe an oath to exveute the ordinance," and forbade jurters to be tapanaselled, unlrsa they swore "well and iruly to shey, exceute and enforce it." If this ordinance was coastututional, congress had no rigitt to interfere with it. If it was unconstitutional, they wrere bonnd to endeavor to defeat it. For the reasons which I have already subnitted to you, as well as for many others which are faantiar to you, congress eotertained no doubte an to the unconstitutionaluy of the ordinance, they had, thereform, only to deliberate upon the expediency of the measures which they should adopt to prevent its enforcemett. Had they been quiescent, they would, im. pliedly, have conceded, that the ordinance was consiltutional, and that the federal government could not protect itself: that gnverntment would, then have been annihilated, for a governtanent whieh cannot execute its lawe, ceakea to be a government. Upon the passage of rejection of the act of the 2d Mareh, 18:K3, depended the momentous alternative, whether the federal consututioo should exist, or be prostrated at the feet of a dominant party ia a state. Happily for the integrity of the union, and the honor and salvation of the country, congress was faithful to the trust which was reposed in them, and in their performance of it, kept themselves within the pale of their legitimate powers. Thosc parts of their act whieh anthotise the cmployntent of millaary force, (which can, only, be jefennively employed), are panctioned hy precedents upon our statute bonks, during the administrations of gen. Washisater and of Jerreasos, (the coastitutionality and experiency of which are admitted), anthorising the emplyoment of that species of coercion, sunder trss guarded restrictions, and under circumstacea mach leza imperiour; and those paris of the art, for which no preeedents have been furnished, because the exigencien dernanding them had not, previonsly, ocenered, were introduced for the purposes of preventlug collivion between our culzens, and the sheddiag of fraternal blood, and th comuteract the ordinance of the convention, which set the law, at drtiance. Had the president, who is bound to "give to the cmuzrese information of the Flate of the roion," and to "take cont that the laws shall be frith futly exceuted," not informust the congruee of the droperiste Iegislation of South Cafolinn, aisf ust reyomuminterl those imwatia n-lich were ex.

Had congress, who, by the consthution, "have power to make all laws which shall be oecensary and proper for carrying into execution" the powers vested in them, and "in the governmemt of the United Etates, or in any department or offece thereof," uot passed an act, without which, the laws of congress could not have beea carried lito cxecution, they would have been guilty of a violation of their offieial duty. The act which was passed in pursuance of these bigh obligations, (the true character of whinch, upon a candid examination, will be perceived to be such as I have statell it to be), bas, nevertheless, been atigmatized as inconsistent with the principles of freedom, as subverpive of the rizhts of the statem, as uaconetiturional, ferocious and bloody, as having been recommended by the president, in the spint of a fiend, that he might exceute it, with the tasalignity of a deuson.
The repeal of the ordinance of nullification of Noveober 1832 , must have been produced by some measure of the federa governmeat. But two measures were resorted to by the govern. ment; the pasaage of the tant aet of 2 d March, $18 \times 3$, and of the act lor the cullection of duties oa imports of the same date. It cannot be presuncd, that the repcal was owing to the first mentioned act, because it enforees a protective tantif, in diametrical oppostton to "the fised and unalterable resolve of the convention" "that a protecting tanff should be so longer enforeed within the limite of South Carolina;" the conclusion consequently, is irresistible that the repeal is to be atinbut vd to the latter act. By the passage, therefore, of that act denounced thy the eonvention, as "uaauthonsed by the constitution, subversive of that enontitution, and destructuve of pulisic libesty," the monster bullticatioo was strangled, the mafch of inisfule and anarchy arresticd, the supremacy of the constitution and the laws maintained, and the cheering assurance afforded to those who venerate the constitution and the laws, that our representatuves will not be found slumbering upnon their posts when the citadel of our liberues is menaced upun their posts when the cutadel of our libertues is menaced, ether by Internal foes or by foreign eoemics.
Some of the observations which I have submitted to you may appear to be alien to the occasion for which we have met. But It seems to me, that on the anniversary of our natomal burth day, we ouglin to take a comprelienyive tiew of the good and evil by whelt we are wurnundel. Thanks to the discernment and patriotism of the prople, and to the wisdom and energy of our kovernmpat, we have been delivered from the miseries of practical mitification, with which we were recenily threatened; but the storm which wan raised by tis agitators lias aot yet rubaded; the angry passions which they generated have not yet ank into repose. We have heard it iterated and reiteratedthat the latule with the general government is not over, that it has just commenced-Hat the athte cannot protect bereelf without being armed for resintance-that no state can be sovereiga, which perinita appeals frotn her judiciary to the federal courtthat the protective syrtem constututes bit a small part of ouf controversy with the general governotent; and in the con rention at Colunabia, in March last, it was paid by a delegate, "if a confederacy of the southern states could now be obtaiacd. whoul we not deent it a happy termination of our long struggte for our righte against oppression?" When sentiments and declarations anch as these are avowed, unabated firmness and vigilance are still requisite on the past of those who believe that the federal constitution is culculated to cffect the great objects for which in was formed, in order to counteract any open or seeret machinathons, by which we may be deprived of the inestinnable benefits of that coastisution, and by which the union may be torn into fragments, ansl a southern conferderation ereated from its manaleal meuibers. Vigilasice and firmness ompht to be exacted by all, who would deprecate the snecess of a revolution, of which the intvitable concomitanta and consequenes woald be-anatchy, intestine war, and military despotism. The members of thes society, whicli bears the naine of W ASHINGTON, are pecullarly called nion to be furemost whycuer the union is endangercd. P'zofresing oursclves to be disciples of Washington, we should Inbibe a portion of Usat epirit which animated bim when alive; llke hion, In the worst of times, we should never despair of the repmblic; like him, we ahould dedicate our day: and oar nights, onir hunds and our hearts, to the preservation If the honor and the securty of our common coustry, and the bitw, we fhonld resolve, either to conguer in the cause of in dependenee, libetty and union, or to perish ia the glorious conHiet.
Colonel Daapton concluded with a farewell address to the anciety, in which he apoke in approprinte terms, of their the ritorious exertions to aerve the canse which they had expmused, in spite of the tesrors of proweription, and the dincousagencal Inseparable from an organized majority, which controled and directed the power and patronage of the #tate-gratefully thaoked them for theil dismierested and persevering support of hrm-self-requested them to receive lis warmest wishes for thea individnal welfare and happiness, and to believe that he entertaned towarda them, personal respect and exteem-expressen his fervent hopes that the dank clouds which now lowered ower our political horizon, would te diswipated, by the iaterpowition of the (Immipotent and merciful Being, who wielded the dexunies of man and of nations-ausured the society, that wherever he might be, and whatever might be his lot, he khould always rjaice in the prosperity, and mourn over the adversaty of Arovith Garolina, and that he shonld be ready and willing in any future crisim, to idenhify himself with her fortuncs, and to render to her all the aid, within the sphere of his lunited means aud taleuts.

Fourth shaigs. No. 25 -Vol. Vill.] BALTIMORE, AIG. 17, 1833. [Vol. XLIV. Whole No. 1,148-

THE PABT-THE PRERENT-FOR THE EUTURE.

Cuntiueasional electioss. In . .iorth Carolina, the following genterayn bave been eleeted: desse Speight, Thomas II. Ilall, M. T. Hankins, Abraham leweher, James Meksa, Dan'l Barringer, Eithuth Delectr, Lew is Willianes, William B. Shepard, A. H. Shepperd, Henry Conwuy.
In Mir. Branch's late district, the contest has been between Andiew Joyner and Jesse A. Byanm. Keport says the later is sleeted.
'The listrict last represented by Samucl I'. Carson, is the only one in the stute set to be heard from.
For 'Pennessec. Johut Ikell, Anla Blair, Cave Johnson, James K. Polk, David W. Dickitson, Baslie P'eyton, Pryor Lea, - Buneh and col. Standifer, tare elected to congress.
For Kontucky. Chilton Allan, Thomas A. Marstall, Amos Davis, John White, Jichard M. Juhthson, are eleeted. In the distriet lanely represented by gen. Adair, the contest has betn a close one, hat the resint mot awertained, though a postscript in the lexington Ohserver gives a repent that jufge lateler had beaten Mr. 3loore, 150 votes. In the Lonisuille district the result is also micertain, though it is thought that Mr. Crittenden has succeeded. No eertain intelliggace from the other distriets.

Cholera. The last Galenian states, that mn repress had arrived at Galena front col. Dodge, with information that the cholera had attacked the raligers mader his coonmand.

Missoneri. The St. Louis Republican says the western mails bring melancholy titings of the sprend of the cholera.
A ketter from St. Charlis represante the tamath of July to have been ouc of great distress. L'puards of nixty of the raost temperate, elvmly and exectlent citizens had been taken off, while the ititemperate han scarcely been tonched. The village was marly descoted nud the cholera would soon have no suljects to act npon. Twelve entire families hat beern swept away. The congestive fever, a disease, if possible, more suluorn and fatal than the eholera had also affeeted the people of St. Charbrs, and it was no ordinary circumatance to sec every member of a family stretehed upon the floor in one roum sick, and many had died for warit of inetical aid.
In Iudiuna and Illinois it still prevailed though in a mild form.
Kentuciy. Several of the towns nul villages in this state were still suffering unler the disease.
In Ohio it was gradnally extending its-lf into the intesior of the state. At Cincinnati the disease still continuct.
The elolera had left Pittsburgh, the number of deaths from thet ilisease up to the sth inotant was but 54.

The eholera way raging at Vera Cruz on the st wit.
The great mortulity from cholera among lhe slaves on the estate of gen. Wade Hampton, in Lonisisna, is cmutradieted in an Augusta paper. The number of dicatios is there stated at 90 .

Caypacity. The sehomer Fagle, caph, Farley, arrived at Boston on Friday, the 94t inst. from Campeachy. The eaptain repurts to the ealitor of the Patriot, that the chatlera appreared there on the 21st of June, and had testioyed about 400 persons bectire his sleparture on the 3uth. When he left, from 150 to 1 和 leaths were dails oceurring. The linease was pritucipally eonfinc-l to the poor. The Amerieans resident there were all well, and the American physicians in constant attemance upno the sick.

Farkwos' rawt. To the edifors of the Phatudelphin Gasette. Trenton, Momhuy morning, tug wat bith. Mr. Wood closel his argunent this morning, at 12 o'clock. In taking leave of his sulfject, he was strong, elear and elopuent; and his conclusions are irresistible, granting hinin his premises. He spent the morning in expatiating upon the breaches of diseiplite amil order, on the part of the Hiek sites, in the estadilishment of their new yearly mecting; nulp pinted out to the court what would be the consergnethees, if snch a spirit of disorgunization ant reorgatization, should receive the satnction of the courts of this state.

VoL. XLIV-Sia. 27.

Mr. Frelinghyysen commenced his argument this aftcraoon. Ho comancued by eoncurring with the gentlemat who preceded him, in their view of the great importance of the canse, now before this honorable court. He then cadeatoreal to give his views of the powers of the contrt itt such canes as the one it was now hearing. Then he took up the sulyeet of dortrines, and enlarged phon the idea which the ether party adhered to, that the light reithin is a findamentul principle or guide, and laboroll to prove that it was not considered hy the early fathess in the elanrel, as a sufficient dependenee. He said that this light within is an tanus fatuze, which will lead to hewider, sud dazzle to blind. He was endeavoring to prow, what the court naljourneat, that the early Quahers held doetrinal vieus in strict consonance widu the other tlenominations of Clisistians.

Mr. F. is rupinl in his delivery, thongh very easy and truly cloquent in his style. He will probably fuish by to-marrow evening, or Thlurstay morning, when he wifi be lifllowed ly the sible und elopuent advecate for the Hiela ite party; the hourrable Sumat I. Southard.
It is thought that Mr. Southard will oecupy the court until Saturday evening, or Monday morning. The court room, which is wery capacious, is wearly filled. The gallerics are meetpicil by ladies
As to the result of this important trial, we eannot even conjecture; and so far as our intercourse with both parties will enable ns to juige, we think that neither is very sanguine. Very respectfully, jours, de.

Jebga Chiston's mertin. From the .Vitional Intelbigencer. Weare anthorisell and requested, by the cashier of the office of the bank of the United States in this etty, to state, that if judge Clayton intended, in the letter recently published, to say that the bank- demanded a preminm of $\overline{7} \mathrm{per}^{\mathrm{r}}$ cent. in exelanging notes of the said hank lur thase of the Grorgian banks, he, the judge, is under a wrong impression. The office here has never received nor tlenanded any premium fur exchanging its notes for those of other banks. When, at the commencement of the hast sexsion of cungress, judge Clayton applied at the bank to make the excluange he mentions, the cashier (who then did not know him, even ly sight) promptly told him that it emall not be dune, and he exhibited a price current it which notes of the hunks in Gieorgia were quoted at F per rent. sliscount. The judge olserved that the not-s herld hy lim were as good as the notes of the bank of the Unitcil State- - 10 which the cashice answered that he ridel not purestion their goodness, but that it did not suit the purposes of the bank to receive notes which were at such a sliscount in the market. Nothing further passed on the sulyiget, and it was only after the julge lad left the room, that the cashirr was informed by a member of congress who was present, that the genteman who had requestell the exchange was jndge Clayton, of Georgia. The cushier has a distinet recollection of what oceured at the time; aud when judge Clayton's letter appeared, he wrote to the eashier of the parcurt bank a statenient of the transaction as here detailed. The following is an exliact from the answer. just received, viz:
"I was aware, when I first saw Mr. Clayton's letter, that lie was interror in saying that a premium of $\mathbf{7}$ per cent, wis slemanded hy yout; if indeed his expression, whirh is rather a vague oine, was intendel to convey that meaning. I recollected your having stated to me, when I was in Washington last winter, uhe eireuratances of your conversation with Mr. Clayton, just as you relate them now; and 1 expected, therefore, to hear from you on the subject."

Bank Umited States. The following is a copy of the eireular addressed to the different sente banks on the tubject of the government deposites:

August, 1833.
Sir: I have been appointed by the secretary of the treasury, at the request of the president of the Unitell States, to confer with state banks in relation to future deposites and distritution of the public revenue.

It is dcemet probable by the government that the bank of the United Sutes will not be rechartered, and that no other institution will be eatablished by congresa to supply its place as agent of the treasury.

As it is naw less than three years to the expiration of its charter, the president thinks it his duty to look to the means hy which the service it now renders to the government is thereafter to be performed, and if sufficient icasons shall exist, the government may desire to eraploy anuther agent, or other agents, at an ear-lier period.

The sole olject of my appuintment is, to ascertain on what terms the several state banks may be willing to perform the scrvice now renderal by the hank of the United States to the goremmenh, should it become necessary or expedient to employ another agent, or other agents, that the secretary of the treasury may, in that event, be able to make a judicious melection.

In pursitit of this oljeet, I have the honor to inquire whether the bank over which vou preside, is mesirous, should a change take place, of undertaking that agency, or a portion of it, at

If this infuiry should be answered in the affirmative, I am authorised to communicate with you further on the subject.

It is, however, to be ulistinetly unlerstooul, that nothing which may pass is to loe consitlered a plealge on the part of the government, to rumove the deposites from the bank of the Cinited States, before the expiration of its charter, or to employ your lank in any event, or to make any final arrangements upon the conditions which may now be proposed or receiveil.
If it be convenient, I shall be happy to know the disposition of your boarll of slirectors on the subject; if not, will you do me the favor to give me your own, leaving an expression of the wishes of the board to some more eonvenient opportunity. Very respectfully, your obedient servant, Axus Kendall.

The popelation of the Uniten States. The Boston Jourual has some interesting suggestions on this subject, derived from the last Quarterly Register.

The greatest population to a spuare mile is in the District of Columbia, where it is 593 ; in Connecticut, 63; in Rhode 1sland, 72; Massachusette, 81; Maryland and New Jersey, 40; Ohio, 24; New York, 41; Pennsylvania, B0.

The population of New York in 1840 , it is supposed will be 2 , $5(0), 000$, or 200,000 more than that of all New Ringland, und about equal to that of all the north western territories. That of Pinnsylvania is rated at $1,700,000$; of Ohio $1,300,000$. That of Virginia is put at a few thousands inore. Aml thins the oldest settleal of the states, which in 1790, had a population of 747,000 , will have been overtaken by a state which lual no government of any kinl until onv ytar lnefore that slate, dill not become a state until 1802 , anil had in 1590, a population of only 3,000. Indecal, Ohio lase the resonirees within itself for growing into the greatest state of the union. It can support, without difficulty, a peopule as dense as that of Holland.

Ohio contains but 89,000 square miles, while Virginia contains 64,000 , which is within 1,000 of the whole area of New Englant, and makes Virginia the largest as well as olilest state. Thu: next in order is Georgin 62,(100), and Missouri 60,000 . Illinois contains 55,000 , Florida 50,000 , New York 46,000, Pemus) Irania 44,000 , North Carolina and I ouisina $$ 8,000$ cach. Delaware contains 8, 120 , and Thode Islant 1,350 .

The inost rapid inercase of population we obscrve is in the case of Ohio, which increasel from 3,000 to 45,000 in ten years, und in the next ten to 230,000 . This last was at the rate of 409 per cent. in ten ycars, whereas the average rate of the whole minon for the lant ten las been but 33 per cent. ans that of New Fingland hit a litule lens than 19. That of New York was never greater than 78, of Maine, 58 ; Inliana, 194; Illinois, 350; Indiana, 500 ; Michigan, 764; Arkansas, 1,344. The most rapid increase, has, of course, been in the carly settlenuents.
The population of the United States in 1840 is rated at 17 millions. What it will be a humired years honee, it is not eary to calculate. What it may be, however, is inferrable from the fact that our triritory is immensely extensive; that a vast ammont of rich land is yet unocectpied; that lands now cultivated may be made vastly more productive; that a large portion of our country is under tropieal climates, and that if the whole country sbould support but 230 inhabitants to a square mile, as Fingland now does, we should lave, as the editor of the Register observes, more than four hundred and ffly millions.

Statistics of Connectivit, fon the year 1832. Through the attention of the comptroller of public accounts, we have been furnished with the following highIy interestiog atatistics. It wouhl be both gratifying and useful, would some one or inore individuals in each state furnish similar tables. There ecrtainly ean be no great difficulty in obtaining them, aml the laluor that they nuight cost wonlll be more than connterbalancell by the information they would affort.

Stutiatics of Connerticut, for the yrar 18.32.
The following is a brief abstract of the varions sulyeets of taxation, as returned hy the aswessors, for March, 1832:

42,858 dwelling houscs, ralued at........ $$ 21,948,740$
8,622,676 acres of land. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 50,782,455
1,572 mills. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 84s,511
1,896 stores. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 14 .
283 distilleries. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 54 ,05
1,521 manufactorics. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . $1,637,149$
25 guarries. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 88,350

1 ferry . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 250
34,250 horses, &e. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 1, 290,694
237,989 neat cattle . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . $5,547,657$
271,625 shere. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 333,657
Silver plate. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 10,64
5,196 rieling carriuges. . . . . . . . . . . . . . .. 238,797
28,803 clock a and watches. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . •174,843 Bank stock, state banks. . . . . . . . . . . 3,143,736 Do. U, S. bank. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 17, 880 Insurance stoek. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 5 .3,648 '1'urrıиike slo. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 15\% , 36i2 Money at intercst. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 2,087,976 Three folils. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 17,679 Assessmeuts. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 147 . 683
1'olls. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 689,315
$88,592,388
Of receipts and disburoements.
There was received at the treasury during the year enling the 31 st of Mareh, $1833 \quad $ 80,50200$
Viz-From interest on $\mathbf{U}$. $\mathbf{S}$. three per cent.

1,382 00
Tax on non-resilent owners of bank stock

2,817 00
Avails of state prison
5,00000 Dividemls on bank stock, owned by the state
Fines and miscellaneous receipts
State tax
25,670 00
7,448 00
37,984 00
$$ 80,30200$
The dishursements were 71,626 00
Viz-For the ordinary expenses of government or public buildings and institutions 10,77400
Of the expense of government.
The population of the state by the last census, was 297,711 ; and the orrlinary expense of the govermment was $$ 60,85 \%$ : being a proportionate expence of twenty cents and a half for carls inluabitant. But the state during this time, received $$ 97,05.3$, interent on her three per cert. stock and livislenils on lank stock; $$ 12,46$ from the state prison, forfcitures, fines, &ec. aul $$ 2,817$, for taxes on bank stock owned by non-resiclents; all amountling to 42,$316 ;$ which being ileducted from the ortinary expenses of government, left the sum of $$ 18,536$ to be paid from direet taxes.
This halatee of $$ 18,536$, would require a contribution by each inhabitant of the state of less than six eents and three mills; and a tax less than three-temhs of a mill on each dollar of valuation and assesament returned by the assessor.

Of the achool furd.

The whole eapital of this fuas, productive and unproduetive, was reported by the comanissioner in 1832 to be $$ 1,902,95787$. The interest arising from it, is irrevoeably dedieated by the oonstitution, to the support of primary schools, and by law, is apportioned to them, aceording to the ratio of pursons between four and sixteen years of age belonging to the respective sehool societies "I he whole number of those persons in 18:32, was 86,252 ; and the amount of interest distributed for that ytar, was 881,93940 , being uinety-five cents for each of those persons, and equal to 28 cents for every iuhabitant ilhus while the state was distributing for the bencfit of schools a sum equal to twenty-eight cents for ench person in it, the orilitary exproses of the government reguired of them only a ratio of contribution less than six cents and three mifils.
[Harlford Times.
Buston impliovemexts. Among the most important improvements carried on by the enterprise of the Jloston merolsants for ycars, is the splendid block now going up on what is ealled "Eixchange wharf," (luilt last season), under the charge of a company of that name. There are thirty-two atores in the bloek, the length of each being 22 to 25 feet, with the execption of those at the two ents, whiels are more spacious. The breadih of the block is about 60 feet, the total length about 800. Rooms are provided in the upper end for an insurance company, aud for the Granite and Hancock barks, ineorporated last winter. the whole south front and the back basement story of this bloek are of rough Quiney granite-the window caps, &ce. of the same material, "dressed."Nearly 100 feet of solid wharf are to be added at the end of tloc block, and at the end of that about 170 feet of platform wharf, inchuling a slip, so as to accommodate six ships at once. The contract cost of this improvement is rated not far from half a million, and it is believed that the same work could not now be proeured for leas than $$ 100,000$ more than that sum.
[.Mercantile Joturnal.
Gixninets. The Vankecs are in a fair way to cestroy John Ball's gimblet trade with this country. The new twist gimblet is almost as mach superior to the old Einglish gimblet, as the serew auger is to the old pod auger. There is a gimblet factory at West Whately, which employs 15 hands, about half of them females, and manufactures 25 gross per week. The stecl is imported from Fingland in round rods; the handles are turned ont in the vieinity. There is a pimblet factory in Hucklanal, one in the northern part of Franklin county, one in Keene, N. H. and one more in Connceticut.
[.Vez Humpshire Gazette.
Cnors, For many years past there has not been a better prospeet for corn and tohacco in this neighborhood. The weather has been very scasonable, with fine showers every few days, which have, upon the higli lands particularly, ensured sbundant crops. But this state of things is not universal-In the south part of Pittsylsatia, and in some parts of Bedfard and Hotetourt, complaitits are made of too much dry weather. We likew ise see in the Tennessec and Alabama papers, that the crops have suffered much by the long contimued drought.

〔Ismehburg Jirginian.
Fxtraondivant miscorent. We have met with a singular article in a late nunher of the Journal de Smyrne, receivell at the office of the Baltimore (iazette. It states that most interesting iliscovery has reeently been made in Moldavia, which cousists in extinguishing every kind of fire or conflagration by throwing chopped straz upon it. The agrieultural society of Brunn, on the 87 th January lat made several experiments to tent the truth of the discovery, which wereattented with complete auceess. It was found that on pouring inco a fire, grease, pitch, or spirita wine, ulrearly burning in jars, and afterwards throwing chopped straw unon the whole, the fire was alnost immediately extinguinheel. "The society also caused a large fire to be mate with straw, billets of wood, faggots, paper, anil sheafs of wheat, and, when the whole was well kindled, the fire was extinguished in a moment by the same means as before. It was somewhat remarkable that the chopperl straw used in these experiments, so far from being consumed by the fire, was found, on the contrary, almost untotiched, and could be used a seeond time for the same gurposu. A har of imon beated red hot, and thrust intus a basket filled with chopped straw, not only failed to set the straw on fire, but beeame sensihly cool. A last trial consisted in putting into a heap of eliopped straw, some inches in depth, a bag of wheat, upon which was spread a quantity of gunpowder, covered with sheets of paper, and then covering the heap with bundles of straw, which were sct on fire in different jlaees-after the straw was entirely consumed and the ashes swept away, the elopped straw underncath was found untouched, and the log, with the powiler and paper, was withlraw frout the licap without having been in the slightest degree affectell by the fire.

It is to be remarked that it is necessary to throw the choppeil straw with some force ujon the flames, and to stir it afterwards, if possible.

Raif moan in Fcomrda. The Floridian of the 27 th ultimo, states that a subseription has been started in Tallabassec and more than nine hundred slares, at twenty dollars each, have already been taken, for the purpose of establinhing a rail road from Tallahassee to some point on the St. Marks or Wankulla river. Three-fourtha of the subseribers have said they would double the amount of their subseriptinns, if necesmary. Application will be maile to the legislative conncil for a charter, at its next session, and to congress, for the necessary appiropriations of lanil, &e. &c.

Quo wanianto cant. The Tuncalon*a, (Alabama) Intelligeneer, of the 47 th wit. contains the decision of the supreme court of that state, on an application made by the attorney general, by direction of the governor, for a quo warranto against John W. Paul, the objeet of whioh was to inquire into the legality of his elcetion to the office of judge, ly the last legislature of that atate. The ease was argued by the attorney general and Mr. Hopkins for the state, and by Messrs. Giordon anil Goldtliwaite for respondent; and the court unanimously lecinled that it had no right to inguire into the legality of an appointment made by the legislature, the eonstitution having confined this ilnty to that department of the government.

The grounal on which application for the interference of the contt was made, in, that the constitution prohibits the appointment of members of the legislature to offices ereated turing their term of membership, and that Mr. Paul was a memher of the legislature at the time of the creation of the julicial circuit on which he wam chosen to preside. His friends take the ground that the office of juige was not ereaten, by the adhlition of a new judieial circuit, and that therefore he is eligible.
[Iymchourg Firginian.
Destatctive ifficts of linitivise. A thitnder atorm, more than usually deatructive in its effects, passed over Newport R. I. on Sunday week. The lightning struek in various parts of the town, doing great damage. The Mereury given these particulars-A house in Broad st. occupied by Mr. Robert Franklin, jr. was struck with lightning, and his wife, and a child, the daughter of Mr. John Almy, were instantly killed. Mra, Franklin was sitting at the time near the fire place, with the elaild in her lap, anil a dog by lier side, when the lightning descended the chimney, and they were all found dead in that position. The house of Mrs, P. Mumford, on the hily, was also struck and much injured, the lightning having struck both chimnies, and forced its way down the side of the chamber and lower rooms, from whence it passed out of the window. Three houses on the point were also struek, but were not much injured. In Middletown, the lightning also struck in two places. On the farm of the Iate John Chase a stack of grain was struck, and entirely eonsumed; and on the larm of Mr. P'ardon Brown a stack of hay was cousumenl.

Cene fon the nite of asxake. The following simple and efficacious mode of counteracting the effeets of the bite of a rattlesnake, is related in a note addressed to the editors of the Minere' Jourual, by M. Kobinson, esq. eivil engineer:
As a purty of assistants engaged, under my direction, in the loeation of the Philipshurg rail road were oceupied, a few days since, in jrotructions at their encampment, information was given them that mune man attached to the party had been bitten by a ratllesmake. Une of the assistants, Mr. Herry /fopikius, of Massachusetts, imnecdiately hastened to the spot, und applied his lips to the wound, sucking it for sobue time, uasl as long as it appearel to him that the treatment could be of any arvice. The land anol arm of the man nevertheless awclled excessively; but in the course of a day or two the swelting went dowis, and heither the asxistaint hor the man have since experienced the slightest inconvenicnce. The case seems to be a very conelusise one in tavor of the efficacy of smele treatment, where an impividual happens to be at land sufficiently reselute to miminister it, as the suake had beell previously wery mush irritated, and the wound in the hand was a drep onse. It is searcely worth while to mention that the asnistant took the precaution, alter resigning lis puient's lamul, of giving to his on o inonth the bencfit of a pretty thorvugh itblation. Nespertfally your obectient servant.

Moncrage llomason.
Schuylkill co. /"u. . Iugust 8, 1833.
Paistens' extenpmise. The New lork papers state that the Harpers, ol that city, have 17 presses in their printing eatoblishonent-one of a hich working by luarse power, eypuals the work of 6 or 7 common presses; that they have 140 persous alireetls in theiremploy; that their printing costs 100 and their puper 200 dollar's a slay; and that they turn ont on an average, erery day of the sear, a book of the size of the "Fanily libiary." "Ilveir pustage bill is said to amount to 1 , (6) dollar-s, anuuslly.

In refecence to die prumporms condition of these publishers, the editor of the Albany Evening Journal stutes a fact in their frevious career, with a vicw of teaehing young mechanies, what may be acoomplished by industry intelligence, nad enterprise:

It is, (says the Journal), but a few years since the Ifarpers were journcymen printers. In 1816, the enlitor of this journal was a press-mate of Jancs Harjer, in the office of addernaan Jonathan Scymour, of New York, a man that honors our craft, and who is remenbered with esteern and affection by shl who ever licld situations in Lhis office. At that day, Harper was known as a "driver," and well we remember the muny long and laarl pulls lie gave us at the bur. Nothing short of 12 wkens a day would satisfy hins. Itis brother Juhn worked at a puress in the same room, atd was a chip of the sanne block. Dead horses were never found upon their banha. It requirell no gift of propheey to see, lioon these young men's mannter of takin.g time by the fore-lock, that they were destined to "make a sfoon or spoil a horn." We are happy to learn that they have mame a "spoon," with whieh they are diligenty employed in extracting honey from the "horn of plenty."

A ngw mashiagF cankrony. Married at Bolion, July 3t st, by the rev. J. W. Chickeriag, Mr. Gustavus, U. Ricluards, of New York, to Miss Ele etra B. daughter of S . V.S. Willer, esq. of Boltm. The ceremony of the above marriage was performed in the sueeting honse, in the presence of a large assenbly convened to witass it. Wheg the minister hat conclanled his mervices, tie father of the bride arose and presented ber a splendid bible, accotupanying it with some pertinent remarks on her wewly assumed dhties; then turning to the bridegroom, he delisered him a letter, which probably contained a slraft for some of his boartleyl thousands. The multitude were then invited, without distinction, to te$p^{\text {air }}$ to a neighboring grove and partake of the marriage lenst. Forming a jrocession, they ouarehed to the grove -on entering which, a baskl ol wosic concealed in a bower, struck up an enlivening air. Firuits and cake and lemonade were profusely seattered about the grove, to which every one had firee access. The conspany retired at an carly hour, and the brinkegroom and his lady took their dejuarture for New York, by the way of the yurings.

Wercester, (Mass.) Ieoman.
Tye bitin mitten. A few days agu, as one of our merchant tailora in Market street was patiently waiting the calls of customers, a robust, honest looking fellow, steplicil into the shop, who looked as though he needed ant outfit, his labilinelits being rather the wouse for wear. Alter the usual inquiries as to prices, &sc. He concluded to rig thinselt with now suit. He duffed his old coat and rest, and very soon found substitutes for them ansong the various sanuples spread out before him by the nceommoduting supplicer. llaving found pantaloons that pleased him, he walked into the back room to sec whether they werv of sufficient leogth and breadth, which buing the ease, he very uncervemoniously kieked his old oues out of the way, and made for the back winalow. With womlenful dexterity he leaped over the diffevent walls, wood piles and lighlifences that obstructed his progress, and was soon further than "speaking dir tance" from the tailor's shop and his tattered rags. "The lonwst shop-keeper began to wonker at his delay, and proceeded to the room where he had left his customer; hutt lo! the bird hatl flown, aud left ""not a wreck bee hind," save lis thread-bare breeclies-no very profitable exchange for the absent new suit. He in vain looked through the winlow for the ruscal, or peered into his ow $n$ and the adjoining sards, and soon made up his mind that he might as wefl set down customer and elothes as "samong the missiug." After thus disposing of the absentees, lie very uaturally and mechanieally proceeded to ranssack the pockets of the old trowsers which were left, where he soon found a poeket-book, forgortea, uloubiless, by the gentleman in his haste to secure the spoils, upon opening which his glad eyes were greeted by the elieering siglit of bank inites. When he unsolled thein, be counted ten dollars-shive dollurs more than the gasments were woith which the unfortunate ogue ran off with!
[. 1lb. Eive. Journal.
A biace of oraturs, Anemicas asn Finglish. The following is an extract from a letter of the Washington corvespoudent of the Porlland Daily. Jehertiser. "ht is diffieult to give the reader a vivid istea of Mr. McDuffie's cloquence. The majorfty of men say lie is not eloquent, aul safieet to be, or are, disgusted with his style, and yet will listen to hirn will intense attention for hours. Gre thing is certain, lie laas a very bad manmer, bad so far as gooif taste or propriety is concerued. He hesitates and siamuners, he sereans atid baw lo-he thumps and stamps like a inadnasit in beillam. Hut yet be is eloguent, and often cloquent, wish little or notling to say. I will attermpt to give yon at iden of his nanner in the report of a few periods, putting in brackets as wrill as worids will adnuit, his norlulntion and gestures. "Sir, (a thumpo on desk upon a quire of paper heary enough to echo over the whole hall] sir, S. Carolina is oppressel, [a thump.] A tyrant majority sucks leer life blood from lier, [a dreadInl thunap.] Yes, sir, [a panse] yes, sir, a tyrant [a thmop] majority unappeased, [arins aloft] unappeasable, [horid screama] has perscented and persecutes us, "a stamp on the floor.) Weappal to them, [low and quick, ] but we appeal in vain, [loud anal quick.] We turn to our brethren of the north, [low with a slaking of the head) and pray them to jurotect us, [a thump) bat we t-u-i-n in $v=a-i-11$, [prolonged and a thomps] They beap conls of fire on our heads, [with immense rapisfity.] L'lyy give us burden on burden; they tax us morv and tnore, (very rapid, slam-lsang, slam-a hisleous noise.] We lurn to our brethren of the south, [slow] with solemn, thoughefulair. We work with then!; we fight with thelli; we vote with them; we petition with therni [ common voice ansl manncr] but the tyrant majority has no ears, no eyes, no forma, [yuick] deal, [long pause] sightless, [pausc] inciosalsle, [slow, sluw.] Despairing, [a thump] we resent to the riglits [a jouase] which Good ? a panse] and uatorc has given us," (thomp, thump, thunip,] &ce. &c. &ce. This is no earicature, hut given you a little idea of Mr. Mel)uffie's ıuanure than I coulil give you in sheets of desoription." So much for the Atnerican, now for the English orator. Mr. M. Attwood, whose motion on the state of the conntry, or rather, on that of the sirculation, ocenpied the altention of the house of commons three nights during the last week, is one of the most ungainly spenkers we ever saw. While speraking, lie throws his arms about as if he were a blacksmith wielding a hamsmer, or a thrasher wiedding a flail. He generally comes to the table, which he thumps most unmercifilly, first with one hand, and then with the other; his body undergoing every variety of contortion, anl his legs oceasionally crossed the one over the other. The Tin es, of Tuesrliny last, thus describen Mr. Attwood's action:-"All that we could say of the honorable member wan, thon, if he was not a convincing, he was a striking speaker; and that, judging from his manual vehemcuce, he must have made a deep impression on the table, if not on his audience. A reporter, who had some curiosily and a few minutes to spare, timed the honorable member's thumps upon the table, and found that the honorable member infieted no less than two hunilred knocks in a guatter of an hour. At this rate Mr. Atiwoonl must have atruck the table no less than three thousand times in the course of his speeeh. Few orators have ever befince made so many hits in so short a time; and the 'poorfu' preaclier, who slanged the inside out of six bibles in the enurse of a year's preaching, was nothing to Mr. Attwood." [Engling paper.

Finom Tampico. The Gaeeta of July 10hli, received nt New York, says "The iusurgent tronps of Metamoras took possession of the eapital of this slate on the 5th inst. -the government troops and militia first retiring in good orrler." The insurgent force was estimated not to exceed $$ 000$ or 400 men.

The town of Queretaro was occupied by a division of government troops under gen. Mejia, on the g6th June.

There is little slouht that the insurgerts will be finally put down, and the anthority of Santa Anna restored throughout the republic.

BRIEF NOTICES.

The U. S. ship of the line Delaware, Henry E. Baliard, eaq. commander, arrived in the offing off tive harbor of New Yiork on F'riday, the 21 instant, and was tow rd up on the following day lo anchorage in the North river. Mr, Living-ton who ta to go out in her as minister to Fratice had arrived at New Y'sok, and the Delaware it is said was to have asiled on 'Thursday lant Twenty-four valuable horses have died within three wreke at Utica, New York. This extranordooary mortality was at irat attributed to discave, but is now believed to be the xflicet of poison, ha arsenic, in considerable quantities, was found in tie atomach of one of the liosues.
A singular instance of imarepidity in a youth necurred a day or two since in New York. A clind of 3 ur 4 yeara of aze fell trom the wharf at the foot of Northmore street, into the water, Thomas Beanet, (son of Jeremialt Bennet, Nos. 5 's L, ispenard strect) a lad 14 years old, inmediatily jumped overbosard with all hus clonties on to rwacue him. He proceeded in teaching the civild, swam with him to a slanp, and lield on until anantance arrived.
L.ncius Lyon, esq. has bepn electrd delegate from the territory of Michigan to congress, in the place of Mr. Wing, Iste delegate. Mr. Lyon was the Jackion caudidate, Mr. Witig the national repnblican and judze Woodbridge the anti masonic camblidnte.
P. I'. Barbour and Chapman Johnvon, eagra. of Virginia, have been named an presidential candidates.

Sir Clarles Vaughan, II. B. M. miniater to the United Staten has taken lodging" In Newport, Htode Island, where he wit reinain a month.

Jamen Martin, a suldier of the revnlution ilied on the 2ith ult. at Knoxville, Tennessee, at the advanced aze of 106 years.

Ninian Edwards, late governor of Ilinois, died at Belleville, in that state, of cholera, on the 20th wht.

The Galenian states that col. Dodge has aceomplished the entire removal of the Winnebago Indians acroas the Wisennein, in accordance with the treaty of lact summer.

The same paper states, that during the payment of the Winnebago Indino annuily, a few days previons, at Fort Winnehago, fifty barrels of whirkey were sold to them; that they gene. ratly became intoxicated; and in an affray one Indiant wonnan and several children wre killed. The Indian who enommitird the monrdern wan linmedrately shot, by order of a clitet, calted the Initile Priest.

Thin last statement is donised by the Misenuri Republican.
A writer in the Litchfield (Conn.) Enquirer, in endeavnring to prove that the spirit, instinct or intelligence of a beast, in as likes. ly to be immortal as the koul of man.

A correapondent of the Cincinnati Gazefte, having called apon the editur to know when the public will have the pleaoure of reating the speech delivered hy Mr. Weboter, at the dinner rncently given him hy the eitizens of that place, the editor in reply remarks, that "No perman took nntee of Mr. Wehpter's pprech. He said he would make an abstract from his owa notes, when he got to Lancaster. Titere he found it impracticable. Whether he will furnish the abstract when the reaches boune, I eannot say. "The folpe is entertained that he will do it."
A paper called MeDowell'a Jonmal, cotoducted by the rev,
Mr. MeDowell, las been commenced in the cuty of New York. Its inject is asid to be the dissemunation of information concerning the courtazant of that city. soone of the pappers condenn its publication as indecent and imuoral in its tendency.
The Fredericktown flerald states that the Frederick and Woodsborough turnpike company have solicited propossals firr grading and MeAdamizing three and a quarter miles of road. The focation is admarabie, and great factities are offered to contractore in the prosectition of the work.
The dwelling or Mr. Charles Bowdle, at the head of Bowlingbrook ereek, Talbot county, Md. was stiuck with lightuing white the lamily were abeent, on Thuraday the Ist inntant, and the lowise and every thing in it lint one bed consumed. On the previous day a stack of wheat in the stack yard of col. Thomat Einory, of Luev'n Anse's combly, was consumied. Col. E. hot iut leumbels of wheat, and it was with the greatest difficulty he preserved the large stock of giain in the yard.
A man named Wiolers entered the houne of Mr. Utzler in Harrionon county, Indiana, and finding no permon at hoate bue thet wife of tie latier, drew a knife and stabibed lier six or eight tomes, when Mrs. Utzler dispugaged lowself anul fled; she liad not gone far befure she lell and expired. Wimtern then tell the liouse, elosely phrwaed by several persuins it the neigliborbood, and finding lits escape beyond the shadow of a loope, drew the knife with which to had murdered Mrs. Uizier across hia own tiroat and died iminediately.

An old maiden Iady of the name of Witman, of Mountjoy township, Lanncaster connty, Pennsylvanin, in the EOHh year of her age, a lew daya agr, nonwed and made an acre of grams into hay. The (Hove Hrauch tron whilh we copy the alocve, adda: "Well oasy the counily of Lancaster be denominated the ghrdeft of America-when her fair danglters are able and willigg, at euch an age, to undergo such tuluvuy." "| would much soobrr," exclaumed the tmmortal Franklin, "sees m spinning wheel than a panos-a mbutule than a purawal-a knitine uerdie than a viwitug cural." rTis in the counury-the farm bumpes and atnoug our grod old dames sult pleantlig sightia may be scen.
The chevalier I. C. de Figatiere, who filied the office of cononl for Portugal in the cily of Nuw Yorh, with great credit in inmoelt, liam beeo appointed by lown P'edruins regent in behalf of Ins danghter, charge d'affiures near our governosent.
Girneral Llamilion, of somily Carolino, is to pronominean oraItion In lumor uf the Inte Mr. Turnhuli on tite 2ed November. Mr. T. wan one of the Iuaders of the utultitier.
The bugrapily of gov. Livingstion foinerly of New Jeraey staire that "tho-re are still preserved, a quantity of buttons. which govermar livingston promind, juwt before the revolution, to be made for his rawn dee, frum rlam kliclis. Thus was for the enemaragement of domentic mannfactures."
The hon. Williain J. Duane, secretary of the treapury, han returned from the city of New York, whither he had gone to tix the location of the cuvton house about being conatructed in that city.
The loon. Jolon C. Calbonn, at the last adviece wan in Georgin. Ifis visit to that statr is sand to be connected with purchasee of gold minem in the tliemokee conntry.
Capt. Stedson, of the brig Clieriker, frow Pernambuco, stater, says the New York Comonoreinl, that he wan informed hy Mr Ciabtree, a merchant of Prenamianco, that be had received a letter from the Engiolo merchants at a mimall place aloont atsty miles from Pprumintmeo, statme that the Brazilians load nisen upon the British merchant" and unswacred abust finy pereone, If was said the dulficulty arose frum some question touching the currency. A I'nited States schorner was at Pornatnlateo-when the captalit hearil the bewa, lie noniurdintely got under way to protect the me chanta and propeity at that place.
Bistoop Mellvainc, of the Eprocogeal clisreh, has arrived at Ganibier, Olin, with his famity, and Inkell up his promament residence at that place. It in underktond tiat he has encepeded in collecting filuds to progress exirnsively with the bailding deemed nerexasary for Kenvon college, in which the theological apminary has been merged almost from the time of lis founda. tion.
Yonng Frothinghnm whose disappesrance from the Oneida Inatithte, (N. Y.) a few monthe fince was made tion anbject of mach public comment, as he was aurposed to have perished, hat recentiv heen lipard fmin. fefters from lime, dated liver prol, May 27, are mulishod in the Salean Gnzutte. He sintex that owine to the eifect of ellone application, at the institution be fill occaultoally that his thoughts wrere wanduring. Abrunt he $5 t_{1}$ of A|pril, this ocearred more frequently than toefore, and be kuows not how toe apent muels of tive time between that dnte and the 8hb; he observes that every thins le confused in hin re. collection. He remembers ouly, that finding himself in a strange glaec he inquired where he wan, and was answered in Montreal. Ife remembered nothiug fiurther molil he funud himaelf, in May on board a vexalel boind from Qu-buc in Laverpoon. He ap pears to lave wandered for a coosideralile tines, and to have embarked for Eugland whout any couscioasuess of what odcurred.
Col. Drayton, of Bonth Carnlina, (eays the New York Men cantile), reached here a few days since in the suttom. We earn that it is hio latention to settle it Philadeliphia. W'iberever the may take up has abude, lim will revelve a hearty welconse; for wo socsety of which be tuay becoure an itniate can be insenantule of his worth.

The sectetary of the navy accompanied by eommoodores lhadgers, Chasucey and Murris, and Mr. C. IV. Guldwhorongh, se. cretary of the boad, are now on a tour of examusatisu of the several sastern navy yaido. They examued the one at lhbladelphia on the 5 th inst. and were highiy pleased with Ita con. dition and the Gise atale of the preservatiou of the iwo vessels Hiere.
A Mr. Thomas Hart, Iunkeeper of Buatieton, Philadelphin county, was waylaid on the road a fow dayn mgo, athacked by Uires inch armed, and so beaten and stableti that his life is in great danger. Ile was left by the villanis lor dead. lie has revived no lur, however, as to make oath to the idenuty of the men, and they have been secured in jutwon.
We learn that the jury summoned io ascess the damages sumeained by Messra. Briens by the paseage of the cauni tirough their lands in Washington county, Did. gave a verdset in therr favor of 13,000 delfars damages.
A law of Virginia allows the retailing of spitituous liquors at "proper places," in the ditfetent eobutios. In onts of the counties the magistrates lanve dechled that there is "no puepuer place within their jurisdicton for such a pirtpose."
The long, spirited and rather nugry contioverny in New York, between Dr. Hrowulet, and thiee Catholec prsesto, ks nill pitosecuted with vigor. 'The main questun nt isnue it, as to the eficienasy of the bible, as a rule of futh and gaide to sulrotion. The former maintahing the alfirmative-the hatter the urgative, sir thousand dullars amivage has bern awarded, tit tie case of the brig America, wrecked on the coast of Flotida, and cariied Into Key West.
A slip from the amsistant prostmazter at Oawego, alated Angust 4, 8 A. M. sinys-"The pust othee at Oawpgo logether with one whole block of stores, were burut last night. Tlue fie took place is a blacksmith's shotp."
[ Aithany -Argas.
In the Virginia penitentiary the whole number of convicte Aoes not exceed 150, white and black, and of these ouly 8 are fematen, all of whom are black. Ton the hontur of the atate the th said that there is not a siugle while woman amongst then. The legislature, serstun belore the lan 1 , pardoued the only white feunale whe was confined withln its walls.

An eastern biother cditur, ith takimg leave of his patrons, resnarks that he has latored, he thas watelied an! he has prayed for the grod chuse in which lie ewhirkett, and of he slondd contimue this editurial conaesiot much longer, it to probable that he shuuld also fuse.
A mecting of the citizens of Riplniond, Va. was lueld on the ith instant, to take ute consideraninu urazures for the completos of the sulmeription to the ktork of the James fleer anil kanawha improveioent. Josept T'ate, call. was calledl tis the ehair, and Gistavus A. Myers apponted reeretary. Chapuan Jobmaon, esq. soword a set of resthhtions appothting a comuit Tre of seven whode duty in $i$ - to repont in as luture mectimg the muasurea necensary in be adopted to carry the ohjlect of the meeting iuto cllect, and to medopt ruch perhnimary heasurem at they naty dewn proper, &c. The resolutions were unanimously ondoyped, atid a enmonitee furtiowith appoonted, one of whom is chief justice Marthall. Gind rpeed the good work!
The New I ork Journal of Counucree states that the committee of assistant aldriniet on pulice, watch and prisons, have reported in faver uf cotablishum a house of detention In that eliy, for the reecption of persons retained in custody fir further framination or tral. They recommend that no communica tion whatever tie allowed between prersums so detained, but that * ach be furniohed a bible, mud placed in solitude to coinmune with his own reflections. "In this way," they are of opinion, "that if our primans were not rendereal pehonls of virtue and religion, they would, at any rate, ceame to be what they now areSINES OP DEFRAVITY ANO EEMINARIPA OF CAIMg."
Agreat annual nueeting of the stuckboldera of the Winclienter and l'otuniae rail ruad was lield on the itd listant, as which a vary satisfaetory report was received from the phesident and directors of the cumpany:

A meeting of the conumbsioners, appointed under the act incorjorating a company in constute a rail road froin saudushy city to Daytion, Ohio, took place at Springfield ecourt hasisc, on the 31at ultano, nad the preliminary invinates were taken to carry the objects of the complumy intus efïct.
Paflerson, N., J. The corner mone of a mechanic's Institute wha luid is this flourishing village oun the 8ith instant.

The entire line of the P'stetaturg rati road is wearly complefed. The toenmotives and eara mircady groviled are capsable of convryiug dally froma 600 to 703 loales of cotton.

Jamet Corvan, esq. of Latibistun, Kenturky, the commonwealth's attorney for that district, conmuiticd suicide ou the 28 th ult.
The gevertor of Kentucky has issuad a promelamation deciarfing the right of the president, directors and cumpany of the Lonuaville bank, ehartered al the inat seapion of the legisiature, to centur urent the businesa of the inatitution, they having comsplied with ther requisitions of sald charter.
During the gnarter ending 3uh Jane, there were sold at the tand ufiles im Epring thend, Ithntia, $52{ }^{2} 569$ acrea of laud.

The wool train of Washington comuiv, Pa. has lucen prosecuted thus spammi wihg grast hriskness. Ilusiness has been done to the auanint of about 180,000 pounds by the five principal limuses there, and it is said that the aggregate amount for the cuasen is solice livere about 200,000.
Rhode Islund. In this state the nutional repuAlicans have neminhted the ton. Tristram Burgen, nud Naltaniel S. Ruggles, esq. as candidates fur represeniatuves in congrows. Tise ontimasonic party have nominated the hon. Wm. Sprapue, jr. and Dutee J. Pearee, and the Jockson party have notninated Nathan II. Sprague aud Wilkins Updike.

An attack, says the Alexandrla Gazette, was made by several persons, ou Baturday nipht week, uprim the hume and perwon of on elderly inan liviug a little north of the town, on the Washington road. Several shot were fired into the house, and the nian himself severely injured by a blow frote a otone. We underntand that some of the perauns concerned in the outrage bave been arrested.
Mr. Durant, the farnous aronaut, has made another sueceseful ascension in a balloon froun Albany. The greateat height he attoined was one milte, and the lauded in safety about tymelve iniles from where he started.
Seventy-two practiniug playsicians in the eity of Boston, having been called upon by the directors of the Tenaperance soeiety of that city, gave as their opinion that the use of ardent spicita is in frequent cauge of disease and death, and ufton renders such diserasen as nrise from other eauses sunre dificult of cure and more fatal in their termination.
The Norfolk Ilerald states that it is expected that the whole line of the Portsmouth and lloanoke rail road will be completed ly Christman. It extends from Purtsuouth to Sussex, a distance of 16 milien.
We understand, sayn the Louisville Price Current of August 3al, that notes of the Commercial Bark of Sciolo, at Portemoull, Ohio, which bave heretufore been bought up by our brokers at 50 per cent. diseount, are now puchased by them at $$ 5$ per cent. [only].

A hiterary convention is to be held in Cincinnati, Onlo, it September next.
The colton market in Charleston, S. C. Sixieen and a haif cents win uffered on the Sth instau, and refused, for a lot of 88 bates of mimecotion.

The secretary of state left the city of Wiashington op the 91h Instant, on in visit to the elty of Nrw York, probathy to have an iuterview with Mr. Livingeton, our minieter to France, before hin alpparture.

The secretary of the trpasury, who has been reported absent for a few dayw past upou busineat, is agaio at lis posh.
Mr. E. A. 13. Young, of New Castle. In IVelawaie, announees that he has discovered a method of effectaally preventing the emission of sparks frout chimnies of locomotive engiaes, for which the has ohtaiued a patent.

Cure for the dyapepsia. The vencrable Dr. T'witchell, of Keene, New llampluire, wheu called upon to prescribe bo dyspeptic patients, advised them as the unly certain remedy, to purchase a flock of sheep on the Green mountains, and drive thrm to Bonton.
Jhark. We understand that soch is the searcity of the bent kind of bark used liy tanuers, that the kiad usually devominat vd $$$ putish onk will readity cominand from $$ 20$ to 824 a cord. The scarcity of the article has interrupted the regular businees of neveral tanners.
[U. S. Ga:.
Ilntiquity. Under the clinrge of Mr. Baldwin, Dihrarian, a the antiquarian rooms in Worcester, Mass. Is a bible printed in the year 1487. It is believed to be the oldeat now extant, eertainly musti the oldent in Ausericn.
A numiber of citizens of Atiens, Georgia, have appointed a conmintiee to draf a memotial to the nexi legislature of that atate to incorpmorate a company for the parpose of constructing a ral road fiom Athens to Augusta, Geo.

Intcresting velic. We paw a day or two slinee, the gold finger ring worn by the Rev. George Whitefild, ot his death bed in a neighboring town, with his unate on the inside. It is still in the possession of a gentlematu in this city. [Hoston atlas.
The following characterintie anredote is given of the veteram dufonder of liberty, in a late French paper:
A few days ago, general l, afayctte and count Pozzi di Borge, met to kigh as withrsses to m marringe contract. The general digued first, and oul handing the pen to the Ruseian ambassador alat, "1 luagine, connt, this is the only treaty we whall ever sigg together," "Who hmows"? prid the conit. "God Erant, then," r"plied the gencral, "it may be the treaty declaring the independence of Poland." The diplomatist said no mure, and here the cullumuy ended.

FOREIGN NEWG.

From Liverpool papers to the $8 t h$ ultimo. GREATEBITAIN AND IRRLAND.
In the house of lordx, on the Sth July, the mamuis of Lantedowne bought forward certain resolutions for rechartering the East India company, which had previously received the sametion of the nther house; after debate they were agreed to.
The following are among the leading details of the bill, wbich will be pressed through the present parliament:
The China trade is to be opened to all British sutjects from and after April next.
The company is entirely to lay molde ite commereiat charneter, aad assign to the crown all ita commercial amsets, of whataver kind.

Full liberty in given to all Mritish born suljects to ato and reside at, all ports and places now belonging to the congrany, Wibusut hecous'; and this libefty may hereafer be cxtended by the governor su-mat to other places.

Jatberty is aleo given to all llritiah born subjects to hold fand for any turm not exceeding 69 years; and, by consent of the gnvernor general, either by law, regulation, or licenue, for any ohger terin.
slavery is to be totally abolisited in all the Indian possessions winin four ypars; ard in less tube, if it cao be effected by regulations under the authority of the hoverum gencral in souncil.
Nis difference of religion, birth, descent, or color is to be any ohetacke, per se, to the holding of any oflice, place or emolument whatever.
An regtlations of minor importanee-the great principle of eqoal laws and righte to all classes being clearly defined and re-cognised-sthe presidency of Fort Wiftiam is w be divided into two; two bishops are to be added to the preaent one, to be in abordinate autioority to the metropolitan-the bishop of Calcuna, he being under the jurisdiction of the archbishop of Cantertury. The salaries of these bishops, of the eovernor genernl, kc. &c, are all $6 x e d$, and are to be puid by the company, which is to retain the patronage, and, under the control in partiament, and of the bonrd of controt, as the organ of eqvernment, is to crercise, during the continuance of the cbarter, the sovereignty of India.

A confiden: belief is entertained, that the act, the princlples of which are enlightened and hbestat, calculated to extend commerce, and elevate the moral eharapter and eondition of the subject, will, in all its mowt iroportant cnactments, recelve the anction of parliament.
The bill eoncerning the church temporalitles in Ireland onderwent farther discussion in the house of eommons on the night of the 5th ult.
Mr. Stanley brought forward "a bill for the abolishment of slavery in the Weat Indies" on the mame night, which wan ordered in a wecnud readling on the loth.

Lord Ashley broaght iorward list long expected motion reppectiug the regulation of the Isbor of chitdren in factories; the lord ehancellor propoeed to refer it to a committee, and after debate his motion was lost.

On the 4th of July lord Iayndlunst brouglit in a bill to alter the disposition of the cricbrsted "Theliasson property," to prevent the constant cousunnption of Inrge portions of it by chancery, trust and other expenses, and to divert parts of the property to the living descendant of the testator, now in a distzcssed or destitute eondition.

Thellowson, it will be recollected, was a watclimaker In London, and accuinulated a large property, which at hie death he beqoeathed in trusts, so an to lie for near a ceotury th accomnlate further, before it could be enjoyed. The prineipal heir lime been created lord Rentlosham, and his portion of the estate is extibutcd at sixteen millions of poninds sterling. loord Lyndhurnt entered into remarkable details to bhow the effects chat worc expericoced from cosopliance with the terms of thit will, and the enormons sums that were constantly deducted from the sccutanl iting property, while many descendants were in want. No finat disposition waw made of the sobject.

Mr. Rucking moved, on the 2d July, in the house of enmmons, to appoint a compuittee th coosider the practicalatity of paying off the national delnt, by its conversinn Into terminalife annultues, at gradually diminishing rates of lotereat, so as to lessen the Imrden every year. 'Thin motion was nugativell.

Mr. Harroo enbmitied rewlutions declaring the tithe system In Ireland the fruitful source of misery and crime, and propos Ing the wibsilution of a laod tax. Tinese fesolutishn werc, anter an ammated debate, withdrawn.
A bill has beell introdoced into the house of contumons remnvIng the ollerous penalties against Roassil Callosite priests celebrating narriages between Catholica and Protesiants. The bitl was read a second time with oniy one dissentisnt voice.

Hy the following extract, it appears that the lenpediraent which exist at the powi office, trinding to obsiruct the |rompt circulation of the continunint now spapers in Englami, are now extended to the American papers, whieh had hitherto been exempt from these impuisitorial visitations:
"Liverpool, Jame 25. The letser bag from New York is Iand ed, but, by an order from the pristinantre, all the parcels of newspapers must andergo a ecrotiny before they are suffered io momh on shore. Even the consignee's private bag has been overhauled!"

The diesase in the eyes of prince Gentge of Cumberland, had so far subsided as to juatify the belief that a speedy eure would bey effected.

By the return of personia imprisoned for deht in 1832, In Fing. Iand and Wralex; it appoars the grom number was 16,470-of whonn 4,099 mainiained theuselves, three fourths belng too poor to provide for themselves. Hy the fourth reprirt of the common Inw commissioner*, dated the lat March, I632, it appenrs that of persons in execution fin debt in 1R31, more than $2^{\prime \prime}$ per cent. were firt debte under $£ 20$, and more than 45 onder $£ 30$.

At the latu fancy fair in Iandon, lier majeaty bought, at one of the sialle, a handeome purve, which she displayed to the duke of Wellington, and asked the opinion of hik erace on it. The duke said he thought it very handsome. Her majesty replied she was alad he thought so, for slie purchaned it for bim, aod forthwith presented it.
Ninety-four thousand Protestanta have emigrated frem Ireland during the last four years.

The cholers hed re-appoared in Ediabnrgh

The Iron trade was pretty brisk at the pices fixed on Aprll quarter day, and an advance was expected.

The conumbice now pitting on the sutyect of the naval and mintary expendures intend to make sweeplag reductuons.

It is cuntemplated to establish a now liue of Itritish built packets between laiverpont and Nevp Yurk. They are to be packets between ioiverpond and Neve York. They are to be about 200 tops regaster, and coostructed for sapid railiag. They wilt be huitt by private hands, the puat office contrituting a porLion of their cist.

The new stamp dutiee bill, reducing the dutien on advertisements and sea inwurancea, pepualing altogether the duty on pantphlets, uo recelpts for sams tander five pounds, and on hasurances for farming stock, came into operation on the 6ili of July.

The boards of etampa and taxes Jave been coneoliciated Into one board, or head of "stampe and tax othee," and C. Preasly, eng. is appointed sucretary.
The Friends in their annasal epistle stated their continued opposition to the system of tuthes and benr tentimony against all ecelesiastion! demanda. The amtsunt of distraints, aimost exclusively on thase accounts, is $\mathbf{\Sigma 1 3} \mathbf{1 3}, 010$.
The great Enst India house of Fuinlie, Bonham & Co. I,ondon, whose engagements amount to a very large aus have failed. In the course of a day or two, upwards of $£ 02,000$ in annuitles becane due against them.
yance.
A royal ordinance had beeo iswued dividing the siaking fand among the different stocks.
A modification of a temporary kind had been made in the export and inport duties on various articles of commerce.
It was reported that the ehamber of dejutues would be dissolved and a new election ordered.
spatk.
The cortes of $$$ pain met on tlse $20 t h$ July and took the onth of fidelity to the young prinecss of Anturian.
Iban Carloa rad family are ald to have arrived at Civits Vechia, where it was supposed they would fix their perinanens resulence.

Portvoal.

The Iatert advicea from Oporto repreacnted that an armament was $\overline{6} t \mathrm{t}_{\mathrm{g}} \mathrm{g}$ out by Don I'edro, whose destimation was not kanwn. It now appearw that between three and four thousand troops embarked on lmard stenmboats on the 21 st June, accompanied by some ships of war. These lasd proceeded down the cosat pasked by Laishon, and riffected a landing at Idmen In the provinee of Aigarsce, wituated at the wouthern extremity of the district. The inhabitants are represented as favorable to Iton Pedro's cause. This movement had occasioned a great excltement al l.ishoo.
It is stated that these propositions wure discussed in Don Pedro's council, viz:-
1*t. That an army of $4,600 \mathrm{men}$ commsnded by the regent in person, whould make a descent on l.iwhon-2d. That an army, under the command of a guweral, whould proceed to the Algarvee' In the liope of being joined by a numerous body of Spaniah malcontents and deserters, and tience procced to Li-hon, while Don Pwilo awaited the reasit at Oporto-and 3a. That the whole ariny should tuake a sortic from Oporio against the besluging forces, and if auccessful, tharch on to Lishou.
Marslial Solignac strenuonsly advocated the latter propnosition but the second being adopted he resigned his command of the army. Ihon Pedro has nutnlnated him grand cordon of the order of the tower and the sword, as a remuneration for his services in the cause of Donna Maria. Gen. Saldanda was Imanediately appointed to succeed him.

The ealistment for the service of Don Pedro was gring on actively in I'arna; and amone the enliated are a large nuuber of Ioliah and Italjan refugeen.
The friesds of the comatintinnal cause are much dispirited, in consequence of the landing of ITon Pedro's tronps at Lagos, so Ereat a distance from their originai point of destioh Hon-Lis-bon-and it is zenrrally considered as displaying a) Aat want of generalship on the part of the leaders of the liberal army.
The occurrence portcndiag most disaster to the canse of Don Pudro, at present, we deein to be the acquixition of the serviees of Marshat Boarmont by hls advernary. That officer, formerly minister of war in C'harlow X. has arrived in London with his adde-de-cennip and mintr, on his way to \%imbon to takn command of Ion Miguel's army. Marshal Bourmont is an officer of great mintary thlente.

At the latest dates, the Miguelite flaet continned In the Tagus. Several of the othceps condfue tu desert. Every esertion is making to get the flevt to sea, but the prevailing opinion is, that the crews will not fight. The sovernment of I.sishon has been madeacquainted by trlegraph of a militia regiment having bodily deserted from Mafra, but no certain Information bne beea recetved as to where they had gone.
mollamo AND agtapus.
The Datch tronpe captnred by the French in the citadel of Antwerp, have relimened to IInlland.

Hrussels papers alate that the governmeots of Anetria and Prnasin have determined on sendjug secredited ministefs to the conti of Leoopold.
Tue qneen of Belginm Is said to be in that atatc that "ladies wish to be who love their lords."
The Belgian ministers have a majority in the clambers. recessia. The king of Praseis begins to entertain suspictons of the per-ons diputed as misoionarics to cosvert the Jews, and he has, secordingly, istued a cabinet order confining these persons to the atrici fetter of their commission, abstaining them from polltical interference of every kind.
Ils majeety lind atwo iansied an order against those folish insurgents who might seek a refuge in his kingdon.

GFRMANY.
The German papers reprrsent this eonntry to be In a vety unsettied condition. Several arrests lad taken place, and two executuons, tor political offrnces.

rolavi.

The Ruskian accounts from the frontiers of Poland are still harping upon the discontented impatornce which is lut ill suppreserd in thas pountry, and ascrilung it to the maphinntions of the proprogandiste uf Francos. "The "tenleucy;" as it is calted, with whineh the I'oles have hitherto been treated is now thought to lave had a bad effuct apan thom, and liencefirth n new systent is tor the adoptiod, uoder whirli even the sublitity are riot to be escinget from the degrallation of eorporal puntstentent. This. no doubt, will be a refonement in the tactice of the cruel autoerat.

Beveral lettopn from the fronilers of Paland announce that the young lady Ilawether, aged IN, waw recontly shot at Lubun by the Kesestata, accuerd of linvilig furnivilual proviwione tu the inretarued frout F'rance put himmetí nt the lomad nt Ihe infargenis in the cnvirons of Godno; engaged in a skurminh with the fitusinne, was womuled, taken protencr, and immedratety liung at Girulno.

The citadel of Waramw was nearly completed, and Kiew wau also to be atrongly tuntifed.

TUREVT.
The Figyptian army had made a retrograife movement frotn Asin Minor, nnd were at the laut advicea eonitimining their maselt over Mownt T'nurum; in consequcate uf ivhich the Russian ariny was to be immedratcly withifawn from I'onetantheople.

LATER NFW.
Since the above waa in tw be, l,ondon papers to the 9 th July have been received $A t$ New inrk.

The royal assent by commensinn was given to the $£ 15,000,000$ exchequer bill's bill, and national olehl praluction lafl.

The lord advocate brought up the trish choreh tempnralitica till in the hutse of lords un the 9 h uli. when the dilke of Hisek. ingham sald there was somethitg in the hill whirh afferiryl tifm king's prerogative an the hoad of the church, and he wi-hed to know if eari Grey liad the king"s permisomin, and cuntembed that the king"s perinussion shonld be unmile known by a special meanage.

Earl tirey replled that hid majenty"s permisulon had berit oh. talned, and he now made she idectarntion an mintstrer of the crown, hud contended there wis no necmenty for in furmonf nure mage. The bill was then rual and imblarod th a thitd pending on the Monday following. It passed the bouse of conimoss on the eqti.
It is wateal from a pouree entitled to consifleration, that it has been fulty determined by the ligh tory purers, to tive thas bill an unquatified opposition in the louser of preas, and thita at onee hring the question whother the luals form a sabotantise arni efficipnt branch of the legiviations, to anitauc. Flomid the dukn of Wellington bring ins forces thut in eppowition to the miuistuy on thas question, the erisis wilt have arrived which will determine the strengith of earl Girey, and proballv, alan, the etsl! greater question of a revoliation. The conwervatives appenr tu think that the wooner this critis arrives, the better for them. elves, if not fur the country; and they anticipate it witl a gorod legree of confilence.
looking forward to such a eriais in the lorils, it is ptated that eart Grey lise in him pockel, ready to prouluce nin oceanlath, fillyaix proxipa; and that, on the otherhand, here are noaty apventy at the difonsal of a ducal ex premier. 'Tlise nituiriotsatuon has lost two vutes liy the demiee uf thm parl of I'ouliret am! loril King, and as the carl of Mulgrive, by lus aluenere funt the conntry, has not heen able to take the oathu and lis seat in the prement jurliament, hla vote cannot by availabie.
"T'lise fart is," wayw one of the leradung juurnala, "ministorre, to use n homwly plarate, wre on their lnst luga, and they know it. When they are to en is a more qutredion of pulicy on ilie part of The opproituon. Tit the rigbt about, however, they march ere thing."

The blahop of Dristol preaented a petition mgainet the bull, and protested against it as itep aleath blaw of the I'rotesmont fasth.

A Irticr from Formandos Pit, fintes tliat acoonnte limi been received these that the erxpedition to the Niger wad ing great ine. (reep-that the natives at thr nabith of that river lind refuered stoman veseple; that the lorig load beon plandercil, and that sho engineer of the: कteambont and one uf the paptnins bad uient,
"The bill for the emnneipation of the West India slaves fad bean pastponsd fetr a fesw day's on mation of Mr. Htanley.

The indeinnity in the W"est Indian is mald to be estinntel nt onc thirl valise of the staves-viz: one itrird of an atile botionl
 Patting Ilsp ilipee suraw tingether, the anotiol in fgo which given C Tn se the averame; and f 30 maltiplied tw 700,000 , gives $\mathcal{L} 2,000,000$ as the third part of the whole, ohd aud young.

The whent trade had improved and salen were effeeted at an advance of 1s. per quarter the previens rates.
Pontcoal.

The affiarn of Ion Pralro had brightened. Ail the citiex, towne and viltug'\%, furbitug llie kingdom of Algarves from Vtha Reaf to lagen and slagri's, comprtening the whole line of the sea comes, obey atready the governneent of the queen, as also those in itive interiur. In Olpas, Albofrira and Villa Nova, the people had spontaneously proviainied the queen even befone the arrival of the troope. I'loe governor, viveount Malleboro, had reireated. Gient numbera of the officers and soldiens of Migurl's army had joined the army of Don I'etiro. The dake of 'Terceira was fotlow tug up the onemy, and had taken the military chest containing $x \delta, 000$, an alsu lorty pieces of artillery. The bwhop of Fare thail sent in his adhesmin.
Captain Najtor liad detromined on immediately blockading the 'l'agne, and it was believed that his aquadron was equal to the comient if Migopl's squadron slonild tall In with th.
Marvhal Ilourmont fad lef I'almoutis to take command of Mazuel's ftroge.

I'te Jix|юontuns were thismppointed in the non appeapance of admiral Napmer in the Tagut, as tirey believe the war would, in that pvent, have been terminated without bloodshed in favor of the filworatn.

Acoontht: from n source favorab'e to Miguel'm canse represent the stlisur of thon I'eilio in a differruit hight.

The onlwr intellugence brouglot by this mrrival is not important.
t'npt. I'tark, it the brig Sptenild, artived at New York from Tartagona, reports "that Jloo f'edro's squadron had captured that of llon Migiel, and liad put the whole coast under bockufle." ('apt. t'laik pasard Gibraliar on the IIth and received this repurt from sto bris ('ounnucrer, for Tanupien, which came out uf i;hrattar that moriung. This report derives confirination from the fact mentionowl lay a Giborattar paper of the din Juty received in llosten, and guofed loy the papers of that city, which xny that a vewal arrived there on the 6 th, whleh wiated shat on the morning sit she Ath, alosut 15 mutes from t'ape st. Vincent, the Mizwrlite awd the potriof squdilons werv seen aaiting in two parallel linew, ihoush wide apart, in the direcion of Cape Ni. Mary-life furmor comsi-liog of cleven and the latter of aine veratle -not that after tiney had been tost wight of, the report of cawnetn was heard.

一~* e erm-

TRADE: AVD NAVIGATIUN OF TIE ISL.ANO OF 8T. (RRI)X.
Trom the filobe.
STATE DEPAMTMENT-OFFICAE.
Ordinance concwiume tlie trads and navizanon of the isiand of Nit. Croix, dated ('mpenliggen, fth June, 1833 . -7. Concrrning the natigation.
sice. 1. All veracla, ivathout exception, Dankh or foreign, conting from Itamult or liureign ports, will be admitted at Est. t'roix, and mav dr-charge ant ere. Inad in the harbor of Christranment or in the revad s a| Fredmackated.
siec. g. 'The pott chargow hitherto exacted under the heade of anchorate $\mathrm{fo}^{2} \mathrm{pa}$, stampa, \&k, are abohshed, but the anchorage dues will be levicil on tlic full hurthen of the vessel, viz:
4. Inward:

W'ben the gooda diaclantied ainoutit th ono half of the tonnage uf the veanel ar therrahnve, per pommerce last, 48 W . S. $\mathbf{C y}$, When the goond discloarg-d amount to one quarter, or low than one half of the tonnage, per commerce last.
W'lien the guoda divelinged amount to less than When the guod divelinged one-quarter of the tonnagis,
b. Outward:

In the same proportions according to the quantity of goods Ioarled.

The vesaels not breaking bulk are expmpted from paying ancloorage diaps, as also the verswis belonging to the Danish isJaude, trading letwoen stt. t'min and the otber Danish coloniew. Whon the anclooriges dura lave been paid at oue piace in the inlaud, on adflition pan be exarted, except when the goods landeil or loadpil on the snime vuyage, together with the gonda urevinualy landeal or loaded, amount to a proportion subjecting the vroselt to increamed anchorage dues.

At Christianvied an addition of 50 per cent. is exacted for maintmiting the ךunts, twarping anphofs and sea marke.

> F. Conrernin the importation of goods.

Soc. 3. All zoods of Imaish or forrign origin coming from Daniwh or forrign ports, may be imported at Christiansted or Fredurieksied.

Soe. 4. W'hen part of the earen of a veasel io intended to be Ianded, it wilt lic reppirad, notwithataoding, that a eperatication of the wholm cargo he delivered on eutering, aul a mimilar spectfiention of the remainder on cleartue ont.
sive. © , The foilowing exemptions and duties are Ixed for the imponthtion of gonde.
(a.) Pree of dinty.

Indian enen ond inenl, rumpunchmons, staves and heqnpieces, hoopa for rim hond whear einaku, nuila for sugar ensks, honke, hitls, Htensile for pugar hoillng, for diablling of rum, and for wugar milla, fire pronf hriekw, mblea and asses.

All proulupinous of this country on having paid daty there, in vesaria helinging to Denmark or the thutehtea, when loaded at a port where ditice are paid, and aceompanicd by a eertifieate from the enstom hnise offica, proving the paymetut of the daty or the Inland nrigin.

Provisions and freah fruits an yams, panaser, bananas, oranges, *e. the prosuce of foretgn Weqt India islauds.
West Inda colonial producr, with the exerption of coffee and tolnacen, whoh are subjectrd to dinty.

Furnitere, when ionported as the property of a person intend ang to wettient Nt. Cime
(b) subjected to a duty of 5 per ernt.

Other acticles requtret in the ase of the engar plantations, steh ns-what te else required tior the livest and clothing of the negtives, carts, saddlery and building materiats.

Materials for repairoug vessels.
Tradesmen's utensilo.
Cattie and living amucals, except mules and asses, which are free, and foreign horsen, which pay an increased duty. Coffee and tubacco.
(c) subjected to a duty of 124 per ernt.

All other arteles not named under letter $a$, and $b_{1}$ and foreign horses.
(d) To be importel on payment in baif duties.

All foreign goods in vessela helongieng to Denmark or the Dutchiem foom parts where duttem are paid, acconmpatied by a certficate fron the custom house officern, and not haviug path duty tifere. From the amount of the baif duty is to le deduct ed the tranzit duty paid un the exportation.
(e) A deduction in the import duty will be granted

Un ail foreign goods having paid duty at Nt. Thounas, when necompamed by a certibicate from the chetom ottice khowing the anount paid, which will be deducted form the inuport duly at $1. Croix, when the elvarance in nut older than It days. The trade and navigation to st. Crme from frre ports in Itornamatk and the Dutches, will not enjoy the advantages granted to the portn where dutres are paid.
C. Concerming the exportation of goods.

Sec. 6. Goodr of all descriptions teay be exportesl from Christiatisted or Fredneksted al st. Crois, in Iranthor or furcign vessels, on the following condtions and subject to the fullowiog dities:

1. Sugara, produced at St . Croiv or there imported:
a. In vesach belonging to Demmark or to the Itutchies:

To a port in Desmark or Dutchies, where dutins are levied, t 5 per rent.
Tua Danieh freepoft, of to forcign porta, at 121 per cent.
s. In foreign vexcels in all pases, 12! per cent.
c. When engurs imported at $\mathrm{s}_{\mathrm{L}}$. Crucx trom st. Thomas or $\mathrm{St}_{\mathrm{L}}$

John, are re exported, the datips there paid will be dednetrd.
11. Run and molasuen, prodnced at El. Crons, ur there am ported.
a. In vespris helonging to Denmark or in the Dotelica.

T'o a port in Imonmark or the Dutchien, where dutied are levied, at de per crnt.
To a ltanish freepntt, of to a forcign port, so per eent.
b. In fureign vonela, in all casrs, at 5 prit ceits.
c. When rum or molarses, importral at st. Croiv from st. Thamam or Ni. Jahn, are re exported, the duties there pasd will be inedueted.
111. Ginods of other deseriptions in veoserls of all nations.
a. On enffer and tobacen exported to a Danidh frreport, or to a forvign port, 4 sthe inf the inward duty will be retornid, and when exported to otcor ports in Benmark or the Dintelaes, the full amonnt of inwaril duty will he retursmil agan-t spentily to produce eertificutes from the pont of diweloargn within 6 monthe.
b. On all other West Imin colnnint produce imported ifrenf duty, I per eent. will he paill when reporteit to a Daniols freeport, of to foreign ports, and nn duty will he pand wlien expmot ed to other panto in Itrtinaik or the Dutchies, on sucnrity be ang given to prombuce certifieates from the port of discharge withn six monthe.
c. Goods of all other descriptions pay nth export duly, whether they have been imported ofl or withoint paying duty.
D. General regulations at the importation or exportation of oods
Sec. 7. All gnods whal hy wright, whether free or snbjectent to duties must ber wrighed on importation or exportation, and a certiticate of the weight will iminerliately lie granted. The weigh-money will be pald with a $w$. ey. per 100 lb .

Ace. B. The dition ad valorem stipulatell by the 5th and 6th ections will be levied aceording to the taxation approved by the West Imblian governmorut.

Sce. 9. In addition to the dutiex, 1. 10th part of their amount will be levied as fees to the cuwtom nthicerp.
Erec. 10. The stampa hitherto required for certifieates of alt kinde are aboliviocd and the deties un importation or exporta. tion will accoritingly not exceed what is ntipulated by the Sth, 6th, 7th and 9 h h sections.
Rec. 11. Every owner or asent whether a native or forrigner, may make his own ileclaration and clearnnee. Verhai declaratione ran be made ont at the enstom houser, and the within de. clarations be made ont in the enstom ntlice for the nignature of the partire withont expense to thrm.
spe. 12. The eustom offiee will be apru from 7 ooclok kill 3 o'elock, but zoonle inay be landerd and foaded from 6 ct'rlock in the morning antil 6 o'clock in the evening. Npreial drelara thons muet be made previously and be nttested by the taspecors.
Spe. 13. When goode are lanted or Inaled without attest? tion from the inspertor, of at other bours that stipuialed, they are tialibe to eomiferation.

Sec. 14. The present ordinance will commence its effect on as far an they are mot done awny ur altered by the present.

GEOLOGICAL NTHVEY UF M.ARILAND.

trom the Aultimore Guzrlle
We werr pleared to uotice the return, within a day or two past, of profoxeot lincatill and the Eemtrinen who accompanied lam on thie late exp-dtion to the Alleghnoy rimal menn. Thry deseritue their viact and exammation as tietif of interest beth personal and pmblic. Ifow thr, luwerio, the state with it yet there gotiemen of course do not toucle-wheh we think upon with anxifty.

The coal datrict which is anid ta exint in the vicinity or Frederick, ict the I'arr Sprong Nitige, dul not come at the thme under vxanoonation. We underotand it will be taken in review very shurtly. It wonld certundy loe of advantage to hive so valuable a mineral it puch near wethage to mily+t oo for as it would, if disenvered, tend wineronae the moonnt of the capmal of the wtate th that wfticle it in a matter of phall imputance. The wealth of tic Allowhames may twe waid to lve incexhaustoble-and if the fire of patrobisim, *oppasing it capalde of Intoral combustion enold be kept up cully ae loug as tiorere is coral in Marslaod to to ileath in the aprit inf eeventy-rix aund the anticipated perpethtily of their imstitutions.
The region which has been examined cominences on the weaIfru slopere of Itavt,' mountain. This mountanis may be defined on the wap as a ringe beganing under that name at a gap in Will's toruutain ahout seven miles $\mathbf{S}$. W', of Comberland-and then boninded is Maryland by the Potomac and (ieorge's creek -in Virgonin by the Niw creck and the samu fotomac-it runs teally through both states, nlonoudhog in ench in the valuable deposit-ond affer it has ceastill to tee callofl by that name, and is lelended with the maspes of Will's mpuntaia, tt by in meann Iosem the catbonifrrona character, for the distict of Prostburgh yields in abundance and rxcellence to none.
The Chesapeake ant Ohin eaonl Incation was made at a distatuen in a dicmet lime of atoni 5 or 6 miles frum the Frowtburgh mine, and surverys for cail ronds were entendell aloog the valite of Jennung' rima and Itraddock's min, heth trithtarice of Will's creik. Tim dixtance by the fornore was ancertained to be 9 miifs-by the latter 7-5. Notur ulica of the faritities presented there by nature for int-rnal iwurnvermest, and of the consequent probpect of olir Improwaownt companies, may be formed, when we learn that hy the firnt hat innument rongr is overcoine an ele vation of $1,020 \mathrm{fret}$, hy the fatter une of 1,103 fret.
At Weoternpoit on the Pothenac-which will berome a wort of depott for the wiath uf imn's monntam, wheh wr have alronaly mentioned-the canal of to pans atinat a mile from the nincs. sume uf our entrrurlaing thlow eitizets have been alrearly shgacume ennagl! to svant themstives of the advantage of proptimtor-lip in that neighiorliond. How far the coal reginn reverds it ir lmpowelber to sny nuw. It has herie traced an far as the banke of the Yolinpnny, tlent mingles it waves with the western waters. The cxaminations, lourever, were uf couree prlaclpally and particularly toade as near home as possible.
We linve twern utbintentinnally ao ilffrowe upon thas matter of the conal deposit, as th leave ns no rom fur speaking of other inturesting mattera, which will, we shppore, be embraced in the repoirt to be made this winter to the legialatire. The framera of that report have it in their power to the the instrmmenta of a great anninnt of giod to the people of this atate-and if the inthrmation wheh we expect will be developed in the eommunication nt the next acasion, had heen only hy aome chance, or Providence mire kind than flonnce, reveaied before, there in no knowing how favmralite the reffret unuld bave lieen in the direetion and lay ligg out of our internal improverment energies. We fervently hope that the time has not $y \mathrm{w}$ paseed for the production of that eltect, at Ira-t of some portion of it-and in endeavering to further it whtle we trave those who are altrady engazel to prosecite and propound their genlogical inquirico, we shall please inirselves anil we hope nar reaters, by our examination in uletail, uf the political hearine which the situation and the proper weatth of Maryland iv calculated th thave. To examino the phulosephy of these bearinzo-to ascertain the mecbanism of callse and effiect connected with them, and to embaaee their ergtain resulte of wealthant happiness will require an extended and patient review-and ail the detailn of the subject. Sueh detaiben we ontrselves mav linve we shalt not fait to employwe look for the rest to the kindnese of those who ferl the rub. jeet to be ouc of interest and have thade it one of consideration.

-ane9 pu-

VIEIT TO WR. MADISON.
From the correypondent of the Portland . 7 rrrtiser.
Otanze Court Honse, Va. Mry 23, IR33.
Iten finntotieavilte a livtle bifore midnight in the maif stage, and found mserif here by day lieht this morning, dostance thirry mifes. As Mr. Madionn's plantation is only five miles distant from this, I manlved to stop, and tu visit almost the fant of the Romnans. I took a horse, raining though it was, and after golng over a Virginia road, about three miles, which you probnbly know is one of the wornt in the worlti; for here it is "unconstf.
tutional" to have good roadr, I came to a bye-path, a sort of a catriage road that fed into the woodn, when I kept in ridiug and ridiag for searly two miled, or out aud a lialf, passsug one gatu that led to a plantatiun, till I came ts austhor where I nent an old negon, whin tuld nue the way, and added that liss "old miss-of age," and that "Mr. Madtwan wits A good manter," and "would met let his overseer inake tight with the murn," thus susaing ou with constauncative logmasity, secing be luad found a white auan is lisken, to his Lalk. I rovie on then throuzh a well buitt gatn-om lise roud-way-leadiug thotozh ant inimuense firthl of rye-by yes anutber mate-and cane at inst to a large abl clegant brick boure, buit in tho Virginta lashon, wits wings, a prujectang fortucu, a walk in frout, &cc. &c.

What on earth could eend n man liere, I said $t 0$ myself-here, on far from the road, for fram norghinars, sh far frun the vil lape, the post offie-in this hide and go-seek plare in the woods, where it is difficuit tu find a divellang, no matter how couspiaru ous it may be. But such is the Virginia lashou. 'Tlie Virgi suans get off frous the road with the same zenl that we crowal on-and here you unay trasel where there nie no signs of life, but where, if you were to saund a trunget to call men togelher, shey would jurop up as from the earth. Jruly this is retiremunt, this babutation in wurh a beld-in ancli a valley-wish slise morn-ingale-undisturbenl but by the liule bustle in the neighboring megro camps, of the monitary travellif who, perclance, wtrays bere, an I have dune, to pay the honnage that is due to charactep, to patriotism, to nit uprighitand well done pulitical cateer. As fastraed my hurse, and ilrew near in the slonr of the yard, with a well titted asd well pasated fricls, I was mutiug uuch on the changes that coune over a unn in the courne of a long lile. Ilow oan we aceustom ournelves to such a sulitude after al! the busde of an active iffe to which we have hewn habutuatea? How ean we whthiraw and forget men and things, and live and feet on the thoughta within us, and with the few ant unvarying eoupaniond that nur own home allords. Cicero, in ihat adair able treatise: uf him-De Scurchute, puts into the munth of scipas, I think it is he, but iny meunnry of the readinge of othcr day in even now grawing rinty - the true lewnon for enjoyting a happy old ase, or a chauge of life, or meek submisalon ty circuthstan. ces. It was not long beforv I saw a-living evenjulitication and pracilieer of all these Ifnobis-with yel another aid for the ell. joynurnt of a happy olld age than c'revol bam moken of.

1 rapped at the door. A wervant, courteous, well bred and well diessed, canc til miveall. I wint in my card, for not ex. pectiag to return honae thas wny, I had refustil letters offermil see by freends in Wraduagion to Mr, and Mrr. Madison. 'T'ine card was cariled to Mr. M. witen-and 1 was tuvited into the parior, in the centre of the buahbige, luil of the portasits of enas. neat indivilath, sumone whell wern those of Wiashumgen and Jefferson, and Lafayette, I thuk, but an wat erertan-and of paintinge also, roturnalutheg altiferent weenew and gapslots, but chielly of a relisious character. P'lie formature was af that riell old cast, whicis, while it koepr inp the sdea of magnifiopuce, carries us back to ntluer days, and ieninmio us that we ary in the peatrd, and after a linte conver antion, carrival we suts liet hus fand's rooun, and preserstenl whe to Mr. Malswan. Je was bs ing on his bed, in a therk milk rulse-rcanling-with thr book near nt his uide, and his eportacled put in to purberve the plare. Ilis agrevable, vizurous and frank-atid displaycal, evet, on consmon topies, instructimn and interent.
There is no decay of inhad-mot the leat visible deerease of aluat intellectual vigur which evir aliofiugetioliod bina IIn we-impruveusents, of public limalth, and of the difirrent mectuns of He country, with all the intirciot of a man stho is calonly but cenlously surveynig whast his countrymen are dolng. In mpeaking of has eyesight, he remarked that it was bint a short tiuse aince he began to use spectacleas. Ife attrihuted the long duraston of bis shisal powsrs to the fact that le was sear-sightedand I was intacested in lesarisi lis argument thsustnin the position, foundad as it Was on an Intimate Karoveledge of the seiened of opics. Of course I avanled, as all pursons would. intinate frinods excepted, any alluainin the pinsong prolitics or thernee of the day-though I slumblimve bewn stotrontent th he:ariug him speak of his own V'irginia. As to lna liealth, lie said it was an good as could be expected, thomighe was shightly allicted with rheumatic pains. (Ald age wan his chiof dismase. Ile then ealogised the nir and ehmate Jie Irved in, and Mrs. Madison remarknd, that there were in this vicinity a large number of wery old people. Theae remarks pomindrd me of a conversation I had at breakfiast at a tavern in the mountains west of this. I inquired of the lady of she lopuee, "What are your prevailing diseases"" "We have nome," "Any consumptions?" "No." diepases?" "No." "What do you die of?" "Oh, of old age." Such bulag the arood repmation of the air and climate in thin part of Virginla, I hope Mr. and Mra. Madison will live many, pany y years yet.

Ifurried as long an poititeness would seem in juatuly. Both prevssd upon me with a hospitality distineulshing almost everv have aladly aceepred for the sake of a fow minntes onore conwersation with the venerable man, I felt coustrained tu decline. vermand with both-they officing me slievt hands, and wishtng me with great kundaess a prosperous journey homeward.

The eharacter of Mif. Madison I have evvr fre-emmbently ad mifred. I think lun the model of what an Aruerican otatesnan anglit to be. Aurong all omr gieat men, lie is my favorite, if not the chivf, at least oure of the chicf. Ahd surely as I look at bis lim plantation, his well huused and bajpy negsove, his fourishing tields of grain, his flocks of sheep, and mee limu th has old age, though stretched upon the brid, there invishbing hin mind with bouks, aul mausing bim nile lounfs, which else would hang heavy upos lim, t cansot but think ite is enjoying the true otisen cum dignitate, nud realizate the picture of a bappy off age that Ciecro hav so touchingly aud beautifully describet-dius adding to the character of the statemman and the patriot that of the pobslosojplier.
I have said Mr. Madison lias yet nther aids for the enjoyment of a happy uld age, than Cicerompeake of. Added to his owa resources, his own luase and plantation, be luas fror a compamion, his wife, a Jady who even anw well surtant: lier olil reputation, that of seing one of the most accomplished wonten in America. With such a counuanion, he ever has socirty, inter ent and converiation by lis own bed side. The picture of douncstic enjoyment ithey now exhibit, is one of the most attractive I ever wituesseal. Lluw aweet must pven old age be when thus softeued and watched over? How glortous and zoud the IIf. of a mau anfor such rervices, vnding thus, with such a compation to athanimiter to lis watsty and counfurt! 'The fame Mr. Malison Inas wath, the glory he brqueaths to posterity, and the bright pagee Whicli his iname is to occupy in his ciumtry's story, are, after 141 l , mot of so much worth to than, as the posecssion of such a wife,

MR. MADISON

From the Natlona! Intellispmect
We acknuwledge ouracives no little iudebted to the highiy respectable rrutleman, irom whose letter to us (dated $154 h$ instant) we have ferminsion to extract the followint:
${ }^{\text {© }}$ It will give you ploashre to Jear that Mr. Madison, though still confiued to lius rum by fhrunatism and semeral ilebitity, Has unjuraved lately ln health, and that Jowh bis Fpirits and methtal vityor are still huimpaired by nere or dieeaseg.

II lately mude him a viwit in company with Mr. R-, our late ——, And we buth agreed that we had scareely ever before suen his lutellect so bright and clear, and had never found him sus interenting. Ife was in a talking vein, and fully veufied wiat Mr. Jefferson usell to say of hlut, that his eonversational powers were unrivalled. Ilc sinused us with aneedotes of how early conthuporarnes-answopyl our liquintes about the olden tienpcleared up doulnts la our slompritic liserory -and necasiotually intermiuzled prflections on the prinejples of anr govertumest, Which were conerived in the spith af true phalomphy, and were exprowerd winh a precioinn and proprety of language for whech, on such stibjects. Ife has no pqual. He meldom deacends to speak of pasty joilitics, and when liw dosen, it is never in a tone of apperity. T'ive wifery of tie political jugmien who have diselarged their puny mhafin at timu tocanse the would not sanction therf falne vermbuan of lis own text, are of comrse unlieeded by lina. Ilis thoughta meem to rna rathor on priscijples than indiviblialn $\rightarrow$ on the grat national intereats, prevent and future, rather than on this of that meanure of palscy. Nome of these ge-jnst. Thuil he said that wo far an the love of power and distinetorn inflapncral the forlingst of our politicians towards the general Envernucut, it liad foroduced emutrary elieets in the north and the sonth. In the worth the leading men felt a jealousy or apurchenoun uf that levelling, divngamizing epirit, which te mpatient of all coutros), and in itu execes threalens the saered ness of groperty; und thint therifiure they view the reneral governument with favor and gratitnde, and were dıpposed to anfange ith poweres wiuch definded them against the spirit of inmuluorlinatton at homes. lint in the south, where there is mo ground for such apprels asings-the class of perarms without prope rty Ireing here lilte it by wlaves-the lendang tuen regarded the gencral governun-ut n" dimiwishog their relative insortance, and consequently were inclined ta cuculuseribe its power within an narrow limits an possible.
"He alwo reunarked that ihere wrie three circumstances which contributeil us make the value of the unoon less sevaibly felt now than formerly. Oue was, the freator atringth of thr several stales, arising from their great increase in population and wealito. Anatier was, the dimilishial danger from abouad; and the third was the invisase of mon if talontpil andation-thougli he left it to us to trace the operation of these thrfe changey in our situa. tion, anil th wake their application. Nior did he venture to predict the finture efficets of the same cirenmatances, all of whieh will obvinusly cuntinne to increace." His conversation was thoughout a hish intellectual treat, and I know not when I have passed two days morn delaghtfully. It is indeed a most gratifylige spectacle to see that the faminous mind of this venerable sage and patriot sheds as clear and almost ns brilliant a light as it ever did in itu meridian, and that the envious clonds which would obscure ita mild radiance serve but to unake it more beantifisl and intereating.
"Mr. Madivon will leave, when he shall he inter astra relates, an invaluable legacy in preterity in his debates of the convention which formed the federal conetitution; for, according to Mr. Jefferson, the only permon perhape 10 wbotn the author bas ever
It is to be hoped that we shall find in the growing fntelligenee of the people, a sufticient counteraction.
ahews them, never were the proceedibge of a deliberative loody reported with equal thdelity. But as nothing eomid induce hins to pubith theat in ins life these, I bupe it will be hany yeard before the public has this gratitication."

VIRGINIA-AND THE: CULTIVATION OF TOBACCO. The Lynchburg Virginall, a paper conducted wht a degree of abihty, moderation and decortun, of wheh there are mot many cxamples, contains the priae essay on agriculture in Virginia, by C. W. Gooch, esq. of llenrico county. This is inatructive for every agriculturist and American politician. It coofirus the remark of ours, at whitch the Kichatand Linquirer took uanbrage, that it would be bether for the Virgimanis to concede to objects of public economy, wuch as hutbandry and interpal luprovemeuts, much of that time and concern which they give to metapliysical diseussions of state rights and hyperbolical panegyric of state oracles. Let us mahe some extracts frou
"If you examine the plantation of the tobaceo maker, ynu find every appearance of paverty or unpardonable moglect. The owner will acknawledge that things ought to be and might be better; but that he has nu time to parare, owing to the prossure of his erops, particularly his tubaceo crop, which interferes whth alt other operations throughout the whole year. There ${ }^{4}$ much truth in has excuses; for, in January, February and Mareh, he is clearing new grounds; prepuriug and burnling jolatibeds; fencing, manuring and falliwng tobacco lots; sowng oata; ploughing and pryparing corn land; and, either stripung or prizing tobacco; perhaps both. In April, May and June, his toila begin to assume more interest, and require mose exeftion: his whole crop of carin is to plant, roplaut, thin weed and culifate; the tobaceo hills are to be made, turned, cut off, and the fret plantiugs mutle. The ofd crop of tobacco is yet to finish prizing, and hauled to market, if not previously done! experieuce having jroven that the longer it is kept hefure prizing, the sounder and better cured it will be-espeeially for mhipping. Harvest is now at hand; but that period of modastry and festivity to the mere farmer, brings with it sleeplewn foll and aceumulated cares to the planter. The replanting tobacco, the topping of that which mtood well, and the anost careful tillage of the whole with the hanl tooe, press him on the one hand; whilst, on the ohier, his late corn is not yet laid by, and his grain requires cuting. From the pressure of the corn and tnbacco, the grain is too often literally mowed down and shocked about the theld in a still tuore hurried and alovenly manner, to be half destroyed by wind and rains. Throughout the months of July, Angust and Septensber, not a monnent's reapite is enjuyed. 'The tobaceo erop lias to be gone over more that a dozen thmes in the latwonous opeYatlons of topping, suecouring, worming, working, cithigg, piling, removing to the hnuses and curing. The suoall grain nust be hatuled up and starked, and when the depredationn of the weevil leave mo other alternafice, the wheat ss gotten out and carried to market. The fodder scon has to le secured, and this comea on Just with the cutbing of tobacen. During the other three months of the yrar, the belter securing of the fodder, the gatherinz and hon-ing of the corn, and the wowing of the next year'a crop of wiuter graili, vave no leisnre times to the poor planter. The tohacen, allinugh housed, maxt lee clasety watched; the latter eutings curnd; and then connmence the tedioue operations of striking, stripping, assorting and Luikiun away. Hesides these eontlicting objectr of attention, there are many othere that demand the eare and natention of the planter. The whole circle of the year la one serne of buntle and toil, in Whielt tobacco clains a conntant and chicf phare. No tutie catt be devnted to the planting of fruit and oruanimental trees-10 ditching-cleaning up wante and reclaining galled pots-mak. The and spresding manure on the grain firlds-deep and carifol ploughing-suwiog ekiver and plateter-or proveding comifortaand parden enclospres and all the out buildingng loo ofen farn into decay for the want of some irıflug repairg, which sher erap banda might make, if they had time. The platination noonl lookn tattered and almost descilate-galled atud ghthed till nidem, anul medgy, briary fields show themselves in cvesy direetion.. The pronts from the destruction of one plantation mre applied to the purchase of another, and more negrons. The new the is thit in charge of an overncer on sharet, who rom briugs it tu greater ateritity and desolation. It is in this way that moret of the bers lands In Virginia have been liruugtht to their prearnt condition, and have been, then, deserted by the deairoyers.
"But the exintence of negro slavery amsug us, has, in a great degree influemewd the mode of deatrnying our Inndn, and hastened its accounplistiment. In former times, the exartions of the master were only liuilted by his cupidity. In this rewpect a faForable ehange has taken place. Our slaves wre now an well fed and clothed, and enjoy as many comforts, as the laturng class in other countries; and they have Improved uroponionably in their appearance and intelligence. It ta not my purpose to toueh the dark qnestlon which involven their luture dustiny. Ite agitation has, alrrady, on $\mathbf{t W}$ o occastons, ruwsed a atiole of feeliog which verged to denperate extremes. Whatever revila may atteud it, the right of property can never be perinitted to be questioued by other..
${ }^{\text {"'The }}$ 'lie possession of slavea has had too great a trudency tu asy part of the drud lantily snwilling to takn upon the minelvex our poople think it diafepatable to labor. We have beren necustonicd to be waited uposi ironi onr infaney, and, cos.enequenily, keepf atoout us tert many wastetiul and alunowt ifle plosuratics. Earmpted from labor and even frous the common car en of buainews by the empluy ment of agents, we minbe habita and noodea of thukiuz untavorable to pliysical Improvenuent or poecessfin aupiculture. The unfiniohed hatasess, ntom projects hall' executed, which are to be seell throushout the atate, are evidratees of the Hueaning and truth of this remark. That the ease in whelh we have wo long indulged, favors the attament of liternsy and poIticul knowledge atod personal accomphishumente, it hanalfort (ionm the acknowledged proticuncy of Virgmana infar ap rerpecta. Isut, whilst we ate all pohtticians, to a man, it te th in i regretted that our achicvenents in the artw nad nerences beat nis just propurtion to the opportunities we bave had. May net Hills arise irman the ill judged ilevintion of too much lime to ple.ssure and dissupation? It is unfasitionable for a genteel or educe ted Virgiman to apply hiuself to the details and cares of the humble, bat useful vocations of life. And betice it is, that the unowt of the prightimess and genitss of the state have been applient to owe of the iwo learned protervions. The paljit is of late, pationg in its clains to the aspirations of our youth. Have not agricu: ture and the arts been too long robled In this way, of their just ahare of ralents-if men $n$ hose intellectual eudowiment might have given a more witning countetiance to the venerated thother of u* all.
"The white man who has to labor fir his support, does it with an unwilling spirit. He sees the exenoption elugoyed ty others, bud if he does not fincy haseef equally entulled to it, is toe apt to repune at his lot, or migrate to fome new state, where he wils be upun a footing of greater equality with his neighbors.
"But, independent of the enervating and paratyzing effees of alavery upon all of onr white poptation, there are peeumiary lossew, arining from it, that are heavy drawbacks to the agriculturist. Most of the Jaloors of agriculture have been confided to careless operatons. 'I'lie slave fels no Inducement to extede his work with effect. Ile lias a peenliar art of slighting it, and seeming to bo busy, when, in frat, lie ts dning little or nothing. Nor can he be made to take proger care of ntork, toois, it any thing else. He will rarely take care of his clottees, or hita own healih, much lews of his compesmons when sick nod requiring his aid and kindnees. There 1s, perhapm, not in mature, a more herdless, thonghtiless fumun beung than a Virginta feld negre. W'ith no care upon hir mind, with warm clothing, and plezty of food, uider a good master, he id far the happier man of the two. His uaximi in, "come day, gel day, God send Sunday." Itis abhorrence of the purs, white wan in very great. Ile may, somethace, frel a reflected reupert for him, in consergacace of the confidence and exterit of his master and othere. But this trait is as remarkatile in the white as in the black man. Aft deapise poverty, and neem to wormitip wrath. To the lowsers whith arise from the digpositions of onf slavex, nittst be uided thoee which are wecasioned by iletr Antits. There arems to be atmost an entire absence of moral principle among the inaken of fote colored populatom. Tut drtails npan llas sulljoct would be liere misplaced. Tosteal and not to loe deircted to a moral among them; as it was wath errtain people in atorient times, and 1s, at this day, with sume minfilightened portions of nwankind. And the vice which they loold in the greatest abluorrence is that of Alough this deseriptown embraces unore than the majority The numurous Iree negroen and worthless, difinluated whites who have mus visible means of кupport, and who are rarely zeen at work, derive their chief sulustatence from the thofte of the ypar, and operate like lacelies on the fair inctane of a ariculture. They vary, however, in every connty and neightorthonal in exact praportion as the mathers for the phander vary. Iu thit vielmitiex of towns and villages, they are the mose merions. Besides the actual loan of gromeriy mectasioned by them, they hivolve the riding of our lursow at hizht, and the eorrnption of the habite nall the injury of the lientiti uf the wlaves; for whiskey to the price arnerally received for them. Tlieme evila lavere been al ways fitt: lut they lonve beeome: mn preat of late, that the legiona ture onslin to pronide a more efficuon! rementy. follo etatute book would seem to romain one.-"Whether the dereet be in the law or in it espention," is not for me to decidr. It sometimea liappelis that the hratl thlef on a farm is in partnership wigli the overacer; and when this in the case, the lidubandman Has no chance fur protit."
"Altemaile ts the native enunty of the writer; $y$ " the is not blind to the bevotics, the advantages and valoe of low or Virginia. Its great misfortury: ham hcen, the facility with whith subsistence could be furocured without inncli labor. This palatahle productions of the air, the land, and the water, have too mueh enetvated, may I nor may, paralysed the energies of itic people. At one time, the mionopoly uf property and the prond atistocratic foeling of the loons, kept every thing wubservient the them; and, to them, and their perdr, and practient andl-repablevenism, Inwer Virsinia in more lmolelited for her drooping appeasance, loth in the zrincral asperi of the country, and the geveral mind, il an to aty thing tlse. The efficets of emigration would ne thave boen so nrikiun lit inwer Virginin, hut fur the prite of 'un tilted nol. Hity." Thank (Sod, that there is now some hape for a ch toge! T: ee revolntions of fortane have inft but if w of the of I tentry, who are not mure or lewn dieposed to uniugle, without sonscions dite grare among the common prople: and, mava, when they wam office or public favor: aud thuse who do remaia iff that caste whilst they may jastly feel the pride of pedigree, must feel alsm a conviction trat their aucemofs have a little over-atepped the mark on this sutyject. Hnt, thinga are getfing righti atid, it is to Iet it jass; becanse we have more secent, attl unw more bor tusdable pretenwions to courdsat."
"We lave too fong trod in the old aud beaten irapk of our muntiy ought io fouse fiom tha letharity-avail thenisilvere of far the start of us? thur noighbors to the murth, and even tur the west, deride and whame nan, lyy their rupmerme shill and indnstry and tue thonsequent sumernur advantatem and enmliorts they enjoy? Then, let u" 'be up aud aloung.' We lowve the chmate, the swil and other superut ailvantager that a kiud P'rovidence fins betewed mpen us. W'e have every thing necessary or tive ethii buson of envialde sernew of firal braisty, propprrity and happs-ness- $\rightarrow \mathrm{es}$, every thing but the findustry-and a disporinion to do 20. Huw long will we pubuit to no just a repiroach!!"

"K.IBERTV' OH IHF.ATI!"

Proridenec, (R. I.) July 12.
"Twas wnine poor fellow's okull waid he,
W'iso fell in the famous victory, "- Notuthey
A few day* since, as the laborera pmplayed by the I'rovidence aquedirct, were employed in rxcavaitig the pasth in the rear of Dyer's hock, Broad street, they tril sjout the boure of a human botig, apparently belongine in a man of the age of thirty or torty years. The finding of the bonex ehicited a varipty of conjucture, and whilat one was of ospiston, that they belunged tor sous poor creature who fell a victum to masonte vengeance, anotlier was slecudedly impressed wath the belief, that they wrere the bones of one who houl been murdyred for lis money.

Io the mid=t of ati ths opeculation, the veacrable prptain Tuepin suath, from the stor"\# in lis infonory slicd a flome isf jugh on flie subject. Accoriling to eapsain sinith the bonsw itnquestunably belonged to an unfortumate negin, who preterred the reposic of the giave to a life of surfiering and luondage. 'Tlius was captain $\mathrm{F}_{\text {wntilis }}$ etory.

Abont the gear 1758 , xeventy five yearm ago, a alonp came in this port, from the t-land of C'spacona, crnumauded and ruanmed thy free men of errior, descrided from the lathers uf Alrisa. Thas slorp, in consequence: of sume intormality in lor juapera was selzed, and the companons of hrr vosyage, were adjulgord th the "coniraband goonts," and it was decreed by the colomish courts, aluatility stmuld the solil into perpetual bondage, for tue benefit of his rrajeserty of Kingland.
The evy nf sale at lonith arrived, and the mnoffendimg negroex were offered for mate at puhtic antion "at the tont of the lith," eear the place whore the luisea of which we lave apmken werr fournd. When thip anctioncer, land comumemeed the saloc, ouse of the blacke ateppell tirward, and it the prisence of the throng inmestif on the epot, and thits epcape that slavery to which he the black wererant and lofnvado, and in a fi-w winntes and hun tinneer bad deelareal the aate, the indigent and despair striekmit negro, thest a dagger to lis lieart and invinatly dird on the epoit?
 mony, and there he lias probiably repmsed unul removed by the escavation a few days sfuce.

C'ily Giazeffe.
SIGNEEG OF THE DECH,ARATION OF ININYPPNVIDENC'F
The fallowing is a lint of the signerf, with the periods of thear leath armexed rempecsively:

Thonnse Lyneli, jr. uf kanth Carolina.
Button ( Bwiumett, theorga, slay $2 \overline{7},-1777$.
John Nevion, Pennsylvanea, Decermber, 17\%7.
Philıp Lavingaton, New Fork, June 1?, 1\%s,
George Rosw, l'ennsylvana, July, $17 \% 9$.
Josepulitwey, Nuth Carulina, Noveinber 10, 1779.
John llart, New Jeracy, $1 \overline{\mathrm{c}} \mathrm{N}$
George'favior, Peunsylvania, Fehruary 23, 1791.
Richarl stockton, New Jersev, February $2 \mathrm{~N}, 1761$
Copsar Aodney, Delaware, $1 /$ ki.
Stephes Ilopkin=, IItode Island, Julv 13, 1\%R5.
Willian W'hipple, New Ilanpmhire, November $98,1785$.
Arthur Middleton, Sunth C’arolina, Janwary J, 1787.
Thomes Stone, Marsland, Metober S, 1iez.
John IFnn, Nuth Carilina, Septoniber, 1788,
Thomas Nelean, jr. Virginin, Jammary 4, liest.
Jenjanin Franklin. I'enusylvaunt, Apral 1\%̄, 1790.
Wiltian Hooper, North t'siolina, INrinher, 1790.
Eenjanin IJarrison, V'irginus, April, IJ3I,
Frawcit Ilopkins, New Jerofy, May ह, 1791.
I_yman Ilall. (3+orgia, IT 91.
Hoger Stwerman, t'onneclicirt, July 23, 1493,
John Ilaneoct, Mazwar申uwetts, Ectober R, 1793.
Eichard Ilenry Lote, Virginia, June 19, 1794.
John Witherspoon, New Jersey, Novemher, 1794.
Mr. I.ynch nal his lady embarked, shoortly after the declarntion, on bonsl a veasel bormil to St. Firstatia, and nothung more is known of their fate. It is supposed that the veasel was lost, and that allon brard perished.

Abraham Clark, New Jersey, 1794.
Jomah Ilarileti, New Hampalime, May 19, 1795.
Namurl Iluntimgdon, (inftecticut, Jantmary 5, 1796.

t Ilwer Wistrent, Connectu*nt, Iherember 1, 1791.
L.ewis Morris, New Iork, January, 1794.

James Wilson, I'cunaylvima, August te, 1798.
licurge Read, Inelaware, 1;9к, Williain Pacio, Marylatul, 1799.
Filwurd llutirdge, Suuth Carolian, January 23, 1800 Matthew Tluaruton, New Ilampalure, Jume tys, 1803. Nanue'l Adams, Maswachuaett, thetober 2, Isa's Francis Lewis, New York, Jecember 30, 1603. tiearge Watton, Georgla, Februmary 2, IEu4. Kohert Morrí, I'enn-ylvania, May 8 , 1806. George W'rthe, Virgina, Juht 6, IBut.

Tlumai Ifaywaril, Nourtli C'arolın, March, 1809 Nanitivi I'take, Maryland, Jine 19, 1811 .
Wallian Willatiow, C'miserticust, August $9,1811$. (ivouge Clynur, f'unsylvanua, January 9, 1813. ISenjaific Rush, Peuney Ivatia, Apri 19, 181'J. Roberil T, Panne, Massaclinselte, May |I, IN14.

I'lumas McKean, Delaware, June 94, 1817. Willami I:Ilery, Rlrode Island, February $15,1820$. Wilham Flayd, New Youk, Augunt 4, Ie?l Jolin Alums, Maxsachuretts, July 4, 18 36.
Thomas Jutiremon, Virginia, July 4, Iest.
C'rarles Corroll, Maryland, November 4, 1802.

"FIRST TEMPERANCE: MOVEMENTझ,"

More than a yrar ago un notileed an allusion to the firmt noveurista in the canse of tempmerance, by the editor of the S'ew Hork Journal of Comnerce, who reprewented that "the insinvidual who firmi fintered the field of temperance etforts, was Little T'invile, tiv Indıan aratur of the W'abash. In I802 or I 8uß, live attendr'd the logislature of Kentweky, mecompanied by capt. Wefld as Irtw itterpreter, who wain afterwards killed at Chreago. Ile got a coabiuttee raisenl on a petation for the pasange of a law to jurevent the Fate of whusky tu the Indtans. The wame effort was made to the logislature of i hhio, where Litile Turthe made an planjent mierch, but the law failed in that state."

Litfle Thurtle nay have been the puoneref iur the went, In the givat canse whorlf nuw attracta so inuch interest, and has becoun' truly n tuatunal causer; but his were by no means the firat temperanic numvitirnis. No far from it, iadeed, the firot tempreanee unvenumints of whwh wo lave any aerount, were made as varly as Intich, by the chuefs of the I'enacook Induans, is which year wi liufl a louinal complaint aganot "capt. Walderne" and "Pefer Coffin" to the" twneral crinit, for "Irading liquors with the lmlian-, licarime that thereloy the Mohawke would take ad vantage of thena when they were or should be drunk, and kil tlum.
C'apt. Richard W'alilron, Javing olvained lieeenwe to locate a "Hifiktig lmufe" nt Promarork, a white man was milled by an Indian in a fit of intusicatıon. These atte chiefs, Tahanto. Paurohctuntre, f"ehaugitn, Sumkrequaanugh, Nobhose, and others, atuonge intur'r matters deppase, "that in or about A juril of May lave up an loture, and julace Engli-hmen in it for tradint, they, the sayd "xarninants went t"ye sayd captain Walderne's house at I'n-enlagultr, und finfrcaled hin not to sewd, or suffer amy tignors to besent to ye saved houce," Tins entreaty having been disegariled, ina-ruw lif a eaptain Waldron ditl subsequently loode four ludsaws whli higeors, "these mayd examinants agayne (ae lify may) weul to then with many more, and fatreated them that they icould send noe more liguors to then, or suffer any to be seut, &r," W'e also find ationg theae same "Penaconke" papers (pabliotheil in the ad volinie of tive follectione of the New Hamp. share Ilisiorical socu-ty) the deposition of John Page, Robb T'aind, Thouns 'Tarliall and Joweph Illond, in relatinn to the imurder before maritioned, wherein they represeat that in "goeing to l'ptunacooke"t they mut some Induars belouging thereto; fuqurired of them "how and whether the Indians were drunk: when the Englisliman was killed, anif they answered all Indinnw were drutukt, or else they had nof hilled Englishman. And firthr' we evidence 'l'a navto, a Sagamore, being afragat that we hod bromeht hignors to sell, desired us if ser had any, that wre mosth porpr it uppion the grownd, for it would make ye Indiams all one Dirill:"

"Tattle Turile (saya the Journal of Commerec) Jrew onme "triking fratures of "whtwkry drinking nmonget bis people. He ponrtrayed the Indian tradiuge in an strong colare an may nove be drawn of the greerry keepers, etripping the poor Indian, who had a wife and rloldren drpenilent an bim, and starving at hoone, thoitg sirippied of his skins, tis gen smil his shirt.""
Hut the argirmouts of Litile T'urtie are all included in the brief and mimpile olyecticui of Tabanto. The effert uf strans drink is the same upon all; it inakes Imath white marf and Indian "all one dirill."

〔N. H. Staterman.

ItaF: OF TIIE EYEA.
From the Bosfon Daity Adrertiser.
The last number of the Biblieal Repository containe a lone and interesting article, writtes by Dr. Fidward Reynolds, of thite eity, entited Hints to students on the Ure of the Eyer. We are prevented, by the Jength of this article, from transferring it to our columbs: thut, as some of the auggestions contanimed in it are at varlance with the notions connmonly entertanted upou the subjeet, it may gratify our readers to kintw the franlts to which the experience of Dr. Aeynotisn has led him, even thace companied by bis full and various iltostruthonm. The fornemt petiod ta marked by an unisual purvalence of dmeases uf the eye; and th is generally belueved, that a studious cosuris: of hife declared by Dr. Heymide to be a mistake; these des notro arice, not from the proper, but the extavagant ure of the orgati; in nther words, from the nbuse of it; in many mstincex, minconscosuely. Ctac of the must comanom and leant murjuceted cansen of weakness of sigit, fo the expmotr if the eye to the trepluent altermatuon uif weak and strong light. In ordur to avond thin, the eye should nuver be expored sudilealy to a stroug light, on be well hilited, as well hy duy as in the rwantug; ant no purson, who devites the evening to atudy, whoulid jrevionsly sit hir any coirnderable theme fll darhones, with the mistahen view of goving rent to lis eyes. In rradhing athd writting, the rye should have that inoderate ilegree of hglit, whrin iuroduces sistinet viston, unattended by any ungleasant se.nsation: the light of the roam should be as equally disbibuted as possible, hut not reflected $n$ ne concentrated. The danger uf expmolle of the eyes to a lighly concentrated light in aluwn by refernue tic iwo cases of incurable blinilnese, in mitiviluale, whe watched the frogass of the late solur erlipat with the unked eye. An resprecta the quantity of light beet atlaphed to evening stidy, Dr. Resuolds recomoments the use of the common A!fand atmly lamp without the dark whade. If any shatle be theal, ons- of otled paper is preferable to the Hrial one $n$ gronad glan, the light pronluced by which is too concentrated. Itwe practice of wearions a wate before the eyes, to reading by candir light, is parnicions, be cause, lyy keeping themill ant unnatural state of diarkness, it ex poses them to the evils arising Irrim the sudden changet imm a weak light th a strong me; but lhom habit is Ires permicinu lisas that of reading and writurg by twitight. Cazang at the menonfor a ennsiderable thite, of at the lightuing, ix hishly injuricous. Rending and writug hy a wite light, slonth alvo tie divolicel; ther falls over the telt whomider, II an obligue dirretion trom atoove, on the brok we sindy table. Anwog the ${ }^{2}$ vil habita ationg from neglect of thene precathotis are slowe af sitting wath that back to the window, and bolding the boak or papar harlion the ey wr, Reynolds aleos olsserves, on the sulyeet of hight, than the brim of the hat, in sumnuer, slanuld be untaxluonatile efrenght to protect the eye from the dinect rays of the thurning sun.
The mornugg is the reasiel of the day when the eyow enn bent endure pevere labmif; but it is unw ive to go immediately from the bed to the atudy table. Much unv of thena ather a foll moal slumild be avoids-d, as well as all latior at' t tudy, wlucti strams the cyes, when the body is th a lieated enudition. The sirall ing of the esex ly artilicial evening ligit ix prraiciuus. Whell the stualent is obligal ta we them much by catalle light, lie should echert such readheg of study, as is not mecerasanly emaneeted with great mintal effirt. Writing, when it in not attended with mueli matlectual exertion, in preferahle tor rading. Among the jurswervatives of ther pight, the enjoyment of 'irer; pure air-dacty and regular encroise-the alrahgemint of the dress sh an hot to inte rlere with tlye treedonu of the circulatinutriet teniperatice-a puper quantity of sleep-umi in mitherent amonnt of use or uction if the cyes-are enumeraten as the most thaportant. Whell the signo of un imptaner use of them are experieberen, thry mbinld be allowed a season of repuse, which is better accomplished by a clange, iliana cesyation of labor. Simple wayhing with the havil inf culd water, is, in ge. Derat, the best means of strengtorniug the pyes. There are sodes prevale-nt lathes numug stithous burn, by which they are very apt tu he imjuret. Ainoug thent, is itse practice of rubitheg them oll awakenlug from slvep-the exposure of them to nirong currents of wind-of realiug when the benly ta in a recumbeni fected by severe disease-of emiloy ing tifnt in the examimntion of very minute ingjecte-if uatag bohacro, whith affeeta the nerve of the vere, as well as ontiser pilla of the nyatem-and of Itabitually wearing green ginser:s, whelt herease the weakness they art: mitendel to relic we. The ura of eye wation should be avondrd, at least of any mronerer thaterewd river water.

There are minue other mubjecta treatell in this articte, anions whith are the kigne which ditprinue the time when the thee of spectacles in attended with advantage, and an examination of the question, whitipr the Grrek aml Hebrew type afficet the eyes injuriousaly, to which wi: have fiont ut presprit thily to at. lude. The ahove im quite an tupserfect akptch of the contenta of the article, but we have thought that, even in this form, a view of it might be ugresable to our renderw.
[Boston I'atriot and Duily adecriser.
"THE W (INDERS OF' THF: HFREI'," witu "rısh кт由aIks," Having no presell juesture of wgent mateer upon ut, we take ni spportunity to eive a litile mure variety to the contenta of our pagrs, and offer a few intereaung artucles concerning the "wonders of the deep."

From the Boston Mercuntite Journal, of July 9.
The carlient arconit of an animal of this general deseription is furnuelied by 1'antornidut, bubbop uf Bergen, in Norway, and auther of an old nutural listory, in the tirst editions of whech is a pretire of the serporit. This givea bin a mane-an appeatance denibitens catised ly lis rapid unotion through the water. He says It lay on the water, when It was calnt; and when it mored jnats af the blick were to be seetl in the line of the head. The colur was dark brown, variegated with hight spits or streake. The aninul appeared ragulaly thany gears oill the manor of Norilland, in July and shagest, where all the ablabitants were fia minharly aequanted with him, though the breforp stoubted the whab: atary tur in long tune. He requrprits the length to have been the Swodhol havy, LHe J'erry, telating to astrake keen by huaz liear Molder, oll a calm hot day in Augusi, 1746. He tired at it, on whirli it inumediately miluk. Obrervirk the water to be med, lie stipured he had wounded it. I'lue larad, he relates, was like that of a borse-and a grayinli color-the mouth was quite bhack and very large, Ife abon mentions the longh thaine. The eyen were black, and lhese were seven or eaghthek foldes about six fiet dintance from one abother. Thas letter was sworn to lneline the Bergen tungistratea.

III IROH. Alden Bradion!, esq. then of Maine, aildressed a tetIer to J. C. Adaths, thon ereretary of the American academy iriusinitting doccunimio to pliew that a large sea serpent had berell seric is and bhout Peubbseot hav. The: acadetny faid them aside, and they lint mpporred it Eilman's Journal, in lean Ohe was a letter thas the rev. Mr. Cubluiliga, of Eullivan, Me. Alated August, 1803 ; aun abether was dated Augunt, 1804. Tbe athanal was seen by Mr. CHombugs, los wife, dauglter, and anather lady, as they weie foll litir passage to belfast, between Cape Roxen tund Lomiz Leland. It was in the month of July; the rat whe calm; there wan very little wind; aut the first appear ance of Hee werpillt was near Long Bland. Mr. ti, supposed bt to lee a larze shoat of tixb, whil a neal at oive end of it; but he "ondired the seat should raise out of the vater so much higher then wand; ax he drew near, thry dhacovered the whole appearance to be one anmal in the form ot a eerfuent. He hod not the horizantat, fut un cracendiag and descondine scrpentine motion. Thas aeconit also refers to the deseription gisen by other petsons of accobit alsor ref

A Irter of March, 1781, frota capmain loitte ofome mavy, to Mr. Ithanfond, kthtes that in Miny, Iito, as be was 9 ying in Bruad rise, a latue serpent coming thow the bay rin the surface of the water. Tlie culter was manbed and atated; he wellt himself It the beat; and when within 100 fott of the serpent, the mariners w cre arduant to fine on thim; latt belore they conld make ready. he plunged intu the watro. Ile was not leess than 45 to So thet tug; the largest stiancifiol his body was supposed in be 15 athe carreet four it five leet cont of water. He wore every appene ance of a hlack anake. Hee was afterwalds puraned, bitt they never came burer to hitm than a quarter uf a mole. A Mr. Joserpli Kept, of Marshlielt, xays raptant Litte, faw a like aninial thati the wam borim of him slosif, of Es's tons. Ife observed lina witlon trour lwilse saril) of the seasel.
The Alechatation of Ehazer Crahtree t, then given, who Iived at Fox Aslami, in the layy of Pembecot, in the gear li>7 and 1788. He hall frepureills hradid a soa unouster frequenting the wathrs Hear the Alurec; and donbtulg the fact, lie went ditwn une day npoll rectomg infurmation from a neighlore, that he wan then il the ner mear lis house. He saw a lage munal in the furn of a suake, lyme almost motrouthos in the water, aboit 500 feet from the baik whiric for wtood. His tmad wan aboit fuur feet aloove the surfince; lie appeared a hundrod tept long; and he supponed hiti to be three fiet in diameter. Many oftier intiabitants, uphits whose veracity he coull deprni, had also deelared to bin that at ohtier tmiex libey hail seen moth ati nuinal.
A letter from "captain Cialite:e" (probalily the anme person as above), waw pultishod in the papmes of 1793, velating to a snoke, alout 60 feet luag, wheh be saw ncar Mt. Desert, in June uf thast year.

In a Iriter of 1817, from the ruv. Mr. Jenke of thim eity to the Ion. Juher Itaviw, he whates. On top anthority of Mr. Cutuminge, that the Rritish saw the anitial in thervopeolutan tor Bagntuce, (New ('astine), anil that vantous other personm at differemt unfes have luelield hin.
III Juare, I8I5, the serianit was aevth uff Piynnuth, Mr. Fin-

 It inte otf, it dimilased at leant obie lithodied feet. It niterwards came nearcr. when it stopped and lay enticily motionh.os wh the surface for five unnuten, "f Hose. The apmillatict was like a *truig if bunys-thirty or forty uf whelh, if about tbe size of a lunith, were exhibited. He was seell by Fonney and uthers nguill жони, after.

III Aughat, 1817, lie froparnily vinjled Glencester. Thowe per*nus, whin naw 60, 70 or 90 fert of lifs hnulit all mention his fomis, rings, bunches of swelly; and one gentleman in partienlar, who saw lim laying stilf, obwerved these bunches very dastiuctly, about oue foot in betght, upon his back. Caph. Tap.
pan, aud two of his erew, on board the l,aurn, of Newburyport naw lis heal witho 30 or in feet, and ilesonbed it with nunute. nose. It was formed like that of a serpent'pi his topgue was thiceat mat, nud appeared about two feet in lewsth; this he rained seve ral thues over tus bead, and then let it tati again; it wan of Tive aye was lake that of an ux, and there appeared to lee a small tones fo over it an each side of this head. 'The atimal dial not appenr tul be disturbed by the vessel, and his antion was much suifter than that ot any whate. He wat certified also to have beeth suen by lieverly, salem and other inariners. A horsemackered wan lakea by a lluaton party, which cant mome redtcele on the belvevers in the real serpent.

Tiue moat distunet aftulavits were inate in 1818, by the most creditable witnerses, of the oppearance of Cape Ann and we anay nime eapectally those publushed in the linllowell tiazette and Advocate.

The Centinel of August 28, 1819, containa a long atatement of A shatar spectacie from Smanuel tiahot, addrensed to col. T. H. Perkine. A letter from Marshall H'tinee to Judge Davis, to the sarne etfeet, also appemred, and another trom the ton. J. 'T. Ausan. Mr. Prince saw lum at Natant. He says: *lliw head appearell about three feet out of water. I countril 13 bunchew on his thark-liny tamily thought there were 16. Ile cronsed threctimes a moderate fath acrows the bay, but so ficet an to wersitin bank in the water. My tamity and $w+1 f$, who whre in a catiage
 As be nwant up the bay, we mal the other mpectatura moved on and kept nearly abreast of bun. I bad geven dixtinct viewnot htun from the iong beach, and nt anme of them the asimal was not more than lou yarfos tostant. On passing the sereond be ach, we were again gratitimd ley thad even what we paw in the ontrei ber of brats in the affing in parxait of lime." The Iivening tia zette furnashed some alditional docmustote authenticated by Mr. Aratiford.
We will add to this history a paragraphs from the Kennehunk Gazette of July, icio: "llife const in outr imunciliate vicinaty has at last recetved a visit from the tar timmed wem ecpent. Ile was geen by thrve inen, who were fi-hing a frw mullex diatant from the sliore, on Thurniay afternesen Int. Two of the men were so much alarised at hie nearness in the boat, that they went below. The ibird, however, Mr. Gooch, a man where statemente ean be relod on, remainsl on sleck and retorneal the glanees of his serpentahijp for a conrideralte leagth of thene. He gives the following account of the interviow: The fish was firme seen $n$ short di=tanen from them, and shortly after he turned atout and cane withan oix feet of the boat, whrn he raised his head about four feet from the whurp, and lowked iltrectly Into the boat, aud wo smanall lir meveral muntes. Mr. (inucti poticed lumattentively, and ttinky lie was sixiy teet in leugth, and ahout six in curcuinfervnee," & $c$.

The reauler will tind futleer detats in Gray and Eowrn" edition of Bulfon. We are free to say that they leave little ilonbt on our own mind nf the exiwtenee of a sea surgent. For the present our belief must be singular. 'The recent additions to the story remain to be diecussed.

From the Roston Centinel of July 9 .

A party if 80 to 100 ladies and gentlenien finharkell gesterday morning in the ateamer Cobinerticut, for the purpose of taking an excatiolion in the lower harbor, with the expectation of getting a viesw of his surpentune majesty. About lis o'clock, When the stearuboat was halr way between Nahmut and the Graves, the moniter was seen approaching. A numither urgentemen took the wnall hoat and mate direcily for It, lont unfortunately did not rutu upon the ammal at was intented, nwIng to a little mismanagetnent in rowing. The serpent caune within an oar's length of the bomi, and withont apprafing at all alarmed or uncasy, took a shatit curve towastm the stemuboat, passed undry her miern withn lify mr wisty licet, and then lis. appeared. We underatand it was the opinion of those in the *matl boat that he might enzily liawe loon strick, but unfortinnately there was no liarpoon on boant. At thie thue his inotion was not undalating na lias onmeliusea beell *tatell, lut inther like the movement of an eel or commion water phake. It has been reported that there have beet thrce or inore of theine strange ereatures seen lately, one of whirh is suppowed io the $t: 50$ feet boug. The nhe sern yesterday, was from 60 in ioteet in length. We would recommend anthe of oup aporting friende whi are akilied in the managemnnt of a whale loont, and nae of the liarpoon, io make an attempt upon the liberry of thia marine monster, and there is hut tittue drubt he inight be taken.
The foregoing necount is furnixhed by a gentleman who was one of the passengers, nind had a gond opportunity to see the serpent from the sinall boat, and whose erplificate is anne red. This statement in its inaterial bearinga io alen cormbonated by overal other gentlemwn with whote ewe loave eonversed, who afforded a mash better opportunity of seetug this etrauge annmal, than haa necurred for yearm, aud it ia not inconsiatent with the whole tenor of the statements that have been male at dif. ferent times hy great numbere of prrana for the la-t fitionen in our watere, it 10 antmittrit on all tomade that the appearance of a marine anımal of thiw aleweription, werathl be will more uxtraordinary, If oo many withresen whould br so groisly deceived, as the otber of these extranordioary difficulties in presented for the belief of the pubilic, and we are of opinion that it would nat require so greas a stietch of credulaty to believe th the existumen if sach ati enermous sea serpent, as to believe that so many perpons coud the me greally decesved. We learn that a gentieman fired at him with a musket from tbe steamer, but without effect. The shot was given befort he had approached so seaf the steanmer ns lie did a few minuten afteswards. The firot thing that nttracted the altentuon of those who were in the teanser, was a peculiar appearance in the water as a distance apposed to be occastoned by a altoal of small fish that he was apparently pursuing. Thiee distinet appearances of this kisd were observed at the sane time alar ott, and the steamer made for one of them, In pursuit of $w$ hich tbe perpent appeared to be. Its thwrefore thicered hy some of the pmesengers that these are three $n f$ the strange animaln, ns has been before stated.
We the inderxigned, passengers on board the steamboat Conneclient, do hereby teatury that we were in the small boat which put ofl Irovu the stemmboat, nad approached within ten feet of a sea monsict, wluch passed undict our bow at a very rapled rate. As near as we can juige from the view we had of him, his head resentiled that of a prekerel. His head only appeared on the eurface; no to the lengtis of it, it is iupowillale to delernuine. The motion whs nut likn that of the porpoise, but reseabled That of a cotumon anake, Henjansin II. Nurten, Janes W. Hale, Willian Tewkabury, JF. Manurit A. Willanas, (imorg W. Proctor, passengers.
'Ihomas I'urcell, Jamea Giatuagall, ocrrmen.
The Nantucket Inquirer, in reference to the late reporte re-

"It the ohject or whjects arell were bit a shoal of porpoises, A regisuent of hurse markersi, or ats Indian tile of swordistb rapidly cucunanvugationg a cettain space inclosing their intended prey, aw is their wont, tien possutbly there may have been upon the pretumpen a quarter of a mite of sea-snake, colled like a ealle, in the ebondotom represented. At all events the newn came mo cridibly attested, that juite an exchtement aftated sonue of our veteran barpuemets-and a proporal to go and take binn. notens volem", was ntarted yesterday with what suceess se lave uot get luartiod. Slosuld the emterpiane be actually andertaken, we manll awon put bus matine majesty in a pickle stimewhat lens congenial to bis feelioge than that of "Hie salt "ea occan."

THE #世A ELEPEANT.
From capt. F'amming's royages, lately published at New F'ork.
Tisese naphuluns animala, nt the pruper spason, couse up out of the sen in varions numbers at a tome, and on reaching the bench, Iny in rown aloug the same, sucli belog what are tecthmeally rallwil rinkeriew, thungli sonue contain many more than athwis. The full aged males alisne have the proboscos, and mome of these are truly enormous animals, varying from twelve to twriny-lour feet in length, and with a proportionate beight and breadith. The fetuaten, at thas wrason, come on whote to shed there coat (an alo aldo the thates) and bring forth their yongs they have generally one, sometimes two, never more at a birth, amil rately, if uver, rven at full age, do they attain over half the svze and diavensions of the maie.
On land, the elephant is a very logry (a sea term, meaning heavy in their movements) abimal, and except among themselves, of lit their own detence, nover make loatile. They are taken for their oil and tonguen, whieh are considered a delicious dish and more lusciuns than yeat's tungue. When first conuing to their faviorite thore, (a sandy or pebly brach) the animal ia exccedinely plump, and very fit, the full grown gencralty yielding about three loaricis of oit; bit in a few weeks it falls away, becomes lank and poor, and by the time to go off comes about, would not give above half that quantity.
III taking the younger, a club if commonly used, and for the old nones, a lance; yet in order to overeome the largent bulls, it is neeeverary to loave a musket londed witli a hrace ot balle; with this, alvancing in front of the animal, to within a few paces, they will rise on the fore legu or flippers; and at the same time the mouth opens widely to send forth one of their loud mars this in the moment to discharge the balls through the roof of the upper jaw inito the braina, whereupon the errature falle forward, enher killect or momelistonned, an to give the sealer sufficient tine to complele ite dastruction with the lance. They are fre quently discovered sleeping. In which cave the muzzle of the prece in lield elowe to the bead, and diecharged lato the brainThe loudent notwn will not awakpn thene animals when sleep Ingi as it is net unusual, though it may appear singular, for the hunter ta go on and shoot onc without awakening those ninagsite of $1 t$, and in thie way proceed through the whole rookery, *hooting and lancing as many as an wanted. The quantity of blond in these animals is really astoniwhing, esceeding, in the opiminn of the ambor, double the quantity format in a thulinek of the eame withat: when killed, the whole thicknewn of the blubber or fat, witb its sken, in cus Into strips of from five to ten Inches in width, accoriling to the animal's size; and thus eut from head to tail, torn from tho carcase and surpatated fonm the Iean ficah, aw then wa-hod clear of the bloed and taken to a muluring talle, where the akin is token off, white the blubber, nfer lu-ing cut into pireess nhotet twn Inclica or lese in size, ia limern into a ketute anid tricd ont: the ofl thes produced beene pit Into casks, the neraps alwnyx furnishing plenty of fuel for he try krule: in new eask after belige filled with the boiling ofl is then warted and coopered, necessarily, from not being fally marunk, requiring tu be flliosl again with the boiling oil, and cren the third thes, if it has not done shrinking after the second filting, whel can rasily be decovered; thim course being particularly allended to, it may flually be eoopered and stowed away it the shop's hold, to be filled ry, hy the hoser, and will remain itt the ship's hold, to be Giled hip hy the hos, and will rewaing tight for the voyage, in all climes, nor require wetting fur any Infigth of time, or line a gill of ofl of stirinkage. This it is pre"whed would be the case an th the casks with sperm or other vib; the anthur is uiso of opinion that withont thin earefol tne. thod, a much greater losa witt take place from leakage than is experienced by this process of shrinking the caxkn with the bmiing oil, oven though the easks are frequenily wet, to do which In a khip'w bold at mea, in any weather, is alwayw an unpleasant jutb, and requires a wat deal oi labor in the mawa elephant, a quantity of gravel or anad is generally found.

THE SWORD FISH.

From the Nanturket Inquirer.
It is not commonily known by dwellers in metropolitan cities and other remote regions, that the awordfish, the natural cnemy of the witale, is ofter taken in tha vieinity, and that liw flexh is held in such great chtumation by phecivorous epteures, that it alway) commands a higli price in sue hish market. To those who delight in devoiriog the inlabitants of the decp, a slice of this furmulable mea-warrior atiords a meal of great delicacy. In plape, the swordfisin is nearly cylindrieal, handsomply tapering from the luead downwatds, and terminatiog in $n$ witle scouloped laul, in whelh, as in samson's hair, liea its elifef strenigth. It has a hlack and shintig skin, wuhout scales, smmlur to that of the apermaceti whale. They nre commonly from 10 to 15 feet in length, wrighng from su0 to 500 lbe. The sword, as it is calied, or bone, projecting horizontaliy from the head, is the principal instrument whels it employs, nither as a weapon of attack, or as a muans of procuring food. This "sword" ba ex. tremely hard, with a tough, grating surface, some 4 to 6 feet long, 5 or 6 melies wide, two-enged, and through the centri about two inches in thicktrexs. This weapon scems to auswer the purpose of the swordfish, na cleverly as the trunk of the el ephant subserves the cunvenience of that angacious animal. lustances are quite common, of whales being found wounded on the under sinle, douhtless hy this invtrment; and whale shipe have frequently been attarked in like manuer. We have seen a plank taken from the botton of a whaler, through which the sword of one of these fisli hail petictrated, lenving hearly a font inside the vessel), and twice that lenath ontside. Tinable to withdraw it, the weapmo of courae became forfeit, and the head of the adventurous assailant numt have experienced mneh pain in parting with it-for it was found broken ofr near ite jonetion with the skull. So tughtly did it remain in the wood, that no perceptible leak occurral in consequence, though the ship mon-t plizh. From tha fact, an idea may be formed olf the tremen dous force exprted by the swordfixh, by means of his perulinrly linmed tail, when ascending in a perpendicular direction through the water.
of the liabits of this fish, very little has hither to been known. An experimenced fiwherman lias lately shated to an some facta in the premisem, with which we were muchinterested. They live upon marketcl, of any umaller fish which swiun in monis-nb taining their prey in a most angazar manner. Commeneing they take a wide circuit, gradually lessening the periphery of their circumbavigation, and incruaring their ppeed, until the numerous objects of their appetite are huddled into a close mass-when the purnuer boits for the centre, sinking a inoment, then eoming up swifly, sword nift, and commonly trans. fixing thres or four victius. Some species of whater, we beliese, are in the hatit of surrounding thenr prey in the pame manner. Aftry the awordfish has arecured one or more of the maller fry, in the mose above related, lie may be aeen with him bead partiy above water, Ieisurely thrasking bis prize about, as it were in play, until the vietim in torn in pueces, when, and not before, lie actik about devouring it secundum artem. In almosi every other respect the tish appeara to evince but very little $\# \mathrm{~A}$ gacity. It mupt indeed be a athpid exploit to atiek one's horn through a ship's bottonn, withumt the power of extraction-and the sluggish indifierence with which they regard the harpoons and lancex employed againtt their own livex-nften conning an it were voluntarily, to jecrive a pecond or third womnd, inatend of going off at full speed to the ends of the eatth, argues no nort of diseretion.
When theae fiah are brought to market, they are cut ints transverke alices, of the ordinary thirkness of a beefateak-ant cookel after any of the divers fashions applicable to any other fish. There in lenm bone in the body of the awordfimb that in the mallibut-the back bone, or rather eentre bonc running through without branches or ribs, from stem to stern, like the wick of a candie. Their eyes are much larger than those of the largest whales. W'e have scen them, whrn atripped of the external coat, big cuoush io fill a tea cup. When first taken from the head, they may be made to anewer the purpose of a powerfut burning glass. With a awordfixh's eye we owce met fire to a cigar In lems than half the time umally reqnired to perform that operation by means of a conumon glass letis,

One of theac gigantic warriors of the drep whe eaptured on Saturday last, on the wonth whore of ont iwland, in a manner somewhat remarkable. Ile liad pmohbly given chave to mome atraggling bluefish or scuppang (pauggy, as the New Yorkers call them) which institactively fled towardia thond water, where tire purmer got aground; wben the puri rolted hiw further up the etrund, sinbjectung lity head and fins to exposing in another element. In that pituation lie was dincovered by two lemades in a catash from thasernizet. It certathly ryyured aome nerve to athek a monater of IW- dimensiona, gravelimg and fioundering just withu lis native irinci and the elder of tire two felt rather disinclined to engage in such pport. Hut the younger went manfully to the aciatcli, athd her compation followed. They tonk lum by the horn, and by the dorrat-het he womldn't stay taken, in that ignnhie atyle. At length, after tugging and ptruggling for halt an hour-the thmiling bilows the onty witnessen, to me fair play, and clear the ring-aill the partien being alternately half in and liaff out of water-the amplintiots conibat terminated in favor of the awsalantip. Ewotdiuh had univeklly grit canted sidewiac, just an one of his antagonisis was advising an abatudoninent of the loatte ground; hit the younger of the fair annazons, vowed she'd ent liss throat firet-and seizing this anmpacions troment, whe plunged into has goliet the deadly wea-pon-her scissors! It whe all she coald do for the glory of the cunquered! So lensing him with an awful gnals in the thorax, writhing apon the beach, the vietorn truiged lialf a mile to the nearest farm house, where they procured thore effective implements, and retbrnilg, tioi-hett their work, hy dereaptating the prostrate wea-dragonf, cbopyting tum ithto poliable mections, and seblitur about half "the spoils"一"pwards of two hovised weight-10 market. When the wonu-n first told the story of their having taken this prize, they were asked it they folt thite that the fish was mit aiready drad when discovered? ©ne of them replicil. "I guess you wouldn't ha' thooght no, if you'd ha" seen the sand ny." "Well," adiled the inquirer, "none would have attempted to secure so huge a subjeet, with just such a weapon, except a woman, or an edifor."

MEHFMFT AI.I AND HIS gON.
It is natural to the human ctin racter that a desire should exiat to becume acquanted with the perminal litetory, habuts, and dobictic affars of those who have bern instrumental in aclieving great eventa. To gratify that curiosity, we auhjouth two atticless from British proudicals of the last month- the firat relating to lbalim paeha, the comqueror of Syrm, from the New Montily, and the other, devcrilang the amisements of his reputed lather, Mohammed (or Al-hemet) Al, pacha of kigypt. They are written with epirit and ekgace, and we presume with fidelity:

AMEREMENT* OY THE PACHA OV EQYPT.

> "Satha un p-lut brike d'atoont, On s"ennum tmeme a In canr.",

The appropelf to the ancirnt city of tiraud Cairo im enchanting; contrasted with the harrell shinds of Alexandria, it appeare a tiritertital 1 naradise, and the rye of the traveller rests with delight on the hrosad majeentie lills, itm verdant fields, and their groves of graceful palms anl yycatioren.
The city itwelf is a most tusw rable place, and althongh containing a popmilation of three hundred thousanul souls, does not prisar"x a simgle street that in Fiurnpe would be deemed worthy of that apporlattoun. Most ot the public buildings, and even some mosques of great magnificence arr situated in mere danes, while the dirt and rubbiwh with which they are enenmbered render walking atmost ithposilile. What mont surprise the Fiwopean at Courn are the singniar rontrasts it every moment presents to his view, nnd the opposition in the manners, conturues, Earh and complesion of the imhalsitants to cvery thing simblar in hia own comitry.
The pacha residea in the eitallel. The now palace that he bas construeted is tunquestiwnaty the mont aplendiad in the Turkish empire; its internal decerrations combine the magnificence of the cant with the rlassical tave of the west-the talrnts of some of the first artistes from both quarters having been employed in its enibellishment.
The only oljecte worth secing in the vieinity of Cairo, thongh very ditferent in their nature, are-|ft, The ancient st-pulchres of the callphas, which by good judges are considered an the pareat apecimens of Baracenic architecture; their elegant domes pecring above the gzoves of cyprewses, and gititering in the sun, produce a inngieal eflict. 2ndl, The shatira, the favorite palace of Mohammed Alt, nbout three miles from C'airo, on the banka of the Nile. The palaee itecifis small, but the gardens are vast and inagnificent. In the milddle of an orange grove fa a kiosque, one of the moat clegant and fantastic creations that, even in the enst, the eyc can light on. Ascendine hy a magnifieent flight of marbie stepa, yon enter a beautiful portion; when this portien ia past a beantiful quadrangular colonnade of white marble is dis. covered, surrounding a piece of water upon which there are two or three barges. gilderd in the most cosily manner, and attached by wilken caliles to the columns. A highly ornamenteil halustrade surrounds the whole, from which several fightia of steps lead down to the water, gunided by statura of crocodiles, of colossal timenmions. Off litis molonnade are several splendid apactments, the entrance to whirh is roncealed by purple curtains of wilk and ${ }^{\text {mold }}$, that heantifnily contrast with the dazzling whiteness of tive marble columis.

It is here that the malia comea to repoese from the tolls of the divan, and to recreate nomong liw womien. Ilappy the Cireassians who are adonitted to the kiownue-it is considered as the highert mark of fivor that their haughty mater ean show them. wator, and, on reaching the middle lie upsets the bark, lightly clad in a calicocaftan and a juba. He han no difficulty in rraching the colonate by swimulug, where lie thruws binnetion a heap of luxurnous cusbitions spiead fior lus receptiun, and con. semplates the sceue with an sir of mock gravity, whinle the black eunuchs are seen preciputatuz thecuselves from the baluntrade into the water, to resc ue the lialt drownud Odatiske.
How atrebly in claracter wath 'Turkislt barbarity is this cruel diversion of tie pacha's! Minhathusil's vatguew, it wouht aplpear, are, after all, but merely muperilcial, for if we penetrate then polistied exterior, we discaver a core of unleavened barbarisill. Lake all lus evoutry men, he touhs upon the loveliest part of the creatuon as the mere mastrunents of liss brutal jileathas world to pleaso lomu by thear beauty, and to gratity lias caprice.
What a fine aubyect fur a picture in the liands of a ekilful mang the gas-ry surlace of the wawe, for tracue the terntied C'ir deety sceke to conceral; winle the hatighty pailoa be zeen on lis luxunant couch, fra-ling the cyes on their hati-naked charnan, and enjuy mather ensen.

The court of liaypt fully realiven the vivid diseriptinu af oriental grandeur mil magnnies nee thitt we read of in the eavtert Harnun Alrachad. The Nublan gharil, monnted of brathtul Whinte Arabian botses-thoir pplemdid diess of mewhet and geldand thetr Jet hlaw'h and glosny shius; the crow ds of public functionaries and pages in theror rich costhtury; the pige beareas, with the gildad mppurtenateres of their ollice, present an cusem ble of urnental and peturnyme cthret that dazates the hamamiation. Muhamunt dis is beth cototly and magnoticent in lin has. bits; the is fond of time and relily capmontred honser, and of Jofty dromedaroces, and the spares nu caperioe to grathly hid havor. tie taste.
"The court is nover ku brilliant ad during the fea-t of the Beiram, whell the pachas relures to the minaluna, and shate himes-if up amenz lins favorite women. At that thte, the tharturnas are briltantly thmonatied, the colonmade filleal with the pocha's versmeg and exammuz theor coostly arms. At malh, whon the moon rises, silverting with her tayd the glozay rullace of the tuoun zyr an the element ktill warm Irant the elarmas of the beautifal Circasoans; while the bereze from the: Ale wathe the strams of pacha. Therelfect uf ondi a scene is more hit chatheter with the legrmis of tairy land and rounate than with the suber rea litues of the naturatit contury.

Toultan a clear view of contemporary livetory is always difficult, but the future linturith will ung|nenthumably rank Mintant has shown, that in the hand of the skillat prolinicuan the mont ditferent meath may br appled to the same rindw. In Eieypo, a studud ager regation uf eviry abuse that cam trul th dowohne: mul oppresn, tol treak the sprit of a nation, to danplitu indu-try, lind for centaries broll in thll uperation. The doficultues he has hat to overcouse were Humconc, anf his labor, lave evinceal the potver of a ningle mond in overconning ob-tacles, which intlesibly applied to the purailit of a sillgle otiject.
Wiren we were at Carro, innuegra wete at work conalructing a carriage ruad briween that chy and Alexamilna, and, since our return to Fingland, we underxlaud that a dhigrnee, on the plan of the Amencan stage coaclues, has already been kent out, lor the purguse of runniag loptweril the I wn ritive. But the inast impurtant feature olt tlum history of Molaminned's caiper is the Jaturn of two Ehglish enginerts, who, by berng have discivered water in several places of the unsent. T'lue absence of this elemult in thome thinrnee regions liaw been the grenteat barrier to the civilization in Afriea, and dorectly proven how chircect wern the conjectures of many learned antuquarians, that the ancienta were acquainted with the urt of procarlug thas necenrary eicment. Indeed, it wonld be diffeult to aecount otherwise fot the innurnse and magnificent ruins that ntrike lite eye of the traveller, il various potnts where, at the present day, no water exista.
The juerano of Mulammand Ali is iuposing-a dark piercing eye, a clear marble uriental complexiun, a long white heard that imparte a patraareloal air to his whole exterior, and a benignant gise that lie in bukmen an maf, who eoureale the mot prufound tu purate bis rimis, llexthlity to vary lise nurans, and the art of colornug lis nwin ankitum with the tumst speremax pretences of jo-tice and pablic uthlity. But it tuhat be recolleeled that Mo hannural is a 'Tark, hat we onelt th neasurs him by the standard of his owa cmutry, ere we tuo hastily form an crroneous estimate of lis character.

While Eurnpar riugs whin the husury of civil clange, we liave only t" ca-t bur cyur to muntluer quarter of the glolse to wioness the progreen of evints mually mighty, thongh by no meatis leas new. Ilabitim pacha lons couquered all Syria, and is marching unfetisted through the peninsula of Asia. By the last advices the city of Konielt, within two hundred and any miles of the Lituous capital of the 'I'urkish empiru, had opened It gates to him, and E:uropet is prepared for what a year ago weuld bave licen considered the lucridible event of the Eigyptians marching triunjphant nota Constanubiople, Nearly half a century has passed stuce the rise of the Wababees in Arabia threatened the destruchion of the Mahommedan faith. These bolil, perliaps plulosoplac, vularies of a sublime ereed, declared for the milly of the lindhead, and against the authebtieity of the prophet. They plundered the great caravan of Meeca-they captured the prous Iladuets-thry defeated the lieutenants of the sultan, who endeavored to vimicate the united interests of thogmin and connmetece. For a lohg perind the authonty of the sultan, was ilornabit in Arabia and Syria; Egypt was Urreateped, mud the treanary of stambeul slifank under tite inhluence of the vietoriuns lietetics. At hought tha kame Ibralam, aou of the Figypuan viecroy, offired lint servoces to rexist the torrent. At the bowd af an irrmizilar force lie penemated tuto the midst of Aralua, delisured the lohls citirn, defeated the Whabees eves in their own conntry, and funlly, after having granted peace on the most suvere terini, cationd theif pathers as liossagen to Cairo. F'ur these acrvice !brahim was minde pacha if Mecea and Me-dina-un appoutinetu which, lu the Otoman empire, gives him frreedence betore all othor pachas, eveu lise own father.
Alter the congurst of the Wahabees, Ibrahim conumenced the formation in Eisypt of a regnlar army, disciplumed th the Furoproin manuer; uni by engaginz the mant sktfut naval arelitect ifou Toulon, land the toundation of the present very considerable naval fince of Esypt. Utterly disconfittell in Greece, the tu his Figy ptuan vassal. Imi-$\qquad$ , tuo the Morea at the thead of lina army, and sम!pulat. ley a powerful thect; and puch was him progreve, that ntithing but the linnoup treaty of London nad His culturfluencry-the battie of Navarino-could have prevented Cirecce fromugan bcominz a shaseman privince. We have treen assurinl, however, by the highent authorits, that it was not the intenhon of Ibrahim th have rentored the Morea to the sntthan. The nvirtluaw of the lig! pilans by the allied poweranaly -titumlated the exertious of Ibraition on his retura to lits country. In the coufinaut of the jmitic, lie appropriatrd to linaself both Candia anl t'yprus, the finses, is ands of the Mediterrasean. In the anhitum of 1 Nil, the E Eypthan army consisted of vincty thumsund dineigline it Infautry, jeiliaps not inferior to she Se(m) = and ten Chonwanil rogular cavalry. All the world who kurw any thang about D:3 pt, ridiculed the unthrifty vanity of the pacha, and laughed at the Imbicriua disproportion beiween onch a mulitury force and the prophlatiou and resources of Faxpt. By the tatumin of IS32, lmwerer, Jopatum loas conquered alf Syrta, and aluntas the whole of Axta Minor, and is nearer Coustantmuplo timin the: Rusiaus. Ihralunt pacha, therefore, is a greas mant. Il e ts the great conqurrer of his age.
Hov is willuat douht a man of remarkalute talents. Lis mibd is mitike aultule and en'rgesic. He is totally fiee from prejudiee, ahlopta your tidras with whent rapidity, and lins career demonstratus hia mulitury genius. His anibitiontis unlonnded; hus admirathon of Lurupean instuntions and civilization great; but be avails, with dexternty, whocking the feetinga and prejudices of the Mn=elunal. A mystery inngen over his hith-he is savd un be inly an allopted son of the presint pacha uf Eeypt, bul thes in dotobtinl; at nuy rati, the uthust confidence prevaifs between Ibrahim and lus professed father. T'lue pucha of the tholy cities is a great voluptualy; his ittiulgence, indeed, in every specien of eensuality te unthounded. Atthough searcely in the prime nf lilic, lis groas mid limineuse bulk promises but a sloort term of exi-tence, and ludicates a man minking under overwhelaming dixpans, and incapnble of exertion. His bathit are sumptuous: he ileligtits in maznitiernt palaces and fanclinl eardens, and is eurions in the number and beauty of hia l'ireassanns; but hin manners are perfectly Eurippan. He is constaatly in pubtie, and courts the conversation of all lagenions strangers. Hie chief councillor in Osmau Bry, a reneprade Frenchman, and an able man. Lesem than twenty yeank ago, Ibrahlin pacha passed the days in mhtime nt a window of lias palace with a German rifte, and fired at the lidoated skias horne on the hacks of the water carriers as thoy peturned trom the Nile. As lhrabitm in an adimirable inarksman, the usual effect of his exertions was in general only to deprive the puor water carriers of the frutes of their ilaty labor: nometimes, however, his bullet brought blond, insicad of the more Innocent Ilquid-hui Egypt was then a dempatic conitry. It is not so now. It is not known among ue, that that the old pacha of Eaypt and hls srin, in their rage for Eomppan instititions, have artually presented their anbject With "the two claanibers," called in the language of the deevan the "Alto Partiamento" and "Basso Partiamenio." These assembliea mept at Cairn; and have heen formed hy the govemor of every town seuduz up to the capital, by the oriler of the pacha, two gond and dixcreet men to assist in the adminintratou of affairs. The menibers of the "stlo Parliamento" have the puwer of discussing all mennilires; but thosen of the "Basso Parliamento" are permitted only to petition. Their highnosens pay very litile practical attention to the debaters or the pettion ern, but alwnys trenl tiem with great courtesy. Vet they are very proud, (eaperially the elder paclia), of these lnstitutione; a ad the witer of this article has heard Mehemet Ali more than onere bonst that "lie has ns many parliamenta an the king of Fingland." In the nupan othite these exliaordinary eventa liave wrubath singular revolutions in manuer Turkish ambassador in England.

MARCO POLO, jt.

00. 1 card. The editor yet remains absint from home -but expects to resume his duties at the lesk early next week-with a renewed power and ant increased athitity to perform them more uceeptahly; and white asking the indulgenec of his friends for the present relaxation, which seemen necessary to the contmuance of his health, he hopes, by preater excrtion, to merit the kimhesses conferred upon him. He las seell and heard much which, being profitable to himself, may, perhaps, be rendered useful to others.

chulens.

Kentucky, Indiuna, Illinois and Missonri were still afficted, though the cholera was abating. In Ohio this disease still contimes; in $\times 1 \cdot \mathrm{mbns}$ it hat nearly disalipeared, Uicre hall been .- neaths by it there, iniclading thore in the penitentinry. In Fmy on, Chillicothe, New Richmond and Ripley occasional cases uceur. The number of deaths from it at Cineinnati from May 1, to Aue gust 7 , was 307 . The deaths thring the week immediately preceding the hatter date had deereased more then 50 per cent.
The mayor of Charlestown, Va. officially announces there had been seven leaths between the 9 h and 13th justant, aml adds there had been no new ease reported for the twenty-four hours preceding the last named date.

Four cases anv reported to have occurred at Harper's Ferry, and four leaths in Hagerstown of a disease rescinbling cholera, three whites anul one colored person. The Torchlight adhls the town is blessed with unnsual goon lealth for the season.

The Fredericktown Herald, states that a man from the line of the canal enterell that eity on the 2tst instant, affeeted with the premonitory symptoms, and while passing through the streets became quite ill, was remoreal bey out the limits of the city, humanely nttended by the physicians, is now ont of danger annl will recover. The editor affirms that the city is quite lsealthy, and that no ease of cholera has originated there.

The official report of the sleaths by cholera in Lexington, (Ky.) prepared by order of the common council, from the 1 st of June to the 1 st August, is as follows: whites 252 ; slaves 174 ; free blacks 48 -T'otal 502 . This is an awful mortality.

Electioss. Members of cougress elect, in Tennessee. John Blair, Samuel Bunch, ${ }^{\text {© Luke Lea, }}$ "James Standifer, Joln, H. Forwester, ${ }^{\text {a }}$ Bailie Peyton, ${ }^{}$ John Bell , David W. Diekinson," James K. Polk, Wm. M. Inge, Care Johnson, David Crockelt, Wm. C. Dinlap.*

Those markell thus, - new nembers.
North Carolina. It the remaining listrict of this state, James Graham has heen elected in place of its late representative, Samerel P. Carson.

Indiana. The following gentlemen, says the Indiana Jomrnal, are supposed to be electel: Rauliff Boon, John Ca:r, Anos Lane, Edward A. Hannegan and George I. Kinnarcl.

K'entucky. The returns come in so slowly fiom this state, thut we cannot give the result with any thing like certainty. It appears, however, that Roberi P. IEtcher, national fepmblicun, lias beaten his oppount, тиј. T. P. Moore, Jacksonian, by a small majotity, whil that Mr. Pope, Jaeksonian, in the Louisville ilistriet, has been elected over Mr. H. Crittenden, pational repuhlican, hy a majority of 8 votes. Mr. Bosid is said to have sneceerf. ell over Mir. Iyon, late memher-both Jacksonians. Mr. Hawes is said to have been re-elcered, as also julge. 'Tompkins; unl ivport also says that Martin Beatiry atid Benjamin llardin, both natiumal republicans, lave been elected. In the Monnt Sterling district, Jnmes Lowe insteal of doln" White, as stated in our last, is clected by a small majority-hoth national republicans.
VUL. XLIV-Sig. 28.

Finevin' trial-conclumen. To the editors of the Philadetphia Gazette. Trenton, Thuraday evening, -hugust 15. The case which has oceupied the court of appeals thring the last month, is now closed. With this, we send you the opinion, which was recorded in short hand, as detivered by goverwor Seely.
Alessrs. Wool, Green, Bourd, Mclowell, Clark, Merkle, and the governor voted, affirming, nud Clawson, Holnies, Campion anil Townsend, resersing the opinion of Julges Ewing and Drake. Very respectfully yours, &c.

Opinion. The case of Ilendrickson, vs. Shotwell, the court have hal under advisement, and being fully a ware of its great importance, it has given it a very elose and laborious inrestigation, both in relation to the law and testimony applicable to the case.
I am authorised to anmounce as the opinion of a majority of the m-mburs of the conrt, that the decree of the comit of clanneery, ill this case, lee affirmed, without the payment of costs.
The court weuld most earnestly recommend to the partics interesten, to make a specelly and amicable adjustment of all lispmites and diffieulties. I have always regretted to find religious controversics brought into courts of justice; it has a inmoralising efficet upon society, is a stumbling block to the unconserted, and a source of joy and rejnicing to the infintel. It is theretore sincerely desireal by all good men, that no effort will be spared by this society to effeet a speedy enmpromise of their diapotes, on stech just and equitable primeiples, as shalt prove them to be influenced by the light within, operating on sineere aud honest licarts.

New Yonk ccatom hovse. We copy the following from the Daily Advertiser:
Extract of a letter from the secretary of the treasury, datel! Hashington, 7th Hug. 1833.
"It is the duty of the government to see that all those who have business at the eustom house, shall have their aftiirs promptly attended to. The government has tho power und the inelination to employ and liberally compensate all ugents necessary for the public serviee; consequently, if those who have business at the custom house are obliged to give private pay to custom house officers, it must be because there are not officers adequate to the duty, or, because, if numerous enough, they do not purform their duty. I respectfully request you, theretore, to make known to every officer and clerk in the public employnent in your castom house, that the praetice of rececining, from inerchants or others, compensation for services of any kind, is ntterly condemnerf; and, that no person who shall accept private compensation, shall be retaincd in serviee afier proof of the taet.
"I neal not chamerate the evils likrly to resule from a continnalace of the pructice to which you refer, If a merehant cannot get his hasiness transueted as it should be, it must be the fault of the government; if he has to pay a public elork, he has a jost eause of complaint against he government; and a strong temptation is held out to public ayents to ereate delay and difficulty, in oroler to coerve in fucrehant into the paymem of private fees. One abose of this kind will lead io others; and at last there will be a laxity of inoral feeling utterly inconsistent with the character of the conntry, and the honor of ita goveroment. It is altogether a mistake that the rceeipt oí prisute comprensation is, as one of your afficers snfpiposes, a private affinir between the officer and the merchant; and I eonsider it my sluty the more strongly to say this, as that jentleman is attached to the cuatom house. As the head of the most inportant establishment in the country, 1 look to you for all the ail that may be requisite, to put an end to a practice which no time or authority, according to my notions, sanction or justify. I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
"W. J. Drant, aecr'y of treasury.
"Samuel Smarfwout, esq. collector of Veav York."
War againet ofr menchants. A greater excitement than that now existing among the merchants and eommereial men of this eity, in referemee to the proceedings of the custom house against the cargo of the ship Globe has probably never been knowil. The ease is not regarded as afficeting the interests of a few ulone, but as bearing upon the rights of every nocrelsant and every shipper in Philatelphiia. If the proceenling of the surveyor of this port, is sustained in this instance, it may be sustained in others, annl a system of enpionage anal surveillance will be established, among our reppectable and intelligent merchants, disgracefil to any conamunity. A public meeting of shippers and others, to express their decided indignation, annl to enter their protest against the course pursineal by the surveyors, is in contenoplation.

The result of the conference between the surveyor and the consignees of the filobe, has been cutirely unsatisfactory to the latter. The surveyor was asked whether he had received any information implicating the manifests of the ship. He repliral in the aftirmative. He was desircal to neention whether the suspicion rested upon any particular invoice, or thpon the whole cargo-to which he replied that it rested upon the whole freight. He was then requested as an aet of justice to the cousignees, and to ensable them to detect the suithors of the fabrication, to give the source whence his information had been received, but he refused to give any information on the subject?'

Notwithstaniling this want of courtesy, the two prineipal shippers, immediately gave their consent that the boxes sliould be opened aul examined, hy the ouston honse officers, and they offered to pay the expenses of freighting their part of the eargo to anil from the custom hoase, as well as the cost of opening the packiges, that the tea and boxes might not be injured hy boriugs. The sanue sakrifice would no doubt have been made by all the consignees, but the temier was refiseal, the surveyor deelaritg that be shoulst insist upon the boring system. The consignees then proposed, with a view of mitigating the damage consequent upon boring, that a certain number of boxes to be selected by the inspectors, shoulht be taken from each invoice, and bored. This too wore refuzed!'

There being no possible way of satisfying the scruples of the surveyor, which had arisen, we doubt not, from misapprehenaion, the discharging of the cargo lasis been recommenced, as the ship easinot be detaised. The loss to the eonsiguees will be at least twenty per cent. from the injury received from the teas and boxes, from the boring instruments of the inspectors. A large purchaser has already refused to receive his invoice, and the consignees will be obliged to dispose of it at depreeiated prices.

To show the extent of damage likely to be sustained, we may mention that one of the boring agents was yesterday discovered making an openiug with lis anger, in a box of Chinese embroidered shawls, which he had mistaken for a tea chest.

In consequence of the proceedings detailed above, the sale of the cargo of the Globe, has been postponed one week.
[Philudelphia Gazette.
Thz West Ixma trabk The Wiscasset Yankee, gives the following statements as to the operation of the siegotiation effected hy Mr. MeLane, under the instructions of Mr. Van Buren.
"No soouer were the British vessels permitted to take cotton from our ports, than the British government clanged the old duty of 5 per cent. all valorem, to a sprecific duty of five-cightlis of a peuny per punnd; and at the same time entton freights from the provinces paid but one twenty -fifth of a penny per pouml. This any Brilish ships may sail from any of our ports wibls a cotton freight, and merely touel at Halifax, Bermuda, or any convenient place in the provinces, and pay but one twentyfifth of a peony on her cotton; while Armerican freights must pay five-eighths of a penny. It is elear then that the British vessel has nearly three-fiftis of a penny per poind adrantage over the Imerican."

Notice tu prabisheas of NEwsfaptas. Port office, New Fork, Augus 15,1833 . The following cinzelar was received this day from the post office departmenf, ${ }^{2}$ and in couformity with the instructions therein contained, the postage will in future be required upon all papers sent in the British provinces, unless paid at the United States post office on the frontier.

> Santel. L. Goctennxen, P. M. cinculat.
Post nfice department, northern division, .7ug, 15, 1833 .
Sir: It being conmaniented to the repartuent that the post nasters in British North Ameriea losve been instruetal not to eollect, nor be accomntable to this department firr ohe Cibited Stases postage on new spapers sent by mails from the I'nited States into the Brisish jrovincen, it becomes neecsnary to require that payment of such postage be malle in the Uinited States. You will, therelore, inform the publishers of newspapers, sending from sonr office to subscribers in the British provinces that it will be necessary to pay the postage in advance at your office, or canse it to be paid at the United States post nffice on the frontier, which despatches sneh papers across the line, otherwise they will be thetainerl at said frontiez oflice. I ans, respectfully, your obenlient servant,
A. Nelsox,

For the past master genernl.
To Sam'l L. Gowverneur, eaq. P. M. Nivo Yirk, N: Y.
State niants. The following letter was addrested by the IIon. Nathauiel Macon, late &!. S. senator, to Samuel P. Carson, esq. of North Carolina:
"Buck Spring, 9th Feb. 1833.
"Sir: I have received your lifter of the 2th ultimo. There can be no doulte that the U. S. are in a deplorable situation, and that the publication of the opinion you desire wonld be useless. It has never been a seeret, and always stated to those who wanted to know it. In the sear 1894 the constitution was luried in the senate-the senators who were then present, will, it is believed, recollect the fact-and never afterwards gnoted by me while 1 continned in the senate. The opinions of gen. Washington, Mr. Jefferson and gov. Clinton are known but got respected. I lave never believerl a state could nullify and remain in the union, but have always believed that a state might secede when she pleased, provided she would pay her proportion of the public debt, and this right I have considered the best guard to public liberty and to public justice that eould be desired, and it ought to have prevented what is now felt in the south-oppression.
"The proclamation eontains prineiples as contrary to what was the constitution as nullification. It is the great error of the administration, which, exeept that, has been satiafactory in a high degree, to the people who eleeted the president. When confederacics begin to fight, liberty is soon lost, and the government as soon changed. A government of mpinion, established by sovercign states, for special purposes, cannot be maintained by foree. The use of force makes enemiss, and enemie: cannot live in peaee under such a government.
"The ease of South Carolina is as different from that of Pennsylvania as any two cases can be. In 1816 the system that now nppresscs the south was begun. It was then opposed. In 1824 the constitution wat buried. Senators who were then in the senate, will no doubt re-rolleet-(Repetition-old age will show)-Time to quit Yours, very truly, Nata'z. Macoz."

A chotce sit. The following is part of an oration delivered recemly in South (inrolina, by Thomas Garmes It is a beautiful extract, and we commend it to the attention of our readers. Mr. Cirimke is extensively known, and wherever lie is known he is esteemed.
[U. S. Gaz.
Our enuntuy! Our whole country! How affecting are the ties which hind us to thee; bow venerable is thy claim to our faithful services, to our purest affeetions! What indeed is our country, hut a paremb by obligations the most sacrell and sublime; by associations the most delicate and enmprehensive; by prospects the most animating and delighiful! In our American creed, what article thr'in is of higher authority, of decper intereat, of more emluring salue, than the precrpt, which commands us to reverense and love our country? Are we bound to father and Fiother hy relations, which God limself has ordained "m enforect! So are we to our country. Are we bound to our paremts by all the sanctions of eivil society, coeval with its origin, expanding in its progress, and destiued to endure while social lite shall last? So are we to our country. Are we hotund to our father anil mother by all those natural affections, which make them the most venerable of human beings, and home, the happiest spot upon earth? So are we to our eountry. The parents, whont nature has given us, die, and are laid in the earth, by the hamels of their chilelren; but our father-land protects us in life amil hallows our graves. Our parent country still survives her chililren. She is immortal. Shall we not, then, in the spirit of gratitude, reverence and love, engrave on our hearts some maxim, not less beautiful it its moral, if we regard our duty, than eminent for its wisdom and truth, if we consult only our interest? Anll where ahall we find a preeept more venerable for its antiquity, more commanding in authority, than the inseription on the tahle of stone? "Honor thy father and thy mother, that lly davs may be long in thie land which the Lord thy God giveth thee." Our country is indeed a father, to be revereneed in the nuthority which commands our obedience; and a mother, to be loved with all the enthusiasm of gratituale and affiction. No voice from heaven has indeed proclaimed, amidst the thunders, and lightnings, and clouds of another Sinai, "honor thy enuntry, that thy ulays may be long in the land which the Lord thy Giod giveth thee." No miraculous hand writing has denounced against us, the sentence of testruction for unfaithfulness to lier commanils, for liypocrisy in our affeetions. No prophiet or apostle has recordent with the pen of inspired truth anal by ilivine authority, "thy eountry is thy parent-by all that is most solemn and binding in duty, by all that is most eloquent and holy in love." But the voice of nature amil the testumony of all experience; the brightest and the darkest pages of history; the wislom of plulosophy, the ereergy of eloquence, and the enthus่asm of poetry, all, all attest the truth, ""hy country ia thy parent."

Excenpts. Opinions on secession, &c. In a letter to Mr. Cartington, in 1787, Mr. Jerrerson shid-"Where two parties make a eompact, there results to cach a power of compelling the other to execute it. Compulsion was never so easy as in our ease, when a single frigute would soon levy on the eommerce of any state, the deficiency of its contribution."
In 1811, Mr. Jefrenaon said, in a letter to Mr. Tracy, "That ecrtain states, from local and oceasional disconteuts, might attempt to secede from the mion; but it is not probabie that local diseontents rat spreal to such an extent, as to he able to face the sounil parts of so extensive an union."
The editor of the Riehmond Enquirer, 1814, held the following opinions:
"No man, no association of men, no state, or set of states, has this right to withdraw itsilf from the union of its own aceord. The same power that knit as together, ean only unknit. The same formality that forged the links of the union is neeessary to dissolve it. The inajority of the states, which form the union, must consent to the withdrawal of any one branch of it. Until that consent has been obtained, any attempt to dissolve the union, or obstruct the efficacy of its constitutional laws, is treasontreason to all intents and purposes."
"Any other doctrine, sueh as that which has been lately held forth by the federel republicans, that any one atate may withdraw itself from the union, is an aboininable lieresy."

Trineti of hespict to the peesidint. From the Norfolk Herald. The court and eommon council of the borough of Norfolk appointell a joint cominittee from their respeetive bodies, last week, to wnit on the president of the United States at the Rip Rapa, and tender him an invitation to visit the corporate authorities and citizens of the borough, at such time as might suit his convenience.

The committee aecordingly waited on the president on Friday, and were received by him with peculiar eourtesy and affability; he postponed giving an answer to the invitation, however, till the next day, though he intimated to the eommittee that it wonkl probably be out of his power to aceept lt . On Saturday evening the president's answer was reccived by the committee, ileclining the invitation in consequence of his ןrevious arrangements for returning to Washington in the early part of the week. We have been favored by the committee with a copy of the letter of invitation, and the president's reply, which we subjoin.

Noifolk, Augus 15, 1833.

Gen. Jackaon,

Sir: The corporate authorities of the bornogh of Norfolk, have chargell us with the pleasing duty of waiting on you in the name and on the behalf of their fellow eitizens, to tender their most respeetful salutations and kindest wishes for your continued health and happiness, aml to invite you to visit them at such time as may best suit your convenience; and we heg leave to assure you that your neceptance of their invitation would afford them an opprortunity very anxiously desired, of paying to you, in person, those civilities so eminently due to your official and private charaeter. We have the honor to remain, very respectfully, your obedient servants,

> Waioht Soutagate,
> Isaac Talmot,
> Jus. H. Robertson,
> Nataan C. Whitshead,
> Johx Capmon,

Gen. Indrew Jackson, fresident of the U. S. Rip Raps.

Rip Raps, August 17, 1833.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to acknowledge the reecipt of the polite invitation of the corporate authorities of the borongh of Norfolk, which you were eharged as a committee to tender me, together with their respeetful salutations and kind wishes for my healih and happiness.
For the kind wishes expressell for my health aud happiness, I make a tender to you inilivithally, and through you to the citizens of the borough of Norfolk, of my grateful thanks, with the assurance that nothing would ufford nee greater pleasire than to visit and shake my fellow eitizens of Norfolk by the hand. But my publie duties call me to Washington at an early ilay. Iknow not at what moment the conveyance for which I have written may approach ray retreat, and in the mean time the state of my health admonishes me that I ought to remain free from hustle and fatigue, and avail myself of the benefit of the pure air, the sea bathing, and the repose which I have sought in this insulated spot of your beautiful bay, for the short period that $m y$ publie duties permit me to withdraw from Washington.
These consideiations, will I trust be received by my friends in Norfolk, as a sufficient apology for my deelining their polite and gratifying invitation; at some other time and umler different circumstances, I may have the pleasure which is now denied me.
Receive, gentlemen, for yourselves individually, and present to those whom you represent, my best wishes for your prosperity anil happiness, AnnaEw Jacksox.

- Messrs. Nright Southgate, Isanc Talbot, Jos. II. Robertson, N. C. Whitchead and John Capron, committee.

Painck Gronos's corstr, Md. A eommunication in a late Marlborough Banner, from Edward W. Belt, enq. whose opportunities of ascertaining may be relied upon, estimates the exports of the products of this fertile county, the last year, at 11,000 hogsheails of tobaceo, valued at $$ 550,000$; and 290,000 bushels of wheat, valued at $$ 275,000$. Making $$ 825,000$ for those two artieles only, in one year. "This," says Mr. B. "is more than one fourth of the exports of domestic produce from Marrland, and is to the exports of domestic produce of the Cnited States, about one to 73. Our village (Marlborough) last vear exported 2,110 hogsheads of tobaeco, worth $105,000."

Pitrsneran. We find the following artiele in the Pittsburgh Advocate-we know nothing of the cireumstance which called forth the card-hitt all data for ealenlations furnish conclusions that Pittsburgh is and rnust long eontinue to be prosperous in an eminent degree; anil indeed no place more deserves general prosperity. Enterprise, activity, punctuality to business, and that kind of true liberality which consults the good of all, must result in individuat and general suecessi long may they remain the attributes of our western metropolis, and and long may her eitizens enjoy their results.

Pittaburgh, Augus 7, 1833.
The undersigned, engaged in manufacturing and mercantile pursuits in the eity of Pittsburgh and vieinity, have noticell with extreme regret the publication in one of our newspapers, entitled "hard times," which mentions information of "faihrres among our heavicst business men." Although the intention of the pubtication may have been praise worthy, its construction abroad may be of the most dangerous temlency to our enedit as individuals and a comunuity. We therefore feel ourselves called upon to repel alf imputations which may affeet us as men of business.

We assure the public at large, east and west, that at no period within our knowletge, has the charaeter of our eity deservest to stant higher for solid capital, for mercantile punctuality and integrity in the engagements of its traclers: We protest ayainst the conclusions drawn from one single failure, and against involving the eredit of others in this individual misfortune.
Riddle, Forsyth & Co. II. MeShane,
Little & Hays,
Williant Holmes,
John D. Davis & Co.
Win. J. Madeira,
Hoge & Wainwright,
S. Smith & Co.

Shoenberger, Wrenshall & Mekee, Clarke & Co. Co.
Cassat, Hutchinson & Lectlic,
H. S. Sprang & Son,

Adums, Allen & Cis.
Carliste & Birmingham, Johnston & Stockion, James Irwin,

Leonard, Semple & Liconard,
Miltenberger, Brown & Co. Allen & Cirant, Iewis Hutchinson & Co.
I. & I'. P'eterson,
I. Townsend & Co.
W. Ebbs & Co.

Isapertion of salt. The anount of salt inspected in this town during the month of July, is as follows:

Saline, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 150,6.34 34
1.iverpool, . . .... . ......................... . 48, 170 38

Ciedtes, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . $36,59 t 46$
Syracuse, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 44,52038

| Total, | 269,81656 |
| :--- | ---: |
| Dutics, | $$, 33,36479$ |

The insprection for the season, thus far, is eonsillerably greater than for the corresponding months of any other season.
(Syractuse ( $\mathbf{V}: \mathbf{Y}$.$) .Ifuil.$
Massacuesetts pisheriss. The Charleston (S. C.) Courier, in noticing Dr. Smith's recent work on the "Massnchusetts fisheries," makes the following abstract from the book:
Many of the towns in the colony of Massachusetts be$\mathrm{g}^{\mathrm{nn}}$, at an carly date, to eultivate their river fisheries. In $1641, \$ 00,000$ dry fish were sent to market. I'reviously to the American revolution, the cod fishery of Masaachuscts employ ed 28,000 tons of shipping and 4,000 seainen; making an antuial value of industry anul enterprise of about $\$ 1,000,000$. In 1775 Gireat Britain broke up this profitable employment, by prohibiting the eolonies the exereise of the right of fishery on the banks of Newfoundland. The restoration of peace with Great Britain, after the achievement of American indepentence, revived this braneh of industry and laardy enterprise, which was further stimulated by a bomuty grunted by congress in 1779, on exported fish, and a few ycars after, to vessels employed in the business. In 1807, $7 \mathbf{1 , 0 0 0}$ tons of shipping were employed in the end fishery alone, and the average value of exports from this country, of the productions of the sca, for that and the four preceding years, was estimated at $\$ 3,000,000$. The unwise restrictions then imposed on onr commerce, eaused the fisheries to diminish in value, from that period nntil the close of the seennd war with Great Britain. The return of peace again effeeted their revival, and the very nest year 68,000 tons of vensels, employing 10,000 scamen, were again upon the ocean. In 1 sint the number of barrels of mackerel packed in Massachusetts was 8,079; in 1811, 19,000. The war nearly tlestroyed this business; but in 1815 it rose again to 16,000 , barrela. In 1820 the increase was no rapid, that the number of barrels packed amounted to ©s6,243. This was before the separation of Mrine. In the subsequent year, Massachusetts alone packed if 1,000 barrels-and in 1851, the amount had swelled to 348,550 barrels. The number of vessels employed in 1831, was near 400 , and the seamen probably exceeded 4,000 . The probable value of the mackerel fishery for 1831, exceeded $\$ 1,500,000$.

Now mscovser. Mr. Mariner, of N. York, has made an important liseovery for the use of persons exposed to fire or water. It is a process by which he is enabled to coat over leather, cotton, linen, silk, ke. or any like material, into durable lodia rubber garments, wholly impervinus to water, withnut being remiered heary or clumsy. The editor of the Ncw Fork Advocate suys he has examined a cout and patitaloons made of eotton eloth, covered in every part with the India rubber, without a stich exeept in the button holes. These must be excellent articles for firemen, stage drivers, and travellers in open waggons. Ladies' and gentlemen's boots and shoses may be made of any of the above named materials from the coarsest leather' or the Sinest sitk. The Iodia rubther cloth may be obtained on application to Gcorge Spring, No. 55 Pine street, New Sork. In making, it is reconmended that care be taken to avoid as few pir and neealle holes, and seems as possible.

Powkn of the hyonant. An experiment was made yesterday for the purpose of ascertaining the height to which water can be carried by the power of the hydrant, withont the intervention of engines. A hose was attaclied to the stock at the contuer of Wiflian street and Fixchange Place. The power was found sufficient to throw the column of water fiairly upon the roofs of the tallent huildings in the neighbortiood, most of which are four stories high. The water was thrown with great foree in an almost unbroken column against the unterside of the copings, and when the hose was carried up to the roof of the new stores in William street, it was till thrown fifteen or twenty feet higher in a perpendicular direction and across the street so as to drench half a dozen houses out the ather side. Our hydrant has cosst a large sum of money, but it has already saved property enough from destruetion by fire to reimburse its cont, and has won the public favor completely. The property in the city is at this moment worth more by ten times and for aught we know a hunilred times the cost of the hyilraut, on account of the security growing out of its existence. The risk of insurance against fire is relluced matcrially, and the preminms would be, were they regulated upon the principles of that besutifut system-free trade.
[.): I: Jour. Com.
New statis or fratio. A novel gystem of fraud has recently been practised in New Vork anal Albany. A person went to one of the New Vork banks and deposited $$ 250$, and trew his elock for the money which the cashier certified as goorl for the annonnt. The check holtter then altered the woril two into iwctive, atul placed a figure 1 before the 250 , presented the chick at anether bunk and drew $$ 1,2.50$. He next made another ileposite, again altervil the certificd check, and slrew more money in Brooklyn; a thirsl time lic depositerl money, sud drew $$ 1,250$ cuelı from the Mechanies' and F'umers' bank and the Canal bank at Albany. In all, the swindler abtainelfrom $$ 5,000$ to $$ 7,000$, from hís $$ 250$. He seluctell the sum of $$ 450$, in reath ehse for deposite, as the worts and figures of the cheok could lie noost casity altered to answer his parpose. At one bank in New York uhere he presented a check, the eashier noticed something wrong itI it and pointed it out to the presenter, who said, very coolty, that he had taken the cheek withont exanining it, but lie then kaw it was wrong, and woult return to the bank in which he hall deposited, and get it correetedand he went out for that purpose. Of enurse he was not heard from again.
[Poughkeepsie Telegraph.
Mail nosaert. On Saturday morning, the 10th inst. a matl ratber sloablity dressel went into a tailor's shop in the npper part of the city to purchawe some clothing, and took from his procket to pay for them a draft drawn by the casliver of the Faston, fenn. bank, for $$ 60$ dated August Ist, and in favor of a person whose aaine we did not learn, yesiding in Kingston, Esopus. The draft not being sfulorsed, the tailor suspected lhat all wan not right, .al detained the man until he conlil send to the house of the cashicr of one of our banks who lived in the vicinity. On his arrival the man was searched, and another ilraft for $$ 2,000$, drawn as above, and in favor of a respectable commercial house in this city, in the way-bill of the Easton, Pcun. ןost office, which stntell that about is letters were mailed, were found unon hims. An officer was immediately sent for, bat belore he arrived the man escapest.

Information was given to the poliee magistrates, and the way-bill was haniled to justiec Hopson. Luquiry was then mate at the poat office to know if there had been a mail robtery, and the officers were tolll that the Easton, Pemi. raa! bag hail bwen roblecd, anil that the bag hail been found in Washington street wear the battery, and several fetters hatl heen pieked up in the street, liroken open which had contained the drafte above allsuled to.

On Saturiay afternoon a mall was arrestell for some petty theft, annl on him were fomml papers or letters which proved him to be the same man who had attempted to pass the above drafts in the morning. He is coinmitted to prison lor further exanninatiou anul trial.
[.V: 1: .Mercantile .Adv.
Loss of the sair Mexton. Tine ship Mentor, of New Bedford, under my commanal, was lost on the Pelezo Iblands, on the 21 st May, 18.34, and rleven of my crew were lost at the time, in attenpting to loave the ship in one of the hoats, viz: Thos. M. Coleswortly, 1 st officer; Peter O'Conner, 2d officer; Benjamin F. Harkell, James M. Fisher, David Jenkins, hoat steerers; lewis Burgoin, Jolan Bailey, James Blackmore, Thomas Tay lor a/nus lames Holiday, William Jones, scamen; mal the eook, a black man. The remainder of my crew arrivel at Pelew on 24th May, in latitude 741 nortli; the ship was lost on a reef in lat. 8 18, antl loug. nearly 135 ease. We remained on the island antil the 2.3 k day of November, when the natives gave usa canoe and a whale boat belonging th the ship, with nueh provisions as the island afforden, with which we left, in hopes of renching the islami of Ternate, or any other of the Dutch settlements. We left at Pulew as hostages, Jormes .Meader, Calvin Alden aud Horatio Davis, taking with us two chiefs anul one man, natives. Ont the 29 th November, the canoe sunk in a squall. After taking all the men into the whale boat, continuell our voyage until the 6th December, when ut dar-light we discovereel Lood Norili's Island, the natives of which eame off in canoes anal made us all prisoners, broke the boat in pirees, and stripped us of all nur elothes, but otherwise offerell us $n$ n violence. We remainell with them until 3al of February, 1833, when the Spanish ship Sahima, captain Somes, from Caleutta, hove in sight, when nyself and H. J. Rollins saeceedell in getting on bearal, leaving Horace IIfliten, Milton Huwlet, Benjamin Nute, Charfus Bowkett, WilLium Sidden ant Peter Andrews, with the three Pelew men. Captain Somes being aloort of provisions, could not wait to get the rest on hoard, not knowing how long lie might have to sletain limaself, annl the matives not wishing to part wish us Captain Somes has done every thing in his power to remler our situation as comfortable as possible during our stay on board the Sobina, for which I logg to return him my most grateful thanks.
We may attribute our kind treatment at Pelew to the preseuts they received from the British goverument, for the kinilness and hospitality shown to eaptain Wilson when lie lost his ship on tha same island; and no doubt the two chief accompaniell us in the canse expeeting a reward from the Aincrican government for taking eare of us, building us a canne. &ec. Ace.
Given unter my hand at Macao, China, this 2tth day of February, 1833 , Euward C. Barkard.

U. S. amip Inmepembence. A serions disaster hard nigh befallen the Indepentence it, which is lying in the stream at the Navy Yixrl, in Charlestown, on Wednesday, 1 tht inst. Early in the morning, eom. Ellliott went on bourd to give dircetions about having the ship well moored against the arrival of the cquinoctial gales, and while on deek, it seemed to him that she lurehed more than usual. He ordered Une jumps to be tried, which being done, it was ascertained that she had four feet of water in her hold. Some rogue had liroken off the brass coek fixed on one of her sinten to let in salt water oceasionally, and the ship was filling rapilly. But for the timely discovery, she must liave sunk during the afteruoon or night, in a depth of 50 feet of water.
Thexder atonm. Duriug a violent thunder atorm which oecurred yesterday, the marine hospital, n new edifice not yet completed, was stricken and considerably injured. If is probable that the eleetric fluid entered at the south enst chimncy, the top of which it tore off, and then separatel into three streams, one descending the south east coruer, splintering and scorehing the window frames, tearing out the iron pullien attached to them, and breaking the glass. The seeond stream descended the mindle of the easters wall, and ilestruyed a portion of the plaistering on the insille, which being freah, showed the marks of the splinters which were stripped off and dashed against it. It then descended to the ground, tearing off a pare of the lower eastern door. The thirid stream descendent through the centre of the building, shattering some of the studs to piceca, and stripping off the plaistering, leaving marks of its having followed the direction of the nails, which secured the lathing. The circumstanee of there being no lightning rowl ereeted for the protection of the builliing, will probably account for the ilifferent ilirectiona ta ${ }^{\circ}$ en by the fluid in its passage to the ground. There were, we unlerstanil, no persons in the edifice at the time of the aceident.

The house of R. M. Allinn, esq. on Sullivan's island, was also struck about the same time, and the inside very much shattered, but provislentially without injury to any of its inmates. The clap, was severc, and the escape wouderful. Mrs. A. who was sitting near the side of the house where the ligltning entered, with her infant in her arms, was stunned by the slonek, and the infant fell on the floormbut without further injury to either.
[Charleston Cour. ong. 5.
The tra sarip. The following call upon the patriotio cilizens of Pliladelphia is-from its nature and date-a curiosity in this day. We lave seen the original-probubly the only one extant-and could not but view it with strong feelings of the great events which followed :he apparently trifing caupe to which it refers. It was posted as a play card around the city, and proves that the art of printing was, at that remote day, well understood here:

Monduy morning, December 29, 1773.
The tea ship being arrived, every inlabitaut who wishes to preserve the liberty of Anerica is desired to meet at the state bouse, this morning, precisely at ten o'clock, to advise what is to be done at this alarming crisis.

Taiavte to Wamington at the Dealin theathz. Mr. Hackett, the actur gives the following account of an occurrence at the Dulalin theatre. "The firat night of Rip Van Winkle, when in the minlst of the seene where lue finds himself lost in annazement at the change in hia native sillage, as well as in himself and every body he meets, a person of whom he is making inquiry mentiona the name of Washington. Rip asks "who is lhe?" The other replies-'what? disl you uever hear of the immortal (ieorge Washington, the father of his country?' The whole andience from pit to gnillery seemed to rise, and with shouting, limzzas, elapping of linuds anc stanuping of feet maste the very builling slake. These shafening plaulits continued some time, and wound we with three ilistinet rounds. To deseribe to you my ferlings iluring such an unexpected thunder-gust of vational cuthusiasm is utterly imponsible. I ehoked-the tears gushed from my eres, and I can assure you it was only by a great effort that I restrained myself from destroying all the illusion of the scene by breaking the fetters with which the age and character of Rip had invested me, and exclaiming in the fullness of my heart 'God bless old Ireland.'"

Poisox yron mew nowet. A son of nine, and a daughter of six years, and ouly children of Samued York, of Farmington, Mass. died a few days since in eonsequence of eating new honey. They lived about thirty-six hours

It is, perhaps, not generally known, (says the Kennehee Journal), that boney recently gathered by bees at a certain season of the ycar, from the flowers of some poisonous plants, possesses uneir deleterious qualitics, in a lighly concentrated state, whell fiesti, and may prove fatal if taken in sufficient quantity. It has been ascertained that the proisonous effects of some plants, as for instance the Lamibkill, so called, dejpend upoon a certain agent, uamed by cheotists, prussic acil. It is also tound that thin acird very soon loses its hurtful properties by decomposition; so thas honey containing such an zgent at firxt, would of itself beconic pure in a short time, being suffiered to remain undisturbed. Oceurrences of death from this cause, are, wo doubt, exceedingly rase.

Population or Upper Canada. The York papers give the following as the aggregate of the population of Epper Canada, for the years 1832 and 1833:

| Districte. | 1838. | 1833. | Increase. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Eastera | 21,765 | 23,743 | 1,378 |
| Ottama | 5,293 | 6,848 | 1,055 |
| Jolinstown | 24,299 | 27,058 | 2,759 |
| Bathurst | 19,636 | 29,286 | 2.650 |
| Midland | 57,457 | 42,294 | 4,8.37 |
| Newenstle | 21,019 | 25,580 | 4.541 |
| House | 40,650 | 47,650 | 7.100 |
| Gore | 27,224 | 31,820 | 4,596 |
| Niagara | 24,181 | 24,772 | 591 |
| London | 28,842 | 35,225 | 4,984 |
| Western | 10,627 | 11,788 | 1,161 |
| Total | 260,092 | 296,544 | 33,552 |

Fark labor company. Alveady a project has been started for a "West India free labor compuany." The proposal is to issue transferable bouds, besting interest at 4 per cent. in sums vary ing firom $£ \mathbf{t o v}$ to $£ 1,000$ each. The bouds to be issued to silseribers, who are to make an immediate deposite, and pay up listalments. The company are to buy up West Luria estates and mortgages The company are to grant leases aull estates, and the estates are to be cultivated ly fire negro labor.The aggregate value of estates anil stock is made to be £100,000,000; the money eapital to be subscribell £15,000,000; total capital of the company on which pro re nata divisions are to be made, $\mathrm{f} 115,000,000$.
[English paper.
Factory la mom mill. It has been already stated, that a proposition made by the chancellor of the exchequer in relation to this bill, was rejected by the honse of commons; but the precise character of the proposition was not knowa when the statement was made. His object was, to eonfine the limitation of the period of daily labor, apecified in the bill, which is eight hours, to eliildren under 14 years of igc . This was opposed, as an attempt to deprive the laborers of legislative protection at the very age when it was most requircd. Atnong its opponents was Mr. Brotherton, whose remarks were heard with much attention by the house. He sald among other things, that "If had been said that ymung persons above 14 years of age could make their own hargains; but it was in evinlenee that such young persons were obliged to work 15 and 16 hours a day, and when they had urged the inability of their strength to do so, had beell told to quit; so that they enust either comply with those hours of labor or starve. He must be permitted to state that he felt strongly and was deeply interested in this important subjeet, and lie was not ashamed to say, even in this loouse, that he himself, from the age of 12 to 16 years, had worked in a factory from 12 to 14 hours a day.-(Hear). He had endureil all the privations now suffered by liose young persons whose case was now under liscussion, (hear)-and for them he could not but feel a deep sympatiy-(hear)-for although lie had been elceated by his fellow countrymen to the high honor of a sent in the British house of commons, he eould neither forget the situation in which he had once stood-(hear)-nor could feel otherwise than much disposed to stand by his orver. - (Hear, hear). If he could aecomplish any relief to that class from the grier-anees uniler which, they at present labored, he singuld feel satisficd that he had not lived in vain." (Ucar, beer).

A metaphysical homag-waippimb. Those of our reailers who have uttended to the contest between Don Petro and Don Miguel, may rememiber, that some months ago, the former, from dissatisfaction with the commander of his fleet, admiral Sartorius, sent his aid-de-camp, sir Jolin M. Doyle, to put him under arrest. When, however, the ainl-de-camp stepped on board the adnainul's ship, he himnelf was arrested, and $k e p t$ in confinement. For the indignity of this proceeding, the soldier ealled unon the sailor for explanation; the sailor's ruply was, that sir Jolin could hardly have calculated upon any other treatnent, whell he uigraciously volunteered on such a mission, but that if brother officers thiak he (the aulmiral) owes any satisfaction to sir John, he would be happy to afford it to him, whenever they might meet ut lome or abroal, he (the admiral) being then about in proceed to France: thereupoin, the knight, after expuessing his regret at the neecasity of the case, thus writes to the adniral:

It now becomes an imperative but painful duty on my paut to request your exeellency will do me the favor to conceive that you have heen horse-whipped by sir J. M. Doyle, K. ©. B. and K. T. S. who laments that your unaccountable and wumartuatable conduet should oblige him to adopt this as the only step your intended fight from the scetue of your gallant expioits has left open. But should your excellewey, on more mature reflection, revoke your intemtion of proeecding forthwith to Franee, I slall be most happy to reeeive you at the Foz whenever yon are pleased ta appoint, and to assure your excelseney That every attention and requisite accominofation will be povided lor you during the short period that your residence may be neoessary on that oceasion in Portugal.
Hereupou, the Loudon Times, in the paragraph we coly, suggests a way out of the quarrel, without conpromising the honor of either party:
"Str John" Milley Doyle, with a finished politeness and an aninsing naivete worlly of those distinguished heroes, major O'Flaherty and sir Lotcius O'Trigger, requests his escellency vice-admiral Sartorins 'will ilo him the favor to conceive that he has been horse-whipped by sir John Milley Doyle, K. C. B. and K. T. S.' Now, there is a precedent, and a very celebrated one, in the Freneh eode of honor, (and no code is more sensitively delicate), which the viec-adniral may at once readily adopt, and thus howorahly settle this inauspicious quarrel. Let him answer, in the words of the precedent, that the (the vice${ }^{n}$ dmiral) bers the favor of sir Jolm Milley Doyle, K. C. B. and K. T. S. to be assured that he (the vioe-armiral) han run the said sir John through the body.' Thus this metaphysical duel will end as it began, in an imaginary collision. How much better than the reality for both parties!"

RRIEP NITTUES.

A wonderfut invention it is said was diecovered by a Frenchman named Rattinead in 1765, by which veesels at sea can be discovered 250 teagues off. The iontrument is called nasscopie, and an mecount of it is given in the loondon Montily Magazine. A nebulous satellite, according to the invention, precedes on ship for nevernl days, which can be seen. T'he Frewch govermment dif not patrotise Baitineat, and be was living in obscurity in din ao 1810.
Lientenant Collings Long, commmanding the U. S. pelononer Dilphiti, siates in a letter to the secretary of the navy. dated Aprid, 1833 , Valparaiso lnay, that for the nine montha prevwes only biae persous on hoard had drawn the liquor part of ther rations.

Captain E. V. Summer's corpa of U. S. dragoons, of rangers deatined for the Indian spryiee, arrived at Butfalo, on the 3d instand left next day for cheir place of destinamon. The thatiat Juurnal ways, the: were then inest looking ruw recruits we evel saw; all New Yonkers, welpeted by capt. S. hinaself from utw northern and wearin counsies of the state, within the age of 25 years, and ns nearly as possible 5 fuet 8 inclues in beight. All poapcesting a gond Finglish education and of stricdy correct bsbita. Such youth, with wuch a comasander, who permats the performance of no nuenial eprvice from any member of hie dr lachment, and,fares as they fare, cannot fail so prove usefal and bachment, and,farms as they fare, can become an ofnament to the service.

The Jackann repultican demneratie eonvention anet it Ha terstown, Md. on the 10 th instant, and notsinated Frasu Tlioman, egq. as a candidate for congress.

The nntional republicaus of the Easton district, on the Eastarn Shoie of this state, liave motminated the bon. Robert H. Golds. borough, formetly U. S. senatur, as theit candidate for congtess. We regret to tearn that Dr. JoAn T. Reese, the candidate of the Jacksio party fof the above dintitet, died in Philadelpina, on Tuesday last. Dr, R. was an acconndished gentlemau asd emiment physictan, and was very lugily estecmed for his bucial virtues.

An affray took place at the rail rond on Momblay evening last. It appeara that certain colored persons wishus to go to tire lake, took possesston of the cars nppropriated to white people; that they were tusned out of thems west nway and armsed themselves, returned and attacked Mr. Reeves, the clepk of the raad, by firmg pistols at him, &c. Two of them linve, we usderstand, bern espreltemied and bound over tu nupenr at the next acsion of she criutinal count. We should think it was bigh time n stop wis put to the outrages of this class of gentry.
[V. O. Argus of Aug. 1.
Mr. McDufie being preacut at the conimencriment of the col. lege nt Auseur, Georgia, a dinner was tenderved hiu and aceepted. It was attended by gieat numbers and the gnest received every demonstranoh of the onest euthumiastic adinifition. Ilis apeech, requested for publication by the counaritee, will rpeedily appear.

The trial of Antonio Le Blanc for the ruurder of Mr. Sayre and fanily, in going on at Morristown, N. J. before Judge Ford. Tive prosecutiou is conducted by Henry A. Fond, ewq. district attorney, sastated by Jutin R. Brown nad Jacob W. Millier. Fur the prisoner, Wiltaan L. Haisey, of Newatk, and Francis Macculluck, of Morristown. "The court has expressed a most posituve iujunction agatust publisling the proceeding of the tral dering its prigreas. Tha peaalty of disubeying this order will be imprisonment,"
A min was discovercd a few morninga since, ways the New York Jouraal of Comanerce, busily at work wirlt a chisel nnd hanmmer, Inng nflir day light, foremg his way through the wall of the bank of New York, on the William street side, and no one Interrupted hont.
Anne, the duaghter of wir Wniter Scott, died on the $20 t h$ June last, after an illmesm of ten dayp. Iler death was occasioned by a brain fever, ineressed by distress nt the loss of her father.

The frienda of ex-lientenant tamainiph in the clty of Willinmeburg, Va. zave hita a dimaer on the 2-tih uit.

Fuung Frohhlughan, whose mysterions disappearanee we sluded to last week, arrived at New York frum Liverpool on the 6 h inst.
Weft executed connterfeit $$ 90$ notes of the U. S. hank, Savamnah brnach, ase in cinculation at Baitimore. They are of the tetier $3. dated sept. 2, i826. The signatures ine pretiy well done-but apon close inspection it can bes perceived that the eashier's same has been traced in a faiot line, and then written over with a pen.

Clumer Watts, judge of the 4th judicial diwtriet in tha state of Louisiana, fras been appointed Judge of the Int Judicial district of that state, in place of judge Josepll L.ew is, deceaned.

James Boviman, eeq. of New Vork, has maile a munlifeent ath to the New York instuture for the blind. IIe tras exrcutod an indentare of Irate for ten years to that listintian, at the somanal reat of a jepper cotn, per annum, of the truildings and ground formerly ealied Abingdon place, a slomft distance heyond tie paved part inf the city. The dwelling house is 100 by 5-4 feet, the lat is over two acres, and lins on it beside the dwelling two atone kitclienas.
The whole number nf passengeria over the gnratoga and Scleenectady rail road during the week endiug on tire $\mathbf{4 7} \mathbf{t h}$ ithet. was 2,751.

It is atated in one of the Bonton papers that Mr. Wehater is preparing in report of the apeech delivered by him at Pittaburgh during his recewi visil therte.

The cellector of the Delaware division of the Penneylvania canal at Easton, recerved की ,57i2 94 toll during the week ending on the 14th inat

A monusent is to be erected to the late governor Laineoln, of Maine.

The expense of entertaining the president at Boston, Is sald to have amounted to $$ 11,000$; nad at New York, $t n $ 8,000$
Win are pained to learn that mur old and esteemed friend, Mr. Wilwn, the editor of the Steubunvilie Iferaid, and his lady were eriously injured on the nfternoon of the 9tit instant, by being thrown out of a tig. The necident was occarianed liy two young men who were riding a race. On coming up to Mr. W. at fill apeed, his horee vook frugtat and run off, when nne of the reits broke, the gig wan precipitated agalnst a irce, nond broke liternily to atome. Mr. W. and lady were thrown ont in opposite sides. Athough nn banes were broken, no part if their limise eweaped contision. In sddition to very eeritius wountils on fie limibe, Mr. W, received two contusions on his liead and a nevere bruise on ons af his sudes. They are botit recovering slowly. They had bees paying a visit to a sick friend a few miles in the country.

It is stated In the National Intelligenerr, that dient. T. R. Gedney, of the novy, hal lateiy taken out letters patent fur an improved method invented by him of raising veasels upon an inelined single railway, for the purpose of cleansing their botioms, repairing, se. Leetters from eoms. Rodgers and Jnmes Humplireys, nnval contractor, ppeak in approval of the plan.

The hon. C. A. Wickliffe has been elected a member of the Keatueky bouse of delegates, from Nelson county.

A patblic dinuer was given on the 12 ah inst. by the common chuncil of the city of New York, to the officers of the army and havy on that atatinn.
The officers, nud n number of respeetable citizens, met the common enuncil in the governor's room, and proceeded in carriages to Bellevue. Alter going through these extensive buildingw, they proceded to Mount Vernon, whence they were cow. veyed in boats to Blackweil's Istnnd, and visited the public instututons and every thing relating to the establishusent. They then retired to an elegant bower, fitted up with great taste, and sat down to a suuptuous dumer, provided for the oceasion. The guests consisted of nbout 50 officers, comprising all gradew, Tront tive comtuauder to the midnhipmann, together with the odfcers of the army on that pration, and about fifty citizeus.
Alderman Cebra, preaident of the board of alderimen, and neting mayur, presided-assisted by assistant nidernan Van Wyck, president of the board of asnistnnts. On the riglit of the hair were captains Bailard, of the U. S. ship Delnware, and Newton, of the U. S. ship Si. Louis-on the lef were enptaine Kearney and others.
As sona an the cluth was renoved, the aeting mayor addreased captain Hallard, in an approprinte monner, who replied in a a very neat and pertinent speech.
A free negri coiling lntuself James Warfield, has been committed to the jnil of Harfionl county, Md. ehnrged with the commission of a rape upon a little girl used nine yaars, the daugliter of Mr. Willinui Adarns, a respectiable resident of that county.
Io tha Gth election district, Maxs, th. re has been a second une successful atteupt to elect a member of congres. The vote stood thua, gen. Dearborn, hational republican, 2,179; Mr. Jackson, nnti mason, 1,843; and Dr. Tharber, Jackson, 703.
Charles Martin Bakrr, who lef Philadelphia for Baltitnore a few weeks since, and for whose safory fearp were entertained by his family, was in Cineinnati nu the 5th Inst.
The ceremmen of hrraking grnund upon the New York, Prnvidence and $oston rail rnad, tronk place at Stonington, oe the 14th inst. being the maniversary of the batte of stoningtinn The Journal of Commeree otates that the company, to the number of fifeen hundrod ladies and genilemen assembled in that gallant homugh. The spades were taken by Juhut 8. Ciary esq. of New York, president of the company, and hy their excellencies governor Fidwards, of Connecticut, and governor Francis, of Rlinde Island. The work was then commenced in boill statca. Atterwarde the guest partook of an excellent dinner, provided by oider of the company. The day was fina, and all the events of it anspicinus.
The brig Bolivar Liberator, Underwood, arrived at Maniwn, from the Snndwich Islands, but the captain was not alinwed to entry, or even go ashnre, on apcount of the name of this vesarl and ennsequebtly she proceeded to Canton. Manilla is a Spanish port.

We understand one of the finctories in Pawtuckef, R. I. hat stopped operstions, in consequence of the high price of cotton.
An antitempernace miecting was field at the court houres it Elizah-th City county, Va. on the 20 th nit. The inveting wae organized by appoluthg Sambel B. Servant, chairman and Jas. Gammel secretary. A cominitree was appontrd who reported n prrainhle nad resolutions, condemuing teanperance societiee as destisuctive to cominumitive.
The woods near Saudy Point, Westmoreland ennnty, (Va.) werenet on fire by lightning, lately and mituch valuable timber was dentroyed and other damage done before the flames could be extinguisherd.

A $1 \geqslant 0$ gun ship, ralled the Waterino, waw launched at the Chatham ynid in England, on the 18th of June Inst, the naulversary of the viciory. She has heen building six years. She is inferior to our ship the Petinsylvania.
A pplendid ship of 550 tons burthen, called the Ilark Away, was lannehed in thia einy on Ranneday latt. She was buitt by Mr. Jamea Bearham, for Mesare. James S. Prander, & Co. of PR. tersburg, Va. nad la intended an one nf the regular line of packets about to be establistied hetween Jamees river nad Livefponi.
Then editors of the Peteroburg, (Va.) Intelligeneer, have seen a specinien of cotton cloth, manufactured by the Merchants' company of that piace, which bus been pronounced by good judges to be equal to any thing of the kibd ever made in this country.

Three hundred and seventy five good active horses are wanted by the list of next musth, at $\mathrm{SL}_{\text {. }}$ Isouir, for the use of the U . Suten nrmy statinu in the weat.
William J. Grayson, of $\mathrm{St}_{\mathrm{t}}$. Ilplena, Sonth Cnrolina, has been nominated by a eonventinn, as the nullifiration caldidate to represent the Waiterborough district, vice Rubert W. Barnwell, who declines a re election.
The hoa. Jobn stanly, formerly a mathhar of congress from Norti Caroima, died al Nrwhern, on the 3d instant. He was a Erntirnao nf greal abilities and ranked aunong the drat orators of that etate.
The Rlack Hinsee tavern wltuated four miles frotn Pittsburgh, on the Pitisburgh and Grvensliurgh turnpike road, was conginm. ed on the uiglit of the 7th Invtant. The loss is stated at 83,000 ,

The London Moining IIeraid atates that it is reported, upon geod nuthotity, that Mr. and Mise Fanny Kemble hnve, by thrir moited performances in America, cleared $\mathbf{\text { E12,000-nemarly }}$ 86 0,000!
it is stnted in the New York Journal of Commeree that tha otfice of the United Btates diwtrict attorney, has yielded the in-cumbeat, James A. Ilamilton, ew, for four years past, an ave rage of 825,0010 per allaunn.

A conmunucation if the fichmond Whis states that a enoll mine has been discovered on the land of Mrs. I'rice, of l,onsa county, Va. supposed to be the ruchest yet discovered in that state.

The national republean eonvention of Maine, have nominated IAsencel Goodenowr, as their candidate for governor of that etate.

Mr. William Lore, a roppetable citizen of Maurice river townslup. timulerland county, N. J. Was killed on '1\%ursday last, at Altlevtlle, by a horse rinning aguinst lim, while he was conversumg with a gentleman in the street. Ile survived but a few houra

A writer in the I'rovidence Journal mentions that Mliss Diana Colwell, wove last week in the mill th the village of Rlackatone, fily puecea of cotton cloth, pach contanning twenty-cight yards, making in all one thousand four hondred yards; and tht the price faid for wraving, her wages amountrd to thime ilollars.

A diopiay of lire works wae made a tiow evening mince at the Rup Raps. The president was standing near a basul of combusublew, on whuh, by soune meanw, tire was decesfentally com municated-when away went, witi an explosint, locketa, stars, wheeis, serpente, &c,-0nis of the mussilco jantignaziag the prosident, another sirtking one of the Jadies, &r. Fortumately no coe was lnjured.

- Alexumitia Gaz.

As a pasenger was stepping ashore from the steanboat F'an ny, at Albany, feeling a nibble at line fols, he tumed round and cauglit a fellow by the collar, who had just fingered his wallet. The sharper, Ahdiug himsili surprised, dropped the pocket book, which the owner found at ins foet. Unwthug to be detained as a witnend, the passenger, atler ubtainang lis money, Int the ras cal escape.
"To the ricfor belongs the spoils." A farmer who was In Ine parden to witness she ascenmon, had his posket rilled of a wal Jet containing El70. He thinks the opritton was pepformed by a chap who was most olliciou*ly palite in showing bin the di rectuon that one of the ploucer balloous was takng!

IAlhany Ele. Jowr.
Robert Potter, who was mome time ago itnprtsoned for a name less outrage, perpetrate!l on the persons of the rev. Mr. T'aslor and his nephew, in Granville county, and who is still ill jail, was a candidate to repreaent that county in the legiolature of North Carolina, and came within eleren votes of benng eiected!

During the 94 lours preceding 9 o'elock on Saturday mormong ast, there w'ere received at our post olfice nine thowand seren hundred and one ship letters, and risumg of four thousand paekagen and paper parcels-makisg a grand total, in $2 f$ liours, of nbout 14,000; all of which were handled several times by the different clerks, marked, disiributed and mailed, before 2 o'clock.

New Hovk Gazettc.
We learn from the New York Travellor, that the crlelorated colt Midas, by Felipae, died latrly near that city. Milas was matched against Mr. W'm. K. Johnsun"meswip, by Mefley, for $$ 10,000$, to be run for over the loong lisiand coarse in Grenber. fis death is supposed to have bect proditerd by the ball [which in usvally given at the commencement of the trasaing] sticking in his tliroat.

Advices from Para, received at New York, represent that portion of Brazil to be in a very unsettled state, in consequence of political excitement atnong that class of the people who loave nothing to lone ant every thing to gait by changing the vxisting orter of things. The fceling towards the Eiuropean Partaguese was hostlic, and it was fuared would manifost itscll' in rim and bloodebed. 'Tlie uperations of trade were alto greatly embarraseed by the introduction of spurious copper coil in large: quantties from the I'niten! states.
The rev. ©. P. Mellvaine, bishop of the Protestant Kipinmopal churib in the diocess of Ohis, has recommendel to the clergy under his charge, to set apart Tuesday, the thirternth of Atgunt, as a day of fastur, humbllation and prayer, and tisat twhrever the scourge of cholera may reneh, they will phow to their flocks an ecample of stpdfast trust in (Sod and fearlesw wating upon bie with-ntiding at theyr popts, geting is and out anong the people in all works of consalation and useftulnses-lecing specially assduous in aucations to the sick and dying in their respretive neighbortooods; and codeavoring to lead thrir people to be diligent in doung good, and thus to manitest that thcir "fath worketh by love," and their "love casteth out fear."

The Lancaster Joureal saym, "by letters from Mr. Buctanan, our avinister to Russla, we leart that be miny be expectod home is Novemler next."

FORFIGN NEWE,  From Liverpool papers to the 16th July.

GREAT MRITAIN AXN IRELANH.

The great and all absorbng question, the Iriah reform bill was to have teren browght up for cussideralion on the 18 th uls. The duke of Wellington had given notuce that it would be opponed on its second reading. It is said that it is supposed that the duke's paity would be able to ont vote earl Grey, and that the tories were se certain of victory and of causitig thinistera in pm. sign, that they had mate arrangements for a mew minisiry, tha which neither the duke of Welliugton nor ar Robert Prel wonld be included. The spenker of the boune of commons, thanles Manaers Suiton is maincd as the intended premier.
I.ord Brougham's bill refmming the local canrtis had hern re. jected. Lom Hull, the commander-ia chief voled against it. and it In Intimated that mhnuld he repeat hit refractory epirit be would be compellrd to resign.

Mr. Frrausen had moved in the homae, "an addrese to his thajesty that he will be eraciously pleased not tu recognize, nor in any way give the manction of lis government to the present political state anil condltion of Polatid, tlue saine having bren brought about in violation of the treaty of Vienna, to which Great Ilroain was a party."

Lord I'almerstow, In reply, ndmitted the Iruth and fantree of all the olueivations and details frade by the how. mover; bet, at the same time, deprecated the pressing of the motion, on the ground that, if carried, a war with Rnssia would be inevitable.

Lold Aithorp followed in a slinilar strain, and moved the previons question.

Lord J. Russell hopenl, that though ministern mipht conetar in the sentincnts of the mover, he would witbiraw the motion, on the ground that when the unaninous opinion of the bouse went forth to the world, it would have more elfect than if a division tonk place and a large majority voted agrainst it

He was followed lyy Mr. Hume, Mr. Altwoud, Mr. O'Connell, Mr. Sheil and sereral other membere, who argued in favor of the motion, as being due to the character and feelongs of the conntry; and hy Iord Palmerston and Mr. Stanley, who, as wetl as Mr. Warhurton and sur Rubert I'vel, argued againet it, as heane likely to luvolve the country in a war, for which it was not preparcd. Mr. Cutlar Fergmanon replied, and the fouse divided. whes the numbers wetp-for the irrvious question, as moved by lord Althot 11 , 177 ; agannet it, 95 ; majority E ( 2

Rapid prigeresa was inaking in the bill rechartering the East India company.
Mr. Hulwer moved an addrees to the king ealting for copies of papert respecting the mpanures pursued hy Ruspia in her interfrratee with the plate of Turkey. Ile asked if there was any governinetit In the colintry. (Laord Althorp-here we are). It dul not follow, said Mr. B. that beeanse they wese here, that they constituted a poverument. Je condemned ministres for fiaving takeu no share in the atfairs between Turkey, liyssia and Eyypt. No one could doutht that the object of Russia was to redtice Turkry under her dominion.
f.ord I'almerwion replied and said a correspondence was now gcing on on tim subjert, and the isotion would the prodective of ineonsenience; lie iloubted ant Ruswia would preserve ber faith, and lupeif that contidence might be reposed in governonent, on thim subject, for a very phort time longef.
Mr. Hulwer in crusequence of lord Palaserston'm ntatement withdryw his anotion.
On the Itah July, the lord Clanechor introdaced his bilt foundell on the requift matle by the enmmissioners of inquiry into reclosinstical conrts. Hy this bitl aloout 300 diocesan courti will be abolished and their tunslaess transferred to the ordinary jurialictions. The court of preuliaps-dines any body ont of the profesmon know any thing of it, "ven the name? is to be aboialurd, and criminal actions for brawlinge, ke, are in be transferred to the juigen, these offences being made misdemeanors, Tine matute of frauds, alao, is to be extended by it to the jurothate of wills, and real property thereby put on the same footing as personal. The marquis of Westmeath, who has lond some experience of the present syxtem in the ceclesinatical courts, and the bishop of I,incoln. approved of the principle of the bill, which was read a first time.
At an adjourned mecting of the Went India proprietors, at the Thatched Ilouse thvern, thie carl of Ilarewood in the ehair, tesolutions werp pasurd, declaring-"That the meether was ausious to adopt the princijile of the. resolntions of Mr. Stantey; that they hadal ways bore ready to offier to his majest's government their lowal knowledge and practical experience; that the proposell bill tueditated an unneressary interferetice with the rights and pifiviteges of the colonial Irgisiatares; and that a commilte cousssting of the agents if islauds, and other gentlemen, should be appointed, to examine inte the details of the bult, ntud report liereallur upon it Dishlin papers announce the death of Dr. Iaflan, Rnman Catholic toinhop of Casha:l, and brothef of mir Courey De Laffan, barmenet.

'Ihw Liverpool cotton markets up to the $15 t h$ tit. continued hrisk and a further ailvance on sea Jplands of |d., and $d. on all otiser Amerticnin and Brazil had taken place. On Fiast ladia cotton lind improved idd. The anlea in the latter deseriptions were limited. The males ammunt to $: 16,310$ bales, consisting of 1,119
 ed Ginorgla Eid, to 10d, 6,010 Mobile, Alahama and Trasessee, gid. to 9jd. 7,400 New Grleans, 8jd. to $11 \frac{1}{4} 4.2,050$ Pernambiseo and frara, 10!d. to $11 / \mathrm{h}$. 1 , e90 Bahia and Macceio, $9 / d$. to 10 fd .
 170 Fevjtian, ilid. to 1 kd .90 common West India, ke. gid. and 9,940 gurat at 6 g d. to $7 \frac{1}{4}$ d per 1 b . The imports are 11,156 bags.

Fostroske
The news of the capture of the fleet of Don Miguel by that of Dou Pedro, nnder rear admiral Napiér, luas heen ennfirmed. The Lirerpoof Tilnes of July 16 th eontains positive accounts to that -fi'-ct. 'I'lı- Ifırmimgliain stramboat arrivell at that place on the ugelit of the lith hringing Senhor Mrmizathle, bearer of despatoliee, who landed and procended imancdiatrly for Iothnding.
 It appear* that rear admural Napuler, witio thes squadron, conwi=tiog of three frigater-the Rainha da Portural (tiaz), Don Iodro, and Itomma Maila; a corvitte, a brig, and a schuoner, sailed from lesgos on the $2 d$ invtant, and on the 4 th eame it might of Don Miguel's Heet, conssting of nine ships, but there bemg no wind, the admiral was not ahte to bring liee vuemy to action, upon which he callmin obse steaners to tow lis shines towards the enemy which they secimed, buleps the sulus of the steamers wan secured to the owners. On finday the 5th inst. however, a brevze spuug up, when rear admtral Naping bore down on the enemy and comuncherd the actim nbout 3 D'clock in the atternoon by attacking the Iha Ratulia, mounting 74 guns, winch lue carned in gatlant style. The Ihun John, alarmed at the capture ni her consort, made all eat to escaper a siunilar fate. Adnural Napier, loaving secured the tha llamina, inmediately pursurd the fyomg shop, and after a loug chase, duriug wibleh the Lon Jolm kept up an incesorant fire from ber stern chavers, cante up with the eneiny, who at once etruck his colors.
The Princess Real, 50 guns, was captured by the Donna Maria, of 38 guns. after a short but smart engagrment of twenty minutes, iu which we regiet in say eapiain Goblet, commander of the latier ship, was killed. A sthre ship, aftur a desperate confliet with the Hon Pedro, likewise surrenderenl, as did twa of the smatler ships. The remaindernf the enemy's fleet, conaisting of thrce brign and a sehooner, efficeted their escape. Thus terminated all action which proved the destruction of Don Miguel's naval force, and which in ite results is of the utmost importance to the cause of the legitimate savereign of Portngal. Ilesules the loss oi' capt. Goblet, the coussitutionalPis have to deplore the lows of captain George, and liewtenant Woolridge, flaz lieutrnant to rear admiral Napper, and meveral other officers, niso a consideraite number of ntficers and inen wounded. Among the latter is the son of rear admiral Napier.
On the retura of the equalron whh their priziss to Langos, (where they will be immedately retilted for the service of her majesty [tonna Mana), tlue corporate body presented admiral Napter with a crown furmed of limel.

The whole of the protince of Algarvis has declared for the young queen, and the conshthtinnalists now ferl cortain of res. tablinturg Donna Matia on the throne of her ancemturn. The 'Tagns is bloeknded. The nunber of troops which lave declared for the queen in the kingdom of Atgarves is dufferenily represented, from 3,000 to 7,000. Ailhus thene to the trmps of marquis Palmella and count Vilia Fior, it makes their army to ancuat to between 7,000 and $10,000 \mathrm{mmn}$, with which they were rapuilly mnving towards lisbon. The war was expected epeedily to be bromgit to a elose.

The Birmingham callet off Oporto with deapateles for Don Pedro on the 10th, and communicatorl with the transport off the bar, the commanoler of whech came on board the rteamer, and stated that an attack had been made on Operto by Don Miguet's forces on saturday last, which was repelled with great loss in the enemy. During the vayage wome, the Birmingham fell in with the George tive Fourth steanmer, wheli wailed hence for Lasbon Iast wer'h with Matshal Bourmont in boaril, and commumiated the intelligence of the capture of the fleet.
nessis.
Despatehes from St. Petursburgh, as also the St. Petersburgh Gazette, received in London on the 14 th of July, mention a plot ugainst the life of the emperor of Russia, on the part of some Polish exiles, who len P'aris a short tome agn, and bound themselves by an oath theffect has assassination. It was firt maile public hy a journal which gave an account of the reception of a deputation which waited upon the empermr in Finland to congratulate him on the frustration of the conspiracy. It seems that the Russian authorities dul nut wish the matter made publie, but un this aceotht appenring dremed it nght to allude to it In the Gazette. The rensation created throughont Ruesia is very great, and all sotts of precantimns nre employed to proteet the emperor in his various visith to the frontice towns.

THRKE 8 。
The Ergyptians were still on the retreat. Ibrahim pacla's vanguard wa* on the other nide of Koniah.

The ship Governor Troup, arriven.
(17) , arrived at New York, brings Liver pool dates to the 17th July, which states "that the dukts of Pal mella tas recrived fuil powers from Don l'estro to piace bins.
self at the head of a regeney at the Algarves, and that in that capactty lie may be expected to inake a formal application to the Britsh and F'rench governments for the recognition of thonna Maria at queen, ile facto, of lortugal. Indecol sume surprise has been caused hy his not having done eo alreasly. I'lisere is said to be great Jistuclination in the part of some of the niem bers of our cabinet to take any, step in favor of the Porturuese ennstitutionaliste on a direet application of Ithon Pediro, litit it is bighiy protable thant the rigency eatablikhed in the Algarves will not nake a fruitioss application, when it is considered that the only zrounds of objection hitherto assigned by our government fir the non-recognition of the regency are removed, and thal the eapture of the Mignelite fleet by admiral Napier, has entirely changed the complesion of the conteat."
The landing of Don Pedro's tronps in Algarves had given great alartu to the cabinet of Ferdmand of Apain, and report mays, that they itumediately liurried of troopa to the frontiers. The cortes were dissolved un the 4th of July.
The London, Laverposel and Leceds markets continued hrisk, the decnand for some articles were entirely beyond the supply;

LFTTTER FROM A IOLISII OFFICFR.
The following extracts are translated from a luiter from a gailant P'olisho nficer, to a frend of ours in Boston, who laan for years past felt a deep Interest in the affaire of that brave and unfortunate nation. The uane of Wodzymski is a sufficient guarantee for the truth of what is said. $\left\{\mathcal{N} . \boldsymbol{Y}_{\text {. Com. Adp. }}^{\text {. }}\right.$

Chateau de Monfargis, April 1, 183
My dear friend; - You will have learned by the juurnats, that since mis last, the national Polish committec, presided over by l.elevel, has lheen dissotved by an arbitrary order of the French mimstry, on the forsual demand of the Russian ambassador. Snbsequent orders, entircly In the Lnassian spirit, obliged all of us cxiles, to leave Paris, and to abatudnn entirely the affairs of our brothren in exile as a body. But a new conumittee hns been attempted under the presitence of our gallant friorud Jwernicki; unhappily, lonwever, the choice was made ta haste, just before the breaking up of the cummittee, ouly a fow meintiers being present, and those the ones whose cunduct had heen so unpo palar with the exiles that they were obliged to resign. Still, we hope we shall soon succeed in formang a new counatitee, that we may preserve at least a rallying pont, and the shadow of a polincal existence, which, however, the Rusnian ambassador is triving to destroy, even on the soil of Frauce.
You know how shamefully we have been treated: how, cooped upin small and retired places, it has been forbuden us to leave them: how our unfortunate youth, who with to profit by the advantazes of frais, in faishang their education, have thousand and a thousand ditficnities thrown in iheir way. But aias! this in not the worxt: it seems the coup de grace is to be given, for the minister of war has published a circular to the Polish officers, zaying that the French government will endeavur to oblain an amuenty for them, so that they may return to their Aomes! You know, my ilear sir, the cruel tendency of this measure, which the woild will call a generous and magnaniinous one? (th God! it boots man to have more than a molder's patience, to support such a horrible attuatinh; and yct, my coun trymen seem th have it, I know not how, but yet they kerp up their locarts and their hopes; they have get up little sehools among themselvrs, and Feem determined to make most of their and cxile.
I will spmre your sensibility, and not give you the detail of the sad and sickening news we recrive from our unhappy country; - enough, that it is the same old aystem-ltie same perbecution - the fame confiacations-the ssme outrages and transporfations, which freeze the blood to think ujon, and which our ruthless tyrants follow up with hellish perseverance. One must have much faith, much strength of mind, whell with thousands, irnocent an himecif, he is suffering such perrecution, not to douht the existence of eternal jurtice.
It is the tyrant of the north, who has revivified the spirit of the holy allance-for it is this spitit which governs and oppressew all formpe. lou know the state of France, and the men who lave zeized upn the reins thrown down at the revolution of July-men who lave doue nothing during the past year, bat make bad worse. 'I'icre is no meanness, no cowardice, no deception, which Louis Philippe has not practised to mirengthen his seat on the throne of the barricades; and at the same tume to make the other thrones forget the popular origin of his own, and to unite it more firmly with theirs.
Public opinion in F'rance seems to be In a state of complete lethargy; then seein almost to despair of better things, for although the present ministry in condemued and hated by the vast majority of the people, it still exiwtr, and still goes on in it course, unopposed by aught but silent indignation. Thus state of things cannot exist loug, but it impossible to know when h will terminate
In Eugiand, where public sympathy was at one time so strongly awakened in our favor, every one is occupied at present with more intense interest about their own internal affairs, and more fally awake to the true character of the soi-disans ministry of lord Grey: the late measuren againat Ireland seem to arouse the people to observation at lawt. On the whole, the political situation of England does not differ mueli from that of the rest of Europe.

As for un, ollt mudis are inade up upon the course we must follow. There from nothimg to hope from the actual shate of things-nothing from the darker policy of Earope, which peems to be that of arresting the march of mind, and of retarding the progress of civilization and Itumanity. We agree perfectly with what you tell us, that there is tittie to hope for our country, but from a general effurt which shall break up the oppressive ayrtem which at present broods incabus like over all Europe; and we believe, tno, with faith, that although appearances are now against 1 t , it nust be broken up; that the progrexs of light and reason, found. ed as tiry are upon the immutable lawn of God, must work it -fficts, in spite of the artificisl barriers prected againat them That which yoll tell as ahout the ympathy of the American penple for our safferinge and for our cause, serves to confirm us in our hopes, while it consoles un in our malsery. We hnow that the Atnerican people can do nothing for our country, until the knell of vengeance shall have thtied, aul the day of strugale ehall have again dawned. They have done for us already, much more In proportion, thon have done for us already, much more In proportion, than those nations of Earope who ought to have anceored us as much, in pratitude: for petvices done them, as in regard of their own intereati; and they have done it from pure sympathy, and noble mpotiment-for, not for America, as for France, liave two hunArod thousand Poles given their best blood. The Americans have not partaken of the hospitality and eaten the thead of Poland, an did the French emigrants and the soldiers of the grand army; the liberties and commerce of America were not menaced by Russia, as were those of France and England. In counting, tifer, upen the eympatily of the American people, we shatl never firget what we owe thein fir the voice of syopathy sad the welcoune supply sent in the dark hour of our ayony. We shall min forget what hrf agent sulfered in the prisonn inf Jerlin, for having earried consolation and hupe to our porr soldiers in the forests of Prsern, nor shall weforget that even tu, diers in the forests of P thern, tor our deliverance.
wodzynski.

POLITICA OF THE DAY.

Correspondence betureen Muhlon Dickerion, senator in congreas from New Jersey, and Willium H. Crintrford, raq.

Suckasumwy, (N. J.) 4th Oct. I832.
Mr dear ana: I owe you onany apolingien for not havinz monner answered your letter of the 30ih of June last-hut, overwhelued with the busiuess that crowaled upon me at the elase of the seasion of emgrese, I ountted writing ant answef 'till in should reach home; and here I liund my business so anturh in arrear, in consequence of my lung absence, that I was completn. ly occupped for a month-when any house was which, my ture friendo who had eseaped from the cholera, since which, myst achas bsell entirely oecupied. A count for my apparent negleet.

Your letter, although written with the most friendly intentions, could have no effret in influriving my vote upan the tarif, as it was not reerived 'till after that rubject was settled in the sellate. On the $29 t h$ of June we received the tarifi bith ot in the menate. Onc the 2etiver, and on the ith July, passed our tbe louse of reprepind reading.
Your letter is postmarked the lat of July, and reached Washgon ont the 8th, (sunday) althongh, in ennsequence of my abence, I did net read or see it 'ull the next day.
We ufterwardd had a pommittee of conference, of which I was a meniber, in whech I assented to a report, by which we was a menber, tit the fouse of representatives, and ahandoned a part yielded th the house if represertaive, disagreed, some of which of our anmentinents to which to ought to have bres adhered to-bupt to opposie a majority of the the lows of the lill, by a vain attemph cinferencr-greatly as the bill was calculated to lujufe many inportant inanilactures in the Unitied States, I thought it hetter to pase it, uit would be connidered an a measule of coneltiation by the in considered as fully juwtufied by the final vote.

Of wy high estlimate of jour chazacter and opinions, you have zany pronfa. If any one cosid prrauade me to abandon iny priaciples of protecting the agricultural, commercial and manufacturing industry, it would be yourself-and the preservaltinn of the unlon, which you utge, would be the atrongest argumed that cnuld be offered: but tifí I conld not do, withnul betraying the trust reposed in turi and in my homble opinion, threre is mere danger to the union from abandoniug the protective system than Iromadierving to it.
There is na difficulty in redueing the revenne to the exigencies of the government, by repealing, or greatly dimimsting the duties upon unprotected artieles, withoul uffireting the imporiant articlee of mannfactare now protectpll by law; and thia would be precisely as great a relief from taxation as if the reduction took place upont the protected urtieles. This, however, would not answer the views of those who are determined that we shall import from Great Britain manufartures on the ainount of 12 or 15 unitionso of doilars a y year, In addition to the epormous value of those we now limport.
To prevent this mode of reducing the revenue, a plan was devieed, that the duties shoult be pqualized; in the language of gen. Hayne's amendment to Mr. Clay's resolition, value of that dutiea on no artiele shall, an compared with the $v$ articte, vary materialiy fron the general average."
This selipme of a general average of duties was as ingenions it was novel, and had it been carried into operation woild as it was novel, and hadt important manufactures of this pountry, for the sole brnefit of Gireat Britain.
Tliere is nothing that betrays a more deadly boatility to the oterest and prosperity of thi exatern, westero and middle states, than thio plan of a general average of duties-if sueh an average could be just under any circuinatances, why waw it not adnolars when it was necesary to raine twenty three thilionas of dollars a year by duties? If uot profure heretufore, why is it proposed uow, when we prapose to raise but thirteen millions by dutiep?
It was always expectind that on the extinction of the pathic debt, there would be a restuction of tevense anticipaled in the ten million* of iollars a yelle waten, that this was to be the peeasern, western and wiene protepive sytem. If it was rieht to riod of abandoning tie protectivere in delt, it is equally right proteet manufactare, when we are out of debt. Are the millions of property accuonslated while in deth, to be sacrificed when the debt is pain? is the pro-perity of agrieultuie.commerce and manifactures io depend upon the nainonal debt? Are all engaced in theintereare to be antained wlule we are in debt, and crumied when we are mo fonger wo?
The national debt doee ant give the power to protect the inThetry of the country, nur does its extinction take away that power.
The southern states now make revion forelan merchandise, not In exchange for which they obtain forelint also to the amount only sufficient for their own consumption, but of more than twelve millions of dollars a year for the entasumpthit of the rastern, westora and mithle siateas thermby feveref lug inowe stintes iributary ta thell. And it is a subjret of deep chupluint that thuse atates do nut consume of esch merchandise to the aturnt of twelve or fiftern mations more, an they would the celapelled to 6o, but for the manufacturea of the country, and tor witiela the cotion plamers would pay in their produce, winry velity believe-and this is truty the cause of the great truggle which now agitates tue states, and whieh has produced an cxcitrment in the mouth, that may be attended with ure mont ditastrous consequenres.

The grato growing and manufacturing suntes do not expert so to requlate the cmintieree of the United states, as coappletely to coututerval the restrictive regulathons of Great Britain aud oither Burupean guvernuments, so that the produce of those states shall be received in exchange for their whote inports, which so thee would be ant tumense advantage; but they think hage they now thern states onglit to be satistied with the advatitage they of enjoy, of paying in their produce to the amount of tweive or Levil millinus of dullars annually, for Intponted aticies consumtd liy thetn, the grath growing and manufarturing statea. This, to the soutiveri nitates, is one of the benefits of the union, which they would most certainly forfeit, should this union be distaolved. We are making too struggle to pay hy our exporta, for articlea to be consumued in the south, tut we stingale to prevent any furthef addition to the mutoumt of laports for our consumption to be paid for in the produce of the aouth, and to nations, whiseh esclude onr productions under prolitibiary datues. And for this we ate acensed of pulage, truud and robbery, even upon the floors of the two huuses of coniresan, in ternas uie nowt grose and thanling. Aod although terms of recriuniation have not been applied to geuilemen fruts the south, it is a lamentable fact, hat this unceantig plaugor and abuse have produred the most indig nant feclugex in many secuous of the country, that may throw insuperable diffientives in the way of as amicable adjustunent of the infifortumate cobitoversy.
If the prices of $\begin{aligned} & \text { grods of } k i n d s \text { manufactared in the United }\end{aligned}$ states, had increaytd in consequence of the tariff, there would be some cause of complaint; but this is wot the fact, exeept in case of cuarse woolleus, and this is in consequence of the votes of the enilemen frim the south. On the cuntrary, the prices of the genthme thave decreased, and that in consequesce of the than they would lave been, had uo sueh compettitun taken jlace.

A very small portion of the elitzens of the enstern, western and middle staten are engag'd in mannflaptures; they have to pay the same price for inanufactared articles, foreign of domes. $\mathrm{Hic}_{1}$ that is paid iu the south: and if these were enlingeed by the encouragement given to mianufacturez, they would ap seon counplain as the getuthmin of the snoth; aud yet upon this sobject, plave threre is uo causp of complaint.
You consider as a detasion, the idea that the duty upoa impofts is a tax upin the exporter, has such;-yet this delusios has had a most decided effret in producing the excitement in the south, and althongh the delusion bas passed away, the exciteinent remains.
It is believed in the snuth, that if the protective system ahould Le abolished, they would be enabled to add from thris to forty per cent. to their sales of cotion-that in that case, Great Brilain would purchase of them a world of cotton, that athe does not want-and I bave beard gentlemen froms the sorsth, of excelient understanding and apparently in their onber senues, declare it as treir decided opnion, ligal if a separatimn of the statet clare it as their deeided property of the aouthern tates-house, should take place, would inmediately raise fifty per cent. In ralands and slaves would immediately raise fry in the south, I lue. That this delusion prevails extensively luc. That this delusion prevails extensivety in the a iove of the have no donbt-and If oo, it is net sirange ingat a gain. Inunion slonuld yield to the prospect of stichi fusful eause should deed it seema necrenary that nome aneh pow wal eane shouid exiat, to account for the agitation of the whowested). The exial, to acetry, (the state of Louislana always excepled). The revenue from tinporta may easily be reduced to thirteen milions revenun form wher a further reduction of the duties of dollars a year, whe This wonld be one dnllar per head for the protected articles. people of the United Sis sueh a tax for auch an object, cannot sulting from the union. Suen a drive people to madnees. Inhe comaidered an oppressive an are alting in pay their share of deed, the people of the wath aro with be laid upon all nrtithis tax, but demand that the duties whand they are about to din cles of import by a gemeral average; are ealled upon to pay thit solve the unim, amount of tax, bitfor mon tea and cofiee or upon sugar and mon they pay the duice npmen apiam, or upon entton and wool laeses; ypon quirkint of the cannot be owing to a caus iens. The expitime
I have no doubt, that there is a fixed determination of a lare minarity of the people of the United states, to protect the ir mnjority of the peopue aginnt forelgn regulations, and again dustry of the emnitry againn forend, supported in part by ut the labor of the pauperie of Englatio, supporird parishes in the mannfacturing districu; cothing, and shas ena the value of their necewary focd and exp his goode, at leas th ling the British manufacturer to rake every concession to t, enat. This majority are willing to makent ruin to the eath sonthern states, which they ean do, withont ruin the policy, her Lnfure nd vocated by many of the ablest statemmen in the south. Hut if the concessiou made tu the late tatiff bill, be coneidered Bot athing, I see but Intle prospect of satiofying those who are in tavor of hullticatiou, or evcu Unose who are in figot of a in tavor of couventurn.

Auxiuns us 1 un to see the extiuguishment of the natinnal debt, I liave loug cousidnred it as a mint dangernas clisis in our affairs. I did not apprechend, however, that it would impair thic protective asnteut of our countiy; Dut I Irared it would iead to fuerease the number of thmee wlos live uphu the public treannry that it would lead to the cieation of new and inselese atficesliat it would lead to the iuerease of salarime, and to a widi, runtous partial and uujunt symtemi of intesual unproventents, by rasds and capals, under the legislation of congress, and under the officers of the general goverunsent, goving to theitu a dangerous puwer, with which it was not the suteation of the liedeni convention to invest thens.
Not that 1 am an enemy to internal improvements by roads and camals: on the coutraty, 1 an decidediy in favor of suchimprovenuemte, if they can be conducted with oroderation, and upon a $# y$ yetem of equal justice to all the stated, without adding to the powers of the eneral goverument, and wilinut absulting the tume of coneress iu an eudless labyrinth of tegislation.
The power of congress to nuke roads nnd canals through states, wisluout or wili their consent, I deny-but I have beves denied their power to nuthorise sulseriptivas in the stork of road or canal colupanics, established ta the states. For such subseriptiou I liave voted.

You think It strange that I whould advocate the power of congress to authurise the states to make roals and canals, a power which they could not exercise themselves. I proposed of divide the surplus revenue, not wanted for the purposes of the general governiment, ns being in fact the property uf the statew, it-the staius, haviag the muaey, would want no power from congress to make roads nad eanals with it. I have no doubt of the power of congress thus to dispose of the surplus funds; nad I an surprised that any one can doubt tt, who thanks it tight th. vote for a subseriptusn on the part of the C'nited States, iu nny road or canal company.
In your seennd letter you say, that I have been represented, as having made a speech or seport in support of the tariff, ou the principles of equalisitig the ndvantages which the sotuthern states eujny over the eastern and northern states, itu woil, eilmate and productions.

In a opeces upou the tariff of 1824, i eashibited a catculation to show how mueh the gran growing statew suttered from the circumstance, that they consuned two thirda of the imports into tive country, white the produce of the south, lit wheh but one-third of such importe was consumed, paid for two-shirdethat in fact the produce of the south paid for ail the imports cotsumed in the wouthern states, and half of ali consuuted in the other states. This statement I quoted itu a epeech on the late taritf bill, for the purpose uf shewing that in 1804, 1 assubued the shine fincts to prove that the grasu growing state were sulfering fion the circumstance, that the southern shates were exporthe so much, nad they so lithe, in exchange fior our impurts, that the author of the famous south Carollua exposition in 1828 , took to prove how much the suuthern states were suifering frotn the mame condition. T'u thin it was replied, that ny argument went to prove that the advautages whieh the southern states enjoyed over the burthern nad eantern, in clasate, mosl and productious, should be equalized. But 1 sadd no sueli thing-nor any thing to junufy such an inference, beyond what you will find in page 22, 23 and 24, of my speech, which 1 send you. In pare 20 , i give a sufficient explanation of my ineaning -a vety different one frous that assigned to me.
The situation of those in the southern states, who are opposad to the tariff, and at the sane time upposed the vinlence of the nullitiers, mant be cxtremely unjleasait. This I take to be yonr situatwh. If you ticeosage rash measures, you endanger lue peace of the coruntry; if yuu opporee stuem, yon become unpopular, and labor unter the imputation of being there friendly to the north, that to the south. My own situation has beet rendered unpleasant by a somewhat rimulur cause. When the interesta of the south, particularly in Gienrgia, were assuiled in congreas, and thrnughout the eastern and middle states, so far as my votes wonld gn, 1 sustained thone interests, and, by so doing, forfelted the good oplaion of matuy of my bent friends, who were in favor of strong meanires, which, if adopted, mumt have led to civil war. 1 believed Georgia in the right in primeiple, but censurable, for morne of the means adopted to seeurt lier rights. The course I adopted, was, ill my npinion, best calenlated to preserve the peace and harmouy of the union-1 am wathefed with the votes f gave, to nustain the interests of the sonth, although in opposition to the opinions of a grent majority of the people of the eastert and niddle states.
Your wish to presprve the union cannot be more slacere than mine-and I trust it will be preserved.
Nu anan has mise the power, or more the dispoaition, in aus. talu the union, than mur present chief magistrate. On hile prudence and energy, to conductus through our pieaent dilifeulties, I piace great reliance. He occupies a position that wnables him to aee the whole ground; and to perceive, that the dauget of dismefution is not altogether on one side of the question.
Whatever may be the issue of the present controversy, I cannot beliove, that, in the conrse you mny pursue, , ou will be governed by any but just and patriotic motives.

I do not attempt an argument in favor ur the tarnm; all that an well be suid upoll the subject, is already before the publie. I'lie senturents I have eajressed to you, are to be dirpozed of at your pleasure: upou ths great questiou I have un views to conceal.
Withaentiments of the most sineere segard and extecm, I am ohr ficmil and humtale servant MAllion DICKEISON. 'The hous. W'm. H. Craseford.

Mr. Crasford's reply to Mr. Dickerson.

Food Laucn, 4th Feb. 1833.
My dear sin: Your estecmed favor of the $4 t h$ Oelibber, lsis, was rrecived by due course of mant, and would have becil nawwered sooner, but I have been unakle, until a lew days pust, tu nbtain the journaly of the Irderal convention, Yatce' seeret debates of that consention, and Latiser Martin's report to the legislature of Maryland, of the part he ltail acted iu that convention. The perusal of these books was thought to be indaspenanhle to a full and satisfactoty examination of the vanoun and mportant tomess prexented in your intter. Winen the federal guverument was Firs! organised, the statesmen of the United ovverniment wist in apulon touching the coustutution. The States wete divided in npmilon toucling the constutution. The federal party believed the poowers granted in the constitution, were not sumfieut to enable the iederal government th fulth the objects for which it had been created. They, therefore, endeavosed to infure into it by iegislation, that vigor which they be leved nceessaly to enabered in this, they resorted to a latitudi beell devised. anry conmerued party when they cause into power. 'This party, the republican party when the while the federahists were in power, had contended for a stre: construetinn of the constitution, and opposed with talent and eelat, the efforts of the federal party to make the federal goverument, in practice, a cotsulidated government. It was prusripally owing to this opposition, and to the extrenues to which the federal parny carried their construction of the ennstitution that the repullican party obtained a triumph over the federa paity in 1801, and othalard possespion of the federal governmapht, and have retained it, at leapt nominaliy, ever since. At the eronclusion of the was in 1815, the debt of the union axceeded $$ 120,000,000$; and required that a laige revenue should be enllecu-d to diaclunge the interest of the debt, and provide for the gradual extingnishment of the principal. For that purpose, the tariff act of 1816 was enacted; and altoough it was mirictly a reveune act, and was voted for hy a large majority of the members of congress as a revenue nueasure, nnd was strictly justithathe as a revenup tariff, yet one member frotn the south supported it an a measure for the protectioli nf manufactures, nad openly eontended that congress not only was vexted by the constitution with power to protect manufactures, lint was under the mont solenun obligations to exercise that power at that time. Yet, strange to (fili, that very meminer is now at the head of the nuliifylue party in Sonth C'orntinn, and that pnety has uullified the tariff acte if $18-28$ and 1832, because they were intended to protect manufactures.
Sborily after the war, which terminated in eighteen hundred nod fifteen, there was an effirt made to numalgamate parties in the unimn. Many men of doubtful polititeal principlez assumied the political gart of republicaniem, nud were admitted into the republican ranka, These inen aniformly vitell fir exteminn the federal rule as muelh as possible, and aided by men who had aiwayn been known in the republican ranks, but who bad always shewn a marked problifection for a splendid uational government, among whum the gentleman belore ailuded to shone eon apicuotas. In addition to the protective inriff, a yplendid plan of internal inprovements was devised and suppurted, not only by the gentleatan previourly referred to, but by a gentleman from tioe west, who hind the address to appoprinte to hinself the credit of the pystem. Under the gnidanee of these two distinguished gentlemen, the doctrine of latitudinary cmastuction has oo deformed the enustitation, that if its framere could nrise frono their tombs, they could nut be made to believe that the present government existed under the ennstitution they hat formenl. Posterity will be placed in the same situation. When they shali read the conmbthining, (if indeed it is destined to deweeml to posterity), they with be tuable to account for many mets of the goverument under that constutution, and will be remily to concluite that those acts have resulted from a very different cusstisution, whinh has been lost in the lapme of ages. The staict principles of conntruction contended for by the rupublican party, from the year 1789 in the ywar 1801, whrm Mr. Jeflirsonn was clected president, where are they at this day? Do the republican party ocempy tire same around this day that they did in 1801? No. They have mbundoned that eround, and have adnpted the munt visionary and wild thenrien of constritction that ever degadef the human nideratandiug. I recollect to have heard a member from l'enusyivania, when I wae a inember of Mr. Mnaroe's cahin't, derive the power to nake taternal Improvementn from the power to regtilate commerce.

A* I consider your ietter presente the grounds apon which a potective tarif rests, and na 1 ami not conviaced that those tromude are defensible, 1 feel it my duty, in the preseat crisis, in endeavur to prove hy evidence, if not demonstlative, at least morally cettain, that the framers if the constutution slid not intend to invest congress with the powes 1 "protect mannfaciuris, and did not beticve that they hail inveatepl cungress with that jower. In page 139 of the journals of the federat convention, the following proposition was submitted to the consideration of the convention: "to establish public inatitutions, rewards and Immunities, tirs the pronoton of agriculure, eommeres, trades and manufactures." Herc the quention was dounctly bronghi under the consideration of the convention. The proporitime nor asy titing smmilar to It, was sanctoned by the conveution, av in provea by the journals and by the conatitution. I uresume you will admit that erenerally, where a grant of power has brem proposed to the conventioa and has not bern granted in stur consutution, if if ebifirec that toe convention did at mean on grant it. Now, unleks the refusal to grant thit power can be shown to be an exception to the grueral iule f have laid down, the power to protect manufacturro, must be abandoned by congresp. The onue prolandi in thts case lies upon the party rely. ing upon the eveeption. But if 1 an not greatly mistaken, 1 shall be able to shew, before thin lenter In concluded, that the cave under consideration is mot an oxeeption tu the general rule. Ia your letter to mr, you state that you have not atrompted to prove the consthtuonahty of the protective tantif, because you are watusfied with Mr. Madison's opinom on that rubject. You, nt the same time, inclose the a preerin of youre, in whieh the constitutunality of that measure fo ilf fended. Mr. Madson's opinion nnd vonre, are eutitled with me, at least, to as murh deference and rewpet, as the opuinns of any two men in the world. But upon a question like this, I eannot resign my juilg-un-nt to any anthority excrpt reasom. Now, as I aat aot sathsfied with the reason assigned hy Mr. Madion, i must he rexeus. ed for dittermeg with such a great and good man. Mr. Madiwou's opinion os parily the remitt of reasint, and partly of meniory. I shall bere state my olijection to the reasoning part of 1t, and then the evnlence in show that bis memory has decrived bim. I have not has letters to Joweph II. Cahell, cal. before ine; but Ifmy recollection be corrict, lie treate the itlea that the power to lay duties upon imports by a sinte with the coaswnt of congress, was inteaterl to cmable the nfates to pintect the mannfactures, with sonething like desision. He way* the limposition of such dutios would dewiroy its commeree, which no state cath be gresumed to dessre. Nuw it so happens that the manufacturing etates nre precisely in the sltuation to desire to sacrifice their commerce to their mannfactures, povided tise compseree of their en-mates is eacrificed as the sanut time. It niay be well conceived, that when for ruvenuc, congress shall have levied duties nearly to the point of prolnbition, a state liaving a large amount of capital invested in manufactures, equal at least, $f 0$ the supply of its own consumption, may be disposed to levy da tics mo as to prohilitit the importation of those articlew that it ean supply. Such a measure will exeupt it Iroun contributing any thing to the treasury of the tnited states, and will ouly subject It in the payment of the dutier whieh it shall have imposed, whieh it will pay to the manufacturers accoreling to my theory, but necording to the mannfacturing theory, whel you neem to have adopited, will suliject them to no higher price, but absoIutely procure those articles at a chwaper rate than they ohtain. ed them before the imposition of the probititory dutien. It think Mr. Madion cicarly wrong in lis reason. Leti us now see if lie Mr. Madiann cicarly wrong in lis is more fortunate in his mentory.
Luther Martia, in his repurt to the logislaturc of Maryland, pare 41, 4th volume, FIlsits edition, kays: "By this section ( 10 oh of lat art.) every state le a!so prolatited from laying any imposts or duties upon limpotia or exports without the perinisnion of the general government. It was urged that, ax almost all sources of taxition were given to congreas, it would be but reasoanable to leave the states the power of bringing reveuuc into reasoasable to leave the states the power of bringing revenue into their treasuriea by laying a duty upon export,, if they should think proper, which night be so light na not to injure or doscou raze Industry, and yet inight be productive of considerable re. venise. Also, that there onight be cases in which it would be groper, for the purpose of incouraging mannfarturers, to lay duties to prohibit the exportation of raw inaterials, and eren in oddition to the dutiet haid hy coneress on imports for the sake of revenue, to lay a duty to discouroge che importation of particutar articles into a state, or to enable the mannufacturer here to supply ts on as good terms as they could be obtained from a forcign inarket. However, the most iec eould ohtain unar, that this poirer might be erercised by the stotet, with, and only with, the consent of congress, and sublject to its control; and so anrious were thry to seize on every shiling of our money for the general government, that they indited cren, the tittle reverne that might thws arise, should not be approprinted to the we of the reopective statew where it was collected, but should be paid into the treasury of the United States; and aecordingly so it is determined. "

This report in dated Jannary aith, 1788, only a few monthas after the adjournment of the convention. Mr. Martia wan an active and intellogent member of the convention; ramarkable for his eomprohensive and tenacious monory: was dissati-fied with the constitution formed by that convrmition, and particutarly because be could not ohtain a more clicient protection of mannfactures, as appoarn by the foregoing report to the Marytand Iegoslature. The clanse of the conatimtion gyving to congreas the power to regulate commerce, is in a acetion of the eonsthtution preecrding that which Mr. Martin sayw was inserted to enable the states to protect thrir manufacturea and had bern adopted previossly. If the convention liad believed that the power to regniate commerce carricd with it the power to protect manufactures, Mr. Martin would linve been told that the power had been conferred upon congrese, nnd there was no need of verring the power in the states. But the provision wae need of verting the power in the states. But the provision wae
tion did not belicve that the power to regulate commerce did invest congreas with the right or the power to protect manufac thres. If this report of Mr. Martin proves that the convention did nobbelicve that they had vented that rught in congress, by the grant of the power to regulate conmerce, the extraot from the journals of the convention, previously cited, proves as concluswely that the convention did not intend to vest any authority in congremp to protect ra anulinetures. It appears to me, that the extract from the Journals, and that froni Mr. Martin's report, cover the whole ground, and that there is no room for dusbi, or heritalion upon the subject. It is true that the evidence is principally dehors the constutution. The journal of the lipderal convention is but one degree removed from the constitution liself, and in all cases of doubt is the best evidence that can be offired to remove that doubt. The evidence of the journal then, in the present case, is the higbest evidence of which the case adasit, and that cvidence is concluave ngainst the right of congress to protect manufactures. The testimony of Mr. Martin is supportud in sone degree by the constitution it self. The proviston which lie declares was inserted to enable the stales to protect manufactures, is fa that instrument, ns he represents it, aud was not in any original proposition presented to congress; and mit attempt has been made to accoumt for its insertion for n different puipose than that ascribed to it by Afr. Martin, which has within my knowledge been made public. Mr. Madison, in rejecting Mr. Martin's account of it, bas not attempted to assign any other otlice to the provision. Considerime that Mr. Martin'a report was made chortly aner the ndfournment of the feteral convention; that in the report he accounted for his conduct, to his constituent, the Irgislature; and that he atates a transaction in wheb he appears to have taken a deeplatermat, therc can, I think, be no room for doubt in geceiving bis aecount of the traneaction in preference to Mr. Madison's, which is maile known mure than forty years nfier the adjonrument of the federal convention. A carelul consideration of the federal constilution will lead to the pame conclusion an the evidence which I have juat submitted and examined. Upon a deliberate examination of that instrument, I think it is epparent that its powers were given principally for exterior objecta, and those whicb are necessary for the proper managenuent of those oljercts. That there do not apprear to me more than two grants of power int the constitution which authorises congres: to interfere with the great maws of individuals, ind their interesta or concerns. The revenane, of rather that part of It whith authorives congress to lay tasee and exeises, and the power kiven oyer the miltia; both these powers are mecesary to the management of the exterior relutions of the United Etates. The state legivatures, in the scheme of the federnl goveroment were cunsitlered an exclusively charged with the domestic relatiman and interexts of individuals, except in the two cases before mpationed. When the convention firkt met, very differen views appear to have been entertalned of the powers whict ought to be vested in it. As lie federal government has been adanntatered, it would have been unuch better to have adopted Mr. Hanilton's plan of the legislative powers of cougress, which was to pass all law that they should deem a ecessary. If that plan had been adopted, I verily believe but one law would have pasw ed which has not beca emacted. Under Mr. Hasilton's plana it is ponsible, nay, prohable, ronsidering the fanaticiem whech has been di-phayed in mome states, that a law would have pass ed for the cmancipation of eluver. In the enactmenta of congress they have devised the means of pansing all laws, which, in their fantasy, they decmed necessary.
1 adnat that if the United States were governed by a consofidated governmmnt, the power to regnlate commerce would, in the nlowence of the journils of the convention and Mr. Mar tin's repoit, have authorised the protection of manufactures. If the state government and slate lines were oblterated, the protection of mannfactures uught be effected ander vie power in regulate commicrce, because it hae been done by most of the civilized states in the wortd. Dht the tarifl is clearly a measure of conmolidation, and so are meashres of internal improvemcnt whiclt lave been carried on by cougreas without the zlradow of authoity. It is this rucklese Iegorlation of eongress that lias produced the present alarmiag ctisls in the affarso of the union ad the present in bit a commencement of toficulties of that kind, unless a specily retinn th the true principles of the constitution be efferted. The difficuliy of warding off the blow aimedl ly Suuth Carollna owzht to admonish the federal government of the necessity of modiration and rigid adherence io the nowers granted, and such as are neceswarily incident to them null withont which they canant be carried iatu effect. The prublication of the journal of the federal convention, and other docu ments connected with it, has thrown mueth light upon the powers of the federal government. I verily believe, if they had been publishod befure the organization of the federal goverument, neuther the bank of the United Statef, the assump. tion of the atate deths or a protective tariff, would have ever bern found in the federal statute book.
When I made upiny opinion upon the bank question la 18II, that opinion was founded exclusively upon the constitution. The pulalication of the journals, which I have now perused for the first time, haw clianged that opinion. You formed your oplnion upon the prolective system in the same way, be-fore the publication of the journal, and probably without having seen Luther Martin's report.
Review, I hexech yon, the whale grannd; lay apide during entertain a hope that we shall agree in the conclusion. You say the revenue may be reduced to the necessary expenses of the guvernment, by reduciag or eutirely aboisbing the duties upon unprotected articles; that this courue will relieve the nation froms a large pottion of its burdens, and ouglit to be acceptable to the states. This is a mistake. Such a reduction wit only increaso the inequality which already exists. But the tarifi states are wholly mistaken; they think the murmurs of the south are principally produced by the reventie collected for the use of the goverumeat. No; the people of the south linve never complained of paying what was necessary to support the governinent; but they complain, and uill complain as long as congress, by its leginlation, shall enable the manufacturers to le:y contritutions upon them equal to those they pay to the gorernment; condributions upon them equal to those lhey pay to the gorerntment; and rest assured, if these exertions are continued much longer, the and rest assured, if these exertions are contimued much longer, the union will be dissolved. But you say if the protective sypten be abolished, the union will be more certainly dirsolved, than by its continuance. T'lis is possible. I caa offer uo opiaion upon it; but if it hee so, fook at the ditierence in the situation of the southern and tarif states. The former say, hands off, "Lainsez nous faire." The latter say, if we are not autholised to fleece the sonthern states od dibilum, we will dissolve the unuon; or, as Ilezekiah Nifes mays, "we will present a million of mus. kets la defeace of our legal rights, secured to us by the tariff." You disbetieve that the tariff does operate opprewsively. You suy no complaint arises against it any where but at the south, for the simple reason that there is no oppreselon. I can verily imagine many reamons why there in no excitement against the tariff in the tariffutaten. Most of the men ur wealith and ittfluence in those states have capital invested in manufactures. Wherever there is a mannfacturing establiatimeat, a market is furnished to a certain distance around it, for every article that can be raised on a farm. All those who furnish the market are compensated, aud more than compeasated for the burdens of the tariff. I asan not pufficieatiy acquansted with the location or extent of the manufacturiag entablishments in those states, to deteruine upoa the relative proportion of the populatian thus benefitted by those establishmeath. Besldes these two classes, all those who are employed in those establishments, and their families, are reconciled to the tariff. But, imdependent of these classes, there can be little doubt that the pupular name with which the tariff has been dubbed, has had a tendency to reader it popular. In Kentucky, there can be no other cause for lts popularity, aided by Mr. C'lay's addresm and influence. It inay be safely laid down as a general rule, that manufactures eaonot be beneficiatly introuluced into any country, except where there is labor and capital which cannot find entploy withont their introduction. In Kentucky tiere is peither a superabundance of capital of labor. Manufactures can only exist there as a hothouse plant, and mu: i be supported at an expense greatly be. yund the value of the article produced. The taritr systein has heen introduced in disregard and defiance of the principles of heen introduced in disrrgar.
You say that manufactures to the amount of ten or fifteen millienss of dollars, purchased by the produce of the southern states, aro annualty consumed by the nortiern and middle state s, and then triumphantly ask if that is nut a benefit derived from the unioa; and add, that those nthtes are dewirnus of furnishing these articles themselves, but that wonthern states objeet, aad insist upont their coapuming that amnunt of British man ufactures, for the benefit of Itritislt manuliacturers. In reply to these serious allegations, i will say, lit the first place, the sonth never has objected, and does not now object to the tariff athtex furbishing the-mselves with all the articics neces. sary fin their convenience and ermufort. They liave never insinted that the tarilf atates shoult consume 12 or 13 millions anunally of British manufactures, ur any ofler amouat. I will say, further, it in the first timw ln the world that a paity, who bas heen. obliged, at his own reguest, wilh an advance of is or 15 milioun annunlly, phould concelve that he had laid the party maklug the alvances undor anv obligations, or that the party recciving was aggricved by receivina viluatariiy such advances. The trues state of the question in this: the tarigstatce not only insixt upon furnishing themselves with these articles, but also the southern statea, and that the southern states should pay thrin, not oniy to ennhle them to supply themselves, but the southern states aiso. T'be southern states have never requested any thing th lat stone for them at the expense nf a sister tate; whert:as the tarifistates ask that the whinle people of the United Statez should be enormously taxed for their enpecial bencfit. But youdeny that the taritr has operated to ralice the pllec of nanufaetnred nrticles; on the contrary, you allege the tariff has reduced the price of the protected articles. In other word, , you have adopted the theory and opiainns $n f$ the mana. facturers. Actions speak londer than words; and when word* and actions are contradictory, actions are to be b-lieved in preferense to words. Duriug the last session of congres.e, Mr. Appleton, of Boaton I believe, alleged that cottons uader 16 cents the yard were not protected by the tariff of 1828 , and needed no protection. The provision of the bill under consideration directed that all plain cottons costing leas than 30 cents should be estimated, in calentating the dutics, hs having cost 30 cents. A motion was made to etrike out all cottons coxtiag less than 16 centr. This motioa was resisted successfully by the friends-of the tariff. I ani informed that cottons are made in Eingland as low an 6 cents.
A duty of 25 per cent. Ievied on sueh cottnas, estinatell as having cost 30 cents, wuuld amount one one hared and twenty.
five per cent. ad valorem. This siagle fact proves conelusively that no reliance cas be placed upon the rejuresentations of thn manufacturers, and ought to ditacredtt tbenr evidence with alt itapartial men of coninion sense. For what would they desire to keep up an eaormous duty upori an article that needed no protection? Was it merely to insult the people, or to shew them the absoiute power that they wielded over them? If this was their olject, they have certainly succeeded in it, and if protection, luorder to vend their goody at an euroruous protit, wa their object, they have equally succeeded. I hope, after consideriag this fact the advocates of the protective system will cease to tell us, that the tariff reduces the price of manulactured articles. If this be true, the tariff is iajurious to them and beaefictal to us. We do not think so. We wish it repealed, and they ought so to wish it. Why, thervfore, is it not repealed? Simply because it enables the manufactures to levy contribution apon the peopie. All their declarations of this kind are hypocriticat and ralse.
I reject nullification. I equally reject Mr. MeDuffie's doctrine, that the producer pays all the duty. I ndmit that this doctrine las aggravited the discontents of the south. I admit, also, that the oppressions of the tarifil upor the south are exaggerated, and yet, I assert, that the routh ia oppressed beyond the eastern and middle states-that the tantr is uaequal, unjust, and, as I hope I lave proved to your satisfiction, unconstitutional, of at least an abuse of the constitution. It operates more oppiressively oa the southern than upon the people of the taritf states. Ist. Because there are no manufacturiag estab. lishurents iu those states, consequeatly no local market created. 2d. Because ane of the laboring class are employed by means of the tatif. 3d. Because capitatists have luvested nu capital in them. And $4 t h$, we are at a greater distance from the worknhopm which supply us with the necessary articles. The freight, insuaace, comimissions, and other necessary expenses, enhance the price of those artictes to the consmmer in the southera states, in a higher degree, than lu the tariff states. In these four particuiars, the tariff is more oppresslve to the citizens of the southern states than of the tarifi states. Even in Pennsylvaaia, I was informed by an Intelligent gentleman of that state, the people are beginuing to open their eyes to the oppressions of the tariff. Ile informed me that the member of congreas eleet from the district, was elected under a written pledge to reduce the tariff. There can be no doubt that the tariffin injurious to the interests of the great body of catizens in every part of the United states. It is a ueasure for the benefit uf the lew at the expense of the many. It ls worse still: it is for the bencfit of the few, rich mien at the expense of tise great body of the people. It is calculated to make the rich richer, and the poor poorer. Inequalities in wealth, in civilized communities, will aecessarily arise. So far as the inequality is inherent in the mature of mant, It must be submitted to; but any syatem of legoslation whel has a tendency to create or hasten that inequality, deserves the execration of the buman race. such is the tariff system. Dut this is not all the objection to it. If it were constitutional and exenipt from the tendency to produce inequality between the citizens of the repubitc, it would still be lajurious to the United States. The manufacturing state of society will arrive in all weil regmated civil society. It is as uatural for such a society eventually to become manufacturing, as a boy in due tume tu beome a man. When the period arrives, it ought to be subnvittrd un an ali other dispetusations of Providence, and then they are introdnced without any other ellopt ot sacrifice, and are productive of no otier inconvenience than what results from sedentary instead of active Inborious employment; and even this should not be considered an evil, for, on my supposition, it only employa those who, without the tatroduction of manufacturex, wund be idle, and any employment not absolately mischievoua, is bitle better that idleness. If this theory be correct, and it is believed ta been, is it nut miechevour to hasteu this wtate of things by legissation, to the great tujury of the existing state of society? Cinnceding the constututinnal power to pass such laws, is it not apparent. that the order of natore's laws is deraaged by sheli Irgislation? That a state of society is premnturely forevd upon the ataon, to the iajury of its national force, and to the destrictions of the eapital that wouid otherwase have been nore protitally e employed?
But you justify the tariff on the ground of retaination upnn Euglatid, because the refuses to receive thr-brean stuffs of the grain growing states. Let ins examure this propmanion. Great Britain, in onder to encourage agriculture, and to prodnce, if possible, bread stuffin enoush to support the prople, prohibits the introduction of bread stulf generaily, except when her crops fall short of supply. Thas prolabition extends to us in common with other nationw. Evary nation hins a right to mapage its own Internal affaify io its bwu way, and nther nations have po right to complain or interferc. Ihit as Great Brtain does not receive the grain of other nations, we have to rizht to say to Great Britain-take our graill, sry you whalif not lave one cotton anil rice, eypecially when she is aimost our ouly customer, and celtainiy our beest in those afticles. The grain growing staten have no right to jeopard those great interests, with a vlew to force Grent Hritain to athatidon a poliey whoch phe had a perfect right to adopt. if she thousht proper. Commeres britween nations has bren properly defined to be an exchauge of those articles of whirlh one mation has a reflundaney, a ad the other a drficicacy. When two oations lave only redundancirs or def.- ciencen of the saune artuele, there can be no bencticial commetce between them in their indigenous pauducts. In the present case, if the grain-growing atates make a redundancy of graia, and Great Britain feele mo deficiency of grain, there can the no beneficial eomutieree between them in zrain. But there in bo cause of comiplaint, wo cause of retaliatbon, least of all a retatiation in wifich a nutisaliy profitable comaterce is carried on to a very great amotul. The tarifi cannot be justly aupported an a meanite of reanisition.

430 NILES' REGISTER-AUG. 24, 1833 -INTERESTING JUDICIAL DOCUMENT.

I think I Havat alown-fist, that the pentection of manufacLures was tiot contided by the constitition 10 congrems: sectmon, Uat it has been eanfided to the watem: thiri, that the tariff is oujurt and oppressive to the sreat boaly of the people of the United states: fourth, that it is prill more oppressive to the peo. ple of the snuthernstates; firth, that it tends difertly to prodice inequality of wealih lis the republic, whirli is unfricndly to a rephblican government; and that it cannot low sipportollas a moz. sure of retaliation. If all, or evon one of these points are made out to your watiofaction, I hope yoll will concur with me in the perult at wheh I havit arrived. In difensming varmus qutewinos presented by your very interesting letter, I have endeavored to avoid every thing calrintated in orritate of uffind your feelinge, or the frelings of any rarronn with whom I difier upun tho ati aboorbing yuwstion. Before I conclode, I think it neceswary in state, that by the term mannfacture in the prweroliug pagen, no an decidedly fiendly. It is owing to ilfose manufactures itint we have been enablen to withstand so long the injurinus cticet of the tarilf.
I bad intended at one time to say anmething about mittificntion; but I will say ouly, he temporate, and resort to foree mily to repel forme. It is in times of high rxeitoment that the now violent stabs are given to liberty. God blews yon, and direet your counsels at thus alarmiug crisia. fontrary to iny predictinus of last spring, you are parmittod once imore th deliherate withic the wally ol the eapitol, on tie tarif. 'The question now prempited to the inanufartureris is, will yout he content with the inculentat promecturn afforded by the collection of duties for revenue, of will yun dismblve the union? If the union is ilispolved, the tarifi will be worthless. If in ithe, your respertive states can afford you protucion wishin your atates, except aganat magegling. 'I'luey enn affurd the saine protection under the union. Why will you, Hefrifori, utifi upon difeolving the union, since its disanlutient ennumt lipnefit yon? In this controversy the sotuthern stater lave acted on the defonsive. Yout frave been, and now are, the ngeresons. Will you cease to opprese? If yon say no, I cannot may finl apred! lont i will nay, on your beadn fall all the evil whel the slisoblontun of the anioni will inevitably canse.
I am, tny dear ser, your friend and most ohedient eervant, WM. II. CRAWFORD.
The hon. Nahlon Dickerson, Wushington cily.
INTERESTING JUDIGIA, DOCUMFNT,
We are indebted to a triend who takrs pleawnre in re-deve. oping the intellectnal treasures of by-gone gwnerations, tur a oping the intellectnal treasires of by-gone ${ }^{\text {comprations, tur a }}$ copy of the " Charge of ehief justice Jay, to the gromd inguet of the county of Uilofer, N. Y. on the 9th day of Srpuember, 1777."
'Thas charge was dellvesed upon Ilve openinz of the first term of the supreme court, lield under our present constitution. Kinguton was then the seat of government; and the legislature way at chat tinte assembsing to put in motion the bleased system of government under whelis we bave so long lived, luapy and prosperous.

This charge will be admired as mach for lis benaty nf style and purity of sentiment, as for its ardent and elevated piety and patriotism-

JUDGE JAT's CHARGE TO THE MSAND JURT, &C.

Gentlemon-it allords me very senmilile ploadire to congratio. late you on the dawn if that tree, mild and equal goverument, which now brigine ta mise and break from amidet theren clouste of anarchy, confuston and frecutininwern, whels the arbitrary and violent deroination of the king of Gireat Arsain had spruad, in greater or leaser drgreex, thrunghout this and the other Amorican states. And if gives me psirticilar sati-faction to renaark, that the firet fruits of our excchlent conntitution appear in a part by having unatimontily endeavored to demerve theim.

T'Ins is one of those sugnal instances in which divine Providence has made the tyranuy of princes in-tummental in lireaking the phains of their subjucts; and rendered the mose inlin. man desizus, prodisetive uf the best consequencen to those against whom they were inteuded.

The infatuated savereign of IBntain, forgetfal that kinge wrere the servante, not lise pruprimtor, and ourtit to the the fathere, not the increndarica, of their prople; linth, hy dentroying our former comstititions, firahied ns to erpet mare. figibles egaleme of government on thrir mins; and, liy unwarrantahle altemputs. to hind us in alt cases whaterer, liti reduced ws to the liappy necessity of being frec from his confrol in any.

Whnever comparen mar presput with our former coustitution, will find abundint rraerth liti spjoice in the vexploange, and readily admit, that all the ralamitsen bierodent in this war, will hoe anply compenasted by the niany hlrasinge flowiug from thim zlorious revolition. A revaluinun which, in the whole conser ol ite rime and progreas, fa distinguselsed lyy mo many marke of the Divine favor aud interposilunt, that no doubt cau reorais of its being finally accomplished.

It wap herinn and has been mupported, in a manner on singthIar, and I inay may, nuraculoue, that whea future ages shali read its thistoty, they will he tempted to eonsider a great pari of It as fiabulous. What, amone othet lisigga, can ajrpear more unworthy of credit, than that in an etilghoentd age, in a civilized and C'hristhan country, in a bation oo celebrated fior lumas. nity, as well as lave of liburty and justice, as the Raghinh onice justly were, a prince phoubd arise, whm, hy the influense of copruption alone, thould the alfe to meduce thein fito a combinaton, in reduce three millions of his most loyal and affectiotirate sirbicelt, to aboulutw slavery, ander pretenee of a right, appertaining to Goul alone, of buding the: In all cawes whatever, not even excepting cases of consmence and rclugion?

What can appuear more improbable, although ttup, than that this priuce and this people, should obstinately ateet their liearta, and shut thrir rars, agaisot the nosat liumble petitions and atfretumate remonstrances; and unjustly determine, by vinlence and force, to exerute dnaigns which were reprobated by every primeiple of humantty, equity, gratitude and policy-designe which would have bern exerrable, if intended ngainst savages suf rnemies, aud vet furmud apabet unen, descendrd from the same cominon ancestors with tienurivie; men, who had the. rallv cimiribuied to their suppost, and cheetfily fouglit their hatios, evrn in remote and balrfit climates? Will it nom appear extractrdinury, that thirtmin colonies, the object of their wirked droigos, dividod loy variety of govertiments and manners, aliould immediatuly bechme ote people, and thouglt withisut fandm, withant inagazinore, willout disemplined troops, in the fare of ilueir ettemice, innanimosioly do-ternsine to be free; and, undannted by she power of IIrmain, refer their carree in the jusntidanitud by ilfe power of Ilriain, refer thrif cabree in the justice of the Almighty, anil rusolve to repel foree hy force, theretica of the Almality, anit rusolve to repel foree hy foree, thereby presenting to tive warld an illustrions pxample of magnantimliy and virtue scarcely to be parallolod? Will it not he matter of doubt and wonder, that, notwithotandiog these difficultien they whonlt ralse armies, ertabliwh funds, cairy on comnmerce grow rich hy the aponle of slavir enemies, and bid deffance to the armiea of Itritain, the mercenarirw of Grrmany, and itie savagen of the wildrinews? Il ut however Incredilite these things may in finture appenr, we know the m tu be Irup, and we should always remwenher, that ilte many iemarkable and unexpected means and events, by which our watit have been snpplied, and our enemics repplical or revtranned, are such stiong anil otriking prowifs of the intripmaition of beaven, that oitr having buen hitherto delfeered from the threatetted bondage of Britain, oneht, Tike the emanripation of the Jrws from Fegptian strvitusle, to loe forver asrribud to its frue cause, and instead of swalling nur treaste with arrogant ideas of onr prowers and impottane ${ }^{\circ}$, kindle it1 thwm in flatse of fratimde and piety, which inay coufume all remanis of vire and irreligion.

Bleswenl lie Grm! the time will now never arrive, when the prince of a country, in another gharler of the globe, will cominatid your tilviticime and hold you in vaswalage. Ilia consent has erosed to he tureypary to enable yout io pnact law fasential to ywur welfaret not will $\mathbf{3} \mathbf{0 1}$, it finture, loe sulyect to the impee rious sway of rulers, instructed to marrifice your flappinewis. whenever it might be inconststent with the ambitious views of their roy al mastore.

The Ancricans are the firvt people whom lieaven has favnred with an opportunity uf delitierating upon, and choowing the fortine of eovernment under whieh they mhould tive; all other con-titutions have derivell their existerice from vinience of accindental circmin-tances, and are therefore prolinbly more disimnt from their perfection, which though bevont our rearh, may nevrrtheloss be approached under the guidance of reason and ceperioner.

Ifow far the prople of this etate have improved tha opportunily, we are at no lnak to deteranine. Their conwtioution has given grneral antisfaction at home, and heen not only apporved, hut applanded abroad. It wowid be a plessing tosk to take a minute virw of it, in inveptigate itg princijulr z, fulf remark the connection and nee of its several parte-hut that would the a work of too great length io ber proper on wits necasion. I muth therufore cotvine mvself on rencral nhservations; and among those which satwralty arise from a consideration of this abhjects onne are mnre ohvious, than that the lighest respect has bren onne are more ohvious, than that the lighest reapect has bren pald to those greal and eqnal righte of buman nature, whieh should forever femain inviolate in exery sncipty; and that such care has been taken in the diaposition of the legislative, executive and judicial powers of envernment, as to promise permenence to the conutitution, nnd give encrgy and impartiality to the diatribution of justice. She that whilet you poses* wirdom to diverm and virtue to appoint men of worth and abilities to All the offier of the mitie, yon will be happy at home and re. apertahle alurnad. Your lives. your libertiex, your property, will tue nt the disposal only of your Creator or yonrselvee. You will know no power hit anch as yon will create; no authority Hnlese derived from your grant; no laws, but wuch as açuire all their olbligntion from yonr eoneent.

Adequate aceinitv is alen given to the rights of conselence amil private judgment. They are, hy nature, pubject to no conIrol bitt that of the Deity and in that free situstion they are now Ieft. Fivery man ta permitted to consider. in adore and to worship his Crrator in the manner most ngrienahle to lifis eonsclence. No opinions are dietaied; no rules of falth preareribed; nn preferespe given to one sert to the projudice of otiters. The eonatitution, liowever, hae wiarly dectared, that the "lilierty of coneclenem, Iliermhy granted, shall not he an ennutrned as to ercuse acts of licumtionsenest, or instify practices Inmensistent with the peace or safets of this state." In a word. the convention. by peace or safets of ohle state." in a word, the convention, by whom that constitution was formed, were of opinion, that the gaspel inf Christ, like the ark of God, wotild not fall, thontith unrupported, by the arin of flesh; and happy would th be for mankind, If that opinion prevalled more grnerally.
But let it be remembered, that whatever marks of wisdom, experience and patrintism there may be in your constitution yet, llke the beantiful nymimetry, the juat proportions nud elegant forma of our firkt parents, before their maker breatised into them the breath of life, it is yet on be animated, and till then, may indeed excite adinlration, bit will be of no use; from the people it must ieceive its ppirit, and hy them be quickened. people it must ieceive it upirit, and hy them be quickerned. main, the sonl of this constitution, and it will beeome the mourre of gieat and extensive happiness in this and foture generations. Vice, ignorance, and wait of vigulanee, will be the only enemies able to deatroy it. Againat theme, be mruver jealonts. Fivery member of the state, ought diligently to read anil athdy the constitution of tiin conntry, and teach the rising generation to be free. By knowing their rights, they will sooner perceive to be free. By knowing their rights, they will sooner percive when they are violated, and be the better prepared to defend and awsert them.
This, gentlemen, is the first court held ander the authority of our constitution, and 1 hope its procecalinga will he such, as to merit the approbation of the friends, and avoid giving cause of censure to the enemies of the present estahlishnsent.

It is proper to ohserve, that inn perwon in then seate, loowever exalted or Inw his rank, however dignified or humble his etation, but bus a right to the protertinn of, and is amenalile to, the tion, but has a right to the protertinn of, and is amenalile to, the Inws of the land; and that if those laws be wisply made and Inws of the land; and that if thowe laws be wisfly made and duty executed, innneroce witt be defended, oppression punishduty executed, innneroce witt be defended, oppression panished and vice restrained. Hence it beenmer the cmmonon duty, ed and vice restrained. Hence it beenmen the combmon duty, and indeed the common interawt, of every subject of the atate, and particularty of those concerned in the distrimution of justice, to unite in repressing the licentions, in supporting the laws, and thereby difusing the blessinga of peace, secusity, order and good government, through all degrees and ranks of men among us.
I presume it will be unnerepsary to remind you, that nrither fent, favor, resentment, or otlier personal or partial eonwiderntions, ahould influence your enduct. Calm deliherate reason, candor, moderation, a dispassionate, and yet a determined re: solution to do your duty, will, I am persuaded, lie the principles by whirh you will be directed.
You will be pleased to observe, that all nffencea committed In this county agaisat the peace of the penple of this atate, from treason to trespasn, are proper objects of your attention and inquiry.
$\mathbf{Y}$.
feiting the bills of credit, emitten to the practice of enunterfeiting the bilis of credit, emittral by the general congiess, of other of the Amprican states, and of knnwingly passiug ruch coanterfeits-practices no leas criminal in themselves, tuan in garioun th the tnterent of that great eanse, on the succest of which the happiness of America no cazentially depends.

FRIGATE CONBTITUTION;
Foxmonty Callen nld iansaides.
Aa in the course of a frew days the above noble shlp will the hanled into the new and pplenilid dry dnck, which has recently been completed at the navy yard, in the presence protably of the president of the Uuited Etate-, and minny other diatingniabicd officers of the government, as well as of an immense convourse of our fellow citizens, and an every circumstance relutive to this favorite ship will nnw be rendered loubly interesting, we propose to offer a brief listory of her splendid and glorious career, part of which is from ruemory, having bern present when slof whe launched, part from official doellments, and part we lave gleaned frots the old newspapers of the day. She was built at Hart's slifg yaril, at the north end, sitwated brtween the Winnisimmit ferry ways and the marine rail way, and was lannehed under the enprrintentence of ent. Ctasuras, the builder, on nearly thirty-siz years old. In inusmelle Boaton Comenercial Gazette of the next Monday, we find the following Commercial
"THE Lacxck-A magnificent spertacle? On Naturnay Ia at fiteen minuter past. M. the frigate CONSTI'TUTION wins launched into the arfjacent eli-ment, on which slie now rifps an elegant and snpert specimen of American naval architecture, combining the unity ol wholom, strength and beauly. The tule being amply full, she deseended into the busom of the ocean with an ease and dignity, which, while it afforded the most exalted and heart felt plensure and satisfartion to the many thouwand spectators, wan the guarantee of her safety, and the pledge, that no oceitrrace plocmild mar the joynus kensations that every one experienced; and which burat forth in "eiteratell stoouts, which "ront the welkias." On a sigial being ziven from on board, her ordnance, on slope, announced to the neighboring cosntry, that the CONSTITUTION WAs SECllRE. Tim much praine cannot be given to col. Claphora, for the enolnexs and regularity diaplayed in the whole businewo of the launch; and the universal congratulations he received, were pvidences of the publie testimiony of his okill, intelligence and circummpection."
The severe labor that attended her birth, which was only effected at the third trial, was seizell upon by the enomies of a navy, who at that time were numerous and powerfint, as prohas fully demonstrated how little reason, her brillimnt rareer of naval history to name the ahip that has done so much tu fill the measure of her counstry 'in giny, She sailed on her Aret cruase, on Sunday, the 22d of Juif, 1798, ath in the Comuercial Gazette of the nuxt norning, we find the fallowing:
"Y'enterday sailed on a crimse for the protection ui" nur eammerce, the frizate Conntitutiom, enmmanded by enptain Samurl Nicionison. This nohle frigate refircts bonor ma all concerned In her construction-on the agetit for olitaining every biaterial of the loest kind for her equipmient, and fur liaving the agme uanniactured in a anpwrior nananer; on the builder for the exeeution of the holl, in astyle demonvtrating our eapability fur building elipe of war, ht leant equal to any in Eurnpe. The enptain In a hrave and experieuecd commander, in whom may he reposed perfect cotifidence. It lif-ifenants young men, who liave commanded merchant ships with opprohation, and of whom fair expectntions thay be entertained. Her crew are, with vily few exekpilous, native solly of Massnchisetts, many of thrm eonnecterl hy the pirongest of human ties wires and childron. I'rwards of one hundriol zeamen have given ordern in favor of t'vir fanulies, to draw monthly, half of their pav, the publie lisvinz made arrangements fur this purpose, evincive of its paternal care and eneomragement of our marine. It would accem that nothmg is wanting, in render thit ahip and lier erew popfict, lint that experienee, whieh can only result from actual exercize at sea."
She returned from this ernise in the middle of November. This was during the brief war with the Frenell republic. Wंe motice the apponntment of Iraac IIull, as her fith liputenant, n ho, nfter the lapee of foniteen year", was fortunate enongh to necupy a hipher slation oll lier quarter deek, when the eharin of Hritioli invincibility was deafined to be forevir brakrn. Ont the gtth December, of the same year, she again railed fima Boaton hathor, on lier second ernive, from which slie rethrned a few inonths after, withnut liaving the goond luck to fall in with any of the enenis's national ships. I, ess fortunate in this respect than the Cunatellation, undry the gallant Trnxtnn, whop about this time, aneer-rited in capturing the Frenell frtgate 1. In nurgente, of 40 zuna and 417 mvn . L, a Veugeance, a large French national ship 54 guns and 530 men, likrwine struck her colors. bnt was fortimate enomizh to rscape in n aquall, and arrived ai Curaena five daya after, a eomple te wrek.
Nlontly after this, our enmmerce in the Mediterrenean having suffered keverely from the deprotations and insulta of the Rarbary cruisers, nur govirnment determined at onee on chastising them. In May, 1 R03, entumodore Edward Prelif was appointed to the eommanal of this favoitice ship, and in June he wniled with the squadion dratined to aet mgainat Tripoli. To all converant whit this scene of war, it is wrill knnwn the Cionstithtion actud a conspienons part, in fact bore the brunt of the she was fur a tonge destruction of the Plisinifiphia, of 44 gune she was fur a long time the only frigate ons the station, and being ably seconded hy the gallunt Dceatur and the smaller veasels, did more in a single yenr to lumbthe the pride of the Barbary states than all Cliristendom ever did before or sines.
In mhort, zuch a vuriety of aprvice, hair breadth eaeapes, hard knocks, and perilons adventures har never been achirved by any single vemacl. Peape liaving been concluded with Tiipoli, or nonn after returned linme, where ahe remained nurmployed, Britain. This wan on the 18th of June, 1812. On the 12th of July she Ieft the Cheaappake for New Yurk, preparatory to a Britth squaliron, consleting of ther Africa 64; Shnnaon and Gureriere 3a; Belvidera 36; and Finlua 33 ; under the enmmand of enmmodore Broke, of the Shnnnon Doring the most ertitienl perind of the plane, when the nearest frignie, the Brlvilera, had already enmmenced firing, and the Gnerriere waw training loer guna for the shme purposer, the posaibility of kedgeng the ship, atthoush in nearly thirty fathoms of water, was sugeestrd by lientenant, nuw commodoen Morris, nud was eagerly adoptefl, with the mast hrilliant virecess. The encmy, who hand before bern ghining, whe now almast impereeptilly falten asterb, withont thrir heing able to enneeive of the mysterimus manner In which it was pfierted. A lncky mile or tlorreatunats lind beren gained in tivis way, before the diseovery was made.and then it was altogether ton late th avail themsrivea of it, with any prohalitity of ancreses a propitions brerze springine up at tlive mha ment, of which the c'onstitution filt the first effrets, wonn Inerpaspd the diatance, and rendered any farther exertiona in warging and towing nnnrcessary.
The Shannon had for some hours nill her salle enmpletely furleil-with 13 boats towing ahead. The tonstitution had three boats towing-the remaindry heing enenerd in earriong ont kerlges, while the crew on hoard fonnd suffeient employment in warping np to them; and to thit moot fortunnte expe. dirnt is her miraentous excape to he attributed. She bid a final adivy to her kind friends on the 19 th. nhors a cliaser of nearly three day and threp nighta, nnd arrived safe In Boston on the three daye and three nighte, nnd arrived anfe In Boaton on the 9ith of July. This has nlwava been convidered, and wndouhtedfy was, one of the moat hrilliant exploits that necurred during the war. The drep feeling-the Intense anxiety that reten rd throughout the ship during this Inng and neflunum phane, and whieh was puetured in thr countenances of all on board, in characters ton atrong to the miataken-may be Imagined, hint cannot he deseribed. I, et na muppose for a momellt, It had bern the deariny of thim fine ship to have falten thus early in the war, into the hande of the eneony-a misforivne ne lias alregily heen thown which was only recapmed ne th wrre, hy a mirapleWhat a vast difference it would liave made at the clope of the Wer, not to speak of the groat inoral infutsee of a firvt victory, In the proilt and lota of our uaval gloryi and although the baslance would still have been greatly upon our olde, yet the sumi total would have been very senibly or nearly one baif dinitaislied. In the firat place the loses of motine a frignte at this early period would have boen Irreparahle, and in folfowing up the consequencer-tiree pf the anost splendid victorlea of the war, together with the same number of hair breadth eseapes trom a superior eneny, would now have to be deducted from the argrenate of our glory, making a differenee, both ways, of more than 200 gums and aimnat I , 800 men.

Afer remaining a few days in port she pailed again, and on the 19th of Augunt-prectivety one month after her encape-whis lucky enough th fall in with one of the same frigatea crulsine alome and with her name emblaznned in large characters is her fore- unpafl. Nithing daunted at this, however, the Consfituuna took the liberty of edjang down fir the purpose of ascertalaing the object of such a close pursuit a few weeks before.

Assoon as the two ship were within whinpering distance, an esplanation commeneed whieh after a close conference of thirty usinutes, ended to the complete satirfaction of capt. Hull. she proved to be II. B. At. frigate therriere, enptain Dacren, of 49 rums and 302 men, and had been totally dwmasted and in other respecta was rendered such a complete wreck, that getting ber tato port wan altopether out of the quention. She wha accordingly burned, and the Constitution returned ugain to Boston, where she arrived on the 30th August. Never shall we ion, where she arrived on the soth August. Nev

The news arrived in town durlug divine eerviee on Sunday mornink, and the ciowds that fibcked to State sireet to hear the particulara of auch n glorious victury, and shouts that rent the air, fully evineed the deep intereat that was lett liy every clam of the community.
The ship had anchored in President roads about 5 millos from town, and in the afieranon the barbor was altwe with pleasure boats, anxitria in take a cloner view of Old Irounides, and to exebange congratulations whit ber gallant erew. We among hundreds of others salled roand lier several llawes, endeavorhig In vain to trace the effects of an engagumest wath a British frigate of nearly equal furce, that had occurred only tleven days bofore, and la wharh her antagnaist was entlirely detaolished in the whort space of haif an hour. We cuuld hardly believe our own nyel-ho serions damage whatever was vinible; now and then a place or two ware polnted out where a splinter had been driven off, but on the whole mine appeared In alruowt afr perfeet order as when ohe tef the harbir only about three perfeet order as when she ten the harbur only about three weeks before; Indeed it sermed to us thint Hike Shmdrach, Mrweeks before; Indeed if sermed to us that hike chmarach, 3inseathed. This was indeed a now statia of thingw, and werved not a Iltile to Inersane the hope and confidence of the fricadr of our gallant navy throughout the upion.

Captain Hull, heing now ealled upon, if we remember right, to attend to the affara of $n$ deceaumb brnther, gave up the command of the ship to captain William Bainbridge, who, with the sasoe erew, shortly after satted on anotber crulse to South America-the aloop of war Horbet, captain Lawrenee, also uader his command, from whom thowever he was soon afler separated. On the 29th of December of the same year, while crulaing about 10 leagaes from the const of Braztl, she fell in with, and aftre a cluse engagement of aearly two houre captured, II. B. M. ship Java, of 49 gune and upwards of 400 soen: coptala Launbers beim mortally wounded durime the engazetient. In addition to her full erew, the Java had upwards of one husidred supernumerariss ons bourd-otheers and seamento join the Bruperh slups of war os the East India stution. Besides these there wetw a number of land ofticors among the reat Ireutenant general Ilistop, major Walker and captala Wood.
Thue was one of the beat contented battles that was fuught during the war-the Java Indeed only struck har flag, when every mast, bow-uprit and. all had, one after another, gone by the board. "The great dirtance from our own const, and the perfeet wreck we made of the enemy's frimate, forbade every idea of attemipting to take her to the Unitied Niates. I had thereforn no alternative left but burning her, which 1 did on the 31 it of December, after recelving all the primoners and their bazzage, which was very bard work, only laving one boat left out of eight, and not one lef on board the Java." After blowIng her up, the Convtitution returned to Boston, where whe atrives an the 18th of Feleruary, 1813.

Well do we remeuber berog at she Federal street theatre, when thn newy of this virtory wan announced from the stapr by the manazer. Mr. Powell, and shorily aner when the gallant cotumandore, megether with some of his officers apperared in one of the boxes, the whole hou ne resounded for many minutes with the cheering of the audieuen. Tis veteran Cosper, then In the prime of Itfe, wis in the second act of Mactieth, asd although bey stimit n intle hehind the seenses, eatirely forgetting she ginclous thucuu the liad mardered, we saw hlan swing his cap reand with as much enthuelasm mo any one.
III June, 1813 , capt. Cliarien Stewart wan nypointed to her entumanat: nul om the 301h of Heemmher, she proceeded to rea, notwithe tmantiag limaton was the'n horkaded lis suven ships of War, and safrly rum the ganath: thruingh the whole of them. Alm relurand on the thi of April, 1814, ami whe chared thto Marlitehrat liy two of the eneiny'd heavy Irigater, La Nymphe anlil Junno.
Abmut ther numilte of Becember, IAIt, alin pinerefled on lien second celuitic undir capt. Stewait, mind on the 2eth of Febrtuary, of Madeira, fell in with, and after a severe action of th miftume surceeded in capturiag 11 . K. M. shop C'yane uf 3, and L.tant of 21 zums, and tes nea. A move perfect specimen or nauta out the whale at thus unmoualie hatule. The sdvautayca of a divided fores, or an the boys call it of tyo upon ens, divided fores, or an the hoys call it, of two upos une, are well known to atl, particularly to men of anvat eciraca. A raking fire is almoat alwayp very mure to be decisive of tie fas onf a fire ts mlmoal alwaye very mure to be decialve of the fan af a battle: and to have avoided the from either of ber opponetib and with a lending breeze too, is indeed mirnculern, "apr'tally Whry wo recollect that the Constutution ouceneded in rahurg fir the Ciape de Verd lunndin, auil on the litho of March cance io anchor in the harber of Phert Piaya in the coland of A . Jusi Two days afer this, a aquadion of the enems hute in owlit, the denata frimate of 40 , the whole under the cammanad of tis tientye Cullier, and in seven nimutes after the diact very wis made, the Conistituluoh w lth her two prizes had cos there catile and wore uuder way, beling at this ume muly abuat gun mhat to windward of the eneay. The Levaut was recapturd. Tho Lyane hud the good tortune to eacape, and now forman a prat of our anvy. The Comatitution contanued her craize, and shortly after relumied tu Boston, where she was for the third time teecived with every ponatule demomatration of joy aud exultation. The last newn fromitur bud leen brought by the Cyier, arrived at New loak, when the above nquadrom was len in chase, and whe fiad beard a freary camonading morily after loatig atght of her, ao that the toost titenne anxicty bad for some ume bei a extertained for lier anfety.
Peace had now heen proclainied, and to have loat this nolite vesel and her gallant crew at thot lote hour, and after auch a catalogue of ghoriona rerviees 100 , would have cast a glootu over tbe whale country.
No wonder than that her mafe arrival, efter mo many "moving aecidonts by tlood asd neld;" and after having esemped so ramy perils of "ulie watera, winds and roekb"-should bo entill d with nuch univeraal enthumiasm. Captain stewart not oils received the thanke of congress, but of aluinat every siate leginiature then in prasion, and fiom many qnartens some more substantual marks nr approhation.
After this, Oht Ironsiden was taken th the navy yard aud insmediately dismausleif, where ohe remalned uneniploged, we beIncve with a single exception, ull the sprlar of leas, when who Hanirl' $T$ '. Pattersmut, to josin the oquadron in the Alediterranean. Slue romaincd there about three years, after which she retumed agatn to the Unlird States, and as if to add one niore to the unay instances of good lusk that have alwaye attended herthe was so fortumate ne to arrive and tire a fedieral salute tu her bative city-during the celebration of the 4th July, Ie ${ }^{2} 4$, and contributed not a lttife, an well by her beautiful appearance as lyy the deliphtful asoociatioua that are ever uppernusel in the presence of sueh ng glorious vessel, to heightets the eplendor and add a sest to the fentuvities of the day.
We lave how, we believe, briefly tonelied upon most of the leading incidenta In the eventiful bistory of thin favorite slip douhtiens there are many olteria well worth reenrding, bul whiels can be only kthown to thono who, at the time of their oceurrence, were on thourd of lier. We liave never bren able to find any but very unsatisfactory aceounts of her operations beforo Tilpoli, and the atior lharisary statel. A complete and impartial Antory of the movements of our neveral uquidrona in those sem the-we sincerely hope vonie eomprtent pernon may be fotud who in willing to undertake it.
About twelve years since, the Constitution was hove pat anad completely exnmined at the bary yard in thertercon $n$, wien lier timbers, see, were fonnd wo te in semaiknbin gond order, a fact whuch, after twrenty five yrars wear and tear and hand eorviee, peffoninde not a little to the credit of the old fishlimued mechanies of Boston.
In her actions with the Guerriere art Jarm she mounted 34 gurn, and 59 when enguged with the Cyane and Levant, her armament being 30 lnag 34 poundern on the main deck, and 24 32 pound carrnades on the upper deek. Iter lows is the acion with the Guerriere was killed and wounded, 14; with the Java, 3 , and with the Cyane and Levant, 14 more-motal, 69 . The Guerriere's toss, killed, wounded and culoping, was 103; the Java's 161 ; Cyane's $3 \mathrm{~N}_{\text {; }}$ l.evatit's 39 -notal, 3HI, or ia the proportion of ©ive and a half to one. The prisones were vearly one thousand.
The dry dnck into which Old Ironyides is now about in be Inken, as well as the one which has recently been completed at Norfoik, is undoubtedly ous of the moet spiendid epecinicus of stnue masonry to the found in the world.
We have heard it apoken of by intelligent traveliero, who have vitited mont of the riaval depmetn in Great Britnin, Framen nud Humsia, an by far aurpmesing iny thing of the mort they lind ever before witaenued. Indeed no esprense han berinoparimb by the gnvernment to renider thene masmiticent public whike ns coms pletn and jumfect la every respect an phasilate. They were plan-of colouel Loammi Balidwin, a gentleman who, for akill and science, has no auperior in the country.

-

```
7) 3, %
```

[^0]:    *Add speaker, who did not vote of course.

[^1]:    The popmiation of the Cape ile Verds in statenl in the Gazettrer to he abmut 100,000 . It seemis almost incredible that the mortality shoutd have been as great as here stated; though we mnst say that the writer is a gentleman of intelligence, and not more lithely than others to adopt cxaggerated reports.

[^2]:    - We specially allude to the want of discriminations in the amount of duties, after 1842, which we regural as a conceasion of the principle of protectiont as to the operation of the law untul that period, concerning those artictes which now pay ppecific dutice or according to a minimum, we are entirely in the dark; and have unsuccesafully sought inforimation as to the manner in which the amount of duties payable on such goods la to be determined. On articles now paying simple ad valorean duties, the modus operandi is plain enough; but further than thts, we fird great doubts existing as to the effects of the law the process by which the "excess" over 90 per cent. is to be ascertalned, (wth regard to other articlea), does not seem cluarIf under iood by any one individual that we have had the plen. sure to mewt with.

[^3]:    *Vast quantities of humall and nther hones have been import ed luto England, and there ground in anills, for the purpose of maturing the fields. The inpunto were lieavy frum Wiaterluo?

[^4]:    *We wiwh that the revenue duty was instantly reduced th fire per cent. "Feeliug has no fellow.". Eb. Ree.

[^5]:    - Add speaker (Stevenson) who did not vote, of course.
    $\dagger$ Nays on the tariff biJ, in italic.
    Absent on the tarifl vote.
    Weeka, of New flanipebire.
    1 Mereer, of Virginta.

[^6]:    -And what a melancholy mistake wae mady by Ohio!

[^7]:    *The rote was 241 againvt 31. The election has excited miseh contment-Mr. Suitnn having been an and-rebrmer. gerne of the papers speak of $1 t^{46}$ with disgust."

[^8]:    ${ }^{* 1}, 500,000$ have since arrived at Vera Crux, and $2,000,000$ are were soon expected. Thene operationa shew a more ret Zogland of the United Statcs.

[^9]:    ${ }^{*}$ To exemplify the condition of Ireland, Mr. Stanley, (in the bouse of commons), noticed the two couuties in which the systeas of agitation eomminenced, thus-
    "The two countiea are Kilkenny and the Queen"s coanty, Iu Kikenny alone, within the last twelve unonths, there have been $\mathbf{S t}^{2}$ murders and attempts tu murder. 34 hurnings, 512 burglarien, 3 3i acts of boughing of eatile; and the aumber of illegal notices and viglent aod serious assaults, by whieb I mean as. saults attended with dunger to life and limb, has been 170. In Queen's eounty the number has been even uiore. There have been sixty murders or atteinpta to murder; burglaries, 626; maliesous tujuries to property, 115 ; and serious assautes upon individuals, 209."

[^10]:    *Whether of log-wood blues that Bluah in the using-printed calicoes that turn palc on approseining the waxhing tub; of cast irun bride-bitts that enap in turain at the monelit wheo a mgn'm life may depend on their adhesion. If the man be killed-it ts no matter; the price of the miserable iron has been obtained.
    †'Bee Rraister, vol. I, pagu 351, for Mr. Granges'a letiter or Jan. 13th, 1812.

[^11]:    ${ }^{*}$ It is thus with respect to every article of wood which the British colonies can supply; and we might fill a whole page with things like the following, from the prement British tariff:
    Deals, 7 inehes wide, not evceeding 45 fert fong, and 34 inches thick- £44, or 211 dollars, the 120. But the same If imported from a Britioh pospession. ant mot more than 4 inches thick, &5 or 24 dnllars the 190. The quantity in the latter is 1-7th more than in the former, yet the duty is onty a little mere than oneninth part.
    Iland*pikes, of a certain size, $\boldsymbol{C} 4$ or $\$ 1990$ the 120: the game mported from a British possession, 5s, or 8120 the 120:

[^12]:    *'onaid-rations mur le prijet de Roi, eoncernant le nanvean systeme tinancier du royaume des Pay-bas. A Braxelles, 29 Juin, 1e21, page 29 .

[^13]:    $\dagger$ Nothing like a eorrect estimate ran he made of the internal commerce of the United Statex-but the firt sales of the products of the iand, rendered valuabie by Ialmor variousiy applied, Including all arts of commoditu-s, with cosis of tranaportation, ke. perhape amount to not leas than one thousand miltions of dollark a yrar. TThe will not appear an nureaemable sum, we think, to ihoser whon shall reflect upmen the sutyret, and wilt endeavore to grasp the mulhudions pursuts and products of land and labor.
    If the minnufarturec of the Vinited Slates have an aggregave value of $\mathbf{5 0 0}$ millions-we mean manufactures of housea and [^14]:    ${ }^{*}$ We whall, nt sone funcre day, fulty shew the umlerstuandmig of the people of the t'uised siases, when they alinpled the conslitimmin, of tlus anbjuck. Il was Bitioh regalations of Irate which caused the recolution-and the idea inf a fedral guvernmens orienazed in the necenvity wo mo "regnlalne Irade," that slie. industry of the eounitry mizh be prosecied-rime why the spiendid jorocessons if mechanics and manufucturert, relibthating the ratifiealion of the constilution? Whas had thry, as classes, 10 do wilh tha waiter' Whipnce the presumption of Baltimore, from whilt was sent the first petision in the first eriagress undor the constitntion, and it was for the motection of Aucrican his-dnairy-whence the impudence of the mechanicy of Caarlea toN, who, almest mmulinneonsly forwarded a euntar memorial to the represputatives of the new nations?

    $\dagger$ And we woleminly befirve only a pretence. It was a gramping ai polineal puwer, or to arrest an apprehended cbange of the tocation of such powrer,-which, in our opinion, led to all the clamint in stie south against the lariff. We do not belicve that any "opprrssion" was really felt, berave of the tariff. The gugantic advances mate in the wealsh of the eotton-growing stalce, etand oppoard th ihis elamor. Lower Virginia and lower somili Carohina are doclibuig-bisi mightier canees than fits ta uffs are workng out the poverty of these sections. On the [^15]:    - At the latest account, only 15 of the 50 thousand remainert to be ratsed; so there is no fear that Mr. Perkins' "notuon" will be "nullified," which may shew lack of "chivalry" at Boaton!

    Vol. XLIV-Sie.11.

[^16]:    -Had the erop been equal to the average one of ardinary ceary, the result of the busincss of the last unonth woald greaul hive sxceeded the above returns. It is gratifying, however, to percefve, that whilst the revenne from tonnage eatwardiy han, from the above cause, been injoriously affreted, that nrising from the transportation westwardiy, bas increserd from 83,53 83 (being the aniount for Apiti, 1875) w 57,50037, betug that for the last month.

[^17]:    - Mr. Webster, with his lady and daughicra, arrived at Albany on Monday lase.

    VoL NLIV-Sig. 13.

[^18]:    "They releted to the delicale situation of the mutdered female.

[^19]:    - The "Richmond Enquirer" thus aotices the preceding-
    "A report has been sedulously got ap for some weeks, that the bank of the United states would be certainly recharteredperhaps with some modifications. An attempt lias besn made ta reconcile to the pablic this arrangement, by this sort of argument -thme we ace to chnose between a treasury bank and the present baak of the United States! Indeed, this idea has been carried oo far, that a member elect to the next congreas, who was anpposed to be ae violent an opponent of the bank of the Uuitvd Hrates as any man breathing, has lately declared in this cily, that he weild prnbably go for the bank, not a bank-for the present inatitution with some modifleatione, rather than take, what he te pleased to term, a New York Vow Buren bank! 'The de. sign of the bank frienda seems to be, to drive us into one net by the pante fear of getting into anmibre."

    And adds-" "The veice of Virginia is wrainst shis iantitution -loud, distiact, unchangealve. It ta agalnot the New York echeme, if any such should be entortained-and we are nuch mistaken, if if be nM also againof iser Ireastiry snhetituite, if any oweh ehouid be brought forward. True-Mr. Caltoun and a frw of his friende in eongrees, may be in favor of the hank-bit de has mways been its friend. He was one of its fothers-and notwithatanding bie present new-fangled doctrines of staterights, he will he found to ndvocate at the next congruse! But the maps of the south will be alroggty opposed to it-let the bent of the United states he assured of it. For our own parts, we would rather see the povernment abstain a zrievous inconvenience, from the want of such an institation; we would ra. ther see it pay $10,15,20$ per cent. more for transminting its firnda from place to place, than violate by wneh an institation, the federal ronstitution." [O deay-Onets Paiscipis:]

[^20]:    -Mr. Forsyth, one of the aesators in congress, and Mr. Wayne Ons of the representativen. The latter has been chosen president of the convention, recenty called to regulate the representation in the state legislature.

[^21]:    stated in the "Richmond Enquirer," yet mant astonislaes us, the teply of the presideat being added, &e. T'be whole, perhaps, is fabulous. Wie hropes.
    [The name of the Individual who would thus have rendered the presilent of the "uited Staten, in his power to pacion, a partner in the high crime suggested, ts given in the "Fiquirer;" but we shall do annet which may assel hi prenerving for him any part of the reputation of Erostrafus. I'tue comdition on which live would hive counmitted the uffenee, forbidst it. The caticubsttion is horrithe. Thes individant, eurely, did nat know what br said-and oo may the exctased; but the delibcrate record of his propotition amazes us.]

[^22]:    *The difference of the amounts in this column and those in [^23]:    We know nothing about the nice points, and twists and tarns, of the taw-and, perhapa, may nnly flow our own ignorance in expressing a regret that Mr. Pleasants appearcd, by counsel, in the case; but he knows mare than we do about surh thinga-and le not a person thal will easily give op any portion of his politieal rights. It was entirely proper, we apprehend, that he athould have made the statement which he did-but furnor can we admit such an loquisition over the press as seems about to be attempted.

[^24]:    -A. Stewart, (if the member of congress frotn Pennayivabia), we suppose, was not attempted to be put in by the Influence al Isded w.

    Eb. Ree.

[^25]:    - Only one is yet buit.

[^26]:    *The mamez of the persone here inserted are not worth meserving, and we have dasked the in out.

    Ev. Hes.

[^27]:     "Gengian" means a frtend of tie whemb-ot ant meltiter.

    Eb. Reb.

[^28]:    To "regulate trade" was the leading point made by Virginia, tn Jan. 1786, when proposing that commissioners should hold a convention, we, which reanited in the prosent federal union.

    Vol. XIIV-Sie. 91.

[^29]:    -This fact is not slightly suggented.
    +Jut arrived at New York.

[^30]:    It is almost univerrally the case, (exeept on the payment of Tares portions of the publie stocks, and fir a brief period), that when the exchange on London la high, money is "scaree" When at par, of beluw it, "plenty "in the United Statees. We see it stated in the "Journal of Commerce," that "the U. States bank lias bought largely of bills on London at of 79 the pound eterliag" pound eterling"-which is less then par; and yet aruney is [^31]:    *Becanae of the home makket. The Britiah duty upon it, until test was $£ 34180.3 d$. per tun, and atill is $\mathbf{2} 26120 .-$ or $\$ 12760$.

[^32]:    *The Pitloburgh Gazette informs us that the sketch of Mr. W'st opeech is furnished by Mr. M. T. C. Gould, stenographer, who was much iodisposed while making his notes-and hence the report is less precise and accurate than might linve been expected. Adding-"A careful readir will, perhaps, it some placea, perceive that the connection of the argument is not quite so clase and logical as in the drliverance, and that abrupt transtions sometimes occur. No opportunity was afforded to submit the report to the reviston of Mr. Welaster. The only material defereocy, however, is in the remarka in relation to education. The reporter lives at a divtance from Pitt-burgh, and in his haxte to forward the report by an opportunity which presented, was compelled to furninh a mere skeleton of a portion of that part of the spepch, with a request that the commit tee of arrangetnent woald fill it up. That enmmittee, howrver, thought it better to omit it entirely, rather than to supply from memnry."
    And Mr. Gold himself eavn-"the state of mv health is such, chat I have not read the MAS. as I usually do, with reference to the sense add construction of sentances."'

[^33]:    * 6 shillings? but so in the officlal copy; probably pence.

[^34]:    ${ }^{*}$ Thcse cassimeres were sold for less than they cost, under the old tarif!
    $\dagger$ That is- 8154 less than their cost under the old tariff:
    Ev. Rea

